Things do not get accomplished unless we do what we are gifted and called to do. Always trying to be like someone else or doing someone else's job doesn't build the Kingdom. We are to be that part of 'the body of Christ' we have been created to be. Our 'function' is to wait upon the 'head' for what we are to do or to follow what he is doing. My stomach doesn't need to know when my legs have been told to move; my stomach just comes along and does what it does.

In another posting we will expand on the principle of obedience. Let it suffice to say that the Kingdom is about obedience to the Father's will. That is what we pray – "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done." So in order to see the Kingdom manifested we must be obedient to it. It may not look what others are doing but they are not you with your calling and gifting. They may not see or believe as you do but that is ok. It is not about us it is about Jesus. He went about doing good, no matter what the belief was. Sometimes He went to the synagogue sometimes he didn't; it was all dependent upon what He was to do.

There are a lot of 'Christians' doing this and doing that; they have yet to see the Kingdom of God within them. Doing as the Father shows us or tells us causes the Kingdom to explode on a scene. The colors and plans change with that explosion. People's lives become permanently changed and made whole.

You will see the Kingdom when you live it.

Part 3

"With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible" - Matthew 19:26

We all readily accept this as fact. Not just because it is scripture but that it is a major point to what separates man and God. Man is limited in all his capabilities and those talents that he has comes from God. So because of this we have a tendency to limit our experiences to just our experience. If we are limited we must be limited in all things. But that may not be as true as some would believe.

God's possibilities go beyond our imagination. The possibilities that God has is as His love for us, borderless. Paul in Romans 8:35 – 39 not only shows the power of the love of Christ but the limitless reach that this love has. He continues this theme in his prayer in Ephesians 3 that we may all 'know' the love of Christ in its depth, height, length, and width. We are being called to experience God's possibilities by going beyond our own impossibilities.

A Kingdom experience or lifestyle somehow can escape explanation or description at times. Some words that have been used in the past concerning those who have gone 'beyond' their own limits or at least attempted to are 'fanatic', 'crazy', 'immature' or 'inexperienced'. Words like 'devoted', 'spiritual giant', 'deeply committed', or 'person of faith' have been used but usually after their death and more revelation has come about.

There is a tendency to point to the fact that we have no example of anyone living to the full power of possibilities that is offered. We can always site many failures and close calls; but no one ever seems to come to mind, except Jesus, that lived to God's limitless possibilities. Is this really a strong enough argument to stop us from trying?

Or, how about the many cases of abuses or false teaching in the name of a 'deeper life' that we all could properly name; is there no value or lesson to learn from these? As Christians we will 'throw out the baby with the bathwater' quicker than learn a lesson from others mistakes. It is though we never grow out of our teenage rebellion; not learning from others but having to experience it ourselves no matter the consequence in a negative way. Yet when it comes to living for Christ we hesitate because the cost seems to matter now.

We forget the initial cost has been paid by another; we get to enjoy the benefits of his payment. He gave His life in death so we can live; we give our life in life to live even more for Him. The kingdom life is full of potential and all sorts of possibilities.

In Matthew 17; Jesus explains that if we have faith as the size and power potential as a seed of mustard we can move mountains. He doesn't stop there he also declares that all things become possible to us. All things within the Kingdom are within our grasp. All health, provision and grace of suffering are ours in order to be more like Him and glorify Him more.

Maybe our everyday life doesn't seem to be so limitless in Him. Our experience has become stagnated by the conflict. There is a conflict between our flesh and Spirit. Yet, Paul continues to admonish us to 'walk in the Spirit' over 'walking in the flesh'. Though the conflict will make the flesh life easier in ways; a 'walk in the Spirit' will build the endurance and faith needed to reach and live in the kingdom realm no matter what the soul may be doing.

Our thinking needs to make a change. Instead of thinking in terms of impossibilities we must think of the possibilities that God is opening to us. We need to renew our mind in the standard and ways of the Kingdom; the walking in the Spirit-type life. 'We have not because we ask not'; many interpret this to be talking about material goods; but that is only a part of it. We 'have not' of the full possibilities of God. We are not living up to the potential of our Kingdom lives.

In his book 'The Cost of Discipleship', Dietrich Bonhoeffer says the following in chapter 10: "Instead of trusting to the unseen, we prefer the tangible fruits of desire, and so we fail from the path of discipleship and lose touch with Jesus." I understand that is a bold statement for him to make, but do we realize the truth of it. In the Kingdom there is nothing or no one to put our trust in but in our unseen Lord. By faith we accept him there, but do we trust and believe totally in Him.

This great leap will take a step of absolute and immediate obedience. We must do as Jesus said He did; whatever the Father commended or showed Him to do, John 8. There is no time for testing or setting fleeces, just immediate and absolute obedience. At this point we will realize the infinite possibilities of the Father. Bonhoeffer, in an earlier, chapter states to us; "There is no faith without obedience, and there is no obedience without faith."

Are you ready to experience the true fullness of God and His love?

Many times the topic of obedience has been brought up in our discussion of the Kingdom of God. Many may take it for granted that obedience to the Father, our Lord and King, our Savior and God is an understood thing. But it is surprising the number of Christians who admit they have not obeyed at certain times in their life. I can hear it now, "Well, we can't be perfect!" Being perfect has nothing to do with being obedient.

When I was a child in Sunday School; I was taught that sin was disobedience to God. Yet, as I grow up I hear adults comment on their disobedience as weakness, stupidity, or human nature. How did sin turn to 'weakness, stupidity, or human nature' in the process of maturing? When did it become Okay to be weak, stupid, or undisciplined in our nature?

A bit harsh you think? Yeah, but it doesn't change the problem or the call. We are called to absolute and immediate obedience. The Kingdom of God is exampled and advanced by our obedience. There is no me, I or us in this; it is all about Him. We must remember Paul's encouragement from Romans 12 to be a 'living sacrifice.' We again find ourselves praying with John the Baptist that "He must increase, but we must decrease!"

Several times in the Gospels it is recorded how Jesus said, 'Unless a seed dies, there is no fruit.'

(That is my paraphrase.) The seed no longer has any say about what its fruit is. Death causes it to be fruitful as it was made to be. As you and I die to self and live to Him, we can no longer help but bring forth the fruit that He has called us to bear. A ready sacrifice can not help but to become ash, but out of the ashes of that sacrifice comes eternal life for many. Obedience is the costly sacrifice we all must make as Believers.

Yes, obedience costs us. Yes, Jesus paid the price for our healing and salvation; the restoration of the relationship we were to have with the Father. His payment brought the Kingdom bursting into our lives. Our continued participation and relationship in the Kingdom is paid for by our standard of a 'living sacrifice' so that it is not us they see but the Father they experience.

Obedience is an act of Faith. Everything becomes possible when we choose to obey absolutely and immediately. The explosion of the Kingdom into the now of our lives happens at the very moment of faith in our action of obedience. It is a choice. To choose to disobey could erase and/or cancel previous acts of obedience or related acts of faith. Each act of faith and obedience is a building block of our being made into the image of Christ.

Dietrich Bonhoeffer said in 'The Cost of Discipleship, p 69 ...."For faith is only real when there is obedience, never without it, and faith only becomes faith in the act of obedience."

Obedience is not a question of doing or not doing...it is a question of trusting Him or not. We must realize that our Faith and relationship in the Father is a trust issue. To choose to disobey is to say, "I do not trust the Father and in any ability or knowledge He may have of the end results." An act of disobedience is a choice to remove ourselves from the sacrifice ashes and to stand on our own. An act of disobedience puts into question all previous acts whether of faith or not. It shows everyone especially the Father that our choice is to trust ourselves over Him. What do you think this does to our 'salvation?' This is why many come to question their own part in the Kingdom because of one act of disobedience.

We begin to operate in disobedience in search of self and not of Him. We work to preserve ourselves rather than trust the ongoing work of the Father on our behalf, Philippians 1:6. We no longer seek His benefit but only our own. Somehow we come blinded by our own 'glory' rather than healed and changed by His Glory, Isaiah 35.

To be obedient is to be clothed in His love. In John 14, Jesus said, 'If you Love me you will obey me.' (Again, my paraphrase.) This is not to say that we are to be involved in activity religious or churchy. It is not about activity, it is about obedience. It is about hearing and/or seeing the Father; then acting or reacting according to that word or vision. Not our interpretation or confirmation but pure obedience.

The story of Mary and Martha, one busying herself in the Kitchen the other at Jesus feet; is not about activity or non-activity. Jesus did not say that Martha was wrong in her activity. They each had a job to do at that moment. We need to be ready as a Mary or Martha.

The purest worship we can offer the Father is our obedience. His greatest pleasure is our simple acts of faith by our obedience. There is no room for compromise or doubt. 'No greater love has any man than He should down his life for a friend.' As a friend and joint-heir laying down our life in the act of a 'living sacrifice' should be easy not allowing any break in our relationship with the Father.

Part 4

There can seem to be so much to learn or do. Obedience, absolute and immediate, can be frightening for some. As a Believer, we must keep in mind that this is about Him and not about us. Yes, there is much to learn and do. We must be in a position to be who are to be before we can do the work properly. People of faith operate at a different 'level' or 'mindset' than others. We must trust and obey.

Obedience requires us to trust Him. If you have a problem with obedience you will definitely have a problem with the trust issue. Obedience at least gives you someone to point back at, "He told me too." Obedience actually gives you a reason for when those people look at you wondering what were you thinking.

Trust is too much like assumption in some people's mind. To trust someone that everything is taken care of is to assume that the person you are trusting in has done what is necessary.

There is no assumption with God. His promises are 'yes and amen'. His Word has never failed. As people of faith we know that what He has spoken will generate the life He has breathed through us. Yet, many times there is no record of the Promise. But we step out in faith anyway. That is what it is all about, stepping to the Father's heart beat.

As humans we put a lot of emphasis upon outcome. We are very much results oriented. So we want to know the full plan and being people of faith does not always give us that privilege. This is why it is so difficult for many and why this sets believers as people of faith at a different mindset. The end results or outcome is His problem; because the results reflect on Him not us.

Success is not measured by numbers or headlines. It is not measured by financial standing. Success is measured by the absolute and immediate obedience of the Believer. That one act of obedience; the one step of faith makes the difference in the plan of God. We have to quit assuming that if we fail God has a back-up plan; that there will be someone else to pick-up the pieces. God's success is wrapped up in your obedience. If you do not do it; the moment has passed that can never be returned. Time does not turn back or pause.

In being obedient your trust in Him to accomplish His plan leaves you vulnerable. You are vulnerable to the ideas and opinions of those around you. You are vulnerable to your own thinking and opinions. This becomes a test of whether or not 'He has increased and I have decreased.' The condition of our soul becomes exposed as we obey or disobey. The winner of the battle of our soul is revealed by our obedience.
There is an old hymn that was sung a lot in the church called 'Trust and Obey':

"TRUST AND OBEY FOR THERE IS NO OTHER WAY TO BE HAPPY IN JESUS BUT TO TRUST AND OBEY."

It may be old but it still has a message. Think on it – where are you in your ability to obey?

I am sure you have had conversations with someone a bit older than you and have heard them say, "That was the good ole' days!" Or something similar to that has been heard. Studying history can make those days sound adventurous and exciting; but I am not sure I would want to live then. Especially, if it would mean that I need to give up our modern conveniences that make life easier.

Instead of looking back, let's look at today or even tomorrow. This very moment is pregnant with possibilities. All hope and potential is seen in this moment. It doesn't mean we have everything we want or that everything is perfect. Yet, in the view of the Spirit we have everything we need for life and righteousness. This moment and the following fruit driven minutes can explode with adventure and excitement or we can miss it through a moment of self-actualization or stupidity.

As we have said before this has nothing to do with us but everything to do with Him. We are a part of the establishing of His Kingdom. We can try and make it about our needs, desires, gifts, or whatever; but all of it takes a second row seat to Him. It truly is about His needs, desires, gifts, and whatever.

This is why the emphasis upon obedience. Obedience is to be immediate and absolute. We would all readily agree that when it is our way something inevitably falls under the 'Murphy's Law' category. We might not feel the pain or be directly affected by our disobedience but someone will be. It is just like the decision to obey effects more than us. As an individual I know that my decision to pursue the vision has had an incredible effect upon my family and friends. The cost too many has been tremendous and I am not talking about financially only.

Instead of looking back let us look to now. If we would obey immediately and absolutely we would see a different community and world. The thing we always seem to forget as humans is that God sees the beginning from the end. There is a reason why He asks of us to obey. He shouldn't have to explain Himself. If we understood completely would we be more obedient?

The fact is we know enough---God is building His kingdom and we are a part of it. A living stone lay in place by His hand is what we are to be. Is that worth obedience? We may not see immediate results but God always plants for harvest. The part we play depends upon our level of obedience.

It is difficult to trust. But trust is what we have to do. We must trust that God being who He is knows what is going on and sees the plan perfectly so can best direct us. Our obedience is a sign of our trust in Him. This would then show everyone that God knows best.

www.thekingsdomain.org

The Key of Knowledge

Bill Somers

> Lu 11:52 Woe unto you, lawyers! for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in ye hindered.
>
> Ho 4:6 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge: because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, ….

In Jesus' time the people known as lawyers were the experts on the Mosaic Law. This article will take a quick look at the lawyers of today. Not the experts in civil or criminal law, but the experts on the Bible. We will see what the Key of Knowledge is and exactly how today's experts have taken it away from great numbers of believers in today's churches.

Literalism Is The Problem

A great number of bible scholars and teachers tell us that the proper way to understand the bible is through consistent literal interpretation. This is expressed as The Law of Literal Interpretation. This law says:

> Always interpret scripture literally wherever possible.
> "If the literal sense makes sense, seek no other sense."

Now what's most unusual about this is that there is never any scriptural justification offered for adopting this principle. You will find many reasons offered, and all of them sound logical, but no bible verses. It's not so much what they are telling us to do, but what this law is telling us not to do? It's telling us not to seek; seek no other sense. That is not to seek any further than the literal meaning of scripture. But what does the bible say? It says just the opposite. It tells us to seek, long, hard and diligently. We must seek after wisdom with a passion.

Scriptures on Seeking

> Pr 2:1 My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee;
> 2 So that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding;
> 3 Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding;
> 4 If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures;
> 5 Then shalt thou understand the fear of the LORD, and find the knowledge of God.
> 6 For the LORD giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding.
>
> Mt 7:7 Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you:
>
> Lu 11:9 And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.

> Ps 27:4 One thing have I desired of the LORD, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the LORD, and to enquire in his temple.
>
> Isa 45:11 Thus saith the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me.
>
> Jer 33:3 Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.
>
> Pr 3:5 Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding.

The Key of Knowledge

It's a simple matter to under stand what all these scriptures are getting at. We could write several more pages analyzing these verses, but it's pretty plain what they mean. The Key of Knowledge is to seek for it. But here we are being told by supposed experts not to seek after wisdom and knowledge. And this is exactly how the Law of literal interpretation takes away the Key of Knowledge, by teaching us not to seek for it. So the 'lawyers' who teach literalism today are just like the ones in Jesus' day. They don't acquire any knowledge themselves, and they hinder those who would.

> *That their hearts might be comforted, being knit together in love, and unto all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to the acknowledgement of the mystery of God, and of the Father, and of Christ;
> In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.* Colossians 2:2-3

Hidden in Christ [who is the Word of God] are all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. This means deep revelation, rich understanding and mature insight await those who seek into the Word after it. The Bible says to seek after it. Literalism says 'don't bother looking', the literal meaning is all there is.

> 1Co 8:2 And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know.

So keep on seeking.

Truth, Love and Mercy Ship

Jonathan Wingate

Aug 23, 2004
This is a vision I had towards the end of an intercessory prayer meeting on August 19th, 2004.

I was sitting on the most beautiful beach I have ever seen. As I turned my head left and right I took in the sights around me and realized I was on an island. Everything was perfect. The sand, the ocean, and the sky were all perfect. Everything I could see was astonishingly perfect. Every grain of sand was gleaming with the glory of Jesus, as was every wave that popped up and seemingly bowing down. The scene was breathtaking. Not only were the sights perfect, but the sounds were as well. The calming sounds of the waves breaking against the shore, the peaceful breeze coming from my right. All the sounds seemed to glorify Jesus. After taking in this incredible scene, Jesus came to me from behind me and sat down next to me. No words were spoken to me, but He placed His arm lovingly around my shoulders. There we sat, just my Savior and me, like friends, like brothers, like a father and son. I felt so loved.

After His peace washed over me, He stood up. He reached down for my hand and pulled me up to stand. As we stood on the shore just above the tide, I could see a massive, beautiful ship in the distance off to my right. We stood and watched the ship come closer to the beach. Jesus took my hand and began to walk out onto the water. As we walked toward the ship, on top of the water, I knew if I was to let go of His hand that I would sink. When we arrived at a certain spot, we stood and awaited the ship. It was much closer now and I could see that there were three giant sails on this ship. It was a beautiful ship. It seemed that there was not a single blemish on the ship. Then the Lord spoke to me and said, "This is the ship you have been waiting for." He pointed at the ship and said, "On the sails are written 'Truth', 'Mercy', and 'Love'". As He said that, I could see that the sails said exactly those things. He spoke again, "This is the ship I want to take you on." I could say nothing, but in my heart I was ready. Jesus spoke "The wind that guides this ship is the wind of My Spirit." He continued, "Though storms may come to send this ship far off course, My Spirit will go before you and calm the seas." So when the ship arrived to where Jesus wanted it to come, we got aboard. There were already many beautiful people on board. Every single person had a job to do in order to sail the ship. There was not one single person that didn't have a job. I could sense in my spirit that I would soon be put to work, but the Lord allowed me to see what was going to happen for a short time. The Lord took me up front after many people greeted Him with smiles and hugs and kisses.

The ship sailed on and everyone was back to work. Soon we came to another island that was much like mine and there was a person chained to the beach and crying. The ship stopped at this island and Jesus went down to the person and released them and after a brief period of conversation with the person, Jesus brought them aboard. This continued, island after island, person after person being released and brought aboard this ship. The ship never seemed to get crowded, and everyone always welcomed whoever came on board, never questioning the individual. On occasion I could see forward into the distance, a storm brewing right in our path. But when the ship would draw near to the storm, the storm would dissipate. But it was not like a normal breaking up of a storm. The storm would be completely and powerfully driven away by an unseen force. I just knew that all these things were to glorify God. Everything I saw glorified Jesus. The seas and the weather, and even the people all bowed down before the Creator of the universe. I was given a duty to help on the ship as was everyone that came aboard after being allowed to see the awesome splendor and glory of God.

The Land

Linda Harrington

A Timetable for Possessing our Land
June 26, 2004

July 1st is the first day of a new season, the beginning of a new month of completion, the 7th month. The Lord is bringing to completion those things unfinished so there are no strings trailing our hearts as we step into the future. Hearts that have been torn in different directions will become whole hearted and single focused on new directions, new places and new ministry in a new land or field.

June is the 6th month and is a season of a closing of the door, a coming to the end of a season of man. There is a healing and restoration to many who have been wounded in the house of the Lord. As a result dreams and visions have lain dormant, dead, but they are about to receive a new breath of life. In this new breath of life, the wind of the spirit many will find themselves relocated to new surroundings and moving in new things that were the old things that were prophesied many years ago. We will begin to possess the land as we've dreamed.

August is the 8th month and brings with it a new beginning. It is a time of newness, a freshness of seeking His face, knowing His glory and a time of release of those things which have died. There is a new acceptance and a new ability to receive from the Lord and one another. There will be a grieving over what was, but there is an excitement being birthed in the spirits of many as their long awaited destiny begins to unfold. It is crucial that the old things be buried cleanly and we enter into the new land cleansed.

September is the 9th month and it represents a gestation period. Many of those things conceived in the spirit and carried in the womb of the heart will be birthed during this month. New gifting, new relationships and new ministries will be birthed this month and there will be a possession of the land of one's inheritance.

May was the 5th month. The enemy came in like a flood and tried to abort many from their calling and destiny, but the Lord's grace sustained them even though it felt as though all had died. The Lord has always reserved and preserved those who seek His face and desire to abide in His presence. He always has a remnant in the land.

Linda Harrington
Linda@morninglory.org

The Law And The Blood
Mark Wattenford

The Lord just gave me a very clear word for us that I am sending here. As I was just talking to Mary the Holy Spirit broke in and said "The separation that is going on now is between those who will remain dependant upon the power of the Blood of Christ and between those who will... instead return to the Law". This has become an issue between us. We are being sifted and it will show those who will stand for the Blood of the Cross and those who will again implement the law in some form,... and it does come in a great many forms. Those that stand upon the power of the cross and the shed blood of Jesus Christ are well aware of the reality that they are the scruffy, dirty, matted wool sheep that they are while having to contend with being hurt by those sheep who perceive their wool is white and fluffy and clean and they look so good as they pass us by - telling us, of course, that we are scruffy, and matted, and dirty and we should be as they are - and - they are more than happy to - "HELP CLEAN US UP" - wherein they usurp the office of the Holy Spirit and try be the Holy Spirit to other people. I am disturbed again as I see these hurts going on, but as I sat just a few minutes ago I felt my soul and spirit totally dedicate to the precept that the power of the Blood of Christ is SUFFICIENT AND NOT LACKING and that I stand in union with the likes of Spurgeon and T. Austin-Sparks when it comes to grace - I REFUSE TO REPLACE AGAIN THE GRACE OF GOD WITH THE LAW AND THEREBY CRUCIFY AGAIN OUR LORD. Our fellowship shall not hold together in love if we return to the law. The ONLY WAY we will be able to maintain a unity of spirit in love and humbleness is to continue to be conscious of the sufficiency of the cross and our VERY NEED FOR IT EVERYDAY. If we fail in this, then we will be pawns of the enemy to return to the law and be used to bring bondage to the multitudes that are already oppressed rather than bring salvation and freedom as was our commission to do. We were to minister what we have received and we have received salvation by grace yet we are swayed by the enemy to preach bondage upon those we go to rather than forgiveness that we ourselves received from the Lord when we came to Him. How in the world shall we walk in love toward each other if we pick up again the preaching of the law. And like it or not too much, far too much of holiness preaching is but a snare whereby we are again returned to the preaching of the law wherein we take away the freedom from each other that WAS OURS IN CHRIST (AND STILL IS IF WE RETURN TO IT). Holiness is by grace. It is extremely rare that we are so discerning that we are able to know what issues God wishes to deal with us on at any given time. That is the work of the Holy Spirit. As was the wisdom God gave me in answer to a man haranguing on me for my smoking - "When I am secure in the fact that my heart is no longer black, than I shall start working on the condition of my lungs" God had clearly, in that instant, showed me that His concern for me was that I keep a clean heart - as it is from the heart that we are defiled or not and NOT FROM WHAT GOES INTO THE BODY (Lungs or what may proceed from them). And my tirade again here is, in no way, about smoking or defending smoking - it is about defending what is the power of the Cross... it is the shed Blood of Christ for us and the sufficiency of it and the damage we do when we turn from that again to the law to place those burdens upon each other. "If we say - thou shalt not steal" do you then say you do not steal, because you are a liar if the answer is yes. If you say "Thou shalt not smoke" and say that you do not smoke - you are also a liar because you have come to the place of inhaling the smoke of corrupted doctrine to think our salvation rests upon what we do in the flesh. THERE IS NO EFFORT OF THE FLESH THAT CAN, IN OR TO ANY DEGREE ADVANCE US IN HOLINESS WHAT SO EVER. Progression of Holiness is an act of God and is a miracle and is ALSO, AS SALVATION, NOT OF OURSELVES, BUT OF THE WORK OF GOD BY THE HOLY SPIRIT.

I am adamant again this morning to note that as we are meant to work in the fields it appears to be such a great sifting going on to see who will be worthy of the hire. Those worthy of the hire to work in the harvest can ONLY BE THOSE who will preach the cross and the sufficiency of the Blood of Christ as it, and IT ALONE is the power unto salvation and redemption. I do understand, we all make the mistake of slipping back into legalistic ways in dealing with people. I just pray with all my heart we are given a sharper eye to NOT DO SO, because it does not draw men to Christ - it only drives them further away and toward the whole Pharisaic way of life... which is not life at all, but is death... and in it's fullness is a murderous spirit upon those who end up not measuring up.

If we do not live in the humbleness and knowledge of our own short-comings and need, daily, for the sufficiency of the cross then we will cease walking in love, unity and brotherly compassion toward each other. We will go the way of the law and of the Pharisees. Paul asked, "How is it you started off in your freedom, but have now returned to the bondage of the law". His effort was to try get them turned back around and that is the very same effort I am attempting here.

I had fully intended not to write anymore things and to stay out of ministry as I have become quite full of the vanity of too much of it, but... certain situations and the unction of the spirit as I received just a little while ago seems to have lit a fire under me that makes me rise up in strength and determination that I will defend the purposes of God in the face of and against this serpent that seeks to rise up and bring us under bondage again. GRACE, GRACE, GRACE ... MERCY, MERCY, MERCY. It is always so and is all we can put our hopes in. If we return again to place our hopes in the efforts of the flesh we walk fully into a trap and then are "TRAINED IN HOW TO TRAP OTHERS".

For any who think there is power in efforts of the flesh toward holiness than go for it. I have already been down that road and found no more than a very large and solid brick wall for which there was no passing. I shall sit where I am... scruffy, dirty with matted wool and see how far anyone else may get down that path.

I shall enter the gates of Heaven by Grace alone... or I shall not enter at all. I shall receive power to minister and a commission to minister to the multitude by the Grace of God or I shall not be worthy of the call whatsoever. May it fully come by the Grace of God for if it is not, I do not want it, because I am all too aware of what will come of the efforts of my own flesh.

To move in this manner, the law, is not humble it is not loving, it is not compassionate. It is none of those things. It is arrogant, loveless, cold, demanding, manipulative. controlling - everything you would expect the devil to be, yet it is done in the name of ministry and in the name of Christ.

I am sending this to those I love, respect and care about. This is a clear and very real sifting that is happening and those I thought would not fall into this have fallen into this - and, surprisingly some I thought would surely fall into this have not.

It is too much of a danger and an occupational hazard that once we seem to get "on a roll" in a ministry that what takes over so soon after is often this return to the law. Ministry puffs us up and once we are puffed up even a little, then we lose sight of the cross and we start preaching again the law and death. Seriously... can any "good ministry" come from a prideful heart. Can any good ministry come from any of us if we think we stand in a "presumed, more holy place than do our brothers". We all have faults and should bare each other up in such things instead of knocking each other to the ground again. We should have grown past these behaviors by now if we were and have been honest with ourselves and how really short we fall... but no... not some again... they are perceiving that they are progressing in "degrees" that are more than their brothers and sisters have. By the very nature of the thing it stops treating the brethren with love and one should know it has ceased to be a Christ-like thing. Get rid of the clubs and whips and the religious sharp tongues that have crept back into the camp and has been used to abuse each other again. This is something we have to keep a vigilant watch over... a daily watch over... that we always treat the brethren with the same grace God received us. Remember the man who owed much and was forgiven of it, but then went to the man who owed him but a little and began to beat him and the master who had forgiven him of much caught him doing so to the man who owed the "forgiven one little" and when the master saw that he ordered that one thrown into prison until the very last penny had been paid. Was this not the words of Jesus warning us that as we have received such grace from Him and been forgiven such a great debt that it is no longer our right to go to them that may owe us "a little" and beat them for it. How then shall the master find us doing so and how will we escape His anger if He finds us doing so? We will not... he promised we would suffer judgment if we are caught doing that. So - if we return to the law to preach that rather than the sufficiency of the cross, we now have a solid promise from Christ that He will judge us for it and we will NOT escape punishment. It is a somber thing and should be. We have no latitude to treat each other in any abusive manner.

In cases of those who are in consistent and insistent an unrepentant sin we can dis-fellowship ourselves from them without beating the crap out of them first. We can still with tender hearts seek to return them to fellowship - but be clear that fellowship should not be based on MEASURING UP TO THE WAY YOU LIVE YOUR LIFE AND TRYING TO GET OTHER TO BECOME IN YOUR IMAGE. We need seek to come into the image of Christ - our often downfall is that we engage in trying to get each other into the image we think of ourselves. One doesn't smoke so one seeks to make all others in his image. One does not drink so one seeks to make others in his image - they are not trying to help others come into the image and maturity of Christ - they are engaged in trying to clone copies of themselves... and this is not God, not Christlike, and IS, IN NO WAY THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT.

As always I would assume I could run on for pages and pages and pages making the same point and giving further examples, but... if my point has not be made clear by now then I am already preaching to deaf ears.

These things I see creeping into the camp again. It is not an article to single out or blast any. It is simply the unction and fire the Spirit lit under me this morning.

Love in Christ by... HIS GRACE!

W. Mark Wattenford
The White Ribbon Campaign
http://home.att.net/~whiteribbon

The Lion And The Fire

Tammie Gelis

(graced2serve@hotmail.com)

I had a vision that I would like to share with you all. It was a vision of a raging fire that seemed to be out of control. It was a fire that seemed to be consuming everything in sight. It was a fire that one could not see beyond or through, nor did it seem that there was any hope of it getting put out. There was a real sense of hopelessness and doom in the air. There were people crying and screaming everywhere for their loss and for their pain.

Then, in the midst of the fire I saw the head of a lion that seemed to grow as fast as the fire grew. This lion had a large sword attached to it. The lion seemed to be unharmed by any of the flames but yet grew more powerful and larger inside it.

I kept hearing the Lord say that this indeed was the lion of the tribe of Judah coming in the midst of the fire. I heard Him saying the following as the lion showed His head. He said,

"I will not allow the fire to keep raging and destroying in your lives. But look here, I am in the midst of the fire, I have not left you alone and powerless to be defeated at the hand of the enemy. But in this season I will arise and I will move in great power and authority.

I will bring restoration to that which has been destroyed. I am coming to take back all that belongs to Me and all the territories; yes, even land that belongs to Me. Do not be overwhelmed by the fire that you see and have experienced even in your own lives but know that I will rise up and I will restore and heal and be glorified in all things. My ways and My truth and justice will prevail."

"Abide in Me in this hour like never before, lean on Me for all your strength and hope. For truly then you will see the fire and see the sword but not be frightened or moved by it for you will see Me rising up in its midst, you will see My glory prevail and My healing coming forth. I am your lion of the tribe of Judah and you are My people! Know that I will move and act on your behalf and as you abide in Me."

The Last Day's Church
Matt Sorger

30 Characteristics Of The Glory That Will Rest On The Last Day's Church
by Matt Sorger
Web: http://www.mattsorger.com
Email: info@mattsorger.com
GREATER WORKS
Isaiah 60:2 "For behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and deep darkness the people; but the Lord will arise over you. And His glory will be seen upon you."

Recently, during a time of prayer, the Lord began to speak to me about the many characteristics that will mark the Glory of God on the Last Day's Church. So many times we read the book of Acts and marvel at what the early church walked and lived in. The level of supernatural activity seems to far surpass what we see in the church today. As I was pondering this the Lord challenged my heart with the prophecy Jesus shared in John 14:12:

"Most assuredly, I say to you, he who believes in Me, the works that I do he will do also; and greater works than these he will do, because I go to My Father."

Jesus prophesied that the church would not only do the works He did, which includes healing the sick, cleansing the lepers, casting our demons, and raising the dead, but even GREATER works. The works of the Holy Spirit through the early church are only the beginning of the wonders God wants to do in the earth. We are still writing the book of Acts today. The greatest signs and wonders are still to be seen!

Haggai 2:9 prophesies:

"The glory of this latter temple shall be greater than the former."

2 Corinthians 3:18 declares:
"But we all, with an unveiled face, beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, are being transformed into the same image from glory to glory, just as by the Spirit of the Lord."

KEEP MOVING TO HIGHER REALMS OF HIS GLORY
Throughout the ages God has called the church to keep moving to higher realms of His glory. Not only does this scripture refer to our personal journeys in Christ of being continually more conformed to His image, but it also refers to the corporate Body being conformed to His image as a whole. With each passing generation the Church should be more closely conformed to the Lord in both character and power. Jesus is returning for a Church without spot or wrinkle (Eph. 5:27). With each generation the Holy Spirit is bringing us deeper into the fullness of the revelation of truth found in the Word, as well as experiencing and walking in that revelation. We can see this restoration of the fullness of Christ and His word throughout church history, from the Reformation under Luther with the 95 Thesis, to the faith movement with the truth of faith being brought forth in the church, to the prophetic movement with the restoration of the prophetic office, and now the apostolic movement. With each generation more of the fullness of Christ is restored to the church.

As we look at the world around us today we can become alarmed at the increasing darkness that is prevailing in society. But we must remember that when the darkness gets darker, the light and glory in the church will become more radiant!

Isaiah 60:2 "For behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and deep darkness the people; but the Lord will arise over you. And His glory will be seen upon you."

The best way to expel the darkness is by turning on the light. We have Christians today trying to gain victory over spiritual darkness by expending energy fighting the darkness. Rather, they should focus on getting their spirits, souls, bodies and minds so filled with the light of God's glory and word that spiritual darkness wouldn't even have a place to hang around. The more we allow God's glory to consume our lives, the more radiant we will become and the less warfare we will have with spiritual darkness within our own minds and souls. Our light will so shine that, when we walk into an area that is dark, the light of the glory of God will cause demonic power to flee! We'll be like Peter whose very shadow healed the sick. That's the measure of the glory I want on my life and even more!

"IT'S FOR US TO EXPERIENCE AND WALK IN NOW"

Paul shared in Philippians 3:14, "I press toward the goal for the upward call of God in Christ Jesus." This is an upward call! That means more glory with each passing day we walk with God. We keep going higher and higher and higher in character, revelation, truth, and power.

There will be tremendous glory on the Last Day's Church. And WE are part of the Last Day's Church. The Last Days began when Jesus was taken off the earth. What the Lord showed me through His word was not something for 20, 50 or 100 years down the road. It's for us to experience and walk in NOW. "The just shall live by faith." By faith and walking with God in a lifestyle of intimacy, holiness, obedience, and truth we can access the fullness of all God has for us now.

As I waited on the Lord He brought me through the Book of Acts and gave me 30 characteristics of the Glory of God that will rest on the Church in these last days. As we meditate on these characteristics may your heart be filled with faith to experience the fullness of all God has for you!

1. THEY WERE IN ONE ACCORD IN ONE PLACE
Acts 2:1 "When the Day of Pentecost had fully come, they were all with one accord in one place."
We will see specific geographic locations visited and transformed by the Glory of God. This type of visitation will occur among believers who are unified in heart and mind.

2. EVERY NATION AND ALL FLESH
Acts 2:5, 17 "And there were dwelling in Jerusalem Jews, devout men, from every nation under heaven...And it shall come to pass in the last days, says God, that I will pour out of My Spirit on all flesh."
Every nation will experience the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. I believe this even speaks of a worldwide awakening of the Holy Spirit that will sweep around the globe touching every nation, tribe, and tongue. No one will be left out. All flesh will encounter His glory, including every race, tribe, tongue, gender, and age group.

3. SONS AND DAUGHTERS, ENTIRE HOUSEHOLDS
Acts 2:17 "Your sons and your daughters..."

Acts 16:15 "And when she and her household were baptized..."

Acts 16:33-34 " Having believed in God with all his household..."
Entire households will be saved. Now is the time to aggressively pray for household salvation. The moving of the Lord upon unsaved family members will become so irresistible that, where they have been able to fight and push away the promptings of the Spirit before, they won't be able to escape.

4. DREAMS, VISIONS, AND TRANCES
Acts 2:17 "Your young men shall see visions, your old men shall dream dreams."

Acts 10:3 "He saw clearly in a vision an angel of God."

Acts 10:9-10 "He fell into a trance..."

Acts 16:9-10 "And a vision appeared to Paul in the night."
There will be an increase in the prophetic. Both the old and young will receive divine revelations from the Lord through prophecy, dreams, visions, and trances. We will walk and live in the revelation of the heart and mind of God.

5. SIGNS AND WONDERS IN THE HEAVENLIES AND ON THE EARTH
Acts 2:19-20 "I will show wonders in heaven above and signs in the earth beneath."
There will be physical signs in the heavenlies, not just miracles and healings, but in the very physical elements of nature.

6. MASS SALVATION AND HARVEST
Acts 2:21, 41 "That whoever calls on the name of the Lord shall be saved."
There will be mass salvations as multitudes turn to the Lord and call upon Him for salvation, including the nation of Israel.

7, 8. WE WILL BE A CHURCH OF THE WORD AND PRAYER

Acts 2:42 "And they continued steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, in the breaking of bread, and in prayers."

Acts 6:4 "But we will give ourselves continually to prayer and to the ministry of the word."
We will be a praying church who is solidly grounded in the Word of God, not easily moved by passing doctrines, fables and teachings. There will be a great balance between the life found in the Word and the life found in Prayer. They are like two wings of an airplane that will keep the church on course and in balance.

9. INCREASE OF CREATIVE MIRACLES
Acts 2:43 "And many wonders and signs were done through the apostles."
There will be an INCREASE OF CREATIVE MIRACLES as they church walks in power.

10. HOLY FEAR
Acts 2:43 "Then fear came upon every soul."
There will be a HOLY FEAR that rests on the Church, causing many to walk in holiness.

11. DIVINE FAVOR
Acts 2:47 "...praising God and having favor with all the people."
There will be a DIVINE FAVOR placed on the church, not only with God, but with man.

12. GIVING THAT RELEASES SUPERNATURAL PROVISION
Acts 2:45 "...and sold their possessions and goods, and divided them among all, as anyone had need."
The church will walk in the truth and revelation of GENEROUS GIVING THAT RELEASES DIVINE, SUPERNATURAL PROVISION.

13. LIVING STONES BUILT TOGETHER
Acts 2:46 "So continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house."
The move of God will be both in the TEMPLE (Church buildings) AND HOMES for we know that the true temple of God is wherever living stones are built together, including individual believers and groups of believers. God's glory won't be compartmentalized into "church life" and "regular home life." Even the homes will be filled with His presence and glory and will be places where Christians gather to share their faith with one another.

14. "CONTINUING" RELATIONSHIPS
Acts 2:42 "Continuing in fellowship..."
"CONTINUING" RELATIONSHIPS WILL BE THE STRUCTURE THAT HOLDS AND MAINTAINS THE MOVE OF GOD. God moves in the midst of community. We are a living temple built together stone upon stone, life upon life. There will be divine relationships established that will form a network that will be able to hold, maintain, and pour out the Glory of God into the earth.

15. OPERATE IN GOD-GIVEN AUTHORITY AND POWER
Acts 3:6 "What I do have I give you."
The Church will walk and operate in their God-given authority and power. We will know what we have and give it away.

16. THE CHURCH WILL BE A PLACE OF WONDER AND AMAZEMENT
Acts 3:10 "They were filled with wonder and amazement at what had happened to him."
God is restoring His wonder to the church.

17. PROCLAIM THE GOSPEL WITH SIGNS AND WONDERS
Acts 4:31, 33 "They were all filled with the Holy Spirit and they spoke the word of God with boldness. And with great power the apostles gave witness to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus."
The Church will walk in a supernatural boldness to proclaim the gospel with signs and wonders backing them up.

18. HEALING IN THE STREETS
Acts 5:14-16 "They brought the sick out in to the streets, and they were all healed."
There will be such a degree of power in the church that ALL WILL BE HEALED WITH SIGNS AND WONDERS BEING PERFORMED IN THE STREETS. God's glory will break outside the four walls of a church building and will be demonstrated in the streets where the lost, sick, and dying are.

19. ANGELIC ACTIVITY
Acts 5:17-19 "But at night an angel of the Lord opened the prison doors and brought them out."
ANGELIC ACTIVITY WILL BE COMMON FOR THE CHURCH. The realm of the Spirit and supernatural activity will be natural for the Last Day's Church. Visitations of angels will be understood and experienced in a biblical way.

20. GREAT JOY IN THE CHURCH
Acts 8:4-8 "And there was great joy in that city."
THERE WILL BE GREAT JOY IN THE CHURCH AS GOD'S POWER IS DISPLAYED, despite the increase of darkness in the world, along with possible persecution for our faith from those whose minds are blinded by the god of this age. Christians will live in a supernatural joy as they see the amazing miracles performed by the power of God.

21. SUPERNATURAL POWER AND ACTIVITY INCLUDING TRANSLATION
Acts 8:39 "The Spirit of the Lord caught Philip away."
Supernatural power and activity, including translation, being supernaturally taken from one location to another in bodily form by the power of the Spirit, will be experienced by the Church.

22. VISIONS OF THE LORD HIMSELF
Acts 9:3-4 "And suddenly a light shone around him from heaven."
These visions of Christ will even be given to those in the deepest darkness and will be a way the Lord reveals Himself. This will happen more and more in the Muslim world as well.

23. THE DEAD WILL BE RAISED
Acts 9:36-37, 40 "And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter she sat up."
The dead will be raised as a supernatural sign of the resurrection of Christ.

24. THE HOLY SPIRIT WILL BE POURED OUT ON ENTIRE GROUPS OF PEOPLE
Acts 10:44-46 "The Holy Spirit fell upon all those who heard the word."
Including entire people groups, tribes, congregations, and denominations.

25. SUPERNATURAL DELIVERANCE WITH THE ACTIVITY OF ANGELS
Acts 12:5, 7 "An angel of the Lord stood by him, and a light shone in the prison, and his chains fell off his hands."
There will be supernatural deliverance with the activity of angels.

26. ONLY GOD WILL GET THE GLORY
Acts 12:23 "An angel of the Lord struck him because he did not give the glory to God."
God is jealous for the glory. He wants ALL of it.

27. COMMISSIONED THROUGH FASTING AND PRAYER
Acts 13:2 "As they ministered to the Lord and fasted, the Holy Spirit said 'Now separate to Me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.'"
People will be commissioned into their callings and destinies through fasting and prayer.

28. THERE WILL BE THE OPERATION OF GREAT AUTHORITY FOR DELIVERANCE
Acts 16:18 "'I command you in the name of Jesus to come out of her.' And he came out that very hour."
Not only will the Church heal the sick and see mighty miracles, but we will also move in deliverance seeing the oppressed set free from demonic power.

29. UNUSUAL MIRACLES
Acts 19:11-12 "Now God worked unusual miracles by the hands of Paul."
There will be UNUSUAL MIRACLES that God works through His servants. Even prayer clothes will carry the tangible anointing of the Holy Spirit.

30. HOLINESS AND PURITY WILL MARK THE CHURCH
Acts 5:4-5 "Then Ananias, hearing these words, fell down and breathed his last. So great fear came upon all those who heard these things."
Eph. 5:27 "That He might present her to Himself a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing, but that she should be holy and without blemish."
There will be no inward toleration of sin or hypocrisy. Ananias and Sapphira were judged for their hypocrisy, setting a standard for God's holiness in the Church. Remember, with great power and authority comes great responsibility. The greater the glory and power God gives us, the purer we must be to hold that power.

God has given us the book of Acts as the standard for the operation of the supernatural in the Church. In a way, we are still writing the book of Acts as we move in the power of the Spirit and perform the works Christ has called us to do. The glory on the Last Day's Church will be even greater than that on the early church. There are still greater works God has called us to do to see all the nations brought into His Kingdom and come to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ. Let's lay hold of the fullness of the Spirit by faith, step out and walk on the water! May God's glory fill your life with increasing power as you seek after Him.

The Lord Is Bringing In The Big Fish

Ching Co

September 19, 2004

I was awakened by the Lord and experienced that sudden urge to get up and go into intercession. As I was waiting for the Holy Spirit to guide me how and what to pray, I was reminded about the story in John 21 which, in my Bible, has the heading, "Jesus and the Miraculous Catch of Fish," where Jesus instructed His disciples after a very disappointing night of fishing. As they were coming back from shore, to throw their net on the right side of the boat, when they obeyed him, they were unable to haul the net in because of the large number of fish.

As I was pondering on this story, I felt the Holy Spirit bringing back to my mind the faces of powerful people in our society from our country that I have been led to intercede and pray for from time to time in the past. And suddenly I found myself prostrate before the Lord and crying out to Him, "Lord, we need You to touch these type of people quickly for the work of Your kingdom. Grant each of them a Saul (Paul) experience so that the same fire in Paul will also come upon them."

I began to visualize in my mind what impact it will make when these people in our society are transformed by God, just like Paul.

It was then that the words "I am bringing in the big fish" were impressed upon my heart so strongly and, with that, a desire to share with all of God's people this good news the words that I received from Him.

"Rejoice, dear ones, for I have heard your cries. Many of you have been faithfully lifting up leaders from your community and you have been beseeching heaven's door for My Spirit to touch them and to transform them.

"This day, I tell you all. Rejoice, for that day is near. You will see with your own eyes the answers to those prayers. You will hear of their transformation being heralded in the radio, newspaper, and television.

"They will come out openly to declare my glory. And I will use many of you who have been faithfully interceding for them, as My Spirit has directed you to be part of that transformation.

"Many of you I will bring to their homes to explain and make clear to them the meaning of their unusual experiences and encounter with Me. Many of you I will use to disciple their household. Many of you I bring into their homes, offices, factories, and workplaces to share with their employees the good news about the kingdom, as their employers will request."

"Rejoice, for this is a new day. I have distributed to my heavenly hosts a sealed envelope with their names written on it, declaring that harvest time is near.

"For all the people of the earth belong to me. Whether Kings, noblemen, businessmen, educators, scientists, great men of the academy, and the likes. These are the ones that you will catch as you throw in your net of intercession.

"Rejoice, for that day is dawning. You will see with your own eyes the unveiling of this event. I will not delay anymore."
Hallelujah!! Praise the Lord!!

Many of you are hearing the same message in your spirit. And this message is meant to be a confirmation to that.

Heavenly Father, thank You. That is all we can say. No words will be sufficient to describe the joy and release we felt in our heart. All glory and power and majesty belongs to You. Amen!

If God is speaking the same message to you, please take the time to encourage one another.

God's blessings be upon us all.
In His Service,
Sis. Ching Co
Cebu City, Philippines
ching@gsi.ph.inter.net

The Least Is Greater

Terry Suggs

Matthew 11:11

Truly I tell you, among those born of women there has not risen anyone greater than John the Baptist; yet he who is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.

Speaking of those that are born of God and those that have received Jesus as Lord and savior of their lives.

Some of the great men born of women are: Moses, Elisha, Samson, Solomon, and David.

Exodus 14:13, 21-30(Moses)

Moses told the people, fear not; stand still (firm, confident, undismayed) and see the salvation of the Lord which He will work for you today. For the Egyptians you have seen today you shall never see again.

The Lord will fight for you, and you shall hold your peace and remain at rest

Then Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and the Lord caused the sea to go back by a strong east wind all that night and made the sea dry land; and the waters were divided. And the Israelites went into the midst of the sea on dry ground, the waters being a wall to them on their right hand and on their left.

Exodus 19:18

Mount Sinai was wrapped in smoke, for the Lord descended upon it in fire; its smoke ascended like that of a furnace, and the whole mountain quaked greatly.

As the trumpet blast grew louder, Moses spoke and God answered him with a voice. The Lord came down upon mount Sinai to the top of the mountain, and the Lord called Moses to the top of the mountain, and Moses went up.

Exodus 24:9-18

Then Moses, Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel went up (the mountainside).

And they say the God of Israel (that is, a convincing manifestation of His presence), and under His feet it was like pavement of bright sapphire stone, like the very heavens in clearness.

And upon the Nobles of the Israelites He laid not His hand (to conceal Himself from them, to rebuke their daring or to harm them); but they saw (the manifestation of the presence of) God, and ate and drank.

And the Lord said to Moses, Come up to Me into the mountain and be there, and I will give you tables of stone, with the law and the commandments which I have written that you may teach them.

So Moses rose up with Joshua his attendant; and Moses went up into the mountain of God,

Then Moses went up into the mountain, and the cloud covered the mountain.

The glory of the Lord rested on Mount Sinai, an the cloud covered it for six days. On the seventh day (God) called to Moses out of the Midst of the cloud.

And the glory of the Lord appeared to the Israelites like devouring fire on the top of the mountain.

Moses entered into the midst of the cloud and went up the mountain and Moses was on the mountain forty days and nights.

I Samuel 17:34-37 (David)

And David said to Saul, Your servant kept his father's sheep. And when there came a lion or again a bear and took a lamb out of the flock,

I went out after it and smote and delivered the lamb out of its mouth; and when it arose against me, I caught it by its beard and smote it and killed it.

Your servant killed both the lion and the bear; and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be like one of them, (Goliath) for he has defied the armies of the living God!

David said, The Lord Who delivered me out of the paw of the lion and out of the paw of the bear, He will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine (Goliath). And Saul said to David, Go, and the Lord be with you!

I Samuel 17: 48-49

When the Philistine came forward to meet David, David ran quickly toward the battle line to meet the Philistine.

David put his hand into his bag and took out a stone and slung it, and it struck the Philistine, sinking into his forehead, and he fell oh his face to the earth.

Judges 15:14-16, 20 (Samson)

And when he came to Lehi, the Philistines came shouting to meet him. And the Spirit of the Lord came mightily upon (Samson), an the ropes on his arms became as flax that had caught fire, and his bonds melted off his hands.

And he found a still moist jawbone of a donkey an reached out and took it an slew 1,000 men!

And Samson judged (defended) Israel in the days of the philistines twenty years.

Judges 16:2-3

The Gazites were told, Samson has come here. So they surrounded the place and lay in wait for him all night at the gate of the city. They were quiet all night, saying, in the morning, when it is light, we will kill him.

But Samson lay until midnight, then he arose and took hold of the doors of the city's gate (approximately weighing 6 tons) and the two posts, pulling them up, bar and all, he put them on his shoulders and carried them to the top of the hill that is Hebron.

Judges 14:5-6

Then Samson and his father and mother went down to Timnah and came to the vineyards of Timnah. And behold a young lion roared against him.

And the Spirit of the Lord came mightily upon him, and he tore the lion as he would have torn a kid, and he had nothing in his hand; but he did not tell his father or mother what he had done.

I Kings 10:4-7,23

When the queen of Sheba had seen all Solomon's wisdom and skill, the house he had built, The food of his table, the seating of his officials, the standing at attention of his servants, their apparel, his cupbearers, his ascent by which he went up to the house of the Lord (or the burnt offerings he sacrificed), she was breathless and overcome.

She said to the king, It was a true report I heard in my own land of your acts and sayings and wisdom.

I did not believe it until I came and my eyes had seen. Behold the half was not told me. You have added wisdom and goodness exceeding the fame I heard.

Happy are your men! Happy are these your servants who stand continually before you, hearing your wisdom!

Blessed be the Lord your God, Who delighted in you and set you on the throne of Israel! Because the Lord loved Israel forever, He made you king to execute justice and righteousness.

So king Solomon exceeded all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom (skill).

II Kings 1:10, 13-14 (Elijah)

Elijah said to the captain of fifty, if I am a man of God, then let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty. And fire fell from heaven and consumed him and his fifty.

Ahaziah sent again a captain of a third fifty with his fifty, And the third captain of fifty went up and fell on his knees before Elijah and besought him and said to him, O man of God, I pray you, let my life and the lives of these fifty, your servants, be precious in your sight.

Behold, fire came down from heaven and burned up the two captains of the former fifties with their fifties. Therefore let my life now be precious in your sight.

II Kings 4:32-37 (Elisha)

When Elisha arrived in the house, the child was dead and laid upon his bed.

So he went in, shut the door on the two of them, and prayed to the Lord. He went up and lay on the child, and put his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands, and as he stretched himself oh him and embraced him, the child’s flesh became warm.

Then he (Elisha) returned and walked in the house to and fro and went up again and stretched himself upon him. And the child sneezed seven times, and then opened his eyes.

There were others that were great men born of women that did great acts with and through the help of God. Such as; Daniel, The three Hebrews named Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

But of all men born of women, none were greater than John the Baptist.

But the Word of God said that the least in the kingdom of God is greater than John.

The least one such as the lazy, passive one or the one that doesn’t know who he is, is still greater than John.

The children of the kingdom differs nothing from anyone else as long as he doesn’t know who he is.

It is like a person that has inherited millions of dollars but is still living in a trailer park, working everyday doing work that they hate and surviving on sardines and crackers, because he doesn’t know that he has inherited millions of dollars.

The kingdom of heaven is now at hand.

Matthew 14:25-29,31-33

And in the fourth watch (between 3:00-6:00 a.m.) of the night Jesus came to them, walking on the sea.

And when the disciples saw Him walking on the sea, they were terrified and said, It is a ghost! And they screamed out with fright.

But instantly He spoke to them saying, Take courage! I Am! Stop being afraid! And Peter answered Him, Lord if it is You, command me to come to You on the water.

He said, Come! So Peter got out of the boat and walked on the water, and he came toward Jesus.

Instantly Jesus reached out His hand and caught and held him, saying to him, O you of little faith, why did you doubt? And when they got in the boat, the wind ceased.

And those in the boat knelt and worshiped Him, saying, Truly You are the Son of God!

Jesus said something to Peter that lets us know that Peter could have continued doing everything that Jesus did, because Peter is a child of the kingdom.

Luke 9:52-56

And He sent messengers before Him; and they reached and entered a Samaritan village to make things ready for Him. But the people would not welcome or receive or accept Him, because His face was set as if He was going to Jerusalem. And when His disciples James and John observed this, they said, Lord, do you wish us to command fire to come down from heaven and consume them, even as Elijah did?

The ability to call fire down from heaven was a benefit to the children of the kingdom.

But He turned and rebuked and severely censured them, he said, you do not know of what sort of spirit you are, For the Son of Man did not come to destroy men’s lives, but to save them (from the penalty of eternal death).

And they journeyed on to another village.

Luke 10:8-9

Whenever you go into a town and they receive and accept and welcome you, eat what is set before you; And heal the sick in it and say to them, The kingdom of God has come close to you.

Luke 10:16-19

He who hears and heeds you (disciples) hears and heeds Me;

And he who slights and rejects you sleights and rejects Me; and he who sleights and rejects Me slights and rejects Him Who sent Me.

The seventy returned with joy, saying, Lord even the demons are subject to us in Your Name (Authority)!

And He said to them, I saw satan falling like lightening (flash) from Heaven.

Behold! I have given you authority and power to trample upon serpents and scorpions, and (physical and mental strength and ability) over all the power that the enemy possesses; and nothing shall in any way harm you.

Ephesians 2:5-6

Even when we were dead (slain) by (our own) shortcomings and trespasses, He made us alive together in fellowship and in union with Christ; He gave us the very life of Christ Himself, the same new life with which He quickened Him, for it is by grace (His favor and mercy which you did not deserve) that you are saved (delivered from judgment and made partakers of Christ's salvation).

And He raised us up together with Him and made us sit down together (giving us joint seating with Him) in the heavenly sphere (by virtue of our being) in Christ Jesus (the Messiah, the Anointed One).

Ephesians 1:22-23

And He has put all things under His feet and has appointed Him the universal and supreme Head of the church (a headship exercised throughout the church), which is His body, the fullness of Him Who fills all in all (for in that body lives the full measure of Him Who makes everything complete, and Who fills everything everywhere with Himself.

I John 4:17

In this union and communion with Him love is brought to completion and attains perfection with us, that we may have confidence for the day of judgment with assurance and boldness to face Him, because as He Is, so are we in this world.

John 1:16-17

For out of His fullness (abundance) we have all received (all had a share and we were all supplied with) one grace after another and spiritual blessing upon spiritual blessing and even favor and gift heaped upon gift.

For while the Law was given through Moses, grace (unearned, undeserved favor and spiritual blessing and truth came through Jesus Christ.

Revelation 1:5-6

And from Jesus Christ the faithful and trustworthy Witness, the Firstborn of the dead (first to be brought back to life) and the Prince (Ruler) of the kings of the earth. To Him Who ever loves us and has once for all loosed and freed us from our sins by His Own Blood,

And formed us into a kingdom (a royal race), priests and kings to His God and Father-To Him be the glory and the power and the majesty and the dominion throughout the ages and forever and ever (Amen) (so be it).

I Corinthians 6: 17

He that is joined to the Lord is one Spirit with Him.

This gives us His attributes and abilities. This makes us the same as He is inside our spirit.

Galatians 3:26-27

For in Christ Jesus you are all sons of God through faith. For as many of you were baptized into Christ (into spiritual union and communion with Christ, The Anointed One, The Messiah have put on (clothed yourselves with) Christ.

There is now (no distinction) neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is not male and female; for you all are one in Christ Jesus.

Galatians 4:4-7, Romans 8:17-19

But when the proper time had fully come, God sent His Son, born of a woman, born subject to regulations of the Law, to purchase the freedom of (to ransom, to redeem, to atone for) those who were subject to the law, that we might be adopted and have sonship conferred upon us (and be recognized as God's sons).

And because you really are His sons, God has sent the Holy Spirit of His Son into our hearts, crying , Abba (Father)! Father!

We are heirs with Christ.

Acts 3:1-9

Peter and John used their son-ship rights and authority to heal a man crippled from birth.

John 11:41-44

Jesus demonstrated His authority and power to raise Lazarus from the dead after he was dead for 4 days.

Mark 4:37-40

And a furious storm of wind (of hurricane proportions) arose, and the waves kept beating into the boat, so that it was already becoming filled.

But He (Himself) was in the stern (of the boat), asleep on the (leather cushion; and they awoke Him and said to Him, Master, do You care that we are perishing? And He arose and rebuked the wind and said to the sea, hush now! Be still (muzzled)! And the wind ceased (sank to rest as if exhausted by its beating) and there was (immediately) a great calm (a perfect peacefulness).

He said to them, Why are you so timid and fearful? How is it you have no faith (no firmly relying trust)?

Jesus was saying that they did not use their own faith that was equal to His faith. Our faith is equal to the power of God to produce the desired result.

Jesus has given us the measure of faith. He has given us the power of attorney to act in His stead. He told the disciples to occupy until He comes.

The least in the kingdom of God in Christ Jesus is indeed greater that John the Baptist.

Our faith is superior to any disease, infirmity, demon, or any other situation or problem we face.

When we pray saying let thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven; we are saying let the sick be made whole, let the poor be rich, let the heart-broken be healed, let the fearful be at peace, and let the weak be strong as it is in heaven, let the righteousness of God be established on earth, let the kingdom of God be established on earth, let God be sovereign on earth as it is in heaven, let darkness be dispelled, let satan be cast out as it was in heaven.

Let Thy Will Be Done On Earth As It Is In Heaven.

The words of Jesus were always words such as: Be of Good Cheer, Fear not, It Is I Am, Be Made Whole, Be Healed, Arise And Be Healed, Peace and Have Faith In God.

He raised the dead and forgave sins. He cast out devils. He went to those that were out in the byways and down and out. He fed the hungry. He cleansed the lepers. He made the sick whole. He healed memories of the past. He demonstrated the love of God in the purest way.

Before salvation, we were with out hope, powerless, fearful, uncertain about our future, broken-hearted, lost, without help.

The Lord is the same yesterday today and forever.

Jesus broke the ancient curse brought on by Adam.

When Eve was in the Garden of Eden, Satan came to her and told her that she was not complete, and that she was not what she was in God. He convinced her that she needed more from God than she already had.

Adam and Eve walked and talked with God everyday. He clothed them with glory. He was in constant contact with them. Adam was a mirror image of our Almighty God. But satan told them they were depraved and miserable.

But satan deceived them by the lies that he told.

And even now the bible declares that we are complete in Christ Jesus.

In Ephesians 1:22-23, it says that Jesus is the embodiment of the fullness of God. In the body is us, and we have the fullness of Jesus in us. When we walk, we walk in fullness. When we speak, we speak in fullness. When we pray, we pray in fullness.

John 1:17

Of His fullness, have we all received.

Romans 8:9,17

But you are not living the life of the flesh, you are living the life of the Spirit. We are joint heirs with Jesus.

Isaiah 62:1-4

For Zion's sake will I not hold my peace and for Jerusalem's sake, I will not rest until her imputed righteousness and vindication go forth as brightness, and her salvation radiates as does a burning torch.

And the nations shall see your righteousness and vindication (your rightness and justice-not your own, but ascribed to you), and all kings shall behold your salvation and glory; and you shall be called by a new name which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

You shall also be (so beautiful and prosperous as to be thought of as) a crown of glory and honor in the hand of the Lord, and a royal diadem (exceedingly beautiful) in the hand of your God.

You (Judah) shall no more be termed Forsaken, nor shall your land be called Desolate any more. But you shall be called Hephzibah (My Delight is in her), and your land be called Beulah (Married): For the Lord delights in you, and your land shall be married (owned and protected by the Lord).

The least in the kingdom of God is greater than John the Baptist.

Matthew 17:20

He said to them, Because of the littleness of your faith—that is, your lack of firmly relying trust. For truly, I say to you, if you have faith (that is living) like a grain of mustard seed, you can say to this mountain, Move from here to yonder place, and it will move, and nothing will be impossible to you.

Luke 17:6

And the Lord answered, if you had faith (trust and confidence in God) even as a grain of mustard seed, you could say to this mulberry tree, Be pulled up by the roots, and be planted in the sea, and it would obey you.

Mark 11:23-24

Truly I tell you, whoever says to this mountain, be lifted up and thrown into the sea! And does not doubt at all in his heart, but believes that what he says will take place, it will be done for him.

For this reason I Am telling you, whatever you ask for in prayer, believe –trust and be confident-that it is granted to you, and you will get it.

This message is to those that don't know who you are. And this message is to this nation.

God says it is time for fullness to manifest.

There was an observation made from a man of God about how satan can see in the spirit realm a lot clearer than we can. This may give him an advantage over us. But the Holy Spirit lives in us and we are superior to satan now. He can only deceive us. We are the Heirs of God and Joint-Heirs of God with Christ.

The leading of the Holy Spirit is what makes us the victors in every situation. The revelation of the Word of God and the power of God in us gives us the victory over satan.

A short note about the new European common Market nations constitution. They are starting to look more like the One World government system talked about in the book of Daniel and Revelation, And what I believe will be the last world government to be ruled by satan during the tribulation period for 7 years. Be mindful of the laws that are being passed to take the crosses down and the ten commandments out of public places.

When this world was destroyed by God, one of the things that was said about the people was that they would not retain God in their knowledge.

Terry Suggs

http://www.LiveInJesus.Spreadtheword.com

Terrysuggs@yahoo.com

In My Image and Likeness
Terry Suggs

What is man that God is so thoughtful of him? Why did God place such a high value on a man's life? Why is man so important? Why was God so concerned about man that He (Jesus, God's Son) got into a body, lived as a man, reconciled and restored man back to Himself?

Why did Jesus allow Himself to be beaten, mocked, humiliated, His bearded pulled out and then crucified? We know that He did this because He loved us, but there were other reasons as well. He wanted man restored to his original position that he had before Adam lost it.

Jesus is the value of man, for it cost His life to redeem mankind. It cost the life of God the Son.

It pleased the Father to bruise His Son.

Adam did not have a natural father. Jesus did not have a natural father. They were both born of God. They had God's characteristics and nature. Adam was created. Jesus was the only begotten Son.

Psalm 8:4-6

What is man that you are mindful of him and the son of man that you care for him?

Yet you have made him a little lower than Elohim and you have crowned him with glory and honor.

You made him to have dominion over the works of your hands; you have put all things under his feet.

Gen 1:26

God said, let us (Father, Son, and Holy Ghost) make mankind in Our image, after Our likeness (Express image, mirror image), and let them have complete authority over the fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the tame beasts and over all the earth. So, God created man in His Own image, and in the image and likeness of God He created him.

Then Lord God formed man from the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath or spirit of life, and man became a living being (another speaking spirit).

He was first created by God then his body was formed and what God created was put into the body.

Genesis 3:8-10

God loves to fellowship with man.

Luke 3:23-38

Man is the offspring of God.

I Cor. 6:17

But the person who is united to the Lord becomes one spirit with Him. Paul the Apostle was inspired by the Holy Ghost when he said that without Christ I can do nothing.

I Cor. 3:16-17

Do you not discern and understand that you (the whole church at Corinth) are God’s temple (His sanctuary), and that God’s Spirit has His permanent dwelling in you (to be at home in you, collectively as a church also individually?

If anyone does hurt to God’s temple or corrupts it (with false doctrines) or destroys it, God will do hurt to him and bring him to the corruption of death and destroy him. For the temple of God is holy (sacred to Him) and that temple you (the believing church and its individual believers) are.

As He is so are we in this world.

Acts 17:28-29

For in Him we live move and have our being, as even some of your own poets have said, for we are also His offspring.

Since then we are God’s offspring, we ought not to suppose that Deity (the Godhead) is like gold or silver or stone, (or the nature of) a representation by human art and imagination, or anything constructed or invented.

Man is much more than a physical being.

Man is an eternal creature.

Hebrews 2:6-11

It has been solemnly and earnestly said in a certain place, what is man that you are mindful of him or the son of man that you graciously and helpfully care for and visit and look after him?

For some little time You have ranked him lower than Elohim. You have crowned him with glory and honor and set him over the works of your hands.

For you have put everything in subjection under his feet. Now in putting everything in subjection to man, He left nothing outside of Man's control.

But at present we don't yet see all things subjected to him (man).

But we are able to see Jesus Who was ranked a little lower than Elohim for a little while, crowned with glory and honor because of His having suffered death in order that by the grace (unmerited favor) of God (to us sinners) He might experience death for every individual person.

For it was an act worthy of God and fitting to the divine nature that He, for Whose sake and by Whom all things have their existence, in bringing many sons into glory, should make the Pioneer of their salvation perfect (should bring to maturity the human experience necessary to be perfectly equipped for His office as High Priest through suffering.

For both He Who sanctifies (making men holy) and those who are sanctified all have one Father. For this reason He is not ashamed to call them brethren. For He says I will declare Your (the Father's) name to My brethren, in the midst of the worshiping congregation I will sing hymns of praise to you.

James 1:18

And it was of His Own free will that He gave us birth as sons by His Word of Truth, so that we should be a kind of first fruits of His creatures (a sample of what He created to be consecrated to Himself).

Romans 8:29-30

For those whom He foreknew (of Whom He was aware and loved beforehand, He also destined from the beginning foreordaining them) to be molded into the image of His Son, and share inwardly His likeness, that He might become the Firstborn of many brethren.

And those whom He thus foreordained , He also called, and those whom He called, He also justified, (acquitted, made righteous, putting them into rightstanding with Himself).

And those whom He justified, He also glorified, raising them to a heavenly dignity and condition and condition or state of being.

John 3:17-18

For God did not send the Son into the world to judge (to reject, to condemn, to pass sentence on) the world, but the world might find salvation and be made safe and sound through Him.

He Who believes in Him (who clings to, relies on Him) is not judged (he who trusts in Him never comes up for judgment; for him there is no rejection, no condemnation – he incurs no damnation); but he who does not believe (cleave to rely on, trusts in Him) is judged already (he has already been convicted and has already received his sentence) because he has not believed in and trusted in the name of the only begotten Son of God. (He is condemned for refusing to let his trust rest in Christ's name).

Psalm 82:1-7

Man has a position as representatives of God, and a position of children of God.

God stands in the assembly (of the representatives) of God; in the midst of the magistrates or judges He gives judgment (as) among gods.

How long will you (magistrates or judges) judge unjustly and show partiality to the wicked?

Do justice to the weak (poor) and fatherless; maintain the rights of the afflicted and needy.

Deliver the poor and needy; rescue them out of the hand of the wicked.

(The magistrates and judges) know not, neither will they understand; they walk on in the darkness (of complacent satisfaction); all the foundations of the earth (the fundamental principles upon which rests the administration of justice) are shaking.

I said, you are gods (since you judge on My behalf, as My representatives); indeed, all of you are children of the Most High.

But you shall die as men and fall as one of the princes.

I Cor. 6:2-3

Do you not know that the saints (the believers will judge and govern the world? And if the world itself is to be judged and ruled by you, are you unworthy and incompetent to try (such petty matters) of the smallest courts of justice?

Do you know also that we (Christians) are to judge the very angels and pronounce opinion between right and wrong (for them)? How much more then (as to) matters pertaining to this world and of this life only!

John 5:26-27

For even as the Father has life in Himself and is self existent, so He has given to the Son to have life in Himself and be self existent.

And He has given Him authority and granted Him power to execute (exercise, practice) judgment because He is a Son of Man (very man).

Jesus as the son of man had dominion over everything in this world.

Psalm 115:15

The earth has He given to the children of men.

John 14:12

Jesus said, I assure you most solemnly I tell you, if anyone steadfastly believes in Me, He will himself be able to do the things that I do, and he will do even greater things than these, because I go to the Father.

A man in God’s image and likeness was to rule over the creation of God.

God’s first man failed to keep his position.

God’s second man Jesus restored man to headship.

Adam had dominion and authority over all the earth.

Jesus the last Adam has authority over heaven and earth.

Adam did not have a natural father.

Jesus did not have a natural father.

John 3:35

The Father loves the Son and has given (entrusted, committed) everything into His hand.

Jesus was called the last Adam. Adam operated on earth the same way that Jesus operated on earth.

I Tim. 1:9-10

Knowing and understanding this: that the Law is not enacted for the righteous those who are already made right through accepting Christ, (the upright and just, who are in right standing with God), but for the lawless and unruly, for the ungodly and sinful, for the irreverent and profane, for those who strike and beat and even murder fathers and strike and beat and even murder mothers, for manslayers.

For impure and immoral persons, those who abuse themselves with men, kidnapers, liars, perjurers and whatever else is opposed to wholesome teaching and sound doctrine.

Hebrews 1:2-3

But in these last days, He has spoken to us in the person of His Son, Whom He appointed Heir and lawful Owner of all things, also by and through Whom He created the worlds and reaches of space and the ages of time He made, produced, built, operated and arranged them in order.

Jesus Is the sole expression of the glory of God (the Light Being, the out raying radiance of the divine and He is the perfect imprint and very image of God's nature, Upholding and maintaining and guiding and propelling the universe by His mighty Word of power. When He had by offering Himself accomplished our cleansing of sins and riddance of guilt, He sat down at the right hand of the Divine Majesty on high.

II Cor. 5:17

Therefore if any person is ingrafted in Christ (the Messiah) he is a new creation (a new creation altogether), the old (previous moral and spiritual condition) has passed away. Behold the fresh and new has come!

II Cor. 6:18

And I will be a Father to you, and you shall be My sons and daughters, says the Lord Almighty.

I Cor. 3:21-23

So let no one exult proudly concerning men (boasting of having this or that man as a leader), for all things are yours.

Whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas, or the universe or life or death, or the immediate and threatening present or the subsequent and uncertain future, all are yours, and you are Christ's and Christ is God's.

II Cor. 19

It was God personally present in Christ, reconciling and restoring the world to favor with Himself, not counting up and holding against men their trespasses (but canceling them) and committing them to us the message of reconciliation (of the restoration to favor).

II Peter 1:3-4

For His divine power has bestowed upon us all things that are requisite and suited to life and godliness, through the full personal knowledge of Him Who called us by and to His Own glory and excellence (virtue).

Now our minds have to catch up to where God has placed us.

I Cor. 2:16

For who has known or understood the mind (the counsels and purposes) of the Lord so as to guide an instruct Him and give Him knowledge? But we have the mind of Christ (the Messiah) and do hold the thoughts (feelings and purposes) of His heart.

Philippians 2:5,13

Let this same attitude and purpose and humble mind be in you which was in Christ Jesus.

Who, although being essentially one with God and in the form of God (possessing the fullness of the attributes which make God, God, did not think this equality with God was a thing to be eagerly grasped or retained.

For it is God Who is all the while effectually at work in you energizing and creating in you the power and desire, both to will and to work for His good pleasure and satisfaction and delight.

Ephesians 4:18-25

Their moral understanding is darkened and their reasoning is beclouded. They are alienated, estranged, and self banished from the life of God with no share in it; this is because of the ignorance, the want of knowledge and perception, the willful blindness that is deep-seated in them, due to their hardness of heart (to the insensitiveness of their moral nature).

In their spiritual apathy they have become callous and past feeling and reckless and have abandoned themselves (a prey) to unbridled sensuality, eager and greedy to indulge in every form of impurity (that their depraved desires may suggest and demand.

But you did not so learn Christ!

Assuming that you have really heard Him and been taught by Him, as all Truth is in Jesus (embodied and personified in Him).

Strip yourselves of your former nature (put off and discard your old unrenewed self), which characterized your previous manner of life and becomes corrupt through lusts and desires that spring from delusion;

And be constantly renewed in the spirit of your mind (having a fresh mental and spiritual attitude. And put on the new nature (the regenerate self) created in God’s image, (Godlike) in true righteousness and holiness.

Therefore, rejecting all falsity and being done now with it, let everyone express the truth with his neighbor, for we are all parts of one body and members one of another.

Ephesians 2:5-6

And He raised us up together with Him and made us sit down together (giving us joint seating with Him) in the heavenly sphere (by virtue of our being) in Christ Jesus (the Messiah, the Anointed One).

Even when we were dead slain by our own shortcomings and trespasses, He made us alive together in fellowship and in union with Christ; He gave us the very life of Christ Himself, the same new life with which He quickened Him, for it is by grace (His favor and mercy which you did not deserve) that you are saved (delivered from judgment and made partakers of Christ's salvation.

Romans 8:17

And if we are His children, then we are His heirs also; heirs of God and fellow heirs with Christ sharing His inheritance with Him.

Only we must share His suffering if we are to share His glory.

John 15:19

You are not of this world but only in it, no longer one with it.

John 1:12,16

But to as many as did receive and welcome Him, He gave the authority (power, privilege, right) to become the children of God, that is, to those who believe in adhere to, trust in and rely on) his name.

For out of His fullness (abundance), we have all received (all had a share and we were all supplied with) one grace after another and spiritual blessing upon spiritual blessing even favor upon favor and gift heaped upon gift.

I Cor. 1:8-9

And He will establish you to the end (keep you steadfast, give you strength, and guarantee you vindication; He will be your warrant against all accusation or indictment so that you will be) guiltless and irreproachable in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ (the Messiah).

God is Faithful (reliable, trustworthy, and therefore ever true to His promise, and He can be depended on); by him you were called into companionship and participation with His Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

I Peter 1:23

You have been regenerated (born again), not from a mortal origin (seed, sperm), but from one that is immortal by the ever living and lasting Word of God.

God seed or the Word of God is the incorruptible and indestructible seed. A seed will produce fruit of the kind of seed that it is.

We were born of the incorruptible, indestructible seed of God. It will produce sons and daughters of God. The incorruptible seed produces incorruptible fruit.

Ephesians 1:22-23

And He has put all things under His feet and has appointed Him the universal and supreme Head of the church, Which is His body, the fullness of Him Who fills all in all (for in that body lives the full measure of Him who makes everything complete, and Who fills everything everywhere with Himself).

Ephesians 2:18,22

For it is through Him that we both (whether far off or near) now have an introduction (access) by one Holy Spirit to the Father (so that we are able to approach Him).

In Him and in fellowship with one another you yourselves also are being built up into this structure with the rest, to form a fixed abode, dwelling place of God in (by, through) the Spirit.

Ephesians 3:19

That you may really come to know practically, through experience for yourselves the love of Christ, which far surpasses mere knowledge without experience; that you may be filled through all your being unto all the fullness of God, may have the richest measure of the divine Presence, and become a body wholly filled and flooded with God Himself!

Religious traditions make the Word of God ineffective. No one can keep the law. But there are some still teaching a legalistic doctrine, because it lets them manipulate and intimidate their listeners. The law was given to show us that no one could possibly keep the law of God. Jesus is the One and only One that could fulfill the requirements of God’s law. He lived a perfect and sinless life.

He bestowed His righteousness upon us. He imputed His righteousness to us, It means there was a heavenly transaction when pour out His blood on the mercy seat, and cleansed the books and the sins of every man.

He obliterated our sins. He took them away forever.

Calvary covers every sin ever committed except blasphemy.

Ephesians 4: 12-13

His intension was the perfecting and the full equipping of the saints (His consecrated people), that they should do, the work of ministering toward building up Christ’s body (the church),

That it might develop, until we all attain oneness in the faith and in the comprehension of the full and accurate knowledge of the Son of God, that we might arrive at really mature manhood (the completeness of perfection), the completeness of personality which is nothing less than the standard height of Christ’s Own perfection, the measure of the stature of the fullness of the Christ and the completeness found in Him.

Remember “as He Is, so are we in this world”.

We are born of the word of God. We are quickened by the Holy Spirit. We have the fullness of God inside our new spirit. The faith that we use is as powerful as the One we have faith in. The faith that we use is greater than any sickness or disease or situation or enemy.

The Lion Of Zion 1-5

Rosie Lovejoy

Part I

January 4, 2003

By Rosie Lovejoy in Golden, Colorado

This is the vision I had during Praise and Worship on January 4th, 2003*, the evening we were praying for a Pastor and his wife's departure to Israel. I shared this vision with my sister, and she insisted that I write it down.*

I was dancing during worship, when the Holy Spirit told me to sit down. The saxophone player began to play (prophesy with his instrument), and the following vision unfolded. It took nearly twenty to thirty minutes altogether.

It began with a vision of a huge lion, about ten to fifteen feet high. He was suspended about two to three feet off the ground. He was not a "cute" lion, rather His mane was large and shaggy, and He looked very viral and powerful. During the entire vision He was walking levitated two to three feet above the earth.

The lion turned to me and thundered:

"DO NOT MY PEOPLE KNOW THAT THE TIME AND THE SEASON HAS CHANGED?"

(I remember thinking that His grammar was odd, and that is not how we usually say things.)

After thundering the question to me, He breathed, and flames of fire came out of His mouth. I heard the words "LION OF ZION" reverberate through my Spirit.

The lion began to walk, suspended above the ground, breathing fire. The fire that was coming out of His mouth was not the refining fire we have been taught about, rather a fire that destroyed and burnt up all in its path. I knew in my Spirit that it was a fire of judgment.

I next saw a view of a downtown business district of a large city. I think it was New York City, but I cannot be sure. I saw a building that resembled the Empire State Building, and a few buildings that surrounded it, collapse. The image was similar to the collapse of the Twin Towers. I screamed in my Spirit, "No LORD!! NO!!!!!" As I was screaming, I saw the rubble and smoke from the collapsing buildings arise into a cloud that resembled a mushroom cloud. I do not know for sure if it was a nuclear mushroom cloud or a cloud of debris from the building. I was horrified and weeping in my Spirit.

The lion reappeared and again turned His head and spoke to me. In a mournful voice He asked:

"HOW ELSE AM I GOING TO BRING IN THE HARVEST?"

(I instinctively knew that as a nation and people we are totally pre-occupied with our little lives and situations, and nothing short of calamity was going to bring us to question our existence and purpose for being. I knew it would take something of this magnitude to bring us to repentance.) The lion then spoke again:

"I HAVE USED BABYLON IN THE PAST TO JUDGE MY PEOPLE, AND I WILL USE BABYLON AGAIN TO JUDGE MY PEOPLE."

The lion began to walk, and I saw groups of people standing and talking, some were joking with each other. Others were buying new cars and houses. Others were plotting financial gains and what to do with their assets during these uncertain times. I knew that this was the Church in America. Most were erect and oblivious to the approaching lion. A few were face down on the ground weeping and interceding. They were each covered with a course, brown cloak. There were very few on their faces.

THE LION THEN ROARED, and flames came out of His mouth, and burnt up the Christians who were standing. They became ashes and were no more. Horrified, I realized that I was standing to watch the unfolding scene, and I dove towards the dirt, skinning my chin as I landed. I was immediately covered from head to foot with the same course, brown cloak the intercessors on the ground were covered with. I raised my head to look out, and witnessed more and more erect Christians being burnt to a crisp. It was clear to me that the only safe pace to be was on my face, in the dirt, interceding.

The Lion of Zion then turned to me again, and spoke.

"DO YOU REALLY BELIEVE THAT I WILL KEEP MY HAND OF PROTECTION OVER YOUR NATION, WHEN IT IS WILLING TO DIVIDE MY HOLY CITY, JERUSALEM?"

I knew in that moment that YAHWEH was lifting His hand of protection from our nation, and that judgment had begun. I clung to the ground, as the lion walked over me, and those of us who were prostrate on the ground, still breathing fire.

By this time, the worship music had concluded and the Pastor's wife was speaking about the offering, and how giving our tithes and offerings was a joyful act of worship. Again the Lion thundered:

"ARE MY WAREHOUSES FULL? NO!!!! ARE MY PRIESTS TAKING CARE OF MY WIDOWS AND ORPHANS? NO!!!"

I then saw men I knew were pastors and priests, standing tall and erect. Some were standing in front of Mercedes, others in front of large, expensive churches. The Lion spoke again:
"MOST OF MY PRIESTS DON'T CARE ABOUT MY WIDOWS AND ORPHANS. THEY CARE ABOUT THEMSELVES, THEIR CARS AND HOUSES, AND THE CHURCHES THEY ARE BUILDING. THEY CARE ABOUT THEIR MINISTRY, NOT MINE."

"Oh no!" I thought. "These ministers are goners…" The Lion then opened His mouth and roared. Fire came out and consumed the "priests" who were standing beside their new cars and large, expensive churches. They became a pile of ashes on the ground next to their possessions. Many, many were consumed.

The Lion continued to walk, breathing fire. Anywhere Christians were standing, rather than prostrate on the ground in sackcloth, they were consumed and turned to ashes. It was a horrifying sight.

As the offering was being taken, I was watching the Lion prowl, and the ministers being burnt to ashes. When the pastor began to preach, the most terrifying scene of the vision began to unfold.

I saw a large plain, as far as the eye could see. Millions of people filled the plain in line after line. They were Moslems on the ground, bowing in unison to Allah. They were colorfully dressed, with turbans and veils, praying and bowing to the voice of their priests as they were called to worship. Their numbers disappeared into the horizon.

I was then taken to the front of their line. Above the heads of the first line of bowing worshipers was a line of demons. They resembled black, smoky skeletons of large bulls with some swine thrown into their shape. They were hideous! Their eyes were black depths of hatred. I could see no pupils. Black smoke was coming from their eyes, their nostrils, and their bones. They had horns like bulls, sharpened to rip anything that stood in their way to shreds.

I was then taken higher and saw that I had been facing one way. From above the scene, I saw that about twenty feet away, facing the Moslem assembly of millions, was another group of people. These were Christians. The first rows were made up of Christians on their faces, prostrate, weeping. They were covered in the brown cloaks I had seen before. These only made up about twenty percent of the Christians. Behind the intercessors were Christians milling around, standing up, completely oblivious to the scene that was unfolding. They were buying and selling, being married, washing their cars, etc. I was sick at heart at the sight. These Christians were clueless as to what was happening.

Above the heads of the first row of intercessors, facing the Moslem worshipers and their demons, was a row of beautiful warriors, astride gorgeous white horses. The horses were pawing the air, snorting, and raring to charge the demons. They were being held back by the warriors who were dressed in armor resembling platinum or white gold. Light was bouncing off their shields and breastplates. Their visors were down, and long swords were held in one hand, while the other hand pulled on the reins of the chargers. It was a magnificent sight!

The two armies were facing each other, and I knew they were being held in check by Yahweh's timing. They were very close to each other. The demons were hissing and growling, the horses snorting and pawing the air.

Again I saw the Lion. He spoke again:

"DO NOT MY PEOPLE KNOW THAT THE TIME AND THE SEASON HAS CHANGED?"

The vision then faded away with the words vibrating in my head.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2003 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

The Lion Of Zion II
Rosie Lovejoy

"It Has Begun"
by Rosie Lovejoy

December 13, 2003

The LORD seems to speak to me the clearest during a time of anointed, abandoned worship. Tonight I attended a Regeneration Service, and as we sang and the anointing fell, this vision wove in and out of the music. I offer no explanation of what it means. To the best of my ability, this is what I saw….

I saw a golden menorah rise from below my feet (I did not see a floor) and suspend in the air at eye level. One by one lighted candles appeared in the menorah, until it was blazing and full. "Hanukkah!" I thought. This is about Hanukkah!" A blue Star of David rose from behind the menorah and was suspended in the air above the menorah of lighted candles. Both floated in the air, directly in front of me.

Then they disappeared and a lion appeared. I knew this lion! I was so happy to see him! He sat looking straight ahead, on his haunches. His eyes were piercing, but I felt only joy at seeing Him again. Soon a young sheep, not fully grown walked towards Him and nuzzled him, like it would its mother. The lion and the juvenile sheep nuzzled their heads together. It was such a touching sight, as the sheep was so small compared to the Lion. Soon the young sheep lay down beside the Lion and continued nuzzling his /her friend. Then the little sheep (it was older than a lamb, but still too young to be called a mature sheep) rolled over and began to frolic. The Lion rose and began to lick and clean the sheep just as a mama cat cleans her kitten. The little sheep was in ecstasy! The lion very thoroughly and lovingly licked and cleaned the entire sheep. Then they lay down together, in quiet repose. It was a very touching sight!

Next an image appeared that replaced the peaceful scene. The face of someone evil appeared covered in a gas mask with a tube attached [i]. The color of the gear was a steely gray. Hatred emanated from behind the dark glass eyes of the mask. The feeling of evil was so great I nearly sunk to the floor in horror and my stomach became nauseous. There was a stench of vileness about the person within the protective gear.[ii]

Next I saw a hypodermic needle filled with some sort of vaccine. I saw a hand squirt a drop or two of the vaccine into the air and then the needle was turned and inserted into a waiting shoulder. [iii]

Then the Lion appeared again, in an upright sitting position. Beside Him a gorgeous Red flag appeared. It was large with gold letters on it-Yod He Vod Hey – the Hebrew name for GOD (YAHWEH). The flag was fringed with gold, and gold tassels fluttered in the breeze. It was a very regal, very exquisite, very expensive looking flag.

Soon I saw a number of sheep appear behind the Lion, and He rose to His feet. The sheep came and began to make row after row of lines behind the Lion, each line being a bit longer than the one before it. Soon it stretched out and from the front looked like a solid V, with the Lion standing at the point of the V. The sheep looked quite dumb, and very content.

The Lion spoke to me:

"Did you think I would leave my humble ones unprotected during the times to come?"

Then I saw lava; hot, smoldering moving lava begin to cover the ground and slowly seep foreword. Ghastly demonic creatures rose from the lava, and were suspended above the lava. They were black and gruesome, with wings like bats. Some had long tails that they were whipping about. Some appeared to have horns. I was standing behind them so I was unable to see their faces. In front of them was the Lion and the sheep lined up behind the Lion. I knew that there was a stench about these creatures.

The contrast was startling. The lion and sheep were standing on emerald green grass with blue, blue cloudless skies above them. Putrid smells, and hot gases that rose from the lava surrounded the demons. The sheep were peaceful and serene; some were quietly chewing on grass. The demons were frenzied.

Then a huge, shinning sword appeared out of the sky, suspended between the two groups. The sword was the size of the Lion, and was doing movements in the air. It was razor sharp. Light bounced off of it.

From the group of demons a 5-pointed blue star appeared and rose over the demons. It began to spin clockwise very slowly, making the sign of a pentagram over and over again. As it spun, the demons became more and more frenzied. (I knew that the spinning pentagram represented all the witchcraft that is now so much in vogue, and has become so popular through the New Age Movement (White Witchcraft), the Harry Potter books, and others. I knew that although people thought that what they were doing was good, it was in fact calling forth demons from the pit.)

Then the sword swung and slashed the pentagram in half and it went spinning into the demonic hordes.

Then I saw a number of people in the same protective steel gray gear, covered head to foot with their own breathing apparatus, spraying something into the air and on the ground. It was at night and the scene was too dark for me to see where the spraying was taking place. It could have been anywhere.

Then I saw the demonic army again facing the Lion, the sheep, and this time two flags on either side of the Lion. One was the same red and gold flag with YAHWEH (God's Hebrew name) on it. The other was a deep royal blue with gold Hebrew letters on it. It, too, was fringed in gold. Both were fluttering in the breeze.

Then the sword started slashing away at the demonic army.

I heard the words,

"IT HAS BEGUN…"

Then I saw another hazy blue Star of David rise from below my line of vision and lift upwards.

The Lion Of Zion III
Rosie Lovejoy

"This Is The Year That I Will Roar"
January 24, 2004

I saw a deep, wide ravine with an old fashioned cable, swinging rope bridge going over it. This is the kind of bridge one imagines is found in the Orient. The bridge was moving about violently, almost as if a mighty force was shaking it. Soon the shaking ended, and my favorite LION appeared beside the bridge, levitated in the air.

I heard the urgent words:

COME! COME QUICKLY!
THERE IS NO TIME TO DELAY!
COME! COME QUICKLY!

I looked at the bridge and felt great trepidation. The ravine was very wide and very deep. The bridge was in excellent repair. The wood boards were all solid. The handles were strong metal cables, as thick as my thumb. I found myself asking*, "What is this bridge. What are the boards? Is it safe?"*

I heard the LION speak::

THE STEPS ARE 'MY WORD'.
THE HANDLES ARE 'MY FAITHFUL PROMISES'.
COME. COME QUICKLY!

I began to walk across the bridge, each step slow and deliberate. I found myself looking down. It was a fearful sight. The river was hundreds of feet below me. The sides of the canyon were jagged and sharp.

DON'T LOOK DOWN.
DON'T LOOK BACK! The LION stated.
THE ONLY WAY TO GET TO A NEW PLACE IS TO LEAVE THE PLACE YOU ARE AT BEHIND.
COME! COME QUICKLY!

I stopped looking down and began to stride more confidently across the bridge, grasping tightly to the two metal cables, which acted as handles. I found my fear dissipating as I got closer and closer to the other side. I could feel movement on the bridge, and turned around to see what was causing it to sway. I saw another person beginning their walk, and many, many more lined up behind him, waiting their turn to cross. There was an urgency to the movement. I knew that we needed to get across to the lush, tropical garden on the other side. I felt that there was no time to delay.

As my feet finally contacted solid ground, I felt a sense of great exhalation and joy. There was an angelic someone on the other side to greet me and the others, and I gave him a great big hug. He pointed towards a huge waterfall, and laughingly suggested that I might want to go and stand under the GLORY FALL. I ran, and thrust myself under the GLORY FALL. It was not water as we know it, rather liquid light, unlike anything I have ever experienced. (Please see my dream following this vision.) I was so happy and filled with joy that I felt that I would pop!

Soon others joined me and we frolicked under the GLORY FALL.

Then I heard two loud booms, like artillery or cannons or bombs coming from a distance. I left the GLORY FALL to investigate. I saw puffs of smoke on the other side of the gorge, and heard loud armaments. The LION was now pacing in front of the swinging bridge, guarding the garden entrance from any HE did not want to enter. HE was frightening and powerful and very much the King of the Garden. He spoke:

I WILL NOT LET THE PROFANE ENTER INTO WHAT IS HOLY.
I WILL NOT ALLOW WHAT IS HOLY TO BE PROFANED.

I heard soft voices whispering: "Kadosh, Kadosh, Kadosh! Kadosh, Kadosh, Kadosh!" (Holy, Holy, Holy! Holy, Holy, Holy!) The air was filled with the splashing sounds of the GLORY FALL, and the soft whispers of "Kadosh. Kadosh. Kadosh." The whispers were like a gentle breeze, dancing through the tropical plant life. "Kadosh. Kadosh. Kadosh."

The air was silky soft, yet electric and filled with joy and life. I felt so alive!

Soon I noticed that the LION was no longer guarding the entrance to the Garden. Where He had stood were two giant angels with flashing swords. "Just like in the Garden of Eden." I thought.

The LION was now once again levitated in the air beside the bridge, frightening away any that did not know Him. The only ones who dared flee the sounds of battle and cross the bridge were those who were well acquainted with the LION. To them, He was their friend.

The LION turned His head and spoke to me as I marveled at the two angels with flashing swords.

I NEVER TOLD YOU NOT TO EAT OF THE TREE OF LIFE.
I AM THE TREE OF LIFE.
DIDN'T I TELL YOU I HAD COME TO BRING YOU LIFE, AND THAT MORE ABUNDANTLY?

All around me the Garden was vibrant and alive with the soft whispered sounds of "Kadosh! Kadosh! Kadosh!"

Then the Lion joined the two angels and spoke.

THIS IS THE YEAR THAT I WILL ROAR.

He opened His mouth and roared, and the sound of His roar shook the ground and the garden and the land across the gorge.

I was so glad I had heeded His voice and come quickly across the bridge into the Garden where his GLORY FELL! I was so grateful I had obeyed His call to come away to the other side, and to leave what was familiar and comfortable behind!

Rosie Lovejoy

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2004 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

++

After writing this, I felt a movement in my Spirit, a sense that I had indeed experienced the living water in the GLORY FALL before. I waited for the Holy Spirit to reveal what He wanted me to know. A few days later I was reminded of a dream that I had nearly six years ago. I believe the vision and dream are connected. This dream was one of the many dreams and visions that sent me off to school to be trained up in the Prophetic.

Living Water Nobody Wants

A dream from July, 1998

I was at a church picnic high in the mountains. Tall pine trees swayed in the gentle breeze, and the perfume of their needles filled the air. The sky was a deep blue, with fluffy white clouds gently moving across it. Far off in the distance black storm clouds appeared on the horizon. Sounds of very distant thunder filled the air. The approaching storm was so far away that nobody was concerned.

The tables were filled with happy folks, eating baked beans and fried chicken. Ice chests were filled with various cans of soda, and pitchers of iced tea were sitting on the red checkered table clothes. Gleeful sounds of children playing filled the air. There were many Pastors and their families present.

The leader of the gathering got up and began to ring a bell. He is a well-known prophet that I highly respect. He asked the gathering to be quiet because he had an announcement to make. We all quieted down, and he asked us to look at the water spigot he was standing next to. It looked like a regular water spigot that one finds at public parks and campgrounds throughout the country.

Then he turned the spigot on and water shot out of it. He was so excited about it! It was unlike any water I had ever seen! Light shot out of it and through it! There was a presence to it. It was living!!!!! It was LIVING WATER!!!!!!! It was beautiful! I suddenly became very thirsty and ran forward to get some of that water.

The prophet smiled at me and handed me a cup. I drank my fill. It was so wonderful! So quenching! Quite simply beyond description!

I looked behind me and nobody had followed me to the spigot to get some of the LIVING WATER. It surprised me that there was not a line behind me. The folks at the tables had resumed their conversations, and once again laughter filled the air.

The prophet handed me an expensive lead glass, crystal pitcher and asked me to fill it with the water. As I obeyed, the light danced through and around the pitcher. It was a beautiful, breathtaking site!

I instinctively knew that I was to offer the LIVING WATER to folks seated at the tables.

I went around to tables as a waitress would. I joyfully asked each person if they would like a glass of living water.

Each one turned me down. One stated that they had just opened a can of their favorite root beer, and were very happy with it. Another pointed to a large glass of ice tea in front of them. Every one was very jovial and polite in refusing the LIVING WATER that had just come from the spigot.

The last person I spoke to was a pastor. When I offered him the fresh, LIVING WATER, he pulled a plastic gallon jug from off the ground next to him. He showed me the water in it. It looked dead and lifeless and had the smell of cheap plastic that has been sitting in the sun. It was yucky!!!

He proudly told me that this was last year’s LIVING WATER, and that he didn’t need any new water, as he still had plenty left. I was shocked that someone would choose stale, plastic-tasting water over the LIVING WATER that was being offered today.

I woke up with a feeling of exhilaration over the WATER, and mystified over the picnicker’s nonchalance and refusal to drink some of it. How could anybody not want the LIVING WATER?

It is my belief that the water coming from the spigot in this dream six years ago is the same water in the GLORY FALL of THE LION OF ZION III. I believe that the storm that was off in the distance in the dream will begin to break about us this year. And I believe that we each have a choice as to where we are positioned when the storm breaks.   I believe the LORD is inviting us all to go deeper into HIS WORD, to hold tightly to HIS FAITHFUL PROMISES, and to watch HIS DELIVERANCE unfold.

Sincerely, Rosie Lovejoy

Lion Of Zion IV
Rosie Lovejoy

The Ark & The Betrothal
February 14, 2004

I saw a beautiful, scarlet red rose, flawless, with deep green leaves. The rose was three quarters open. It was a jewel among roses. The rose remained in my vision for over five minutes.

Then I saw a huge swirling bank of clouds. The clouds were white, with soft, multi-colored gray clouds intermingled. The clouds were swirling counter clockwise, like a mighty hurricane, slowly turning. Then the center began to rise into a tube of swirling white clouds and became a mighty vortex, like a tornado. The vortex then became a Torah Scroll, vertically swirling. One end of the scroll began to roll to the left, and rolled itself out to the end. Then the other half began to unroll towards the right, until it became totally unrolled. I could make out the Hebrew letters on the scroll.

Then a voice thundered:

THIS… IS… MY… WORD!!!!

Then the clouds continued to swirl, and I heard the words:

THIS YEAR MY WINDS WILL BLOW AND THE WATERS WILL RAGE.

Then I saw an old-fashioned brass doorknob and plate. It was suspended in the air, and was not attached to a door or anything solid. I looked a moment then reached out and turned the doorknob.

It was flooded with light as a long circular corridor appeared, with a blinding, blazing, gold light at the end of it. The light was so bright I could not look into it. There were no lights in the corridor; they were not necessary. The golden light at the end of the long, circular hallway was providing all the light the corridor needed.

Soon a large male sheep, with beautiful circular horns stood in the hallway, looking at me with tender, loving, infinitely deep compassionate eyes.

As I stood looking back at the ram, animals began to walk down the hallway two by two. It was if a silent voice was calling them, and they were answering the call. I saw elephants and cattle, horses and zebras, and birds of all kinds. There was row after row of animals, walking towards the blinding light.

As they were entering the light, I saw my favorite LION welcoming them. I realized it was HE who had been calling them.

Then the LION spoke:

WHEN NOAH WAS ON THE EARTH I TOLD HIM WHAT WAS COMING, AND I INSTRUCTED NOAH TO BUILD AN ARK OF SAFETY. AND HE DID. THERE WAS NOTHING TO SHOW HIM THAT A FLOOD WAS COMING. THERE WAS ONLY MY INSTRUCTIONS AND HIS FAITHFUL OBEDIENCE. EVERYONE LAUGHED AT HIM AND SCORNED HIM. YET HE OBEYED, AND BUILT THE ARK. WHEN HE CALLED THE ANIMALS, THEY CAME.

I HAVE BEEN CALLING MY PEOPLE AGAIN:

‘WILL YOU COME INTO THE ARK OF MY COVENANT WITH ME?
WILL YOU COME?
WILL YOU COME INTO THE PLACE OF SAFETY?

COME!! COME AWAY!! COME AWAY WITH ME!!

I AM CALLING MY BELOVED TO ENTER THE ARK OF THE COVENANT WITH ME.’

And I looked and the animals were coming in droves, but there were just a few people scattered among the animals.

Then I saw a large wooden cross sitting alone on the top of a high hill.

And I heard the words:

THE WAY OF THE CROSS IS THE WAY OF LIFE.

Light back lit the cross, and it glowed with the same golden light as the corridor. Behind it the sky had a glow like that of twilight.

Then a large, swirling object began to twirl through the air. It was miles wide, and light was bouncing off of it. It landed on the cross and I saw that it was a large, gold engagement ring, with a brilliant square solitaire diamond. The ring hung on the top of the golden cross, with rainbows of fiery light bouncing off the diamond.

It hung on the cross for a minute or so, then began to fly through the air, in a swirling movement.

Soon it paused, with the diamond toward the front, and floated in mid air. Then it swirled through the air again, and paused, diamond extended, over and over again. (I now know HE was offering the ring to others unseen by me.)-

Then the ring was in front of me. Brilliant rainbows of light were bouncing off the many facets of the large, square diamond. It was so gorgeous!!!!

A gentle voice spoke:

WILL YOU BECOME BETROTHED TO ME?

WILL YOU BE MY BRIDE?

My heart nearly burst with ecstasy!!!!! Yes!!!! Yes, LORD!!!!! I responded joyfully.

Then HE was standing there beside me, and HE placed HIS right arm over my shoulder. I felt a covering placed about me. It was a beautiful white prayer shawl. It was placed over me in a gesture of love and protection. We began to walk down the corridor towards the blazing light together.

I then found myself watching my movement with my BELOVED from outside the golden corridor. As I neared the light with my BELOVED, lovely white gossamer feathered wings came down and blocked the entrance to the corridor, shielding it from my view.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2004 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

The Lion Of Zion V

Rosie Lovejoy

"Jacob's Troubles Are About To Begin"

MARCH 13, 2004

I saw a stained, weathered looking gate. My first thought was that it could be either a door to a barn or outside building, or a gate to a garden. Soon a stone wall appeared on either side of the door. It reminded me of what a gate to THE SECRET GARDEN may have looked like. The gate was solid and strong, and unless opened, I knew I would not be able to proceed through it. As I thought about it's strength, and wondered at it, the gate began to swing open. I heard a voice, "WOULD YOU LIKE TO COME IN?"

I entered a walled garden and found myself following a curved path of round concrete stepping stones surrounded by fragrant thyme. I was unable to tell what kinds of vegetation were in the garden, as it seemed to be shrouded in a mist. The path was visible, so I curiously followed it. The path halted at a large, round, deep blue pool. The water was inviting, and steps led into it.

I was reminded of Jewish mikva pools, and longed to enter it and bathe and consecrate myself once again to my Savior. I walked down the steps and began swimming in the deep pool. I found myself swimming like a dolphin. I would swirl and dive, then come up for air. The water was cool and wonderfully inviting. I swam and swam with total abandon and joy. I did not get tired.

Soon there was a movement in the center of the pool and a fountain began to rise. It vaguely resembled a Fluor de lea, but soon changed into a cross. The cross rotated clockwise. Water was coming out of the top, sides and most of the water was spraying out of the center. I heard the words: "ARE YOU SURPRISED THAT MY CROSS IS A FOUNTAIN OF LIVING WATER FOR THOSE WHO WOULD COME TO IT?"

Soon I felt called to climb up on the pedestal of the cross/fountain. Then I was nudged to come up higher. I looked about and couldn't see how to do that.

Then my favorite LION was beside me and urged me to climb onto His back. I didn't want to, as I felt it was dishonorable and disrespectful to climb onto the back of THE LION OF ZION. He urged me, and I refused and struggled. HE let out a sigh, and asked if I would be willing to fly on the back of an Eagle? I replied to the affirmative, and a huge Eagle came and swooped me up. Soon I was riding on His back, hugging His head with both arms.

I looked down and saw the charred remains of a large city. It was a blackened and smoldering ruin. I knew it was one of our cities here in the US. I felt sick inside.

The Eagle asked me:

"DO YOU THINK YOU CAN WAGE WAR ON OTHERS WITH IMPUNITY?" *

As the Eagle flew me over the land I saw chaos and images of war everywhere. Our beautiful nation was on fire! The National Forests were on fire! The National Parks were on fire! Everywhere I looked our nation was black and burning.

Soon the Eagle swooped down into a deep, mountain valley where the trees were green, and signs of war were not evident. It looked like a valley in the Cascade, Sierra, or Rocky Mountains. The mountains surrounding this small valley were tall, jagged and snow capped. I asked, "What is this place? Why has the war not touched it here?"

HE replied:
"THESE ARE PLACES OF REFUGE WHERE MY HUMBLE ONES DWELL. THE ONES WHO DWELL IN MY REFUGES ARE THE ONES WHO HEARD MY VOICE AND HEEDED MY CALL. THEY DID NOT FIGHT WITH ME WHEN THEY HEARD THE SOUND OF THE SHOFAR. I WILL HAVE A REMNANT TO GREET ME WHEN I RETURN."

HE continued:
"LET ME MAKE PLAIN TO YOU WHAT IS TO SUDDENLY COME UPON THE EARTH. JACOB'S TROUBLES ARE ABOUT TO BEGIN…AND WHO DID I TEACH YOU JACOB IS?"

"Judah and Ephriam," I replied very soberly.

"NOW YOU KNOW…" HE answered me.

The Eagle landed and the LION was waiting to greet me. Once again HE urged me to climb onto HIS back. This time I was very grateful to comply.

"NOW DO YOU SEE THAT MY FAITHFUL AND HUMBLE ONES WILL NEED TO BE CARRIED IN THE DAYS TO COME?"

I had a thousand other questions. What time framework are we talking about? Are we talking days, months, years, centuries?????

There was no answer given to my questions, and the vision faded away…
****

* impunity – 1. exemption from punishment or penalty
2. immunity or preservation from incrimination, regret, or the like; escape from what is probable, certain, or just

 Places of Refuge
I received the strong impression that the Holy Spirit has been whispering to a number of wealthy Christians to buy land both here and abroad and make it ready for an influx of refugees. I had the sense that some had said, "Yes!" and were secretly going about fulfilling His request. They were stocking the Places with food, water, etc. I also sensed that many had said "No Way!" and those Places were not being prepared as the LORD had requested. I also seemed to know that some had prepared a Place of Safety for themselves, their families, and their friends, but were refusing to expend "their wealth" on those they did not know in the Body of Christ. I felt our Heavenly Father viewed their "partial obedience" as "disobedience". There was a very somber sadness around these impressions.

These impressions were felt by me during the vision, but not part of the conversation I had with the Eagle.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2004 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

---

i. The mask was gray, metallic, with round glass eyes and a tube, which most likely is for water intake. The ones I saw on the Internet were similar to ones created for military use – both Russian and US. I was amazed at how easy it is to buy this kind of gear directly from the Internet.

ii. I do not know if the protection was for chemical or biological agents. I do know this individual was up to no good.

iii. I did not feel that the vaccine was a good thing. It, too, felt sinister--as if the patient was either unknowingly part of an experiment, or the vaccine was purposefully infective rather than protective. I am reminded of US history when American Indians were given blankets belonging to people who had died of smallpox. The intent was to infect the recipients. I felt that a similar intent was behind this vaccine.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2003 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

The Lion Of Zion 6 -10

Rosie Lovejoy

The Lion Of Zion VI
June 4, 2004

“I AM SEPARATING THE SHEEP FROM THE GOATS”

I saw the sword of the Lord of Hosts. It was a familiar sword, beautiful and deadly, with a jeweled handle and razor sharp edge. Then I heard the words:
“Are you ready to die for me?”

I gasped, and then replied, “Yes, LORD...”

The sword rose and was thrust into my heart by an unseen hand. I saw blood everywhere, and saw my heart ripped open and bleeding. I heard the words:

“You must exchange your blood for MY life giving blood. You must die in order to truly live for ME.”

(I found myself going back over my week mentally. It was filled with real estate events—houses and people and a market that is fueled by fear and greed and desperation. A week filled with craziness and exhaustion, and no time for the LORD. My heart had not focused on HIM all week… I had been eating from the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, and not from the Tree of Life.)

Then I saw the LION. HE was facing me and looking piercingly into my eyes. I was so happy to see HIM again.

The LION faded away and a large, tiered wedding cake appeared, white and decorated with swirling, gooey, icing. Sitting on top of the wedding cake was a figure of a bride and a groom, very lifeless and ordinary, dancing in a frozen sort of a way.

I heard the words:

“Most of MY people see me as a lifeless bridegroom-just like this figure on the wedding cake. They do not realize that I am living and full of life, and that I require a bride who is also alive and filled with MY life.“

“I am now separating the sheep from the goats. IT HAS BEGUN!”

Then I saw a staff with an invisible hand directing it. It worked quickly, separating the sheep to one side, and the goats to the other side. Then I saw a bride and bridegroom, dancing joyously, and other members of the wedding party dancing joyously. They were clothed in rich, colorful garments. Everyone was exuberantly happy. The bride and groom were leading a joyous procession of dancers and well wishers. Then the bridegroom whistled and all the sheep came running and followed after the bridal party. It was a very colorful scene!

Then I saw the goats, mulling around, butting each other, and taking little nips out of each other’s fur. It was not a pretty sight.

And then I saw fire, red-hot flames, rising and blocking out my vision of the goats.

The fire was replaced by the LION’S head roaring and roaring and roaring…And then the words thundered from HIM…

“LET MY JUDGMENTS ROLL!

IT HAS BEGUN!”

++

A few minutes later the LION reappeared. He was striding purposefully down a roadway. Following behind HIM on either side was a procession of flag bearers. The flags were huge (6 feet by 10 feet or so.) They were gold and a gorgeous deep purple. There was a gold flag, then a purple flag, then a gold flag, then a purple flag…The procession went on for miles, as the flag bearers followed the LION. The flags were whipping in the wind.

Then I heard a whistle, and I saw little lambs and sheep answering the whistle. They gathered in between the two rows of flags, and trotted after the LION.

HE led them out of the city and up a winding mountainous path that was wide enough for 3 or 4 sheep to trot abreast, as well as the flag bearers on either side. Every once in a while a sheep would break away, and trot out of place. The LION would turn around and sternly, yet lovingly, look at it, and the wayward sheep or lamb would trot back into place.

The LION climbed higher and higher, and the procession of flag bearers and sheep followed.

Soon they were led to a high mountain meadow, lush and green with wildflowers, mountain water, and perfumed breezes. The sheep gleefully entered the meadow, munched some grass, and laid down full and content.
The flag bearers circled the perimeter of the meadow with their gold and purple flags. The wind was blowing the flags, birds were chirping, and all felt peaceful.

Then the LION re-appeared from His position at the front of the procession. HE silently instructed the flag bearers to watch after His sheep. Then HE turned around and began to purposefully stride down the mountain path. HE looked like a LION with a mission.

Then I heard the words,

“I AM GOING TO WAGE WAR AGAINST MY SHEPHERDS WHO ARE WOLVES. THEY WORSHIP THEMSELVES AND WILL NOT BOW THEIR KNEE TO ME.”

The LION began to run as HE headed down the mountain.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2004 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

The Lion Of Zion VII
Rosie Lovejoy

The Ark And The Dancers
June 26, 2004
(Every one of the Lion of Zion visions has occurred during prolonged, passionate corporate worship and dance before the LORD. This was no exception. We were dancing with various colored flags, tambourines, and worship hoops. I felt that I may have been given a small glimpse of what occurs in the Heavenlies when we worship and dance before the LORD with all our might. I also was shown some of our farm animals as a teaching tool to me about (my) rebelliousness and disobedience to the King of Kings.)

The Cast of Characters

Miss Beauty—a full blood Arauchna chicken with beautiful black, brown, orange, and white markings who lays pale blue eggs. She is very wild and totally rebellious-- also very stupid. Her wings have been severely clipped because she is always jumping the fence and digging up our flowers and vegetables. She is always looking for a means to escape the orchard where she is safe and has plenty of room to roam.

Miss Green—was our very favorite chicken and former Queen of the Coupe. She was a Buff Rock, golden colored and gentle. She loved to follow us around and clucked to be picked up and petted. We loved Miss Green! When she was in charge of the chicken coupe, all was well and friendly. She died recently early one morning. She hadn't come when called the evening before, and we overlooked the fact that she was not safely in the coupe. A raccoon trapped her and ripped her apart. She was desperately trying to get into the coupe. I heard her screams in the pre-dawn and raced outside to see what had occurred. The raccoon fled the carcass of my favorite chicken as I raced to her rescue. It was very sad…

Miss Muffett—a half Arauchna and half Golden Comet chicken, she always tries to jump the fence, doesn't come when called, is stubborn and stupid and willful. She is mentally challenged. She is also very destructive and is always trying to get out of the orchard and dig up our gardens. Her wings have been severely clipped, as she is so destructive. She lays pretty green eggs.

I saw an Israeli flag fluttering in the breeze. The Star of David was large and beautiful, crisp and blue. As the flag fluttered, the Star of David faded and a blue pentagram superimposed itself in the place where the Star of David had been. (I was shocked and very disturbed by this.) Then the Satanic elongated head of a goat with curly horns superimposed itself over the pentagram. Instead of the Israeli flag, there was a white flag with blue stripes, and the satanic head of a goat.

(As I stood dumbfounded watching the flag changing, the Holy Spirit whispered to me that there was much witchcraft against Israel from all parts of the world. Israel was severely under attack by demonic forces. Many spells were being said against her. I was also told that there were times when secular Israeli leadership is unknowingly carrying the banner of Satan as they go about their attempt to secure the peace. Their actions are not inspired by the Holy Spirit, but by another spirit altogether.)

Then a lovely red dancing hoop covered the flag and the scene dissolved.

I saw Miss Beauty. She had flown out of the orchard and was digging in the flowerbed. She was ripping up the flowers by their roots and causing much destruction. She was oblivious to the bigger picture of our farm. She was not where she was supposed to be.

Then I was impressed with the following. "Many in My church are pretty to look at by the world's standards. But inside they are rebellious and wild. They will not come when I call them." (I clearly got the sense that HE was referring to HIS direction and HIS call, not the direction of a church official. The rebelliousness was against HIS HOLY SPIRIT, not church leadership.)

I then saw my beloved Miss Green. I was reminded that Miss Green's rebellion caused her death. Although she was loving and kind and generally very obedient, her one act of disobedience caused her literal death. I was shown that today many in the church are like Miss Green. They are loving and kind, obedient to the Pastor, and follow their church's doctrine. But when tested, their allegiance is not to the Holy Spirit and HIS voice. They will be outside the camp. Like Miss Green they will be outside YAH'S wings of protection when it matters most.

Then I was shown Miss Muffett. I was told that no matter how much Miss Muffett's wings are clipped, she still gets into trouble because of her stubbornness and refusal to follow direction. She thinks with her very limited chicken brain that she knows what is best. I was reminded that most of us are like that, too. We have no notion of the complexity of YAHWEH'S plan. Yet we insist on making our own plans, and rebel against the direction of the Most Holy Spirit when HIS plans vary with our own.

I was then shown the back of a shepherd. He whistled and all the little chickens and sheep and ducks came running and were leaping and dancing with joy as HE led them away.

I was told that that is how we are supposed to be—like the little animals that come running at HIS whistle, and follow HIM wherever HE leads. We are not to be like Miss Beauty, Miss Green, and Miss Muffett.

It was clearly impressed on me that there is a time coming soon when YESHUA will whistle, and we will need to follow like the little animals--follow instantly, joyously, and obediently. Our lives will depend on our obedience.

Then I saw a mushroom cloud, and was told that much destruction was coming to the US, but in the midst of it YAHWEH was going to explode a golden bomb of HIS GLORY. No one would be able to deny the GLORY that was being shown in the midst of tragedy and terror.

Then I saw the Israeli pentagram flag again, and it was covered and dissolved by a golden kaleidoscope of various hues. I knew we are being called to Davidic worship and intercession for Israel. We are to pray that YAHWEH'S will be done, and that Israeli leadership seek after HIS WILL alone.

Then I saw my favorite LION roaring. Dancing before HIM were dancers in colorful dress, waving beautiful hoops and flags, playing tambourines. They were dancing in procession. Following the dancers were angels in white, carrying the Ark of the Covenant. (They were tall, handsome, luminous men without wings.) Following the angels were more colorful dancers with banners and hoops.

The sight took my breath away and brought tears to my eyes.

The vision ended with the sight of the procession of dancers, angels and the ARK as they went forth into battle.

There are two scriptures where the LORD whistles. They are: Isa. 5:26, and Zech. 10:8
Zechariah 10:8 reads:

> I will whistle for them and gather them,
> For I will redeem them;
> And they shall increase as they once increased.

Isaiah 5:26 reads:

> He will lift up a banner to the nations from afar,
> And whistle to them from the end of the earth;
> Surely they will come with speed, swiftly.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2004 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

The Lion Of Zion VIII
Rosie Lovejoy

"I WILL HAVE A REMNANT…"

July 4, 2004
This word came to me during praise and worship on July 4th. As we sang "God Bless America" I saw my favorite LION, the Lion of Zion. Large plump tears were falling from HIS eyes as we petitioned our Creator to bless our nation. This word came over a period of 40 minutes or so, as I worshiped the LORD.

> I will have a remnant who will shine with MY glory-who will love what I love, and despise what I despise. They will do great exploits. They will love the poor, the sick, the homeless, and the hopeless. They will do what I love.
>
> You sing “God Bless America”…I have blessed and blessed and blessed and blessed your nation. I have been merciful and kind. But just as a Father disciplines His wayward son, so shall I discipline your nation and MY Church.
>
> I WILL HAVE A PEOPLE WHO WILL BOW THEIR KNEE TO ME AND ME ALONE. They shall carry MY banner into battle. They shall sing songs of praise to ME.
>
> Your flag has become a despised thing to me—for it no longer advances MY Kingdom and MY Will. I love MY children. Just as a Father confiscates matches from His children who are playing with them, so, too, will I move to take away the things that harm you.
>
> I AM coming soon, and I am dividing the sheep from the goats—for I WILL HAVE A REMNANT THAT DOES GREAT EXPLOITS IN MY NAME AND MY NAME ALONE.
>
> Have no fear MY child, for I will have a remnant that shines with the brightness of MY glory, and who will bow the knee to ME and ME alone.
>
> For I AM HOLY—High and Set Apart. MY ways are not your ways, and I love with an everlasting love.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2004 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

The Lion Of Zion IX
Rosie Lovejoy

Kneeling Before My King

July 18, 2004
My vision was filled with my wonderful LION—the Lion of Zion. He was reposing in a lush, green meadow, with a gold, jeweled crown on His head. The jewels were multi-colored and varied. They were dazzling in the sunlight, and rainbows of light were bouncing off of them.

Kneeling before the LION, I was surrounded in absolute love. The meadow vibrated and pulsed with HIS love. It was sweet and silky in the air, with a soft perfume of mountain flowers in bloom. About me small birds were chirping in adoration.

I knew there were others behind me, but I could not see them.

Then I saw a long stemmed ruby red rose dancing in the air, twirling about towards me. A cross arose from a rocky knoll at the edge of the meadow, and the rose danced towards it. Soon the rose began to circle the cross and more and more blooms began to appear. It began to cover the cross with profuse, fragrant blooms, like a climbing rose covers a trellis. The air was perfumed and lovely.

There was so much love…..Kneeling before HIM was bliss…

Then I saw a trickle of water begin to flow from the base of the rose covered cross. It became stronger until it was a clear, deep, gently flowing river. I left my kneeling position before the LION and belly flopped into the river. I went down deeply into the water, and swam and frolicked, like a dolphin who is happy and playful.

As I tread water, I saw a huge Class F IV or V tornado approaching.

Then I heard the words: “This is from me to awaken my children. It is not from Satan, as many will claim.” (I do not know if this is a real tornado, or a symbolic tornado that will travel through HIS church. I do know it was huge and left destruction and debris in its wake.)

Then I saw an American flag. It was torn and tattered, still on the pole, fluttering in the breeze. And I heard the word: “ “cleansing…”

Through it all, the LOVE of the LORD was sweeter than anything I have ever experienced.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2004 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

Lion Of Zion X
Rosie Lovejoy

The Death Orb
August 1, 2004

All the Lion of Zion visions have occurred during prolonged times of corporate worship. This one is no different.

I saw a lovely pink rose bud that slowly and gently opened. Perfume from its center began to fill the air. It began to turn and spin and became the twirling pink skirt of a lovely ballerina. She was dancing before the Heavenly Throne, and her dancing was fluid and exquisite. Her movements were choreographed to the worship music that was rising about me.

Then I saw a very odd object, unlike anything I have seen before. It was metal and silver in color. It looked like the planet Saturn, with a ball of silver at its center, surrounded by a flat ring of silver metal, with a razor sharp edge. The ring was stationary. The ring did not appear to be attached to the metal ball by any kind of physical mechanism that I could see. Yet, it was perfectly centered and equally spaced around the circumference of the orb. (I felt a primordial terror when I saw this object in my inner vision. Somehow I knew it was evil.)

The ballerina approached this orb and continued to dance her dance of worship on the top of blade of the orb. (At no time was there any sign of fear from her, it was simply another surface on which she could dance before her King.) Her dance continued, and she stepped onto the edge of the blade and continued to dance, unaffected by its razor sharp edge. She worshiped through her dance, and completely twirled over the orb, the blade, the edge, and the underside of the blade*. (My heart was racing as I watched her fluid, joyous movements. I was frightened for her.)* Whatever this object was, she was fearless and unafraid.

Then I saw two large flags. One was a deep, royal purple, and the other a very bright white. The flags were whipping in the breeze and were attached to long poles that were held upright by angelic beings. I could only see their back sides, but the beings were masculine and strong.

Soon children dressed in their prettiest, most colorful clothing and adults festively dressed began to gather and line up behind the flag bearers. There was a feeling of celebration and joy! The flag bearers began to walk away from me, followed by jumping, dancing children, and the very happy adults with them. The procession became a large line of folks as they followed the flags.

The silver, Saturn shaped orb reappeared, and this time the ring began to turn, faster and faster until the blade was a blur or rotating metal. It was suspended in the air.

The dancer leapt from the object and joined the procession. The flag bearers led the procession away from this deadly object, and appeared to be climbing to some unseen destination. As the backs of the people began to fade into the distance, a large cross floated down and joined the procession at the very rear, like a rear guard, blocking any kind of attack from the rear.

Then the Lion of Zion appeared behind the cross, following the procession as it made its way up the mountain. He turned towards me, and then let out His mighty roar.

At once the metal orb began to shoot through the air. I saw people fleeing in terror before it. It smashed into a building and continued out the other side, unharmed. The building collapsed about it. It was not affected by any surface it came into contact with. I felt that it was being controlled remotely, and had been programmed for this destructive assault. I sensed that there were other death orbs at work throughout the land.

The vision ended with the scene of terror and slaughter before me. The scene appeared to be an American city, as the buildings looked familiar, and the people were dressed in our present day clothing.

I have resisted writing this vision down, as it was so terrifying. It seemed that I had been given a glimpse of a new type of weapon made with space age materials.
Its mission was to create terror, and it certainly did!

Like the parables of old, this one needs to be taken to our LORD in prayer.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2004 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

The Lord Of Armies

Francis Frangipane

Dear friends, we are at a new beginning in our war against evil, especially since moral values played such a big role in deciding the last election in the USA. It is my conviction and belief that, whether we are speaking in reference to our own soul, our families or our cities and nation, we can win the battle for the future.

I know some might say, "I don't get it. I don't understand this warfare, battle mindset. I just don't see it in the Lord or the Scriptures."

The fact is, the enemy has been very successful in blinding people's eyes both to the reality of Who Christ is in His righteous wars against evil and also to the authority we have to represent Christ on earth. Many nominal Christians unconsciously think of God like He was a combination of the chubby "Happiness Buddha" and a kindly Santa Claus.

I know we are not supposed to be fearful about heavenly things, but I will be the first to say, there are beings in heaven -- including God Himself -- who are absolutely terrifying. I did not say they were bad, but that they are terrifying. They are not trying to scare us, it just happens that when they reveal just a little of their power, most people instinctively pass out.

In the Bible we frequently read the Lord telling His servants, "do not be afraid." If you look at the context of His words, it's often just after one of His servants has seen Him and, in response, has fainted. Indeed, the phrase that describes the typical human reaction to the real God is not, "he felt goose bumps" but he was "like a dead man."

It's not just the Lord who is frightening, angels are also terrifying beings. Yet, the enemy has seeded false images of angels into our thought-life. Every winter millions pull out the Christmas decorations, take out the angel for the top of the tree, position it and plug it in: a beautiful white, blond woman with wings and a long dress lights up and the tree is complete.

But no where in the Bible are angels depicted as women. Nothing wrong with women, mind you, but angels were always revealed in a masculine form with masculine names. They are fierce warriors of righteousness. I've seen angels. First, they are ageless. Second, they are uncompromisingly righteous. Third, their energy level and intensity is terrifying. Fourth, they are not women or children. Fifth, they are not men either, they just appear in masculine form as a image of strength, but they are, in fact, without gender.

Just once some Christmas I'd like to see a real angel show up on top of the tree just as I plugged in the light -- bam! nuclear glory radiating, instantly frying the Christmas tree until it was just a little skeleton of smoldering sticks; everyone in the family slain spiritually, unable to move for hours under the weight of the angelic presence. A true "touched by an angel" episode and a Christmas to remember!

Perhaps, angels have actually appeared to Christians in a feminine, comforting form on special occasions, but there are no references to feminine angels in the Bible. Nor were angels biblically depicted like little Gerber babies with wings as part of an Italian fresco, which are as harmless as they are cute. The Cupid form of an angel originated in ancient Greece where he was known as Eros, the young son of Aphrodite, the goddess of love and beauty. To the Roman's he was Cupid, and his mother was Venus. This comes from Greek Mythology. Clearly, these images do not originate from the ancient Scriptures.

I don't know, but if I was in dread conflict with an evil principality or power and I called on the Lord and, in response, a Gerber baby showed up, I wouldn't feel much comfort. I don't care if he was 50 feet tall, if he's wearing a diaper, I would not be greatly reassured.

See, I want a real angel to show up, massive, terrifying, sword drawn, fire zooming out its eyes and hands, and six wings. Real angels don't wear diapers and they aren't women. They are warriors, and we need to see them as they are depicted in the Bible.

The Lord Himself

Just like the enemy has convinced people that angels are heavenly women or babies (or can dance on the head of a pin), so there is one major revelation of God in the Old Testament that also has been obscured. It is an aspect of the divine nature that is revealed in the "compound names" of God. Some familiar examples of these unique names are Yahweh-Nissi (The Lord My Banner) or Yahweh-Jirah (The Lord My Provider) or Yahweh Rapha (The Lord My Healer), etc. In revealing Himself via these names (about 30 different occasions in the Bible), the Lord unites His eternal nature to the human need of His servant.

Yet, one name is not included in the thirty. The use of this name occurs approximately 290 times in the Bible -- nearly ten times the sum of all other revelations! Additionally, the context of literally hundreds of other scriptures include the meaning of this awesome revelation of God. What is that name? Let me introduce you to Yahweh-Sabaoth, the Lord of Hosts. From the sheer number of references alone, we see that the "Lord of Armies" is the revelation of God most frequently unveiled to man in the Bible.

When we talk about fighting for our personal transformation or warring for our families, cities and nation, it is the Lord of Hosts we want to follow into battle. It was the Lord of Hosts who met Joshua on the plains of Jericho (Josh 5:14); and it was the God of Armies that led David into battle against the Philistines (1 Sam 17:45). Those weren't Gerber babies that sang around the manger the holy night Christ was born; those were mighty, warring heavenly beings singing in awe of the sacrifice of the great King!

If we are going to be successful in our warfare, we need to see the Lord as the great commander that He is, for it's Him we follow. He is commander and ruling master of the universe. He is the Lord of Powers, both on earth and in heaven: "and the armies which are in heaven [are] following Him" (Rev 19:14).

The Look Of Death

Deborah Kerekes

When Their Eyes Don't Carry The Look Of Death

"LET'S SEE IF YOU CAN KEEP IT!"

I believe it was Benjamin Franklin, who came out of the building where the Declaration of Independence had just been signed, and a woman approached him asking him what they had just done. He said something like, "Madam, we have just given you a democracy...now let's see if you can keep it."

God has given us a chance that we didn't earn and don't deserve. It isn't so much the human, flawed vessel of George Bush, (trust me, he WILL let us down now and then...) but the "test", if you will, is something bigger.

"ARE WE CAPABLE OF SUSTAINED PRAYER?"

We truly are about to enter into a season of maturity and ripening in the Body of Christ like we haven't seen in our generation. The next four years will show what we are and aren't made of. Are we even capable of the sustained prayer necessary to uphold the move of God that we cry out for?

Well, He [THE LORD] heard SOMEthing! We got heaven's attention somehow, and managed to wrestle through phase #1. But honestly, I don't think we know what we've gotten ourselves into.

"I CAN HEAR IT TICKING RIGHT NOW!"

We've set something off.

I can hear it "ticking" right now. We are being watched, observed and weighed. We've earned ourselves a test. We've qualified for the right to be measured. We have won nothing but the privilege of heaven taking us half-way serious. (I don't mean that in a dishonoring way, He loves us so very much....but we have been crying out for a "more" from God, that I'm not so sure we've had the stomach to handle.)

"...WHEN THEIR EYES DON'T CARRY THE LOOK OF DEATH..."

The prophetic voice is about to change and the qualifying standard is about to go up. No longer will we look at "gifted" men and call them prophets, when their eyes don't even carry the look of "death" (Not the evil spirit of death, but the "death" that Christ spoke of, and the embracing of the cross.)

There will be such a grace and injunction to pray, and there will be such an authority revealed, that it can in no way be mimicked. We will see prophets and apostles firmly established where they belong--at the bottom of God's inverted ladder, and with great authority. The standard is about to be raised so much, that men who are not prophets will actually fear to call themselves such; and those who are prophets will walk in so much holy authority (whether we ever know their names, or whether they walk in secret) we will be amazed to look back at what we once called, "prophet".

There are some who say that there are no real prophets now. I believe there are and have been Prophets, or the church could never to any degree have been equipped at all, as it is the Prophets, Apostles, etc.--- that have been given to equip Her.

We've walked in the light we've been given, and to some degree have been faithful, or we wouldn't be at the threshold we are now.

But these are Prophets who have walked through fire, through the river of testing and the waters that didn't overcome them.

It will certainly bring a change in the way we see things and bring a halt to how easily we attribute an "office" to a gifted person.

MORE THAN ONE KIND OF "MARINE"

A man who has made it through the Marine Corp. boot-camp is now called a Marine. But a man who has served his four years, is another "type" of Marine. And a man who spent those four years in active combat is another "type" of Marine all together.

I believe up till now, we have seen "boot-camp" Christians and "boot-camp" prophets. (With a few dozen seasoned, well-equipped Prophets training us and showing the way. Trust me, we aren't out there training ourselves...There are and have been, --seen or unseen, real Prophets out there!)

SOME THINK THEY'VE ALREADY SEEN REAL COMBAT

Some of those "real" Prophets have just come through some very real combat and their "eyes" have been forever changed. We'll begin to see them soon.

Some with the "call" of prophet THINK they've seen combat, when actually they have just finished the "hell" of boot-camp.

Blessings to them!

However, once you have seen the battle-seasoned "Marine" Prophet, you may have very little tolerance for anything else.

ANGELIC INTERVENTION

Intercessors are needed now more than ever, and are themselves going through their "Gethsemane" Their work is not unnoticed by the Lord, and I believe a greater angelic intervention is coming for them.

Deborah Kerekes
debinramah@hotmail.com

The Light of God Released

Peter Mehegan

tbeachhead@netzero.net

I was at the In Christ's Image conference in Cedar Rapids earlier this month. It was during worship, when I closed my eyes and saw this:

There was a man standing at the foot of a stairway, short and wide, that led to a great doorway covered by a multi-colored tapestry placed there expressly to divide the people from the sanctuary. Violence of a cosmic force had ripped the hanging from top to bottom. He stood for a moment, enticed by the newly opened way into the forbidden chamber. Slowly he mounted the steps, one by one, apprehensive that at any moment, someone would call out, forbidding him to enter. No one came, and no one spoke. He stood before the great, torn veil, warp and woof waving gently in the breeze that came from within. Slowly, fearfully and not boldly, he pushed the shredded fabric aside and entered. As his eyes adjusted to the dim light, he saw an empty room, more like a mausoleum than a church. His heart cried out. Suddenly a light, bright as the sun, big as the universe, appeared, and pierced, like an arrow, the center of his heart. The light wound whirlpool-like, round until it was absorbed completely. And a voice said, "No longer shall my ark be carried on a cart with man-made wheels. But man will carry it and go to bless those to whom I'm sending it." For we have this treasure in earthen vessels.

And again I saw, and people flowed boldly from everywhere to come see the room on the other side of the veil, and when they arrived they were stunned and saddened for loss of what once was and now was not, until one spoke and said, "The light of God is in us all." And all took hands and light exploded from that place and all streamed forth to bring that light to darkening horizons. And as the sanctuary emptied and grew dark, the joy of the Lord increased and so His strength was revealed.

And again I looked and saw a people in the darkened room. They stood in awe and deep respect for what once was. Another entered to join in the work, but he heard a voice crying, "Why do you seek the living among the dead? They have all gone to labor in my fields. Go and reap what you have not sown, and receive the wages for which I destined you from before the dawn of time.

Pete

The Language of Heaven

Bayo Omoyiola

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

There is a language that transcends all human understanding and intellect. It beats the best of human eloquence and wisdom. It is called the language of heaven.

In the Bible Paul said the kingdom of God is righteousness, peace and joy in the Holy Ghost and we know that this is nothing but the fruit of the Holy Spirit. We were also told that Love is the greatest of all and that therefore we should seek love for God is love. You see up there in Heaven everything vibrates with the love of God. There is no impurity there. All is clean as the angels cry Holy, Holy, Holy. The worship is perfect and the praise is awesome.

The language of Heaven is what its citizens do speak. They all speak the language of Love. Up there, there is no limitation. The angels, saints and God understands 'all things`. Even the atmosphere of heaven is full of the gifts of wisdom and revelation of the Son of God and his creation. The whole atmosphere is charged with love and the other parts of the Spirit's fruit. God, the angels and the perfected saints only speak one language -the language of Heaven but they understand all other tongues. Its like if you can speak the heavenly language then you can speak and understand all earthly languages without being taught. This is a mystery and that which I want to share. You see the gift of tongues can also be the gift of diverse kinds of tongues. When you speak it you speak the heavenly but God can manifest all and any of the earthly languages while you are speaking. That was what occurred in the day of Pentecost. The saints when filled with the tongues of heaven and they spoke earthly languages as the Holy Spirit gave them utterance.

Groanings, thunders and sounds are heard in heaven which no man can interpret. To Paul it was not lawful for man to hear it and to John it was too wonderful. Rick Joyner could feel the awesomeness behind perceiving the thoughts of our Lord and the saints as they reason. He stood there and knew their thoughts. It was awesome. Such fellowship is too great. Shalom

The Lost Heart

David Carson

Repentance, The "Lost Heart" of The Church

Repentance has become the "lost heart" of the Church today. One seldom hears messages on the need for personal or corporate repentance from sin. And yet, when we look at the New Testament there are some 58 references to the need to repent. "Repent" is the most frequent instruction given by the risen Christ to the 7 Churches of Asia in Revelation chapters 2 & 3 (occurring 6 times). Repentance is a matter close to God’s heart.

I believe God is about to make repentance from sin as important to us as it is to Him. I believe that God is calling His Church, particularly cities, into a season of prayer, fasting and repentance in preparation for revival.

When you and I stand before God on judgment day He will not ask you to give an account for anyone’s sin but our own. That sin or issue in your neighbor’s life that you thought was so terrible and which you believed cried out for repentance on their part will not even come up in the conversation. But God will ask you to explain the log in your own eye which you steadfastly denied was there and which you refused to repent over.

Repentance isn’t about any one else. It is about you and me. It isn’t about anyone else’s sin. It’s about yours and mine. It isn’t about what you might think God wants to do in anyone else’s life. It’s about what God wants to do in your life and in my life.

It isn’t about the Church calling the world to repent of it’s sin. It’s about the Church wanting to be holy before God and living out a life of humility and repentance before a watching world that has yet to see a genuine role model of repentance and forgiveness. Perhaps the world will consider the claims of Christ more seriously when it sees the professing Church living out a life of humility, forgiveness and holiness more fully.

I believe God wants to send Spiritual Revival and Transformation to our communities, and at this current point in time, particularly in the first six months of 2004, He is calling His available church to seek Him in humility, in fasting, in prayer and in genuine personal and corporate repentance, asking God to have mercy upon us and to pour out His Spirit upon us, our churches and our community.

This isn’t about a program, a crusade, or a festival. It isn’t even about particular pastors or churches or ministries. It’s about the heart and desire of God to visit our city, to pour out spiritual revival and transformation, and it's about the role He wants each of us to play.

David Carson
info@int4canada.com

To Loosen The Loins Of Kings

Judy Curmi

1-8-2004 When I give one of my people an assignment, whom I can depend upon to complete it? What a rare gift! Do you know how few of those who are supposed to be my servants are really dependable? Do you know how few are really faithful? I tell you truly, the answer is not very many.

The pull of the world and selfish self-centered endeavors are too strong. For the many, the work of my kingdom takes a distant second to their own personal pursuits. Whether they are in the pulpit or walking as sheep, it does not matter. The same lack of faithfulness still applies.

To those of you who are different, you delight my heart! I sing over you with songs of joy and devotion. Soon I will sing over you a song of GREAT LIBERATION. You have no idea. You have never seen what I intend to do with you and certain others that I have my eyes on.

These are my faithful ones. They have been willing to follow me, no matter what the personal pain or discomfort to themselves. Whether their personal plans for their own lives were disrupted or not, it did not matter to them. They did not count the cost, but were still willing to follow me.

SO BREAKTHROUGH IS UPON YOU!

BREAKTHROUGH IS IMMINENT!

As the earth is trembling for what is about to come upon it, the heavens are trembling with excitement for what I am about to release into the lives of my holy and set apart ones.

They have CHOSEN to be set apart. They have worked diligently to know me more intimately and remove the grime from their robes. There is a reward for this behavior, as continuing to "muck with the pigs" also has its own reward! I will separate that which is defiled from that which is not. Men cannot see hearts and truly do not know the clean from the unclean, but I do.

There are many in my church who are unclean. Some of these I will be able to cleanse and set apart in the days ahead, but many will resist me vigorously. They think they know me. They do not know me at all! Too busy, too busy, too self satisfied, too caught up in the things of the world; others in love with the control, blame or shame games.

You will never know me, if you do not set apart time to be with me. You will never know me if you have hardened your heart and turned your back on my truth.

As herds and packs of animals run together, so the defiled run together. The clean and the unclean do not mix. My servants can be found everywhere, but they do not hang out with thieves and liars!

WOE to those who are so sure I do not exist. Woe to those who could care less. They could not exist without the hand that created them, yet they scorn me, curse me and laugh at the absurdity of judgment or standing before me and giving an accounting of their lives.

As I have in the past unlocked the loins of kings, so these rebellious ones, unless they change their ways, will stand before me in terror, totally undone. [Isa. 45] Man has toyed with me. Man has not listened to me. All of my pleading, interventions and blessings have been discarded and ignored.

To the victor goes the prize. The victors will be those who have humbled themselves and pursued me diligently. Didn’t I say that those who knocked and knocked, who kept on seeking, would eventually find me? [Ps. 119:2, Prov. 8:17, Jer. 29:13, Matt. 7:7, Lk. 11:9]

If a man is searching for a gold mine, does he not continue diligently in his search? Am I not of more value than gold or silver or precious stones? So why won’t you pursue ME, Oh you of little faith?

You pursue the gods you have created with great diligence. You have built great structures to worship them and do not fail to bring them your offerings and your worship and adulation.*

WOE! WOE! WOE!

I will bring these false gods down and they will fall with a resounding crash. The thunder and dust from their fall will be like a shot heard around the globe! Right now, in this very hour, I am beginning to separate that which is defiled from that which is not. My hand is beginning to move – my hand of blessing and my hand of correction.

The rumble and roar will be great. There will be catastrophes and cacophony as I move according to my sovereign will. Yes, it is at the door. Yes, it is at the door even now, Oh disobedient world.

My humble ones will do great exploits in my holy name. A coat of mail (armor) will be what my chosen ones will wear. They will be invincible, according to my Purposes.

But to the others I say - I will not contend with you forever. Have I not said that I will have MY way in the earth? And have I not said that every knee will bow to ME and me alone? I WILL LOOSEN THE LOINS OF KINGS AND THE HOUR TO ENTER IN * IS NOW. *4 I have spoken it, and so it will be.

The Most High God

Among the "great structures" I saw in the Spirit were shopping malls, sports stadiums and skyscrapers (signifying business and commerce).*

Cacophony: jarring, discordant sound, dissonance, harsh or unharmonious sound*
"To loosen the loins of kings" is an idiom describing such fear that one looses control of their bladder or bowels. It suggests total, uncontrollable terror.
"TO ENTER IN" refers to the fulfillment of Isaiah 45 as well as the other matters prophesied here.
4 Isa. 45 Thus says the Lord to his anointed, to Cyrus, whose right hand I have upheld, to subdue nations before him: I will loose the loins of kings, to open the doors before him, and the gate shall not be shut;*
I will go before you and make the crooked places straight; I will break in pieces the gates of brass and cut asunder the bars of iron; And I will give you the treasures that are hidden in darkness and the buried riches of the secret places that you may know that I, the Lord, who calls you by your name, am the God of Israel.
For the sake of my servant Jacob, and Israel my elect, I have called you by your name; I have surnamed you, though you have not known me.
I am the Lord and there is none else; there is no God besides me; I have girded you, though you have not known me, that they may know from the rising of the sun and from the west that there is none besides me; I am the Lord and there is none else. I form light and create darkness; I make peace and create hardship; I the Lord do all these things.
Woe to him who strives with his Maker! An earthen vessel that strives with him who made it from the earth! Does the clay say to the potter, What are you making? Or am I not the work of your hands? Woe to him who says to his father, What are you begetting? Or to his mother, What have you conceived?
Thus says the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, the Lord of hosts is his name: Ask me of things to come concerning my children: and concerning the works of my hands, command me.
I have stirred man up in righteousness, and I will make smooth all his ways; he shall build my city and shall send my exiles back, not for a price nor for a bribe, says the Lord of hosts.
Thus says the Lord: The labor of Egypt and the merchants of Ethiopia and of Sheba, men of stature, shall come over to you and shall be yours; they shall come after you; in chains shall they come over, and they shall fall down before you, and shall make supplication to you, saying, Surely God is in you, and there is no other God. Truly thou art a shelter, O God, the God of Israel, and his Savior.
They who walk in confusion and make idols are all ashamed and confounded together. But the salvation of Israel is by the Lord, the Savior of the world; you shall not be ashamed nor confounded forever and ever.
For thus says the Lord who created the heavens (he is the God who formed the earth and made it; he has established it; he did not create it in vain, but that his creation might dwell in it.) I am the Lord and there is none else.
I have not spoken in secret, in a dark place of the earth; I said not to the descendants of Jacob, Seek me in vain; I the Lord speak righteousness; I decree things that are right.
Assemble yourselves and come; draw near together, you who are delivered of the nations; they have no knowledge who carry a graven image of wood and pray to gods that cannot save.
Tell and draw near and consult together; who has declared this from ancient time? Was it not I, the Lord from the beginning? And there is no other God besides me: a just God and Savior; there is none besides me.
Draw near to me and be saved, all the ends of the earth; for I am the Lord and there is none else. I have sworn by myself, the word is gone out of my mouth in righteousness and shall not return, that to me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear.
And they shall say, In the Lord is righteousness; even to him shall mighty men come; and all who reproach thee shall be ashamed. In the Lord shall all the descendants of Israel be justified and shall glory.

The Lion Of Zion XI
Rosie Lovejoy

Politics-A Trap

August 22, 2004

We were worshiping at the local church I attend. It was slow and sluggish and not very anointed. Suddenly the Pastor arose from his seat and spoke into the microphone. His words began like this:

"I don't know what you people brought in with you this morning…We're here to worship the King of Kings…" He continued to speak about worship. At his words, "I don't know what you people brought in with you." the vision began to unfold.

I saw a small building that resembled a well house, something that protects and houses a well. The building was a dark brown/black color, with a rusted red metal roof. The door stood open. Demons were sitting on the roof, beckoning people to come inside. I knew the building's name was: POLITICS.

Instinctively I knew that the building was a trap, that people thought that they were entering a well house where fresh water was being pumped, but in reality it was a trap that led those that entered down a series of concrete steps into the fiery pits of Hell.

Then I saw a long line of people in single file. They were Christians and appeared to be sleep walking and were very zombie-like. They were walking very slowly on a gravel path that appeared to be going gently upward. The demons on the roof of the well house (POLITICS) were beckoning them to turn off the path and enter their "well house". Without any discernment or hesitation, they turned left from the upward path and entered the brown/black structure one by one. Their eyes looked vacant, like they had been hypnotized. I knew the zombie-like Christians were being led down into the pit.

As the praise in the Church continued, I saw a rusty red dragon, with 6 legs, flaying and fighting, trying to stop the anointed worship. It was huge, and was standing on the up-hill side of the well house.

Then another path appeared at the juncture where the Christians were turning off to enter the trap called POLITICS. This path continued straight ahead, and was not made of gravel like the other one. The path was made of light-- gorgeous, golden, glorious light. The light was bright and dazzling, too strong for me to look into. I saw a few Christians refuse the lure of the political trap, and continue up the path of golden light. I knew they were walking up the mountain towards the LORD OF HOSTS.

Then I saw another demonic creature, larger than the well house. It was on the downhill side of the trap. It was scorpion like, with a rear stinger and a stinger that came out of the top of its head.

As hordes of Christians continued to enter the trap called POLITICS, I knew that they were being used by the scorpion to say the things he wanted said. They thought their words were coming from the Holy Spirit, but they were not! The few Christians that resisted were steadfast in their devotion to reach the Throne Room and the One who sits on the throne.

Then my favorite LION appeared, and began to walk up the path of light with the few Christians who had not detoured and entered the building called POLITICS.

The LION OF ZION turned HIS head and said to me:

TELL MY PEOPLE THEY MUST CHOOSE!

TELL MY PEOPLE THEY MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN THE STING OF THE SCORPION OR THE RIGHTEOUSNESS OF GOD.

YOU CANNOT HAVE BOTH.

YOUR TONGUES CANNOT BE USED FOR BOTH!

CHOOSE TODAY BETWEEN THE STING OF THE SCORPION OR THE HOLINESS OF GOD.

CHOOSE! YOU CANNOT HAVE BOTH!

Then the vision faded away as the worship continued.

Legal Stuff: Copyright © 2004 by Rosie Lovejoy. Permission to distribute this material via e-mail, or individual copies, is automatically granted on the condition it will be used for non-commercial purposes and will not be sold.

The Lord Played The Cross

Judy Bauman

The Lord played the cross like an instrument. He played it like a violin.
A Dream

I was in a coffee house and sitting with a Christian friend, though I have no idea who it was, when we noticed that there were a number of men together at a table next to us. One of the men from another table came over and gave us each a pen with JESUS written on it. Then they gave us four more. I was excited and put them in my purse. Then they started singing some Christian songs that were very energetic. I knew them and sang along. This young man got up to preach, but said he was not sure if he was to give the message, and was waiting on the Holy Spirit. The Lord spoke to my heart and I said softly at first and then more loudly so they could hear, “The Lord played the cross like an instrument. He played it like a violin.” At this many of the people in the coffee house began to pretend play an instrument (like violins, flutes and horns). “He played the cross as a song for our salvation. He took what was a horrible death and played it for our benefit.” At this the people were applauding saying, “Yeah!” They played their ‘instruments’ and I continued to explain that His sacrifice thundered like a bass drum, it rang like a cymbal, it sounded like a group of (3) trumpets,” and so on. (With each instrument mentioned it was played.) The whole group of people in the coffee shop were all clapping and cheering for Christ and His victory at the cross.

July 8, 2001

The Last U.S. President

Angel Dahilig

The Last U.S. President - A Time To Flee, Part 1

Angel Dahilig, originally 4/21/2002.

Released August 17, 2003

Job 33:14-18:
14 For God does speak -- now one way, now another -- though man may not perceive it.
15 In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falls on men as they slumber in their beds,
16 he may speak in their ears and terrify them with warnings,
17 to turn man from wrongdoing and keep him from pride,
18 to preserve his soul from the pit, his life from perishing by the sword.

On the early morning of April 21st, 2002, I believe the Lord spoke to me in a dream.

I saw myself inside of the White House of the United States of America. I knew that President Bush had just moved out and the next President was to move in. I heard or knew that President Bush's presidency was represented by the color "yellow" (seems like I saw a pale yellow). I heard. "The tribulation has already begun, but some haven't recognized it as having begun yet." I also heard, "Some have wondered if President Bush is the anti-Christ, but he is NOT ." and "President Bush will complete out his term." The next President was yet to move in, and I saw that his color was a drab bluish-grey, yet I was perplexed because if the new President hadn't actually moved in yet, why was I seeing the White House walls painted in this drab gray color already?

While I was in the White House, I had the feeling of dread in my heart and I just wanted to get out of there and run, and I heard these words about the next President or Leader. "HE WILL BE DREADFUL AND FEARFUL. JOY WILL ESCAPE AT THAT TIME. IT WILL BE A TIME TO FLEE, TO ESCAPE." I also heard that the next President "WILL BE THE END." I heard these exact words . "WITHIN 48 MONTHS WILL BE THE END!" (That was the timeframe I heard at the time that I had the dream, in April 2002.)

But then I heard these reassurances from The Lord. "BUT, THOSE WHO LOOK TO ME, I WILL EXALT, I WILL KEEP."

The Lord speaks to give warning to the erring and to give hope to the righteous. God's judgments always come with the HOPE OF REDEMPTION for HIS REMNANT, THE SPOTLESS BRIDE OF CHRIST. Soon it will be a time unlike any time known to us. IT WILL BE A TIME OF DREAD, AND JOY SHALL ESCAPE. (Isaiah 15-16, Joel 1-3, Isaiah 24-26, Jeremiah 48).

God's Judgment Preceded by A Warning with A Timeframe

For those of you skeptical of timeframes, as I was. The Lord showed me Isaiah, chapters 15-16, which is about the judgment decreed against Moab. I saw correlations of what I heard in my dream and what is written in this passage of scripture. My eyes were opened with this passage:

> Isaiah 16:13-14 -- This is the word the Lord has already spoken concerning Moab. But now the Lord says: "WITHIN THREE YEARS, as a servant is bound by contract would count them, Moab's splendor and all her many people will be despised, and her survivors will be very few and feeble."

I was praying about this dream in Sept 2002, when I released a first draft to a handful of people. That same week, I saw the headlines read "Thousands FLEE Isadora". Also, that same week, my 8 year old son brought me a book to read to him called The Trail of Tears, which is about the American Indians being forced to flee from their homes and land to reservations set aside for them by the American government. (He then fell asleep after I started reading it to him, and has never brought it to me again.) However, when the Lord showed me Isaiah 15-16, and specifically Isaiah 16:13-14, I learned that God does speak warnings with timeframes, in one particular circumstance.

What is the one circumstance found, in scripture, in which God gives a warning with a timeframe attached to it? . BEFORE HE BRINGS DESTRUCTION AND DESOLATION*, TO GIVE WARNING TO THOSE WHO WILL LISTEN.

Other examples of scriptures, where the Lord has spoken TIMEFRAMES BEFORE JUDGEMENT AND DESOLATION*:

- Isaiah 7:9b. "Within sixty-five years Ephraim will be too shattered to be a people."
- Isaiah 21:16 - This is what the Lord says to me: "Within one year, as a servant bound by contract would count it, all the pomp of Kedar will come to an end."
-

This is very important to understand.

> Every usage, by God in scripture, using the words "within ." And a given timeframe had to do with god's warning of pending judgment by destruction and desolation. In God's great mercy and grace, before the destruction, he warns the people, and even gives them a timeframe in order to get their lives and hearts in order before the day of his wrath upon them.

* Desolation -- to make the land forlorn, devoid of inhabitants.

To those who will hear, I believe that this dream speaks a loud warning to the coming destruction and desolation of America.

Luke 21:34-36 (NKJV)
34 "But take heed to yourselves, lest your hearts be weighed down with carousing, drunkeness, and cares of this life, and that Day come on you unexpectedly.
35 For it will come as a snare on all those who dwell on the face of the whole earth.
36 Watch therefore, and pray always that you may be counted worthy to escape all these things that will come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man."

Let the Wicked Forsake His Ways

> Isaiah 55:6-7 - "Seek the Lord while he may be found; call on him while he is near. Let the wicked forsake his way and the evil man his thoughts. Let him turn to the Lord, and he will have mercy on him, and to our God, for he will freely pardon."

After prayer, The Lord gave me this encouragement for His children:

> Romans 8:17-39 (NKJV)
> 17 And if children, then heirs -- heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ, if indeed we suffer with Him, that we may also be glorified together.
> 18 For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.
> 19 For the earnest expectation of the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God.
> 20 For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of Him who subjected it in hope;
> 21 because the creation itself also will be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God.
> 22 For we know that the whole creation groans and labors with birth pangs together until now.
> 23 And not only they, but we also who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, eagerly waiting for the adoption, the redemption of our body.

24 For we were saved in this hope, but hope that is seen is not hope; for why does one still hope for what he sees?
25 But if we hope for what we do not see, then we eagerly wait for it with perseverance.
26 Likewise the Spirit also helps in our weaknesses. For we do not know what we should pray for as we ought, but the Spirit Himself makes intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.
27 Now He who searches the hearts knows what the mind of the Spirit is, because He makes intercession for the saints according to the will of God.
28 And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to His purpose.
29 For whom He foreknew, He also predestined to be conformed to the image of His Son, that He might be the firstborn among many brethren.
30 Moreover whom He predestined, these He also called; whom He called, these He also justified; and whom He justified, these He also glorified.
31 What then shall we say to these things? If God is for us, who can be against us?
32 He who did not spare His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?
33 Who shall bring a charge against God's elect? It is God who justifies.
34 Who is he who condemns? It is Christ who died, and furthermore is also risen, who is even at the right hand of God, who also makes intercession for us.
35 WHO SHALL SEPARATE US FROM THE LOVE OF CHRIST? SHALL TRIBULATION, OR DISTRESS, OR PERSECUTION, OR FAMINE, OR NAKEDNESS, OR PERIL, OR SWORD?
36 As it is written: "For Your sake we are killed all day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter."
37 Yet in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us.
38 For I am persuaded that neither death nor life, nor angels nor principalities nor powers, nor things present nor things to come,
39 Nor height nor depth, nor any other created thing, shall be able to separate us from the love of god which is in Christ Jesus Our Lord.

Luke 21:28 (KJV)
And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh.

Submitted, by the power of His Holy Spirit, under fear and trembling, yet looking upwards towards the hope of our redemption.

Angel Dahilig. (Released Aug. 17, 2003)

PART 2:
Answers to questions concerning dream "The Last President - A Time To Flee"

Written Dec 28, 2003.
By Angel Dahilig.

Since the time that I have publicly shared the dream called ‘The Last President – A Time To Flee’, I have had a only a few people ask questions as to it’s interpretation on various things. Many do not ask questions, nor respond in any matter at all, perhaps out of complete rejection that it is of the Lord, and that it must be the disillusions of a “prophet wannabe”, or perhaps rather taking a “I’ll wait and see if it comes to fruition” stance. I completely understand these thoughts, as I have struggled with these same thoughts at times myself. However, most of the struggling came in the season of time between the receiving of the dream and the public sharing of the dream. The reason for this is because I do not take lightly God’s commandment to “not take His name in vain.” And when we say that we have God’s words or we speak in the name of the Lord, we must be careful that we are not speaking out of or own understanding but rather what God has revealed by His Word and Spirit. I knew I would be judged by people for sharing this dream. Sometimes the fear of people's judgment can keep us from sharing the Lord with them or what the Lord has shown or revealed. We Christians (believers) say all the time, "The Lord told me…" when we are speaking about personal direction for our lives or decisions, but when someone says, "The Lord told me some of what is to come" especially when it affects others, then we don't believe them, for they must be deceived! Maybe because there have been too many who have gone forth, who have not been purged nor who really fear the Lord, who say that they speak in the name of the Lord, by their own human understanding. And maybe because God works in a timetable that requires patience from man to see the fruition of what he has promised or revealed, and man's way usually is not patient. Anyway, since making the decision to face the scorn of man and to declare publicly the sword which I saw coming, I now stand in faith until the accomplishment of what I have seen comes to pass. And if it does not come to pass, then I will declare that the Lord had not sent me with those words. But if they do come to pass, then may those who heard the words, and heeded them find mercy in the day of trouble.

There have been others who have commented with their interpretations of the dream, and I do not take credit for these interpretations, nor do I even understand nor agree with all the interpretations that I have read or heard. I can only attempt to answer questions based on what I believe that Lord has shown me, or laid upon my heart. I do not wish to add to what I have been given, nor subtract from it. Nor will I claim to have full understanding of everything that I have heard or seen in the Spirit… for example, I do not generally understand the symbolism of colors nor numbers. But I will attempt to explain what I do believe that I have understanding of, including answering questions about fleeing.

First of all, concerning American Presidents, I do not know their hearts, nor their relationship to Christ, nor do I claim to know who is going to be the next President (Note: I wrote this in Dec 2003), nor God's purpose for them, etc. But I do believe in my heart, based on what I believe the Lord has told me, that during the term of our current President, George W. Bush, this is our preparation time, for those who have ears to hear and understand. Although some prophets claim that God's mercy has left us, I do not believe that. I believe that God's mercy is still upon America during the remainder of President Bush's term. I believe that we should be praying for him. I personally pray for his protection, as well as for his family, for him to seek the Lord first, for the Lord to give him godly advisor(s), for the ungodly advisor's influence to be broken, for the snares of the enemy to be exposed, for God's protection and preparation for the remnant in America, etc. Yet, I believe that President George W. Bush will not be re-elected for a second term, but rather a new President will be elected. So the Lord has shown me a season, with President Bush's term and going out of office (in 2005) as a sign.

As for the anti-christ, I do not know who that is, nor do I claim that it is a US President. I do not know when he arises, or from where. I know some claim to know, but the Lord has not personally told nor shown me that. I only believe that God will lead me and his remnant through whatever times are to come.

As for the next president, I do believe what I heard in the dream, about him being "dreadful and fearful". However, I don't believe that he will seem dreadful at first, but I suspect he will be a deceiver, but not until later will his true nature or intent be revealed.

Now as for fleeing, I do not know exactly what all will be happening, but I have seen and heard various things, such that I believe there will be persecution. The Lord has repeatedly told me of coming persecution, yes, here in America. I believe there will catastrophes in nature. I believe there will be an economic fall. I have recently had a dream of black horses, so I am wondering if there is a famine coming to America (whether physical or spiritual, don't know yet)? I am still in prayer over this. I have seen chemical warfare (at least I interpreted it as chemical warfare(?)), others have seen fireballs. Regardless of the method, it comes out to destruction. Will these be times to flee for some? Yes, through all of these types of disasters, there will be some, and perhaps even many who will be forced to flee. Some will lose their homes, some are already losing homes due to economic hardships. Some may lose everything. Where will they go? I do not know. I do not believe this dream meant everyone was going to flee. I do not believe that it meant for us to plan to move to any other nation in order to escape. Rather, God will deal and judge EVERY NATION. No place on earth will be a place to hide from the judgment of God… yet this brings me to "Places of Refuge".

(Comment added Aug. 3, 2004: Recently the Lord gave me Matthew 10:23... about fleeing: "When they persecute you in one town, flee to another...". I believe the reference to fleeing in the dream referred primarily to the coming persecution in America.)

First of all, the only “safe” place is under the shelter of the Lord’s wings. He is gathering his people together, in the Spirit. I, and others, have heard and seen the shofar in the Spirit. Even if you haven’t seen it in a dream or vision, you have still heard it in the spirit if you have been drawing close to the Lord and preparing for his return during this time of preparation. The Lord is purging and refining us, and I believe it will continue. The Lord will guard the hearts and minds of His own during these times.

I do believe that God has and is raising up hidden physical “Places of Refuge” or “Homes of Refuge” also. I for one believe that I am a part of this. Does this mean that I understand everything? NO. Only by God’s spirit and his provision and leading will this happen. It cannot be done by man’s strength. And I for one feel like I have little strength many times. God will lead those who are suppose to be at one of these places there. How? I do not know. We have examples in the Bible of angels coming to Peter in jail and telling him to get up from his sleep, and leading him out of prison. I have even seen in a dream, His voice warning me of danger and telling me to leave the place I was at NOW. God will not forsake nor leave His own.

As for provision for His children during these times. We are to trust God. I believe he will care for His own. I also believe there are some who believe that they are (self)-righteous and will suffer, perhaps to become truly refined, perhaps as part of judgment, it is not our place to judge them, but there are also those whom the Lord will entrust to take care of others, whom he will bless with provision, because they will show mercy, these are those who have the Father’s heart because He has given this to them.

I believe that America will NOT BE UTTERLY DESTROYED, but quite nearly, yet God WILL LEAVE A REMNANT here. Yes, I believe that America will be destroyed, as we know it today, but God has established America to truly be a NATION UNDER GOD. We will be purged; we will be refined; we will be humbled; we will be judged; and we will then have a true king, King Yeshua, God. America will then truly become a NATION UNDER GOD, after these things.

I hope that I myself will be one who will make it through to this time of restoration of America. Although I believe that I have a calling for one of these “Homes of Refuge”, yet I am also ready and willing to give my life for Christ. I, in fact, would consider it a high honor to give my life for the testimony of Christ, or to “bear the marks of Christ on my body” for His testimony. I already have been through sufferings and fire, that I bear the marks of Christ in my heart, but I have not yet had to suffer to the point of shedding blood.

As for “places of refuge” I could share more of what I have learned and what God has put in my heart, but that is not for this writing.

And as for fleeing myself, I have prayed to God concerning this, and he will lead me in His will when the time comes. I believe that just like God warned Joseph to flee to Egypt to save the Christ child, he will also angelicly warn us when needed. I am ready to stay and be a place of refuge to all who are sent to me, and I am prepared to flee if God tells me to, and I am prepared to die for His testimony if he calls me to, or to live and be a Daniel or Joseph to save others.

God will lead you as you look to Him. He will prepare you for how he plans to use you in these days, as you trust in Him.

Love and blessings in Christ, Yeshua, our Lord.
Angel Dahilig.
Psalm 91
1 He who dwells in the shelter of the Most High will rest in the shadow of the Almighty.
2 I will say of the LORD, “He is my refuge and my fortress, my God, in whom I trust.”
3 Surely he will save you from the fowler’s snare and from the deadly pestilence.
4 He will cover you with his feathers, and under his wings you will find refuge; his faithfulness will be your shield and rampart.
5 You will not fear the terror of night, nor the arrow that flies by day,
6 Nor the pestilence that stalks in the darkness, nor the plague that destroys at midday.
7 A thousand may fall at your side, ten thousand at your right hand, but it will not come near you.

8 You will only observe with your eyes and see the punishment of the wicked.
9 If you make the Most High your dwelling – even the Lord, who is my refuge –
10 Then no harm will befall you, no disaster will come near your tent.
11 For he will command his angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways;
12 They will lift you up in their hands, so that you will not strike your foot against a stone.
13 You will tread upon the lion and the cobra; you will trample the great lion and the serpent.
14 "Because he loves me," says the LORD, "I will rescue him; I will protect him, for he acknowledges my name.
15 He will call upon me, and I will answer him; I will be with him in trouble, I will deliver him and honor him.
16 With long life will I satisfy him and show him my salvation."

Psalm 37:34 – Wait for the Lord and keep his way. He will exalt you to inherit the land; when the wicked are cut off, you will see it.

P.S. I recall that there was a dream/vision called something like "The President's Houses" by C. Alan Martin, that is very similar to my dream. If you are interested in reading it, and praying more about it, you can probably find it by searching the internet.

Part 3:
The Night Is Fast Approaching

January 31, 2004 by Angel Dahilig.

Ezekiel 33:2-4, 6-7 (NIV):

2 "Son of man, speak to your countrymen and say to them: 'When I bring the sword against a land, and the people of the land choose one of their men and make him their watchman,
3 And he sees the sword coming against the land and blows the trumpet to warn the people,
4 Then if anyone hears the trumpet but does not take warning and the sword comes and takes his life, his blood will be on his own head.
5 …
6 But if the watchman sees the sword coming and does not blow the trumpet to warn the people and the sword comes and takes the life of one of them, that man will be taken away because of his sin, but I will hold the watchman accountable for his blood.' "
7 "Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the house of Israel; so hear the word I speak and give them warning from me."

A while back I shared a dream called "The Last U.S. President – A Time To Flee". I have been a questioned about what it meant. I have learned that sometimes what seems obvious to me, is not obvious to others. I have received questions about what this dream means, and I have attempted to answer the questions based upon my understanding at the time. One comment I have made, was that I generally do not understand the symbolic meaning of colors or numbers. Anything I do not understand, I just leave up to the Lord to reveal the meaning of, when He thinks I need to understand. Sometimes, that can be years later. Some other people have attempted to give interpretations of the colors in my dream, but nothing really fit in my spirit. If you recall, there were two colors in the dream, and for almost two years, I have not understood clearly the meanings of the colors… until recently.

Isaiah 28:10 (KJV). For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little.

The Lord gave me the understanding, through a series of events that spanned perhaps a few days. One was a prophecy by someone else, that referenced scripture John 12:35-36. But, that by itself, was not enough to unlock the understanding of my heart. Within one day, the Lord used the evening sky to open my understanding, and it was like pieces of a jigsaw puzzle coming together to form a picture. As I was on my way home from work one night, I was driving North, and somehow my attention was drawn very specifically towards the color of the evening sky. Then, I SAW IT!, and the eyes of my understanding were opened to the meaning of those colors in that dream.

John 9:4-5 (KJV):

4. I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work.
5. As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.

John 12:25-36 (KJV):

35. Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you. Walk while ye have the light, lest darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in darkness knoweth not whither he goeth.
36. While ye have light, believe in the light, that ye may be the children of light. These things spake Jesus, and departed, and did hide himself from them.

What is the color of the sky (East sky in summer, NE sky in winter), when the day is far spent, and the darkness is falling (dusk)?

The color of NIGHTFALL is … a DUSKY BLUE-GRAY.

Conversely, what color do we think of when we say “bright and sunny”? The symbolic color of sunlight?

The color of sun light… which characterizes the DAY, is… YELLOW.

Genesis 1:3-5 (KJV):

3. And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.
4. And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.
5. And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night….

I believe these colors represent a change in the SEASON… or we could say, a change in the DAY.

Matthew 16:2-3 (KJV):

2 He [Jesus] answered and said unto them, When it is evening, ye say, It will be fair weather: for the sky is red.
3 And in the morning, It will be foul weather to day: for the sky is red and lowring. O ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky; but can ye not discern the signs of the times?

As the light arose in the east and spread to the west, so does the darkness fall in the east and spread towards the west. (ie: corporate persecution)

Selah (something to ponder the meaning of).

This warning is not for the “unbelievers” in Christ… they are already in the darkness. But, this warning is for the “believers” in Christ… KEEP YOUR LAMP TRIMMED!

John 1:5. And the light [Christ, Emmanuel, ‘God came in flesh’] shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not.

This is the time that we are to be[come] the five WISE VIRGINS.

Matthew 25:1-13
1. Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, which took their lamps, and went forth to meet the bridegroom.
2. And five of them were wise, and five were foolish.
3. They that were foolish took their lamps, and took no oil with them:
4. But the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps.
5. While the bridegroom tarried, they all slumbered and slept.

6. And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him. [My Comment: I BELIEVE THIS CRY IS GOING OUT NOW!]
7. Then all those virgins arose, and TRIMMED THEIR LAMPS.
8. And the foolish said unto the wise, Give us of your oil; for our lamps are gone out.
9. But the wise answered, saying, Not so; lest there be not enough for us and you: but go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves.
10. And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; AND THEY THAT WERE READY went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut.
11. Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us.
12. But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not.
13. WATCH therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh.

Matthew 24:27 (KJV): For as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.

Matthew 24:33 (KJV): So likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know that it is near, even at the doors.

Matthew 24:42 (KJV) Watch therefore: for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come.

We do not know the day nor the hour of our Lord’s coming, but we know the season, for He has given us warning... a calling.

Luke 21:34-36 (KJV):
34. And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares.
35. For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.
36. WATCH YE THEREFORE, AND PRAY always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man.

Although the darkness shall spread, as from the East through the West, those who have trimmed their lamp when the shout went out, will not walk in darkness, for the Lord God himself will be their light.

Isaiah 60:19-22 (NIV):
19. The sun will no more be your light by day, nor will the brightness of the moon shine on you, for THE LORD WILL BE YOUR EVERLASTING LIGHT, AND YOUR GOD WILL BE YOUR GLORY.
20. Your sun will never set again, and your moon will wane no more; the Lord will be your everlasting light, and your days of sorrow will end.
21. Then will all your people be righteous and they will possess the land forever. They are the shoot I have planted, the work of my hands, for the display of my splendor.
22. The least of you will become a thousand, the smallest a mighty nation. I AM THE LORD; in its time I will do this swiftly.

We have no need to fear, for He has promised us that He will never leave us nor forsake us.

Deuteronomy 32:6 (NIV): Be strong and courageous. Do not be afraid or terrified because of them, for the Lord your God goes with you; he will never leave you nor forsake you.

Matthew 28:20 (KJV): “Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen.”

I would like to close with this:

1 Thessalonians 5:14-18
14 …Warn those who are idle, encourage the timid, help the weak, be patient with everyone.
15 Make sure that nobody pays back wrong for wrong, but always try to be kind to each other and to everyone else.
16 Be joyful always;
17 Pray continually;

18 Give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God’s will for you in Christ Jesus.

Love, grace, and peace in abundance, to my brethren, in Christ who is our Salvation and Light.

Angel Dahilig.

One-Third Of The Church

Angel Dahilig

Dream: Oct. 14, 2000
Released: Oct. 16, 2004

Note: I had this dream, while I was in process of buying the house that I live in now. The people, that I bought the house from, were in the dream. They are an elderly couple in their 80's.

I was watching this scene. There were no words spoken. Everything was viewed, and "known" and "understood" by me, as the dream unfolded.

It was nighttime. There was a seize or an invasion. The police or the military was coming to the house. I felt and knew that the elderly couple had previously worked-out an understanding that in this event one of them would lead others into hiding, and the one left behind would be there to meet the invaders when they arrived. And NOW it was happening. I saw the husband escape and go out a side/back door. It seems that now I was part of a small group of people that was "escaping" with the elderly husband. I was looking towards the door and I saw the elderly woman standing right inside of the back door, and the elderly man standing right outside of the back door. They gave each other their final good-bye kiss. They were prepared for this moment, although they hoped it would never come. They knew that they would never see each other again. Then without a word, she shut the door behind us. She would be the one left behind to meet the invaders, and hopefully give her husband and the others some time to escape. As the elderly woman shut the door, I heard the words "ONE-THIRD OF THE CHURCH! ONE-THIRD OF THE CHURCH!" Then I woke up.

Zechariah 13:8-9
8 "In the whole land," declares the LORD, "two-thirds will be struck down and perish; yet one-third will be left in it.
9 This third I will bring into the fire [tribulation]; I will refine them like silver and test them like gold.
They will call on my name and I will answer them;
I will say 'They are my people,' and they will say, 'The Lord is our God.' "

Matthew 13
In Matthew 13's "Parable of the Sower", it is explained that there are 4 types of hearts (represented by soils). One type was an unbelieving heart, but 3 types were "believers". Out of the three types, only one type was really fertile and became fruitful and mature. The other two types of believers either fell away or were stunted and unfruitful. Only one type of believing heart out of the three pleased the Lord.
This is one-third of the "church".

Other references:
These scriptures speak of giving the third part mercy.
2 Samuel 8:2
David also defeated the Moabites. He made them lie down on the ground and measured them off with a length of a cord. Every two lengths of them were put to death, and the third length was allowed to live. So the Moabites became subject to David and brought tribute.
2 Kings 1:13-14
So the king sent a third captain with his fifty men. This third captain went up and fell on his knees before Elijah. "Man of God," he begged, "please have respect [mercy] for my life and the lives of these fifty men, your servants! See, fire has fallen from heaven and consumed the first two captains and all their men. But now have respect [mercy] for my life!"

[And their lives were spared.]

Admonition to Be Alert, in Faith, Love, and the Hope of Salvation:

1 Thessalonians 5:1-11 (here I've shown vs. 3,4 6, 8-11):
3 While people are saying, "Peace and safety," DESTRUCTION WILL COME ON THEM SUDDENLY, as labor pains on a pregnant woman, and they will not escape.
4 But you brothers, are NOT in darkness, SO THAT THIS DAY SHOULD SURPRISE YOU LIKE A THIEF.
6 So then, LET US NOT BE LIKE OTHERS, who are asleep [spiritually blind and deaf], BUT LET US BE ALERT AND SELF-CONTROLLED.
8 Bust since we belong to the day, let us be self-controlled, PUTTING ON FAITH and LOVE as a breastplate, and the HOPE OF SALVATION AS A HELMET.
9 For God did not appoint us to suffer wrath but to receive salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ.
10 He died for us so that, WHETHER WE ARE AWAKE [alive] OR ASLEEP [physically dead], WE MAY LIVE TOGETHER WITH HIM.
11 Therefore ENCOURAGE ONE ANOTHER and BUILD EACH OTHER UP, just as in fact you are doing.

Psalms 140:7
7. O God the Lord, the strength of my SALVATION, THOU HAST COVERED MY HEAD IN THE DAY OF BATTLE.

Luke 21:34-36
34. And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares.
35. For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.
36. Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and TO STAND before the Son of man.

Proverbs 12:7
7. The wicked are overthrown, and are not: but THE HOUSE OF THE RIGHTEOUS SHALL STAND.

Daniel 12:10
10. MANY SHALL BE PURIFIED, and made white, AND TRIED; but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand.

Scriptures about escaping or fleeing , for further study:

John 10:5
Matthew 24:20-22
Matthew 10:22-23
Luke 21:34-36
Romans 2:1-3
1 Corinthians 10:13
Hebrews 2:3
Hebrews 12:22-25

My ending note:

May the Lord lead you in understanding and open your heart to hear his Spirit, so that you will stand firm and endure to the end. Whether we live or die, we must stand firm in The Faith and in the Love that He has commanded of us, trusting in Him, and keeping our eyes set on His Salvation to come. If we do these things, He will cover our heads in battle, and we will be able to stand before Him, because we have patiently endured and have been purified, and He will make us able to STAND FIRM IN HIM.

Love in Christ Jesus, our Hope and Salvation.
Angel Dahilig.
http://www.geocities.com/angeldahilig/

The Lion Of Zion III
Rosie Lovejoy

"THIS IS THE YEAR THAT I WILL ROAR"

January 24, 2004 by

I saw a deep, wide ravine with an old fashioned cable, swinging rope bridge going over it. This is the kind of bridge one imagines is found in the Orient. The bridge was moving about violently, almost as if a mighty force was shaking it. Soon the shaking ended, and my favorite LION appeared beside the bridge, levitated in the air.

I heard the urgent words:

COME! COME QUICKLY! THERE IS NO TIME TO DELAY! COME! COME QUICKLY!

I looked at the bridge and felt great trepidation. The ravine was very wide and very deep. The bridge was in excellent repair. The wood boards were all solid. The handles were strong metal cables, as thick as my thumb. I found myself asking, "What is this bridge. What are the boards? Is it safe?"

I heard the LION speak::

THE STEPS ARE 'MY WORD'. THE HANDLES ARE 'MY FAITHFUL PROMISES'. COME. COME QUICKLY!

I began to walk across the bridge, each step deliberate and slow. I found myself looking down. It was a fearful sight. The river was hundreds of feet below me. The sides of the canyon were jagged and sharp.

DON'T LOOK DOWN. DON'T LOOK BACK! The LION stated. THE ONLY WAY TO GET TO A NEW PLACE IS TO LEAVE THE PLACE YOU ARE AT BEHIND. COME! COME QUICKLY!

I stopped looking down and began to stride more confidently across the bridge, grasping tightly to the two metal cables, which acted as handles. I found my fear dissipating as I got closer and closer to the other side. I could feel movement on the bridge, and turned around to see what was causing it to sway. I saw another person beginning their walk, and many, many more lined up behind him, waiting their turn to cross. There was an urgency to the movement. I knew that we needed to get across to the lush, tropical garden on the other side. I felt that there was no time to delay.

As my feet finally contacted solid ground, I felt a sense of great exhalation and joy. There was an angelic someone on the other side to greet me and the others, and I gave him a great big hug. He pointed towards a huge waterfall, and laughingly suggested that I might want to go and stand under the GLORY FALL. I ran, and thrust myself under the GLORY FALL. It was not water as we know it, rather liquid light, unlike anything I have ever experienced. (Please see dream following this vision.) I was so happy and filled with joy that I felt that I would pop!

Soon others joined me and we frolicked under the GLORY FALL.

Then I heard two loud booms, like artillery or cannons or bombs coming from a distance. I left the GLORY FALL to investigate. I saw puffs of smoke on the other side of the gorge, and heard loud armaments. The LION was now pacing in front of the swinging bridge, guarding the garden entrance from any HE did not want to enter. HE was frightening and powerful and very much the King of the Garden. He spoke:

I WILL NOT LET THE PROFANE ENTER INTO WHAT IS HOLY. I WILL NOT ALLOW WHAT IS HOLY TO BE PROFANED.

I heard soft voices whispering: "Kadosh, Kadosh, Kadosh! Kadosh, Kadosh, Kadosh!" (Holy, Holy, Holy! Holy, Holy, Holy!) The air was filled with the splashing sounds of the GLORY FALL, and the soft whispers of "Kadosh. Kadosh. Kadosh." The whispers were like a gentle breeze, dancing through the tropical plant life. "Kadosh. Kadosh. Kadosh."

The air was silky soft, yet electric and filled with joy and life. I felt so alive!

Soon I noticed that the LION was no longer guarding the entrance to the Garden. Where He had stood were two giant angels with flashing swords. "Just like in the Garden of Eden." I thought.

The LION was now once again levitated in the air beside the bridge, frightening away any that did not know Him. The only ones who dared flee the sounds of battle and cross the bridge were those who were well acquainted with the LION. To them, He was their friend.

The LION turned His head and spoke to me as I marveled at the two angels with flashing swords.

I NEVER TOLD YOU NOT TO EAT OF THE TREE OF LIFE. I AM THE TREE OF LIFE. DIDN'T I TELL YOU I HAD COME TO BRING YOU LIFE, AND THAT MORE ABUNDANTLY?

All around me the Garden was vibrant and alive with the soft whispered sounds of "Kadosh! Kadosh! Kadosh!"

Then the Lion joined the two angels and spoke.

THIS IS THE YEAR THAT I WILL ROAR.

He opened His mouth and roared, and the sound of His roar shook the ground and the garden and the land across the gorge.

I was so glad I had heeded His voice and come quickly across the bridge into the Garden where his GLORY FELL! I was so grateful I had obeyed His call to come away to the other side, and to leave what was familiar and comfortable behind!

Rosie Lovejoy

After writing this, I felt a movement in my Spirit, a sense that I had indeed experienced the living water in the GLORY FALL before. I waited for the Holy Spirit to reveal what He wanted me to know. A few days later I was reminded of a dream that I had nearly six years ago. I believe the vision and dream are connected. This dream was one of the many dreams and visions that sent me off to school to be trained up in the Prophetic.

LIVING WATER NOBODY WANTS A dream from July, 1998

I was at a church picnic high in the mountains. Tall pine trees swayed in the gentle breeze, and the perfume of their needles filled the air. The sky was a deep blue, with fluffy white clouds gently moving across it. Far off in the distance black storm clouds appeared on the horizon. Sounds of very distant thunder filled the air. The approaching storm was so far away that nobody was concerned.

The tables were filled with happy folks, eating baked beans and fried chicken. Ice chests were filled with various cans of soda, and pitchers of iced tea were sitting on the red checkered table clothes. Gleeful sounds of children playing filled the air. There were many Pastors and their families present.

The leader of the gathering got up and began to ring a bell. He is a well-known prophet that I highly respect. He asked the gathering to be quiet because he had an announcement to make. We all quieted down, and he asked us to look at the water spigot he was standing next to. It looked like a regular water spigot that one finds at public parks and campgrounds throughout the country.

Then he turned it on and water shot out of it. He was so excited about it! It was unlike any water I had ever seen! Light shot out of it and through it! There was a presence to it. It was living!!!!! It was LIVING WATER!!!!!!! It was beautiful! I suddenly became very thirsty and ran forward to get some of that water.

The prophet smiled at me and handed me a cup. I drank my fill. It was so wonderful! So quenching! Quite simply beyond description!

I looked behind me and nobody had followed me to the spigot to get some of the LIVING WATER. It surprised me that there was not a line behind me. The folks at the tables had resumed their conversations, and once again laughter filled the air.

The prophet handed me an expensive lead glass, crystal pitcher and asked me to fill it with the water. As I obeyed, the light danced through and around the pitcher. It was a beautiful, breathtaking site!

I instinctively knew that I was to offer the LIVING WATER to folks seated at the tables.

I went around to tables as a waitress would. I joyfully asked each person if they would like a glass of living water.

Each one turned me down. One stated that they had just opened a can of their favorite root beer, and were very happy with it. Another pointed to a large glass of ice tea in front of them. Every one was very jovial and polite in refusing the LIVING WATER that had just come from the spigot.

The last person I spoke to was a pastor. When I offered him the fresh, LIVING WATER, he pulled a plastic gallon jug from off the ground next to him. He showed me the water in it. It looked dead and lifeless and had the smell of cheap plastic that has been sitting in the sun. It was yucky!!!

He proudly told me that this was last year's LIVING WATER, and that he didn't need any new water, as he still had plenty left. I was shocked that someone would choose stale, plastic-tasting water over the LIVING WATER that was being offered today.

I woke up with a feeling of exhilaration over the WATER, and mystified over the picnickers nonchalance and refusal to drink some of it. How could anybody not want the LIVING WATER?

It is my belief that the water coming from the spigot in this dream six years ago is the same water in the GLORY FALL of THE LION OF ZION III. I believe that the storm that was off in the distance in the dream will begin to break about us this year. And I believe that we each have a choice as to where we are positioned when the storm breaks. I believe the LORD is inviting us all to go deeper into HIS WORD, to hold tightly to HIS FAITHFUL PROMISES, and to watch HIS DELIVERANCE unfold.

Sincerely, Rosie Lovejoy

The Man Child

Vern Kuenzi

The Man Child of Revelation 12 --- Who, When and Why?

The church must correctly identify the man child (male child) of Revelation 12 in order to correctly identify her end-times destiny and role in God's plan to restore His creation. Although many believe the birth of the man child is a sign of Jesus as an individual birthed 2000 years ago, there is much to suggest that he is a sign of Jesus --- not as an individual --- but as a portion of His corporate body birthed 3-1/2 years before the very end of the age.

If he is Jesus as an individual, that means one thing. But if he is a portion of the church --- in the form of the corporate body of Christ --- then we need to understand what that means for us who make up the body of Christ and who are alive at the end of the age. For without that understanding and vision, the church will be unaware of and unprepared for her glorious end-time calling.

1 A great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars; 2 and she was with child; and she cried out, being in labor and in pain to give birth. 3 Then another sign appeared in heaven: and behold, a great red dragon having seven heads and ten horns, and on his heads were seven diadems. 4 And his tail swept away a third of the stars of heaven and threw them to the earth. And the dragon stood before the woman who was about to give birth, so that when she gave birth he might devour her child. 5 And she gave birth to a son, a male child, who is to rule all the nations with a rod of iron; and her child was caught up to God and to His throne. 6 Then the woman fled into the wilderness where she had a place prepared by God, so that there she would be nourished for one thousand two hundred and sixty days. 7 And there was war in heaven, Michael and his angels waging war with the dragon. The dragon and his angels waged war, 8 and they were not strong enough, and there was no longer a place found for them in heaven. 9 And the great dragon was thrown down, the serpent of old who is called the devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world; he was thrown down to the earth, and his angels were thrown down with him. 10 Then I heard a loud voice in heaven, saying, "Now the salvation, and the power, and the kingdom of our God and the authority of His Christ have come, for the accuser of our brethren has been thrown down, he who accuses them before our God day and night. 11 "And they overcame him because of the blood of the Lamb and because of the word of their testimony, and they did not love their life even when faced with death. 12 "For this reason, rejoice, O heavens and you who dwell in them. Woe to the earth and the sea, because the devil has come down to you, having great wrath, knowing that he has only a short time." 13 And when the dragon saw that he was thrown down to the earth, he persecuted the woman who gave birth to the male child. 14 But the two wings of the great eagle were given to the woman, so that she could fly into the wilderness to her place, where she was nourished for a time and times and half a time, from the presence of the serpent. 15 And the serpent poured water like a river out of his mouth after the woman, so that he might cause her to be swept away with the flood. 16 But the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and drank up the river which the dragon poured out of his mouth. 17 So the dragon was enraged with the woman, and went off to make war with the rest of her children, who keep the commandments of God and hold to the testimony of Jesus. (Revelation 12:1-17 NASB)

There are four main individuals or people groups in the great sign of Revelation 12: the woman, the man child, a great red dragon, and the "rest of her children". The dragon is identified for us in verse 9 as Satan. The "rest of her children" are identified in verse 17 as Christians, because they keep the commandments of God and hold to the testimony of Jesus. The woman is harder to identify, but she fits the description of those Israelites blinded for the sake of the Gentiles until the fullness of the Gentiles comes in at which time she will be grafted back in (Romans 11:25-26). That is why she (they) must be protected for 3-1/2 years so she (they) can survive to the end of the age.

Revelation 12:8 explains that there was no longer any place in heaven found for Satan. In other words, something had just happened which changed his position of authority. What happened? The man child had just been caught up to heaven. There followed a great war in heaven, and as a result Satan was thrown down to earth. It would seem that Satan being thrown down to earth is a direct result of the man child being caught up to God and to His throne. The phrase "to His throne" implies that the man child has assumed a position of authority in heaven. This suggests that the spiritual authority for throwing Satan out of heaven to earth has been delegated to the man child. And that is consistent with the authority that Jesus has given His church.

Jesus Authorizes His Church

17 The seventy returned with joy, saying, "Lord, even the demons are subject to us in Your name." 18 And He said to them, "I was watching Satan fall from heaven like lightning. 19 "Behold, I have given you authority to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing will injure you. (Luke 10:17-19 NASB)

18 "I also say to you that you are Peter, and upon this rock I will build My church; and the gates of Hades will not overpower it. 19 "I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven; and whatever you bind on earth shall have been bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth shall have been loosed in heaven." (Matthew 16:18-19 NASB)

Jesus can delegate authority to whomever He wants, since He has all authority on heaven and earth (Matthew 28:18). He has chosen to apply His authority over Satan through His corporate body. Jesus living in and through His people is a great and wonderful mystery. The crux of it is that it's still Jesus doing the work, but He is doing it through His body of saints. And if we refer to Ephesians 3:8-12, we see that it is through the church that God desires to demonstrate His manifold wisdom, which is His eternal purpose in Christ Jesus and the reason He created all things. So although He has delegated authority to His church, it is still Jesus doing the work, for He says, "Without Me you can do nothing."

Luke 10:19 indicates that Jesus has delegated all authority over the devil to His church. Jesus is now sitting at the right hand of the Father waiting until His enemies be put under His feet. In other words, He is waiting for the church to step into the authority that He has given her. And He's not going to take that authority back because the church has been slow to rise to the occasion. Jesus came to earth and did what He came to do, and now it is the church's turn to do what she has been called and delegated to do. This is the great testimony of the book of Revelation. The man child has authority to eject Satan from heaven to earth. The saints on earth then overcome Satan by the blood of the Lamb, the word of their testimony, and by not loving their lives unto death.

When the disciples returned after their first successful missionary venture, Jesus rejoiced greatly in the Holy Spirit, and He saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven. It was the first successful test of their delegated authority. And the test was satisfactory. And I believe that's why Jesus rejoiced. He knew it was the Father's plan to defeat Satan through the church, and Jesus came to put the Father's plan into motion. But did that fall take place 2000 years ago, or did He see a vision of something that would happen in the future in the same way John saw the future events of Revelation? Did He and John both see that event which would eventually take place in Revelation 12:9 at the beginning of the final 3-1/2 years of the age?

When does Satan Fall?

We are constrained to understand the "time, times and half a time" referred to in Revelation as a literal 3-1/2 years, as it is identified as equivalent terms of 42 months and 1260 days. At the beginning of this final 3-1/2 years of the age, the man child is birthed and caught up to heaven. He is birthed following increasingly intense events which Jesus describes in the gospels as "birth pains." If there are birth pains associated with the end times, then there will be a birth. Who or what is being born? It is obvious from a overall view of the book of Revelation that the man child and the glorified saints are the product of this birthing. The church is birthed in splendor as a bride without spot or wrinkle.

There are a number of clues that indicate his birth is at this 3-1/2 year point before the very end of the age. The famines, earthquakes, wars, and the persecution that Jesus describes as birth pains are events commonly associated with tribulation and/or great tribulation. The birth pains that Jesus describes did not take place 2000 years ago. They take place near the very end of the age. After the birth, the woman goes off into the wilderness to be protected for 3-1/2 years. Satan is then cast down from heaven to earth, and we know from other scriptures he then indwells the antichrist who is immediately revealed at this 3-1/2 year point. Jesus takes us back to the book of Daniel to point this out in Matthew 24:15.

There is a crisis of intense events that takes place at this 3-1/2 year point. These last 3-1/2 years represent perhaps the greatest time of testimony on the earth except for the time when Jesus walked the earth 2000 years ago. We remember the prophecy of Elijah when as a result it did not rain for 3-1/2 years. Scholars believe Jesus' time of public ministry was also 3-1/2 years. The two witnesses of Revelation 11 testify for 1260 days, or exactly 3-1/2 years. This last 3-1/2 years of the age will be an awesome testimony --- the final testimony before Jesus returns. Therefore the book of Revelation covers it repeatedly and thoroughly. It is the final lap of the race the church has been running for 2000 years, and it is the most crucial. It is described in detail that we might understand. One of Satan's ploys is to try to convince the church that she is not in view in these scriptures.

Approximately two-thirds of the book of Revelation is devoted to the last 3-1/2 years of the age --- from about the middle of chapter 6 unto the early part of chapter 20. This is an indication of the importance of what takes place during this brief period of time. The whole plan of God to restore His creation is brought to fruition. Satan is defeated. The church is brought to maturity and glory.

The Man Child . . . Why?

19 For the anxious longing of the creation waits eagerly for the revealing of the sons of God. 20 For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of Him who subjected it, in hope 21 that the creation itself also will be set free from its slavery to corruption into the freedom of the glory of the children of God. 22 For we know that the whole creation groans and suffers the pains of childbirth together until now. (Romans 8:19-22 NASB)

All creation is eagerly awaiting the revealing of the sons of God, for it is the sons of God who will set in final motion the defeat of Satan and the restoration of all creation. If this seems like excess, remember that it is all God's plan. He will glorify Himself through His church. It's not that we in ourselves are significant in stature, it's that He has elected to work through the weak and foolish. It pleases God to do things that way, and whatever pleases God pleases the Son.

21 At that very time He rejoiced greatly in the Holy Spirit, and said, "I praise You, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and intelligent and have revealed them to infants. Yes, Father, for this way was well-pleasing in Your sight. (Luke 10:21 NASB)

26 For consider your calling, brethren, that there were not many wise according to the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble; 27 but God has chosen the foolish things of the world to shame the wise, and God has chosen the weak things of the world to shame the things which are strong, 28 and the base things of the world and the despised God has chosen, the things that are not, so that He may nullify the things that are, 29 so that no man may boast before God. (1 Corinthians 1:26-29 NASB)

Characteristics of the Man Child

I believe that Revelation Chapters 11, 12, 13, and 14 are all repeated looks at the final 3-1/2 years from different perspectives. At the beginning of Revelation 14, we see a company of 144,000 in heaven. I believe this is another look at the man child of Revelation 12 after he has been caught up to heaven.

1 Then I looked, and behold, the Lamb was standing on Mount Zion, and with Him one hundred and forty-four thousand, having His name and the name of His Father written on their foreheads. 2 And I heard a voice from heaven, like the sound of many waters and like the sound of loud thunder, and the voice which I heard was like the sound of harpists playing on their harps. 3 And they sang a new song before the throne and before the four living creatures and the elders; and no one could learn the song except the one hundred and forty-four thousand who had been purchased from the earth. 4 These are the ones who have not been defiled with women, for they have kept themselves chaste. These are the ones who follow the Lamb wherever He goes. These have been purchased from among men as first fruits to God and to the Lamb. 5 And no lie was found in their mouth; they are blameless. (Revelation 14:1-5 NASB)

We need to carefully and prayerfully consider the description of this company. They are blameless without lie in their mouths. They are chaste. They follow the Lamb wherever He goes. They have been purchased from among men as first fruits to God and to the Lamb. They have applied the promises of God as described in 2 Peter 1:3-4 to their lives and have purified themselves. They have taken to heart God's commandment to "Be holy, for I am holy."

They are seen in heaven before the great tribulation begins. There is nothing that these saints needed to repent of. They are blameless. They had already washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb before the onset of great tribulation. They are contrasted with those of the church at Thyatira who were given opportunity to repent, but did not want to, and as a consequence will find themselves thrown into great tribulation. And during this time all those of the churches will find their hearts and minds searched and will receive according to their deeds. Notice that the man child of Revelation 12 and the overcoming saints of the church at Thyatira are both promised to rule the nations with rods of iron. The man- child company is clearly a portion of the overcoming church.

21 'I gave her time to repent, and she does not want to repent of her immorality. 22 'Behold, I will throw her on a bed of sickness, and those who commit adultery with her into great tribulation, unless they repent of her deeds. 23 'And I will kill her children with pestilence, and all the churches will know that I am He who searches the minds and hearts; and I will give to each one of you according to your deeds. 24 'But I say to you, the rest who are in Thyatira, who do not hold this teaching, who have not known the deep things of Satan, as they call them--I place no other burden on you. 25 'Nevertheless what you have, hold fast until I come. 26 'He who overcomes, and he who keeps My deeds until the end, TO HIM I WILL GIVE AUTHORITY OVER THE NATIONS; 27 AND HE SHALL RULE THEM WITH A ROD OF IRON, AS THE VESSELS OF THE POTTER ARE BROKEN TO PIECES, as I also have received authority from My Father; (Revelation 2:21-27 NASB)

The difference between those who achieve man-child status and those who do not and are thrown into great tribulation may simply be a matter of taking or not taking verse 21 to heart: "I gave her time to repent, and she does not want to repent of her immorality." It seems clear that there is no victory over Satan short of achieving holiness. As long as he has something in us, we will be compromised and there will be no victory. We will not be a bride without spot or wrinkle.

There is still time --- as of this writing --- to make this decision. The whole church does not do so. For the man child is only the first fruits of the final harvest which takes place at the end of Revelation 14. Those who are not first fruits must go through great tribulation to the extent needed to wash their robes and make them white in the blood of the Lamb. It seems we have the choice to purify ourselves now and avoid the need to be purified during great tribulation.

31 But if we judged ourselves rightly, we would not be judged. 32 But when we are judged, we are disciplined by the Lord so that we will not be condemned along with the world. (1 Corinthians 11:31-32 NASB)

The Lord only disciplines those He loves --- if necessary.

6 In this you greatly rejoice, even though now for a little while, if necessary, you have been distressed by various trials, 7 so that the proof of your faith, being more precious than gold which is perishable, even though tested by fire, may be found to result in praise and glory and honor at the revelation of Jesus Christ; (1 Peter 1:6-7 NASB)

Consequently --- if necessary --- we will find ourselves entering great tribulation because God loves us and insists that we be found without spot or wrinkle when Jesus returns.

13 Then one of the elders answered, saying to me, "These who are clothed in the white robes, who are they, and where have they come from?" 14 I said to him, "My lord, you know." And he said to me, "These are the ones who come out of the great tribulation, and they have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. 15 "For this reason, they are before the throne of God; and they serve Him day and night in His temple; and He who sits on the throne will spread His tabernacle over them. (Revelation 7:13-15)

Notice that these ones are before the throne, whereas those of the man-child company were caught up to the throne.

Discipline . . .

The Lord is increasing His discipline in these days that we might turn from our sins and our old ways of thinking to be filled with the fullness of Christ and to assume our responsibilities as ambassadors of the Kingdom of God in power. If the kind messenger is not heeded, then a harsh one will be sent, for God will have His church without spot or wrinkle. He is both kind and severe. To the extent we are not walking in holiness, the enemy will have access to our families, our property, our health, our finances, and our minds. When I fall short now in my striving against sin --- which is sometimes far too casual --- I pay a price. The principles of great tribulation are already here. To the extent we choose not to deal with our sins, we will be thrown into situations where the enemy has access to us. God is turning up the heat. The time is short. We must make a choice.

Father, discipline us as sons and daughters that we might rise to this call on the wings of Your mercy and grace. Prompt us to repentance as necessary that we might quality as first fruits of Your harvest and that we might wash our robes and make them white now, if possible, before the fires of great tribulation. But if that fire should be needed, then give us strength to endure to the end, that we might glorify You in the process, and that we might ultimately stand before You and hear the words, "Well done, good and faithful servants."

For more along this line, readers are invited to visit the author's website at http://www.restoringthevision.com where an on-line book "Restoring the Vision of the End-times Church" is freely available for download or reading on-line.

The Ministry And The Marketplace

Ron Wood

Many of you know that there is a recurring theme, a thread of revelation that's surfaced in recent years. I've heard this move of God described as "an end-time transfer of wealth." The Lord has instructed me about Job and Joseph as end-time examples. The fact is- God is invading the secular arena. His kingdom is bigger than just the church!

While some people don't desire to deal with issues of money, our Lord Jesus didn't hesitate to address it. (Luke 19:11-27) It is a core issue to anyone concerned for being a disciple of Christ and it is a major paradigm shift if we are to walk in new apostolic ways.

God isn't broke! Indeed, there is plenty of money to fulfill the Great Commission… it's just in the wrong hands. But God has a program in place to fix it and to finish it! The good news is that fixing the problem involves great favor and blessing flowing generously to God's people!

I awoke one morning with these words repeating themselves in my mind, as though the Lord was instructing my spirit in the night. It's only two sentences but it discloses a divine exchange and it uncovers a devilish problem. (I reported this in an word last year called "Men with Money and the Mantle of God.") It seems primarily addressed to pastors battling old traditions or to apostles and prophets needing funding, but it also speaks to people with property or financial power who love the Lord.

"Either men of God will lay their ministries down at the feet of men with money, or, men with money will lay their resources down at the feet of men of God."

"If you trade your mantle for money, you get neither in the end. If you trade your money for the mantle, you will obtain both."

What follows is my consideration of these thoughts based on thirty years of being a pastor, of being on apostolic teams, of having prophetic insights, and also frequently being involved in the business arena. In all arenas of labor, leadership and resources were always critical issues. Anyone who has been a pastor for any length of time has probably had this experience: "Preacher, if you'll just handle the preaching and leave the finances to us, we'll make this church great!" In other words, yield control of the money to those who are not called or anointed by God to be church leaders.

Why is this idea problematic? From my experience, here is an undeniable fact: Whoever controls the money also controls the church.

Years ago, I came to the realization that the battle to succeed in the ministry is primarily over two things: the mantle (God's anointing, for example, Elijah's mantle- the grace of God in someone's life to give wisdom, knowledge, authority to build the church or win the war) and the money (financial resources- power to do things, affect situations, or support workers). Both these things empower God's leaders to fulfill their calling to make disciples, to bless the poor, and to take the gospel to the ends of the earth.

I understood this word I heard to mean that if a man of God gives away his authority or anointing in order to be financed, then he forfeits the power to fulfill his purpose and thus becomes a hireling, someone no longer sent from the Lord to be received with honor, but rather, of diminished rank, merely hired by the people.

The anointing from the Lord rests upon the lives of those whom He sends. That anointing on their gifting and calling (who they are in Christ) is their mantle of authority, the divine grace that causes them to be effective in the work of the gospel. It is more precious than gold. Value your ministerial gift; stir it up; treasure it highly. It is the Lord working through you.

Why is there a conflict between money and the mantle? Ideally, there should not be any friction. But corrupt hearts can yield to temptation. Jesus said our heart cannot serve both God and mammon. The Spirit of God says, "Unto Jesus shall the gathering of the people be. At Jesus' feet shall the wealth of the nations be laid."

The activation of God's covenant to create wealth is part of the apostolic equipping for the end of the age. The end of the church will resemble its beginning as recorded in Acts. "…all who were owners of land or houses would sell them and bring the proceeds of the sales and lay them at the apostles' feet…"
(Acts 4:34)

Not all preachers or pastors are apostles. Denominations have created unbiblical titles. The Latin word for missionary corresponds to the Greek word for apostle, but religious traditions have gutted its original meaning. Now, church groups often send someone out and call them a missionary, but in fact they are simply a deacon or a teacher or a preacher or a pastor who happens to have crossed an ocean. Crossing an ocean doesn't make someone into an apostle. Apostles are Christ's sent ones, sent by Him to a specific place, to a specific people, to accomplish a specific purpose. They have the fruit to prove their apostleship not only by the divine grace they embody but also by the credentials of signs, sons, and seals that testify to their being sent from God. (I hope to release more teaching on this topic soon in my study, Apostolic Career Mapping: A Matrix for Evaluating the Maturity, Ministry, and Mindset of Young Apostles.)

Anyone on an assignment from the Lord has God's help, but also the devil's resistance. Opposition is not an indicator that you missed God. In a dream, I once overheard two angels having a discussion. One asked, "Where do apostles come from?" The other angel answered, "Out from under great pressure."

The Opposition you face is proportionate to your degree of authorization. Your suffering is related to your assignment. The anointing attracts angels- of all kinds! So don't be surprised when resistance occurs. Open doors may be accompanied by peril and attack.

Don't be alarmed at fiery trials. Opposition to God's servants is ultimately from The Resistor. Satan, who hates the kingdom of light and opposes it at every turn. However, the devil usually uses ignorant or evil people to accomplish his wicked schemes. The devil employs untaught, misguided, or malicious people as pawns, making them think suspiciously or behave arrogantly so as to control the church's money and thus choke off the supply for fulfillment of the vision.

One tool he deploys is greed, inflaming men's hearts with lust for power or fame or money. Idols are usually silver and gold (Psalms 135:15) and all covetousness is idolatry. (Ephesians 5:5) To covet something is to grasp for or to be greedy for something or someone that is not yours to possess or was not given to you by God. "Freely you have received, freely give." Coveting is selfish while grace is manifested by gratitude, generosity, and releasing resources away from ourselves.

The apostle Paul associated the ability to give generously with great grace, and used the example of our Lord Jesus to illustrate this truth. "For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor, that you through His poverty might become rich." (2 Corinthians 8:9 NAS) When did He become poor? Not while He walked the earth with His apostolic team, for He had many supporters and contributors Luke 8:3 shows us that many of these donors were women who partnered with Him in His ministry. At His trial and crucifixion, His garment was a seamless robe, very expensive. He gave away offerings to the poor and received expensive sacrifices of perfume. He fed and housed a traveling team of perhaps dozens of people.

When did He become poor? First, in His incarnation, when He stepped into our world of grit and grime and time-bound limitations, a dismal and bleak environment when compared to the eternal glory of His Father. Second, when He laid aside His divine prerogatives to exercise authority on His own volition and instead submitted as a man does to God and did only what the Father wanted Him to do. Third, when He absorbed every curse of sin and rebellion due to mankind as He hung naked and impoverished on the cross, exhausting the punishment due us for our lawlessness ever since Adam's fall.

But today, Jesus is not broke! He walks on streets of gold and wears radiant glory as a garment. Revelation 5:12 says, "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power and riches and wisdom and might and honor and glory and blessing." (NAS) Jesus deserves dominion… He earned it!

While Jesus awaits His triumphal return to receive His kingdom on the earth, He has anointed servants of His kingdom who are preparing the way by extending the gospel to the end of the earth. That gospel of grace produces eternal life in those who believe. It also produces a new kingdom culture, a new lifestyle, a transformed people who not only worship God in church but also transform their education, their government, and their secular social order by responding to God's word. Those servants of Jesus are anointed in two primary areas: As Priests in the house, and as Kings in the marketplace. All of us are part of a kingdom of priests and kings (Rev. 1:6). All of us serve Jesus as Lord whether we are "on staff" at a church or on a payroll at General Electric.

In God's kingdom, all vocations are holy, although some workers are set apart by the Lord to be devoted to the Word of God and to prayer and should live off the tithe. The tithe is called in the Bible "holy unto the Lord" and is intended for God's servants. We are not to rob God's servants by defrauding them of the tithe. To do so invites a curse upon us. Every Christian should at least tithe and, by God's grace, give generously above the tithe. (For more on this subject see my book, "The Thief in the Storehouse.")

Ideally, men with money will adopt sanctified ideas regarding resources and will team up with men of God to advance Christ's kingdom. In the process and along the path of pursuing God together, these businessmen and land owners or wealthy people will also become men and women of God and become known in heaven as partners with apostles, fellow-laborers in the work. Just like we expect men of God with an anointing to have pure motives, likewise, the Lord is now expecting the same thing of those He has entrusted with financial resources.

Ultimately, it is a matter of resolving key issues of faith:

1) Do I have enough faith to trust this leader and to share or invest in his vision?
2) Do I believe that God really is the source of my blessings? Is there more to come if I give?
3) Do I believe that God has sent this person-- that the Lord has brought truly us together?

By picturing prosperous Christians teaming up with men and women who carry apostolic grace, I am not at all discounting the wonderful flowering of a new understanding regarding the majority of believers: that is, there are believers anointed by the Lord to succeed in the educational, financial, and governmental areas and they carry a similar anointing to that of apostles and prophets, those pioneers who can see the needed transitions and can build on new ides or principles of Godly conduct so as to become a blessing to many others.

For more insight on this pivotal topic, I have a new 60 minute teaching tape called "Outside the Sanctuary," which can be ordered by mail for an offering of any amount.

Because this subject is so important, I want to include a bibliography of related reading material produced by sound scholars which I have recently studied. Here is that list of books: Lasting Investments by Kent Humphreys (NavPress), Changing Church by Peter Wagner (Regal), Anointed for Business by Ed Silvoso (Regal), and Good to Great by Jim Collins (HarperBusiness). Jim Collins also wrote Built to Last. Both of his books address the issue of transforming our endeavors so as to succeed in our God-given mandate from one generation to the next. My wife and I have also been discussing an excellent book we read years ago but she is now re-reading, Managing Transitions, by William Bridges. It has profound insights into handling corporate changes and how it affects us personally. Most of these books can be order from our new on-line Christian bookstore: www.touchedbygraceministries.spreadtheword.com © 2003 by Ronald Wood, President of Touched by Grace Inc., P. O. Box 12749, Wilmington, NC 28405, USA. For more resources, visit www.touchedbygrace.org. Feel free to copy & share this article with your friends. Please keep this contact information attached. Thank you!

The Miraculous More in 2004

Bill Hamon

At the beginning of the third millennial Church, I received the revelation that God was decreeing the release of miracles for all who would press in and practice the biblical principles that would produce miracles. We began preaching, writing material and challenging all of our ministers to start preaching on miracles until they fully believed their own preaching, thereby producing healings and miracles regularly in their ministry and local church.

Being raised on a farm I understand the principle of sowing and reaping. Garden vegetables take approximately three months from the time of planting until they are ripe for harvesting and eating. Nuts such as pecans and pistachios take from three to nine years before the tree matures until you can eat its fruit.

We started sowing the seed of miracles in the year 2000, and we continued to cultivate, water and spray against "insects" until miracles came to maturity for reaping. Three years later, in October 2003 at our 17th International Gathering of Apostles and Prophets, we reaped our first great harvest of miracles. At the Wednesday evening service Apostle Guillermo Maldonado preached on miracles and released them to the people. Numerous people were healed of many different sicknesses, ailments and afflictions.

Healing for Diabetes!

The most important miracle to "Mom" Hamon and I personally was her being healed of a long-standing sugar diabetes condition. Donna Walters, Mom Hamon's sister, saw her being healed and said, "God, if You can do that for her, You can heal me too." She also received her healing. Several others received healing from sugar diabetes. Numerous others received healing from lumps and cysts in their bodies and many other diseases and sicknesses. There was a great harvest of miracles for those who were in attendance.

Even some who were not in attendance received their healing. A couple who had a 13-year-old daughter at home with sugar diabetes saw Mom Hamon getting healed and immediately called their daughter on their cell phone. They told her that God was healing sugar diabetes right then. She tested herself and found that her sugar level had dropped one hundred points.

In 2002, my book The Day Of The Saints was finished and published. In it we make the statement that in the day of the saints every believer will manifest the supernatural. We give the four principles for manifesting miracles. (1) Thoroughly know and understand the biblical truth of divine healing. (2) Fully believe in your heart that healing and miracles are for you to receive and have. (3) Consistently confess with your mouth and decree with your words that you have received what you have been believing in your heart and confessing with your mouth. (4) Take corresponding action in agreement with what you have asked, believed and decreed to be a reality.

Believing and Receiving

Early in 2003 the Lord gave me a comprehensive vision of a gigantic room in heaven. In it were millions of packages with every saint's name on one. Each package represented the miracle that God had for each believer to receive in 2003. God wanted to give the miracle, but each Christian had to do some things in order to receive it. I saw that each one must ask in detail exactly what they desire, then go to the post office box, open it and take their miracle. But one had to know the combination to the post office box, which is believing and receiving.

Those who practiced the four principles and opened their box received their package-miracle in 2003. Do not despair if you did not receive your miracle in 2003 for there are more miracles in 2004. The year of miracles is not limited to a 12-month period but is a season in which the Holy Spirit is taking the Church. The Lord revealed that as 1947/48 was the year that God activated evangelistic miracles even so 2003-2004 is the time that God is activating apostolic miracles. The major difference is that there were just a few evangelists manifesting miracles then. Now apostles, prophets and every saint who continues to press in will receive their miracle. Not only will we receive miracles but we will begin to manifest miracles. All believers who are properly prepared to participate in Christ's designated "day of the saints" will manifest the supernatural as a way of living the Christ life.

Jesus has decreed that His kingdom must be demonstrated in every nation as a witness that He is the only true God of heaven and earth. The Holy Spirit has been placed on an intense search to find those who have a heart for glorifying God and demonstrating His kingship. Jesus also wants us to appropriate all that He suffered, bled, died and rose again to make available to us.

Receiving Forgiveness AND Healing

Jesus was beaten with 39 stripes for our healing the same as He shed His life's blood on the cross for the cleansing of our sins. We have fully accepted His blood for the forgiveness of our sins. Now let us receive fully His healing for our bodies. If we are not that concerned for our own healing and deliverance, then let us receive for Jesus' sake, just because He suffered those 39 stripes for our healing. Let us not allow His suffering to be in vain. If we will dare ask for miracles we will receive them. If we will preach the word of truth on miracles then God will confirm His word with miraculous signs following. This is God's kairos time for miracles. All who press in at this time will receive and demonstrate God's miraculous power.

At Christian International we are dedicated to teaching, activating and training saints and fivefold ministers in apostolic miracles, just as we have trained hundreds of thousands in prophetic ministry. We have developed teaching manuals and activations that are being used to activate the saints into the gifts of healing, miracles and discerning of spirits as we have activated prophecy, word of knowledge and word of wisdom. The Apostolic Reformation taking place right now is restoring the power gifts the same way the Prophetic Movement restored the activation of the vocal and revelation gifts. We must keep pressing in until miracles become a way of life for all present-truth, prophetic-apostolic Christians.
by Bill Hamon
Web Site: http://www.christianinternational.org/

The Mountains of God

Lishan Desta

Dallas, Texas
lishan_d@yahoo.com
May 17, 2004
This says the Spirit of God to His people:
I gave My covenants from mountains. I proclaimed, decreed and ratified them from the hills. I chose the high places of the earth to deliver My Covenants – both the Law and later that of Grace.

On Mount Sinai, Moses spent forty days and nights with Me to receive the Law. The day I gave the Law to Israel, I set Mount Sinai ablaze with fire. I shook it with peals of thunder, flashes of lightning and the sounds of trumpets. This way I manifested My character to Israel. As a dire warning to her, I showed her the side of My holiness, My jealousy and My wrath

And later when the time came for Me to change the Covenant of the Law to that of Grace, I chose the top of a hill to proclaim My New Covenant. Jesus sat on a hilltop, on the Sermon Mount, and he proclaimed the percepts of the New Covenant. Dark clouds, flashing lightning and sounds of trumpet, I did not send that day. The New Testament was not a covenant of harsh judgment and jealous wrath, but that of grace and mercy to all those who believe in Jesus and repent of their sins. I used words that the wooed in love and attracted by the cords of mercy to establish Christianity. And later Jesus sealed and ratified the New Covenant with His own Blood, which he shed on a rugged cross set on a hill.

And today, in your day, I am inaugurating a new dispensation, a new covenant with humanity. I am proclaiming the words of the dispensation of the fullness of My Kingdom. In your times, I making the percepts and rules the fullness of My Kingdom dispensation made known. To proclaim this new covenant, I have again chosen mountaintops to address the people.

Where are the mountaintops from which our God's new covenant is being delivered to the world, you ask My people? Now stand, look and discern, what I am doing in your midst, these days. Have I not anointed and commissioned many prophets, seers and teachers to proclaim the new dispensation? Do you not see them and hear them as they speak words of revelation by the Holy Spirit about the coming Kingdom? But you ask Me, where are they? Where are then these mountaintops, Our God, is speaking about? Where are the chosen hills so that we should look up to them to hear His words of the Kingdom dispensation?

My people know this, this time I am not using literal hills and mountaintops to proclaim My covenant. The hill and mountaintops I am using in your day are metaphorical hills and mountains, says Your God. I am referring to positions of elevation, which afford My word high visibility so that the entire world can hear Me at the same time.

My people, I am speaking of electronic mountaintops and digital hilltops. These are the tall mountains of the Internet, of satellite TV and of the radio. These are My modern day equivalents of Mt. Sinai and the Sermon Mount. These I have chosen as My worldwide public address system. My Word is now flashing and thundering around the world from these digital mountaintops. Therefore, do not look for any literal mountain and hill to gather under to hear My covenant words, says the Lord.

On these electronic mountaintops, I have gathered My eagles, a company of prophets. I have assembled them in a holy convocation. I have established their feet with truth and grace; and they deliver My words of revelation, says your God. They communion with My Holy Spirit and not with their rational mind to bring you My words about My Kingdom.

Through the words of the prophets, I am establishing a covenant and a Kingdom on earth. I shall bless and judge the earth according to the words of My prophets. Through their words I shall overthrow the kingdom of Satan, and subdue all rebellion against Me. Through their words I will establish My Kingdom of peace and justice.

And to My chosen prophets and seers your God says this – stand firmly where I placed you on the mountains and hilltops. Do not waver and do not succumb to the threats of the enemy or to the tests of this life. I have placed you there for My purpose; therefore, strengthen your arms and strengthen your knees. Let not fear control your hearts to restrain your voices. Rather lift up your voices and declare to the whole world that I AM coming in justice and righteousness to establish the fullness of My Kingdom. I have chosen you to stand between Me and the people, and let the earth hear My words of the new order though you, says your God. Be faithful, be diligent; I am coming, and My reward is with Me.

Get yourself up on a high mountain, O Zion, bearer of good news, Lift up your voice mightily, O Jerusalem, bearer of good news; Lift {it} up, do not fear. Say to the cities of Judah, " Here is your God!" Behold, the Lord GOD will come with might, With His arm ruling for Him. Behold, His reward is with Him And His recompense before Him. (Is. 40: 9-10)

(Ps. 24, Ps. 68: 15-18; Is. 57:13, 15; Mal. 3: 1-5; Rev. 14: 1-5)

The Measure of a Man
Robert Holmes

Jammed in between key thoughts on Spiritual Warfare and false Apostles, Paul composes a thought about the measure of his ministry, the scope and boundaries of his calling. To Paul, this was central to maintain the protection of Gods grace, and remain true to his call. (2 Cor. 10:12-16).

Paul uses several key words in this passage:

Measure (metron):	metre, portion, degree
Sphere (kanon):	edge, boundary, mark, circumference, realm
Beyond measure (ametros):	outside the boundary Sphere of ministry

Paul states that he will operate "within the limits of the sphere which God appointed" vs 13 and will not go "beyond measure" vs 15. He knows the definable edge to his call, even though that may expand with the work of others. He knows where his boundary is. At times the Holy Spirit needs to remind him, and restrain him from going over that edge (e.g. Acts 16:6).

He says his measure will be "greatly enlarged by you within our sphere" vs 15, though he does not consider the work of others "on his behalf", nor does he "own" their work. His influence is enlarged, his fruitfulness multiplied by them. This concept is better understood when we take the whole letter as one. Earlier Paul says he does not have dominion over their faith, but considers them fellow workers (2 Cor. 1:24). The Corinthian believers were "an epistle, ministered by us" (2 Cor. 3:3). He wrote the book, but many are blessed by reading their lives.

In his letter to the Roman church, Paul says he preaches in regions beyond them and not in another man's sphere (Rom. 15:16). He is careful to give God the glory for this, and not boast beyond what God has done through him. He says he will not build within another man's sphere or upon another foundation (vs 20).

The Roman Index

The Book of Romans contains an index to this topic, insights into the mind of Paul. In Chapter 12 he expresses similar sentiment to 2 Corinthians. Do not consider yourself too highly, do not compare yourself with others. Be sure of God's good, pleasing and perfect will, and stay inside it.

Each person's sphere, or measure comes with the necessary resources to accomplish God's work within it. The Book of Romans gives us three measures, which define our over all sphere of ministry:

Faith: "God has allotted to each a measure of faith" (Rom. 12:3b).

Gifts: "We have gifts that differ" (Rom. 12:6a) "According to the effectual working in the measure of every part" (Eph. 4:16b KJV).

Grace: "According to the grace given to us" (12:6b). "To each one of us grace has been given as Christ measured it" (Eph. 4:7). "You have heard of the dispensation of grace which was given to me for you" (Eph. 3:2).

To each one has been given a measure of faith. Faith is the substance of things hoped for, and you know you are within your measure if faith has substance. Faith defines the operation of your gift and is enabled by grace.

God distributes gifts as He wills. He enables those gifts by his grace, and we operate those gifts by faith. We stir up the gifts that are within us.

God gave Paul a dispensation of grace for the Ephesian church, and also the Corinthians who were within his measure. Grace covers the operation of the gifts toward them. This is not saving grace, nor keeping grace it is divine enablement for the work of ministry.

Boundaries to growth

We are warned not to move the ancient marking stones, used to mark the border of a territory or the edge of a man's field (Prov. 23:10). The Pharisee enlarges his own borders (Matt. 23:5). Promotion comes from the Lord (Psalm 75:6,7).

We are warned to be careful not to overstep our boundary (kanon), and to work within our sphere. We must determine the three opposites of gifts, grace and faith. The unholy three are once again mentioned in Romans, chapter 3:

1. Thinking you are not saved by faith in the Son of God, but living in sin, for all have sinned and fallen short of the glory of God (Rom. 3:23). Anything done without faith is sin.

2. Thinking we are not saved by the free gift of God, but trying to be saved by our works, through which no flesh is justified (Rom. 3:20). Operating outside your gifts takes you into the realm of works.

3. Thinking we are not saved by grace, but under the law which we must fulfill, which brings a knowledge of sin (Rom. 3:20). Operating outside your grace brings you under the judgement of the law.

Guiding lights and glaring examples

Jude 11 presents us with three men, who in some ways represent the unholy three:

Balaam, whose error (teaching) lead Israel into sin Cain, whose way (offering) was rejected because of works Korah, whose rebellion brought him under judgement (law)

These three come with men who represent the antithesis. Consider:

Phineas, who was praised for his faith Able, who was praised for his offering of a free gift Moses, who was praised for living under grace in relationship.

There are those who say, "prophets should not teach" (which is akin to saying teachers should not prophesy). They quote the mistakes of William Branham, and John Alexander Dowie. It would be more Biblical to say that some prophets may teach, and some teachers may prophesy. But we must know our measure - our metron. We look back over their lives, and we see they strayed, either into the error of Balaam, into sin (such as adultery, idolatry, theft). Or they strayed into the way of Cain (salvation by works, theology, sectarianism). Or they rebelled as Korah did (legalism, judgementalism, formalism).

Let us stay within the boundary of our call, like Leonard Ravenhill, Woodworth Etter and others. Showing forth the glory of a life devoted to the call, purpose and intention God laid out for us.

WEBSITE Storm-Harvest Ministries http://www.storm-harvest.asn.au

MODERATORS Robert I Holmes and Mario Liu email prophetic@storm-harvest.asn.au

To subscribe, send ANY message to: stormharvest-subscribe@associate.com>

The Move Of My Spirit

John Michael Hatalovsky

This is what I perceived in the spirit over approximately a 6-month period. Initially it started with Florida and as I continued into this vision more of the picture was revealed. As I began to write and describe what I saw things began to increase in scope Although it began with Florida, which is the end of the vision; I will begin with the entire picture and try to put things in a sequence of order.

I ask that you seek His guidance about this vision and if it does witness to your spirit praise God. But if any part does not witness to your spirit or is a negative effect upon you, this word will have no affect upon you and will turn to dust.

Beginning

I saw the United States and Canada from above. High enough to see both countries, yet the states were outlined as on a map. The entire area was colored with a red dye.

I asked, "Lord, why are the countries stained red and where did it come from".

He responded, "the dye you see was the move of my Spirit over the nations, it was released in the United States and then taken to Canada were it went forth and covered all parts of the earth. From your position you can only see a small picture of its impact. But there is another move that is released onto the earth that will change the way my church thinks, order will be established, and will move them into the reality of who they are, In ME."

As the Lord spoke these last words they seemed to echo with a thunder that seemed to resonate into everything that I could see. His words came alive. It seemed to penetrate into my bones....

Continuing...

And throughout the area were campfires with 2, 3, and 4 people around them, to thousands of people around them. Some fires were very bright and some just barely lighting up the area. Some just glowing embers. As I looked more closely I noticed that the majority of the groups around the fires were distinct and separate from one another. They seemed to be keeping to themselves. Also, I noticed that the number of people did not determine the intensity of the fires. Some of the brightest fires had the least number of people around them.

I asked the Lord, "why do some of the smallest groups burn the brightest.

He smiled, His eyes filling me with the warmth from the fires,

'The brightest fires are those who are walking in their full revelation of who I am. The fullness of who they are in Me. As they realize what authority I have given them, and begin to walk in that authority, they begin to walk in My Light, the more they walk in My Light, the brighter My reflection is in them

Continued:

I then saw another translucent dye, red in colour, begin to cover the land, this had the added dynamic of tone, and had a purplish hue to it. Although it was translucent, it was magnificent in its depth of colour and quality of substance. As the dye slowly moved through the fires, it immediately began to ignite them into a blaze. It was like throwing magnesium powder on a fire. The fire transformed into the colour of the dye. Though more intense and dynamic in its range of colour.

The blaze subsided, but the intensity of the flame increased from its prior brightness.

Just staring at the fires and breathing in the vapors was rejuvenating. It seemed to give me strength and energy that I have not realized or experienced before. I wanted to get as close as I could into the fire.

Entering it seemed perfectly secure.

Continue...

Then my focus was directed to Florida. As I watched the dye move over the land the Lord began to point out things that I should make note of.

These seemed to be very important and more importantly, that I should have wisdom in understand what was taking place.

(The treasure of wisdom rests in the hands of the Father. It comes from above. Prov.2:6 James 3:17)

The first thing I noticed was the land, how the dye moved over the land and changed everything it touched. How the color changed, and things seemed to come alive.

He brought to my attention 2 kings chapter 2 :19 where the men of the city said to Elisha," please notice the situation of this city is pleasant, as my lord sees, but the water is bad, and the ground barren, 21 then elisha went out to the source of the water and cast in the salt there and said thus says the lord I have healed this water from it there shall be no more death or barrenness.

This seemed to be the condition of the land before the effects of the dye. Things seemed pleasant but the water was bad and the land unfruitful. We were deceived about our position in Him and who we are. Our head knowledge, our reasoning, clouded our thinking to produce a false picture of reality, which seemed pleasant and was eagerly accepted.

The Lord said, "My people have accepted Me as Jesus, but have rejected Me as The Christ. The Lord saw my concerned confusion, knelt on one knee, placed His hands on my arms so I would be facing Him, looked into my eyes, and asked,

"What does My Name mean to you, John-Michael"?

I looked at Him, I felt his sadness rush through me for an instant, my voice cracked speaking softly, You're my Salvation.... my Power..... .my Authority. my only love, my best friend... You are the Anointed One who is One with the Father.

There was silence .... His eyes still fastened on mine....... looking deep inside of me

It seemed to last …a ….. long …….. time.

Still looking into His eyes, I softly spoke the words-one-at-a-time

You -have -given- me -Your -Anointing.!

The Lord spoke softly, His eyes beheld a quiet sadness, " They have accepted My gift of Salvation, but refused the gift of My Anointing".

Time passed.....

The Lord spoke, His voice echoed throughout the land, it seemed that all creation listened, I felt the words in my bones, "my church will no longer be deceived, Wisdom has been released from the least to the greatest. Wisdom will reveal their position in me, and they will move into who I Am, and realize who they are."

I saw how this dye united, connected the fires together and brought Life (Zoë) into their hearts.

I saw how there seemed to be connecting strands between many of the fires and as these strands grew, became thicker, stronger, the fires became brighter, more intense.

I saw how they responded to one another after looking into the flame and breathing the vapor.

I saw how their faces changed, how they radiated Life, which they received from the fire. I saw how important it became for them to accept one another. And I saw their focus change from their fires, to who could do the most to build up other fires.

And their measure of success was the brightness of the fires whom they have helped.

Then time passed………a change occurred……… It seemed that the map appeared to become a fabric, a tapestry, which appeared to be alive. It had life coming forth from it. It had a dynamic range of sound, which was totally absorbing. It had intensity and a dynamic vibrancy that seemed to have LifeBlood flowing through it……….

John Michael Hatalovsky Barak5@cyberstarz.com

The Ministry Of One-Anothering
Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net/articles/oneanother.html

Every Christian is called to the ministry of One-Anothering. We are to love one another, serve one another, submit to one another, instruct one another, encourage one another, help one another, forgive one another, and so forth. This is our spiritual service. This is your ministry to the Body of Christ and the basis from which every spiritual gift should operate. It would be profitable for you to do a study of all the places in the New Testament that mention "one another". There are a considerable number of references. You will immediately benefit by seeing that Christianity is not for hermits. There is no place for individualism in the Kingdom of God, for we are a Body of many members, each fashioned together into interdependence. You will also see that we are called to live very simple lives of quiet service to our brothers and sisters. It is neither complicated nor difficult.

People ask me all the time, "How do I know if I'm called to the ministry?" I answer by saying you are definitely called to the ministry. They think perhaps I am a prophet or I can see something that they cannot. Then I have to clarify it by explaining that all of us are called to the ministry of One-Anothering. No one is exempt. How that will eventually work itself out in your life is a wonderful mystery that you will have to discover for yourself. Only don't look to do some great thing to begin with, just find some brothers and sisters and begin your practice of One-Anothering.

Others will ask, "But how do I know if God is calling me to a full-time ministry?" My response is that He is calling all of us to the full-time ministry of One-Anothering. I'm missing the page in my Bible that talks about a part-time commitment. There's no such thing as a part-time ministry, a part-time minister, or a part-time Christian. It is either all the time or none of the time.

The problem with many people who aspire to some "full-time" ministry is they want to do some great thing, something immediately visible, appreciated, and recognized that will take up all their time and support them so they won't have to work at a "secular" job. They want to start up at the top with a title and a position but they don't know anything about the ministry of One-Anothering. They want to preach, or teach, or sing, or be up on center stage someplace.

I have counseled more than one young man who believes the Lord is calling them into some ministry. Certainly their motives are sincere, and they desire to do a good work. But upon close examination you find that they have a certain idea or presupposition about what ministry is. They imagine that having a ministry means people will come and hear them preach. They think about what it will be like to stand behind the pulpit and talk, hearing people say, "Amen!" and "Preach it, brother!". In some cases they are looking to me to wave my hand over them or speak some word to them which will confirm their calling and give them clear direction. Or they will talk about giving up their "secular" employment so they can be in the "full-time" ministry.

HOW TO GO INTO MINISTRY THE WRONG WAY

When I was twenty-three years old I sensed that it was time for me to take a big step and enter the ministry "full-time". I knew I was called to the ministry and I was already an associate pastor in our church, but I was impatient and anxious to devote all my time to what I thought ministry was all about - preaching and teaching. I thought going into the ministry "full-time" was some great event that would be accompanied by trumpets and heralds. I wanted to be sure of the Lord's leading so I fasted and prayed to see if He would approve of my plans (please note how I worded that). For three days I did not eat or drink. At the end of the three days I quit my job and announced to everyone that now I was in the "full-time" ministry.

After about three months of being in the ministry "full-time" I had preached in three churches and mailed out a newsletter so everyone would know where to send their money. It wasn't long before there was no food in the house, so we began visiting friends and relatives for "fellowship" in hopes that they would invite us to stay for dinner. We depended on the church to pay our phone and electric bills. About this time I found out that my wife was pregnant with our second child. Of course, we had no insurance.

When things were really tight I remembered a man who owed me money an hour's drive away. Since it was dinnertime I asked my wife to fix something for me to eat on the way to this man's house. She gave me a single Beef Jerky and a thermos of Kool-Aid because there was nothing else. Eventually I went to the food ministry our church supported and asked if I could help load trucks in exchange for one of the boxes of food. For the next few weeks we lived on microwave pizzas and frozen tortellini which we had to boil and learn to serve in a variety of interesting ways. I understand now how the Hebrews were able to complain about manna from heaven after eating it for so long. To this day I will not eat tortellini.

Eventually we had to leave our house since we couldn't pay the rent. We moved in with my wife's parents and lived out of a single bedroom. Since we had no money to put our things in storage, we wrapped them in plastic and put them in her parent's garage. Meanwhile someone had told me about a small church that was looking for a pastor. It paid the amazing sum of $100 a week, which sounded like a king's ransom to us at the time. So we went.

The church was able to increase our pay a little over time, but it was soon clear that I would have to leave the "full-time" ministry and go back to the "secular" job market to support my family. I remember when this first dawned on me, and how deeply my pride was offended. I remember praying as I drove over the Tar River bridge to get home, "Lord, I'll do anything if You will only let me stay in 'full-time' ministry." I didn't want to go get a job because I thought that would be interpreted as a lack of faith. The following week I was offered a job, and I took it at the insistence of my wife.

Why am I sharing this with you? Am I holding this up as a model of what it means to suffer for Jesus? Is this an example of what it means to be in the ministry? By no means. I was committed, no doubt about it. Somebody might say it happened that way because you didn't have enough faith. Maybe, but I bet I had more faith at twenty-three years old than you did. I could out-pray, out-fast, out-preach, and out-work anyone. As Paul said, "I labored more abundantly than them all." But as the saying goes, fanaticism consists of continuing to do something when you have forgotten why you are doing it.

SPIRITUAL MINISTRY IS PRACTICAL

I have since learned (after many more trials and tests) that the loftiest spiritual service will never cause us to neglect our most menial earthly duty. If you are not faithful with respect to earthly things, who is going to commit spiritual things with you? Paul's letters always begin with the spiritual reality and end with the earthly responsibility. This is why he urged people to remain where they are when they are first called. That is to say, if you are a husband, love your wife. If you are a wife, love your husband. If you have children, raise them in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. Be there for them. If you will not take care of your family, no matter what spiritual excuse you offer, you are worse than a pagan. And if you will not work, you will not eat.

BALANCE is the Holy Grail that we so desperately need to re-discover in the Church today. This is Paul's counsel, and it is sound. His example was to work with his own hands to provide his own support so he could make the Good News available without charge. Technically, yes he could receive support, and he did on occasion, but most of the time he chose not to do so. When he said his last goodbye's to the Ephesian elders at Miletus he could testify that in his three years of ministry in Ephesus he had coveted no one's gold, silver, or clothing, but had worked to support himself and those with him so as not to be a burden to the church. What a glorious testimony!

How different were the false apostles who followed after, claiming all the support they could muster and refusing to work, eating and drinking everyone else's groceries, robbing the widows and making merchandise of the Good News. Yet this is precisely what many who claim a "full-time" ministry do today.

Our idea of ministry is narrow and ill-defined. Most folks have one notion about ministry - preaching in a church. If I am preaching in a church, I am a minister. But if I am waiting on tables or washing dishes or working in an office or doing other menial, secular things I am not a real minister. This is the way people have been led to believe.

As a pastor I was supposed to attend ministerial conferences and gatherings. After the introductions, the first question we asked a new acquaintance was NOT how many in your church are growing in grace and in the knowledge of Jesus Christ, but rather, "How many people do you have on Sunday morning?" The second question we asked was, "Are you full-time or bi-vocational?" The size of your church and your status as full-time or bi-vocational helped establish the pecking order. I noticed the pastors with large churches and "full-time" ministries were typically selected to leadership positions within the denomination.

One of these successful pastors spoke once and "encouraged" those of us with small churches by saying, "God is with you, too."

But I noticed that whenever these pastors would gather together everyone would talk about how hard it was and how they were just trying to hold on for dear life. The bigger the church the more stressed out the pastor was. They were walking around with the weight of the world on their shoulders, trying to deal with so many problems. They were so enmeshed and caught up in themselves that they seemed almost catatonic. I would come home from these meetings depressed.

I began thinking to myself, what is wrong with this picture? Why am I aspiring to do this full-time? Why am I seeking to advance myself within this group of nervous wrecks? What do I stand to gain, but more problems and stress? How did we get so far removed from the New Testament? Why are we so concerned about numbers and size when we aren't faithful to what little we have to begin with? Why are so many pastor's wives taking antidepressants? Why are so many pastor's kids in serious trouble? What am I doing here? What will my family look like in twenty years?

This began a process through which God radically changed my perception of ministry. It was the beginning of the end of my career as a preacher for Organized Religion. I gave up my little penny-ante ministry and took my place with the One Flock under the One Shepherd. I do not regret that decision, for what I received is far greater than what I gave up.

THE LAW OF THE SPIRIT OF LIFE IN CHRIST

Friends, the situation as I have described it is not God's intention for ministry. I have learned that there is something called the Law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jesus (Romans 8:2). I have seen this in operation and I know when it is at work in someone's life and when it is not. I can look within myself and instantly know if I am cooperating with the Life or not. I give thanks to God for teaching me this, and I pray He will grant all of us to see it, for it will set captives free. Let me explain how the Law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jesus relates to our work and ministry in the Lord. It is summed up in this maxim: God will not LEAD you where His grace cannot KEEP you.

That is to say, when we undertake the work assigned to us by the Lord we will find the Life of the Lord is present to give us all the inner spiritual strength to see it through to completion. I am not saying everything will go smoothly and you will never have any self-doubt or fear. Far from it. But listen to what Paul says:

"We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed" (II Corinthians 4:8,9). His secret? "I labor according to His mighty power which works in me" (Colossian 1:29). Not I, but Christ. This is the secret to the Christian life and it is the key to all fruitful spiritual work.

The majority of people in Christian service are given methods, plans, formulas, books, tapes, seminars, conferences, education, and training in order to fulfill their ministry. There are currently more pastors than there are churches for them to pastor. These young people fresh out of college are sitting around waiting for churches to open up to them so they can come in and begin their ministry. They are looking forward to the day when they can put all they have learned into practice. What happens when they finally get elected to pastor their first church? They make a mess of the whole thing.

I worked with a fellow like this. I can truthfully say today that I love him, but at the time of our working together I came close to breaking his nose on more than one occasion. I'm sure he felt the same way about me! He was intelligent, articulate, and well-educated. He was committed to his idea of ministry. We cannot judge his heart, but we can look at the fruit of his pastoral ministry and see all the people damaged as a result of his best intentions and efforts. After driving off a sufficient number of people and putting the whole congregation and staff into an uproar, he came under such stress that his body rebelled and he was sick for three weeks. Suddenly he "felt called" to accept another church in another state, where we can only pray that he will not make the same mistakes.

What is missing? How has the Church reached such a pitiful condition? We give people a method, but God desires us to cooperate with His Life working through us. This is a spiritual matter. This cannot be taught in a classroom. People cannot pay a tuition and get a degree and say that they are now fit to shepherd the flock. A thousand times no!

BEGIN YOUR MINISTRY TODAY

When anyone comes to me now and wants my advice about "going" into the ministry, the first thing I seek to do is upset all their ideas about ministry and talk to them about being a servant, taking the back seat, being hidden from view, lowering yourself, and practicing the art of One-Anothering.

The ministry of One-Anothering doesn't require a platform, a pulpit, a building, a budget, or a Board. You can start immediately, with no training and with no experience, and you don't have to quit your job or do anything dramatic. You cannot be voted in, and you cannot be voted out. The Life you possess qualifies you to be in the full-time ministry of One-Anothering. Your wounds are your credentials. You can go to your brothers and sisters right now and say, "The Lord has called me to the ministry, and I am beginning it today." Love, pray for, encourage, and serve the saints. So many times we have observed individuals who claim to be called to some great work but they neglect the basic principles of One-Anothering. There is no competition for the lowest position, so let all who love the Lord go there first and become a servant.

So what if you can't preach, teach, or sing? Is that all there is to the Lord's work? Hardly. You could begin a ministry of affirmation. Just make it your mission to encourage everyone you meet, building them up in the Lord. Most people tear each other down, so determine in God that you will lift up and encourage the Church at every opportunity. Keep a list of addresses and every so often send them a little note. That is a simple way to start. The possibilities are endless!

You see, ministry is not some great, profound, extraordinary thing, but ordinary things done in an extraordinary way.

Whatever our age or stage of spiritual growth we are called to the Ministry of One-Anothering. It is a rewarding call. Only let us walk in love and work diligently according to the Law of Life (not in our own strength) and we will do well. Let us learn to buy up the opportunities and redeem the time. The servants are not greater than their Master, but the servants may aspire to be as their Master. I pray the Lord will raise up more servants as a result of these words. Amen.

Chip Brogden
http://www.watchman.net

To My Obedient Ones, To Those In Brokeness

Dee Hoetmer

The end of all burdens, the end of all heaviness; I have circumcised your heart till your will is as My will. I am well pleased with you My Beloveds. I will shower you the dew of My Spirit. I will refresh you every morning. You are being transformed by My glory. Your feet shall be as hind's feet, leaping from mountain top to mountain top, you are My over-comer. Blessed will be your goings out and comings in. Blessed will be your bread basket, you will suffer lack no more.

To My Beautiful Beloveds, I say the refining is complete, weeping has endured for the night, but now comes the morning fresh with the dew of My new anointing.

As you go forth the trees of the field will clap their hands, as I now start to reveal My Sons of Glory. As you walk the earth will be restored, all creation will be restored to Me, its rightful Lord and owner. Yea all peoples, nations and creation is to be restored to Me through the authority I have placed in you, My representatives on earth, My Beautiful Beloveds.

You have been through the refining fires, YOU DESIRE ONLY ME. Dross has been purged, the heart circumcised. You will do only that which I show you to do, speak only that which I give you to speak, A PEOPLE DEAD TO THEMSELVES AND ALIVE UNTO ME.

MY WILL AND PURPOSES FOR YOU WILL BE FULFILLED. It has been a labor of love that I have done these things in you, FOR YOU WERE CALLED BY NAME AND YOU HEARD MY VOICE AND OBEYED. YES IT HAS COST YOU MUCH, BUT I WILL RESTORE, o' you one that My heart adores!

I see you lying on your bed broken and spent, know you not THAT IT IS YOU I NOW SEND, FOR MY BEAUTY IS REVEALED IN YOUR BROKENESS!

I have seen how even family members have come against you and spurned you as one of no import, but they do not see you as I do, they do not see you as they ought!

Broken and tender before Me, no thought of self, only of My will for you. My Beautiful Beloveds, THE KING COMES TO RESTORE.

dee@heartbeatofthefather.co.za
http://www.heartbeatofthefather.co.za

The Mountains of Israel

Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelite,

In the past few months, especially since coming back from the trip to the U.S. and Canada, the Spirit seems to be opening up again further understanding of our identity, our nationhood and the land of our inheritance. When we live in prosperity and comfort we can become complacent and believe that this is the way it will continue to be. The Jews of Germany before the Holocaust were an example of those who were convinced that their lives where safe and secure. However, YHVH sent His prophets with a word to leave and go back to the land of Zion. My feeling has been that the saved and redeemed of Israel need to be on the alert out there in the nations or in far countries and not be ignorant of what YHVH is saying, especially during the times of great material blessings and Spiritual visitations.

To the saved, redeemed and restored remnant of the lost tribes known by the name written on the second stick/tree “Joseph in the hand of Ephraim”, Peter writes: “But you are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, His own treasured people, that you may proclaim the praises of Him who called you out of darkness into His marvelous light; you who once were not a people [Lo Ami] but are now the people of God, who had not obtained mercy [Lo Ruchama] but now have obtained mercy” (1 Pet 2:9-10). As we know, these words of Peter are quotes from the first chapter of the book of Hosea, the prophet who addressed the House of Joseph/Israel and prophesied their destiny. However, as we read the rest of the story of that house (as it is described in other parts of the Bible), we discover that these very ones are to be restored to their identity by their Messiah/Redeemer in the second and third day of YHVH’s time periods. “After two days He will revive us; on the third day He will raise us up, that we may live in His sight” (Hos.6:2).

If a day is as a thousand years (ref 2 Pet 3:8), then we are in the third day from the time of the casting away (in 722 B.C.) of the seed of Joseph/Ephraim (and all the brothers attached to their destiny). Did Peter understand who these Gentiles were when he quoted Hosea 2:23? “Then I will sow her for Myself in the earth, and I will have mercy on her who had not obtained mercy; then I will say to those who were not My people, 'You are My people!' And they shall say, 'You are my God!' " (Hosea 2:23).

The two stick/trees of Ezekiel 37 are seen as two nations: "And I will make them one nation in the land, on the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king over them all; they shall no longer be two nations*, nor shall they ever be divided into two kingdoms again”* (Eze. 37:22). The first of the sticks/trees to be gathered from the nations and to become a single nation again was Judah. Undoubtedly, over the last hundred years or so Judah’s prophetic destiny has been in the process of being fulfilled, as they are restored to their national identity and returning, as a remnant. to the land of their/our forefathers. As we know from Zechariah 10, this was to take place in the days of the latter rains. But in the same breath (Spirit) Zechariah continues identifying the second stick/tree of Joseph/Ephraim, declaring that they are the saved, redeemed and the ones to be brought back to the mountains of Israel. Interestingly, this text refers not only to the mountains of Israel that are in the present day nation of Judah/Israel, but also to the mountains that are in Lebanon.

“Ask YHVH for rain in the time of the latter rain” (Zech 1:1). Hosea confirms the time: “And let us know, let us follow on to know YHVH: his going forth is sure as the morning; and he will come unto us as the rain, as the latter rain that waters the earth” (Hos 6:3). It is during the latter days that the House of Judah is to be restored as a nation and become mighty in war. “I will strengthen the house of Judah” (v6) and “They shall be like mighty men, who tread down their enemies in the mire of the streets in the battle. They shall fight because YHVH is with them “(v5). At that time Joseph/Ephraim is to be saved, redeemed and gathered before their return: “I will save the house of Joseph… (v.6)… I will bring them back, because I have mercy on them. They shall be as though I had not cast them off; for I am YHVH their Elohim, and I will hear them. Those of Ephraim shall be like a mighty man, and their heart shall rejoice as if with wine. Yes, their children shall see it and be glad; their heart shall rejoice in YHVH. I will whistle for them and gather them, for I have redeemed them; and they have increase as they once increased. I will sow them among the peoples, and they shall remember Me in far countries; they shall live, together with their children, and they shall return*. I will also bring them back from the land of Egypt, and gather them from Assyria.* I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon, until no more room is found for them" (Zech 10:6-10).

From the above scripture we see that the saved and redeemed remnant of Joseph/Ephraim is to return to Lebanon and Gilead (in such masses until no room is found for them). Why would these redeemed ones need to have their own piece of real-estate? Can't they just stay in the far countries as aliens or live with Judah? From the Ezekiel scriptures it appears that Judah and Ephraim are two separate nations for a time, until the Messiah Son of David comes and reunites them into one stick/tree and nation. A glance at the present map of Judah/Israel shows it to be much like a root and trunk (of the "first stick/tree"). Thus, the very shape of the territory that these two nations are to occupy portrays their destiny (as two trees being grafted together) in a very graphic manner. Hence, when the redeemed Ephraimites return to the present territories of Lebanon, Bashan and Gilead, that territory would constitute the independent and proverbial second stick/tree. Together, living side by side, they would be two sticks in YHVH's hand, waiting for the time when He will unite them into one, with one government on one united territory.

The prophet Micah confirms the area that the redeemed Israelites are to return to. Those of the Carmel (or wooded area) are to settle Bashan and Gilead in the days after sin and inequity are removed through the redemptive work of the Messiah: "Shepherd Your people with Your staff, the flock of Your heritage, who dwell solitarily in a woodland, in the midst of Carmel [wooded area]; let them feed in Bashan and Gilead, as in days of old…Who is an Elohim like You, pardoning iniquity and passing over the transgression of the remnant of His heritage? He does not retain His anger forever, because He delights in mercy. He will again have compassion on us, and will cover our iniquities. You YHVH will cast all our sins into the depths of the sea. You will give truth to Jacob and mercy to Abraham, which You have sworn to our fathers from days of old" (Micah 7:14; 18-20).

How has YHVH covered Ephraim/Israel's iniquities, and cast their sins into the depths of the sea? The answers rings loud and clear through the New Covenant (ref. Jer 31:31-34). The dry bones of Israel, which were buried in the graves of forgetfulness and iniquity, have been raised through the work of Messiah Yeshua son of Joseph/David. A redeemed remnant of this second house and stick/tree is waking up to its true identity. They are being gathered into little flocks in all the nations, and just as the sheepfold is called by the Shepherd's whistle at dusk, they too are hearing His signal to follow Him home to the pastures on the mountains of Israel before *"darkness covers the earth and deep darkness the peoples" (*see Isaiah 60:2).

Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel, You who lead Joseph like a flock; You who dwell between the cherubim, shine forth! Before Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh, stir up Your strength, and come and save us! Restore us, O Elohim; cause Your face to shine, and we shall be saved" (Psa. 80:1-3).

Shabbat Shalom
Ephraim

Team Ministry - The Mystery Of Grafting
Sandy Warner

Nov 10, 2004
I have spoken in heaven and am performing a mystery on earth. It is time for surgery on old foundations and excessive top growth. This is to prepare My people for team ministry like never before. These faithful ones, who are yielded to My knife, shall be brought through to divine health. Body, soul and spirit. Even as in grafting trees, I will join hearts and lives and gifts and focus, and purpose. They shall become one as they learn the mystery of common union, that is holy communion while enjoying the most satisfying of fellowship as they follow the lead of My Spirit.

They shall be adopted into My family, bonded with My yearnings of love and will grow up into maturity, line by line, with manna from heaven. I will establish them and make them stable. I shall use these mystery joinings as launching pads where their authority is multiplied to chase thousands. They will learn to become right hand men, standing, supporting and fighting along side one another like never before. This is My team, and I will grant them a heart of one. I will give them My heart transfusion as I join them, even as we are one. My glory and My love are the same. They shall know and walk in both.

John 17:22-23 NKJV
And the glory which You gave Me I have given them, that they may be one just as We are one: I in them, and You in Me; that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that You have sent Me, and have loved them as You have loved Me.

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com]

A Heart Now Touched
Sandy Warner

Nov 14, 2004

A HEART NOW TOUCHED
What joy I feel to witness Your acts.
A smile fills my soul stretching to its max.
Deep down inside is like a bubbling tide.
With each answered prayer
I know You are there.

Thank You Oh Lord for giving me sight
To view Your great works, they are my delight.
Your touch to a heart, has made my joy full
As I witness a life no longer dull.
From once what was frozen from despair
Now beats with passion, I know it is there.

I can feel its surge growing
Like a candle now glowing.
You are alive, oh heart, burst forth from your start.
Beat strongly in love
As you follow the Dove.

He is with you in life, He was with you in death.
You are now resurrected as you hide in His cleft.
His keeping power and all that it means
Is much greater than you know, much more than it seems.
This far and no farther, is His great command.
The wind and the waves bow to His Omnipotent stand.

So listen dear heart, and follow His ways.
As He whispers to you in the remainder of days.
Your valves swell with great anticipation
Your faith grows in earnest expectation.
His love is so full, so rich and so good.
You cant help but beat, I knew that you would.

In all that you do, choose life and not death.
He will be with you always, you will never be left.
Pump strong and stay healthy
And your life will be wealthy.
As you commit your pulse to Him
Your joy will be full to the brim.

Luke 12:34 TLB
Wherever your treasure is, there your heart and thoughts will also be.

Poetry2Ponder are poems birthed out of intimacy with the Holy Spirit through yearnings of intercession. They are posted once a week.. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

Refrain From Dethroning My Word
Sandy Warner

Nov 8, 2004
Even as I called upon Samuel when he was but a youth, I AM awakening My own ones to hear My voice. With great joy, I have granted their request for an enlargement. They shall know the voice of Jah, the Holy One.

My Word is Holy. As they become My witnesses of what they have seen and heard, I shall teach them how to refrain from dethroning My Word. Familiarity breeds contempt. My own ones shall learn the balance of walking in My anointing and not tainting My Words with their flesh. They shall learn the delicate balance of using their lives as an example and a testimony to back up My Word, but not to distract from it. I shall teach them how to refrain from adding carnal language lest it become a stumbling block to hearing ears. I shall teach them how to speak the simplicity of My Word and let the power of it speak for itself. As I have spoken through My prophets, I will give My Spirit without measure to a people without mixture. And thus, My Word will not be dethroned, but pierced with power, impact and authority. A new breed walks the earth today. They shall no longer be ordinary, but walk in My extraordinary ways, in the simplicity and power of My Holy Word.

1 Sam 3:10-14 NKJV
Now the LORD came and stood and called as at other times, "Samuel! Samuel!" And Samuel answered, "Speak, for Your servant hears." Then the LORD said to Samuel: "Behold, I will do something in Israel at which both ears of everyone who hears it will tingle. In that day I will perform against Eli all that I have spoken concerning his house, from beginning to end. For I have told him that I will judge his house forever for the iniquity which he knows, because his sons made themselves vile, and he did not restrain them. And therefore I have sworn to the house of Eli that the iniquity of Eli's house shall not be atoned for by sacrifice or offering forever."

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com]

To Be Kissed A Second Time
Sandy Warner

Nov 12, 2004
I kissed My people long ago in the presence of their brethren. The breath of My Presence shook them to their very cells. In the past, the enemy shot them with all of his barrels and dimmed the light I had planted. Knocked down, but never out. This is the destiny of My overcomers. My candle in them is still burning.

I AM coming a second time to kiss My own with a surge of My passion. The awakening of My holy touch shall start as a slight tremble. The surrounding voices shall join in holy union as My power begins its journey from the bowels of their belly. As the voices grow louder with each wave of My breath, I shall bring My power like a molten volcano that bursts forth where nothing can contain it. Pure, raw power. Pure, raw love, with the passion of My breath as I reach down from heaven and kiss My people once again for the journey of their life.

Yes all things come to full circle. It is My way, I repay.

Isaiah 11:10-11 KJV
And in that day there shall be a root of Jesse, which shall stand for an ensign of the people; to it shall the Gentiles seek: and his rest shall be glorious. {glorious: Heb. glory} And it shall come to pass in that day, that the Lord shall set his hand again the second time to recover the remnant of his people, which shall be left, from Assyria, and from Egypt, and from Pathros, and from Cush, and from Elam, and from Shinar, and from Hamath, and from the islands of the sea.

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com]

The Next Four Years And Beyond

Joni Ames

The past few months have been a "quiet" time for me. I "saw" and "heard" things, but they were not yet to be related openly. Also, some of the rest of what I was hearing was already being spoken about by others, so there was no need to send out the "Joni version!"

The other thing that was going on is that the Lord was doing a work in me, and had me in a time of "sabbatical" from writing and sending out words for awhile, as well as a time of introspection and change. - " However, the "quiet" season has seemingly come to an end, and I'm in a season when many dreams and other prophetic downloads have been unloaded in my direction. I believe they have to do with the next four years. Therefore, I submit some of them to you below:

Dream Re: The Next Four Years

This dream came to me in very a strong way. Even while receiving it, the thought came to me, "This dream is coming to me in much the way Daniel's came to him."

In the dream, I saw a man running in my direction through an open field, who then jumped forward towards me through a bush that separated the field from the area I was standing in. He then stopped and bent over and put his hands around his ankles, seemingly in a runner's pose, to catch his breath.

My attention was quickly drawn from him to what was now coming across the field behind him. Suddenly, a tremendous crowd of people were stampeding towards us, with a huge fire devouring behind them. I almost screamed to the man to "LOOK!" - but just as they got to the bush, they stopped.

Through the bush then began stepping a series of four animals. I knew in my spirit that each of them was one year old, perfectly formed, healthy, beautiful and that each represented a one year period that we were going to experience. First came a leopard, then a deer, a cow, and finally, a pony. However, I had no idea what they represented. All I originally got was "a leopard doesn't change it's spots." I also had a knowing in my spirit that what I saw represented the next four years, now that Bush has finished the race and won.

In the end of the dream, children were happily riding ponies all over the open field.

Interpretation

The dream was (and is) as vivid as it was when I had it. It stuck with me so strongly that I finally called a trusted prophetic friend, Bob Jones about it. The following was the interpretation:

BOB JONES: What you saw represented the next four years, now that Bush has finished the race and won.

JONI: Yes, that's what I felt. But I don't know what each animal represented.

BOB JONES: Well, a leopard doesn't change it's spots.

JONI: Yes, I got that, but what does that mean?

BOB JONES: Well, here in the next year, there's going to a time of decision for the ones that seemingly haven't made very much progress towards proper change - like the leopard that doesn't change its' spots. It's time to seek who will be served. A year in the valley of decision or commitment.

A call to repentance. A time for those in the occult to seek righteousness.

But then, the next year, the deer, well, that shows that we don't need to be discouraged, because they WILL come around, and they will have hinds feet to soar on high places.

Then, the cow, well, that's the sacrifice. And that speaks of offering up to the Lord what is His. The sacrifice of righteousness and praise.

And finally, the pony - like the donkey that Jesus rode on - Jesus will come on in, riding in the saddles of the youth's minds, and then there will be great celebration. The youth are going to come into their place, for you saw them riding all over the field and enjoying themselves.

JONI AMES: With that understanding, I then felt that this referred also to those in government that haven't quite decided to follow what God put them there for, and that they will eventually make it through their struggles and go on to do what He called them to. I was reminded of what Proverbs 29:2 says, "When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice; But when a wicked man rules, the people groan."

Additionally, I felt that the children riding in the field represented a turn in the abortion laws to protect the children, and allow the called ones to be birthed and come forth to ride with the Lord in their callings.

Earthquakes

One evening as I stood at my sink, it seemed that suddenly everything was shaking, and I heard, "Beware of earthquakes this coming year. Pray for the protection of the lives of those where they occur."

Emergency Broadcast System

Several times recently, I have heard what sounded like an emergency broadcast siren, and have seen "flashes" of explosions, people running, and have heard the excited voices of news media members who are covering the activities crying, "The United States is under attack! Get to a place of safety! We are truly a nation at war!"

I also heard the "buzzer" that sounds over a radio or TV station when a weather warning is released, and felt that there will additionally be atmospheric emergencies this coming year as well, and that we need to be prepared to respond in the safest way possible. Often the Lord gives warning so that His People will move to safety before His Judgment falls. - Such as with Lot and his wife. If He calls you to do that, don't look back. It sure didn't help Lot's wife to do so.

I also sensed that the "weather warning siren" warns us of stormy times to come economically, and that there is a call to "downsize, simplify, and be wise" in the area of finances.

Change In Office Of Vice President

I had an open vision while in church in the Spring of last year that there was a change in the vice presidential office while Bush is president. I dreamed Pres. Bush was having a press conference to announce it. I don't know if this in the natural (although I lean towards that), or if there is great change coming into the life of our vice president. However, I encourage all to pray for him regarding the heart problems he has had, and that he would either be totally healed, or able to withstand the pressure of his office, or would be wise enough to resign so as to extend his life by eliminating the stress and pressure that his office holds if it would do damage to him. Also, pray that if he leaves that office before the end of his term, the person who the Lord chooses to stand in that office, if vacated, would be in proper position to do so before any of these things take place.

Women Leaders
The Lord has been showing me that this is truly a time when women will be coming to the forefront as leaders in our nation. Expect to see it be the case more and more where politics, ministries, business entrepreneurs and office board rooms are concerned.

Increased Technologies
The increased technologies that are coming in this time and season will be both interesting and frightening. Even to technologies to develop weather pattern changes.

Beyond And Into 2012
I felt that it is imperative that we each purpose even more to begin to fulfil their callings and purpose between now and 2012, for the enemy will be fighting hard to even bring atomic disaster. Interesting developments towards 2012. Very important to begin now to bring in the harvest.

Pray For The Media
Pray for the news media. They need wisdom and direction as some of what is about to come takes place. And most importantly, more of them need Jesus, for some of them won't be able to handle some of what they are about to see without Him. But additionally, many of them are in place, "For such a time as this," to record HIS-story as Biblical Prophecy unfolds before our very eyes.

Prayer
Lord, we come before you and pray for your love to surround, protect and guide us in these times. We repent and turn from our ways and re-commit ourselves afresh to you and YOUR ways, Lord. We know that the Inner Court is the only safe place to be in these times, and ask that you show us the way in and help us learn how to stay there, beneath the shelter of your arms. We call in our loved ones and call forth for each of us to walk in the purposes for which you created us and paid for it with the shed blood of Jesus on the cross. Let us walk worthy of our callings in you and not be distracted so that we may be used to bring in the harvest. We also cry out for healing miracles this year, Lord. Our lives and times are truly in Your Hands. In Jesus' name, Amen.

- Joni Ames

E-Mail: JoniAmes@aol.com
Website: http://www.joniames.org
Newsletter site: http://joniames.injesus.com

The New Leadership

Rick Joyner

www.eaglestar.org

As we studied last week, the Jordan River, which represents death, will be overflowing its banks "all the days of harvest" (John 3:15). At the same time, God's people will be crossing over this death on dry land on the way to possessing their Promised Land. It is fundamental to God's wisdom that we love life, the most precious gift of all, and that we are devoted to saving and preserving it in every way that we can. However, at the same time we must learn how to deal with death all around us while keeping focused on our purpose and pursuing it.

We also briefly discussed how there was a change of leadership coming. This is much bigger than the change that takes place from one generation to the next. It is a far more basic change than that. As a prophet, except for the Lord Jesus Himself, Moses was without peer in giving the oracles of God to His people. He was likewise without peer as a teacher, helping God's people to understand the ways of the Lord like no one did until the Lord Himself came. In these things Joshua could not compare to Moses, but Joshua had a different purpose. His purpose was to help Israel possess its inheritance.

Likewise, the church has been blessed with some remarkable leaders throughout the church age. They have helped God's people understand how to enter into salvation, departing from Egypt. They have also helped the people understand how to walk in God's ways, and they have helped them to get across this great, nearly two thousand year wilderness. However, there is a new leadership about to arise that is not here to lay those foundations again, but they are here to lead God's people into their inheritance. The church must have a fundamentally different kind of leader to take it into the Promised Land. Just as Joshua was a military leader from the time he was first mentioned, the coming leadership of the church will not be administrators, but generals.

However, these will be different kinds of generals from what the world knows. Instead of taking lives for their conquest, they will give life. Instead of wounding, they will heal. Nevertheless, they will be intent on conquering, possessing lands, and people for the sake of the gospel. They will know how to use the divinely powerful weapons for the destruction of enemy strongholds. But instead of enslaving the people they "conquer;" they will be setting them free. Nevertheless, they will be spiritual warriors, and they will live to fight. They will know how to mobilize God's people into armies that are intent on a purpose. As these arise, the advancing church will take on a much more military feel to it. The church will become far more militant and aggressive, but for the sake of life, love, and healing.

We must understand this change is from the Lord. We cannot continue to wander in the wilderness. Any church that continues to wander will not last long in these times. We must move forward, with strategy and vision, but above all we must move forward. We cannot continue to just sit in our churches and sing songs and talk about the great things the Lord has done or is doing for us. We must go out and engage the darkness that is destroying this world. We have been given the power of God, the power of the truth, to defeat the darkness, saving multitudes from the destruction that is coming, and we must use this power.

There are different kinds of leaders who tend to excel in different situations. For example, a coach may be a great recruiter, great at motivating and training players, but not as good at drawing up a game plan, or coaching in the game itself. The greatest coaches will recognize their own strengths and weaknesses, and hire assistants that are strong where they may be weak, and they will delegate this responsibility.

Likewise there are military leaders who may be the best at training their troops, but are not as adept at strategy, or dealing with the fluid and usually confusing situations of battle. The same is true of business leaders. One may be good at discerning the market, attracting good people to their business, and developing the product, but weak in the actual marketing of the product. Therefore, almost every truly successful leader will excel the most important quality of the great leaders—building other leaders into teams.

This is why the Lord made His leadership for His church a team. The greatest leaders of all were not those who said great things, or even did great things, as much as they built great teams that helped turn the message into a tangible reality.

As we read in Ephesians chapter four, it takes apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors, and teachers to equip the people to do the work of the ministry. None of these alone can do the job, and actually no four of these will do it right. This is becoming an increasing realization across the spectrum of the church, and it is time for it. It is now seems to be taught and written about continually, but there still may not be a single place on earth where it has yet been truly implemented. However, it will not be long before it becomes a reality that is so powerful that every church on earth will be devoted to it.

Even so, just knowing the doctrine of good leadership will not necessarily make one a good leader. All true spiritual leadership comes from one thing—abiding in the One who is the Leader—the King of kings. It is not just a cliché, but a profound truth, that the greatest spiritual leaders are the greatest spiritual followers of Jesus.

The body that the Lord is building will ultimately be more perfectly formed and effective than any other body or organization on the earth. This is because He Himself is the Captain of the host who will do this. He will do it through His ministries that He has Himself called and trained.

We are coming to the time when we will see authentic apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors, and teachers, like they have not really been seen since the first century. Then they will go to even new heights of effectiveness. This is not necessarily because they are greater leaders than the first century apostles, but because this is not the church coming out of Egypt, but the one coming out of the wilderness ready to conquer its inheritance. Therefore, our purpose should not be focused on trying to build another first century church, but preparing the twenty-first century church for her purpose. These things will become more clear as we begin this final phase of the church age.

Above All Get Understanding
Rick Joyner

What I am trying to accomplish through this Word study of the biblical prophecies of the end times is to not just understand what is going to happen, but also why. Then we will apply this knowledge to our daily lives so we can be free of the evil that will cause the wrath of God to come, as well as liberators of others. So, our goal is to always go beyond just understanding what is happening, and to be a part of God's solution to man's ultimate problems, which is one of the reasons for the church's existence -- to be the salt and light of the world. Therefore, an important Scripture for us in these times is Proverbs 2:1-12:

"My son, if you will receive my sayings, and treasure my commandments within you, make your ear attentive to wisdom, incline your heart to understanding; for if you cry for discernment, lift your voice for understanding; if you seek her as silver, and search for her as for hidden treasures; then you will discern the fear of the Lord, and discover the knowledge of God.

"For the Lord gives wisdom; from His mouth come knowledge and understanding. He stores up sound wisdom for the upright; He is a shield to those who walk in integrity, guarding the paths of justice, and He preserves the way of His godly ones.

"Then you will discern righteousness and justice, and equity and every good course. For wisdom will enter your heart, and knowledge will be pleasant to your soul; discretion will guard you, understanding will watch over you, to deliver you from the way of evil, from the man who speaks perverse things."

Solomon referred to the man of sin as the "man who speaks perverse things," or the antichrist. My point here is that many believe they will be delivered just because they faithfully go to church or because they try to live right. But if we do not have a hunger for understanding, we are likely to fall into the traps that are coming. As the Lord Himself warned in Revelation 3, lukewarmness is the worst condition that we could fall into. Lukewarmness is an ultimate delusion. How can anyone have met the living God, the consuming Fire, and not be on fire for Him? It would only be if we have allowed the cares and worries of this world to choke out the seed of life in us.

What Value Could Possibly Be Put on a Single Insight into His Ways?

Those who have His fire burning in their hearts are passionate to get to know Him. They are the ones who, as we read in Proverbs 2, search for His wisdom, knowledge, and understanding as if it were the greatest treasure on earth -- because it is! What value could possibly be put on a single Word from God, or a single insight into His ways? Those who have this true wisdom, to give themselves to that which is truly valuable in this life, are the ones who will be preserved and delivered from the one who speaks perverse things. Their wisdom, knowledge, and understanding will guide them, and keep them from the perverse one, and the perverse things which are happening in the world.

Of course the Lord could come and deliver us from all of our problems, but He has never done that for His people, and there is no biblical evidence that He is going to do that at the end. I believe in what is now referred to as "the rapture," but there is not a single place in Scripture that states when this is going to come in relation to "the tribulation," or "the great time of trouble." It has always been the way of the Lord to use troubles to perfect His people, and the most perfect church of all will be the one perfected during the greatest time of troubles.

Those who have frivolously wasted their time instead of spending it getting to know the Lord are going to be in an increasingly difficult place. The lukewarm will be deceived. These are the ones who did not make their "calling and election sure" (II Peter 1:10). We are told that these are the ones who will fall away at the end.

"Building Your House on the Rock"

Those who have "built their house on the Rock" (see Matthew 7:25) do not fear the storms that are coming. They are not concerned about going through the great tribulation, because, whether they do or not, they know their lives have been built on a kingdom that cannot be shaken and will stand any shaking that is coming in the world. This is the confidence that every Christian should have in their life. The other is nothing but a spiritual cop-out which has compelled many to live lives of irresponsibility that will no doubt cost them dearly in the times to come.

Keeping our first love, the fire and passion that we had in the beginning, is crucial for every Christian. As the church at Ephesus was warned by the Lord, if they did not return to their first love their candlestick would be removed from its place, indicating that they would no longer be considered a church. Those who do not keep their passion for the Lord will be the ones who fall away from the faith. There is nothing more important for us than keeping the love for Him that we had at first.

Therefore, this study to understand what is coming upon the world in these times is even more devoted to provoking the devotion to the Lord and knowing His ways that will keep us, whether we understand everything perfectly or not. Above all things, let us pursue the Lord and the knowledge of His ways. Let us pursue it above any profession or other success. The greatest of all human successes will be to hear on that great day of the Lord, "Well done good and faithful servant..." (Matthew 25:21) The greatest success we could ever know in this life is to live a life of obedience and devotion to the Lord. Those who have this wisdom will be kept from the evil one, as the text in Proverbs declares.

www.MorningStarMinistries.org

The Natives Rise Again

Ray Levesque

http://www.newgatherings.com
ray@newgatherings.com

Welcome to native North America! The lower 48 states have 545 recognized tribal organizations, Canada has 750 bands, and Alaska has over 400 native corporations and villages.
But don't go to church to find us. We're not there. Anecdotal statistics shows native church attendance in the 2 to 4% range, while the United States averages 40% churchgoers, and Canada, 25% of the population.
Don't get the idea that we hate God though. That would be far from the truth. We love God and need him more than ever, but the church, for the most part has been the stumbling block to the Gospel for almost 500 years.
But we are emerging – we are beginning to stand up on our own and be counted.
We are emerging –

As leaders from among our own culture rather than depending on non-native pastors,

As culturally relevant innovators, bringing Good News to our communities in ways the people can relate to,

As theologians, able to chart a course between Scripture, church tradition, native tradition, reason, mystery, and experience and colliding worldviews,

As respectful interpreters, bridging pre-moderns, moderns and post-moderns; embracing church and native cultures; teaching the true history to the church and the True Gospel to our native communities,

As sacramental artists, recovering our sacred celebrations through dance, ceremony, music, and instruments of worship, including the drum, flutes, rattles, clapper sticks and more,

As spiritual people, being recognized among the community as powerful in prayer, strong in love, generous to the needy, and walking in recovery.
We are still unsure of ourselves in a few areas. Emerging is a challenging act of engagement, whether as a newborn from the womb, a butterfly from a cocoon, or an inmate from a prison. We maintain our identities, true, but a seemingly alien environment surrounds us.
We just don't fit in. We are misunderstood! Yet we move ahead.

The church expects us to attend their Sunday morning services. Many of us, however, journey together in our own uniquely gifted sacred gatherings. The church is disappointed -- feeling rejected instead of recognizing a cross-cultural opportunity. We invite them to spend time with us, because relationships release understanding.

Some natives call us "sell-outs" and "traitors", because we make common cause with the church. Some churches call us pagans, "dogs who have returned to their vomit", because we make common cause with the natives. We invite them to watch us, then to study and pray and listen and learn – with us.

Some natives call us "syncretists", because we dare to follow Jesus without rejecting our native identity. Some churches call us "syncretists" because we dare to follow Jesus without rejecting our native identity. We invite people to explore the gift of cross-cultural service, and if they dare -- to walk with us. We have rental moccasins available.

Denominations expect natives to fit within denominational guidelines, which of course contribute to our rejection of churches. However, jilted denominations cast aspersions on our methods and beliefs.

After all, among the organized church, if natives reject the denominational structure, does it really indicate rebellion at best or heterodoxy at worst? We invite church leaders to learn our secret – there are no God-franchises. There is only one Creator and if our hearts are willing, we can follow Him together. Come, walk with us.

Borrowing Hope – Looking for Love in all the White Places

Of course we enjoy our own company. Gathering with friends, in places we know, with food and humor we bring – these things comfort us. But we also look to non-natives to teach us. Some of the surprises we like include:

Post-Moderns – people who love God but can't follow Him through the modern church culture. We have much in common with this searching crowd, not content to rely on well-managed churches to provide us with sanitized meaning. We actually WANT to do the hard work of living out our spirituality in community, rather than anonymity.

Home–Church Communities – those creative enough to risk community and live transparently. As natives, we are somewhat relieved to find that we are not the ONLY ones who feel uncomfortable in the church setting, but we see the house church people providing personal relationships and lifestyles worth modeling. This gives us the courage to gather on our own, without waiting for a building, a pastor, or a budget.

Celtic Christianity – St. Patrick's mission to the Celts gives us over 600 years of examples of ministry and community we can learn from. As Celtic communities and churches re-emerge today, we experience with them the many parallels between the Celtic Christian values and native spiritual values.

Blended Celebrations – for almost 10 years now, native and non-natives have been creating native-inspired gatherings for the public. In the United States the "Many Nations – One Voice" celebrations have been well received. They are hosted by a church, but celebrate in native ways and forms, including protocols of respect, music, dancing, and regalia. More recently in Canada, we see a similar approach with the "Gathering of All Nations" in Ottawa, and care is taken to have presenters for several countries and cultures, not native alone.

Tension Headaches We Wish Would Go Away

1. We fear the church's control. The church fears our freedom. As we demonstrate leadership, we will slowly merit the blessing of the majority church. Their blessing, or lack thereof, does not determine our capacity to bring the Good News to our own people. Approval is a "nice-to-have", but not a requirement for obedience to the Great Commission. To walk independently from the majority church could be perceived as arrogance on the part of natives. But then again, appearances can be deceiving.

2. The church's educational models are irrelevant to us. And we are still uneducated. As a whole, we are theologically unsophisticated, but then again, few highly educated pastors have made even a dent in native communities. Many of us in ministry today began with education and ministry in the white church, but as we raise up the next generation of leaders, we see that Bible college and seminary do not meet the spiritual needs of native communities. We are now, however, training ourselves. We have small schools, ministry institutes, online training, and an emerging bibliography of native-authored books and articles.

3. Some Indian churches are still at war with Indian culture. "Culture" is the enemy of the Gospel, at least for the first 500 years of missionaries. Our own native relations became the protégé pastors. Early on, native Christian leaders were led and trained and appointed to believe that Indian culture was not compatible with Christianity. And today, we reap the legacy of scores of native churches – but they are indistinguishable from any other church, and they pride themselves on being devoid of any evidence of native culture in worship, polity, theological values or ministry preparation. But this older generation will also pass away, along with the outdated racist notion that cultural assimilation is the key to native evangelism.

4. Indian leaders struggle financially. On reservations and reserves, it is even worse. We are self-supporting, bi-vocational or marginally employed. Around larger cities, we can generally find jobs that allow us to do another 30 hours of "full-time" ministry. On reservations and reserves, however, unemployment ranges from 35% to 85% - Unemployment. No wonder few pastors serve on the reservations. Few denominations are interested in a community that is unable to support a "SAP" (standard American pastor). Some denominations are so intent on stable cash flow streams, they actually target "casino-enhanced" reservations. But we have learned to spread the work around so that we don't get to burned out and bitter, and we hope that the majority church will recognize the natives who have been left behind. The majority church has the resources to help us, but we don't expect it, but we are sure appreciative when we do get support.

How Can the 'Big' Church Help Us?

1. Invite us to your ministerial fellowships and ask us to explain our unique work and setting.

2. Convene native Christian leaders to meet with Bible College and Seminary professors to influence the curriculum to incorporate an understanding of native spiritual issues and effective cross-cultural service.

3. Initiate peer-to-peer relationships between your church and a local tribe or band. While the church exists primarily for the benefit of the non-members, it has yet to demonstrate this to most of native North America.

4. Learn about us from books and videos available from www.wiconi.com. Learn about us by joining online native ministry discussion groups. Learn by taking local workshops on native topics or study online at the First Nations Center.

5. Think economic development. Much of the native struggle is due to the lack of a functioning economy, especially on reservations and reserves. Meet with the tribal council and other leaders to become aware of opportunities to create business, services, self-sufficiency and income to meet even basic needs.

6. Eat with us. Join us at powwows, giveaways, memorials, dedications, canoe races, hunting parties and root feasts. Relationships formed around food often lead to permanent friendships.

7. Ask us what we need. We may surprise you. We already know the chances of getting our land back are pretty slim. But there are still ways to contribute to our restoration – just ask. It is much more respectful to do things with us instead of doing things for us.

8. Love us for who we are, as Jesus did when he laid his life down for the church. We are not just Indians, we are humans, fellow citizens, and blood-bought followers of Christ. We love you too – but is it safe to come out yet?

Take No Thought For Tomorrow

Susan Cummings

Take no thought for tomorrow. Take not your eyes from My face, but remain close to Me. I, alone, know what tomorrow will bring, so trust Me to bring you through it's course. It is vital that you remain close and listening to My Voice. So many of Mine, are running to and fro, with every news alert and fresh spin, to get their daily information. Why do they not inquire of Me, and ask Me what is needed for today?

There truly is a famine of the Word in the land, and so few come to Me to find the answers they need. So many no longer seek Me out or read My Word anymore. They no longer accept it as Truth, or as My Voice and My Plan for them, and only leave it on their shelves to decay while they run after men. So much is now brought to nothing, as they drink from clouded waters and broken cisterns that contain no life, but only carnal wisdom. Such is the folly of men.

Many cry out to Me, that they cannot hear My Voice, or discern that I am with them. If they came to Me, and spent time with Me, they would surely know Me. I never turn away from Mine who seek Me. Men turn to worshipping themselves and their works rather than acknowledging Me as their Creator and God. So, many perish from a lack of knowledge, and never fully enter in to a relationship with Me, and never become changed into My Image. So, they are like their father, the devil, whom they choose, when they reject Me, and go their own ways.

Take no thought for tomorrow.
It will surely come.
It will surely disclose all things.
It will surely reveal all that I have told you in My Word, and by My Holy Spirit.

All that I have shown you, and said to you, and prepared you for, will come. So many scoff, and say, where are the prophesied signs? Where are the disasters? Where are the upheavals and the trials? I say to them, where is your fear of Me?

I hear their hearts, and they have already determined their fates, by rejecting Me, my Love, My Longsuffering, and My Grace. I have said that the Day of the Lord would be a time of great distress and darkness and not to be desired. For the suffering will be great and the loss of life will be great, and multitudes will go to hell.

Men scoff and look for this all to happen and get mad when these things don't occur, and don't realize it is My Grace that holds back for my Children to come to Me, and they are without regard for their brethren, or their own souls, and never care for anything but their egos.

Where is the fear of Me in My House? It will now be manifested, for I am tired of selfish men dictating to Me how I will do things in the days to come, and when I will return, and how I will bring forth My Word. I will repay.

I will repay every scoffer, mocker, and devourer of My Word, My Name, and My People.

I hold every tomorrow in My Hands.

I will bring them forth as I have shown you in My Word. I will repay, and I will do so without further delay. I will bring justice amongst My People, and defend My Own. I will bring forth My Truth and My Justice, and bring all who oppose Me, down.

I desire Truth.
I desire Mercy.
I desire Justice.
I desire Holiness.

There is very little being shown in the earth. Men run after their gods.

Mine have run into Me, and will be rewarded for their desire to be as Me. For I am repaying all men for their deeds and tomorrow will show the results.

Today has passed and tomorrow now dawns, and men will account for their words and deeds, and bear the fruit of them swiftly.

-Susan Cummings
8:37 pm
11-23-04

http://groups.msn.com/cummingsfamilyadventures
http://topica.com/lists/JustHisWords
http://www.xsorbit3.com/users/remnantaflame/

The New Temple of Babylon

Nita Johnson

An Expose' on the Catholic Church And The End-Time Kingdom

Date: 7- 28- 2004

What I am about to share will be the first of perhaps a series of articles. Much more insight will be released on this subject in the coming days as it pertains to the welfare of Christ's Church. Admittedly then, I am not yet speaking out of the fullness of revelation, but simply seeking to lay a foundation for further and more precise revelations that will follow.

Well over a year ago I saw myself in a vision writing this very article. I saw in that vision that the revelation was not yet complete and that I must keep seeking the Lord for the full revelation of this message. Normally I would not seek to present a message that was not to my understanding, fully revealed, but in the vision, I gave the first part and waited for the rest of the insight in order that I might write line upon line until all might be declared for the sake of the Church's edification and protection.

Nita L Johnson

Angelic Visitation

A few years ago on November 8th, 1999, I was scheduled to do a long distance radio broadcast with two Pastors in Portland, Oregon. We were just getting everything ready to go when suddenly the Angel of the Lord came into my room in Fresno, CA. His presence was so overwhelming, that as far away in Portland the interviewer and Pastor who was sitting with him in the studio were also brought into the supernatural. I heard a sort of moan at the other end of the phone then everything went dead. I was looking at my new visitor and for a moment had not realized what had transpired on the phone. When I came to myself and knew that the line had gone dead, I hung up. Apparently, as I later learned, what had happened was that suddenly the studio wherein they were doing the taping of the show was filled with the Holiness of God to such a degree that even the phone went dead. For a moment everything in the sound room went dead. All I heard on my end was a moan that indicated they too were experiencing something as a result of this visitation. It was obvious that the Lord was attempting to get our attention.

A few moments later the phone rang. The Angel told me that it was the two Pastors from Portland and to pick up the phone, he was sent to speak to us. That interview which was aired all across the Portland area was done with the Angel as our instructor.

This is what he came to tell us; The Apocalyptic Horses represent the different aspects of the antichrist. History has already felt the scourge of his appearance and known the deafening effect of his influence and wept over the carnage of human lives that fell in his wake. But he is coming again. Each one of the horses has already been and will come again as the antichrist makes full revelation of himself in the earth.

The Bible says:

The Beast that you saw (once) was, but (now) is no more, And he is going to come out of the Abyss (the bottomless pit) And proceed to go to perdition. Revelation 17:8A

It is of this Beast that I am writing.

Revelation 6

Each horse is a face of the Antichrist who was and is to come, as seen in the Pope who is soon to arise.

Revelation 6:2 The White Horse goes forth conquering and to conquer. Incidentally, a huge statue of this figure sits on the lawn of the United Nations. Isn't that interesting? I have often wondered if by this incredible act of commissioning such a work for the UN, the poor world is in some absurd way prophesying to itself. This figure however, depicts the coming Pope as the geopolitical-religious leader, conquering as a man of peace. This soon coming Pope of the Catholic Church will enter visible center stage in the Geopolitical circles. His first attempt for world dominion will be through efforts of peace. I will expound on this again later in this expose'.

Revelation 6:3, 4 The Red Horse represents the Antichrist as seen in the Pope and his religious entity, the Catholic Church as a man of blood. The Civil/Ecclesiastical Powers found in the Pope of tomorrow will carry out much blood-shed against the true Church as he begins to reveal his true purposes for his multifaceted kingdom. Christians and Jews who withstand him will do it to their own temporal demise. There were over 68 million martyrs in the early life of the Catholic Church. Through this man's dominion, the world will see the same avalanche of criminality against the righteous once again.

Revelation 6:5, 6 The Black Horse is indicative of the time of famine in the earth. This famine however, is the famine of the Word of God, bringing about the worst dark ages ever known to man. The Pope's devilish purpose will be to spoil prayer (the Priestly privilege of every believer) by demanding penance and exercising his demands for absolute allegiance by worshipping the image of his own choice. He will attack the authority and privilege of identification with the Word of God by making it illegal to own a Bible. This is seen in the image of his selling the wheat (privilege of prayer) and the barley (the Word) for a meager sum. The only Bible that will be available in that day will be his perverted version of the true Word of God. He will not be allowed to touch the oil and the wine, which are the life of the Spirit and the stimulation of revelation, however. The divine protection of these two facets of God's goodness will be the only light among men.

Revelation 6:8 the Pale Horse reflects the antichrist of the very last days. In this horse we will see the Pope in his ultimate rampage against humanity. Death by sword, hunger, plagues, and beasts will follow him.

Today we might be tempted to look at the Catholic Church and its cardinal head, the Pope, as rather benign in character. It is not! We will soon see the four horses of the Apocalypse rise one after another until all that has been prophesied comes to fruition. This and much more was revealed to me by the Angel who visited me that day.

I want to mention here, that it is not my understanding from the Lord that this current Pope will be the end-time tyrant. I sense there will be one more amiable Pope who will be very agreeable to the great revival that will sweep through the Church. It will be the last Pope, the one perhaps following this second Pope that will be the downfall of humanity.

Recent trip to India

In December of 2003 I met with Sadhu Sundar and Vincent Selvakumar in India for a time of hearing the voice of the Lord together. Both of these godly men are prophets of the highest order in our day and time. I sensed that we were going to receive some important information from heaven during our brief time together. So, I had begun to prepare myself for this visit ahead of time.

We were not disappointed in our expectations. The first night I was in Chennai I was given a vision showing me that we would receive critical links of wisdom and understanding about the near future. The links I saw were many; therefore I knew we would not hear it all over the weekend but that we would receive the first of many that would follow after our mutual departure. Also, I saw the links dance around in the sky then dip in a pool of water which represented the Spirit of revelation. So my ears were perked to hear what I might hear for the rest of the weekend.

Spiritual Babylon:

While Sundar and I were in conversation about something of import regarding international issues, Vincent received a visit from an Angel. In this visit he was shown the following:

He was told: The now "Broken City of Spiritual Babylon" will soon be raised up. The government of this repaired house will be as follows:

Under the head will be 3 groups each containing 13 members.

The first group will be the most powerful group under the head. It will consist of 13 cultic world leaders such the Dalai Lama.

The second group will also containing 13 leaders will consist of mature seer-prophets from the stage of Christianity.

The third group will be made up of Priestly order workers, again coming from the sector of Christianity.

Under these three governing groups will be 169 leaders of lesser degree. These will carry out the instruction of the head.

Leaders who are ordained to be part of the top echelon of the new true Church government will by in large be approached by the Satanic Kingdom in hopes of gaining their allegiance with the New Babylonian Empire until their pre-determined government is in its place.

He was further shown something about the warfare that would be sent out against Christian leaders.

The Angel told him that Satan had his top witches praying against Christian Leaders world-wide. Where did Satan go to find these witches? To Africa! One of Nigeria's past leaders, a ruthless dictator sent word out across the globe inviting the highest people in the occult to bring their sorceries to Nigeria and to teach them to specified people who worked with him. Prior to this Nigeria had witches, but not the caliber of today. Nigeria now has the top witches of the world working within its shores.

Satan has three categories of witches working against global ministers.

The first is made up of 13 men, the second consist of 13 women, and the third is comprised of 13 transvestites.

Twice in the previous few months prior to my visit to India I had seen these three groups of witches in a series of visions. So, I knew immediately not only what he was talking about but who he was talking about. I had seen them in very clear visions. This work will continue against Christian Leaders until the end. During the initial stages of coming revival the work of the satanic kingdom will seem comparatively diminutive, but will nevertheless continue.

Several years ago the Lord spoke to me in a vision. I saw a huge one-story structure which had been constructed under the earth. In time a steam shovel came by and began to dig until it revealed this structure. In the next moment the building came bursting forth to the surface. It was filled with every kind of evil work and was ready to take the next step toward world dominion. I was told it was the Catholic Church.

In 1999 I was ministering in Portland. While spiritually preparing myself for the time of ministry I was given a vision. I saw a city that was seemingly perfect in every way. It reminded me of the old movie the Land of OZ. The clouds were perfectly hung. There was a beautiful rainbow arched in the sky.

Peace seemed to rule the city. Suddenly I saw an Obelisk come jetting up out of the ground and through the rainbow. As I beheld the new structure I became frightened as the presence of evil was so great. I asked the Lord what the vision meant. He said; This is man's purposes setting itself against the purposes of God. I knew in an instant it was the Kingdom of the antichrist.

Many years ago I was taken into a trance and saw a huge house built that was most magnificent and unusual. When the owner would be away, the house would close up and become a wall, when the owner would return the house would automatically be restored to a home. In time many leaders from all over the world came to look at the house and would stand in awe of its seeming beauty and architectural excellence. I looked carefully, watching leaders come and go. Soon I began to recognize Christian Leaders. Most of those who spent any time at all eyeing this innovative structure would end up buying into it, including Christians. I was aghast, but I didn't know what to do.

The Lord spoke to me telling me what I was seeing was Satan's "Sure House". At least Satan thinks this is a sure house. It is "The New Spiritual House Of Babylon."

All three visions carry the same meaning. They are all a picture of the New House of Babylon, which will be the New Catholic Church that is about to emerge from obscurity.

The Time of the End According to Zechariah

We find bits and pieces here and there in the Word about this formidable House of Deception. First, in Zechariah we see a sort of road map for its appearing. When I was visited by the Angel of the Lord in 1990, he told me to become familiar with this book as it depicts what is about to occur. In that visit, I saw him speak forth many things that are written therein. As a result many of the things I will mention are already en-route to the maturity of their time.

In chapter one we see that God is saying that He is jealous over Jerusalem, and He is very angry with the Nations who forwarded the afflictions of His people. Therefore He will rebuild His house in her midst with loving-kindness toward His people. He voices, His intentions to the prophet promising to restore prosperity to Israel, and judgment to the Nations that wounded His Nation.

Chapter two inclines our understanding to the fact that the Lord will once again call His people from the north and give them a home in the Land, which He is doing today. As the Nations are being emptied of Jewish people, we see a strong warning by this prophet. The day is coming when the Lord will soon judge these Nations now remiss of those who were a sort of protection against His eminent wrath. It is true the Lord withholds His justice because of His Church and His mercy toward the ignorant and the erring, but another important factor is the fact that Jewish people also dwell in these lands that are ripe for judgment, and God withholds His long overdue judgment for their sake as well.

Chapter three reveals the soon coming cleansing of the Priesthood of the Church and the Jewish Nation. He will stretch His arm out over the Priests of Israel to reveal Himself to as many as are willing to be cleansed before the great and terrible day of the Lord. He will also be coming as a Refiners Fire to the Church. My heart breaks for those who refuse to be touched by this mercy, as they will be the very ones who will be open targets to join ranks with the New House of Babylon.

Chapter four reveals that the ministries of Elijah and Moses will once again burn in the Church in full efficacy to establish the foundational government of the New House of Government and the foundation to the Temple of God. So, great will be this hour in the Church we may perhaps say there has never been its equal.

Chapter five unveils ?The Curse. This curse was released in 1990 through the Angel that visited me. It is being sent out over the whole earth, first touching the house of God, cutting off the hypocrites. Then it will continue its work through the unsaved. This work will continue to the time of the end.

Next we see in this same chapter, the House of Babylon. Verse five begins to relate the process of the building of this house. First, in this process we see the women with the wings of a stork carry an epha size container transporting the spirit of lawlessness and the spirit of harlotry to the Nation of Babylon. This has already transpired. We see the effect of this upon modern Iraq. But, we will soon see it in a new way within the New Spiritual House of Babylon, which in turn will become the New Catholic Church.

Chapter six the Lord will work a work of repentance and judgments among Nations that will for a time, quiet His Spirit of wrath. Then we see the Branch coming forth as Melchizedek to build the true Temple of God, distinguishing this Temple incidentally from the many Babylonian religions to be integrated into the New House of Babylon, the New Catholic Church.

Zechariah reveals more hidden mysteries about this incredible hour in which we are now living, but we will end our brief overview on it here. What we have shared gives us a little understanding of the things that will surround the workings of iniquity in our times.

The Beast

Many years ago I traveled to the Hawaiian Islands to minister. Little did I know that this trip would be met with an astonishing event. It occurred on the little Island of Lanai. I was suddenly thrust into travail while in the home of the pastor of the Church in which I was going to be ministering. While in travail I was taken out of my body and lifted into the heavens where I came face to face with a huge beast. I had met him one other time in the past so I recognized him immediately. He was the reigning Monarch over the global Catholic Church. I saw written on his chest the words: ?The Beast! Over his head the words were arched, ?Spirit of Compromise. He was looking over a cloud virtually directing the souls of millions holding little idols in their hands, straight to a huge hole which was the mouth of hell. He was enjoying himself.

When I realized what he was doing I was horrified. I immediately screamed out his name, and commanded him to release his captives. When I did this, he realized for the first time that I was there to intrude upon his workings. Up until then he was not even aware of my presence. When he looked up at me and realized I was serious, he became enraged, and then standing upright like a bear, he roared. That was when I realized how big this beast was. I was desperate to save the souls from his wicked treachery, so it somehow didn’t matter that he seemed as big as the world itself at the time, I had to stop him. So, I screamed again demanding him to release his captives. That began about a 45 minute battle in the spirit, the end of which resulted in a victory for the Lord. I came out of the room in which I had been wrestling and shared it all with the Pastor, who was by that time extremely concerned, letting them know that I would share it at the service that night. I had no idea that I would be speaking to a Church entirely made up of X-Catholics who refused to give up their idols.

When I shared my earlier experience at the end of my message, I found myself looking at a Church full of stunned faces. I then realized that I was talking to Catholics. I told them to go and get their idols and bring them to be burned. Everyone exited the Church, went home got their idols and retuned with them to be destroyed. The Pastor was delighted! This victory had been gained by my openly confronting ?The Beast!

As I previously mentioned, one of his names was ?The Beast! Before you ask; do I associate him with the Beast of Revelation fame? I will say quite frankly, he is one in the same. I meet him face to face each time I go to Italy. Sometimes he will show himself more than once. He is just letting me know that he knows I am in town. He has tried to hurt me twice. Once by nearly downing my plane, the second time by physically trying to stop my heart from beating. Since I could see his face both times I knew what he was doing and took authority over him. He was forced to stop.

Please remember what I have just shared with you, as it will be very important by the end of this expose.

The second member of this satanic trilogy is Ashteroth. Vincent, Sundar and I all have seen her. When I saw her in the skies of Rome she was traveling slowly across the sky dressed like the statues of mother Mary. Out of her mouth were coming great blasphemies against the living God. Promises leading to peril were being uttered across the heavens as she was constantly telling the people that she would protect and defend them if they continue to worship her. The spirit behind the worship of Mary is Ashteroth. The Beast is the operative spirit behind the worship of the Pope as the Vicar. She and the Beast reside in Rome. There is another Spirit that travels with them. I do not yet know its demonic name. But, this evil ruler works with the other two and I suspect give voice to the false prophet.

Why am I telling you this? First, to let you know there is a trilogy of evil reigning Monarchs that reside over the Catholic Church today and whose names are inscripted in the sacred Scriptures for our warning. Secondly, because when Ashteroth approached Vincent and Sundar, she let it be known that she was recruiting the government for the New Spiritual Babylon about to be revealed. These three evil Monarchs will work together with the government of The New Spiritual Babylon, better known as the Catholic Church until the time of the end.

Revelation

The book of Revelation offers many details about this great deception that is about to be unearthed upon humanity in cooperation with the Beast, Ashteroth the Mother of Harlots, and the spirit of the False Prophet. Incidentally, Ashteroth is a figure that has shown up many times in ancient history in the Mediterranean as an object of worship. But, I think I can safely say that she found her greatest triumph early on in Old Babylon. Her name was actually inscribed on the entrance to the great Temple built by Nebuchadnezzar as a significant god. Later, she traveled to Rome to establish her new dynasty of human souls under the auspices of what would become known as the Catholic Church, and the Great Beast was a calculated move which gave her a great harvest of souls internationally. However, no move will have proven to be as great as the move she and her two colleagues have made to implement the worlds greatest deception, the global worship of ?The Beast under the umbrella of the New Catholic Church or as it is known in the underworld the -- New Mystery Babylon. What ever you may call it -- in the end it will be the temple of the New One World Religion now under construction.

Before we cover some contemporary items I want to give you a further picture as revealed in the Word. Please keep in mind that this is a brief expose on this subject, so I will not be covering it in an in-depth way as I would in a book.

Revelation 12

Revelation chapter 12 verse 5 reveals a Man-child company of overcomers, as is seen by the translation to the throne of God in heaven. This company will do great harm to the Kingdom of The Beast.

Verse 10 unveils the Melchizedek Company who having received the power of the Kingdom will do greater damage yet to the Kingdom of ?The Beast and who will bring the True Church to freedom and maturity.

Verse 13 exposes the persecution of the Bride by ?The Beast. Verse 14, the Church goes underground. And in verse 17, we see the persecution of the, by now, remaining purified Church.

Revelation Chapter 13

This chapter shows us the picture in a little different way. It exhibits ?The Beast now in his full glory demanding worship of the global peoples over whom he has dominion. The next several verses reflect the suffering of the saints in the war with the Antichrist, False Prophet and the system of The Beast.

Chapter 14

Here we are given a moment of hope by showing us the 144,000 reigning ones, who spearhead the greatest awakening the Bride of Christ, in the Spirit of Reformation, ever knew. Then we see the scourging of the Kingdom of ?The Beast by the hand of God.

Chapter 17

The scene now opens with us looking upon the perverted glory of Ashteroth as the Mother of Harlots. Again, she is one of the trilogy of demonic heads of the New Catholic Church which we are seeing here in its full splendor. The Kings of the earth love the system of the New Babylonian Catholicism because she helps to make them rich. Verse 16 makes us wonder if at some point in the distance future the One World Religion will be hated by The Beast who heads it, ruling Ashteroth and the Spirit of the False Prophet behind the scenes. At that point he will destroy the whole system and opt for direct worship of himself.

Chapter 18

The Heavenly Curtains open and sends us into the heavenlies reminding us that the Lord of Goodness is going to destroy it all, Ashteroth, The Beast and the False Prophet. Everything that constituted the evil of the world take over will be brought down, by His own hand.

We can look many other places in the Word and find hidden and revealed dialogue of what is about to occur, but again, this is not meant to be a book. It is a brief expose of the future of the world under the tyranny of The New Catholic Church, known in the underworld as the City or Temple of Mystery Babylon, and is currently being called by the Church, the New One World Religion.

Now for a few contemporary facts.

More than 200 Leaders from dozens of the world’s religions camped together around the theme of World Peace on January 24th, 2002. This unprecedented camp-meet was held in Assisi, Italy. Convened and Chaired by Italy’s illustrious Pope, the meeting was attended by zealous leaders such as those from: the Eastern Orthodox Church, Jewish Rabbis, Muslims, Imams, Representatives from Christian Fundamentalist, as well as Mainline Churches such as the Baptist, Lutherans, Anglicans, Methodists, Presbyterians, Disciples of Christ, Mennonites, Quakers, Moravians, The Salvation Army, and of course the World Council of Churches. Also, the Pentecostals had their representation. From the occultic sector were seen: Gurus, Monks, Hindus, Buddhists, Sikhs, and Zoroastrians as well as Native Religions.

Remember what I shared earlier about the fact that the demonic kingdom is recruiting top religious leaders in the earth, both Christian and Occultic.

Another example: Mystery Babylon is a cumulative amalgamation of the pagan religions of the world with apostate Catholicism and Protestantism. If it is possible, one might say, the religious world is in worse shape than the political. Deception, compromise, false unity, and tolerance, are the basic motivations of the church. Denominations in the past have existed to sustain themselves and have directed almost their whole powers in self-centered pursuits. This is changing. Now, everything is centering on unity and ecumenicalism and all convictions and distinctions are giving way to total tolerance. It is amazing to watch as the Catholic Pope, the Dalai Lamas of the Buddhists, the New Ager's, and the Pentecostals / Charismatics, plus many other strange religious leaders, meet together to promote peace and world harmony. This is Mystery Babylon already uniting for her present and future role.

Earlier I asked you to please remember the things I mentioned about The Beast. This is why. First, although such meetings should compel deep concern in the heart of Christians, we must first understand that it is what is not seen that is far more serious. What is seen is the web being created by the spider hidden under a great cloak of deception.

Let me explain: one of the other names for The Beast is The Spirit of Compromise. We see in these meetings that are being attended by Christian Leaders The Spirit of Compromise in operation. Christians from every sect in the Church are only doing what they have given way to for nearly a hundred years. The World Council of Churches and The Charismatic Ecumenical Renewal are just two of numberless diverging streams of Christian Networks that are operating in conjunction with The Catholic Church. Many Bibles read by the Christian Church, have been translated and butchered by Catholic Priests and their Christian Colleagues. They are walking arm in arm with the enemy because a Spirit of Compromise has overtaken them. Major ministries are linking themselves with Catholicism in many forms. Then they present it to the unsuspecting Church and call it a good and righteous marriage. (Remember what the Bible says about NOT yoking ourselves with unbelievers.) Remember the magnificent house I told you about earlier. It was embraced by many Christian Leaders. It was the end-time Catholic Church, the New Mystery Babylon. Linking Catholicism with Christianity is to unite with the Spirit of Compromise which is none other than The Beast!

These lukewarm Christian Ministries have developed modern Christianity. It is in our face everywhere we turn. The Christian Networks have taught us a new spicy Hollywood Christianity. It is espoused in every Christian magazine I have ever seen. The Lord once gave me a brief rundown on Magazines He called Vanity Fair. At the top of the list was the ever-popular Charisma. We are told we can live for the world, keep up with the wealthy in hording material goods -- and that the Lord has no problem with this as long as we keep a good attitude and praise the Lord. We go to Church sing a few worship songs, listen to a good non-convicting message, give a small offering if it suites our purpose and go home feeling really blessed. If we are really fortunate we may go to a Church that is seeker friendly and never have to hear anything that would demand holy commitment. In this New Age Christian Church, we can also go to Church to learn how to wear make-up and to keep physically fit by learning aerobics on site. Further, we have fashion shows on site as well as our favorite Christian TV shows, so the Church can learn how to dress like the world. We can have parties at Church, send our teens on mission trips and let them top it off with a trip to Disneyland so they dont have to carry the burden for the needy home to their bedrooms and prayer closets. Who preaches against the lewd and unseemly TV programs most of the Church watches every day? Some Churches will bring Monday Night Football right into the Church so the men can watch it together, and together forget about the millions of perishing souls that are living right outside their doors. It is this milky spider’s web that is forming over the heads of would-be believers telling them peace and safety when we are about to have sudden destruction. This web of milky compromise blinds all who are enswathed with it from realizing that they are actually living in the claws of The Beast. Who put them there? Their compromising leaders.

The Angel of the Lord cried out in my hearing: Babylon is falling, come out of her my people. I heard him emphatically cry these words in the streets of Christianity. I saw his strong, handsome face aglow with the holiness of God, filled with compassion and care for the Church as he cried his uncompromising words to all who would hear. Jesus appeared to me last year while I was ministering in St. Louis and told me with tears in His wonderful eyes, these blind shepherds are leading the sheep to barren pastures that will be their graves in the days ahead. He told me to tell His people, come out of these Churches and find a Church that will teach them how to live the life of the Spirit of holiness.

Compromise began at the head. But, the Lord is going to bring the compromising head to judgment and lift up a headship that refuses to compromise. The true Bride will run from the profane and sink deep into the pure and holy when the Lord shows them where to go. Come out of Babylon My people, and be not contaminated with her sins. Touch no unclean thing! The Spirit of Pharaoh who incidentally works with the three ruling Monarchs at the top of the Catholic Church will release the pure and undefiled Bride. The Lord will not let him hurt her. He will plague the ungodly Kingdom that has been created over the Church to force this spirit to release His beloved one. But, those who insist on feasting at the table with those drunk with the wine of the world, will perish with the Harlot in her burning conflagration. This, the angel of the Lord spoke to John the Beloved and is recorded in the Book of Revelation, and the Angel spoke this to me in 1990.

The Priests of the Order of Melchizedek will arise in this hour in the Spirit of Reformation that has already been released and challenge the Catholic Church and its demonic head. It won’t be a man constituted challenge. It will be inspired, empowered and orchestrated by God Himself. Millions of Catholics will come out of her, as well as millions of Protestants who will recover from their poisonous deception of milky Christianity world-wide.

The first Reformation under Luther overturned The Established Church, and Worldly Governments. This current Reformation will do more than the first was capable of doing, to the glory of God and the security of the souls of multiplied millions.

Pray that the Lord will deliver all who will. Pray and watch that you be not deceived!

Yours in Christ,
Nita (LaFond) Johnson

Two Nations Under God War of the Worldviews

Dennis Peacocke

As we all know, the United States of America, according to our Pledge of Allegiance, is declared to be, "one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." As we also all know, our last two presidential elections have revealed just how divided we are as a body politic in terms of holding a unified worldview. Almost half of the voting public holds to a worldview which emerged with public conviction since the 1960's, and the other half holds to a more "traditional" view which reflects the Judeo-Christian values historically associated with what is called Western Civilization.

To simplify things, let us go to the heart of the "War of the Worldviews" issue, that is, do we live in a universe or multi-verse? Western Civilization since the fourth century or so has held to the concept of a "universe" which undergirded all dimensions of both private and public culture and institutions. A "universe" worldview essentially believes that there is One Supreme Being who created a physical-spiritual reality and the laws that govern that reality. And that creation reflects the Creator Himself and His intentional plans for His creation. In other words God the Creator is boss, in control, and blessing and prosperity are found only in discovering His will and laws and complying with them. While in this world there is "choice," that choice is ultimately only about compliance or rebellion.

To the "multi-verse" worldview folks, if there is a God, he, she, or it reflects what mankind wants he, she, or it to be like because mankind's thinking processes reason that this god-force reflects "reason" rather than a reality that stands outside of man's desires for himself. In other words for God to be God, God must be as man declares God to be. Following this logic, man's opinion is "God" and if God exists contrary to man's opinion, he, she, or it may be a god but not a god worth following. Hence rebellion is noble and courageous, and educated, intelligent people heroically demand that God either submit to mankind's wishes or suffer the consequences of man's legitimate rebellion. Poor God!

Now these "multi-verse" people don't say what I just said because most of them aren't either clear enough on the implications of their worldview or they haven't the courage to do so, or both. To do so would be "intolerant," "uncool," or not worth their time because we universe people wouldn't get it anyway. We are hopelessly lost and deluded in the simplicity of our single reality and its attendant absolutes. We don't admit to the true reality of many ways to many gods; the validity of all values and opinions (except our own); and the fact that the notion of absolute values of right and wrong steals from man his options of conscience-free choices. After all, each person's values deserve to be true simply because they are "ours."

Saying things like this makes the "multi-verse" people really irritated because it challenges their personal peace and even threatens the validity of their multi-verse educational systems which cost them big dollars and certified their correct worldview with a diploma. Rational or logic-driven discussions are difficult and therefore they usually end up with the multi-verse people calling the universe people bad names like "Nazi" or other tolerant words like that.
So what about "two nations under God?" We are here, more or less, and will likely stay here until one side or the other side's worldview proves itself grounded in more reality than the other and produces more conclusive results. The division won't quietly go away and it shouldn't, because this critical war of the worldviews holds within itself the possibility for the genuine renewal this nation desperately needs. Without tension there will be no passion; and without passion there will be no desperation; and without desperation the release of renewal is impossible, and that is the bottom line...

The New Wave of Revivalists

Patricia King

November 15, 2004

The Revivalists of God's Apostolic Power and Authority

The Lord revealed to me that a new wave of revivalists has been launched and will continue to grow and multiply. The revivalists will emerge particularly (yet not completely) from the generation born between 1960 to 1990. They will be carrying powerful evangelistic, prophetic, apostolic, and miracle-working anointings. The sign of the raising of the dead will be performed through some of these revivalists.

The Revivalists of God's Holiness

The Lord is also going to raise up the holiness revivalists again in this generation. They will release and manifest the holy presence of God in such a way that the fear of the Lord will fall on the Body of Christ. This will not be holiness that is produced through man's agenda or through a code of law that attempts to produce righteousness, but that which comes through the Spirit of God, delivered in a spirit of grace and truth. Prayer will be needed for these revivalists and what they carry to be accepted. They will bring forth a new paradigm. Potential unhealthy conflict might arise if it is not prayed into.

High Levels of Honor Required

The various streams of revival are to work together for the sake of the gospel as each one carries a piece. The Lord is calling for high levels of honor among them. Competition between them and judgment and criticism of each other will not be tolerated by the Lord. Tensions between them will potentially bring about clarity and enlargement of biblical theological interpretation when processed in a spirit of humility and peace.

Infants, Children, and Young Teens

The Lord is imparting powerful gifting on the infants and young children and teens (ages 0-14). These will be in a generation who are highly sensitive to the realm of the spirit. Many of them will be strong leaders.

Conception

The Lord revealed that from the months of September - December 2004, there will be an unusual amount of conceptions in the Body of Christ. Many of these babies to be born between the months of June - September 2005 will be girls and will be named HARVEST. Their births and names will be a prophetic statement regarding the revivalists that are emerging to lead the Body into the harvest season.

by PATRICIA KING
Extreme Prophetic Television patricia@extremeprophetic.com www.extremeprophetic.com

Toastmaster General

Priscilla Van Sutphin

www.upstreamca.org
tearsofthefather@comcast.net
Nov 30th, 2004t

Toastmaster: one who presides at a banquet and introduces the after-dinner speakers [Merriam Webster]

"I Am the Toastmaster General. I Am in charge of the great banqueting feast in heaven and I get to say who sits where and who stays and who is appropriately dressed for the occasion , and who goes.
It is not given to man to decide who should or who shouldn't be at the banqueting table. There are many who have been called, but refused. And there are many who are yet to be called who come from a variety of backgrounds.

There are some tough characters I'm going to call. Will you think that you have the mind to decide who is called or who isn't? I see many of you judging with disdain the worldly. But I am the True Judge and I alone see into the hearts of people. Don't assume My responsibility or job. Your job is to seek MY FACE and I will tell you who is worth spending time with and who isn't. It's not your job to decide who is or isn't ready. I will create the divine appointments if you will be open to do My will. And if you lean on Me for what to say, and who to say it to, then you will have fulfilled your commission.

There are many who you count as wicked who will come and bow down before me if you will listen to My voice and honor My will in the days to come."

I then thought of a story I'd read in Brother Andrews news one time of a young Chinese woman who'd been arrested and thrown into jail because of her faith. And she led the whole cell block to the Lord through her prayers. And later on the moved her to another cell block and again they were all converted, and even two of the guards came to the Lord through her prayers.

Again the Lord spoke:
" I am the Great Physician and I came to heal those who were sick, not those who were well. So go into the marketplace and the streets and be My ambassador. Carry My love , joy, peace, goodness and kindness and gifts to those in this season who do not know Me. Be generous in your heart where it counts. Give to those who cannot pay you back. Go the extra mile to be kind and demonstrate My love. If you want mercy, then give it! If you want love, then give love! If you want forgiveness, then give forgiveness. Don't only think about your own needs, but think of those on the streets who have no place to stay. Fix a warm meal for that one you see roaming the streets. Take the one, only at my leading into your home who has no place to lay their head for a night or two. Go the extra mile to take them to a place where they can lay their head down in peace!

Lay your hands on the sick when you see them in the stores. REACH OUT AND TOUCH SOMEONE and share what I have given you! Do what you can to DEMONSTRATE My Kingdom to those who don't believe in it! You don't need to preach with your mouth to demonstrate the gospel all the time.

If you will just listen to My voice, I will show you ways to make an impact.
But touch at least one other with My love. Pray for that one you touch, and watch what I will do! I am looking for those in My army who are available.

Only those available can be used. If you forget about ME as you busy yourself, then You might not think about what I want you to do. But if you keep your mind stayed on Me. I will give you My plan for the day. Listen for My voice. Open your heart to the possibilities, and when you pray for the lost, pray in FAITH. Remember it only takes mustard seed faith to move mountains! I am at the door, and I am knocking. Let Me in this season. For I am longing for union and communion with My beloveds, for I love you so much and want to use you to do mighty things for Me. Much Kingdom work is afoot! Keep your eyes and ears open to the Holy Spirit. It will be a time of WONDER!"

Eph 6:19-20 NIV Pray also for me, that whenever I open my mouth, words may be given me so that I will fearlessly make known the mystery of the gospel, 20 for which I am an ambassador in chains. Pray that I may declare it fearlessly, as I should.

James 2:15-17 NKJV If a brother or sister is naked and destitute of daily food, 16 and one of you says to them, "Depart in peace, be warmed and filled," but you do not give them the things which are needed for the body, what does it profit? 17 Thus also faith by itself, if it does not have works, is dead.

1 John 4:7-8 NKJV Knowing God Through Love (cf. John 3:16)
Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God; and everyone who loves is born of God and knows God. 8 He who does not love does not know God, for God is love.

James 3:16-18 NKJV For where envy and self-seeking exist, confusion and every evil thing are there. 17 But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, willing to yield, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy. 18 Now the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace by those who make peace.

Purple Tapestry
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Dec 4th, 2004
www.upstreamca.org
tearsofthefather@comcast.net

"I have a royal robe I am weaving together and it is a bright royal purple in color. Between the strands of purple are dark blue strands and scarlet will also soon be woven in. I am the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords, so the purple represents Christ Your King. The scarlet I'm going to weave in is the color of the price I paid to guarantee your freedom from the enemy. I SO LOVE the church I birthed through much pain and suffering. And the time is coming, and now is where many have been also suffering with ME for the sake of what is to come. Some of you have suffered greatly for your children. Many have children that have suffered and paid a great price for the ministry I will cloak them with.

They will receive glorious mantles in the days ahead. HUMILITY will be their greatest weapon, but don’t confuse humility with meekness. Humility is knowing Who I AM in comparison to you, and having the right perspective is important, so that you don’t diminish your own worth or Mine. But it is also casting all your cares upon ME, knowing that I care FOR you. It is by being DEPENDENT on ME that you demonstrate your humility instead of thinking you can handle everything yourself.

I am weaving together the generations of adults and youth and children, that you will no longer belittle each other, but work TOGETHER to advance MY agenda, and MY Kingdom. I also have many “coats of many colors” to give to those who are willing to GO for Us. I have mantles for those who are willing to lay down their lives and pick up Mine. I am going to use EVERYONE who is willing to pay the price. For there is a great and awesome HARVEST coming and My church will need every part. No one need feel left out.

I am also capable of changing even the hardest of hearts. So don’t get your eyes on what another is wearing. Just look to ME for what YOUR role is and obey Me when I tell you what to do. Each part is necessary – even the weaker ones. So do not dismiss the value of another. Do not be haughty and think that those who come in will take years to mature. I am doing a NEW THING. And I will use whomever I wish to bring MY KINGDOM to fruition in this hour. I WILL BE THEIR TEACHER if you will lead them to ME and to My Word. I will have a prophetic company of men, women, boys and girls who will ravage the camp of the enemy. I will turn witches and warlocks into prophets and evangelists, and I will take the mentally ill and reverse their captivity and use them to set others free. Do not LIMIT ME. I will do a MIGHTY WORK in this hour if you will only BELIEVE!

I am so eager to do this, but there has been a timing that is necessary, for I’ve been purifying My BRIDE, and testing and trials, rejection and suffering have been the means to more fruit in your lives, and for you to learn the lessons, you have needed to learn. FAITH is growing in those who are faithful. And it will take a HUGE LEAP when I do My awesome work! Come and seek My face and listen for My still small voice. I am healing you, and giving you directions if you will but come to ME. I am eager for union with you My beloveds. We are going to have an awesome time. You will have all you need to do the work. But do NOT focus alone on finances, for I am the LORD of the HARVEST, and I know all you need beforehand. I will do great and amazing wonders and you need not limit Your GOD for how and what I can do. ASK and you shall receive, Knock and the door will be opened! I am coming like a mighty rushing WIND!

Times of Change Coming

Ron Kussmaul

There is a wind blowing and there is spiritual knowing and the time is at hand for God to stalk through the land and He shall purge His body. He shall cleanse His temple and He shall cause a mighty fire to come in the heart of His people.

Know that the wind that blows across you ... is only a foreshadowing of a mighty wind that is to come. Open your hearts.

The things you’ve been waiting for will open up to you. For the Word of the Lord has come to me and you must release the things of the mental realm, that which is natural and led by the senses, the touch, the taste, the natural physical realm. It is not in the hearing, but it is in the Spirit. It’s in the receiving and the Lord is opening the door for each of you....

It’s a good door and some of you have knocked upon many, but refused to quit and, because of that, you shall have the door that God opens. For He is opening a door .....It will take several months for the door to be revealed to you from across the earth, but it will be revealed to you.

There are many things that God is saying ... but He wants you to know that He loves you and that around the world He has people just like you: People who are pressing in, people who have a hunger for Him, people who’re thirsty and hungry for more of God and He wants you to know He’s the answer. He’s the answer. He’s the answer.

This is your time. It’s time now to reap like never before and the harvest and the increase and the abundance that you’ve looked for will begin to come in great waves and the earth will not understand why certain countries blossom and prosper and certain others wither and die. But iniquity, iniquity is being called to account and God will call it to account.

Righteousness, righteousness will be seen across the earth and the righteous shall reap great rewards and the unrighteous shall be in fear, because of the fear of what they see upon the earth and the inability to walk by the Spirit of God. But understand Me, press in; you’re almost there. Press in, push. Just a little more of Me and just a little less of you will swing the door wide.

I desire that with all my heart. Understand Me. The time is now. You'll begin to see things change. Remember this ... because you were there ahead of time and you will see things that look fearful in the natural, but a supernatural peace will flood your being and, in the midst, when everybody is running around, you'll be steady and rock solid.

I have brought you to this point. Do not pull back. Trust Me, trust Me, trust Me, my children. Trust Me.

The things of God are so simple, but I demand obedience. I demand holiness. Shun the wrong and do the right.

Begin to flow in the supernatural ... Begin to expect things to turn on your behalf. I speak to you now so you are more prepared.

The time is at hand and I am again going to move through the land and I shall touch every realm. I shall touch into the intellectual realm, those who not understand me or know me. I will touch into the economic world. I will travel the nations at the very presidential levels and you will see a strange thing happen, things that you never, ever thought would happen, will happen. Never, ever and they shall happen (snap) like that, because I deem it to be so. I change men's hearts in a second. I can make the worst man kind in a nano-second and I understand atomic better than the scientists do.

Everything is in the cleft of My hand and ... you have become different people.

Ron Kussmaul
Pretoria, South Africa
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/AfricaProphecy/message/346

Threshold Of Desire

Mary Lloyd

mary@latter-rain.com

Rev. 3:8
“I know thy works: behold, I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name.”

John 5:19
“Jesus said to them, “Truly, truly, I say unto you, the Son can do nothing of his own accord, but only what he sees the Father doing; for whatever he does, that the Son does likewise.”

John 5:30
“I can do nothing on my own authority; as I hear, I judge; and my judgment is just, because I seek not my own will but the will of him who sent me.”

John 14:12
“Verily, verily I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father.”

Beloved, do not look on the outward appearance to see what it is I do; do not look on the flesh and say it is Spirit; do not look at the mind and say it is Spirit; do not look on the heart and say it is Spirit. Be still, and know that I AM God. I AM coming to you shortly. I AM very near. I desire to comfort your heart in this current difficulty.

Behold, I lay before you an open door: what hinders you from crossing the threshold? Is it one lame foot, so that you cannot walk? Is it a blindness of sight that you cannot see? Have I left you lacking fundamentally in some way for the task that is set before you?

You wander around this room where your little strength is so apparent, entrapped by your own unbelief. I desire that you be released from this. Do you share this holy desire?

Quiet your heart and rest a little. You know that apart from Me you can do nothing. Then why are you still frustrating yourself trying to understand how you will accomplish My will?

The world seeks proof of your accomplishments, your ability, your achievement, your qualifications: but it is not so with Me. If you seek to satisfy the world and its requirements, you will always lack, because you are continuously pressed to look upon your ability, which you know is not enough to do the things I ask you.

But I have not asked you to satisfy the world, but Me. And what is it I ask of you? Do you know that my yoke is easy, and My burden is light?

I ask you to satisfy Me ONLY with your desire. I ask you to just want what I want. This you can do. This you are already accomplishing. It is only an “I will” away; only a “here am I, send me”. Unbelief, dear beloved, is not a matter of “I cannot” but of “I will not”. So you see how easy it is for you to put this right?

I have delivered you from the dominion of unholy desire, which is lust in its many forms. But I have been perfecting in you My holy desire, which is Love. My love is your aim and your destination, not your perfected ability. This is the threshold that I want you to cross. So that when you love the ones that I love, with the love that I give you, laying down all of your own desires to be one with My own, child, it pleases Me.

You have been faithful with that little matter of love that the world was not interested in: and I will entrust you with much for that faithfulness.

All you lack now is timing, which is Mine to give. Be patient. Don’t go on ahead without Me. I AM coming to you shortly.

I have promised.

Defining

Mary Lloyd

mary@latter-rain.com

My child,

Let My light shine upon you so that you can see the truth. The landscape of your true self is not hidden from Me, it is hidden from you. There are peaks and valleys, weaknesses and strengths, sharp places, deep places, needs and desires, and changing seasons of colours that are you on the inside. Some of those places are not ones you care to look at. But I am calling you to do so as I gently lead.

Be comforted that I know you and I love you. I will not leave you unrescued. The pain in you is My pain also. The sin in you is covered by Me. I am calling you to look deeper. Define yourself. Be courageous. Be honest. Define yourself to Me.

You need to know that I AM the One who makes you whole. But I AM making you whole in Me. I am not ill-defined. The whole of creation proclaims My glory. I AM not a whisper or a vapour or a passing scent. I AM not a notion or a hobby or an excuse for you to be who you are. I AM your God. I am well-defined. And you are well-defined - in Me.

As you confess to Me who you truly are, so your needs become visible in My light. Your needs are a falling-short of wholeness. Even your highest thoughts are a falling-short of My thoughts. But I have given Myself - wholly - to you. So give yourself to Me. Just as you are.

Rejoice! As you express yourself like this, I will meet you at the point of each need. There is nothing insignificant about you to Me. When I meet you at each point, each peak, each valley and hill of the landscape which is you, I will make you whole. This is your testimony. This is how you proclaim My glory. I AM your wholeness. I AM your righteousness. I AM your hope. I AM your light.

Define yourself, and you will define Me.

I AM the answer to your heart's cry.

Terror on Every Side
Priscilla van Sutphin

Aug 21st, 2004
www.upstreamca.org

Isaiah 63:1-4 AMP
1 WHO IS this Who comes from Edom, with crimson-stained garments from Bozrah [in Edom]? This one Who is glorious in His apparel, striding triumphantly in the greatness of His might? It is I, [the one] Who speaks in righteousness [proclaiming vindication], mighty to save!
2 Why is Your apparel splashed with red, and Your garments like the one who treads in the winepress?
3 I have trodden the winepress alone, and of the peoples there was no one with Me. I trod them in My anger and trampled them in My wrath; and their lifeblood is sprinkled upon My garments, and I stained all My raiment.
4 For the day of vengeance was in My heart, and My year of redemption [the year of My redeemed] has come.

“Great darkness has come and lawlessness is increasing.
Have I not given you eyes to see and ears to hear ?
But in the midst of the darkness, I will be a great Light in you !
My light will SHINE in the darkness and it will shatter the dark places that have held the earth captive for eons. In the midst of the great darkness, My glory will increase in and on you that others might know that it is by MY HAND that deliverance comes !

The mouths of one prophet may be stopped, but another will replace him or her ! The mouths of My apostles will not be stopped. Many will be like John, who knew the LOVE of the FATHER so well, and leaned into it in times of trouble. They were not able to kill him till I DECIDED TO BRING HIM HOME !

Can you see the fire of My love in My Word. Seek it out. For I am full of love and compassion. My compassions fail NOT ! They are new every morning.

I love My own. In the midst of great darkness you will be lights to the nations. You will overcome by the blood of the LAMB, and the words of your testimony ! So testify My sons and daughters. TESTIFY, even in the midst of hardship, that I WILL UPHOLD YOU. I WILL SUSTAIN YOU.”

[I suddenly remembered a story of a little child in the holocaust days that gave testimony that in the midst of the last days of captivity, they had no food left, and the Lord sustained her for 30 days till the captivity was over !]

Isa 60:1-4 AMP
1 ARISE [from the depression and prostration in which circumstances have kept you--rise to a new life]! Shine (be radiant with the glory of the Lord), for your light has come, and the glory of the Lord has risen upon you! [Zech 8:23.]
2 For behold, darkness shall cover the earth, and dense darkness [all] peoples, but the Lord shall arise upon you [O Jerusalem], and His glory shall be seen on you. [Isa 60:19-22; Mal 4:2; Rev 21:2,3.]
3 And nations shall come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your rising. [Isa 2:2,3; Jer 3:17.]
4 Lift up your eyes round about you and see! They all gather themselves together, they come to you. Your sons shall come from afar, and your daughters shall be carried and nursed in the arms.

“I WILL REND THE HEAVENS and I WILL COME DOWN ! My glory will cover the earth and there will be great healings and deliverances, miracles and creative miracles in these times ! You will understand things you have not understood before ! You will become adept more quickly with the sword of righteousness in your hands, and you will take the prey !”

Isa 5:29 NKJV Their roaring will be like a lion, They will roar like young lions; Yes, they will roar and lay hold of the prey; They will carry it away safely, and no one will deliver.

Jer 30:16-17 NKJV 'Therefore all those who devour you shall be devoured;
And all your adversaries, every one of them, shall go into captivity; Those who plunder you shall become plunder, And all who prey upon you I will make a prey. 17 For I will restore health to you and heal you of your wounds,' says the LORD, 'Because they called you an outcast saying: "This is Zion; No one seeks her."'

Ezek 34:28 NKJV And they shall no longer be a prey for the nations, nor shall beasts of the land devour them; but they shall dwell safely, and no one shall make them afraid.

Ezek 13:21 NKJV I will also tear off your veils and deliver My people out of your hand, and they shall no longer be as prey in your hand. Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

Isa 63:5-64:8 AMP
5 And I looked, but there was no one to help; I was amazed and appalled that there was no one to uphold [truth and right]. So My own arm brought Me victory, and My wrath upheld Me.
6 I trod down the peoples in My anger and made them drink of the cup of My wrath until they were intoxicated, and I spilled their lifeblood upon the earth.
7 I will recount the loving-kindnesses of the Lord and the praiseworthy deeds of the Lord, according to all that the Lord has bestowed on us, and the great goodness to the house of Israel, which He has granted them according to His mercy and according to the multitude of His loving-kindnesses.
8 For He said, Surely they are My people, sons who will not lie [who will not deal falsely with Me]; and so He was to them a Savior [in all their distresses].
9 In all their affliction He was afflicted, and the Angel of His presence saved them; in His love and in His pity He redeemed them; and He lifted them up and carried them all the days of old. [Ex 23:20-23; 33:14-15; Deut 1:31; 32:10-12.]
10 But they rebelled and grieved His Holy Spirit; therefore He turned to become their enemy and Himself fought against them.
11 Then His people [seriously] remembered the days of old, of Moses and his people [and they said], Where is He Who brought [our fathers] up out of the [Red] Sea, with [Moses and the other] shepherds of His flock? Where is He Who put His Holy Spirit within their midst,
12 Who caused His glorious arm to go at the right hand of Moses, dividing the waters before them, to make for Himself an everlasting name,
13 Who led them through the depths, like a horse in the wilderness, so that they did not stumble?
14 Like the cattle that go down into the valley [to find better pasturage, refuge, and rest], the Spirit of the Lord caused them to rest. So did You lead Your people [Lord] to make for Yourself a beautiful and glorious name [to prepare the way for the acknowledgment of Your name by all nations].
15 Look down from heaven and see from the dwelling place of Your holiness and Your glory. Where are Your zeal and Your jealousy and Your mighty acts [which you formerly did for Your people]? Your yearning pity and the [multitude of] compassions of Your heart are restrained and withheld from me.
16 For [surely] You are our Father, even though Abraham [our ancestor] does not know us and Israel (Jacob) does not acknowledge us; You, O Lord, are [still] our Father, our Redeemer from everlasting is Your name.
17 O Lord, why have You made us [able] to err from Your ways and hardened our hearts to [reverential] fear of You? Return [to bless us] for Your servants' sake, the tribes of Your heritage.
18 Your holy people possessed Your sanctuary but a little while; our adversaries have trodden it down.
19 We have become [to You] like those over whom You never exercised rule, like those who were not called by Your name.

Isaiah 64
1 OH, THAT You would rend the heavens and that You would come down, that the mountains might quake and flow down at Your presence--
2 As when fire kindles the brushwood and the fire causes the waters to boil--to make Your name known to Your adversaries, that the nations may tremble at Your presence!

3 When You did terrible things which we did not expect, You came down; the mountains quaked at Your presence.
4 For from of old no one has heard nor perceived by the ear, nor has the eye seen a God besides You, Who works and shows Himself active on behalf of him who [earnestly] waits for Him.
5 You meet and spare him who joyfully works righteousness (uprightness and justice), [earnestly] remembering You in Your ways. Behold, You were angry, for we sinned; we have long continued in our sins [prolonging Your anger]. And shall we be saved?
6 For we have all become like one who is unclean [ceremonially, like a leper], and all our righteousness (our best deeds of rightness and justice) is like filthy rags or a polluted garment; we all fade like a leaf, and our iniquities, like the wind, take us away [far from God's favor, hurrying us toward destruction]. [Lev 13:45,46.]
7 And no one calls on Your name and awakens and bestirs himself to take and keep hold of You; for You have hidden Your face from us and have delivered us into the [consuming] power of our iniquities. [Rom 1:21-24.]
8 Yet, O Lord, You are our Father; we are the clay, and You our Potter, and we all are the work of Your hand.

Food You Know Not Of - Part III
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Aug 20, 2004
www.upstreamca.org

http://www.upstreamca.org/foodyouknownotof.html see above for whole article.

Part III

Matt 3:4 AMP This same John's garments were made of camel's hair, and he wore a leather girdle about his waist; and his food was locusts and wild honey. [Lev 11:22; 2 Kings 1:8; Zech 13:4.]

Lev 11:22 AMP Of these you may eat: the whole species of locust, of bald locust, of cricket, and of grasshopper. [Matt 3:4.]

2 Kings 1:8 AMP They answered, He was a hairy man with a girdle of leather about his loins. And he said, It is Elijah the Tishbite.
Zech 13:4 AMP And in that day the [false] prophets shall each be ashamed of his vision when he prophesies, nor will he wear a hairy or rough garment to deceive,

LOCUST
NT:200 akris (ak-rece'); apparently from the same as NT:206; a locust (as pointed, or as lightning on the top of vegetation): KJV - locust.
NT:206 akron (ak'-ron); neuter of an adj. probably akin to the base of NT:188; the extremity: KJV - one end ... other, tip, top, uttermost participle
NT:188 akmen (ak-mane'); accusative case of a noun ("acme") akin to ake (a point) and meaning the same; adverbially, just now, i.e. still: KJV - yet.

HONEY
meli NT:3192 occurs with the adjective agrios, "wild," in Matt 3:4; Mark 1:6; in Rev 10:9,10, as an example of sweetness. As "honey" is liable to ferment, it was precluded from offerings to God, [Lev 2:11.] The liquid "honey" mentioned in Ps 19:10 and Prov 16:24 is regarded as the best; a cruse of it was part of the present brought to Ahijah by Jeroboam's wife, 1 Kings 14:3. (from Vine's Expository Dictionary of Biblical Words)

WILD - agrios NT:66 denotes (a) "of or in fields" (agros, "a field"), hence, "not domestic," said of honey, Matt 3:4; Mark 1:6; (b) "savage, fierce," Jude 13, RV, metaphorically, "wild (waves)," KJV, "raging." It is used in the papyri of a malignant wound. Note: In Rev 6:8 the RV renders therion (plural) "wild beasts" (KJV, "beasts").

If I had to depend on eating locusts and wild honey, guess I could do it, but I might starve if it depended on me putting my hand into a beehive to retrieve the honey. And I'd have to roast the locusts…sounds too crunchy for my taste. But you can do what you have to do. So you might ask WHY did John live this way. Was he lazy ? Why did he live dependent on God, and not on his own prowess and ability to gain money ? Wasn't it to PREPARE the way of the Lord ? And wasn't it that to be prepared, he like the apostles needed to spend time with GOD, learning His word, learning His ways ? He prayed for his nation. After all, he seemed a healthy fellow for just eating locusts and honey. He wouldn't do well in today's society that is so dependent on their own skills and have no need of depending on God for anything. And if he lived in LA, they'd probably shoot him or kill him for being homeless, or RELOCATE him somehow ! I know one thing, the church wouldn't listen a bit to his prophecies if he came RANTING into them with the kinds of things John spoke ! They'd have ushers haul him away immediately in the many "successful" big churches…as he might reek or disturb the all too fine ladies around him.

It is interesting that the same description is made of ELIJAH as is made of John, since later Jesus refers to John the Baptist as the Elijah that was to come ! There are many people today that are disqualified from having a say in the body because of their looks. She's fat, he's homeless, she's sickly, so you know she must be in sin. He is poor, and wears tattered clothes so he must be in sin. While the church gentry wears their finest and some even boast that Jesus' clothes were not poor, but wealthy, and so we should also wear our best. And anyone who doesn't isn't showing respect to God ! Yet Jesus said, Foxes have holes and birds have nests, but the Son of Man has no place to lie his head ! We have a lot of things backwards in the western church. God so loves those who love to spend time with HIM. He is not ashamed of how they look. Nor does HE judge the way men and women judge by the outward appearances.

And when you spend that time with HIM, you become His friend. Just how many friends would you have if you never have time for them ? Jesus tells His secrets to His friends ! John the Baptist was the friend of God, and tasted of HIS HONEY, not only the earthly kind, but the heavenly honey, the manna that comes down from above. The sweetness of God is for Him to share His secrets and His love. Locusts are plentiful this year in northern Africa. I wonder if they will figure out that it is a plague coming from the hand of the God of Abraham Isaac and Jacob ? Locusts would seem good to eat since they eat the crops of man. Seems a good thing to get rid of. I pray in the midst of their hardships, that the north of Africa which is covered by ISLAM will turn to the TRUE GOD and turn from Islam. Matt 6:25 NKJV Do Not Worry (Luke 12:22-31) "Therefore I say to you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat or what you will drink; nor about your body, what you will put on. Is not life more than food and the body more than clothing?

1 Cor 3:2-4 NKJV I fed you with milk and not with solid food; for until now you were not able to receive it, and even now you are still not able; for you are still carnal. For where there are envy, strife, and divisions among you, are you not carnal and behaving like mere men? For when one says, "I am of Paul," and another, "I am of Apollos," are you not carnal?

So it would seem from this that the carnal Christian is not mature in the WORD of the Lord, yes ? So the food that Jesus offers to eat is important to our growth in Him. His food brings life.

1 Cor 10:3-5 NKJV all ate the same spiritual food, 4 and all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them, and that Rock was Christ. 5 But with most of them God was not well pleased, for their bodies were scattered in the wilderness.

In the wilderness the people of Israel complained a lot. That is our carnal nature. In the wilderness we tend to complain instead of Praise and soak in the Word. The wilderness is a time when you can lean on the ROCK that is higher. It is a time of great closeness and tenderness in having ability to feed from His table. Sickness, and restrictions can be opportunities that come like no other to be close to Him, and to eat of His food, and learn things we never knew.

John 6:35-38 NKJV And Jesus said to them, "I am the bread of life. He who comes to Me shall never hunger, and he who believes in Me shall never thirst. 36 But I said to you that you have seen Me and yet do not believe. 37 All that the Father gives Me will come to Me, and the one who comes to Me I will by no means cast out.

John 6:47-51 NKJV Most assuredly, I say to you, he who believes in Me has everlasting life. 48 I am the bread of life. 49 Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, and are dead. 50 This is the bread which comes down from heaven, that one may eat of it and not die. 51 I am the living bread which came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever; and the bread that I shall give is My flesh, which I shall give for the life of the world."

NT:740 artos (ar'-tos); from NT:142; bread (as raised) or a loaf: KJV – (shew-) bread, loaf.
NT:142 airo (ah'-ee-ro); a primary root; to lift up; by implication, to take up or away; figuratively, to raise (the voice), keep in suspense (the mind), specially, to sail away (i.e. weigh anchor); by Hebraism [compare OT:5375] to expiate sin: KJV - away with, bear (up), carry, lift up, loose, make to doubt, put away, remove, take (away, up).
OT:5375 nasa' (naw-saw'); or nacah (Ps 4:6 [OT:7]) (naw-saw'); a primitive root; to lift, in a great variety of applications, literal and figurative, absol. and rel. (as follows): KJV - accept, advance, arise, (able to, [armor], suffer to) bear (-er, up), bring (forth), burn, carry (away), cast, contain, desire, ease, exact, exalt (self), extol, fetch, forgive, furnish, further, give, go on, help, high, hold up, honorable (+man), lade, lay, lift (self) up, lofty, marry, magnify, needs, obtain, pardon, raise (up), receive, regard, respect, set (up), spare, stir up, swear, take (away, up), utterly, wear, yield.

NT:2222 zoe (dzo-ay'); from NT:2198; life (literally or figuratively):
KJV - life (-time). Compare NT:5590.
NT:2198 zao (dzah'-o); a primary verb; to live (literally or figuratively):
KJV - life (-time), (a-) live (-ly), quick.
psuche NT:5590, the soul, or life, is rendered "heart" in Eph 6:6 (marg., "soul"), "doing the will of God from the heart." In Col 3:23, a form of the word psuche preceded by ek, from, lit., "from (the) soul," is rendered "heartily."

So Jesus is saying I AM THE BREAD OF LIFE: I am the SHEWBREAD that brings ZOE – life to your soul. The word for soul is also used for HEART. [Also note that some of us have been seeing the numbers 2222 and the above Zoe – is strongs 2222.]

Ps 104:15 NKJV And wine that makes glad the heart of man, Oil to make his face shine, and bread which strengthens man's heart. Ps 4:7 NIV You have filled my heart with greater joy than when their grain and new wine abound.

Jer 31:34 NKJV No more shall every man teach his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' for they all shall know Me, from the least of them to the greatest of them, says the LORD. For I will forgive their iniquity, and their sin I will remember no more."

This is part of a covenant relating to Israel. It is spoken to those He has already made covenant with: Israel. So God is yet to pour out His love on Jews everywhere who are marked for salvation. We have access to the throne room to hear His voice and ask of Him whatever we like. Jesus made the way so that there would no longer be a partition between God and us. And the verse above says that bread is good for the heart…even as His manna daily is sustaining to our hearts !

Mic 3:11-12 NKJV Her heads judge for a bribe, Her priests teach for pay, and her prophets divine for money. Yet they lean on the LORD, and say, "Is not the LORD among us? No harm can come upon us." 12 Therefore because of you Zion shall be plowed like a field, Jerusalem shall become heaps of ruins, and the mountain of the temple Like the bare hills of the forest.

Ps 119:33 NKJV Teach me, O LORD, the way of Your statutes, and I shall keep it to the end. Ps 119:64 NKJV The earth, O LORD, is full of Your mercy; Teach me Your statutes. Ps 119:66 NKJV Teach me good judgment and knowledge, For I believe Your commandments.

The Holy Spirit is our Teacher and Comforter once we are born again. But we must spend time with him to gain access to that wisdom and understanding. I used to have to wait till late at night once my children were in bed, and husband and I had gone to bed to have my quiet times. I'd get up after he fell asleep and then have my time with God. And often He would wake me in the middle of the night when all was very quiet, and I could hear better without any distractions. Being a wife and mother makes it a bit difficult to have time to yourself, but with God all things are possible. I would take my boombox out to the laundry room with me and praise Him, no matter what I was doing…it helped the work go faster, and several times I got songs while in the laundry room !

Luke 11:13 NKJV If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him!" Luke 12:11-12 NKJV "Now when they bring you to the synagogues and magistrates and authorities, do not worry about how or what you should answer, or what you should say. 12 For the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say." John 14:26-27 NKJV But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name, He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things that I said to you.

Often times when I've been overseas, I haven't a clue what the Spirit wants me to say till I stand up in front of the crowd. I may have prayed and asked, but it isn't till up there that sometimes I would hear the still small voice telling me what to speak on, and not only that, but helping me with HOW to say it, to make it understandable to illiterates, and farmers. Many of the older villagers are unlearned. And the Holy Spirit would give me an analogy to farming they could understand or relate to. He is the Source for all we need.

1 Cor 2:1-5 AMP
1 AS FOR myself, brethren, when I came to you, I did not come proclaiming to you the testimony and evidence or mystery and secret of God [concerning what He has done through Christ for the salvation of men] in lofty words of eloquence or human philosophy and wisdom; 2 For I resolved to know nothing (to be acquainted with nothing, to make a display of the knowledge of nothing, and to be conscious of nothing) among you except Jesus Christ (the Messiah) and Him crucified. 3 And I was in (passed into a state of) weakness and fear (dread) and great trembling [after I had come] among you. 4 And my language and my message were not set forth in persuasive (enticing and plausible) words of wisdom, but they were in demonstration of the [Holy] Spirit and power [a proof by the Spirit and power of God, operating on me and stirring in the minds of my hearers the most holy emotions and thus persuading them], 5 So that your faith might not rest in the wisdom of men (human philosophy), but in the power of God.

In other words, Paul did not come with a prepared message like an orator in the theatre. He came dependent on the Holy Spirit to show him what to say, and in Holy Spirit power, leaning on His wisdom. He even admits to fear and dread. I have been there. A few years back I spoke at a conference and I was very anxious. I'd never spoken before a group of prophets before. But God had opened up the word and I knew as I delivered the talk on Pride and Humility, that I was just as accountable…and I FELT that same fear and dread…because it was so important for them to hear and understand what the Lord wanted. Could have heard a pin drop. But I have not yet attained to the measure of Paul by any means…but at that moment this exact scripture came to mind.

Acts 1:8 NKJV But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses to Me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth."

Acts 4:31 NKJV And when they had prayed, the place where they were assembled together was shaken; and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and they spoke the word of God with boldness.

Boldness comes from impartation of the Spirit of MIGHT mentioned in Isaiah 11…the seven fold Spirit of God. If you want boldness to preach, to share the gospel, to share His love…ask for the Spirit of MIGHT to increase in you. Note that when they prayed in UNITY…the place was shaken. That also happened to us in a women's group one night after 9-11….we all felt led to pray in the time we had together, though we had been studying Songs. And suddenly the earth was shaking…God is increasing signs and wonders in our time. We need to expect Him to do mighty things.

Acts 7:51-52 NKJV Israel Resists the Holy Spirit "You stiff-necked and uncircumcised in heart and ears! You always resist the Holy Spirit; as your fathers did, so do you. 52 Which of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? And they killed those who foretold the coming of the Just One, of whom you now have become the betrayers and murderers,

The WISDOM of man resists the Holy Spirit.

Acts 13:1-3 NKJV As they ministered to the Lord and fasted, the Holy Spirit said, "Now separate to Me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them." 3 Then, having fasted and prayed, and laid hands on them, they sent them away.

The apostles were dependent on the food that the Holy Spirit gave them daily also. Having fasted and prayed and been in the word…the Holy Spirit gave them instructions then for how to proceed in the work HE had given them to do. This is why the apostles were to spend time in the Word, and not waiting tables too. They needed discernment and to hear from God. To hear from God you need to be in the Word, prayer, worship, meditation and listening.

1 Cor 2:13-14 AMP And we are setting these truths forth in words not taught by human wisdom but taught by the [Holy] Spirit, combining and interpreting spiritual truths with spiritual language [to those who possess the Holy Spirit]. 14 But the natural, non-spiritual man does not accept or welcome or admit into his heart the gifts and teachings and revelations of the Spirit of God, for they are folly (meaningless nonsense) to him; and he is incapable of knowing them [of progressively recognizing, understanding, and becoming better acquainted with them] because they are spiritually discerned and estimated and appreciated.

2 Cor 6:7 AMP By [speaking] the word of truth, in the power of God, with the weapons of righteousness for the right hand [to attack] and for the left hand [to defend];

The Word is our defense system ! See how he says for the right hand to ATTACK [with the Word] and for the left hand to DEFEND ! The Word of God IN US, is our immune system. So the more we get in us, we can use it to defend ourselves from the enemy, and to attack the enemy…taking back the land he has stolen in the lives of others.

1 Thess 1:5 AMP For our [preaching of the] glad tidings (the Gospel) came to you not only in word, but also in [its own inherent] power and in the Holy Spirit and with great conviction and absolute certainty [on our part]. You know what kind of men we proved [ourselves] to be among you for your good.

The WORD has power ! The Word is LIFE to our bones and health to our body. Here Paul is also sharing it has power to convict and to bring life to others if we will use it.

John 14:16-17 KJV And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; 17 Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you.

John 14:26 KJV
But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you. John 14:26 AMP But the Comforter (Counselor, Helper, Intercessor, Advocate, Strengthener, Standby), the Holy Spirit, Whom the Father will send in My name [in My place, to represent Me and act on My behalf], He will teach you all things. And He will cause you to recall (will remind you of, bring to your remembrance) everything I have told you.

When I was a new Christian, I thought I must memorize scripture, but I had a hard time in school memorizing. It's a miracle I made it through nursing school and grad school ! I'd have to read something 30 times to memorize it fully….like literature. Did you ever have to memorize Chaucer or Shakespeare ? So I could see my ex could memorize like so easily…I would use him to figure out where something was that came to my memory…ie; where does it say this ? And then the Lord told me, that I didn't have to worry, because it says in the above verse…HE is able to cause you to recall ! If I would just eat the Word, then He could call it to remembrance…which took a big load off my back.

John 16:8 AMP And when He comes, He will convict and convince the world and bring demonstration to it about sin and about righteousness (uprightness of heart and right standing with God) and about judgment:

Eph 1:17-21 NKJV that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give to you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of Him, 18 the eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that you may know what is the hope of His calling, what are the riches of the glory of His inheritance in the saints, 19 and what is the exceeding greatness of His power toward us who believe, according to the working of His mighty power 20 which He worked in Christ when He raised Him from the dead and seated Him at His right hand in the heavenly places, 21 far above all principality and power and might and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this age but also in that which is to come.

That power that raised Christ from the dead is in us as we believe the WORD of God and use it for His glory !

Gal 5:18 NKJV But if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the law.

Phil 3:3 AMP For we [Christians] are the true circumcision, who worship God in spirit and by the Spirit of God and exult and glory and pride ourselves in Jesus Christ, and put no confidence or dependence [on what we are] in the flesh and on outward privileges and physical advantages and external appearances.

When we put ourselves back under the law with striving, we open ourselves up to vulnerability to the wicked prayers of men and women. It is not by our strength that we have been saved, but HE is the One Who drew us. And it is not by our strength that we can do what we must do, but drawing on HIS strength. He is our strength. One problem people have who've been raised with perfectionism like I was…is to TRY HARD TO DO EVERYTHING so that we won't make a mistake. BUT TRYING HARD is striving…brings us back to the LAW…and under the curse ! Don't want to be there !

Eph 4:22-24 NKJV and be renewed in the spirit of your mind, 24 and that you put on the new man which was created according to God, in true righteousness and holiness.

We are renewed in our minds by the washing of the WORD. THIS is how we keep our minds stayed on Him as well. Peace that surpasses all understanding is ours.

Eph 6:19 AMP And [pray] also for me, that [freedom of] utterance may be given me, that I may open my mouth to proclaim boldly the mystery of the good news (the Gospel), It is the HOLY SPIRIT that empowers us to be witnesses for Him. It is HE Who gives us the wisdom, words of knowledge and wisdom we need to do what He has called us to do.

1 Thess 5:19 AMP Do not quench (suppress or subdue) the [Holy] Spirit;

1 Tim 4:1-2 AMP BUT THE [Holy] Spirit distinctly and expressly declares that in latter times some will turn away from the faith, giving attention to deluding and seducing spirits and doctrines that demons teach, 2 Through the hypocrisy and pretensions of liars whose consciences are seared (cauterized),

We can see this being done before our eyes now. Men with seared consciences have approved homosexuality in some parts of the church, as if it was not a sin. We are to love the homosexual. And to treat them with respect anyone deserves. But the sin is not something God condoned, anymore than lying, cheating , greed, pride and arrogance that is in the churched. And daily it seems now we are seeing compromises made.

1 John 4:6 AMP We are [children] of God. Whoever is learning to know God [progressively to perceive, recognize, and understand God by observation and experience, and to get an ever-clearer knowledge of Him] listens to us; and he who is not of God does not listen or pay attention to us. By this we know (recognize) the Spirit of Truth and the spirit of error.

Those who love HIM, will listen to us. Those who are called to love Him, will listen to the TRUTH. Those who reject the truth, are already condemned, he said. John 3:18

1 John 5:6-7 AMP This is He Who came by (with) water and blood [His baptism and His death], Jesus Christ (the Messiah)--not by (in) the water only, but by (in) the water and the blood. And it is the [Holy] Spirit Who bears witness, because the [Holy] Spirit is the Truth. 7 So there are three witnesses in heaven: the Father, the Word and the Holy Spirit, and these three are one;

Jude 19 AMP It is these who are [agitators] setting up distinctions and causing divisions--merely sensual [creatures, carnal, worldly-minded people], devoid of the [Holy] Spirit and destitute of any higher spiritual life.

Watch out for the dogs Paul warned us…those devoid of the Holy Spirit cannot receive the things of the Spirit…and are carnally minded. This is part of the problem with the compromise. Those compromising are not being led of the Spirit, but out of fear and out of the flesh, and unsanctified mercy.

Rev 2:7 AMP He who is able to hear, let him listen to and give heed to what the Spirit says to the assemblies (churches). To him who overcomes (is victorious), I will grant to eat [of the fruit] of the tree of life, which is in the paradise of God. [Gen 2:9; 3:24.]

Rev 2:17 AMP He who is able to hear, let him listen to and heed what the Spirit says to the assemblies (churches). To him who overcomes (conquers), I will give to eat of the manna that is hidden, and I will give him a white stone with a new name engraved on the stone, which no one knows or understands except he who receives it. [Ps 78:24; Isa 62:2.]

What is the hidden manna ? It is the rhema Words that God gives to you and the illumination of scripture that helps us UNDERSTAND what is being said, the application of that scripture. When the Lord says He'll give you a new name…it means He is imparting REVELATION to you.; A deeper intimacy of revealing His secrets.

Rev 22:17 AMP The [Holy] Spirit and the bride (the church, the true Christians) say, Come! And let him who is listening say, Come! And let everyone come who is thirsty [who is painfully conscious of his need of those things by which the soul is refreshed, supported, and strengthened]; and whoever [earnestly] desires to do it, let him come, take, appropriate, and drink the water of Life without cost.

[Isa 55:1.]

We don't have to PAY to hear the Word of God, and we don't have to PAY to get revelation of Him. It is a harlot church that participates in costly conferences that cater to the elite and rich, instead of sharing what was given them free. What can the poor do ? Think of it. Everyday the poor cannot afford CD's, books, etc that teach them or bless them. Yet we cater to those who have money. As if that was the motive behind the conferences and meetings in the first place. GREED has overtaken much of the church. There needs to be repentance for all the decisions motivated by making money. God wants a spotless bride who cares for the least of these like JESUS DID !

To My Hurting Daughters

Olivia Long

faithbuildersministries@the-i.net

To My Hurting Daughters My Name Is Immanuel
January 6, 2004

To My hurting daughters... I have seen your frustrations and I know your questions. My eyes have gone to and fro, looking for someone who was willing to put aside all things and you said "here am I" and then found yourself going through the fire and it's been much hotter than you ever expected. You have known what it is to be in need and you know the hurts of the outcasts for so many times you feel like an outcast yourself.

You have brought to My remembrance My many words and promises to you. My Beloved, I have heard your cries. Know that I have not gone back on My Word, I cannot because I Am bound by My Word. My hands have not been idle. I have been with you through every frustration and pain that has been inflicted upon you, for My Name is Immanuel.

Know, My daughters that I have and Am paving the way, the preparations have been under way for your breakthroughs. Be sensitive to My directions, even to the smallest insignificances, because they are vital! Do not fear that you will miss Me or My direction. You have walked many spiritual miles for Me and have fought many spiritual battles and I AM pleased that even through your own pain you have been there for another sister in need.

You have cried out to Me through your tears and pain telling Me that all seems hopeless in your eyes. Although it seems as though I have forsaken you, KNOW that I Am Immanuel. Although it seems My eye and My hand have not been upon you, KNOW that I AM Immanuel. ... Beloved, I AM aware of All your needs, My eyes are upon them and upon you. Now is the time to hold fast to My promises. Now is the time to hold on to your faith. Although it 'appears' the answers are far off, they are much nearer than you know! Continue to speak words of faith to My daughters. Continue to stand firm and rejoice in Me. My Beloved, I have breathed My breath into your lives and anything that I breathe my breath into - LIVES!!!! Know that even now, in your pain and even confusion, I AM breathing wellness into My willing vessels. This is the time that you must keep your focus and that focus is ME. Reserve your heart for Me at all costs, for the day is surely coming when those who have chosen to walk with their King through all adversities will see the might and Power of MY strong arm. My daughters, you will see Breakthrough in unprecedented ways and the time of your blossoming forth for ME is SURELY at hand. The time that you have awaited is SURELY upon the horizon in might and power.

You have been learning to rely on ME, and no other, for ALL things! You have been learning to rely on ME for even your very existence in your painful situations. And now, My daughters, "Watch ME move in a mighty way." Watch Me bring forth all those things that I have promised you. Provisions, needs met and your place in My plan. All are coming forth by My hand and because of My Word. I AM speaking forth these words this very hour. As I spoke the Word - the universe came into being. I AM now speaking forth the Word for you!

Behold the goodness of your Lord and Savior, for I can create out of the ugly and unseemly and create something beautiful. Await the appearance of My surprises that I AM placing at your doorstep. Be expectant of the gifts from the I AM launching you into going about your Father's business in a more productive way. Beware of those that tell you times are hard and you will never see the Glory of your God. Beware of those who discourage you from accepting My word into your heart, for truly, I HAVE SPOKEN and truly I will bring forth ALL I have spoken. Put not your trust in another but In Me. I have given you My Word and I have confirmed My Word. NOW, I AM FAITHFUL TO BRING IT TO PASS.

I AM not a man who would look down on His Beloved. Reach forth your hand and receive. Behold, I will give strengthening power to My chosen daughters and I will restore all that you have lost. Today, I AM calling for you to reach forth you hand and receive and as you receive give out to another of My hurting daughters. Give to those you see in need. Give to those who are discouraged. I AM calling for the process to go forth in My Name and by MY power and none shall stop it, for I AM IMMANUEL.

I want you to know these words are truly spoken by the voice of your God. Will you continue to give freely to others of My daughters in need, In My Name? Will you continue to offer a cup of living water to your sisters who are discouraged and are losing hope, even when you are feeling the depths of despair yourself? Truly you ARE receiving from ME, now freely give what you have received.

You knew that I had called you and to set your face as flint in that calling - a calling that is special and unique and one only you can achieve .... It is a high calling and one not to be taken lightly. The preparations have been intense and you have been trained in life's situations. These have not been easy and it has taken great faith. Do you hear me? You, my beautiful daughters, have great faith. My Word says that to those who overcome, I will give a crown of life and you are overcomers and you shall receive your crown. This crown will take many forms and your needs will be met and your calling sure.

My hurting daughters, ALL, I say ALL authority has been given to you. Get mean with the enemy. Do not allow him in the back door for He will rob you of the peace I have given you. You are Mine! My signet ring is upon your finger and My seal upon your forehead. Go - in the authority, GO - in the power of My Name. Let nothing or no-one come between My presence and you. You are mine and I AM jealous over you.

I AM calling you to walk forth as mighty warriors of God. Stand tall and stand strong in ME! I want those around you to see My glory in you. The world is saying , 'aha, aha, where is her God?' - but the world and the church shall see that I AM alive in you, they shall see My Glory and My love in you and upon you. They will see Who I AM and what I can do through My hurting daughters who I WILL bring forth In My Glory and they will see that I AM IMMANUEL in you.

You have waited and waited. You have wondered when will it happen? You have said "When Lord, When?" I say to you, my daughters, Now....now is the day. I AM giving you the desires of your heart and it will be a strong witness to many! You are a testimony and a witness... I AM Immanuel.

My daughters, what I have for you will be hard for you to contain. It will be like a mother giving birth. The blessings will cause you to forget these hard and difficult times. The blessings will be 100 fold, in every area and to those of whom I called you to, they will surely be blessed! You have sowed into My work and you shall reap the harvest. I love giving to My children, I take pleasure in giving to My own. Expect a harvest in all areas ... spiritual, emotional and physical.

I see faith arising in your spirit and it is your faith and trust In Me that will move mountains. Mountains are moving this day because of your faith. Debts are being paid and that which seemed impossible you will see as "possible" with your God. It is time for you to 'soar like the eagle', for nothing, I say NOTHING is impossible with your God. Rise, O' precious daughter of Mine, rise and see the impossible happen. Let no one dissuade you with their words or actions, no-one. Rise and soar O' Daughter of Mine. Let your faith soar for the day of promise is here. Give me first place in your heart always and know that I AM Immanuel, I AM WITH YOU ALWAYS.....

You have been in a desperate situation and time. You have tasted the mire and the desperation of many of My daughters. You have felt the desire to give up and you have experienced the feeling of going under. My beautiful servant you have tasted what many are living under....As MY SON took on the sins of the world, so you, My daughters, so you have tasted and taken on desperation... and ... just as you have experienced the desperation you will experience My deliverance. This is your testimony. You will see what I have been accomplishing on your behalf in the spiritual realm now touch you in the natural realm and you will say, Aha, My God was always with me.

My ears are listening for your shouts of joy that will arise for the gates of heaven are opening upon you. My daughters, I AM IMMANUEL!!!

"The virgin will be with child and will give birth to a son and they will call Him Immanuel, which means, "God with us." Matthew :23

The Outcome Of This Election And Mount Rushmore

Mark Kaphaem

There is a great change coming to the United States with the 2004 Presidential election. We are standing at a great crossroads. This evening the Lord came to me and showed me a picture of Mount Rushmore. I saw the faces of John Kerry and George W. Bush each in turn upon the Mount. The current men on that Mount are George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln & Theodore Roosevelt. What I feel the Lord is saying, is that the next President of the United States will have as great an impact on the Future of the United States as those four past President on Mount Rushmore did combined.

I also feel the Lord has given the outcome of this election to His church if she will rise up and take it. There has been a heavy spirit on the church but it is lifting this last week before the election. The Lord is giving strength to pray if we will rise up and receive it. Call out for truth to be revealed. For truth is our strongest weapon at this time.

Before the 2000 election I had a vision of a man kneeling over the city of Washington and praying. I saw him holding two plaques with the ten commandments on them and the likeness of George Washington standing behind him.

Who is the man I saw? Why was George Washington standing behind him? Why was he holding the ten commandants?

The Lord has given us great leaders in the past to help carry us through desperate times. We stand at a fork in the road. Our Nation is divided. Which way will she turn? What will it mean to her destiny?

We have been given a week to pray. Rise up bride of Christ.

Mark Kaphaem mkap@insightbb.com http://home.insightbb.com/~mkap/

Torah and Spirit

Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelite,

Again, in the course of this week I received some mail that I would like to share with you along with some of my own comments. Someone had forwarded information about a new translation of the bible called "Good as New" translated by former Baptist minister John Henson for the "One" organization, to produce… a "new, fresh and adventurous" translation of the Christian scriptures." You can read about it on WorldNetDaily June 24th. After reading some choice excerpts, it appears that under the guise of bringing scripture 'up to date', this assemblage-cum-translation is nothing more than a bamboozling attempt aimed at sanctioning sin, or even worse, promoting it under scriptural auspices. The distortions offered by these texts made me realize all the more why the enemy of our Creator would steer the "church" as far away from the Torah as possible. This is most likely the reason why Yeshua is leading people out of the Torah-less or lawless institutions, taking the sheep back unto Himself and feeding them His word by the Spirit.

The following is a testimony of a friend who describes her experience regarding this issue:

"I believe what happened was that I had to be taken out of the things I had been in before, to start understanding the Torah, so I could understand the REAL workings of the Spirit. So much of the Charismatic movement had the real Spirit, and then it seemed that it got into something that really was not of the Father. It was a wonderful time for me back in the mid 90's because that is when I was baptized in the Ruach, but as things went on, I began to see many things that seemed to be a counterfeit."

There are many others with similar testimonies.

In order to present and communicate the gospel of Yeshua, His disciples turned to the Torah and to the words of the prophets, as those were the only scriptural resources that they had. Therefore, how can we throw away those foundations and expect to mature in our spiritual lives? Instead of the Word becoming flesh in us, the flesh changes the Word, so that God's image is 'created' in the image of man. Just as Paul warned in his letter to the believers in Rome: "Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, and changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man…" (Rom 1:22-23).

Because of this tendency to alter the original biblical text, we must try and stick as closely as possible to the Hebrew and Greek. We must be careful, as some of the modern versions alter and change words to fit a new or modern morality (if morality is what it is...). However I must say that although here in Israel we have many institutions studying the Torah, Prophets and Writings in the original language, yet sin still abounds in our midst. One would think that with the Torah being taught in the schools we would see a different society here. It is not hard therefore to put two and two together. That is, Torah without the New Covenant indwelling Spirit of Holiness results in the same sin behavior, which is present where the Spirit of Holiness resides, but without Torah. Now the question arises, what will happen when the New Covenant Spirit filled believers embrace Torah? Will they also compromise and continue in the ways of the spirit of this world, or will they become mature sons and daughters of the Living Elohim?

This brings me to another quote from another letter received this week. "As we mature in the Messiah and learn to be obedient to the Spirit of Truth, letting Him operate His will in our vessels, the victorious life of abundance comes just as promised. But now, through further revelation, we know that this includes Torah obedience, we are on a less traveled road that was last traveled frequently by the Apostolic generation and early Believers.

Now that the Ruach is taking us back to that trail, where the end-time saints will have the testimony of Yeshua and obey His commandments, as John tells us in the book of Revelation, we have a goal that inspires embracing His will for our lives. In other words, with the great war upon the Saints scheduled for the end of the age, the only way that any of us will be able to survive until the end is by being led by the Spirit, walking in the Spirit and letting Him through us comply with the Torah. After all, He cannot do anything that is contrary to the Torah because that would be sin and He cannot sin. If we have Him as the old four spiritual laws diagram put it, "on the throne of our life," then it is Him operating through us and we have submitted our will to Him. He must increase and we must decrease."

Yes, how do we live and walk in the Spirit at all times and in all places? How do we "cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of flesh and spirit" (2 Cor 7:1)? How do we not become "children who are tossed to and fro by every wind of doctrine" (Eph. 4:14)? How can we mature to become young men and women who have overcome evil (1 John 2:13-14), and then become mature spiritual fathers and mothers that know how to raise children in the nature of righteousness and holiness? This is the challenge and opportunity that YHVH is giving to this generation of the seed of Abraham. Will there be a remnant that will be an expression of maturity, perfection, wholeness and completeness as Yeshua's body, a truly New Creation (adult) Spiritual Man? I believe that it is possible by the obedience of faith and by the Word made flesh, as the Torah is being written on our hearts.

There seems to be a union, a marriage, taking place between the Torah and our New Creation person. What that will look like has yet to be seen, but it is developing and will have its day of full expression through a people, a nation, that has been predestined before the foundations of this present cosmos. Privileged, as we are, to taste of the power and glory of the coming age, we can have the same zeal as the early apostles: "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended, but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Messiah Yeshua. Let us therefore, as many as be perfect [teleios – full age, mature, complete] be thus minded: and if in any thing ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this unto you" (Phil 3:13-15).

Have a restful day,

Shabbat Shalom
July 2,2004

To Remain In The System

Clay Sikes

To Those Who Desire To Remain In The System
Clay Sikes
Jan 29, 2004

Dear List Members,

This morning during my exercise time, the Holy Spirit fell on me with what I sense to be a strong prophetic word. I submit it and urge that you test it! It is not directed at to everyone, but to a specific group as the title indicates...Clay.

To Those Who Desire To Remain In The System (To Help Others Out) Prophetic Word Submitted By Clay Sikes January 29th, 2004

The desire to be the bridge for others to come out of the system can only be achieved after you have crossed the great divide. You yourself must first get out in order to be the bridge ACROSS that you desire to be. I see your compassion and concern for your friends and church leaders who are caught up in the system, but let all who have ears to hear, hear my words this day:

“You can never bring them out until you yourself are out. Only when you are out can you be the bridge across the troubled waters of the Harlot Church System.”

You cannot take people where you yourself have never been. You must first experience the liberty and freedom to be what I have called you to be, in order that they recognize something better waits on the other side.

You recognize your compassion, while yet blinded to the deception that this wicked system operates in, yet I have warned that in these times, even the very elect would be deceived were it possible. Awaken to the direction of my Spirit and hearken to the voice of the prophets. I am doing a NEW THING in the earth today. I desire to pour out the New Wine of this age, but I must build individual and corporate wineskins for the New Wine to flow.

Judging The Word - "Coming Out Of The System"
Various
Jan 30, 2004
Dear List Members,

To those of you who attend this list regularly, I posted a word relative "To Those Who Desire To Stay In The System To Help Others Out." As previously stated, this word was not for everyone, but specifically to a unique group. If you are not in that group, obviously it is not directed to you.

While the comments here are varied, the one common denominator between all of us should be 1) Test the word, and 2) Only use the word if it applies to you! The Spirit of God (in us) is able to rightly divide the word as to its application (or lack of) in our lives.

In conclusion, I submit the following to those who question coming out of "the system." It is evident to most all of us that God is indeed readying His Bride to a glorious return - to a Body that is without spot or wrinkle. For this to happen new wine must flow, and as we see in Luke 5:36-38, this new wine can only flow WHERE IT IS WELCOMED. As we see from these eye-opening scriptures, the new wine cannot (by choice) flow to everyone. See verse 39 - "AND NO ONE AFTER DRINKING OLD WINE WANTS THE NEW, FOR HE SAYS, THE OLD IS BETTER."

Clay

Hi Clay:

Very timely word.

The house church network I was a part of the last four and some years blew up last week. It was partly due to what you are stating here.

You cannot mix the wines in the wineskin.

When we left our leadership role in the Vineyard, the Lord knit us to other wounded warriors. The Lord himself gave us the blueprint from the book of Acts for what He want, and that was relational, redemptive house church communities.

We CAME OUT of the SYSTEM, but you can often take people out of the system, and not the SYSTEM OUT OF THE PEOPLE! We discovered that over time, the greatest obstacle to what the Lord wants to do, this NEW THING, which requires NEW WINE SKINS for the NEW WINE, will require everything of us, including our affection for the SYSTEM.

Many within our HC network kept the relationships alive with people, as I did, to stay connected in a friendly relational fashion, but over time, those relationships for some included ties to the system and its tentacles of control and manipulation and the constant affirmation through works and ministry. Over time people got consumed with a variety of ministries, and methodologies, all from the system.

As well there were ongoing relationship issues, and instead of dealing with the situations and issues, the freedom we once had with "no hierarchy" was replaced with an eldership system. Whoever hosted and facilitated the house church gatherings had authority in their home and in what went on in their home. This evolved because there were people in HC who showed little respect for others, especially the hosts, and bullied and intimidated and controlled the gatherings and used them for their own agendas. The easiest way, not the wisest way, was to create an eldership. This was a grievous sin on my part, of which I have wept and repented over many times. It was the beginning of the end.

The enemy uses pride and position to hold back what the Spirit wants to do. It was no different here. In our situation, the elders more and more controlled the flow of gatherings, just the same way elders/pastors do in traditional church. Before long, the "cathedral had entered the bungalow"! Before long, everything, and all decisions were filtered through the few over the many.

What I am saying is that the SYSTEM has polluted our minds. The SYSTEM has had 1700 years to set in place a genetic deviation from what was the original blueprint, and most people cannot tell the difference.

Changing the wineskin, the place and locale of where the body gathers is not enough. The substance of the system is not the location of the church gathered together, but rather the SYSTEM if the religious structure and the ruling and controlling of what happens when the body gathers, be it in a house or in a cathedral. THIS IS THE SYSTEM, and it is part of our genetic code, even as unbelievers. Check it out with unbelievers, and you see just how imbedded the system is in the spirit and the psyche of people within our culture. THE "UNCHURCHED" is a misnomer! Most know very well the aspects of religion and faith that has been projected through the culture and through the media. We have been infected with a horrible GENETIC SICKNESS, and unless that SYSTEM is expunged out of the Body of Christ, there will be little worth redeeming.

The HC network I was a part of by and large not only reflected the system but has become a part of the system, and most of the people are blind to it. I have nothing at all in common with the system and organized religion. It doesn't matter if it is the renewal churches or various speakers on the circuit. They are part of the SYSTEM and it is self perpetuating and self sustaining. The SYSTEM is opposed diametrically with what you are speaking of.

I believe before long there will be great hostility to what the Lord is saying. People want the Lord, but they want their RELIGIOUS ADDICTION TOO! It is an ADDICTION TO THE SYSTEM!

May God deliver His people not only from the trappings of buildings, programs, and all the cultural religious attachments, but deliver us from the IMBEDDED SYSTEM that is rooted deep within our spiritual psyche! May God have mercy upon us.

Clay, there have been so many words about RESTORATION. I do not any longer believe in RESTORATION. I believe what we need is a REVOLUTION! What we need restored we could not handle, especially if it is NT Christianity. It would be so radical to our ways and means of thinking, that it could only be described as a revolution.

Sam

A Revolutionary in Canada, A pilgrim starting over, seeking deep passionate people who are passionate for relational, redemptive, revolutionary community.

Sam Buick
Waterloo, ON Canada

"Sometimes God calms the storm. At other times, He calms the sailor. And sometimes He makes us swim."

"There really is no fun in fundamentals, no matter what the first three letters say." Pete Prisco, CBS Sportsline, Senior Writer

----

Dear Clay,

That is amazing! this word was so alive for me it is unbelievable and so encouraging as yesterday I met with my x pastors wife and said these very things I said how my heart ached for the leaders but now it was time for them to 'wake up' and 'come out' this is no longer a time for indecision but for action.

What an encouragement that word you sent is.

Gail

Dear Clay

Would you consider that there is a difference between “in” the system, or “under the system”, and in attendance? Is this in agreement with your words today? Perhaps you have covered this topic- I am not well-versed in all your teachings, and if you don’t want to “go there again”, I understand. I have this question, tho….Is there yet the seven churches in operation – where those who remain are there with the purpose of overcoming…to the end…or do you “see” that that time has passed? I do not want to mix truth and error – and I know you do not want to either!

I resigned and am no longer “under appointment” in the denomination, yet I serve (for the past 8 months) with “one who is”… in a very small church. He is disillusioned with the denomination, removing himself from bondage of the directives and committees and plans and programs and numbers and success, and instead seeking the Holy Spirit – He is in agreement with the five-fold ministry and we believe God is bringing it about. Five of us gather in intense prayer and humility –gathered from other churches that we have left because of our own disillusionment and restlessness to “get out of there”, to this little church in the country…. wanting to be in the Spirit satisfied and not self-satisfied. We’re praying….healing… worshiping… waiting…sensing…. .longing….. confessing…… growing…. trusting… .willing….. and waiting……

I’m trusting God that He will lead you to respond to me, if that is His desire He will make it yours. If not – I still continue to seek “eyes and ears” to be transformed and renewed, to know what His good and perfect will is.

May He continue to bless you and reveal Himself to you, and through you.

Sue Simmon

Clay,

I have been feeling for the last, oh I don't know how long now, and this is in reference to my situation with Allenhurst Presbyterian for instance. I have come out of it (the Harlot System), but I keep stepping back into it mainly for the sake of FAMILY (appeasing my husband and inlaws) that still attends the Church.

For example, youth group and all of the "traditional" things they do (which in my "mind" was a "good" thing), church suppers, vacation bible school, Easter Sunday attendance, Christmas Sunday attendance and so on. I am feeling in my spirit that this is another compromise, that "C" word. I have stepped out, but I have kept my foot in the door for the sake of a few others. I have had no peace in this. And in saying what I am about to say let me make the point that it's not the people that I feel this way about but the system. It makes me cringe, literally want to jump out of my skin, every time I am apart of it.

Even in what seems like a small part like the examples I have listed above. I felt for a long time it was Satan trying to cause division in my home as well as with family.

BUT after reading this I feel the Lord is showing me the compromise I have made. IF HE wants me out, then I feel HE is saying ALL the way out. HE will appoint the time when I am to return to it and there may be times HE does. But it will be by HIS appointment and for HIS Glory, not because I feel it's something I should do to keep peace in my family or for the children to have part in something. I know that if the Lord is telling me to come out, not part of the way, but to come out, and in obedience I do, HE is faithful to take care of whatever adversity that comes my way as a result of it (family wise).

The Bible says either we are hot or cold. Being lukewarm in any situation is not acceptable to HIM. I am beginning to understand this but still have a long way to go. One of the reasons the Hebrews wandered in the wilderness for 40 years was because they did not come out of Egypt (all the way out) and missed the promise land as a result of it.

It is very hard when you have a husband in one direction and you are headed in another and children who are standing at this Y in the road. I just ask for prayers from the body.

In Him,

Lisa

Dear Clay,

I identify with this word.

Several years ago, when the Lord prompted my wife and I to move back to the mid-west from the Seattle area, the Lord gave me a dream, which I did not understand until after we had left the institutional church He sent us too.

In the dream, I was driving a white 1965 Mercury Monterey convertible with light blue interior. I turned the vehicle up to the gates of what looked like an old west log fort. The gates swung open, and I drove in. The church the Lord sent me to was near the back of the compound, and parked in front of it. I exited the car, and went around to the trunk to collect the gifts I'd brought for the church. From everywhere it seemed, child-like dwarfs emerged and surrounded me. As I began to show the gifts I'd brought, they began snatching the gifts from my hands, treated them disrespectfully, snatched gifts from the trunk and threw them back after handling them carelessly. Several were letting the air out of the tires on the car and kicking the side panels, and some were jumping up and down on the seats.

While I began taking the gifts back and tried to put them away and chase them out of the trunk and rest of the car, a slightly taller pimple-faced teenager was pressing into me waving a clenched fist in my face. Finally I spoke a few words in the Spirit directly into his face and he was 'blown' away. No sooner was he gone, than another appeared in his place, shaking a fist in my face and threatening to hit me. Finally my anger took over, and I seized him by the collar, and reared back my own fist to hit him. At that PRECISE moment, the pastor emerged from around the corner, and waving his finger at me he shook his head "NO". Then he called out "come on kids" and as fast as they had appeared, they disappeared after the pastor. I had collected all the gifts, closed the trunk, and I walked around the car and checked the tires – no harm was done. I then seemed to be faced with the decision to either join them in the building or drive off.

I decided not to join them and after pondering whether or not to do a 'donut' in their parking lot with my powerful car, I simply drove off, thru the gates and into the wilderness, which ended the dream.

At first I thought the Father sent me to that church FOR that church – to spark something, anything that resembled revival. However, they turned out to be resistant to all of it, preferring tradition to the Spirit. The dream it turns out was to show me how I would be received there, and my eventual decision to choose to follow Christ instead of man.

Three years after leaving that church, I understand that the Father sent me there to open my eyes, to break me of my addiction to religion and of my need for the approval of man. Honestly, I am still somewhat hurt by it, and at times I struggle to pray for them. Similarly, they seem to be hurt by our leaving. As often as we see someone from that church, they express their wish that we would come back. Yet not once has anyone ever asked why we left. We discussed our reasons only with the pastor on the day we presented our letter of resignation. And the pastor chose to keep it confidential which has only fueled the rumor mill about us. Lest anyone wonder whether we left out of anger, we remained for many months and sought the Lord's direction, until finally He said to us: "get out of the way and let it fail".

I have NO doubt that IF we returned to that church, they would feel better – that somehow having us there would validate their decision to remain there. Our return would in fact "enable" them to remain in a place that intentionally stunts their spiritual growth, and shields them from a genuine relationship with the Father. Lately, when someone admonishes me to "go to church", I have taken to simply challenging them to show me where in any of the 4 gospel accounts Jesus ever told anyone to "go to church". And I have reminded them that their church creed claims the Bible is the "sole basis" for everything they do and believe. Most shake their heads as if I am woefully deceived, though I still hope someday one of them will actually take me up on the challenge, and see for themselves that Jesus instructed no one to "go to church". Rather, He said "follow Me".

Therein lies the basis for the word you received Clay – “follow Me”. Christ is IN us, and lives THROUGH us. When Christ walked the earth, He walked OUT of the religious institution of His day and into the wilderness where He was free to teach and minister as the Spirit led Him. Christ IN us is STILL walking out of the institutions and into the wilderness where He commands our complete devotion. Though Jesus occasionally ventured into the temple and synagogues (which by the way He referred to as “your temple” and “your synagogues”), for the most part He remained in the wilderness, where He said “the Son of Man has no place to lay His head” (Matthew 8:20). No believer should “lay his head” at the feet of a false shepherd, which is precisely what they do whenever they subject themselves to the institution, and those who prosper from it.

I am reminded of an old Keith Green song, wherein he sings “I pledge my head to heaven for the Gospel”. There is a similar scripture in one of Paul’s letters I think, but I can’t find it right now. Fundamentally, I think the difference between being IN or OUT of the institution is as simple as the difference between pledging our head to men, or to Christ. You can not pledge your head to men, and be effective for Christ.

Jack Helser

Hi Clay,

I agree somewhat, but wonder: How does one get out of the system, and still honor the Word to "forsake not the assembling ..." ... I guess the question I have in testing your Word is this: "What is specifically meant by "get out"?

In Him, Jake

Dear Clay,

Just HAD to write you and say AMEN. In my time of worshiping and prayer last week on Friday, I felt the Spirit of God saying: It is time for the Consecration, time for the New Wine Skins so that I may begin to pour out my spirit upon those of my children who will stand in the fullness of Me. I am about to pour out New Wine into these wine skins. There will be such an overflow that will come out of them and they will begin to speak all that I have been preparing them to speak. But My children, the consecration that is coming will not be something that you enjoy. I will begin to tear off those things that you have not been willing to let go of and give to Me. IF you want to walk in the New Wine you must be willing to be totally consecrated to Me. There will be many that will fall away because the cost of what I am about to do will not be something they are willing to sacrifice. Let those who have ears to hear, hear what the Lord is saying.

So I believe that the Lord is beginning to speak very loudly and to those whom He knows will not be afraid to stand and speak what they hear the Lord saying for the hour we are about to come into.

Blessings and Praise Be to the Father in Heaven. May His Will be done upon this earth as it is in Heaven.

Connie in Ohio

Clay,

This word is right on target. I spent several years remaining in the system even though I was well aware of its problems. I didn't want to lose my friends, and I really did care about them and want to see them delivered, too. But I must confess that there was a part of me using my "concern" as an excuse not to make the changes that I knew had to be made.

I left the system several months ago. I've had to go through a withdrawal period to get over what I call my "church addiction". A few weeks ago I had dinner with some very dear friends from my former church. It was heartbreaking to see how blind they are to who God really is and what He wants to do in their lives. The real blow was the realization that I was seeing what I had been just a few years ago.

The Lord reminded me that they have access to the same Bible and Holy Spirit that led me to freedom. He is dealing with all His children.

Yes! This word is right on target and from the Lord.

Thank you,

Wayne

Comments and an exhortation from Rosemary LaVigne January 29th 2004

A true word to the above comments by Clay Sikes sent to me today from Lighhouse Prophecy injesus.com.....As the people stay in the systems of man's orchestrated and man's methods of their religious ways of doing things they are caught up in the sway of their religious works and will never fit into it once they truly and genuinely have a "clear" understanding and vision of the kingdom which is coming without observation.

The prophet Isaiah writes chapter 52:11-22 "Depart ye, depart ye go ye out from hence, touch no unclean thing, go ye out of the midst of her be ye clean, that bear the vessels of the Lord." Vs 12 "For ye shall not go out with haste, nor go by flight: for the Lord will go before you: and the God of Israel will be your rearward." And the apostle Paul writes in 2 Corinthians 6:14-17 "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: (wheat and tares) for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?" Vs 15 "And what concord hath Christ with Belial what part hath he that believeth with an infidel? Vs 16 "And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols ("idol" shepherds perhaps? See Zechariah 11) for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them. and I will be their God, and they shall be my people." Vs 17 "WHEREFORE COME OUT FROM AMONG THEM, AND BE SEPARATE, SAITH THE LORD, AND TOUCH NOT THE UNCLEAN THING; AND I WILL RECEIVE YOU." Vs 18 And will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty." This is quite plain if we have the ears to hear....

The Father's children must leave as he calls them ...and as they alone hear his voice to come out of her! Man cannot tell them to come out until they have the revelation of why they must come out...If they stay in that cage and the smooth words of man's delusions, their vision becomes blurred and their hearing becomes dull as the Lord has said and they are committing "spiritual" fornication with the harlot system. They are to come out of her as John writes in Revelation 18:4. And they do not hear and obey his voice once they hear it in their inner man of the heart, if they do not come out they will be caught in the plagues that will come on her.. And they will come, there is no doubt about that and very soon.

The prophet Micah writes in chapter 2:9-10 "The women of my people have ye cast out from their pleasant houses (Their God ordained places and "Houses" of ministry within the church organized system of man's order.) Vs 10 "Arise ye, and depart; for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, even with a sore destruction." The plagues that are coming on Her for Her unwillingness to take heed to the Lord and the Father's wise counsel.... See Deuteronomy 12:9; Leviticus 18:25; Proverbs 1:22-32; Jeremiah 3:2. "Whoredom and wine (the false wine of the harlot's house) take away the heart." The word heart here means understanding and when you have no understanding you are void of true vision. And as long as the Lord's own people stay in these harlots houses of "spiritual" prostitution they have no vision and that is seeing clearly and "Without a vision the people perish." Amen

Submitted for your judging the comments

The Sound of A Trumpet in Zion The House of David Injesus.com Email for comments Hisvanguard@aol.com

----

Thank you Clay,

My husband and I have discussed this exact subject at length. This, I believe is a Word in season, I was blessed to pass it on to him and his response was. ' WOW.'

He has always encouraged me to obey God as I hear him, but he has struggled to understand. He is now getting so excited about this move of God. WE have both been particularly encouraged by Chapter 10 of "The crucified ones", Old order/ new order. It is so on the button, with not a wasted word.

So much confirmation after a long period of being alone but desperate to obey.

Joy & Peace to you today
Bobsy

Everyone will be held accountable for what the Lord is telling them individually. I have seen Christians come out of the system only to backslide and turn back to their old sins. The babes in the Lord need the milk of the Word to grow, and at least they are getting that if they are in a Church where there is a true pastor who is teaching the Word.

I agree that those that are in the system and do not see that our allegiance is not to a man, or a denomination, or to a organization of any kind will be greatly limited in their spiritual growth.

I have read many of the writings by Brother Sparks and Watchman Nee who each had a tremendous revelation of Christ and the Church, and neither one of these Brothers ever told anyone to leave the Church that they were in. They did not believe in the Church as an organization or institution was of God, but they also believed that Christ, as the Head of the Church is able to lead and direct the sheep as He sees fit.

In His Love,
Mike

More Comments: Leaving The System
Various
Jan 31, 2004
Dear List Members,

I have stated many times that personally I believe that anytime we submit to “the world’s system,” unless we are anointed and directed of God to do so, we are subject to it’s influence; so whether you are “under it,” “in it,” or simply in attendence, my personal belief is that it has great potential to corrupt, the noted exception being UNLESS WE ARE DIRECTED!

I first saw this spirit "the world's system" in business, particularly in corporate America. The same spirit (the world's system) that drives many corporations drives many churches, but all are not equipped to see this. Most of what I write is directed toward those who “see” and “know” and are seeking confirming truth. Most of what I write here is not new to most who subscribe to this list, but often confirms the internal witness within. I always challenge readers to test what I write. I often get much in the way of confirmation, but also hear from those who violently disagree with me.

One of the great frustrations in these discussions is the seeming inability of some readers to understand what we are advocating here; separation from "the system," not from "the people" in the system. I have never ever made any statement here or anywhere else that proposes we abandon the people. It is for their sake that we separate ourselves from the delusion of the system, that we may clearly hear God's direction about building His Kingdom on earth.

Some are not aware that there are two competing systems, the world's system and the Kingdom of God that compete for our daily affection. Some are not aware that the anti-christ spirit is now sitting directly in the household of God; and that the world's system has made itself at home in the church, with its strong delusional powers. Lastly, some are so deceived as to willingly choose the old wine instead of the new (Luke 5:39).

Let me say it that it might be clearly understood by all who read this; in my opinion we are to UNSUBSCRIBE to the world's system, not the people. The Holy Spirit connects the Body, we don't! Many of us are bound with our soulish attachments and self appointed traditions, which make God's spoken word to us to NO EFFECT. Many of us still eat fruit from the Tree Of The Knowledge Of Good and Evil, and we choose who we are connected to instead of allowing the Holy Spirit to do so.

God is doing a new thing with His True Bride. The virgins who filled their lamps were prepared when the bridegroom appeared. Some will not be prepared when this hour comes; they will still be in their religious settings, making their religious statements and quoting scripture, and ever drunk from the old wine, not perceiving the times. I hear from these people everyday, accusing me of not walking in love, abandonment, hard-heartedness, divisiveness, etc,. There is also another common denominator with these religious folks; none believe there is room for the prophetic office in new testament times.

My comments, as with the comments of many others have been directed toward opening the eyes of the Saints to an awareness of the improprieties of "the system," its ability to influence and deceive, and greatest, its ability to separate man from his God.

The schemes of the enemy are predictable, and we are not ignorant of them. Often I hear the question about "forsaking the assembly." I have seen the enemy quote this scripture and hold people captive so many times until it is scripturally predicable as to what he will use to KEEP people bound. Is God not big enough to lead us to other LIKE-MINDED believers whose destiny is intertwined with ours, once we have obeyed and left the system? This question about forsaking the assembly always reveals the depth to which we routinely limit God with our traditions. Please read the opening Spirit led dialog on the Lighthouse Prophecy website, written over two years ago (www.lighthouseprophecy.com).

When we left (the system) a few years ago, like Abraham, we knew not where we were headed. We sat home for several weeks before a group of church refugees like us began to assemble together in our home. I have grown more spiritually in the last three years than the previous eighteen; The reason is simple; there is no separation between God and myself, there is no corruption of the word, nor is there the effect of the strong delusion of the system. We are warned throughout the new testament about the strong delusion, with such influence that the very elect be deceived were it possible.

As a result of obeying God's Spirit and leaving, we are enabled to help others as they come out and be a place of refuge and encouragement. In the process, we are seeing the full five-fold ministry establish itself and operate in power. Destiny and purpose is being established as the liberty of the Spirit is taking us to new places in God.

Undeniably, God is restructuring the wineskin in us, and hence the Bride is being made ready. The ingathering of God’s people, the assemblying if you will, is also being restructured, but this new wine will ONLY flow to where there are new wineskins to receive it. To my surprise, no one attached any significance, or at least to the point of mentioning it, to a scripture that was mentioned in yesterday’s correspondence. Dickie Welch, who I consider to be my pastor, read this to me yesterday, and I shared it in yesterday's posting.

It is the scripture found in Luke 5:36-39. As Dickie pointed out, verse 39 offers much explanation why many refuse to leave the system. I humbly submit that you ask the Holy Spirit to speak to you through these verses. If indeed there is some application, I am confident the Holy Spirit will reveal it.

In Him,

Clay

Yes, I agree we have to come out of the system, but we should never forsake the people that are in that system. You and I know that the majority of the church (his people) have opted out as a body, as a family for some elect “clergy” or one man to do everything. Sounds familiar, “give us a king like everyone else”. We know that God's desire was that they would be under His direct leadership, but we also know He anointed the kings of old and brought the Messiah through the line of a king. So we should not write off the “ traditional” or “conventional” church, so quickly. God still has revealed Himself through those people.

But we also know that the “clergy” and “laity” separation that has taken place has removed the responsibility of co-servantship and love. It has done us great harm to forfeit our responsibility to each other to minister and love one another. We need to return to the simplistic nature of the church. The reason is love. The primary motivation of love always manifests as co-submission and abandonment of our own selfish motivations. Look at 1 Corinthians 14:27-40 they were to prefer each other over themselves. When we embrace and have true fellowship with our Messiah and Lord we will and should likewise embrace and have fellowship with each other. If this is not happening we need to question if we are truly embracing the Lord.

We who have a burden to see our brothers and sisters free from the trap that the church has laid in the past, must remember the essence of what Paul was saying in 2 Corinthians 12:15, "I will most gladly spend and be spent for your souls. If I love you more abundantly, am I loved the less?" When Paul says "I will most gladly spend and be spent for your souls." He is saying this to a church that has almost rejected him. We have to ask ourselves, "How far does my love go? How deep does the Messiahs Love go in me?" “Do I love the Lords body-the church enough to say this I would most gladly be spent.... that is for their souls?” “Do I love them enough to see them through this mess we have gotten into?” “Am I willing to lay aside all comfort and self preservation for the sake of their souls?”

I am reminded of the kind of love that our Messiah commanded us to walk in, it’s found in 1 Corinthians 13:4-11 "Love is patient and is kind; love doesn’t envy. Love doesn’t brag, is not proud, doesn’t behave itself inappropriately, doesn’t seek its own way, is not provoked, takes no account of evil; doesn’t rejoice in unrighteousness, but rejoices with the truth; bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things. Love never fails. But where there are prophecies, they will be done away with. Where there are various languages, they will cease. Where there is knowledge, it will be done away with. For we know in part, and we prophesy in part; but when that which is complete has come, then that which is partial will be done away with. When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I felt as a child, I thought as a child. Now that I have become a man, I have put away childish things."

Have we walked in that kind of love toward all His people? Are we willing to love even those who have been stooped in the tradition of opting out as a body, and looking to one man or “clergy” to minister? I think we have often been selfish children, which have clung unto what was in "our own best interest."

We need fight against bitterness toward the “organization” and those stooped in the tradition of man. We need to be careful not to separate ourselves, and not wanting to have anything to do with the “denominational” gatherings at all. We need to guard ourselves from not believing or seeing any hope for those who are so stooped and set in their ways. We often give off a air that we are better and more loved by God then the others, this is not the way of love.

Paul put away this childish way, and loved and spent himself for their sakes. Why did he do this? How did he do this? It was because of the great love the Messiah gave him. It was because of Jesus. This year is a year to spend ourselves, it’s a year to go and love. I am not talking about overlooking sin; I am talking about loving through error. Loving enough to stick around and to be apart of the solution. To me this error of having nothing to do with the people, is abandonment and smells a lot like a spirit of divorce. Would you leave your wife just because she didn’t always agree with you? What about rejecting your brother or sister because they didn’t understand what was revealed to you? The family of the Messiah is no less apart of you. We who think we are spiritual should do what? We should apply Galatians 6:1 “Brothers, even if a man is caught in some fault, you who are spiritual must restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness; looking to yourself so that you also aren’t tempted.”

We need to come and learn a little more about that better way. The better way is love. It is not going to be easy. Remember God's church are those who have heard and responded to His call "Come to me, all you who labor and are heavily burdened" Regardless if they are caught up in tradition of man or not. The question that comes to my mind is, "Will you be willing to lay down your life and be spent for my church even if they love you the less?" Just as there is a difference between being in the world and being apart of its “system” the ethics and values the world basis its life on. We who are “mature” or spiritual should be willing to lay down our own comfort and desires for the greater way, the way of love. He has not called us to isolate ourselves from the “church” which includes those who are still bound by mans ways. He called us to abandon ourselves and die! Its not our life to live its Jesus’. We must come out of the “system” of selfishness, we must be willing to die to false understanding, self-exaltation, and lording over the Body of Christ. It entails great humbling for all of us. We must be willing to take a deep look at our hearts and allow the Holy Spirit to lead us out of the captivity of the lust of the eye, (greed and covetousness), lust of the flesh (indulgence and selfishness), the pride of life (self-exaltation and prestige). To align ourselves into the correct structure, humility and servantship, the one Christ laid out.

As the scripture in Jeremiah 5:31 says “what will you do in the end?” Will we start loving one another and come away from the practice of opting out? And if we already have, then “will you love everyone else to see them through the mess?

God’s Blessings

Jeremy Ketner

Clay,

I found the word to be interesting and thought provoking. Carole and I have a ministry that allows us to minister in the religious system. It is true that most of this system is not of God, but the PEOPLE are. Jesus is the spirit of prophecy and how He talked in the Scriptures is how He will talk today and forever - He is the same. The true "Harlot" church is in the book of Revelation and will worship the Anti-Christ religious system. There are apostate churches, but even this is NOT a church that accepts Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior. Those who are receiving prophetic corporate revelation from the Lord concerning HIS bride must understand that we are all sinners saved by GRACE. He chose us as His bride by nothing we did on our own. We cannot WORK a right system into place. It is about loving Jesus! I could give a flip where someone attends as long as they love Jesus. The temple in the time of Christ was built by pagan Herod! Yet Jesus still spoke of it as housing the presence of God. Why? Because people like Annanias, Anna, and the woman who gave her last coin were there. They same is true today. We carry the presence of God in earthen arks wherever we are! Look, the "system" is a man made tradition built upon the insecurities of man. This is not too big for Father to resurrect. Prophetic individuals must use wisdom or we will create another "system" because we have not been healed of past hurts, disappointments, and wounds that the church may have inflicted upon us.

Your brother,
Danny

Wow,

I didn't read them all ... but enough to see a lot of hurting people. I've met the type and even been there myself. Do I agree that the church as a body has problems.... certainly !

However, as you see in the letters, when people go to house churches .... they only take their problems with them.

As I see it, the 'distinctive' of the Body of Christ is not whether we have problems ... but the example we are to show in dealing with our problems. That is our 'uniqueness' .... in all relationships ... at church or at home. That's how we are 'salt and light'.

Dwight
Charter Solutions
403-347-4748 off
403-357-2287 cell

Dear Clay,

I have come "out of the system", as you say, several years ago. I have found that by coming out of the system (likened to Egypt), that I have found time and great need to fellowship with the Master. I have not lost a "church", I have found The Church, the true Body of Christ. I have found that our Lord and Heavenly Father leads us almost daily to come together with other Believers and share and have true fellowship with one another. We are reaching out and helpings one another, exhorting and strengthening one another, and sharing what we have in excess with others that have not enough, and God is greatly blessing us. We don't always meet together, and most usually don't, in the same building or places, but as we meet, He is always there, in our midst..........teaching us and guiding us and building us together........one with another into His most glorious temple.

It is one that is not made with man's hands. It is being formed now, one of us as a "living" stone, joined with another living stone, and then another, and another. If you can let go of all that has been programmed in the mind in the past decades of what we know as "church", and take a good look at the church that He is building, you can see a beautiful, functional and alive Body that is being formed that looks like Him in nature, walk and actions. Folks, He is coming again in a way that the "religious" minds can not recognize, as they are not looking for Him, they are looking for a system, something that looks like the way the world would do it. He is not of the world and what He is doing right now does not look like and will not look like what the world builds. Come away with Him, Beloved, and sup at His table and taste His New Wine, as He makes in us a New Wineskin!

Chris W

To Russia With Love!

Robin Paisley

Sep 05, 2004

PERPETUA

"While I was still under arrest my father out of love for me was trying to persuade me and shake my resolution. 'Father,' said I, 'do you see this vase here, for example, or waterpot or whatever?'

'Yes, I do', said he.

And I told him: 'Could it be called by any other name than what it is?'

And he said: 'No.'

'Well, so too I cannot be called anything other than what I am, a Christian.'

Vivia Perpetua
beheaded March 7th 203 at Carthage, North Africa

It will be five years come this December since finding myself very broken at the feet of Jesus. One truly will find an open door to the Divine Creator when all other doors seemed closed. It is here in the bleakness of the night, in the quiet of the day, when no other touch will do but that of the Maker when we will have a close encounter with the King!

I seek the Lord day and night, all day I cry out to Him to answer me, to come and deliver me from the tares of this world. During the night I hunger for His touch that awakens me softly, whispers in my ear, divine dew from Heaven, honey from His Throne.

It seems of lately the visions He has given me speak much of the coming reformation and His women arising during the storm. There is never a storm nor thundering wave without the blessed assurance of His love, His peace that causes something deep within to begin to awaken, it stirs His desires within us, it gives birth to His voice. This isn't just a call for women but a call from the young to the old, man and woman, rich and poor to soar the heavens He has prepared for us and reach for that which is already ours.

Today I was taken by the Spirit of the Lord and flown to Russia, oh Russia the Lord has not forgotten you nor Has He forsaken you. I saw many women who are hearing the call of the Lord and they have created an atmosphere of His love in the most difficult of situations one can imagine, they are preparing the way for His Kingdom to come. The children who have lost their lives in Russia's latest tragedy have not died in vain, they have left behind many seeds of destiny to be fulfilled by those personally chosen by God.

The enemy's plans were exposed and no longer hidden from sight when the Spirit of the Lord took me by many more schools in Russia that are going to be the target of more terrorism. "He revealeth the deep and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkness, and the light dwelleth with him. (Daniel 2:22)

This is a grand opportunity to thwart the plans of satan and bring God's Glory to their land in Jesus Mighty Name!

The Lord then extended His right hand out towards me and there in the palm of His hands was Russia and He did something that shook me to the core. He picked up Russia out of the palm of His hand and He placed her in His mouth and He began to speak. "My Words will not fall to the ground in vain nor blow away like the dust of the earth, but My Russia will stand during this time of persecution and from the bellows of deep darkness will arise My women, My children and My men who will know My voice and My sound. Tell My children to pray, to cry out to Me for Russia, for out of the darkness will arise My people who will carry My light throughout the Nations! ARISE!

There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus.

And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise. Galatians 3:28,29

Thoughts Of The Heart

Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelite,

The apostle Paul, quoting from the Psalms, states that there is “none righteous, not even one”. Apparently from YHVH’s point of view, no man is capable of being righteous as He is (ref. Rom 3:10, Ps 14:1-3). Therefore, “all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God” (Rom 3:23). No effort of man to ‘do good’ qualifies him to pass the test of the Father’s justice. Had there ever been a mortal who could have passed this test, the Father would not have had to have a Son born of His own nature and righteousness. This human would have become the hope of the rest of the human race, which is still trying to be “like God”. Is this why Yeshua exhorts to seek first the Kingdom of YHVH and His righteousness? Why, in particular, “His righteousness” and “His Kingdom” (the latter includes His righteousness)?

In the philosophies of humanism (which I studied many years ago), there is a built-in concept of reincarnation. In my experience I found that the adherent encountered endless obstacles that prevented him from accomplishing the desired state, in spite of his efforts to perfect righteousness through virtues. Thus, when frustration sets in, it is always possible to fall back on a ‘next life’ or ‘lives’, in order to advance to higher moral plains. In this system there are also “spirit guides”, or what are called “ascended masters” like Buddha, Jesus (not the Messiah), Moses, Mohammed, etc, to render help. Those spirits will take over one’s body, upon being granted permission, as supposedly they had achieved perfect righteousness when they were in an incarnated state on earth. All of these man-made efforts, along with their helpers (“angels of light”, see 2 Cor. 11:14-15) masquerading as righteous ones, only prove how impossible it is to reach perfection and actually confirm Scripture, that all men have fallen short of YHVH’s glory.

If our Creator created us “very good”, we must have started out with a heart condition that was just like His, full of love, joy, peace patience, kindness, goodness, self-control etc. This meant that Adam (they) could walk with Elohim and be in fellowship with Him, for sin had not separated them. But as we know, Adam and Eve lost this relationship through rebellion/disobedience, and came into relationship with another “god” whose nature was completely contrary to the nature that they had had previously. Right away their heart transformed to that of this new spiritual realm that they had come in contact with. Instead of light they had darkness, truth turned into lie, obedience to disobedience, faith became fear, wisdom became foolishness, love turned into hate and resentment, and so forth. Satan is known as the accuser, and Adam and Eve immediately began to live in that reality, as Adam accused Eve, and Eve accused the serpent. “Although they knew God, they did not glorify Him as God, nor were thankful, but became futile in their thoughts, and their foolish hearts were darkened. Professing to be wise, they became fools” (Rom 1:21-22).

What does this darkened heart look like? Yeshua describes its nature as: “For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lewdness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness. All these evil things come from within and defile a man" (Mark 7:21-23). Paul repeats the list and adds to it: “Being filled with all unrighteousness, sexual immorality, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, evil-mindedness; they are whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, violent, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, undiscerning, untrustworthy, unloving, unforgiving, unmerciful” (Rom. 1:29-31).

If this is the heart condition, or nature, from which the thoughts of the heart are communicated to the mind (with the mind translating them to words, and the words turning into deeds), what kind of world would result from the actions of the ones so disposed (i.e. mankind)? Just looking at the world as it is, is evident of the heart of man. Thus we are able to discern the thoughts of our heart, for they are exposed by our words and deeds.

The written Torah is the expression and reflection of YHVH’s nature of righteousness. In other words, it reveals to us His Son - the Word, and makes known His nature through His thoughts, words and deeds. Paul writes about this in his letter to the believers in Rome: “For since the creation of the world His invisible attributes [nature] are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made [by His Word], even His eternal power and Godhead, so that they are without excuse” (Rom. 1:20). YHVH’s Word came from His thoughts, which emanated from His life and nature. This is why everything that He brings forth is good, or very good, and explains how man (Adam) could be in YHVH’s image and likeness. Therefore, just as it is with our Creator, our nature (fallen or not) is also expressed through the same mechanics of thought, word and deed, revealing the true condition of the heart.

Recently I received the findings of an interesting study made by a young man. Sam examined scriptures with the words “thought” and “way”. For example: “Seek YHVH while He may be found, call upon him while He is near; Let the wicked forsake his way*, and the unrighteous man his* thoughts*: and let him return unto YHVH, and He will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. For My* thoughts are not your thoughts*, neither are your* ways My ways*, says YHVH. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my* ways higher than your ways*, and my* thoughts than your thoughts” (Isa 55:7-9).

In his letter Sam wrote: “God is calling us to perfection. He has asked us not only to forsake our way, but also our thoughts and to return to Him (that is repent), to learn to walk in his way (that is Yeshua), and to think as He thinks (that is to have the mind of Messiah Yeshua).”

Is it possible for us to abandon evil thinking if our nature has not changed? But if our nature has changed, where do the evil thoughts (that sometime plague us) come from? We have millions of thoughts every day. Do they all come from one source? We have noted above that thoughts do come from the heart and the mind. But can thoughts also come from an outside spiritual source? The scriptures indicate that the answer is “yes”. Satan can whisper temptation into our mind, hoping that we will not be discerning, nor be obedient to cast it down and that we will cooperate and allow that thought to become word and deed and thus establish his kingdom on earth.

During the time that we housed within our heart the fallen nature, our mind (a member of the soul) began to take on the thoughts from that corrupted heart. But now that a new creation spiritual nature has been given to us, and the old has passed away, why do we still think in the old thought patterns? Paul addresses this issue for us in Romans: “And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God” (12:2). Here is the challenge that faces us today, the renewing of the mind. We know the Scriptures exhort us to “bring every thought into captivity to the obedience of the anointing of the Spirit of Holiness that resides in our hearts” (2 Cor. 10:5b). YHVH’s nature is resident in our hearts, (that is His kingdom, His righteousness through the Spirit of Holiness) along with His thoughts, but we must be able to discern the difference between that which comes from our old thought patterns and that which originates with His thoughts; that is, that which comes from our new creation heart. It is for this reason that we need to know Him and His righteousness. His thoughts will always line up with His nature and will be confirmed by His written Word (Torah).

Shabbat Shalom
23 July 2004

To Weep Again

Sandy Warner

Sep 15, 2004
I am melting the hearts of My people one layer at a time. So many have grown numb from years of suffering over the pain of those they care for. Out of mere survival mode, the hearts of these dear ones have turned deep inside in an effort to find a warm place, safe from the blizzards of disappointment. They too are in deep need of tender loving care and who will be there to warm their hearts? I have heard their prayers and will bring them back to life. I have wept tears in their stead, for their fountains stopped their flow and their tears dried up. I have felt the pain they no longer feel. The numbness that surrounds their very existence shall become warm to My loving touch. I will pursue these nurturing ones until their final facade melts away and their hearts have grown tender once again. When they feel the thaw, their tears will flow once again and I will stop at nothing to hold them in My arms of love…these, so close to My heart.

Ezek 11:18-21 NKJV
Then I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within them, and take the stony heart out of their flesh, and give them a heart of flesh, that they may walk in My statutes and keep My judgments and do them; and they shall be My people, and I will be their God.

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

444

Sandy Warner

Sep 13, 2004
Even as you witnessed the date line up on 4/04/04, so I line up all things in your life with heaven's forecast. You may wonder about My time clock, but I work all things out and puzzle all together perfectly. Relax, dear ones, rest in this and find your joy. Just look at My timing, it's perfect in every way.

No matter what you need, when I send you supplies, you shall have enough with more leftover.

2 Kings 4:44 NKJV
So he set it before them; and they ate and had some left over, according to the word of the LORD.

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

Do Not Swallow A Lie
Sandy Warner

Sep 17, 2004
Dear one, I know that circumstances have pressed in on every side and you have grown desperate for breakthrough. Did I not say you shall be carried through the midst of such? Do not curse yourself with unbelief and hopeless despair. Behold, I AM there and I have promised you that your next three years will be recovery. Trust My Word over your life and let the restoration begin. I will recover you from the inside out and even your habits shall be set free into liberty. Resist the lie and please trust Me.

1 Sam 30:8 AMP
And David inquired of the Lord, saying, Shall I pursue this troop? Shall I overtake them? The Lord answered him, Pursue, for you shall surely overtake them and without fail recover all.

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

To Whom Am I sent?

Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net

> "Then Jesus said, 'Assuredly, I say to you, no prophet is accepted in his own country. But I tell you truly, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elijah, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, and there was a great famine throughout all the land; but to none of them was Elijah sent except to Zarephath, in the region of Sidon, to a woman who was a widow. And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Elisha the prophet, and none of them was cleansed except Naaman the Syrian'. So all those in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath, and rose up and thrust Him out of the city; and they led Him to the brow of the hill on which their city was built, that they might throw Him down over the cliff. Then passing through the midst of them, He went His way" (Luke 4:24-30, NKJV).

In Scripture we find a principle that governs all spiritual work. This principle applies to anyone and everyone who undertakes to do something on behalf of the Kingdom of God, whether it is preaching, teaching, writing, prophesying, or planting churches. This principle even applied to the Lord Jesus during His earthly ministry. So it is critically important that we identify this principle to ensure that we, too, are cooperating with God as we go about the work He has called us to do.

THE CRITICAL COMPONENT: BEING SENT

When it comes to Christian work and ministry, many workers, ministries and churches are motivated by a perceived NEED. We feel there is a need for something, whether it be a specific ministry, a missionary outreach, a new church, or a Bible study; and so we rise up to meet that need. However, this manner of undertaking spiritual work is purely a human concept. It is of the flesh; it is of the world. It is the same basis upon which a business discovers a need and then creates a product or service to meet that need. The Kingdom of God, however, does not conduct itself according to the principles of business, economics, marketing, or salesmanship.

While teaching in the synagogue of Nazareth, Jesus perceived that the people expected Him to cure the sick and perform miracles just as He had done in other places - after all, Nazareth is where He grew up. However, Jesus did not respond to their expectation. Instead, He pointed out that there were many widows and lepers in Israel during the time of the prophets Elijah and Elisha. The widows needed food, and the lepers needed healing. Naturally speaking, it made sense for Elijah and Elisha to help those who were right in front of them. But Elijah went to a widow in Zarephath, and Elisha went to a leper in Syria, ignoring all the widows and lepers in their own nation who needed help.

How did Jesus explain this? The answer He gave is quite simple: "But to none of them was Elijah sent." The critical component was not the many who were in NEED, but the one to whom he was SENT. Although not specifically stated, the same principle applied to Elisha as well. Then, Jesus applied the principle to Himself, and refused to perform any miracles in Nazareth. Of course this angered the people, and their subsequent attempt to kill the Lord Jesus only demonstrated that they were, in fact, not worthy of Him.

So the question is not, "Who has a need?" but rather, "To whom am I sent?" Although the two sound very similar, in actual experience the difference is like day and night.

Responding To Need Versus Responding To God

"Early the next morning Jesus went out into the wilderness. The crowds searched everywhere for Him, and when they finally found Him, they begged Him not to leave them. But He replied, "I must preach the Good News of the Kingdom of God in other places, too, because that is why I was sent" (Luke 4:42,43, NLT).

If we are primarily motivated by what other people want, expect, and need then we will be tempted to stay longer than we should stay, or say more than we ought to say. When the crowd is begging for more, most Christian workers and preachers are only too eager to accommodate them. But Jesus had an acute sense of purpose because He knew to whom He had been sent. As a result, He did not bow down to the will of the people and go beyond the time and place appointed Him by His Father, even though they begged Him to stay. He was responding to what God needed, not what the people needed.

A Christian should realize that he or she is a unique member of the Body of Christ and not the entire Body all at once. We are many parts that together make up the whole. Each individual member has its own unique purpose, function, and role. The responsibility for God's work is divided among many members. We are not called to be all things to all people. We are not called to meet every need. God sets each person in the Body of Christ as it pleases Him, and He is the One Who sends us. We do not send ourselves. We do not determine what we would like to do. We do not analyze the situation with our limited understanding and come up with a solution. The Head determines what needs to be done, and the members simply perform it.

Speaking from my own experience, I have noticed three stages of development in my Christian work. In the early days of ministry I would seek invitations to speak. I let it be known that I would go anywhere and do anything. After I achieved a certain level of recognition I no longer had to seek invitations, I could simply respond to invitations as they came to me. I would go wherever and whenever I was invited. Certainly the Lord honored His Word and people were blessed. However, I recognize now that this seeking and responding is simply the striving of the flesh. For some time now we have been in quite a different season, a season in which we neither seek invitations nor go whenever we are invited. Sometimes we do indeed go when we are invited, sometimes we do not go. Once in awhile we go with no invitation at all.

How do we explain this? Simply put, the governing principle for us is no longer, "Who will have us?" Instead, the question is, "To whom are we sent?" It is one thing to accept an invitation, but it is quite another thing to be sent of the Lord. If I respond solely on the basis of someone's need or invitation then I cannot rest assured that I am being sent - I only know that I am going. Christians in general are much too casual in this regard. Without the definite sending of the Lord we are totally on our own, lacking spiritual discernment, power, and authority. On the other hand, if we are being sent, we are going in the Name of Jesus, and as His representatives, we enjoy all the blessing, power, anointing, and authority of Heaven.

There are three aspects of being sent: going only WHEN you are sent, going only WHERE you are sent, and speaking only to WHOM you are sent. We will look at each three more particularly.

Going Only When You Are Sent

"So they, being sent forth by the Holy Ghost, departed..." (Acts 13:4a).

When Paul and the other Christians in Antioch gathered together there were many souls to be saved, many churches to be planted, and many disciples to be instructed. There was much work to be done, but instead of organizing the work according to the obvious need, they ministered to the Lord and waited until the Spirit gave them instructions. Only when the Spirit spoke and sent them forth did they actually depart.

In the New Testament we do not find a pattern for how the church should evangelize the world, nor do we discover a plan for reaching the lost, or a method for planting churches. Those who focus all their attention on patterns, plans, and methods fail to realize that patterns, plans, and methods are all subject to change and depend upon time, culture, nationality, people, economy, gifts, personalities, and a myriad of other variables. There is a maxim that says, "Methods are many, but principles are few; methods will change, but principles never do."

So the key is not trying to imitate a New Testament pattern from two millenniums past, but practicing a New Testament principle that never changes. What is the principle? Simply this: they were completely governed by the Spirit; and since we, too, have the same Spirit, we likewise may be led of Him. Undoubtedly the Spirit may lead us to do some similar things, but our commonality is not in what is being done, but rather, Who is doing it. Either we are going to come up with a plan and do it ourselves or we are going to let the Spirit do it through us as He sees fit. When the Day of Pentecost came the Spirit Himself filled them. From that day forward, it was the Spirit that anointed them, gave them words to speak, appointed elders, sent apostles, and raised up local churches.

In fact, the very word "apostle" means "one who is sent". According to popular teaching, someone who goes out to plant churches is an apostle. This sounds correct, but it is misleading. Ironically, an apostle is not simply anyone who goes, but someone who is sent. The one who merely goes travels on his own authority, but the one who is sent travels under someone else's authority. An apostle does not simply take it upon himself to go out and do something; he waits until he is sent. We have plenty of people who know how to go - what we need now is people who know how to be sent.

Going Only Where You Are Sent

"Now when they had gone through Phrygia and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden by the Holy Spirit to preach the word in Asia. After they had come to Mysia, they tried to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit did not permit them" (Acts 16:6,7, NKJV).

Our destination, and well as our departure, must be governed by the Spirit. How intriguing that the Spirit actually forbade them to preach the word in Asia and Bithynia! This ought to be proof enough that "need", in and of itself, is insufficient guidance. The only thing that matters is being sent, and it is critical that we go only where the Spirit sends us.

The apostles were indeed sent forth by the Spirit, yet that same Spirit did not permit them to just go wherever they pleased. The Spirit prevented them twice before they understood that Macedonia, not Asia or Bithynia, was the intended destination. Later we see that Paul indeed went to Asia and a tremendous work was founded. This tells us that a "no" today does not mean a "no" is forever; nevertheless, when the Spirit forbids us, we dare not take matters into our own hands and go where we have not been sent.

Those with an evangelical mindset often assume that since Jesus said, "Go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature" they do not have to pray, wait, or be led by the Spirit. Having this word from Jesus they go forth and blaze their own trail.

We must realize, however, that this general command of Jesus does not preclude the necessity to only go where the Spirit is sending us at that particular moment. Generally speaking, the Church is sent to the whole world; but we ought to ask ourselves, as individual disciples and members of the Body of Christ, "To whom, specifically, am I sent today?" It should be obvious that the Church as a whole is commanded to go into all the world, while specific members are sent to meet specific needs in specific parts of the world. God is not the author of confusion, but order.

Speaking Only To Whom You Are Sent

"Arise therefore, go down and go with them, doubting nothing; for I have sent them" (Acts 10:20, NKJV).

It was God Who told Cornelius to send for Peter. It was God Who told Peter to go to Cornelius. When God brought these two together, Peter had hardly begun to speak when the Spirit fell on those who were listening. It should be seen that the success of the mission to Cornelius' house had less to do with Peter's ability to speak and more to do with the audience's ability to hear. When we speak only to whom we are sent then we will see dramatic results. Trying to speak to everyone in general and no one in particular is a colossal waste of time and demonstrates poor stewardship. We ought not to give ten coins to someone who can only handle five, and we ought not to give five coins to someone who cannot handle even one. It is clear that much time is wasted trying to convince, persuade, plead, argue, teach, and help people to whom God has not sent us. If we will wait for the Spirit of God we will save ourselves a lot of time, effort and energy. A worker who indiscriminately throws precious seed on rocky ground and gives pearls to pigs is not being a wise, faithful, and profitable servant.

It is very difficult for younger believers to grasp this. They are filled with power, and knowledge, and zeal, and enthusiasm. Often they are very gifted and talented. Most of the time they have a genuine call from God. What they lack is the patience to wait for the Spirit to send them, and the maturity to know to whom they are sent. So when they see a need they move at once to fill that need, incorrectly assuming that it is their Christian duty and calling to meet every need around them. At times it seems as if God is blessing the work of their hands. At other times it seems as if they are running in quicksand. They work and toil and become weighed down with the meeting of many needs. Before long, the work of the Lord becomes more important than the Lord of the work.

Confronted with a nation full of widows and lepers in need, these young Elijahs and Elishas would no doubt begin to undertake the huge task of feeding all the widows and healing all the lepers, solely on the basis of what they think needs to be done. As a result, they may have some initial successes, but before long they are completely drained of spiritual power and must rely upon fleshly methods to keep everything going. The hasty and the impatient do not enjoy that inner strength that comes to those who only labor in the field that God has sent them.

Many churches, ministries, missionary endeavors, and outreach programs have been birthed, not by the Spirit of God, but by well-meaning "Marthas" who are "cumbered about with much serving." Before long the entire organization is filled with Christians who are "troubled over many things" and there are few if any "Marys" left who know how to sit at the Lord's feet and hear His Word. This whole situation can be avoided if we will stop looking at man's need and simply ask, "To whom am I sent?"

Summation

"Now as [Paul] reasoned about righteousness, self-control, and the judgment to come, Felix was afraid and answered, 'Go away for now; when I have a convenient time I will call for you'" (Acts 24:25, NLT).

When the time is short we must make the most of every opportunity and waste nothing. Ordinarily if we speak the Word to someone and they send us away the best advice is to leave. Unfortunately, Paul was in prison and could not get away. Felix sent for him often but nothing ever changed. In this manner Paul witnessed to Felix for two years without any result whatsoever. Clearly this was a ruse of the enemy designed to frustrate the gifted apostle and sap his strength. Paul the prisoner had no choice but to come when Felix called for him; we who are free ought to be careful lest we find ourselves spending all our time talking to a Felix when there is a Cornelius praying to hear us speak the very words that Felix takes for granted.

Jesus says that His yoke is easy and His burden is light. Often we take the easy yoke and the light burden of the Lord and turn it into a difficult yoke and a heavy burden. This happens when we go beyond the place God has appointed us and take it upon ourselves to do things He has not called us to do, go to places He has not called us to go to, and speak with people to whom we have not been sent.

We cannot afford to become narrow-minded and legalistic in this regard, however. Jesus clearly stated that He was sent to the lost sheep of the house of Israel (Matthew 15:24); but that did not stop Him from ministering to an occasional Samaritan woman or Roman officer. Jesus recognized that these, too, were part of the "other sheep" that needed to be gathered into the fold (John 10:16). How will we know the difference? We will wait for the Spirit to show us.

To whom are YOU sent? Once this issue is settled, you may then go forth in the power and authority of Christ and see His Kingdom increased. Until then, it is better to stay where you are. May the Lord lead us by His Spirit and preserve both our going out and our coming in. Amen.

Thanksgiving Our Weapon of Warfare

Ching Co

ching@gsi.ph.inter.net

This message is for God's people who are waiting on the Lord this season.

Elijah's Journey

From the moment Elijah gave the prophetic word to King Ahab (1 Kings 17:1), to the time where we find him on top of Mount Carmel bent down to the ground between his knees (1 Kings 18:41), His journey had taken many years. He had faced many challenges and difficulties. He had to wait, to hide, to run, to trust God for his provisions, to come face to face with his enemy, to stand alone.

Spiritual Parallel

Many of God's people, in their quest to follow and pursue God's call in their lives have had to walk the same path that Elijah took. Your journey too has been long and filled with many obstacles. Like Elijah, these past years you have had to learn to wait, to trust God, to wrestle with your enemy, to die to yourself, to face persecution. You have felt like everything within you has been sucked out from you, and there is no more energy left that you can give out.

"Don't Give Up"

Today as you stand on top of your own Mount Carmel, down on your knees, waiting for God to give you a sign, like Elijah who had to command his servant seven times before he saw a cloud as small as a man's hand rising from the sea, so the Lord is saying to you, "Do not give up."

Shifting To A Different Gear

I felt the Holy Spirit challenging us that this is the season to shift to the gear of THANKSGIVING.

"Dont Be Distracted"

No matter how things look outwardly. Even when the vision you've been waiting for seems farthest from you, even if everything around you is in turmoil, even when your own loved ones don't believe in you anymore, even when all things seem lost, God’s message to you this day, "Don't be distracted by them."

Focus On God Not The Circumstances

Let us use THANKSGIVING as a weapon of warfare. Let us continue to press in with a thankful heart as we wait for God to move on our behalf. Let us set our heart and mind on God, on His nature and His character, on His Power, His Glory and His Might, on His love and His compassion, on His heart towards us which is for good and not for evil.

The Battle Is His Not Ours

You've done your part. Now allow the Lord to do His part for you.

Thank Him, Thank Him For Our God Is Worthy

Like Job, let our heart’s cry today be "The Lord gave, and the Lord has taken away; may the name of the Lord be praised.(Job 1:21) Though He slay me, yet will I hope in Him (Job 13:15)"

"He who sacrifices thank offerings honors me, and he prepares the way so that I may show him the salvation of God." (Psalm 50:23)

Blessings,
Sis. Ching Co
Cebu City
Philippines

The Purpose for Tribulation

Joe Ortiz

This is a chapter excerpted from Joe Ortiz' new book The End Times Passover

Chapter 21 - The Purpose for Tribulation!

In the last few chapters, we covered extensively those scriptural passages that deal with tribulation, trials, persecutions, etc., for the purpose of familiarizing our reader to a subject that many theorists choose to avoid while they build their secret pre-tribulation escape to heaven scenarios. Obviously they fail to address the subject of tribulation because it is their contention that the Christian Church will not experience persecution, in their staunch belief it will be removed from earth to heaven during the so-called Great Tribulation, therefore why even bother. But, God's word clearly tells us that we must experience much tribulation to enter the Kingdom of God.

After reading all of these verses concerning tribulation, the reader is probably tossing hands in the air and hopelessly lamenting, "Why become a Christian? Who needs all that suffering?" Life is bad enough as it is, why program us to a belief system that includes having to accept the fact that horrors loom before those that believe in Jesus Christ?" Agreed! There is much validity in those questions, if viewed solely from a secular or humanist perspective. True! Why become a Christian if the only thing immediately in store is trials and tribulations, persecutions from non-believers, which may include family, friends, fellow church members and neighbors, and the distinct possibility that we might even end up having to die for the cause? "Besides," say many Christians, "I thought that once I accepted Jesus Christ as my Lord and Savior, I wasn't going to have to suffer any longer as I did in the past, but rather, as a new Born Again believer, the next thing in store for me is an any-moment Rapture to heaven to be with Jesus Christ, at least for a 7-year period of time before He returns back to reign on earth!"

These questions and comments are valid, if a secret pre-tribulation escape to heaven is what the Bible clearly teaches. But if a pre-tribulation escape is not in store for the called out ones, then what purpose is served by the ecclesia having to experience great tribulation?

Let's read two significant verses in the Bible to help us set the tone for this chapter. First, in John 3:16, Jesus is telling Nicodemus (and all mankind, too) that, For God so loved the world that He gave his one and only Son that whoever believes in Him shall not perish but have everlasting life, (NIV). This one verse encapsulates the totality of God's purpose for mankind and the manner in which He accomplished His reunification program for His creation.

Most Christians know the basic history of Adam and Eve, their fall in the Garden of Eden, their separation from God and the chronology thereafter. We then see in the Old Testament where God chose a special person (the Hebrew Abraham) and a group of people (Israel) as His entity to reveal Himself and to fellowship with His creation once again, as He had with Adam and Eve. But many of the chosen descendants of Abraham rebelled against the laws and rulers He had provided for their own protection, and heeded not His words sent forth through His prophets. But yet (by virtue of His omniscient nature), God had a plan of reunification with His called out ones from the very beginning of time, knowing full well that redemption would be needed. He chose to step down from His majestic abode in heaven and took the form of man, offering Himself (in the person of Jesus of Nazareth) as a propitiatory sacrifice to pay for the sins of the world. All He asks is that, by faith, we should believe in the person of Jesus Christ so as to not perish, but have eternal life and fellowship with the Creator of all things.

Throughout history, God continues to reach out to mankind to accept this gift of salvation, but His creation continues to rebel, thinking of themselves as gods, rather than accepting this precious gift. The natural man, skeptical and not understanding the things of God, laments: "If man is fallen, why doesn't God simply wave His Almighty hand and remove all evil and restore His creation to Himself. Why doesn't God simply speak (as He did when all things were created) and bring in everlasting peace?" The answer is found in 2 Peter 3:9, the second significant verse, which reads:

> The Lord is not slow in keeping His promise, as some understand slowness. He is patient with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance, (2 Peter 3:9, NIV). [Bold and underline is by the author, solely for emphasis]

True! Those who have already come to the Lord by faith know and understand the reality of the Gospel. They know that the only way anyone can become reconciled to God is by faith, and by believing that Jesus Christ paid the price for their fallen state. But millions have yet to see (or accept) this reality. Even more so, as the Day of the Lord approaches, mankind in general and even many of those called out ones (who should be trusting in Jesus for all things) are being seduced by power, money, prestige, greed, lust and the satisfying of self, rather than seeking meaning for the true purpose of life. Rather than seeking reunification and fellowship with God (which was His original plan and purpose for mankind), humanity has charted its own course, a course of self-destruction:

> The God who made the world and everything in it is the Lord of heaven and earth and does not live in temples built by hands. 25 And he is not served by human hands, as if he needed anything, because he himself gives all men life and breath and everything else. 26 From one man he made every nation of men, that they should inhabit the whole earth; and he determined the times set for them and the exact places where they should live. 27 God did this so that men would seek him and perhaps reach out for him and find him, though he is not far from each one of us. 28 'For in him we live and move and have our being.' As some of your own poets have said, 'We are his offspring.' 29 Therefore since we are God's offspring, we should not think that the divine being is like gold or silver or stone – an image made by man's design and skill. 30 In the past God overlooked such ignorance, but now he commands all people everywhere to repent. 31 For he has set a day when he will judge the world with justice by the man he has appointed. He has given proof of this to all men by raising him from the dead, (Acts 17:24-31, NIV). [Underline and bold is by the author, solely for emphasis]

Two important verses in this group of scriptures to note of their importance include verses 27 and 31. Verse 27 states that God established times and places so men would seek Him, and perhaps reach out and find Him, even though He is not far from each one of us. Verse 31 states that God has set a day when He will judge the world with true justice in the person of Jesus Christ, and He has proven this to all mankind by raising Jesus Christ from the dead.

Here is the purpose of life! God has allowed mankind to follow in its own footsteps, if for no other reason than to prove to it that without a personal relationship with God it is doomed to fail the human experience! Throughout the Bible, we see God forever exhorting mankind to return to Him, but yet, there is continued rebellion. But as we have seen, God does not give up on His creation, but continues to draw it back to Him through the agency of the Holy Spirit, and those who now believe. The most important task of those that now believe is to preach the gospel of the Kingdom of God so no one shall perish. But as we can see by the Book of Revelation, many will not turn to God regardless of the sanctifying power of the word of God, nor will they turn back from the results of the horrific atrocities that will befall unbelievers when God's wrath is poured out.

"But," the Christian says, "If I believe now, and I'm doing the work of a true Christian, is it also necessary for me to endure tribulation?" "Of course not," say theorists. "God is not a cruel God. He will Rapture you to heaven for seven years and spare you from all these things." Unfortunately, many Christians (and their leaders) still do not understand God's ways. Unfortunately, this escapist mentality is extremely prevalent in the evangelical community because theorists have expounded on it for so long, and so often, that they fail to see what God truly has in store for His ecclesia. Unfortunately, the Christian (leadership) of today has lost sight of what God wants to accomplish with His called out ones during the intensified period of tribulation that will precede The Second

Advent. Although it appears that God will accomplish many more tasks during and through the remainder of history, one of those tasks will be to bring many more people to His Kingdom before He pours out His wrath, and He will accomplish this goal by using His called out ones like never before.

How? Let's go back to the time (in Acts 26:1-29) when Paul was incarcerated and was brought before King Agrippa, which paints (through one of Paul's ordeals) a perfect example of Christian testimony that resulted in people coming to repentance and receiving salvation. The author is including the entire chapter in order that the reader may experience one of the greatest testimonies and sermons (along with Stephen's in Acts Chapter 7) of all time:

> Then Agrippa said to Paul, "You have permission to speak for yourself." So Paul motioned with his hand and began his defense: 2 "King Agrippa, I consider myself fortunate to stand before you today as I make my defense against all the accusations of the Jews, 3 and especially so because you are well acquainted with all the Jewish customs and controversies. Therefore, I beg you to listen to me patiently. 4 The Jews all know the way I have lived ever since I was a child, from the beginning of my life in my own country, and also in Jerusalem. 5 they have known me for a long time and can testify, if they are willing, that according to the strictest sect of our religion, I lived as a Pharisee. 6 And now it is because of my hope in what God has promised our fathers that I am on trial today. 7 This is the promise our twelve tribes are hoping to see fulfilled as they earnestly serve God day and night. O king, it is because of this hope that the Jews are accusing me. 8 Why should any of you consider it incredible that God raises the dead? 9 I too was convinced that I ought to do all that was possible to oppose the name of Jesus of Nazareth. 10 and that is just what I did in Jerusalem. On the authority of the chief priests I put many of the saints in prison, and when they were put to death, I cast my vote against them. 11 Many a time I went from one synagogue to another to have them punished, and I tried to force them to blaspheme. In my obsession against them, I even sent to foreign cities to persecute them. 12 On one of these journeys I was going to Damascus with the authority and commission of the chief priests. 13 About noon, O king, as I was on the road, I saw a light from heaven, brighter than the sun, blazing around my companions and me. 14 We all fell to the ground, and I heard a voice saying to me in Aramaic, 'Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me? It's hard for you to kick against goads.' 15 Then I asked, 'Who are you, Lord?' 'I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting,' the Lord replied. 16 'Now get up and stand on your feet. I have appeared to you to appoint you as a servant and as a witness of what you have seen of me and what I will show you. 17 I will rescue you from your own people and from the Gentiles. I am sending you 18 to open their eyes and turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to God, so that they may receive forgiveness of sins and a place among those who are sanctified by faith in me.' 19 So, then, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the vision from Heaven. 20 First to those in Damascus, then to those in Jerusalem and in all Judea, and to the Gentiles also, I preached that they should repent and turn to God and prove their repentance by their deeds. 21 That is why the Jews seized me in the temple courts and tried to kill me. 22 But I have had God's help to this very day, and so I stand here and testify to small and great alike. I am saying nothing beyond what the prophets and Moses said would happen – 23 that the Christ would suffer and, as the first to rise from the dead, would proclaim light to his own people and to the Gentiles." 24 At this point Festus interrupted Paul's defense. "You are out of your mind, Paul!" he shouted. "Your great learning is driving you insane." 25 "I am not insane, most excellent Festus," Paul replied. "What I am saying is true and reasonable. 26 the king is familiar with these things, and I can speak freely to him. I am convinced that none of this has escaped his notice, because it was not done in a corner. 27 King Agrippa, do you believe the Prophets? I know you do." 28 Then Agrippa said to Paul, "Do you think that in such a short time you can persuade me to be a Christian?" 29 Paul replied, "Short time or long – I pray God that not only you but all who are listening to me today may become > what I am, except for these chains, (Acts 26:1-29, NIV). [Underline and bold is by the author, solely for emphasis]

The author believes with all his heart that when tribulations become more intense than they are now, a myriad of Christians will be brought before various officials and other governmental authorities throughout the world. Like Paul our declarations of faith before these governing bodies will be similar testimonies that will have the very same results: bring more people to the knowledge of God's saving grace before the Lord's return! For those theorists who contend there will be a secret pre-tribulation escape to heaven, seven years before Christ returns, this last phase of history would then make any preaching of the gospel a virtual impossibility. Theorists who see only semi-converted Jews or genetic Israelites as being those persecuted, tortured, thrown in prisons, or even killed during the end times, miss one of God's greatest displays of witnessing and testimony that God's ecclesia could possibly be involved with. Let's read again what is stated in Matthew 24:

> Then you will be handed over to the persecuted and put to death, and you will be hated by all nations because of me. 10 At that time many will turn away from the faith and will betray and hate each other, 11 and many false Prophets will appear and deceive many people. 12 Because of the increase of wickedness, the love of most will grow cold, 13 but he who stands firm to the end will be saved. 14 And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come, (Matthew 24:9-14, NIV). [Underline and bold is by the author, solely for emphasis]

This is the same message that we find in Mark's account of tribulation at the hands of the antichristian forces. However, in Mark's account, we read about the beautiful power that the Holy Spirit will display through the Christian at that time:

> You must be on your guard. You will be handed over to the local councils and flogged in the synagogues. On account of me you will stand before governors and kings as witnesses to them. And the gospel must first be preached to all nations. 11 Whenever you are arrested and brought to trial, do not worry beforehand about what to say. Just say whatever is given you at the time, for it is not you speaking, but the Holy Spirit, (Mark 13:9-11, NIV). [Underline and bold is by the author, solely for emphasis]

This intensified period of tribulation immediately before The Second Advent will see some of the boldest evangelizing ever seen in the history of mankind. Matthew 24:14 clearly states, and this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come! Theorists, who merely see Jews as finally being converted through tribulation and or God's wrath during this period of time, miss the point. The tribulation at the hands of antichristian forces is not God's punishment or wrath for past transgressions. It is an opportunity for called out ones to make one final stand for Jesus, resulting in many unbelievers turning to God before the Lord's return. The great "testing" to come about during this period is not to see who can withstand the most pain-until-you-repent; but, rather, this testing through persecution will be to see who will remain faithful to Jesus and the power of His word to bring as many more people to the Kingdom of God before His return. The man of lawlessness will be keenly (and diabolically) aware of this effort by called out ones. Henceforth, he will pull out all stops to silence the ecclesia. Satan, knowing that his time is short, will do everything in his power to destroy Christians throughout the world. The fact that the Christian will be boldly preaching the gospel during this intensified period of tribulation is proof that the Holy Spirit could not possibly be seen as being removed before this period of time. This intensified tribulation will result in one of the most glorious manifestations of the power of the Holy Spirit that has ever been seen. Even though scripture (in Daniel 12:7) records that the power (the missionary undertaking) of God's holy people will eventually be shattered, shortly before the Lord's return, the intended works of the Holy Spirit through the saints (Daniel 12:3) will result in millions of people converting to Jesus Christ. Many of these called out ones will be martyred, but many also will be alive to see The Second Advent of Jesus Christ. Here then we have one of the main purposes for not seeing the Christian Church removed before The Second Advent.

It boggles the mind to see how theorists can argue for the removal of the Christian Church (and the Holy Spirit as well), and then see people heretofore uncommitted to Jesus Christ, all of a sudden turning to the Lord due to persecutions from the Beast (and or God's wrath) and then suddenly proclaiming the gospel of Jesus Christ. If anything, it appears that those who have trusted and depended on their wealth and material goods (rather than God) will be more inclined to bow before the man of lawlessness when pressure is applied to them. If unbelievers have suddenly noticed that a myriad of Christians have been secretly Raptured from the face of the earth along with the Holy Spirit, the author is inclined to believe that their loyalty and allegiance will be more to the Beast system than to Jesus Christ. But yet, those true believers who patiently endure these trials will obviously be so convinced that Jesus will eventually rescue them, that they will joyously stand up for their savior under any circumstances. There will be many who will say they believe, and actually will call themselves Christian at that time (See Daniel 11:34), but will not have the power of the Holy Spirit working in them. In John 12:42, we see a perfect example of those who profess to believe in the Lord; however, they still cling to those things that they feel will bring them the security and the glory they seek for themselves:

> Yet at the same time many even among the leaders believed in him. But because of the Pharisees they would not confess their faith for fear they would be put out of the synagogue; 43 for they loved praise from men more than praise from God, (John 12:42, 43, NIV). [Bold and underline is by the author, solely for emphasis]

Matthew 24:9-14 and Mark 13:9-11 are portions of scriptures that are echoed in Luke 12:4, 5 and Luke 21:12-19; however, in Luke 21:12-19, we specifically see that called out ones will not experience these end-time tribulations as punishment from God, but rather, to be witnesses to the unsaved:

> But before all this, they will lay hands on you and persecute you. They will deliver you to synagogues and prisons, and you will be brought before kings and governors, and all on account of my name. 13 This will result in your being witnesses to them. 14 But make up your mind not to worry beforehand how you will defend yourselves. 15 For I will give you words and wisdom that none of your adversaries will be able to resist or contradict. 16 You will be betrayed by parents, brothers, relatives and friends, and they will put some of you to death. 17 All men will hate you because of me. 18 By standing firm you will save yourselves, (Luke 21:12-19, NIV). [Bold and underline is by the author, solely for emphasis]

In verse 15, we see once again the power of the Holy Spirit working as never before, providing the called out ones with words and wisdom that none of their adversaries will be able to resist. Even though this experience will be reason for great sorrow (especially in the knowledge that some friends, family, and even fellow church members will betray us), the Lord exhorts us not to worry beforehand because not a hair on our head will perish, even though some of us may have to die.

What a glorious period that will be. Not necessarily to experience death, but, if one has to face death, the author can envision no greater honor than to stand up and preach the gospel of Jesus Christ, to be found faithful to Jesus, to face death squarely in the eye and say "O Death, where is thy sting?" Then, to look at our Savior's face and have Him say, "Well done, good and faithful servant" as He hands us our stephanos, the martyr's crown of life! What great glory for God! To realize that, like Stephen, our death might possibly result in another person's salvation has to be the ultimate Christian experience:

> While they were stoning him, Stephen prayed, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit. 60 Then he fell on his knees and cried out, "Lord, do not hold this sin against them, (Acts 7:59, 60, NIV). [Bold and underline is by the author, solely for emphasis]

In verse 60, we see where Stephen, in his last dying breath, was praying for God to forgive his enemies, a prayer the author believes God honored. Here we see a glorious picture of the disciple Stephen, preaching the word of God to the Sanhedrin, unto death, looking up to heaven and surrendering his God-breathed, life-giving spirit back to the Lord. The Greek word for crown is stephanos, and the author believes the word of God states that those who witness for the Lord in that period of time will receive a greater reward. Is this willingness to die for the Lord's glory being a "super macho Christian" as brother Hal Lindsey states? If so, then that is what the author is. If wanting to serve Jesus with such zeal and fervor is wrong, then the author stands convicted. If being a member of God's ecclesia means that the called out one has to shrink back from the face of death, then all that Christ performed on the cross has gone for naught.

In Revelation 12:11, it describes a loud voice in heaven speaking about those who were willing to give up their lives to preach the gospel of Christ. This is not describing solely those who will be martyred during the end times. It describes those who throughout history overcame the accusatory powers of Satan and times of great tribulation through the blood of the Lamb:

> They overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony; they did not love their lives so much as to shrink from death, (Revelation 12:11, NIV). [Bold and underlines is by the author, solely for emphasis]

Back in Philippians 3:10, we see a clue from Paul's attitude toward death that should be the attitude of all Christians:

> I want to know Christ and the power of his resurrection and the fellowship of sharing in his sufferings, becoming like him in his death, 11 and so, somehow, to attain to the resurrection from the dead, (Philippians. 3:10, 11, NIV). [Bold and underlines is by the author, solely for emphasis]

Was Paul being a "super macho Christian?" If so, then the author finds no shame whatsoever in being identified with Paul, Stephen, Peter and all the other called out ones who laid their lives down so others can have eternal life.

As the author concludes this important chapter, please indulge him to share a very personal message. On many occasions, one of the sermons that the author preached in various churches during his brief ministry as an evangelist, he used an extremely graphic example of how he saw himself drowning in a pool of filth before coming to Christ. He described a gory scenario that included them picturing a giant vat filled with decaying dead animals, mixed amongst rotten meat, mingled with live venomous spiders, scorpions and snakes, all floating atop a pool of bodily waste material, generating the most odoriferous stench imaginable. He used this graphic example in order for the audience to get a more profound picture of how decrepit the author felt about himself before turning to the Lord. He told his audiences how he once was down in the bottom of that vat, bound by alcohol, drugs, and illicit sex, almost to the point of suicide because he could not see any way out of the devil's trap. But, after it was explained to him that Jesus Himself became sin in order for all of us to have eternal life, when he finally turned his life over to Christ, he told his audiences that he could actually see Jesus Christ diving head first into the vat, becoming all of its content, just so the author could be set free. This was the only way the author could make his audience see and feel how the author felt as he turned his life over to Jesus. Make a mental picture of this scenario. Picture Jesus diving head first into that abysmal stench. Not only becoming all of the individual filth you have personally committed throughout your entire life, but also becoming the putridity of all of mankind's combined sins throughout history. This thought simply boggles the mind. But, yet, that's exactly what Christ did. He willingly leaped head first into humanity's vat of sin, not only drowning in it, but also becoming the despicability of humanity's waste.

The author has often wondered why Jesus Christ cried out, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, (Matthew 27:46)? Was it because the physical pain was too much for him to endure? Maybe that was a part of it. Death by crucifixion is known to be one of the most painful and heinous ways to kill a person. However, the author believes in his heart that the agony and despair Jesus Christ felt from God at that moment was due primarily because our sinless Lord was not only experiencing the sting of sin, feeling the horror and the anguish of the sins of all mankind consuming his entire human persona, He was also experiencing a separation from God for the very first time!

No Mr. Lindsey, we aren't talking "super macho Christian" here. We're talking about being eternally grateful for salvation. Eternally grateful for being rescued before the author experienced a physical and senseless death no one would wish on his worst enemy. Not only did Jesus Christ rescue the author from dying a disgraceful death, alone and separated apart from friends and loved ones, He actually brought the author back from among the physically dying and spiritually dead and into new life. How God could have such grace and mercy to not only restore this former decrepit soul back to life, but to even choose him to do this work (writing this book) is a mystery that will remain unsolved by this author until he sees Him face to face.

Therefore, being eternally grateful for this salvation, if the Lord tells the author that "not a hair on his head will perish," knowing that he will soon be spending an eternity with his savior, then dying a physical death for Jesus, as He was willing to die for the author and all of mankind, is not a thing to fear:

> Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death – that is, the devil – 15 and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear of death, (Hebrews 2:14, 15, NIV). [Bold and underline by author, solely for emphasis]

http://www.msnusers.com/TheEndTimesPassover

The Prophetic Arsenal
Chris Anderson

And when He had looked around at them with anger, being grieved by the hardness of their hearts, "Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites!... Woe to you, blind guides; Serpents, brood of vipers! How can you escape the condemnation of hell?" Mk. 3:5; Mt. 23;15,16,33

Jesus called His disciples to Him and said to them, "I have compassion on the multitude, When the Lord saw her, He had compassion on her and said to her, "Do not weep." Jesus wept. Mk 8:1; Lk. 7:13; Jn. 11:35

November 22, 2003

Have you ever been perplexed by the divergent natures revealed through the words of the Lord Jesus in His ministry? These two sets of verses show the stark contrast. Jesus could be exceedingly angry. And He could be exceedingly tender. Many believers have been turned aside, not knowing how to relate to Jesus because of this polarity of heart. "How can a loving God speak with such anger?" or, "How can the true God evidence such emotional softness?"

As Jesus still speaks today, the same confusion and misunderstanding surrounds His word in the prophetic church. Many have stumbled regarding the prophetic through inability to perceive the valid differences in natures between prophetic words.

The Nature of the Prophetic Word: Tools, Instruments and Weapons

We hold a certain wonder and excitement over the reality of prophecy. And rightly so. It really is awesome to consider that God still speaks today to and through His people.

But beyond the awe, it's another thing to realize there is no "one size fits all" style or nature of prophecy. There are in fact many, many kinds of prophetic words, each one resonating a purpose of the divine heart. Here, let's briefly look at three general arrays of prophetic words.

Tool Words

Most readers are likely familiar with a construction toolbox. A toolbox holds many kinds of tools. Each tool is used to either construct a building or to break it down.

In the same way, there is a prophetic construction "toolbox" with many types of prophetic "tool words." These are prophetic words used to either construct or demolish organizational structures, whether they be governmental, societal or church ministry structures.

Jeremiah exemplifies a prophet using tool words. The Lord said, "I have this day set you; to destroy and to throw down, to build and to plant." Paul also described himself as a "master builder" regarding the church. His ministry demonstrates the building up of the church as well as the tearing down of wrong church practices through exposure and confrontation.

Medical Instrument Words

Doctors and surgeons also have tools, though we refer to their tools as "instruments." Again, there is a wide array of medical instruments. Different instruments are used on various parts of the body. Some are used to examine and make determinations about health. Some are used to cut and slice open to prove hidden states of health and disease, to excise cancers, and to implant aids. Yet other instruments are designed to heal and ameliorate pain.

So also exists a prophetic "medical bag" filled with many different prophetic "medical instrument words." There are words for different parts of the body of Christ; some for obvious limb surgery, others for delicate brain surgery. There are words that measure and determine spiritual health. There are words that cut and slice open to reveal and remove cancers. And there are words that heal, mend, and ameliorate pain as well as maintain the body's health.

The Lord is described as one whose words both tear and bind up (Hos. 6:1). These are words with medical applications. His ministry to His Body is one of measuring, surgically exposing cancer and healing broken hearts.

Weaponry Words

Military personnel also use an array of tools, often on a belt, to conduct their trade. Their trade is called war and their tools are called weapons. There is an array of weapons. These fall mainly into classes of defensive and offensive weapons. Some are used to protect. Others are used to aggressively destroy. And within these are ranges of destruction from slight to devastating.

Likewise, there are prophetic "words of weaponry." These words serve to defend the Lord's people and to destroy His enemies. They are leveled against satan, his hosts and against associated men, leading to their spiritual and, in some cases, physical destruction. Weaponry words protect, deliver and expunge the church of imposters in extreme circumstances. They are the severest and deadliest words known to mankind in the prophetic arsenal.

Seeing as God is most often referred to as the Lord of Armies, it's no surprise that scripture is filled with words of weaponry. These words appear against both satan and men, both defensively and offensively, both spiritually and physically. Elijah called down literal fire on men. Revelation declares this will happen again, and can be understood both spiritually and physically. Peter decreed the death of Ananias and Sapphira. Paul directed the church to call for fleshly destruction of an adulterer and decreed satanic destruction toward Hymenaeus and Alexander.

Choosing the Tool / Knowing the Timing

There are many problems in the church regarding administration of the prophetic message. These problems are largely due to failure to grow in recognizing all the natures of the prophetic word given for the church's perfection, and to minister them in the Lord's time.

It's simply not enough to merely be "prophetic."

We must grow to know the right tool from the right prophetic tool array. Just because we have a real prophetic word doesn't mean it is the right word for a situation at hand. This requires growth through waiting on the Lord. (Listen, listen, and listen some more.) When Jesus rebuked James and John for wanting to call down fire on the Samaritans, what he was really rebuking them for was not choosing from the right prophetic toolbox.

But there is more. We must also know the right timing for giving the word. Proverbs calls this the "word in season." We may have the right word from the right toolbox. But we may not be in the place of right timing for speaking it. This is especially so of the "explosive" word, that word that just "can't wait" to be released. Again, we must wait, wait, wait on the Lord. The prophetic spirit must be subject to the prophet.

Understanding the Prophetic Problems - The Problem of Initial Vision

The first problem in prophetic ministry occurs among those newly exposed to and accepting of prophecy. As unseasoned embracers of the prophetic, we tend to be so enamored of prophecy itself as a phenomenon that we recognize whatever prophetic array we are first exposed to as the only nature of prophecy.

People new to prophecy tend to recognize only one or a very limited handful of types of prophetic words. They may perceive only toolbox words, or medical instrument words or weaponry words. Within a given type, they may only recognize one or two different prophetic tools, instruments or weapons. From here, they apply those one or two kinds to every situation.

Some people see only prophetic healing words, others only cutting words; some only see edifying words, others only tearing down words; and some see only defensive or offensive weaponry words. The resulting chaos in the body from this is understandable!

Problem of Limited Vision: the Reality of Prophetic Blindness

Because prophetic vision is limited, it must admit of blindness through incompleteness and must be humble enough to acknowledge its need to expand. The prophetic is all about spiritual vision. In the main, it's about what we do see.

When we first see, we are excited. And we should be!

But seeing must grow. And seeing can only grow by recognizing that seeing does not see everything - ever. In this sense, prophecy is as much a recognition of blindness as it is of vision. If we have vision, but don't recognize that our vision has limits and that we are blind outside our field of vision, it turns what vision we do have to blindness! This is the meaning of Jn 9:41 where Jesus said, "If you were blind [ie, If you would recognize your limits of vision], you would have no sin; but now you say, 'We see.' Therefore your sin [blindness] remains."

Problem of Prejudiced Vision: Rejecting A Particular Tool Array

Over time, if we don't grow in our perception of the Lord's various prophetic natures and tool arrays, we develop heart prejudices toward those outside our initial scope of exposure. That prejudice is unbelief and goes a long way to cancel out the otherwise true seeing ministry of prophetic people. Over time, prophetic prejudice leads to false prophesying.

Today, not just individuals and churches but entire prophetic streams have built in prejudice against certain types of words. Thus we have competing prophetic streams in the church. There are construction prophetic streams, medical prophetic streams and weaponry prophetic streams (mainly in the desert), all blind or opposed to the others, and opposed within themselves.

One common reason for prejudice is reaction to wrongly applied words from another array. If someone uses a word of weaponry in a situation that calls for a medical word of healing, the resultant emotional damage can lead the recipient to reject all words of weaponry as valid words from then on. The opposite is true as well.

Nonetheless, misuse or poor timing in giving a certain tool word does not invalidate the tool or its source array. Today the most abused and most prejudicially rejected word is the word of weaponry. But again consider. When Jesus rebuked James and John for wanting to use fire on the Samaritans, He was not invalidating that tool. Revelation makes clear that such words still exist today and will yet come. A time is coming in fact when weaponry words will be released in earnest as never seen since the early church or Elijah.

Overcoming the Challenges / Outgrowing Our Limits of Vision

In my early "burning bush" days as a wilderness prophet some 20 years ago, my prophetic arsenal consisted mainly of weapons. I wasn't particularly into "construction" or "medicine." In particular, I became very skilled at measuring and then hacking Pharisees to death. It took me time though to learn that not every person in a church is a Pharisee, or that not every soft and comforting prophetic word is a false word.

Some years later, after wilderness fatigue set in, the Lord planted me (kicking and screaming) in a regular (i.e. "carnal") charismatic church moving toward the prophetic. Here, in my own weakness and brokenness, I came to learn about the need for the word of building up and the instrumental word of healing. After a time, I came to a place where I was actually afraid to use a weaponry word any more.

But after still more time I had to learn further. For as life continued, even though there was no right place for weaponry words in the church I was in, there was still a crying need for the piercing word of surgical cutting.

I was afraid to recognize and issue surgical words of cutting because I had trouble discerning between them and the blasting word of weaponry, and was afraid I would end up using a weapon. But the Lord trained me otherwise. I began cautiously issuing words of penetrating cutting truth, with the grace not to "blow anyone out of the water."

Ever since, I have continued needing to learn from the Lord in the right perception and proper application of these and other tool arrays. This dramatically shortened excerpt from my own life journey offers a glimpse into the Lord's growth plan for those whose ultimate hunger is to overcome the contradictions and grow into the His complete nature. We want to come to the place where we can handle exposure to and use every kind of prophetic word given us for perfection; without fear, unbelief or resistance of any sort to the Lord's perfect will. I'm still on that journey, still learning!

Prophetic Growth Affects Prophetic Relationships

Growing in the use of new prophetic tools definitely affects our relationships, not only in the church at large, but in the prophetic community itself. Growth brings new people of common vision together for seasons, and then later separates them. We discover there is no one finally "right" prophetic tool, and there will never be a finally cementable prophetic relationship around any tool array.

This is true by design and for our good. The Lord is ultimately drawing us, not to one another around a set of prophetic perceptions, but to Himself. Seasonal divergence preserves this ultimate personal drawing to the Lord.

It's simply a fact of life that even among mature prophets, no two can forever see things alike or interpret applications and timing of prophetic words alike. When one calls for a medical word of cutting, another may interpret the same situation as needing a construction tool for building up. Our inability to perceive exactly alike forces us into ultimate accountability to the Lord for the validity of our vision and the justification of what we do with it.

In the 1980's, two prominent American prophetic ministers joined forces; one, a televangelist new to and embracing of the fire of prophetic weaponry; the other, a seasoned internationally recognized firebrand of many years. Their names are unimportant. Over time, they prominently shared appearances and writings in one another's publications.

But after a certain period of time, a perceived need for a "tool shift" developed in one of them. He became persuaded that; in their ministering to the American church; it was now time to move from the word of weaponry and surgical cutting to the word of medical healing. The other however did not see it this way, feeling it was still time to be thrusting the knife further into the church. And so, a parting of the ways occurred; one that I believe was accomplished amicably. And each has continued on in his own ministry development.

Handling Divergence: The Test of Agape

No matter then how mature we become in using all the prophetic tools, we must be prepared to handle divergence. This becomes a further degree of challenge and growing all in itself. It's not enough to be prophetic. And now it's not even enough to grow in using different prophetic tool arrays.

We must finally learn how to handle genuine divergence over those uses while preserving the basic bond of unity we have in Christ.

This is the "call of agape." It's a call that supersedes the prophetic itself (I Cor. 13). In the end, we will find that how we make our divergences with others over opposing prophetic revelation and truth will carry more weight than the fact of our faithfulness to adhere to what the Lord gave us.

So, in the course of maturing in the prophetic arsenal, a greater challenge lies before the prophetic community to handle divergences with as much grace as possible for preserving the bond of true unity. Admittedly, this is really hard to do for prophets, seeing how clearly defined the vision is to each man. Not only is one's own vision clear, but it is especially difficult to discern the different from the false outside one's own vision. Meanwhile, evaluating and exposing falsehood in our midst remains part of the prophetic commission. Agape does not shrink from this. How great then is our challenge!

But if we make all our evaluations in humility, and should we part directions due to opposing evaluations, and our parting is as gracious as truth permits, God will be pleased. Furthermore, we can count on it that, at the end, when all is said and done, He will have built His church to His specifications. And at the end we'll also find His reconciling and healing of whatever prophetic relationships in this life remained at cross points due to honest differences of prophetic evaluation.

Conclusion

Onward then to growing up into all the facets of the Lord's prophetic nature! Let's learn how to build and to tear down, how to tear and how to heal, how to protect God's people and how to destroy all who would attack to destroy them. Let's embrace the entirety of God's record through the scripture concerning His word. Let's develop in the complete arsenal of the Lord. Let us also develop in the grace of agape wherever divergences occur due to our faithful embrace of the entire arsenal.

And as we do, let's be blessed knowing we are obtaining not only our own perfection in the Lord, but are helping bring purity, perfection, and true unity to the true body of Christ.

Blessings to all the saints.
Chris Anderson New Meadow Neck, RI
First Love Ministry - a ministry of Anglemar Fellowship http://www.firstloveministry.com/

The Party
Judy Curmi

“THE PARTY” –
ELECTION DAY USA

11-2-
This morning, when I was leaving the polling area after voting in the USA Presidential election I heard the following in the Spirit:

“Today is the party.
Tomorrow the hangover begins.”

Then late in the afternoon I received the following message.

Just remain calm. Don’t get caught up in what is about to transpire, for my hand is beginning to move against ungodliness in all of its many and varied forms. The “party” has gone on for years. The people of your country are drunk with the “wine” of too much money. Whether that money has come in the form of personal wealth or as a drunken spending spree using credit and credit cards, it does not matter, for the results have been the same.

You have lived in dissipation and self-indulgence. You bodies have been “soft”, yet you have hardened your hearts to my words as a piece of granite. The drunken party is over. Tomorrow you will turn over a new leaf. Nor will you recover from the “hang over” that you have given to yourselves.

Soon you will stagger to and fro, not having a clue where to turn. As a dog returns to his vomit* over and over, so you (USA) have turned aside from my eternal truths to indulge the many lies you love so dearly. You have chosen these lies instead of my kingdom and my holiness.

You have squandered your inheritance in dissipated living, while the poor and the needy have cried out to me – while missionaries have begged me on their knees to help those in desperate circumstances around the globe.

Do you think I have gone deaf USA? Do you think I can not see or hear what you are doing? Do you think I can not possibly know what is going on in your hearts and your minds?

Tomorrow you will find out. It is the beginning of a very big surprise. Nothing good can come from returning to your vomit, for I am beginning, even now, to unravel all those things which are not of me, but which you hold so dear. You would not let go willingly, so I will take them away from you by force. How you will moan and complain. How you will weep and wail. You will stagger and fall, for you did not have the right foundation to hold you up. Nor did you have the proper covering to protect you from the approaching storm.

This storm is of a magnitude you can not even begin to conceive. You will not be prepared and you will not be protected. Can a paper parasol protect you in a hurricane?

Watch and see what I will do. You have looked to man. You have not looked to me. It was the wrong thing to do, for no man can give you answers for the days ahead. I counsel you to buy white raiment. [Rev. 3:14-22] I counsel you to run to me as fast as you can. Aspirin and Tylenol will not help your hangover, nor will seltzer water or milk of magnesia.

The King is coming. He is going to turn everything upside down. If you are not on your face already, you will be when I am finished.

Your Abba

Prov. 26:11-12   As a dog returns to his own vomit, so a fool repeats his folly. Do you see a man wise in his own eyes? There is more hope for a fool than for him. [NKJ]*

Job 12:25   They grope in the dark without light, and he makes them stagger like a drunken man. [NKJ]*

The Passion Movie
Bob Lund

A charge to the Body of Christ in light of The Passion movie

I was able to attend a viewing of the Passion movie when I was at the National Religious Broadcasters conference in Charlotte, NC this last week. Though the movie is not, in a natural sense, super, if a person has a heart that Jesus can penetrate (i.e. prepared or prepared to be prepared), you will not be the same after seeing it. I do believe that we, as the church need to be in a place of praying over the theaters that it is playing at, so that the presence of the Lord can be there. Minus His presence, as in most things, the movie will just not have it s intended effect. I cried my eyes out, and for the 4000 or so attendees (many of whom represent the vast majority of Christian broadcasting media on the planet), there was an incredible sense of God's presence.

Every few years or so King Jesus decides to see if His people can handle a bit of the harvest; i.e. He foments situations that will cause the unsaved especially to be stricken with reality; realities of His great love. But, the unsaved don t usually respond to the goodness of God as expressed in His overtly kind actions (meaning, a better job, bigger house, more obedient kids, etc. all the things that nearly anyone on this earth would consider to be good.). Romans 2 says, don t you know it is the kindness of God that leads people to repentance.... My take on that is that God tries to communicate His love via playing the kind cards. If that doesn't work, then, BECAUSE of His great love, He turns up the heat a wee bit to try to get our attention. As C. S. Lewis said, Pain is God's megaphone to rouse a deaf world. Examples of this are seen in the entire journey between Genesis and Revelation. Certainly, even the spankings of God are driven by His goodness, though we often confuse them with attacks from the devil, or God s judgment. Of course, if people are overtly rebelling, the unsaved will sense His wrath (Romans 1), while the saved will sense His discipline and pruning (Hebrews 12 and John 15).

All the while, ALWAYS, at least these three things are going on:

1) God is trying to get the attention of the unsaved

2) God is wanting His people who are generally seeking first His kingdom (Matt. 6:33) to be ready to gather, clean, and prepare the unsaved.

3) God is trying to get the attention of those of His people who have not chose to posture their lifes focus on seeking first His kingdom.

Many, many examples and teaching of these are throughout Scripture.

I know it's kinda like a big, fat, DUH, but it needed to be said before I say the next thing.

In our lifetime, there are perhaps as many as a few dozen events on the micro (my house, my school, my sphere) or macro (world-wide or region-wide) levels that illustrate these points. World wars, Korea, the rise of local despots (Ceaucescu Romania; the school Bully my life in Junior High {he was a huge kid that loaded my hair fully of loogies [that s kid-speak for spit with PLENTY of bona-fide snot] }), the Jesus movement (70 s), I found It campaign (late 70 s), Jim Jones, Pol Pot and killing fields of Cambodia, the rise of an ungodly president (Clinton), roaring 90 s prosperity where we all got fat, Heaven s Gates/Hell s flames play where many tens of thousands have gotten saved but few were discipled, 9-11-2001 events, dozens of Billy Graham-like events that have produced millions of converts but very few disciples, Gulf wars 1 and 2, stock market and economical downturns, and now, The Passion. Certainly I have missed a bunch; but you get the point.

Taking the Heaven's Gates example... Wonderful play that illustrates heaven and hell by showing what happens to a car load of teens who die; some go to hell, and some to heaven. It's been used all over the world to help people in their initial conversion experience with Christ. I even have friends in Romania who have been the national directors of that play in that country, with much the same success as here. I have another friend who lived in the home town of where the play originated. He observed the following before, during and after the showing of that play in the home town: church attendance before the play was status quo, just like nearly any city in the U.S. During the height of the play, somewhere around 50,000 people made professions of Christ; as a result, many (perhaps most) of the churches in the area went from one to two to even more services on a Sunday morning to service the hoards of new Christians. This went on for a while, he recounted. But, about a year or so after the apex of the play, he observed a thing that made me both sad and very upset: most of the churches had dropped back down to a single service on a Sunday.

Selah?.........

Before I explain why I believe why, please hear this: I know that there are wonderful exceptions to what I'm going to describe below. But, they are exceptions; RARE exceptions. Please don't take what I'm going to share as an attack, because it is not. It is simply an expose of what is going on in the U.S., and other places that we have exported our systems of church to. Please understand that I am convinced that the finest hours of the Body of Christ lay before us! He will have a Bride that will be ready! But, we must face squarely the issues that beset the church today, because TODAY (that is, February 25th, we are going to be faced with another turning point moment&) we are going to be faced with some reactions to The Passion movie.

So, why did the vast majority of the people in the above paragraph quit going to church and stay home, sleep in, play with the kids, mow the lawn, and watch the game? Really? WHY? This question rattled in my brain for some time, though I feel that many people would have some intuitive understanding as to why. Simply stated, the Body of Christ was not ready. No doubt many people of those initial 50,000 had real encounters with Christ... and we must understand the application of the parable of the Sower and Seed here. Some will fall away, some will be distracted, etc.. BUT, just what happens to a new convert the Sunday AFTER their conversion? Why, they go to church, of course! And, as many have bemoaned, they sit, stand up when told to, sing some songs, put money in a plate, listen to sermons, get a handshake, and then go home. Monday morning comes as a shock to most. Now, along with the normal stuff they dealt with prior to conversion (you know, debt, lousy paying job, rebellious teens, lackluster marriage, temptations flying at them from every angle, etc.), they are on the devil's radar screen. So, along with the glow of realizing God s love and affirmation, they are targeted by the evil one. Most of them slug it out in the world from Monday through Saturday; then, they get the impression that they have to sit through a church service (what does service really mean, anyway?) acting as if everything is ok. On occasion, someone has a hiccup in church (whether it is an outburst or demonic manifestation, etc.), and they are whisked out... In reality they are a newborn, no? Yes. But, for hundreds of years we have expected people to sit in church services, largely mute, listening to sermons and singing songs (where are these things, in this fashion, spoken of, commanded, shown as examples in the New Testament church that is FULL of priests?!), and then, somehow (magically?) we expect them to pop out of that process 5 or 10 years down the road as a radical, healed, transformed, on-fire, reproductive disciple of Christ& Really? Yep, it's the good ole Big Bang theory of processing fish. One day, God will show up and Poof!, they will be mature, their kids will obey, their debts will evaporate, they will stop wanting to sneak peaks at porn, their TV will decay due to disuse, etc. Really? We really believe this? I doubt that anyone has actually formulated such a theology, but PRACTICALLY speaking, do we believe something different than this? Yes, I know, there are exceptions to this. But, try telling this to the vast majority of those who quit church whom I described above. You say that your church is different. I really believe you!!! But, where was your church when those 50,000 needed you? When I called and spoke to one person in charge of follow up for these meetings, they said that they weren't ready for the onslaught of all the people that came to Christ.

RIGHT ANSWER! But, then, when I asked, what they did to fix the process, they told me that they added some paid staff members and a discipleship meeting that went for some weeks. WRONG ANSWER! More below on what the new fish/babies/converts really needed...

Is this process why Billy Graham bemoaned the FACT that when his organization went back and looked at the statistics of how many people were at least in church a year or so after one of Mr. Graham's crusades, they found only TWO or THREE out of ONE HUNDRED initial converts? Yikes. What happened to the other NINETY-SEVEN? After months of nobody taking them in as family, not being affirmed in their new life, not being coached/trained/cheer-leaded/mentored in their new priestly role, not getting free/transformed from sinful ways& they did what you and I would do under the same circumstances, they quit.

Did they quit loving God? For some, yes, but many probably no.

Did they quit being converted? For some, yes, but many probably no.

Did they quit WANTING to grow in Christ? For some, yes, but many probably no.

Did they deny or renounce what really happened to them when they went forward to receive Christ? For some, yes, but many probably no...

They simply, as longing, clumsy, loud, messy newborns, wanted a mother and a father, and some helpful brothers and sisters. They wanted to cuddle with a mother as she gave them a breast. They needed the affirmation of a tender/strong father who loved them and provided direction/discipline.

Where are the mothers and fathers?

Is the breast the services that we put these new babies in. Sorry pastors, but your sermons, as wonderful, godly, and biblical as they may be, are not the best or only way to provide a breast to the newborns. To be sure there is milk in sermons. But, milk delivered intravenously is different that in a snugly, warm, relational way methinks... Having spun countless sermons myself, I understand the process well, and the results that followed. Having spun countless sermons myself, I understand the process well, and the results that followed.

More to the point... Who's fault is this? God's? The newly saved fish? The fish cleaners/preparers? The supervisors of the fish cleaners? Seems that Scripture is clear that fish-cleaner-supervisors (5-fold leaders?... a la Ephesians 4...) primary purpose for existence is to equip the saints for the work of service. The work of service? What s that? We have been led to think, more by default than by overt teaching,

These things take TIME.

These things take a heart that is oriented to larger realities that moving forward in the American, Christian Disneyland that many Christians have come to be comfortable in.

These things take LOVE.

These things take Matthew 6:33.

These things take a re-engineering of the thing that we call church.

These things take a re-orientation of our spiritual DNA; re-pointing it back to the heart of God, the simplicity and purity of devotion to Christ (II Cor. 11:3, 4), and His simple plan for His church...

But, when, in the normal life of any given church found in the local yellow pages, do these newly caught fish get to experience the incredible benefit of having friends that are fish cleaners, the healing of life's past hurts, the breaking of past sinful choice/habits/sins, etc., the transformation of their bodies/souls/spirits/relationships/finances? WHEN? We know the answer. Three of the 100 decided to stay in church. But of THOSE 3, what percentage actually became radical Christians? Was it 3% of the 3%???

God is particularly interested in a couple of things for His people (existing Christians) when turning point events happen (the ones I described in the paragraph further up above):

1) To reckon with their own sinful, weak, immature selfs. (Revelation 3...)

2) To NOT go into self hatred or condemnation about #1

3) To learn how to have humble hearts to confess their own sins to one another and begin to build patterns in our lives to deal with our weaknesses, etc.

4) To build a small circle of friends (even if it is just one) to hold us accountable for our stuff...

5) To learn the difference between coddling and confessing (which means more than saying sorry means making policy decisions to actively seek God's ways and change, etc.) sin in our own lives, as well as our small circle.

6) To allow Jesus to come in once again; to our hearts, families, spiritual households (churches), communities, etc. Please check out Revelation 3 Laodicea, again. This is gentle, kind Jesus expressing his gentleness and kindness to a church that had chosen not to do the above 4 things as a habit.

7) To begin to re-engineer the way that we think of and DO church. Reformation?

8) Certainly there are many other things that God is doing/displaying when the events mentioned in the above paragraph, but the above items 1-7 are the specific church-view.

So that we can do the following:

1) Take care of the new converted babies who are simply babies that need strong familial help in order to mature

2) To BE the church instead of DO the zillions of things that we have historically done when Jesus is not present&

3) To then seek Him to strategize how to take the Gospel to the ends of the earth...

The buzz around those whom I talked to who have seen the movie or whom have not seen it, but think about it, is that it will be a great tool to get people saved. No doubt.

But...

...my fear is that the church (you and I and then them) is not going to be ready to actually care for these people. After Heaven s Gates (the evangelistic play) and 9-11, people streamed into the churches. Wow! Praise God. But, the churches are largely back down to the size they were before these events... Praise God? Hmmm....

What should are response be?

Shame on us. It should be driving us to cause there to be margin in our lives to allow the Lord to help us care for people... Period. Jesus back in first (Rev. 3:20...) then building strong, close bonds with our brothers and sisters, then reaching out to the world of new converts. If we are not willing to take a hard look at what we call church (all aspects of it, not just band aids here and there), then we are simply going to repeat some of the sad parts of history. As Andrew Strom said in his recent post on Rivermail and ANZAC, The people came flooding into the churches seeking a faith that could bear the weight of the momentous events unfolding around them. And they found we had erected a plastic imitation a shallow, lightweight Jesus complete with ambient muzak and mindless appeals for money. A comfortable Western counterfeit of the real thing. They did not stay for long. And why should things be any different this time?

We must allow the Cross of Christ refocus our lives. This means a number of things. Rather than trying to play Holy Spirit by listing things, I'll let the Holy Spirit speak to you.

Many have created a Jesus and a cross that fit our Laodicean lifestyle. The world is groaning as it awaits the real thing.

See the movie, but agree with the Lord ahead of time that you want your heart, your family, and your church prepared. Pastors, leaders, the Lord usually has a few words with us about those whom He has given to our care. If we have simply adopted the way we do church from the previous generation, without question, and have not been willing to consider much outside of our own denominational culture, what would we do if the Lord Jesus decided to do a church Audit, as He did to the Seven Churches in Revelation? Do we really think that Jesus wants to have another batch of newborns that end up on the trash heap of life because we were unwilling to re-examine our practices in the fresh light of Apostolic Tradition (1 Cor. 11:2, etc.). Please, in the name of the precious Lord Jesus, will you take a look at (and be willing to either repair or get a new one) the Wineskin?

Please receive the above in the spirit it was given. The BEST is yet to come! The Lord Jesus WILL have a Body that will take the gospel to the ends of the earth in order to disciple, not just convert, the nations!

YOU can do it! So let's roll!

Grace and peace,

Robert (bob!) Lund bob@lund.com

Author, The Way Church Ought to Be Ninety Five Propositions for a Return to Radical Christianity http://www.radicalchurch.org/ (down for maintenance for a few days)

Response to Bob Lund from Rivermail

You got me to rethink some things that happened when I 1st. got saved. I wasn't saved inside a church. It was at home far out in the middle of no-where, I was all alone and sound asleep when God woke me three times and told me the all about Jesus and what I must do to be saved. I was born again and I ran all around the house with new eyes...Jesus eyes...and got rid of anything that wasn't part of the kingdom...piles of new age books, tapes, whatever. God and I cleaned house! I was so excited I rented the 10 commandments, with Charlton Heston and other movies like that and just wept and cried as I saw for the 1st time the truth. The only Christian music I had was Christmas carols that just about burst my heart for joy!

Then I moved to town to go to what I thought was a "good" church, but sadly my enthusiasm was met by alot of ho-hums and when you mature you won't be so happy. When I was baptised, a totally awesome experience!! When I told some "mature Christians" about the awesome presence of God and what it meant to me all I got were ice cold buckets of water!!

I did have one spiritual mother and she was so wonderful and happy for me and wanted to hear all about my experiences and told me all of hers and my Father also had the same heart as I do for Jesus and it blessed me no end. He always says its is the best gift he ever had to see my relationship with the Lord and he could never have wanted anything greater for his daughter. This is the milk you were talking about.

I have been a Christian now for 11yrs and I am 52yrs. I have been to 10 or so churches and very few of them have a real love for the Lord and very little love for the sheep. Most want the power of God and they beat the sheep trying to get them "Holy" enough for them to have the power in "their" church. This is so ill and it is troubling, I worry about all the new babes and where did they go, I try to keep in touch and build relationships, but there is a lot of confusion to gracefully explain concerning the sheep beating etc.

My hope is that many pastors will see this movie the Passion of Christ and the bondage of lukewarmness will be broken off and the Church will be in liberty of the Spirit to truly worship and serve with hearts over flowing with love for an awesome mighty powerful God!

PRAISE THE NAME OF JESUS! Margie

The Passion For The Harvest

Chuck Pierce

February 24, 2004

Dear Passionate Intercessors:

I felt led to write concerning this week and The Passion of the Christ movie. The Passion movie will be very significant in determining a change in the course of Christianity in America. Cindy Jacobs spoke yesterday at Glory of Zion and said the following, "I get up each morning and ask the Lord, 'Where is my harvest today?'" This is a time that we are entering into a harvest season. Understanding the passion, suffering and love that Christ demonstrated for us on the cross causes us to have a heart for others. This is the passion that overcomes the strongman and unlocks the prison doors that he has held shut.

Passion is only used once in the King James Version in the Bible. Acts 1:3 says, "To whom also he shewed himself alive after his passion by many infallible proofs …." This concerns the ordeal related to the cross and the suffering He endured for our salvation and the redemptive plan that God has for each one of us. Passion is linked with intense, driving emotions that are beyond our cognitive reasoning and linked with our deep internal conviction. Passion is a state or capacity of being acted upon by external agents or forces. We hear much about passion in the Body of Christ, but I think we have the reality of its understanding. Most of us complain about our sufferings rather than enduring them based upon our conviction that "if we endure till the end we will be saved". It's time for passion to arise in the Body of Christ.

Diane Fink, a key leader at Aglow International, sent me the following:
"I saw movie theaters all over the nation with people sitting in them apprehended by what they were watching. God seemed to draw my attention to the place -- the buildings, the theaters themselves. I prayed for a powerful anointing to draw people into those theaters -- agnostics, atheists, mockers, those who are just curious to see what all the controversy is about. Then I sensed that the theaters, the buildings, those places ("high places," if you will!) that the enemy has used to propagate his agenda against this nation through Hollywood, would be turned and filled with such an anointing and presence of God that the enemy's very own weapon would be turned against him. I thought of David and how after he slew Goliath, he took Goliath's own sword to cut off his head. The enemy has used Hollywood as a sword in his arsenal to cut away the moral fabric of this nation. He has wielded it to deal a death blow to the very truths and godly principles this country was founded on. Millions flock to theaters, even like the sheep the Lord compares us to, to worship at the altar of ungodly pleasure and hold up as gods those whose images are reflected back to us.

With the release of this film, however, I see God dealing a death blow to the enemy's strategy using his own sword. Theaters will be places where God's presence will be so thick, through not only the depiction on the screen but also the anointing on the film, that in the dark, quiet, intimacy of the theater (though the theater can be filled with people, there is still a private intimacy about sitting quietly watching a film), they will be confronted with the question: Who do YOU say that I am?"

In The Future War of the Church, you will find the following, "This is a time of increase in God's Glory that will produce Harvest. When God's Glory manifests, Harvest is released… There is a mantle of increase and victory that the Lord is working to develop in His people. We have been like Gideon, threshing wheat in the winepress, but now is the time to move out and share our faith boldly with a world that is dying." The Lord is about to release an urgency within us to liberate those who are held captive. Pray this week for an outpouring of His Spirit in movie theaters. Declare this will begin to overflow and come into the sanctuary of God. God has raised up Mel Gibson like a Cyrus for such a time as this to cause the Body of Christ to return to an understanding of the cross.

Once we understand the cross, we will move into the power of His resurrection.

Blessings,
Chuck D. Pierce

The Patience of God’s Saints

Arlette Pollard

Tblcase@aol.com
Revelation 13:9-10

Here is the patience
Of God’s saints
Find your rest
In the Father’s arms of grace
Hold on to God’s holy Word
It is your comfort
In times of peril
Sing psalms of praise
For God’s faithful name
In this you will find strength
To stand when you feel faint
Able to run with horses
When you feel weak.

Who can endure
When the world is so unsure
Those who trust in God’s Word
The foundation assured
To create a safe place
For mercy and grace
To perfectly adorn
The message that is worn
Upon a child’s grateful heart
To whom God has revealed
His divine, perfect will
To love one and another
As He does.

Here is the patience
Of God’s saints
Love one another
As the Commandment says
Then God will open wide
The heavenly gates
And pour out the blessings
Which abound in faith.
You will understand
The purpose of God’s plan
As you love one another
As He does.

> “If any man have an ear, let him hear. He that leadeth into captivity shall go into captivity: he that killeth with the sword must be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and the faith of the saints. Revelation 13:9-10

> “Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.” Galatians 6:7-9

Those who hunger and thirst, who feel deep within their hearts an emptiness, causing them to seek a greater purpose in life, will give praise for the Lord’s great mercy, when filled with the goodness of the Lord. When a man’s soul is humbled before God, so that he cries out to the Lord for direction on how to obtain purpose for his life, to this man God will be faithful to answer. To the one with a humble heart, will God lead to His banqueting table, where the cup will overflow and the bread that is broken shall bestow blessings of abundant revelation.

Man, who drinks from the Carpenters cup, will be filled with the unsearchable riches of God. No good thing is to be refrained from those who seek after God’s love. To partake of the table of the Lord, will bring joy to the one who is filled with God’s holy love. God, who blesses His children with sustenance that will not fade or perish with use, is able to satisfy the hungry soul, so that they will understand the futility that existed in seeking purpose in the waste places. Those who come to God’s table will feast upon spiritual food that will fill a man with eternal life. To partake of spiritual food will strengthen a man’s heart, so that he is able to fight the good fight of faith until the end.

A man who has partaken of the Lord’s table, who is filled with God’s great love, will be strengthened so that he is able to wield the sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of the Lord, in righteousness. The sword, when held in the hands of a man who has partaken from the Lord’s table, will be wielded in mercy and understanding, which bears long with others. A man who has partaken of spiritual food, which through Jesus Christ’s faithful obedience has been made available to man, will receive the blessings of spiritual vision. He will receive spiritual sight, so that he is able to see and appreciate God’s great love toward himself and toward others.

As a man grows up in Christ, he will mature in the ways of God so that the sword, God’s Word, is able to bring about greater revelation in understanding God’s involvement and relationship with man. The Word, which is able to sustain a man, encourage him, correct him, and teach him the ways of holiness, will continue, as man matures in the ways of God, to reveal truths once unknown. What was concealed in darkness will be brought out into the light. God’s Word contains revelation, truth, wisdom and understanding that expand as far as the heavens. A man, who has partaken of spiritual food, God’s Holy Spirit, as he holds onto the Word, applying God’s message to his life, will gain even greater understanding to the immeasurable riches that God has prepared for him. This man will wield the Word according to God’s righteousness, in awesome reverence and respect toward the Lord on high.

A warrior worthy of wielding the sword of the Spirit, the Word of God, is a man of many virtues. Moral excellence is learned as a man walks with God, is led of God through fields of adversity, and then comforted in God’s arms of grace. As God’s holiness continues to remove any deception that veils the eyes of a man’s heart, he will more clearly perceive the goodness of God. He will be given greater insight into God’s kingdom of righteousness. And as a man continues with God, he is certain to encounter many trials that will be used to test and try his heart. As man patiently and obediently waits upon God, these experiences, tests and trials, will be used of God to expand his vision to more fully understand the intent behind God’s Word. The Word will be understood with greater clarity so that man is able to perceive that his experiences are not limited to himself alone, but are common to all who love the Lord. Understanding will strengthen the man so that he can endure difficult situations. Knowledge and understanding will reveal that the Lord is able to use all situations to conform a man into the image of His beloved Son. Through these experiences, he will come to appreciate the far reaching virtue of patience.

Through revelation, the ability to understand God's Word spoken to man, the virtue of patience will be seen as a necessary step in maturing in the ways of God. To obtain victory over the enemy of the soul, unbelief, where every evil thing exists, patience must be learned and applied. Experience offers the perfect training field. As man, who stands filled with the Spirit, having partaken of the food of eternal, abundant life, holds onto the Word of God, keeping his eyes stayed on Christ, he will begin to realize that patience is wrought out within the inner chambers of his heart by the hand of God. And as patience does its perfect work, which is to bring man to a position where he understands the futility of leaning on his own understanding that was obtained in the darkness of unbelief, he will be more fully able to trust God, and rest in the knowledge that God is in control of his life. He will be able to rest in the knowledge that the good work, which God has started within his life, will be completed as he stays the course God lays before him. As he learns to trust God more fully, he will begin to rejoice in the understanding that God has slowly and steadily been chipping away at his captivity to darkness.

> "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ: by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God. And not only so, but we glory in tribulations also: knowing that tribulation worketh patience; and patience, experience; and experience, hope: and hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us." Romans 5:1-5

Through the virtue of patience, man will understand that tribulation, any position where he is found striving against the absolute goodness of God, can be used of God to bring about His perfect will in a man's life. To stand waiting patiently upon the Lord, through a period where tribulation is being experienced, a man filled with God's Spirit will most likely turn more diligently to prayer and the Word for an understanding of God's will and direction. As man waits upon the Lord, he will begin to realize that any thoughts, which may have remained positioned in the realm of darkness, unbelief, are steadily being brought into submission, taken captive, to the Word of God. As the Word continues to do its good work in a man's life, a more thorough separation of soul (self-focused thoughts) from Spirit will transpire.

A man who loves God, who through experience has learned to wait patiently upon God, enduring tests and trials, has come to realize that God is in control, and is able to use all situations to bring about His perfect will for each man. Through waiting patiently upon God, a man receives the blessings that are obtained through experience. As man patiently endures an uncomfortable experience, his own desire to be in control, to take charge of the situation through an understanding that was obtained in the darkness, will be replaced with the desire to submit to the authority of God. God, who is faithful, has and will continue to reveal that His ways are higher than man's. He knows the plan He has for each man. And through experience, man will come to rest in this knowledge, and learn to wait patiently upon the Lord for truth and knowledge; having hope in God because of His goodness toward man.

In patience a man will posses his soul. As a man patiently waits upon the Lord, Jesus Christ, submitted to the Spirit, thoughts that were held captive to the desires of the flesh will be brought into submission to the Spirit. Thoughts held captive to the flesh cause man to strive against the perfect will of God. But when the sword of the Spirit, the Word, reveals truth to the inner recesses of a man's heart and mind, fleshly, self-focused thoughts, that doubt the goodness of God, will be put to death as the sanctifying presence of the Spirit does its perfect work in a man's life. A man's soul will be brought into submission to the Word of God through patiently looking to Jesus Christ to complete the good work that God has begun within their heart and mind. The sword, the Word of God, when wielded in righteousness, will bring about God's good purposes for man.

The sword of the Spirit, the Word of God, when wielded in the hands of a man filled with the righteousness of God, will be used of God, to bring forth understanding, healing, and love in the lives of others. But when the sword, the Word of God, is lifted up, used of a man who is not filled with God's Spirit, their eyes being darkened to the reality of the transforming work of the Spirit, then death and destruction shall follow. A man who walks according to the teaching of the beast who rises up from the sea of the polluted waters of unrepentant, self-righteousness, looks to the letter of the law, in dictating truth and relationship with God. Not having partaken of the living waters, the Holy Spirit that flows from God's throneroom, they deny the power and authority of the Spirit. Because God's great love, which is released into a man's life through the Holy Spirit, has not broken upon the darkness that covers their thoughts and emotions, they deny the power of the Holy Spirit, and think to find revelation in God's message to mankind through the law.

A man who looks away from the Spirit, to the law, in understanding his relationship with God, will have heard about God's great love, but will not have personally experienced it. And because he does not truly trust in God's ability to deliver, or bring about a perfect work through trials and tribulations, this man will continue to look to the flesh, worldly, carnal attitudes, to find a way of escape. To tell a man, who is not filled with God's Spirit, to wait patiently upon God, so that he can see and experience God's hand upon the situation, will be seen as a sign of weakness. The world covered in darkness teaches a man to look to himself for strength in overcoming obstacles, never realizing the situation may change, but his heart will remain veiled in darkness. The light, God's great love, has not moved upon the darkened sea of his emotions that dictate and control his desires, so he will continue to miss the opportunity to experience and appreciate God beginning and completing any good work within his life.

The man who wields God's Word according to the dictates of the beast, who proclaims the law fulfills God's purpose for mankind, will never thoroughly and fully experience thankfulness toward God. Because their thoughts are darkened, never having had the light arise upon the horizon of their hearts, they can never fully appreciate what was accomplished through Jesus Christ. They have never fully understood, within the deep recesses of their hearts and minds, God's great love toward them, that He would send His Son to the earth, to accomplish what the law could not. The law was unable to bring man into alignment with the perfect will of God. But what the law could not accomplish, in that it is weak because of mans darkened, fleshly, carnal attitudes, could be accomplished through the might and power of God's Holy Spirit moving within and upon a man's heart and mind.

> "The merciful man doeth good to his own soul: but he that is cruel troubleth his own flesh." Proverbs 11:17
>
> "For as he thinketh in his heart so is he: eat and drink, saith he to thee; but his heart is not with thee." Proverbs 23:7

A man who is not filled with God's life transforming love, the Holy Spirit, has not experienced a change of heart in his relationship with God and with others. He may look upon the Word and the law, seeking to find truth, but this truth will be void of expressing a relationship that is brought together through love. Because God's Spirit has not touched his heart, he continues to look upon the Word with an unregenerate spirit. The old nature, the Adamic nature, carnal personality, influences his interpretation of God's Word. The man who wields God's Word, who is not filled with the Holy Spirit, will not be able to speak with God's compassion, with God's love and authority. Because his heart is still held captive to darkened, uninspired thoughts, he will continue to speak words that reflect his understanding. The words he speaks will not have the authority to bring people to a position where they understand that Jesus Christ paid off the great debt that had accrued because of their sins. To speak words of captivity, that lead people to believe they must continue to work off their debt through obedience to the law, will hold people captive to man's dictates and authority.

A man, "whose name is not written in the book of life" because he has not received God's eternal, life giving, Holy Spirit, will continue to wield the Word as a weapon of death and destruction. Because a man, whose name is not found in the book of life, has not taken hold of life, eternal life, it will be his nature to lead others into the same captivity that he is held in bondage to. If he is held captive to impatience, pride, un-holiness, a desire to be as a god in the eyes of others, then he will be sure to use the Word to lead others captive to his same ideology. For what a man thinks upon, what influences his thoughts and actions, will be what is shared with others. If a man, who is held subject to the beastly nature, whose power is derived from Satan, lifts up the Word, it will be his nature, it will be natural to him, to lead others into the same captivity to darkness that he himself walks in. It will be natural for him to use the Word as a sword of destruction, to lead people into captivity to condemnation, pride, and self-righteousness.

> “He that leadeth into captivity shall go into captivity: he that killeth with the sword must be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and the faith of the saints.” Revelation 13:10

The man who wields the sword, the Word of God, and proclaims that it is through the law that man will gain entrance into the kingdom of God, pushes himself further away from the Father’s arms of grace. In his belief that it is through obedience to the law, and not through love and faith in Jesus Christ that man will receive God’s Spirit of eternal life, he turns away from the Light of life who desires to usher man into God’s eternal kingdom. Instead of choosing eternal life according to the Spirit, a man who determines relationship with God is fulfilled through obedience to the law, is himself being lead captive to thoughts that belong buried in the region of death. To think of being in a relationship with God, which is void of love and power that exists only through the infilling of God’s Holy Spirit, is to exist in a relationship void of resurrection life.

When a man’s heart has not experienced the love of God moving upon his emotions, thoughts, and desires, he may place even greater emphasis on laws and regulations in hope of appearing righteous before man and God. But God is not deceived. For man to obtain a right standing before the Lord, a man must love God’s Son, Jesus Christ. It is through love and faith in God’s Son, that the Lord will send forth His heavenly nature, the Holy Spirit into a man’s life. It is through a loving relationship with the Father, that is obtained through love and faith in the Son, that a man’s desire will be for more of God, and less of the world. And as man filled with the Spirit continues on with the Lord, the influence of the world, and worldly thinking will begin to pass further away in its ability to influence his thoughts and desires.

> “Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God; who hath saved us, and called us with a holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began, but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel.” 2 Timothy 1:8-10

If a man stands before the Lord, and if his heart holds no love for the Son, then this man will be held captive to thoughts and desires that exist within the shadow of death. For man to be filled with eternal, abundant life, He must be filled with the Spirit of life, the Holy Spirit. And it is through love for the Son, faith in the Son, that a man will receive the gift of life, the Holy Spirit, and live eternally with God. For a man to think he can lift up the sword, the Word of God, and demand obedience to the law, “which was given through Moses,” while he “denies the grace and truth that came through Jesus Christ,” is to be led astray from God’s desire for man. To use the sword as a means to lead man captive to thoughts that belong buried in the valley of the shadow of death, is to thwart the good purposes of God. What a man thinks upon will take hold of a man and lead him captive. To think that the Word proclaims it is through the law that life is formed in the inner chambers of a man’s heart and mind, is to be led captive to thoughts that are able to separate man from God’s eternal love.

A man, who understands the sanctifying presence of the Holy Spirit, when he encounters another who looks solely to the law for justification before God, he will begin to understand the need for patience. When a man, whose heart is inspired by God’s great love for him, should be attacked and challenged by another who has heard of God’s love, but has never experienced it, he must remember in that patience he will posses his soul. Through patience, a man led of the Spirit will learn not to retaliate with the same cruel words and accusations that are spoken against him. This is a valuable lesson that must be experienced, so that man is better equipped to understand God's heart. And through this experience, as the Holy Spirit helps him to take his thoughts captive to God's Word, so he is able to fight the good fight of faith, he will understand the steps that are required of those who are being conformed into the image of Jesus Christ.

A man, who is to wield the sword in righteousness, must never forget: "he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law." Love will work no ill will toward another. When God's love is shed abroad upon a man's heart and mind, through the Holy Spirit, many changes in his relationship with the world will transpire. But he must never forget the Lord's mercy as He reached out and delivered him from the turbulent sea of unbelief. For he who has been forgiven much, may his thoughts be held captive to God's Word, which asks that he forgive others as he has been forgiven. In this understanding, may a man patiently wait upon the Lord, and know that God is able to execute His perfect judgment upon the earth.

> "For what glory is it, if, when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? But if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently, this is acceptable with God. For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps: who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth: who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously: who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed. For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls." 1 Peter 2:20-25

The Prophet And The Supernatural

Don Hawley

December 18, 2004

Several years ago a high-profile prophet appeared on a hot day wearing a heavy overcoat. When questioned about his strange attire, he predicted that in the near future it was going to snow on a particular day. Since snow just didn't appear at that time of year in that area, it was easy to write him off as merely eccentric. However, it did snow on the set day that he had prophesied.

Later, when planning a trip to the West Coast, this same man predicted that the day after his arrival there would be a significant earthquake in California. And the earth did quake.

So, we have a true prophet, right? Maybe. Maybe not.

Lives in peril

The Bible records a fierce storm on the Sea of Galilee, one that threatened the small boat containing Jesus and his disciples. The Lord was sleeping peacefully in the back of the boat, but his followers awakened him in terror.

"When he woke up, he rebuked the wind and said to the water, 'Quiet down!' Suddenly the wind stopped, and there was a great calm."
Mark 4:39

The disciples were in awe. "Who is this man, that even the wind and waves obey him?"

No ordinary storm

Those tough old fishermen had been raised on the shores of Galilee, and many times they had ridden out heavy gales. But that was no ordinary storm. It was supernatural in nature.

Question. Did Jesus whip up this special storm so that he could show off his divine powers? I don't think so.

Then who did orchestrate that fierce weather phenomenon?

"You used to live just like the rest of the world, full of sin, obeying Satan, the mighty prince of the power of the air." Eph. 2:2.

The storms that churn around the world on a daily basis originate in the atmosphere, the air. And the devil exercise his power in that arena, as he did one night on the Sea of Galilee.

Can Satan also produce earthquakes? I'm sure he can do that as well--and does. Since the dawn of time the devil has delighted in taking away thousands of lives through tornadoes, hurricanes, and other forces of nature that ignorant people call "acts of God." However, his power has always been held somewhat in check, otherwise he long ago would have completely eliminated the entire human race. Just prior to the return of our Lord the "winds" will be released in an unprecedented way, and multitudes will perish as recorded in the book of Revelation.

How then shall we judge the prophets?

Are supernatural forecasts, then, the proof of a true prophet? Obviously not. Then if we can't even trust our own senses in this regard, how shall we judge? Are we at the mercy of false prophets? Not at all.

"Beware of false prophets who come disguised as harmless sheep, but are really wolves that will tear you apart. You can detect them by the way they act, just as you can identify a tree by its fruit." Matt. 7:15, 16.

If we have opportunity to observe the life of one who professes to be a prophet of God, we may be able to determine the truthfulness of their profession by the way they live. But what if we truly are a poor judge of character, or we don't live where we can observe the life of the professor? Is there another way to discern? Yes! Our Lord has made special provision that we shall be able to ascertain truth. Jesus said:

"It is actually best for you that I go away, because if I don't the Counselor won't come. If I do go away he will come because I will send him to you . . . When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all truth." John 16:7, 13.

We are moving into an era when Satan will work with unprecedented guile and deceit.

"For false messiahs and false prophets will rise up and perform great miraculous signs and wonders so as to deceive, if possible, even God's chose ones. See, I have warned you." Matt. 24:24, 25.

But we have an indwelling Spirit whose work it is to guide us into right paths. How important that we establish, and maintain, an intimate relationship with him, so that we recognize his quiet, protective voice.

The Prodigal Church Generation

Dave Bodine

January 5, 2004
For the Lord would say that the mature generation of the Church has entered into a time of mourning. They are mourning the lost years. The years wasted serving religion instead of following after me with hot passion. Their desire, in the prime of their youth, was to follow after me with reckless abandon and pursue me with all their love for me. But, along the way, they were enticed by the generation before them that trained them in the ways of man and in religious protocol. In time, they abandoned their zeal for me. The left behind the excitement of their first love and traded it for form, pomp and circumstance. And now they look at their lives and wonder where the mighty exploits went that they saw in visions and dreams of the fulfillment of their calling. And now they mourn. They mourn what they have lost. They mourn what they can never recapture. They mourn a life of passion wasted on the traditions of man.

But I say to the mature generation that I have shown you these things because it is your hour. It is your time. It is the season that I have preordained to break the yoke off your neck. I will break this yoke, says the Lord, if you submit all your ways to me. I will break the yoke if you give yourself to me just as you did once when you were young. I will break the yoke, if you release to me your anger and hatred and frustrations that have besieged you. I will break the yoke of religion off your neck and set you free. I will set you free to pursue me with all the passion, fervor and excitement that you once felt. I will lift off the heavy burden. I will open the gates and release you into a freedom that you once had as you pursued the visions and dreams before you were taken in to captivity. I will release you into a new found freedom to fulfill the call upon your life.

In doing so, I will also release you to raise up the next generation in freedom. Many of the next generation are standing far off from the Church. They see inside and do not like what they see. Their eyes are open and they see with spiritual eyes. They see your bondage and they see you beckoning them to come into the presence of the Lord . But they see your bondage to the traditions of men and religion. They see Me. They know Me. They are passionate about Me. They are excited about the visions and dreams I have given them to show them what I want to do with their lives. But, they see your bondage. They see many teachers but they seek fathers and mothers in the faith that will walk with them and answer their questions about faith. The desire to have a deeper experience with Me. They yearn for Me. They do not know how to fully come into my presence. It is because they see you and your bondage and they say NO!

I say to the mature generation to go out and find the next generation. They are standing outside the Church. They are waiting and yearning for Me. I say go to them in brokenness. Show them the calluses and scars of the yoke that were upon your neck and arms. Show them how I have set you free. Show them how to avoid the yoke. Point them in the direction of freedom. Release them as only fathers and mothers of the faith can release them. Release them as you wished you had been released.

I tell you truly that the season of yoke breaking freedom is now upon you. I call to the prodigal Church and say to you, let me break the yoke. Let me set you free. Let me bring healing and freedom into your life. Let me send you to the next generation so that they may be released into their destiny in Me.

The Perfecting Of The Saints

Chip Brogden

Jul 20, 2004
"And He gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ" (Ephesians 4:11-13).

For what purpose did God give apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors and teachers? Verse 12 tells us they are for "the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the Body of Christ". This, of course, does not mean that the saints are supposed to be perfect in the sense that they never make a mistake or can do no wrong. "Perfection" here means "maturity", and it would be good to simply remember that whenever we see the word "perfect" used in this context we should think "spiritually mature".

The perfecting of the saints means the maturing of the saints, the process of bringing the saints out of spiritual immaturity and into spiritual adulthood. This is the purpose for the ministry gifts. We are not born fully-grown; we must "grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ" (II Peter 3:18a). In Biblical language, to be "perfect" is to be fully developed. For instance, "My strength is made perfect in weakness" (II Corinthians 12:9ff). What does this mean? "My strength is matured through your weakness, and is fully developed in the one who comes to the end of his natural strength."

After more than twenty years of Christian experience, Paul explains that he has neither attained, nor is he already perfect (cf. Philippians 3:12a). Clearly he expects to be perfect one day, but he has not yet attained it. But to what is he attaining to? Sinless perfection? No. He is striving for spiritual maturity, which he defines as an experiential, intimate, fully-developed relationship with Jesus Christ ("to know Him"). Then he says everyone who is perfect (that is, spiritually mature), will be like-minded in their pursuit of knowing Christ.

Paul says he preaches Christ: "...warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus" (Colossians 1:28). This, in essence, is the purpose of all ministry, whether it is the ministry of an apostle, prophet, evangelist, pastor or teacher. It is to preach CHRIST, and to bring all men into a spiritually mature relationship with Him. Christ is at the heart of everything; He is at the center of all activity; we begin with Him and we end with Him.

When we are introduced to a new ministry and we wish to test its authenticity and spiritual value, we need only ask ourselves two questions: is this ministry centered upon Jesus Christ, and does it bring people into a deeper, more experiential knowing of Him?

If we wish to evaluate someone who claims to be an apostle, prophet, evangelist, pastor or teacher, we can apply the same test: is this person centered on Jesus Christ? And when they do whatever it is that they do (preach, teach, prophesy, sing, plant churches, etc.), does it bring people into a deeper, more experiential knowing of Him?

Some may think that kind of test is too severe. Why, if we applied this criteria to every minister and ministry in the world (they say) then we would probably disqualify a majority of workers and works that are doing the Church and mankind a great service. Yes, we probably would. Yet in terms of value to the Kingdom of God, if the work is not Christ-centered and does nothing to bring people into a mature relationship with Him then it has no value to God and is worthless in His sight. If we are not preaching Christ then we are preaching something or someone else; and if we are not bringing people into the depths of Jesus with our life and work then we are either leaving them as they are or leaving them worse than when we found them. We become a distraction and a hindrance to the spiritual growth of others.

If the minister or the ministry does not preach Christ, and does not bring people into spiritual maturity, then they fulfill the opposite of God's intention - they make themselves the center and make the people dependent upon them, guaranteeing the spiritual immaturity of those affiliated with them. A congregation that is dependent upon its pastor to hear from God for them, deliver a message to them, pray for their needs, and take responsibility for their own spiritual growth is doomed to infancy and spiritual immaturity. If the pastor accepts this situation then he reinforces the congregation's dependency upon himself. Instead of pointing them to Christ as their Shepherd and getting them to stand on their own, he becomes their surrogate mother. Unfortunately, this is precisely where many churches are today. "We leave the spiritual work to the pastor, while we attend the services."

The prophetic ministry is just as guilty. The "prophet" or "prophetess" and their "word" becomes the focus of everything; and instead of bringing people to Christ and teaching them how to hear from the Lord on their own, they take responsibility for giving them messages from God. So now people are passively depending on the prophetic ministry for direction, instead of growing up into Christ and developing their own discernment and ability to hear His still, small voice. I read recently of a "prophet" who claimed to give personal words of prophecy to over five hundred people in the course of a week. I do not have to know what was said to know that this person's idea of a "prophetic ministry" will only keep people spiritual dull and incapable of hearing from God on their own. Why should they develop any kind of spiritual sense when they can have a "prophet" come and give them a "word" whenever they like?

Just because we CAN give a word does not mean that we SHOULD give a word. The goal is not to give people a word, but to give them CHRIST as their Word. Or to put it another way, the goal of ministry is not to give people a loaf of bread every day, but to show them how to obtain all the bread they wish in CHRIST who is the Bread of Life. Do you see the difference? If my entire goal is to give people a sermon every week or a prophetic word every day then both I and they will fall far short of God's Purpose, which is spiritual maturity and knowing Christ experientially. If the crowd is coming to me for a loaf of bread every time they get hungry then they are dependent upon me to feed them. This is only acceptable so long as they are children who cannot feed themselves. But if I show them where to get bread on their own then they will not have to come to me anymore: and THAT is the goal. Then they can get nourished directly from the source, Who is Christ Himself. The truth is that selling loaves of bread is big business, and a ministry whose survival depends on selling loaves actually WANTS the people to come back to them over and over again to be fed!

May we see before God that CHRIST is the object and the reason for all ministry. Our goal is not to see anyone become dependent upon us, our ministry, our work, or our word; our goal is not to give them a loaf, but rather, to encourage them to go experience the depths of Jesus Christ experientially and personally - to show them where the Bread of Life is. www.watchman.net

Till We All Come
Chip Brodgen

When Sunday Morning Kisses Aren't Enough

"And He gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ" (Ephesians 4:11-13). Many people question whether or not apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors and teachers are for today. We wish to emphasize a relational Christianity. We hope to do away with the artificial distinction between the professional clergy and the non-professional layman. We want to ensure that Christ is the Head of His Church, and not some man or woman who holds a title, position, or office. We desire to see a priesthood of believers functioning within a community of like-minded brothers and sisters. Naturally, this causes some people to wonder how the ministry gifts fit into this model of Christianity. Does Ephesians 4:11 apply to us today? If so, how?

If we truly understand the purpose of these ministry functions then the problem of their relevance today is solved. Paul tells us exactly how long we will need the ministry of the apostle, prophet, evangelist, pastor and teacher. These ministries will continue "till we ALL come in the unity of the faith, and of the full-knowledge [epignosis] of the Son of God, unto a perfect [mature] man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ" (Ephesians 4:13).

Let us simply observe the Church of Jesus Christ today and ask: have we all come in the unity of the faith? Have we all attained to the full-knowledge of the Son of God? Have we all, as the Body of Christ (not just individually), grown into the fullness of Christ? The key word here is ALL. Some may have, but it is clear that all have not. So the answer to these questions is no. Since we, as the corporate and universal Body of Christ, have yet to reach the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ, we still need the ministries of the apostle, prophet, evangelist, pastor and teacher.

According to God's thought, those who are called to serve the Body in these functions are supposed to be part of the SOME who have already entered into the unity of the faith, the full-knowledge of the Son of God, the fullness of Christ. Who is qualified to function as an apostle, prophet, evangelist, pastor or teacher? It should be those who have walked with the Lord Jesus for some length of time and know Him to such a degree that they are more conformed to the image of Christ than their less experienced brothers and sisters. Having established a mature relationship with Christ, they can now turn their attention to serving and helping others to come to that same maturity.

I have qualified my words by saying "should be" and "supposed to be". I am expressing the ideal. We know that everyone who uses these functions as a title or office for lording over others are not who they claim to be. They can be quite gifted but remain spiritually immature and completely ignorant of what it means to bring people into the depths of Christ if they have yet to experience those depths for themselves. If a so-called ministry does nothing to bring people deeper into Christ then it really is not a ministry at all, and it is worthless insofar as the Kingdom of God is concerned. We might as well lay the axe to the root, chop that tree down and throw it into the fire. It is wood, hay, and stubble. Go ahead and kill it right now because it is dead already.

(I will go further and say if you claim to be a Christian but you do not perceive yourself becoming more and more centered on Christ then I wonder if you are really even saved at all - because you have missed the whole point of Christianity. For the Christian, Christ is increasing, Christ is becoming larger and larger, Christ is becoming the focus. It is quite simple to see who is, and who is not, living up to this standard. The more spiritually mature a person is the more Christ-centered they cannot help but become. This is the unavoidable and inevitable consequence of becoming a Christian, a disciple of Jesus. This is how the Holy Spirit leads each and every true believer, and there are no exceptions to the rule. It is as predictable and certain as the sunrise following after the darkness of night. If the Son of God is not rising higher and higher and shining brighter and brighter in your heart then stop fooling yourself: you are still in the dark.)

Now, a novice is primarily concerned with his or her own spiritual training, whereas an elder is primarily concerned with the spiritual training of others. You have to be a student before you can be a teacher. One does not just decide one day to be a teacher and start a class. To be a teacher requires many years of going to school and being a student. Only after they have mastered their subject are they qualified to teach others.

Likewise, before you can disciple and teach others and serve them in any kind of ministry capacity (and I am using the word "ministry" in its purist Biblical sense, not in any institutional sense), you have to first be discipled and taught yourself. I mean discipled and taught by the Holy Spirit, growing in grace and in the knowledge of Christ. I have never seen the inside of a seminary or Bible college. I have never taken a course in theology (although some of my greatest critics fervently wish I would take a few). I have no certificates, diplomas, or degrees to speak of. But the Holy Spirit Who teaches me and leads me into all Truth has made me wiser than all my would-be teachers. It is not I, but Christ. This Wisdom comes from above; it is not of this world. It is Spirit-and-Truth revelation, not flesh-and-blood knowledge. One is not qualified before God on the basis of theological training, leadership ability, charisma, Bible-knowledge, spiritual gift, congregational vote, or credentialing authority. These count for nothing in terms of whether or not a person has experienced the depths of Jesus Christ.

In the Church that Jesus is building, an older person is not necessarily a spiritual elder. We do not look to the age of a person's physical body when determining their spiritual maturity. Of course, we owe a certain amount of respect to the aged by virtue of their seniority; but they may not necessarily be our elder in the things of the Lord. One can be older chronologically and be quite immature in spiritual matters. Likewise, a relatively young man or woman can have a deep relationship with the Lord and be light years ahead of those two or three times their age. A young man or woman who knows God is more elder than a senior citizen who does not know God. We cannot judge by the flesh, or we will be misled.

If our desire is for maturity, that is, if we desire to come to the full-knowledge of Christ and grow up into Him in all things, we should naturally pay attention to those who are elder in the Lord. But being an elder has nothing to do with leadership ability, filling an office, having a title, or performing some ministerial duty or sacerdotal function in the church. The elders are simply those who are older in the Lord. It is quite simple. My elder brother, or my elder sister, has walked with the Lord longer than I have. The implication is that they are more conformed to the image of Christ than myself; they have experienced a deeper work of the Cross than I have; thus, they have more practical wisdom than I do, they have something to teach me, and I need to hear Christ in them so I, too, can grow. It should be obvious to you who is, and who is not, your elder in the Lord. And, it should be plain to see that not everyone who is older is necessarily elder. If you say you are a believer but you live no differently from the world then you can be as old as Methuselah yet you are certainly not an elder.

What am I getting at? "The fullness of Christ." That is the goal. But you cannot presume to bring people into a fullness that you have not experienced yourself. Common sense tells us that true apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors, and teachers have to be spiritual elders. They must be walking in that fullness of Christ if God would use them to bring us to that same fullness; how could it possibly be otherwise? We have no business being instructed or discipled by someone who is not our elder in the Lord; what can they possibly add to us, and how can they possibly bring us higher or deeper?

So each of these ministry functions fulfill different roles, but their purpose is the same, and that is, to bring ALL of us into that same fullness, that same spiritual maturity, that same experiential knowing, which the elders themselves enjoy. Thus, He gives SOME, till we ALL... SOME, till we ALL... SOME, till we ALL. Do you see this? And He will continue to give SOME till we ALL. Once He has ALL then the work is complete and these ministries will no longer be needed. Until then they ARE needed, and they are critical to God's Purpose.
Email: info@watchman.net
Website: www.watchman.net

The Power Is Coming

Rick Joyner

December 29, 2003
First, my prayer for you this coming year is that it will be the best one you have ever had in the Lord. I pray that you will draw much closer to Him this year, and come to know His ways and His voice much better. I also pray that you will be changed more into His image by seeing more of His glory with your own eyes. His glory is going to be seen by His people this year.

I would also like to thank all of you who sent cards, encouraging words, and even gifts, all of which were very special and meaningful. Thanks.

By the end of this year we will have covered many of the important biblical prophecies of our times. However, this particular study is designed to unfold in a systematic, methodical way that will probably sift out the impatient. This is done for several reasons. The first is found in Hebrews 6:11-12:

And we desire that each one of you show the same diligence so as to realize the full assurance of hope until the end, that you may not be sluggish, but imitators of those who through faith and patience inherit the promises.

Our primary goal is more than just knowing the things that are going to come to pass, but to "realize the full assurance of hope until the end." Hope is the foundation of the true knowledge of prophecy, not fear. We will take the time to lay a solid foundation of hope that is based on the nature of God, and the clear, biblical teachings on the plan of God, in which a true hope must be based.

Our next goal is to build in our lives both the "faith and patience" that will enable us to "inherit the promises." Not only will the impatient mishandle the knowledge of these things, but they will also miss out on inheriting the promises. Our goal is not just knowledge, but actually walking in the promises of God, and having a life that is light in our times.

Any eschatology that focuses on doom instead of the glorious promises has fundamentally misunderstood the prophecies of the end times. Certainly there will be troubles, even the greatest time of trouble that the world has ever known. Even so, troubles are not the main point! They are not even worthy of a sideshow. We are coming to the time of the greatest revelation of the glory of God that the world has ever known. This is the main point.

Christians are not doomed at the end of the age. We are coming to the time when Christians will prosper as never before. They will walk in the power, provision, and glory of God in a way which is so spectacular that Israel's deliverance from Egypt was only a "shadow" of the reality which is to come. There will be a distinction made between those who live in "Goshen" and those who worship the idols of this world. Just as Israel left Egypt with its treasures, the wealth of the wicked is being stored up for the righteous.

However, just as Israel was not immediately taken to the closest shopping mall to spend their new found wealth, but rather into the wilderness so that they could use it to build a dwelling place for God, it will be the same for us. The wealth of the nations is not coming to us so that we can live luxuriously, but so we can build God a dwelling place to live among us. This is for the building up of the body of Christ, His church, and His dwelling place. The presence of the Lord among us is a far more wonderful thing than all of the luxuries of this earth could ever be.

As we have for weeks been seeking to lay a foundational understanding of God's heart for restoration, we know that His first priority is the restoration of His temple, the church, so that He can dwell among us. However, the church is not the whole purpose of God, but it is a means, the vehicle through which He intends to restore all things that were lost by the fall. The earth and all it contains is the Lord's, and will be restored.

The Nature of Discernment

One of the main goals of the knowledge of the times is for the purpose of our growing in discernment. The true gift of discernment is a gift that we are certainly going to need in the times ahead.

Many years ago a prophetic friend of mine sat with the then President of the United States and about fifty of the most visible leaders of the church in our nation. My friend was marveling at the wisdom that was present, and how even the President was listening to them. Then, to his surprise, the Lord spoke to him about something he was not expecting to hear. The Lord told him that not a single one of the Christian leaders in that room had the gift of discernment-that this was the gift we were going to greatly need in the times ahead. He wanted to give it not only to His leaders, but also to every one of His people.

My friend then began to perceive that this President was not really listening to these Christian leaders, but was setting them up to use them politically, which is in fact what happened. When my friend related this to me, he said the main concern was not that these men were being used in this way, but that the leadership of the church is so devoid of true discernment. He said this was going to lead to some of the greatest problems the church would face in the days ahead, which has certainly come true.

The Lord was not necessarily using this to reveal the nature of the President, who was only doing what politicians do, but that the men present did not discern how they were being set up to be used was the concern.

It was very soon after this that another prophetic friend of mine said that the Lord had told him that the church was being continually misled by "a false gift of discernment." He said that a "spirit of suspicion" was masquerading as the gift of discernment in the church and hardly anyone recognized it.

This friend of mine then said that the Lord told him the true gift of discernment could only work through compassion. He had given him Philippians 1:9 as the Scripture for it, "And this I pray, that your love may abound still more and more in real knowledge and all discernment." The Lord went on to tell him that "anything but love will distort discernment."

My way of thinking at the time was that "love is blind," and more prone to cloud your discernment of a person rather than help you to discern accurately. However, the Lord said that the opposite was true. As I sought the Lord on this matter, He showed me over and over how suspicion had caused me to misunderstand many people, and how I had often missed His will in matters because of it.

The Nature of Spiritual Authority

It was at this time that the Lord began to speak to me about how all true spiritual authority is founded upon love. We see this in the Lord's own walk on the earth. It was when He had compassion for the sheep that were without a shepherd that He became their Shepherd. It was when He had compassion on those who sat in darkness that He became their Teacher.

I was then told that I would know when He was sending me because I would feel His love for those to which I was being sent. I would know I was being sent to a church when I started to feel His love for that church. I would know I was being sent to a ministry when I started to feel His love for that ministry. The same is true for a city, country, culture, or a people group. It was only through this love that I would be able to discern the roots of their problems and bondage so that I could help them.

Truly loving someone does not mean you will only see the good in him or her. It means that you can see them as they are and only seek good for them.

It is for this reason that Paul wrote in II Corinthians 5:14, "For the love of Christ controls us..." This leads us to one of those ultimate questions. What would we be like if the love of Christ was controlling all of our thoughts and actions? Then add to this the power of Christ abiding within us to do the works that He did, and even greater works. What would our days be like if this were true?

There will be a people, whom this will be true, who will walk the earth before this age is over. They will have His love in them and will therefore walk the earth like He did. As we will see, this is sound, biblical prophecy concerning the end of this age.

Because our goal for knowing the Lord's will is to be prepared so we can do His will, let's get even more practical. What would you do today if His love was controlling you, and His power was in you? Who would you heal? What devils would you cast out? For whom would you multiply their food? To whom would you preach the gospel of the kingdom?

We might also add some other practical questions to this. Would we have watched the television programs we did in the past? How much gossip would we have even listened to, much less helped to spread? Would we have become angry with our neighbor over such a small thing? Would I have gloated over the misfortune that struck the person I may have disliked?

The most important eternal truth will begin to be restored to the church this year. This is going to happen in powerful and dramatic ways. This truth is the truth of the power of the cross. This is going to change everything. It is even going to change us.

© MorningStar Publications Inc. All rights reserved http://www.morningstarministries.org/

The Pit of Destruction
Rick Joyner

July 26, 2004

Last week we discussed how crucial it is to esteem the value of life. It is the reason why this was the first test of Solomon's wisdom, as it is a value that is fundamental to wisdom. However, history teaches us that this is a value that gets harder to hold on to the more difficult the times become. At the end of this age, during the greatest times of trouble that the world has ever known, the devil, the one who was the murderer from the beginning, will be unleashing his last and most desperate fury upon the earth in an attempt to kill all that he can. The result will be that those who are controlled by him will casually kill multitudes. They will seemingly have no pang in their conscience, but rather will be rewarded for their deeds, as those who kill the most will become the most celebrated. As mankind falls into its deepest darkness and depravity, this will be measurable by their lack of esteem for life.

The Nazi regime degenerated to the point where whole families, and even whole neighborhoods, could be wiped out at the whim of a relatively junior officer, while some of the most brilliant minds were devoted day and night to determining how they could kill people more cheaply. It was just a foretaste of what is to come. In contrast to this, those who grow in the true wisdom of the fear of the Lord will also be growing in their esteem for the value of life. These will be given increasing power to give words of life, even resurrection life, as they grow in this true wisdom.

For this reason we should all be devoted to imparting the words of life every opportunity we can. That words can give life is one of the great marvels. Let us determine every day to sow seeds of encouragement, hope, and faith. We should recognize the encroachment of discouragement and hopelessness as the beginning of enemy strongholds that must be resisted. Above all, we must value the most valuable gift that has been given to any-the value of life.

Again, as we proceed toward the end of this age, one of the most prominent, distinguishing characteristics between those who serve the Lord and those who serve the devil will be the esteem for life. One of the primary entry points for the spirit of death into Nazi Germany was through the medical community. We can expect the same for what is to come. When this profession, which is supposed to be fundamentally devoted to the preservation and protection of life, starts to be used to kill, it will eventually open the floodgates of death.

Before developing this theme further, please allow me to make an important observation about our present, American, medical community. What I am about to say applies to different degrees to other countries, especially Western nations, but it would be too much of a generalization to attribute it to all of them. First, we should all keep in mind that if we are alive today we probably owe this to at least some degree to the medical community. If it had not been for the advances they have made in medicine, the world would almost certainly have suffered plagues such as were released during the Middle Ages many times over. We should also be very thankful for the quality of life and even life itself, which has resulted from the medical community's devotion, diligence, and brilliant use of the gifts and talents that God gave to them. For this reason we too should be devoted to encouraging doctors and any other health industry workers for their work.

However, there are some very dark practices already gripping modern medical science-the very ones that preceded the turning of medicine in Nazi Germany into one of the most diabolical tools the devil ever had in his hands. If they are not addressed and reversed, we can expect the same results.

The fall from grace in medicine usually begins when it changes from being a calling to being a business. There are still doctors who are true healers, whose devotion and fulfillment comes from seeing the sick made well. However, these are increasingly rare. Too many doctors today are just professionals, and their practice is a business more than a calling. To them their patients are more like commodities than people. Hope is still the most potent medicine ever devised for any disease. One of the greatest tragedies of modern medicine is that doctors have, to a large degree, been deprived of being able to administer this medicine for fear of potential lawsuits or other consequences to their business if anything goes wrong.

It would not surprise me if 99 percent of physicians are ignorant of what I am about to tell you, and would dispute it, but the cure for cancer could have been found a long time ago, and would have been found if cancer was not such big business. The same is true of almost every other degenerative disease.

The chemicals that are used in chemotherapy cost about ten dollars, while they are sold to patients for fifteen hundred dollars or more. When you are mostly dealing with professionals instead of true healers, who are running a business more than a true hospital, there is really no incentive to find a cure for cancer. Where is the incentive for the pharmaceutical companies to find such a cure, especially if it turned out to be an inexpensive cure? I personally have become convinced that such is in fact the case.

Everyone has cancer cells in their body. A normal healthy immune system will eradicate them easily, keeping them from gathering to become a tumor. However, the chemotherapy that is used to fight tumors attacks the immune system, making future tumors inevitable. Alternative medicine has found ways to eradicate tumors while strengthening the immune system instead of destroying it. Why are these not more widely known or used by "traditional" medicine? I honestly believe that 99 percent of doctors and most people are ignorant of these facts because a system has evolved that is so self-interested and so devoted to self-preservation that it resists and attacks everything not coming through it. Sound familiar? Sounds like many church institutions, does it not?

This is why many of the great advances of the gospel have had to come from outside of the church institutions. Some great revivals and advances of the gospel have come out of denominations, but they are now rare because it is hard for such to maintain the ability to take risks, which is required to walk in faith.

It is not likely that many doctors have even thought through these things, even those who are true healers that are trying to do the best they can. They are just doing the best with the knowledge that they have been given, and within the system as it is. They can draw from the encouragement of many patients that have truly been helped, at least for a time. However, the plot of the movie The Fugitive is more prophetic than many supposed. A doctor who discovers the fraud in medical research will be deemed far more dangerous than any mass murderer by that establishment.

This is not to imply that such a diabolical fraud is to be found in all medical research, or even most of it. Probably, the majority of doctors and researchers are sincerely trying to do the very best they can. It is the system, which has an entity behind it that is bigger and more powerful than any individual. When you start touching, not just a multi-billion dollar business, but a multi-trillion dollar business, it will get very dangerous.

In this format of the Word for the Week, I do not have time to back up and establish some of the statements that I have made in a way they deserve. I am not a doctor or an expert in this field, and many who are have been addressing them. I believe it will become a major issue in the future, even affecting presidential races. In spite of what I have said, I still believe we have the best medical system in the world. It has cancers within itself, and they must be addressed or soon the whole body will die. The answer is to get rid of the cancer, not kill the body.

I think the legal system in America likewise has some very deadly cancers growing within it that will soon have to be addressed. Even so, having traveled throughout much of the world, I think it is still one of the best legal systems there is. The world is the world and we should not expect perfect solutions in this world until the King returns.

Even so, I have talked to too many doctors who are genuinely horrified at what is happening and for these things to continue much longer without being exposed. A growing number are already sounding the alarm. Those who know me, and my message, know that I am not given to paranoia or conspiracies. Even in this I am not ready to put the blame on any individual, as I know that we are not warring against "flesh and blood," but against higher spiritual powers (see Ephesians 6:12). There are probably some individuals who know what is happening, and have given themselves over to evil. In general, I do not believe that this is the case. I think the system has taken over the people instead of the people running the system.

Again, even though more doctors are seeing what I am describing, greed is driving much of the medical industry. The warnings are presently being treated the same way that they were in Nazi Germany. The momentum of a dark and deadly evil is permeating the medical industry. It is growing in power and is already dominant. There are some who are being salt and light, but not enough. The medical system is headed to the place where doctors will decide who should live or die, not by whether they could be treated or healed, but by the patient's usefulness "to society." Remember the "useless eaters." That is how it began in Nazi Germany, and this same philosophy is now growing in even the most advanced, free nations.

Abortion is the biggest gate of hell, giving hell entry into the medical community in a way that will make it one of the enemy's most powerful fortresses for his evil devices. It is the snuffing out of life at its most vulnerable stage. Almost any beast that is a mother would willingly sacrifice its own life for the sake of its young. When we sink below this to even casually killing our own unborn children we have in some basic ways fallen below the beasts. This is ultimate depravity, selfishness, and darkness of soul.

Jesus came to save "the maimed, and the halt, and the blind" (Luke 14:21 KJV). He came to save sinners. His grace is more than enough to forgive those who have had abortions, and heal them of even the emotional scars. Some of these, who have experienced firsthand the horrors of abortion and the destruction of a precious life within their own bodies, are becoming the greatest champions of life. Others have had their consciences seared by the experience, and will not live as they could have, neither feeling, loving, or experiencing life, because of their moral and spiritual callouses. Every abortion also kills part of the mother like few other things could.

Those who serve the "Prince of life" will love life. They will esteem honor and protect it, even at the risk of their own lives, just as our Savior gave His life so we could live. The Reformation that released the great increase of knowledge that we are now experiencing (see Acts 3:15), began on the foundational principle that salvation was individual, not corporate, and that there had to be personal faith, not just membership in an institution, to be saved. This gave infinite and eternal value to every individual, regardless of what condition their body was in, because they had a soul that could live forever. This was the foundational belief that gave birth to democracy and free enterprise. For the last five centuries, if you look at where freedom and true, lasting, prosperity spread, it was where these great Reformation truths were spread.

As II Corinthians 3:17 declares, "Now the Lord is the Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." Freedom is a basic characteristic of anything that God is truly in. The most basic freedom of all is the freedom to live. One of the devil's ultimate strategies is to take our lives away. To do this, one of his most basic strategies is to take our freedom away so he can give the power of life and death to his followers who are under his control. We will address this issue in more detail in the coming weeks, but for now we must set in our hearts that death is an ultimate enemy, and to love, esteem, and protect life is a fundamental characteristic of Christianity.

© MorningStar Publications Inc. All rights reserved http://www.morningstarministries.org/

This Place

Gary Carroll

All of us look forward to when we will live in heaven. Of being released from a sinful nature we do not want and finally being who we really are. A place of abundance in Him.

Jesus has prepared such a place like this here for us before we reach heaven. A place of abundance. The difference is that in heaven, the self nature we have here is gone. But before we get to heaven, we must die to our selfish nature here. And when we do, we can enter into a special place that we never want to leave. A place He created for us. And a place the outside world cannot see or grasp. It is drab in appearance, even to us. The outside world sees no value in this place. And at times, we do not either. But this place is an answer to where we long to be. Nothing in life could be better than living in this place.

I've been to this place a few times over the last few years in my dreams. When I am there, I never want to leave. It feels that nothing would be more enjoyable than living in this place. A week ago, I went there again in a dream and found out where I had been visiting.

I had a dream, but it was more than that. It was like I went to this place. I've been here before in previous dreams. It is a place I have yearned and ached to go back to, it's a place where I want to stay. The place is enormous. It is all rooms. And all underground. It was under a $200,000 home. The owner of the home was seen, but he did not appreciate or care for this place. He reluctantly acknowledged this place under his home.

I was sitting in a huge stadium underground, I saw a playing field in front of me. But there were no players on the field. The lighting on the field was somewhat dark. As I looked to my left I saw a few people, maybe eight but that's all I saw. They were sitting in some bleachers above me. They were very friendly and I could tell they liked being here too.

I went for a walk through this place with my father. Although this place was kind of dark and dreary, I loved being in this place. I went through the main section and it all looked familiar. I had been here before. As I walked forward I saw huge rooms. Huge bedrooms, huge kitchens. I remembered a bedroom that I had seen here before. An open-air bedroom built on a mountainside, just one big bedroom with the bed at the top. It was a masterpiece just to see it. As we walked. my father had a pistol strapped on his side, one you might see in the Old West. I was completely protected here even though I felt no fear from anything, only peace and contentment. I wondered again what this place was.

I wanted to go to another level of this place. I had been to that level before. It is underground even deeper. I went down into it and then started walking across the expanse of it. It was quite a bit darker here although I could still see. Like you could tell for sure you were deep underground. I saw a room with a man lying in bed there. It was like he was dead, but there was no fear at all in what I saw. It was as it should be. I stood still and watched him for a time. I did not go any farther into this section of this place.

My father and I then went to the upper section of this place. We climbed up to the top and then to the edge of the developed area with all the rooms and looked over into a vast dark area that was undeveloped. There was nothing built here, just a dark mountainside. It was undeveloped and my father was not pleased in seeing this. There was space here for many more rooms, but there had not been a reason to build any more rooms, additional rooms were not needed. And then I realized the Lord was beside me. I asked Him where was this place. He said this was a place He made for His own to live in who die to themselves. He said He created this place for His servants.

The Plea of My Friend

Luz Cintron

I have a friend whose heart was set to love.
One day he went to a far city where saw an orphan girl.
His heart leaped in him as he behold her.
He worshiped her,
but when he laid his hand to touch the beloved of his heart, she hid from him in shame.

Still he loved her and continued in his love for her.
He went back home and open the treasures of His house to sent her garments, and oils to perfume and oils to cleanse.
After many days he came back to her
She was clean, she was pretty in his garments cleansed and perfumed with his oils she smelled like home to him though she did not know it.
To her it smell like him.
He showed himself to her once more but when he stretched his hand to touch her she recoiled in fear.

Still he remained loving her.
He went back to his house and now he sent horses galloping in strength they knocked the doors and torn the fences they pulled down walls and laid bare everything within the city of his love.
The strenght of the city was reduced to ruins
She laid there in its midst covered only by her fears as lonely as before.
The heavens were dark the moon and the stars did not have light to give her.
She sat in darkness, in the open field and wondered of him.

He came to her once more and saw her from afar as she laid in the open field.
As a refuse she laid
as something left to rot.
With a heart of compassion he longed for her.
He loved her still, maybe even more,
and drew near her in the field as she stood alone.

From a distance, still hidden from her sight
he sung her song.
She heard him and her heart started to beat its wings not being able to take flight for she could not see him.
She cried tears of impotence.

He stood afar and spoke to her tenderly in poems from his heart
She heard him and called to Him because she could hear him but could not see him.
In his undying love he worshiped her with new resolve he spoke to her in grace and send his words to her in fireflies in the middle of the night.
They touched her hair and kissed her lips they rest around her as she stood in their light.

This is the light that is when all is dark.

She remembered his hands stretched to her before and their plea pierced through her heart.
She was convinced she had missed it, she had failed and cried hot tears of repentance.
She wished deep and long for him there.

His voice would come to her every so often now carried by the breeze almost a tender and caressing touch that woke her heart to love.
From where it came she could not see but oh! how she longed!
There he spoke to her sweetly, in the midst of the open field, after she had been covered with darkness like a cloak.

She looked to the stars, they were not shinning, she looked for the moon and it had hidden away.
She looked to the ground and knelt to behold her beginnings her tears mixed in with it and formed clay as she held it in her hands and she remembered the hands that formed her shape, the lips that touched her nose to give it breath.

He rose from his hiding place to meet her.
He came to her once more.
Perhaps it was their first encounter as it was meant to be from the very beginning.
Who knows? He did not say a word.
He looked into her eyes and took her hands dirty with clay he laid them in his hands and kissed her tenderly.

Luz
August 22, 2004

The Passion Movie

Paul Jablonowski

The Passion Movie ? An Apostolic Message www.pauljab.net/writings/passion.htm 3/12/2004

I was very inspired and touched by the blockbuster movie "The Passion of Christ." I have been praying for and anticipating this movie for over a year, and I was not disappointed. Although it is a true work of art, you are not thinking about the good cinema quality as much as you are transfixed on the man Jesus Christ and the forgiveness and love of his character. What a man! What an awesome God! While other religions often require YOU to sacrifice to gain their god?s approval, only Christianity offers a God who sacrifices His only son so that we can know Him.

I am sure everyone gets something different out of this movie, but what struck me personally was the message of Jesus the chief apostle, because I believe our generation will see the anointing of apostles restored to the corporate "body of Christ." In the early church everyone knew who and where the apostles were, but this is not the case today. Often times, our many denominations and institutions hinder true apostolic anointing working in the region wide body of believers. However, this seems to be changing with prayer, and this movie may very well help the cause of uniting the city wide local body under true apostolic authority.

Just one example of this type of unity happened here in Huntsville on the day that the movie opened. A group of 12 local pastors were in the middle of a four day / three night prayer summit retreat in order to pray for the city and get to know each other better. They all went to see this movie together and as a group were very moved by what they saw. I was told that they all left the movie theater without saying a word to each other during the entire ride back to the retreat lodging (quite a miracle for preachers :-). Although these pastors were all from different denominations and backgrounds, they found common ground with this movie, and it helped their focus for the remainder of the retreat.

The kingdom of God is much bigger than the church. Here is a movie produced by one of the greatest stars in Hollywood that will probably do more to promote the sacrificial character of Jesus than hundreds of church institutions combined. I believe this type of breakthrough will start happening in other fields of service like business, science, education, government, etc. The church was never meant to be an institution, but rather a living example of Jesus on the earth during every day life. Life is really about relationships: first with our creator God and then with one another. Deep and lasting "father/son" type relationships will become the backbone of this apostolic revolution.

Jesus is the chief "apostle" which simply means a "sent one," and so His life & death is the example of all apostles. Paul in the new testament was also a great example of the gift of an apostle and he wrote, "I determined not to know anything among you except Jesus Christ and Him crucified." That is what this movie is all about ? Jesus Christ and Him crucified. Jesus died to "self" every day of His life and not just at the cross. Likewise, the apostle Paul wrote, "I die daily" - This heart attitude is resident in all apostles. When discerning true apostles, this type of humble character is more important than gifting or miracle working, and even Jesus refused to perform a sign when religious people required it from Him.

It was truly Jesus? passion to endure the cross with the longer term vision of a harvest of souls for the kingdom of God. Likewise, all future true apostles of the Lamb will have this same gentle, humble attitude of laying down their lives for the sake of others. This was the message of the cross and the obvious focus of this movie.

If the terror attacks of September 11th 2001 was a wake-up call from hell, then the release of The Passion movie is a 911 wake-up call from heaven. I pray that this alarm will wake up a slumbering generation to take up their crosses and follow Jesus. He is our only hope, and only those with Jesus' character and self-sacrificing attitude will bring the kingdom of heaven to this earth. "Thy kingdom come, and Thy will be done!"

The Power Of A Seed

Ching Co

May 10, 2004 was the election day for our country, the Philippines. And in the past months of the campaign, we have been bombarded with different kinds of information coming from all avenues. Many issues were brought forth, debated, shared, and discussed. Many sectors of society, including the believers, got stirred up to participate, for they truly desire to see change happen to our country.

Now that the election is over and we await the results, what's next for us to do? As I was pondering upon this matter, the Lord brought back to my mind "the power of a seed," and how often we failed to grasp the full implication of this and end up missing a lot of opportunities to affect change in our midst.

A Seed Produces

A seed, of whatever variety, is often small. But once it is planted, well taken cared of, and given time, has the ability to multiply and to grow beyond any measure we can imagine. This truth applies not just to a physical seed, but also to "spiritual" seeds that God has given specially to His people.

We long to experience positive and meaningful changes in our lives, our families, our churches, our society, our cities, and our nation. And oftentimes because of the magnitude of the problems we face daily, we begin to feel desperate and, at times, just surrender to these feelings, thinking that nothing will ever change, forgetting that we hold in our hands God's seeds which has the power to change the situations around us.

Today, let us remind ourselves once more that God has given us all the seeds we need to start sowing, seeds that will one day grow into mighty trees. Trees that will one day benefit not just the sower but many others as well.

What are we facing today?

Is it financial distress? Then let us sow seeds of "giving." Let us give of our time, talent and, yes, finances.

Is it emotional coldness or apathy by those around us? Then let us sow seeds of "love". A kind word, a smile, a gentle touch...these little acts will help melt the coldness around us.

Is it fear and despair? Then let's begin sowing seeds of "praise & thanksgiving." Let's start to look for the positive in people instead of the negative. Let us begin to thank our children, our friends, our leaders for what they have already done instead of complaining about what they have failed to do.

Is it doubt and uncertainty? Then try sowing the seeds of "speaking forth God's promises." The Bible is full of them. Let us begin claiming them one by one.

Is it greed and dishonesty in society? Then try sowing seeds of "integrity and generosity". Let us practice speaking the truth always even when it hurts. In our work, let us become good stewards of all things entrusted to us, whether small or big. Let us not be afraid to go the second mile.

I am confident that whatever the need is in our midst today, God will abundantly provide us with the right seed to sow.

We Can Be Assured

What we will be led to do today may seem immaterial, if compared to the circumstances and challenges we are facing whether as a person, a family or a nation. But as we start sowing where the Lord leads us, we can be assured that one day, whether in our lifetime or our children's lifetime, these small sowing actions will reap many beneficial changes.

"To everything there is a season, and a time for every matter or purpose under heaven. A time to plant and a time to pluck up what is planted. He has made everything beautiful in its time."
(Ecclesiastes 3:1,2b,11a)

"And let us not lose heart and grow weary and faint in acting nobly and doing right, for in due time and at the appointed season we shall reap, if we do not loosen and relax our courage and faint. So then, as occasion and opportunity open up to us, let us do good to all people [not only being useful or profitable to them, but also doing what is for their spiritual good and advantage]. Be mindful to be a blessing, especially to those of the household of faith [those who belong to God's family with you, the believers.]"
(Galatians 6:9-10)

Sister Ching Co
Cebu City, The Philippines

The Power Of A Surrendered Heart
Cindy Mcgill

www.hopefortheharvest.com
dreaminslc@hotmail.com

"To Give Oneself Up Into The Power Of Another"
Lately, I have been meditating on how I can love God with ALL my heart, mind, soul, and strength. What does that really look like? Is it possible?

That would mean that everything in my life would take second place to my love for God. EVERYTHING. Wow!! What a thought.
I asked the Lord how I might obtain such a love and I felt He whispered to me, "Surrender."

According to the dictionary, the word surrender literally means:

1 a : to yield to the power, control, or possession of another upon compulsion or demand <surrendered the fort> b : to give up completely or agree to forgo especially in favor of another
2 a : to give (oneself) up into the power of another especially as a prisoner b : to give (oneself) over to something (as an influence) intransitive senses : to give oneself up into the power of another : YIELD

Now, that is powerful -- "To give oneself up into the power of another." That is just what Jesus did for the Father and for us.

The Safest Place To Be

There is no more secure place to live, than to give our lives up to the One who is the essence of Love itself and gave Himself up for us. The One who made us and only has our best interest in mind. Our Destiny Maker, our Path Creator, our Heart Transformer, our LORD.

Romans 12:1-2
"I urge you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies a living and holy sacrifice, acceptable to God, which is your spiritual service of worship. And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what the will of God is, that which is good and acceptable and perfect."

Surrendering to the Lover of our souls is a very safe place.
Proverbs 18:10
"The name of the Lord is a strong tower; the righteous runs into it and is safe."

Surrendering Our Ways

We know that His ways are above our ways and His thoughts are higher than ours. As we place ourselves back on the potter's wheel in this season of transformation, we will find that God wants to reshape our hearts and minds so we aren't hindered in the coming days by our own expectations or comfortable ways. His skillful shaping and molding in our lives only gives way for greater fruitfulness in His kingdom. He is the MASTER potter.

Seeing what lies ahead, He takes us and transforms us into a vessels of honor to be used by the King.

Surrendering Our Hearts

God can do much with a surrendered heart. A heart that will be made tender by His love. A heart that is quick to forgive, patient, and looking for the good in people. This kind of heart is willing to undergo that "circumcision" or "cutting away" of any hardness that has formed on it because of hurtful times. The Surgeon of the "circumcision" always gives a Holy Ghost anesthetic, when such a procedure is required.

This heart-tenderizing transformation produces strength to move forward in overwhelming compassion, creating an atmosphere where miracles can flow. It's what Jesus experienced when He healed people oppressed by the devil. This tender heart hears God's heart, and God's heart is for the lost and dying world.

Surrendering Our Lives

Galatians 2:20
"I have been crucified with Christ; and it is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me; and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me, and delivered Himself up for me."

Recently, I was in a conference where the leadership was talking about our need for change in our churches. It seemed so evident to all, but in the elevator I overheard one of the pastors express an unwillingness to change.

The comment went something like, "...That would strip away my whole identity. We are fine the way we are."
There is a danger sign when our "identity" is wrapped up in how we do things, how we function, our gifting, or our callings. We must be careful that we don't lose sight of the One who gave us these things. What if the Lord wants to use us in a new way? It is more about who Christ is in us than who we are in Christ.

The Powerful Results Of Surrender

A surrendered life produces great freedom to new expressions of the Spirit. This must have been what the people felt who were gathered in the upper room in Acts 2. They began to have a POWERFUL encounter with the Holy Spirit and the result didn't just affect their lives, but the whole city and region, IMMEDIATELY.

Surrender is what Mary chose in obedience to a request made to her by God. Until that time, such a request had been unheard of; but the result of her surrendered heart caused Jesus to be born through her. Mary LOVED Jesus, with all of her heart, all of her mind, all of her strength, and all of her soul. This love is the result of SURRENDER.

Giving God Free Rein In Our Lives

As we enter into this season of harvest, where spiritually hungry people are looking for the true "Bread of Life," let us keep a surrendered heart so Jesus can be birthed through us and then in the ones we meet.

Let us set aside these next few days and weeks to surrender to God and let Him transform us -- according to His plan for our lives -- for the upcoming season we are entering into. Let's give God free rein in our lives and ministries to add to or to take away anything He sees would not be useful for the upcoming days.
Surrender to the King of all Kings and WE'LL GIVE HIM ALL THE GLORY...CHRIST THE LORD!!!

Have a very blessed Christmas.

Cindy McGill
www.hopefortheharvest.com
dreaminslc@hotmail.com

The Preaching of the Cross

Mike Forest

The preaching of the cross is the power of God, and the enemy hates the cross of Christ, because it is through the death of Jesus that the one who had the power of death was destroyed. Jesus Christ paralyzed the principalities and powers and made a public display of them, putting them to an open shame. This was done on the cross, because if the prince of this world would have known the result of the death and resurrection of Jesus, he would have never crucified the Lord of glory. (1Cor.1:18), (Hebrews 2:14), (Colossians 2:15), (1Cor.2:8).

The blood of Jesus Christ that was shed on Calvary's cross has secured for the believer a right standing with God. It is through the blood of Jesus that we are redeemed, sanctified, and overcome the wicked one. (Ephesians 1:7), (Hebrews 13:12), (Revelation 12:11.)

Jesus Christ said that "if I be lifted up from the earth, I will draw all men unto me." (John 12:32.)

It is because of God's great love for sinful man that He has brought forth a movie on the crucifixion of Christ, so that men and women who would not ordinarily set foot in a Church will be greatly moved by the Holy Spirit as they view this movie. The inevitable question that must be asked is why did He suffer and die such a horrible death? The answer is that "God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son, so that whosoever believes in Him would not perish but would have everlasting life." (John 3:16.)

There are many pastors and well know prophetic men that have viewed "The Passion of Christ" and have said that it is scripturally sound. Yet is seems that the powers of darkness are vehemently against this movie going forth. The opposition to this movie Going before the public is a sure indication that God is in it. The gospel of Jesus Christ is being presented in this movie, and the gospel of Jesus is the power of God for salvation unto all that believe. (Romans 1:16.)

May our prayer be that God would use this movie as an evangelistic tool to bring many people all over the world to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ. May the Holy Spirit draw the unsaved to the cross of Christ.

The Passion Of Christ Worldwide
Charles Carrin

"Yasser Arafat and his entire PLO Cabinet watched the movie, The Passion Of The Christ,"-- that was the news R. T. Kendall called to tell me the day after his return from Israel. R. T. personally took the film to Israel and sat next to Yasser during the entire showing. Only God knows what effect the viewing had on these men but R. T. observed that Arafat and the others were visibly shaken by it. Pray for the salvation of the PLO leadership and the end of terrorism! Pray for Dr. Kendall's witnessing to them. Remember that Saul of Tarsus was also a terrorist before his conversion.

Two missionary-friends in the Muslim nation of Qatar wrote separately about the movie and I quote from each. The first one said: "Today very possibly was the most significant day we have seen in nearly 12 years of living in the Middle East. To everyone's shock and surprise, "The Passion" was released here in Qatar ... You have to realize that until now we have only been able to show the 'Jesus' film in Arabic to a handful of Qatari in the secret of a home setting. In the coming weeks, potentially 10's of thousands of Arab Muslims will see this powerful portrayal of Christ's suffering and death."

The other writer tells, "Yesterday I took two Palestinian Muslims and one European Christian leader to see the film The Passion Of The Christ. The theatre was packed with what I would estimate to be an 80-90% Arab Muslim audience. ... You should have seen the sea of thobes and gutras (their white robes and head-coverings). The movie is a missionary's dream with perfect Arabic subtitles--leaving in all the 'Son of God' and 'Father' terminology. The film is being shown 19 times a day ... One of the Palestinians sitting next to me was completely OVERWHELMED with what he was watching. Many times he just put his face in his hands sighing and shaking his head ... He works for one of the local Arabic newspapers that had run the review of the movie the day before. He told me before the film, 'EVERYBODY is talking about this movie' ... After the film, I told him in Arabic, "Jesus loves you so much and did all of it for you!"

Part of the reason Muslims are flocking to see the film is that they heard American Jews objected to it. Since Muslims hate the Jews, they were eager to see the movie for themselves. Thank God! Jewish opposition was needed to get Muslims world-wide into the theatres. Theology in the movie forces a soul-search upon Muslims. The Koran denies that Jesus was the "Son of God," denies that He was crucified, denies that God is a "Father." The movie further challenges Muslims' hatred for Jews by Jesus' cry for mercy, "Father! Forgive them! They know not what they do!" The Koran offers no such kindness.

The missionary continues: "The 'Passion' shares the Gospel in 2 hours more powerfully and clearly than any of us on our team have in our whole time in the Gulf--or ever would be able to!!! Hallelujah! It is such an unbelievable dream come true; we still have to slap ourselves to realize it is happening!

Recently, I spoke at Victory Christian Center, Boca Raton, Florida, and met a young Israeli Christian girl who grew up in Israel and speaks Hebrew. She told me that a Hebrew-speaking Israeli website took a poll, asking Jews in that country if the film should or should not be shown. 95% of them voted "yes"--show it. Many wanted to see the film for themselves. Recently, according to public TV, two men, one, a bank robber and the other, a murderer, saw the film, were convicted of their crimes, went to the police station and turned themselves in. That is a "first" for a Hollywood film.

In a TV interview, Mel Gibson, the Producer-Director, said he prayed for Jews and everyone else world-wide that they would "have their names in the Lamb's Book of Life." Pray for this man! Pray that he will be directed to produce other genuine "Jesus" films.
Charles Carrin mail@charlescarrinministries.com http://charlescarrinministries.com/

The Power Of God

Bobby Conner

The real issue is not whether or not we want the power of God, but do we really want the presence of God in our lives? God is seeking to build character in us, the character of His Son! This is not instead of His power, but because of His power. The anointing of the Holy Spirit is not just a one time touch, it is a transformed life a life that is yielded daily to the Holy Spirit’s control. As the apostle said in Galatians 2:20:

I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me.

This is our calling, that we not just live for ourselves, but that the Lord might live His life through us. Moses knew the only thing that would make us different and unique from anyone else in the world would be the manifest presence of God revealed in our midst, as he stated in Exodus 33:14-16:

And He said, "My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest."

And he (Moses) said unto Him, "If Thy presence go not with me, carry us not up hence. For wherein shall it be known here that I and Thy people have found grace in thy sight?

Is it not in that thou goest with us? So shall we be separated, I and Thy people, from all the people that are upon the face of the earth."

It is not just knowing about Jesus, but having Him present with us that is essential. The presence of the Lord is not an occasional touch from Him, with which so many Christians become satisfied—it is the presence and power of Almighty God in our daily lives—it is a continual filling of the Holy Spirit so that we abide in Him each day. This is the only way that true Christians can be distinguished from all of the other religions on the face of the earth. Christianity is not just knowing or trying to live by certain doctrines—it is becoming the temple of the Holy Spirit.

This is revealed again in the example of Peter and John standing before the council in Acts 4:13:

Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marveled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus.

It was not Peter’s and John’s intellectual ability that caught the attention of these men—it was that they had been with Jesus. There is a noticeable quality in those who have been in fellowship with the Lord.

Being Filled With The Spirit

Ephesians 5:17-18 states, "Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is. And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit." The Greek word for "filled" is pleroo, which literally means to be "continually filled." This is not a one time experience. You must be filled with the Holy Spirit daily. Each day we need to submit to the Spirit’s control and guidance.

What Is The Anointing?

The anointing is the manifested power of God’s Holy Spirit to accomplish and perform the works of God. Psalm 92:10 states, "But my horn shalt thou exalt like the horn of an unicorn: I shall be anointed with fresh oil." One translation reads, "But my authority shall thou exalt like the strength of a wild ox." In those days the ox was considered a personification of strength— this Scripture speaks of our having God’s strength to do God’s will.

How do we transfer the power from Heaven to earth—from God to man? The apostle Paul said "For the word of the cross ... is the power of God" (I Corinthians 1:18). Matthew 28:18 states, "And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, ‘All power is given unto me, in heaven and in earth’." We must never forget Jesus Christ is Lord of all and He possesses all power, in heaven and earth. When we receive Him we receive the power of God.

The same Christ that we read about in the Gospels lives in us, with the same power that He demonstrated in the Scriptures. Christ has power to stop and still the storms in your life, today! He has the power to heal the sickness in your life, or to reach through you to heal the sickness in others. His power was not limited with His resurrection—it was expanded! He is not less today than He was then, but even more! As Psalm 115:3 states, "But our God is in the heavens: he hath done whatsoever he hath pleased."

The Holy Spirit is the power agent of God active in the earth today. Power and the Holy Spirit are inseparable. We cannot have "spiritual power" without the Holy Spirit, and we cannot have the Holy Spirit without having His power, as is stated in Acts 1:8, "But you shall receive power, when the Holy Spirit has come upon you..." Notice that this is a personal promise, "but you shall receive power." And it does not say that maybe you will receive it! The Lord would never mislead us—Christ gives us a promise of the impartation of His mighty power. The Book of Acts is the testimony of what life is supposed to be like for Christians.

On the day of Pentecost, when Peter rose up to preach the first gospel message of the new church, he quoted Joel 2:28-29, "And it shall come to pass afterward (Literal "in the last days"), that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions: and also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit." Here he is stating that prophecies, dreams and visions, which are supernatural revelations of God’s purposes, will be common in the last days when the Lord pours out His Spirit.

Why do we need the power of God’s Spirit in our daily lives? When the Lord prayed for His people on the night before His crucifixion, He explained, "As Thou (Father) hast send Me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world" (John 17:18). In Acts 10:38 we are given a brief statement of just how Jesus was in the world, ". . . God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghost and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil; for God was with him." He has sent us just as He was sent, to do good and heal all who are oppressed of the devil.

In John 14:12 the Lord declares, "Most assuredly, I say to you, he who believes in Me, the works that I do he will do also; and greater works than these will he do, because I go to My Father." If anyone else except Jesus Christ, the Son of God, had said these words I would never have believed them. Yet, He stated emphatically: "He who believes in Me, the works that I do, he will do also."

Now let us be sure that we understand that Jesus is speaking of the works of miracles, signs and wonders, and not redemption. There is only one holy, true Redeemer—Jesus Christ. Never could a man make atonement for another man’s sin. The Son of God alone is our Redeemer. Only the blood of Christ saves. But Jesus declares, these works which He did we will be given power through His holy name, by His Holy Spirit, to do. The works Jesus did yesterday, He still does today. "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and forever" (Hebrews 13:8).

Let us review some of the works of Jesus. Matthew 4:23-24 says, "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people. And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatic, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them."

1. Jesus went about all Galilee. Jesus was mobile—he went about. We must be ready to serve Him anywhere, anyplace, anytime.

2. Jesus taught. To be "the light of the world" means to give enlightenment. We must always be willing to share the light that we have been given.

3. Jesus preached the gospel of the kingdom. He proclaimed the authority of God.

4. Jesus healed all types of diseases. He did not condemn the sick; he had compassion on them.

5. Jesus set the demon-possessed people free. Jesus looked every day for a way to destroy the works of Satan.

As we have already read, He sent us out to do the same things that He did, and He gave us His same power with which to do these works. II Corinthians 5:20 says, "Now then we are ambassadors for Christ." The Greek word translated "ambassador" here is presbeuo, which could have been literally translated "representative with senior authority." The Lord has given us His authority to represent Him. This is the most sacred and honored trust that any human being could ever receive. Should this not be given the very highest devotion in our lives?

Luke 10:19 records the Lord’s exhortation, "Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you." It is contrary to Scripture for us to fear Satan. The Lord knew that if we feared him we would not be able to destroy his works. Therefore, He gives us His personal promise, that when we are sent by Him, as these were that He was addressing in Luke, nothing will be able to hurt us! When we are sent by Him, as His ambassadors, we are given power over all the power of the devil! This should be enough to compel every Christian to be utterly devoted to doing His will.

Authority And Ability

In the passage quoted above, Jesus uses two different Greek words for "power." In the first He says, "I give unto you power," which is the Greek word exousia, which literally means authority. He gives us authority "to tread on serpents and scorpions." "Serpents" speak of the crafty, devious ways of the enemy; "scorpions" speak of the things that pierce us. Then He continues, "and over all the power of the enemy." Here He uses the Greek word dunamis, which speaks more of the dynamic power, or ability. In this He is saying that we have been given both the authority and the ability to tread upon and over all of the power of the enemy.

Let’s look at a few more Scriptures that encourage us to overcome the enemy and live above the evil powers of this age.

And (the Father) hath put all things under His feet, and given Him to be the head over all things to the church (Ephesians 1:22).

And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly (Romans 16:20).

What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us? (Romans 8:31).

Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world (I John 4:4).

Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.

For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. (Romans 8:37,39)

The Lord delights in showing his power through His people, as He declares in II Chronicles 16:9: "For the eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to shew himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him..."

The Real Church

The biblical pattern is for the church of Jesus Christ to be a powerful prophetic force in the world, not a puny, pathetic one. The Lord has sent us to do the same things with the same power that He did, as it says in Mark 16:20: "And they went forth, and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following."

We must be doers of the word, and not just hearers who may love to listen to the stories of the way it used to be, but have none of the reality in our own lives. Hebrews 2:3-4 warns: "How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him; God also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will?" If we do not walk in the Word of God we are neglecting His great salvation.

In I Samuel 15:22-23 we are again warned, "And Samuel said, Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the Lord? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams. For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry." The Lord did not call us to just go to church, or to even give big offerings—He called us to be His temple on earth through which He could live His life. He is not looking for those who will just make sacrifices, but those who will believe Him and obey Him.

As James 1:22 & 2:18 exhorts, "But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves. .. But someone may well say, ‘You have faith and I have works; show me your faith without works and I will show you my faith by my works.'" Christianity is not just believing certain facts in our minds—true Christianity is living by our beliefs. If we really believe, we will do the works. If we do not have the works to go with our faith, we do not really believe.

However, if we do really believe, the Lord promises to do the same works through us that He did when He walked this earth. We do not have to just yearn for the old days, and how wonderful it must have been to witness the great works of Jesus and His apostles. He is the same "yesterday, today and forever" and He is still, today, doing the same works through those who believe in Him.

How Do We Get The New Testament Anointing?

The FIRST step to receiving the anointing is to humble ourselves and confess that we have fallen far short of His New Testament example of Christianity. This begins with humility because He "gives grace to the humble" (James 4:6). We must begin by humbling ourselves and realizing how inadequate we are and how greatly we need Him. As David wrote in Psalm 42:1-2, "As the deer pants for streams of water, so my soul pants for you, O God. My soul thirsts for God, for the living God."

We must become discontented with our dry, dead, empty form of religion, and get desperate for a move of God in our lives. We must confess that if our church life is not like that which is described in the New Testament, then we have that far yet to go, and we must determine that we will settle for nothing less than this as a reflection of true Christianity.

The SECOND step to receiving the anointing is to live a clean and holy life before Him. This is not righteousness by works, it is the fruit of the true righteousness that is imparted to us by faith. If we really do believe in Him we will obey Him and live properly in His sight.

As the Psalmist declared, "Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully" (Psalm 24:3-4). Isaiah also exhorts, "Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean thing; go ye out of the midst of her; be ye clean, that bear the vessels of the Lord" (Isaiah 52:11).

Someone might say, "Those are Old Covenant Scriptures when they were under the law, but we are now under grace." Well, the New Testament is even more forthright.

For those who are according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh, but those who are according to the Spirit, the things of the Spirit,

For the mind set on the flesh is death, but the mind set on the Spirit is life and peace (Romans 8:5-6).

Do you not know that you are the temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwells in you?

If anyone defiles the temple of God, God will destroy him. For the temple of God is holy, which temple you are (I Corinthians 3:16-17).

There are many more, some of which should be even more disconcerting for those who are prone to justify their continuing flirtations with sin. It is true that many, in pursuit of holiness have swung to the extreme of legalism, but many others in overreaction to this, have swung back to the tolerance and license of sin. As the writer of Hebrews exhorted, "Pursue peace with all men, and the sanctification without which no one will see the Lord" (Hebrews 12:14).

Let us never forget that our God is a holy God, and if we are going to serve Him we too must be holy. There is a difference between pursuing holiness in an effort to establish our own righteousness, and pursuing it because we so love the Lord and want to please Him in all things. True holiness is the result of a bride that is so passionately in love with her Bridegroom that she gives her whole heart to being ready for Him in body, soul and spirit.

The THIRD step to receiving the anointing is simply to ask our Heavenly Father for the anointing to boldly testify of His Son with His power and Spirit. This is what the apostles themselves did, with spectacular results as recorded in Acts 4:29-31:

And now, Lord, behold their threatenings: and grant unto thy servants, that with all boldness they may speak thy word,

By stretching forth shine hand to heal; and that signs and wonders may be done by the name of thy holy child Jesus.

And when they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together; and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God with boldness.

We too need this kind of shaking! They asked for boldness and for signs and wonders. Many have been fooled, and robbed, by the accuser, because they were told by him that to seek such things was prideful. This is not prideful, it is humility, declaring that we know we cannot accomplish anything without the anointing and power of the Holy Spirit.

We do not need to know some special secret formula, but rather to seek a greater intimacy with, and obedience to, God. He is the One who does the works; we are only seeking to make ourselves more open and responsive to Him. Jesus promised in Luke 11:9-13:

And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.

For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.

If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent?

Or if he shall ask an egg, will he offer him a scorpion?

If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children; how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?

As Paul said in I Corinthians 2:4-5, "And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man’s wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power: That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God" People must witness the power of God to build their faith in it. We cannot do this work without a manifestation of His power.

This is not something that the Lord will begrudgingly give us if we lift ourselves up to a certain level of faith and holiness. Remember, that the apostles were cowering in the upper room when they were first given the Holy Spirit, and they were obviously recognizing their fears when they prayed the prayer above for another filling of His Spirit and boldness. We are exhorted in Hebrews 4:16 to: "Let us therefore draw near with confidence to the throne of grace, that we may receive mercy and may find grace to help in time of need." We come to the throne of grace because we realize that we have need.

"Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near:

Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts:

and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon" (Isaiah 55:6-7).

The "wicked way" that many of us have been treading is to try to accomplish the work of the Spirit without the Spirit. This is a most terrible presumption, but if we confess our sins He will forgive us, and delight to give us His Spirit in fullness, as He promised in Isaiah 58:11: "And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters fail not."

The Lord promised that those who believed in Him would have rivers of living waters flowing from their innermost beings which would be endless. If we have not had this continuous flow of living water, it is because we have not really believed Him. However, as the text in Isaiah promised, He will satisfy our souls in drought and make us like watered gardens with waters that do not fail. Let us humble ourselves and seek Him until this is a present reality. As He promised in Psalm 107:9, "For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness."

Bobby Conner
NabaWord@aol.com
http://www.bobbyconner.org/Article4.htm
Box 1028 Moravian Falls, NC. 28654

The Promise of Heaven for This Young Generation

Bob Jones-Paul Keith Davis

Bob Jones had an experience many years ago and received from the Lord a personal promise in a face-to-face encounter. The Lord pledged to him that he would live to see a generation of youth emerge in great power, purity and authority.

On August 7, 1975 Bob was shown an incredible vision that illustrated the escalation of homosexuality and a deadly disease that would be communicated from it. Furthermore, the vision also illustrated how the act of abortion would develop to such a degree that science would eventually develop a pill that a woman could swallow that would abort the child. These revelations were quite profound for the mid-70s.

The day following this incredible insight, August 8, an evil spirit appeared to him. The wicked messenger threatened to release the spirit of death against Bob if he shared publicly the demonic plans of the future that he had received from the Lord the day before. Initially, Bob did not believe the evil spirit would have the authority to take his life. Therefore he immediately prophesied the revelations concerning these two vital spiritual issues. Surprisingly the evil spirit made good on his promise. The spirit somehow touched Bob's body causing, what the doctors believed, was the rupture of an artery.

Bob began to profusely hemorrhage from his mouth and nose. The lower part of his body hardened as it filled with fluid creating incredible pain. The prognosis from the doctors was not good. They prescribed medication to help relieve the suffering and agonizing pain. Bob lay on a bed and covered his face with a towel to help capture the blood that was pouring from his mouth.

Suddenly the pain lifted. However, he soon discovered that it wasn't because of the medication. He had passed from this life into the eternal realm.

A Visit to Heaven

Bob found himself in a tunnel of light with the angel the Lord to his right. He looked at his garments and discovered that he was wearing a sparkling clean white robe. It was at that point that he realized the evil spirit had taken his life. There was a great sense of relief and joy at the realization of his pure heavenly garments.

The gladness turned to a brief moment of grief as he was allowed to watch other people who had perished in precisely the same moment. Unfortunately, they were not shrouded in garments of light. Instead, he observed as 97% of the people who had died descended into the bowels of hell. Each was somehow clothed in the things that had been their god on the earth. It was a devastating sight.

The Door of Heaven

There were three people with Bob as they ascending toward a great Light that embodied the door of Heaven. He was the fourth in line and watched as they proceeded towards the Light that was above them. The prominent Light they saw was the Lord Jesus Himself present to greet the new arrivals.

The first in the line was a young 11-year-old girl who was filled with the love of God. It had been her lot in life to lie on her sickbed suffering from a terminal disease. However, she utilized that time to express the love of heaven through prayer and intercession for others. She entered the gates of glory with great reward. The Lord asked her, "Did you learn to love?" There was a resounding "YES" and she entered His heart to abundant blessings.

The next woman in the line to be embraced by the Lord and enter the gates of Heaven was a heavy black sister. She was surrounded by a large number of angels. Bob asked the angel of the Lord standing to his right why she had so many ministering spirits with her. He was instructed that she had been an evangelist on the earth. The messengers assigned to her co-labored in her ministry.

As she prayed and interceded for the salvation of others, the ministering spirits would be commissioned to go to those for whom she was praying. They were empowered with the mandate and authority of heaven released through her prayer to bring that individual into the kingdom. Great was her reward also. The Lord asked, "Did you learn to love?" Again, a hearty yes and she passed into His heart.

The next lady standing directly in front of Bob was a 93-year-old woman with the appearance of having been crippled with arthritis. Because of the hardships and failures that occurred in her life, the gall of bitterness had entered. She maintained her love for God. Unfortunately, she was not able to express the love of God to others. The root of bitterness had defiled her soul. Though she entered heaven as her eternal home, she carried no fruit or victorious testimony as her reward.

The Lord asked, "Did you learn to love?" She responded that she loved Him but that was all. She had not learned to love others. In that place it is impossible to lie. The only answer she could give was the truth. She entered but will no fruit to present to Him.

A Divine Pledge

Bob was next to join the Lord's heart and enter the gates of heaven. So he thought! The Lord pointed His finger at Bob and proclaimed, "You must return." Needless to say he was surprised that he was not allowed to enter as those before him. The Lord declared, "you have not completed your course and the enemy has violated the destiny of heaven created for you." Satan had intruded upon his life by prematurely attempting to cause his death.

The imposition of the adversary was not because of some rebellion or act of disobedience on Bob's part. Instead it was an unjust act attempting to abort the plan and strategy of heaven. It was a vile attempt to end a prophetic voice that would help prepare a righteous generation to demonstrate the kingdom of heaven on earth. Because of this violation, the Lord was now released in His justice to impart a great blessing. What the enemy had intended for evil, God was going to use for a noble cause.

Like those depicted in Hebrews 11 the hardship imposed by the adversary had allowed for the obtaining of a promise. In this face-to-face encounter, through his death experience, Bob was given a pledge by the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. The Lord promised to demonstrate in unprecedented ways the virtue of heaven in a soon coming young generation.

The Lord said to him, "you must return to the earth to touch a few of my leaders and prepare them for the harvest that I am going to bring in the last days. I am going to glorify Myself beyond anything that has happened previously in the world. I am going to bring one billion souls to Myself and this plan of Heaven will begin in the year 2000."

The Lord specifically promised that end-time purposes would be launched in greater measure and accelerate at this strategic time. It would mark the beginning of a call to maturity of the body of Christ. The Lord continued by informing Bob that by the year 2000 there would be 5 million people dying of the disease that he had been prophesying. Furthermore, the Lord also instructed him that those numbers would exponentially escalate until there was sweeping repentance for this sin.

Returning to Earth

For the promise of spiritual awakening and the harvest of souls, Bob was willing to return to the earth and continue the prophetic ministry entrusted to him. The Lord instructed Bob that before his death he would see God's glory coming to the earth producing a harvest of souls in numbers difficult to calculate. He was told directly from the Lord that the incredible miracles, signs and wonders that we read in the Scriptures are only a tithe of what's coming. Every supernatural ministry, prophetic gift and heavenly endowment that we discover in scriptures will be functioning in amplified ways during this expression of kingdom reality in the earth.

Bob had obtained a promise from the Lord. Almighty God will faithfully see to it that the promise is fulfilled- He cannot lie. There are many like those who are among the "cloud of witnesses" pressing through the oppressions of the adversary to come before the Lord. To them pledges and vows are granted for revival, restoration and revelation of the glory of Heaven.

Resurrection Angels

There was a very interesting validation that was given to his death experience. As Bob was brought back into his room he observed his body lying on the bed covered in a bloody towel. The spirit of death was standing in the corner of the room. However, there were two angels adjacent to his bed. These were "resurrection angels." We likewise discover two angels at the tomb of our Lord at the time of His resurrection. When the Lord Jesus chooses to bring someone back from death, there is cooperation with heaven through ministering spirits who carry resurrection power.

Bob was allowed to listen as the two angels conversed with one another concerning future events. One angel announced there would be a meeting in Harry Truman Sports Complex of 50,000 Christians. The other responded that a larger gathering of saints would take place in Washington, DC. He affirmed the number to be brought together in Kansas City would only be a tithe of those to converge on Washington.

The angels specifically articulated that the first meeting would be held in Truman Sports Complex to honor this president for the position he took in the establishment of Israel as a recognized nation. That act captured the attention of heaven and pleased the Lord. Though there may have been many mistakes made by this president, that one thing was of monumental importance. Because of his willingness to stand with Israel, God honored his name and allowed a strategic meeting to take place at that specific location.

After gaining his strength Bob shared publicly on the following Sunday the things that were spoken to him in his death experience. He prophesied the meeting that would take place in Kansas City and the subsequent one to occur in Washington, DC. In 1977, two years later, the initial gathering took place to fulfill the prophecy and validate the revelations gained in the experience. The NARSC assembly in July 1977 in Truman Sports Complex was an initial fulfillment. The greater meeting took place in the 1980 Washington for Jesus rally. Approximately 500,000 people gathered to pray for national revival and spiritual awakening.

The Power of Holy Spirit

Ron McGatlin

The mighty creation flow of God is Holy Spirit.

Father speaks and creation exist by Holy Spirit.

From Genesis to Revelation Holy Spirit establishes Father's word. The empowerment of every work of God on earth is by the Holy Spirit of God.

The Spirit of God hovered over the void and formless earth to accomplish the word of Father. Immeasurable power flowed through Holy Spirit to cause light to be and to form the earth and all that is in it.

Gen 1:2-3: The earth was without form, and void; and darkness was on the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the face of the waters. Then God said, "Let there be light"; and there was light.

Holy Spirit overshadowed a young girl and Christ was conceived and formed in her womb.

Luke 1:35 And the angel answered and said to her, "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Highest will overshadow you; therefore, also, that Holy One who is to be born will be called the Son of God.

All the works Jesus did when on earth in His natural body were done by the power of Holy Spirit.

Luke 4:1 Then Jesus, being filled with the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness, Luke 4:14 Then Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee, and news of Him went out through all the surrounding region.

Christ Jesus was raised from the dead by the power of Holy Spirit. We who were dead in sin are made alive by the power of the Holy Spirit of God.

Rom 8:9 -11: But you are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if indeed the Spirit of God dwells in you. Now if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he is not His. And if Christ is in you, the body is dead because of sin, but the Spirit is life because of righteousness. But if the Spirit of Him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, He who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through His Spirit who dwells in you.

Holy Spirit of God came at Pentecost to form Christ in His people - Christ is being formed by Holy Spirit in His Body. The empowerment of Holy Spirit to do the works of God is now a realistic potential to Christ abiding in many sons of God by Holy Spirit.(Heb 2:10)

The realistic potential of the same power that forms all creation and raises the dead is available to dwell in those who make room for Him. Every work God has done in the earth was and is done by the Holy Spirit. Supernatural empowerment is the way of Holy Spirit in those who are dead to the flesh and alive unto God, seeking God with their whole hearts.(Rom 6:11)(John 14:12)

Holy Spirit is forming Christ in His Body on earth, the people of God. The character and nature of Christ is perfect love and humility leading to purity and holiness. Holy Spirit power flows by love for God is love.(Gal 4:19)(1 John 4:16)

To exist outside the flow of Holy Spirit is to walk in death. There is no life of God outside the flow of Holy Spirit. Church activity without the flow of the power of the Holy Spirit is dead religion. Yet, some religious systems continue to deny the current supernatural works of the Holy Spirit. Without the supernatural works of Holy Spirit there is no reality of God. Religion becomes a walk of the living dead - a powerless existence of religious piety, a devout fulfillment of religious obligations.

Holy Spirit is hovering over His people now with fire ready to bring powerful outpouring of supernatural love and works of healing, deliverance, and raising the dead. He is poised to bring real life to the walking dead, those who have denied the works of Holy Spirit and been deceived by doctrines of demons and traditions of men - those who say "there is no more need to hear God directly today because we have the Bible -no more need for miracles and manifestations of Holy Spirit power we only need Him to illuminate the Word - we only need teaching pastors, evangelist and doctors, we have no need of Apostles and Prophets and they have all passed away when the Bible was completed."

For those who will receive the supernatural reality of Holy Spirit the Father's love is being poured out and Christ is being formed in His Body to do the works of God in bringing redemption, restoration, and reformation. For those who reject and continue to deny Holy Spirit the same love and fire will bring judgment.(Mark 3:28-29) Only in the supernatural flow of the Holy Spirit of God is there hope for reaching a world gone insane with delusions of self gratification and devotion to many gods.

We must walk in the supernatural power of the Holy Spirit. There is in this day a mighty potential to move out of this life and into a life of the supernatural love, power, and fire of God in a greater magnitude than ever experienced on earth. There is at the same time a great potential for destruction and judgment upon all that lifts itself against God than ever before seen on earth.

Pursue love - it never fails.

Lots of love, Ron McGatlin

For more articles by Ron McGatlin and others, Go Here: http://www.baspub.com/news/

The Peace Of Jerusalem

Sherry Holloway

sherryholloway@msn.com

Dream:

I was standing on a globe, directly on top of a map of Israel. I knew it was Israel, but the borders were wider then present day Israel. Each city was labeled, but I did not recognize the names of the cities in particular. However, under the name of each city, was a label that corresponded to the organs in a human body. They seemed to be more important. The city I was focused on was labeled "kidney". As I stood looking down upon this city, the kidney, I heard that Israel was going to give the land away. I said, "Lord, don't let them give the kidney away!" My heart was broken and I began to intercede for the kidney of Israel.

Insight from the Holman Bible Dictionary:
In the Bible, “kidney” is used both literally and figuratively. When the word is used figuratively of humans, KJV usually translates the term as “reins” (for example, Jeremiah 12:2; Revelation 2:23); NRSV uses “mind” (Revelation 2:23), “heart” (Job 19:27; Psalms 7:9; Psalms 16:7, Psalms 73:21; Jeremiah 12:2), “vitals” (Lamentations 3:13), “soul” (Proverbs 23:16), or “inward parts” (Psalms 139:13; but see Job 16:13).
The kidneys are often associated with the heart as constituting the center of human personality (Psalms 7:9; Psalms 26:2; Jeremiah 11:20; Jeremiah 17:10; Jeremiah 20:12; Revelation 2:23). Because the areas around the kidneys are sensitive, the Hebrews believed the kidneys were the seat of the emotions (see Job 19:27; Psalms 73:21; Proverbs 23:16). The kidneys were also used figuratively as the source of the knowledge and understanding (Psalms 16:7; Jeremiah 12:2).
Conclusion:
God's word instruct us to pray for the peace of Jerusalem. This dream appears to be a call to pray for Israeli leaders - that they will seek God's mind, heart, knowledge and understanding - not looking for the world's solution in matters of their land by giving away the "reins" of control.

The Precipice Of Love

Julie Baxter

The Lord Jesus is one who has always come out of the wilderness and desires that we also come out of the wilderness leaning our beloved. Few disagreed with Bridal theology and seek to be 24/7/365 in His presence.

But what is our motive, the message, and the focus of our lives as we go to and fro from the wilderness? I believe the Lord has shown me an error in the Body of Christ, in particular in those who would win souls.

In Isaiah 43:19-21 it says, "Behold, I will do a new thing, now it shall spring forth; shall you not know it? I will even make a road in the wilderness and rivers in the desert. The beast of the field will honor Me, the jackals and the ostriches, because I give waters in the wilderness and rivers in the desert, to give drink to My people, My chosen. This people I have formed for Myself; they shall declare My praise.

We see HE is still in the wilderness! He is working in the wilderness. He is giving water and rivers in deserted, dry, wilderness places.

We on the other hand, flee the wilderness. We decry these times in our lives. We do what we can to get out of trials as fast as possible and despise dry times.

Could we be missing the very heart of God in our desperation to remain on mountaintops?

How is it we make converts and not disciples?

Consider Matthew 10:24-27, “A disciple is not above his teacher, nor a servant above his master. It is enough for a disciple that he be like his teacher, and a servant like his master." Is this normal Christian living? How is it we generate praise for numbers and outwardly deny it? In truth, it is all about numbers and not taking the time to disciple those who come. We pray for more souls, but do we train those to disciple and mentor them, or do we spend the majority of our time praising the Lord?

Disciples are held to a much higher standard than converts. The Corinthian church was filled with converts, and the Apostle wrote his epistle that they might become disciples.

Disciples will go to the precipice of love and jump over. Disciples will offer themselves as living sacrifices and consider it their reasonable service. Disciples will not be conformed to this world or this world's religious system. Disciples will not play religious games. Disciples will steadily and pragmatically be transformed by the renewing of their minds. Disciples will prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God by laying down their lives and dying daily. Disciples will consider prayer seriously and die before they give up or give in.

The precipice of love is where Abraham found himself that day he was to sacrifice his son. Isaac too, was on the precipice of love as he submitted to an old man's wishes and lay still on the altar awaiting his Father's actions. As they jumped - the Lord Himself provided for them.

Can we go there?

Can we lie still on the altar?

Can we seek to die daily?

Can we do the WORK of the ministry and build disciples, not just converts?

Can we be diligent to present yourself approved to God, a worker who does not need to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth?

Or do we - like so many - seek only the mountaintop and despise the wilderness, and the desert experiences? Do we hide from Him if He wants to invite us to be alone in the wilderness?

Will we see HIM giving drink those in the deserted wildernesses of life? Will we see Him among the people He has formed for Himself? Will we be among those who have a right to declare His praise by virtue of the fact we have done as Jesus did and do only what we see the Father doing?

Surely it is not an evil thing to be in a wilderness tested and tried, humbled before our God. He corrects those He loves.

If so, then we can expect an unprecedented revelation of His glory for He says in John 14:21 "He who has My commandments and keeps them, it is he who loves Me. And he who loves Me will be loved by My Father, and I will love him and manifest Myself to him." And nothing will separate us from His awesome all-encompassing magnificent Love.

Scriptures: 2 Corinthians 6:11-12, Isaiah 35:6-10, Isaiah 40:3-544:3, 48:21, 49:11-13, Deuteronomy 8:2,-3, 15-20, Romans 12:1-2, 2 Timothy 2:15, Romans 8:36-39, Mark 8:34-38, Jeremiah 2:2, 31:2-4, Song of Songs 3:6, Revelation 21:5-7

Bless You!

Julie Baxter
Houston

Habakkuk 2:1 I will stand my watch and set myself on the rampart, and watch to see what He will say to me, and what I will answer when I am corrected.

The Power of My Word
Carla Rickard

May 14 2004
I heard the Word of the Lord speaking in my heart this morning.

I want you to take My Word seriously My People. I want you to speak only what I speak. I want you to say only what I tell you to say. My Word that proceeds out of my mouth is Spirit and Life to those who hear it. You have asked and I am answering you now. Do what I say and you will have what I say. What have I said? The promises of Your Lord are yes and amen. Are you still asking why it is not working? I tell you the truth. You are fainting in your works. You are speaking of your circumstance. You are elevating the pain of your problem over My Word. I see your bewilderment. You are asking yourself, " when have I done this?". You do it every time you have the choice to speak. Why do you give life to the enemy's plans by speaking of your difficulties? If you waver in your speech, if you waver in the Word, I have warned you that you will not have what I have told you that you could have, but you will be tossed to and fro as on a wave. You must meet each trial ONLY by the Word that proceeds out of your Mouth that I MIGHT FIGHT YOUR BATTLES WITH MY POWERFUL TWO-EDGED SWORD.

I hear what your heart is saying; " oh that is such an awesome Word Lord". I want you to stop right there. I do not want lip service to My Word. I want you to DO IT. Speak it forth without wavering. When I walked with you on the earth, I told you I only spoke and did what I seen and heard my Father in heaven do. I told you that you would be able to do all things because I was going to be with My Father in heaven. I want you to do as I say. This is not new to you. This is something you have already known. Listen and Do what I say. I say DO MY WORD. SPEAK IT; look neither to the right nor to the left.

You will have what you say. If you believe it is My Word and I am Truth, you will have either the promises of My Word, OR you will know the fruit of your lips from the turmoil of your situation.

My Word is Spirit and Life. My Word is Power to defeat the Enemy. This is the Battle that I win for you. It is My Word that proceeds out of your believing mouth that will bring it to pass.

The Power of My Word- Continued.

My Child I was not finished speaking to you about My Word. Settle yourself and listen for I have much to say in this hour to those whose hearts are tender and pliable in My Hands.
There are many now that concern themselves with the walk of others. I tell you the Truth, do not concern yourself with another’s walk. I will deal with them as I see fit. You do not know the heart of another, nor can you. Only I can. You may witness the fruit. I say do not eat the fruit of their tree. That is what I ask you to do. Do not eat the poison fruit that brings death and not Life. It is not your job to concern yourself with any one else’s walk but the one I have given to you to walk. Speak Word of Life and encourage others by your faith to rise up to the call of living for Me. Minister mercy and grace and it will flow like a river to you!
Eat only of the Tree of Life. It is the tree of Everlasting Life and bears Holy and Good fruit. You must come to realize that I have not set you up to save the world, to save your brothers and sisters. You are to BE My Witnesses: the Witness of My Love on the earth. My Love saves. Pay attention to your walk with me. Now, I hear you wondering about the great commission, and I tell you the Truth. The great commission is what I have placed in your circumstances. Be real! Be who I created you to be. I am not asking you to be the famed prophet, apostle, teacher, and preacher. My how My People have idolized the title over the Most High Apostle, Prophet, Teacher, and Exhorter. You are not focused on Me when the title is greater than Your God. So that is why you see such emptiness around you.

I want to tell you in this moment, that I am calling you back into the power of the kingdom. The Word will prevail. I AM the Word.

You cannot speak My Word from your head. It will not work. You must head My Holy Spirit who resides in you. Pay attention to that still small voice in you that will lead you into all righteousness. Pay attention to the soft pleadings of My Spirit. I don't want to yell at you to get your attention. I desire the intimacy that pays attention to every little move as those who are in love passionately understand.

The more you speak My Word instead of your owns words, the closer we become. You release the Power of My Holy Spirit in you to change your heart towards Me.

How glorious your walk will be with Me when you consider Me first and not what others are doing. Do you really need to set them straight? I say only do so if I tell you to in that moment. You are only arguing against intellect, for those with My Spirit residing in them and who are actively in relationship daily with Me, will know I have sent you to them. They will know it because of the Love I have poured on you, and the Word that you speak will indicate it. I desire Mercy over Judgment. If I do, then you must also. You will reap what you sow. If you desire My Mercy, sow mercy into the most difficult! If you desire my Love, sow love in to the most unlovable. Listen to what I say because I want the very best for you. Do not put this Word aside. Consider it in your heart and be compelled to do this work of the ministry. You will see things you have never thought possible. Salvations that you have longed to see will be quick and glorious! I tell you this because I know you can do all things through Me. I enable you.

I want you to know it is because I desire you above all things on the earth, out of all creation, that I speak to you in great urgency to tend to your own affairs In Me. My plan for you is Love that is never ending. My plan for you is to shower you with good. My plan for you is to bring us into agreement that we may walk as One as My Father and I have walked.

eastcst@nbnet.nb.ca
http://cei.bravehost.com

The Purpose Of Submissive Dependence

Wade Taylor

"Who is this that comes up from the wilderness, leaning upon her Beloved?" Song of Solomon 8:5a

There is a particular quality about this "one" who is coming up from the wilderness that attracts special attention. She is "leaning" upon her Beloved. This position of leaning demonstrates the fact that she has become "dependent" upon Him. Something very special has taken place within her during her experience in the wilderness, which resulted in her becoming "submissively dependent" upon the Lord.

Our Lord intends each one of us who desires to be a part of this Bride to experience this change. We are to place ourselves in her "shoes" and then walk with the Lord through the wilderness experiences that brought her to this place of "dependent oneness" with Him.

Throughout Biblical history, the Lord often used a wilderness experience to "test" His servants, in order to perfect His desire or purposes for them. The wilderness speaks of a barren and desolate area, in which inner desires become intensified, but where there is no availability of the necessary means to satisfy these desires.

"And you shall remember all the way which the Lord your God led you these forty years in the wilderness, to humble you, and to prove you, to know what was in your heart, whether you would keep His commandments, or no. And He humbled you, and allowed you to hunger, and then He fed you with manna, which you knew not , neither did your fathers know." Deuteronomy 8:2-3a

In the wilderness, needs can only be met through an external source, by intervention. Thus, the wilderness becomes a "set apart" time in which there is an intensified seeking of the Lord, due to an utter dependence upon Him, as no other means is available. "Fasting" also brings us into a dependent state, before the Lord.

In contrast to this barren wilderness, the Lord had planted a garden in Eden, which provided everything that could be desired. It provided an environment of both beauty and provision - complete beyond imagination.

"And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there He put the man whom He had formed. And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food; the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil." Genesis 2:8-9

Adam and Eve were placed in this garden and commanded,

"Of every tree of the garden you may freely eat: But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, you shall not eat of it: for in the day that you eat thereof you shall surely die." Genesis 2:16b-17

This requirement caused them to be dependent. There were two specific things to which they must submit; they were to eat of the Tree of Life in order to maintain eternal life (take ... eat, and live. Genesis 3:22), and they were to abstain from eating the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil (Genesis 2:16-17). They had to believe the word of the Lord in order to remain saved, as we must believe His Word to become saved.

The only restraint to their eating the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil was the "word" that the Lord had spoken to them, telling them not to partake. This tree was in the midst of the garden and was both desirable and available. Eve had observed that the fruit of this tree was good for food, pleasing to the eyes - and a tree to be desired (Genesis 3:6). Herein was Eve's problem; the fruit of this tree was appealing. However, she knew that God had said "no."

Therefore, when Satan approached Eve, he came against the word that the Lord had spoken by raising doubt; "Has God said?" In effect, he was saying, "Would God tell you to give up something that you like and really want?" Even though the Lord had said "you shall not," the attraction was so enticing, and the fruit seemingly so desirable, that Eve disobeyed and partook, and gave to her husband and he also ate.

Through this act of disobedience, Adam and Eve forfeited their position of "willing dependence" upon the Lord. They failed to "overcome" in the test that had been placed within the scope of their pattern of life, and were thus spiritually separated from God. As a result of this, the process of death entered, and they no longer "leaned" upon Him. Along with this, they lost all that would have developed, had they been obedient and overcome in this testing.

The Word of God is "silent" concerning what might have taken place in their relationship to the Lord, had they chosen to remain submissive and obedient to Him. The only clue we have as to what might have been is to consider the outcome in the testing of the "Last Adam," our Lord Jesus Christ.

Jesus took upon Himself, in human form, the identity of a new Adam, and then faced a test that was similar to the one which the first Adam had failed.

"And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a living (quickening) spirit." I Corinthians 15:45

Jesus, as the last Adam , overcame in every situation where the first Adam had failed. As a result, after paying the penalty for our sin on the cross, He was resurrected and then ascended to sit with His Father in His throne.

"Even as I also overcame, and am set down with My Father in His throne." Revelation 3:21b

An "overcomer" is one who "submits" to the Lord, and then abides in a "leaning" position upon his Beloved. This is an indication of complete trust in, and dependence upon the Lord. It is the result of having become obedient and submissive to the will of the Lord. Being an "overcomer" means rising above all that is less than the Lord's best. It involves facing the test of the wilderness, and remaining dependent upon the Lord for provision.

Adam and Eve were tested concerning the possibility of their becoming overcomers. Because of their desirability and attraction to the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, they chose for their own seeming good, and failed to overcome. All spiritual gain must be tested, if it is to abide and become productive.

Adam and Eve failed their test while abiding in a perfect environment, and as a result, entered death.

Jesus, as the "Last Adam," had to face a similar test, in order to qualify for the place in life, which the "first Adam" had forfeited.

In contrast to the perfect environment of the Garden of Eden, Jesus faced Satan in the barren environment of a wilderness that provided nothing.

"And when He had fasted forty days and forty nights, He was afterward hungry." Matthew 4:2

In this wilderness, there was nothing available that could satisfy the intense hunger that Jesus felt. Then Satan appeared to Him and suggested that He turn stones into bread in order to satisfy this gnawing hunger.

There was nothing wrong with turning these stones into bread, except that God had not told Him to do so. Jesus refused to act on a word from Satan, and waited for supply from His Father. Had Jesus exercised His Deity in order to provide for His own need, He would have become independent. He qualified, by remaining in the place of total dependence upon His Father for provision.

This was exactly where Adam and Eve failed, for Satan had said to them,

"For God does know that in the day you eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and you shall be as gods, knowing good and evil." Genesis 3:5

Satan told Adam and Eve that they should act independently from God, that they could decide for themselves what was right or wrong. Now, Satan was telling Jesus that He should act on His own to provide for Himself, just as he had told Eve to do.

Jesus confirmed His complete dependence upon God when He said,

"Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God." Matthew 4:4

He had refused to act apart from a "word" from the Lord and came forth from the wilderness in the "power of the Spirit" (Luke 4:14).

"And Jesus, being full of the Holy Ghost, returned from Jordan and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness ... And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee." Luke 4:1,14a

As a result of His "willing obedience" by which He remained dependent upon His Father, Jesus is qualified to say to us, "To him that overcomes will I grant to sit with Me in My throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with My Father in His throne" (Revelation 3:21).

We also will be tested, as Jesus was, "if" we desire to come into this relationship of "submissive dependence" with the Lord, in His throne. Those of us who choose to abide in this position of "leaning upon Him," will then be led by the Holy Spirit into the wilderness (a place of spiritual barrenness), where we will develop a great hunger (dissatisfaction), or an intense desire (frustration) in some area of our being.

Then, at a critical moment, when it (apparently) seems that the Lord is no longer interested in our problem, and that He is (wrongly) delaying His answer, the enemy will be "allowed" to come and tempt us. He will try to provoke us to act in some way to produce, or bring about, the satisfaction we desperately long for, which is presently apart from God's provision for us.

As we steadfastly refuse this temptation and persevere, in due time the Lord will feed (satisfy) us.

"But He knows the way that I take: when He has tried me, I shall come forth as gold." Job 23:10

If we will be patient during our times of being tested, and "wait" for the Lord's provision for us, then it can truly be said,

"Eye has not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God has prepared for those that love Him." 1 Corinthians 2:9b

The first Adam failed and lost his place, or position, as an overcomer. This was regained by Jesus, who overcame as the last Adam. He was faithful in maintaining His place of dependence, and as a result, is seated with His Father in His throne.

Now, Jesus is offering to all those who overcome, a place with Him in His throne. These overcomers are the "one" who was seen coming up from the wilderness, "leaning on her Beloved."

There is no greater joy than that which comes from making a determined choice to become dependent upon Jesus, and then to faithfully abide in this new found place of "submissive dependence," until the greater day comes.

Then the Lord will be able to say to us,

"His lord said to him, Well done, good and faithful servant; you have been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things: enter you into the joy of your lord." Matthew 25:23
www.WadeTaylor.org

The Power Of A Satisfied Heart
Victoria Boyson

www.Boyson.Org

A person with a satisfied heart is a person whom God can bless.

"Rejoice always; pray without ceasing; in everything give thanks; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus." 1 Thessalonians 5:16-18

So often we can find ourselves wrestling with God instead of wrestling the mountain in our lives. We can, through our frustration, end up rebuking God, instead of rebuking principalities and powers. We can get caught in the complaint cycle and whine to God about how long it's taking Him to meet our need, instead of thanking Him for all that He has already done for us. Our need can continually drive us back to God, seeking explanations from Him, instead of thanking Him for the mountains He has already moved and the seas that He has parted to get us this far.

How soon we lose sight of all the miracles He has performed to bring us the blessings we have already been given. While waiting for God to do the "big" thing for us, we forget to be thankful for the little blessings along the way. I believe that the small blessings we receive from God are really a test for our heart. He wants to know if we will be thankful for even the smallest gift.

Satan wants us to become dissatisfied with the blessings God has given us. A dissatisfied heart is easy for him to manipulate. When we are frustrated, he can get us to do and say things we would not otherwise do. Attitudes erupt out of our dissatisfaction that we would not otherwise have. And, of course, jealousy and ambition are both rooted deeply in an ungrateful, dissatisfied heart. A dissatisfied heart is like a hunger that is never filled or a fire that never dies out. If you allow it, it will eat away at the enjoyment you find in this life.

The Safe Zone

Having a satisfied heart can keep us in a "safe zone." There is a place where Satan cannot gain access to our minds. That place is where we give thanksgiving and praise to God for all that He has done for us.

"In everything give thanks; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus." 1 Thessalonians 5:18

I have a friend who is a pastor, and he recently went through a situation in his church where many people in his congregation left. Instead of becoming embittered about what he had lost, he made a conscious effort to thank God for the people who stayed with him. In a time of loss, it is easy to lose sight of all we still have! In all circumstances and at all times, we can always find something to be thankful for and remain thankful in the place God has put us.

When God graciously shows us something He wants to give us, and it does not happen right away, it is easy to become frustrated. If God has promised it, He will complete it. But we have our part to do and that is thanking Him in spite of how things look in the natural. Our frustration and anxiety will only serve to hinder God. Praise and thanksgiving proves we are trusting in Him to do what He has promised in His timing, in His way.

"Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication WITH THANKSGIVING let your requests be made known to God. And the peace of God, which surpasses all comprehension, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus." Philippians 4:6-7 (Emphasis mine)

The presence, the peace, and the power of God are gifts given freely to those who trust Him and do not allow anxiety to remain in their hearts. The peace of God will be a guard over our hearts, fighting against anxiety and dissatisfaction. Anxiety will erode our faith and trust in God, but the peace of a God that passes all understanding will produce a satisfied heart. I truly believe that a satisfied heart can touch God and experience His presence anywhere at anytime.

Adopting Ruth's Heart

In the story of Ruth, we see a picture of a woman who has not grown up in the Jewish faith. She has married into a Jewish family and has taken their God as her own. She, her mother-in-law (Naomi), and her sister-in-law had the rug pulled out from under them when, one by one, all their husbands died. Hearing that things were better in her homeland of Israel, Naomi decided to go home to her people. She urged her daughters-in-law to go back to their homelands, but Ruth refused to leave her.

"Do not urge me to leave you or turn back from following you; for where you go, I will go, and where you lodge, I will lodge. Your people shall be my people, and your God, my God. Where you die, I will die, and there I will be buried. Thus may the LORD do to me, and worse, if anything but death parts you and me." Ruth 1:16-17

Ruth stayed with Naomi as though she were her own child. Whatever would happen to them in the future, they would go through it together. Ruth took her hands off of her own life and let God have control of whatever happened to her. She trusted God to take care of her. She laid down her own plans and embraced God's plan for her. Ruth made herself Naomi's caretaker. She even gleaned the leftover grain that the harvesters left in the fields so she and Naomi could have bread. It was her decision to let God take over her life, even if it meant she became lower than a servant in Boaz's fields (see Ruth 2). The decision to follow God's plan eventually made her a very blessed woman indeed.

She was gleaning in his fields when Boaz spotted her and took care of her. Then he said to her: "Listen carefully, my daughter. Do not go to glean in another field; furthermore, do not go on from this one, but stay here with my maids. Let your eyes be on the field which they reap, and go after them. Indeed, I have commanded the servants not to touch you." Ruth 2:8-9

Ruth couldn't understand why Boaz took notice of her, why she had such favor with him. But Boaz had heard of Ruth's faithfulness and loyalty to Naomi and because of it she found unreasonable favor with him. He blessed her and said, "May the LORD reward your work, and your wages be full from the LORD, the God of Israel, under whose wings you have come to seek refuge" (Ruth 2:12). Boaz saw Ruth's kindness to Naomi, and it drew him to her.

God did repay Ruth for her faithfulness, more than she could have dreamt possible. She eventually married Boaz and became the mistress of all he owned. But even more than that, she became the great-grandmother of kings. King David the son of Jesse was her great-grandson. And twenty-eight generations after her was born her very GREAT-grandson...King Jesus...the Christ!

God's Plans Are Greater Than We Can Imagine

Ruth had been satisfied to serve Naomi. She had given up her own plans for her life in order to serve another, and God blessed her with status and wealth. She took the lowly path and refused to leave her mother-in-law. She had no way of knowing what would happen to her, but she trusted God to care for her and was satisfied to glean in the field. She was satisfied with and thankful for the grain in the field. Her gratitude and loyalty pleased God so much so that He blessed her and raised her up and gave her more than she could have dreamed.

The way we treat the people God puts in our lives can be a testing ground for God to see if we are ready for greater things. So many are asking God to give them a ministry, yet they have neglected their first ministry, which is to minister to the needs of those God has placed around them. We learn how to minister to others by ministering to our family and friends. If we mistreat them, God will not put more people under our care because we would eventually mistreat them as well. We cannot possibly love others more than we love those who are dear to us.

We need to adopt Ruth's heart and live satisfied to serve those we love - satisfied to clean toilets, change diapers, or to change oil. All these simple tasks can be done as an act of worship unto God. When we learn to enjoy serving God through simple things, God will give us more important things to do.

Thank God today for all He has done for you. Trust Him for all that is to come and feel the peace of God that transcends all understanding fill your heart right now. You CAN trust Him...He IS good...He IS faithful!

Victoria Boyson, Inc.
www.boyson.org
Copyright (c) 2003-2004
All rights reserved.

The Promise of Father

Mary Lindow

Oh the voices of those now weeping!
Oh the voices of those now weeping!
Their tears shall be made into crystallized jewels.

Oh the tears of those now weeping!
Oh the tears of those now crying!
They are now the seeds of future joy!

Oh you feel like there's no harvest!
Oh you feel like there's no hope!
Oh you feel like there's no coming again.

Oh you wonder if I am listening.
Oh you wonder if I can stretch My hand
One more time into the storm.

This is for all of those Crying in the wilderness
This is for all of those crying out in pain

This is for all those wondering If anyone hears...
This is My voice whispering once again.

Oh I am here to see you! Oh I am here My child!

This is for all the tears, this is for all the sorrows
You are the jewels.
You are the jewels in My crown.

This is for all the wanderers
Searching for stars in the sky to guide them
This is for all the wanderers,
Wondering what I have for them

Behold I speak!
Behold I speak!

Wander no more… there's an open door
If you'll look, reach out your hand and grab the latch hook!

This is for all the ones’ who long
This is for all the ones’ who long to know Me.

This is the time for you to weep no more
This is the time to walk into the doorway of My singing
This is the time to come to the place, where I am new things bringing

There is a time for sorrow,
There is a time for a sorrowful season
A season to pass in the wind

This is the season for blessing, so open wide your arms
This is the promise, the promise, the promise of Father.

This is the promise
For all of those wandering
For all of those crying in the night.

Duplication and re-transmission of this writing is welcomed provided that complete source and website information for Mary Lindow is included. Thank You! Copyright © 2004 " THE MESSENGER " ~ Mary Lindow www.marylindow.homestead.com

The Priests of the Lord

Chip Brogden

Aug 3, 2004

What does it mean to be the Lord's minister? What is ministry? According to the popular definition of ministry I have actually been "in the ministry" for many years. I have always been in a state of either preparing for the ministry or performing ministry as I understood it. Of course, that means I have either been pastoring a church, teaching a class, or operating some kind of evangelistic or missionary outreach. This is what comes to mind when most people think of the word "ministry". It is the working definition I operated from for the majority of my life. Through a series of painful experiences the Lord brought me to a deeper understanding of what ministry to Him is. In this writing I would like to explain this deeper ministry. I have referred to it a number of times in other writings and in my spoken messages, but by the grace of the Lord I would like to take some time here and expound a bit on this perspective of ministry.

This ministry actually existed before anything else came into being, so it is not new at all, but it is certainly rare, so it may be new to us, though it is old. Simply defined, this is ministry that is directed TO THE LORD. Whereas typical ministry is directed TO man and FOR man, the ministry of which I am speaking is directed TO the Lord and FOR the Lord. There is a place for ministry to the saints, yet there are many instances and examples of ministry to the saints, and very few instances of ministry TO THE LORD ALONE. I understand that most people minister to men "for the Lord's sake" and see it as one and the same; nevertheless, I am speaking of a kind of ministry that is WHOLLY for the Lord, and not for man at all. Ministry to men is commonplace, but ministry to the Lord is on the verge of extinction.

Even as I write these words I realize that not everyone will understand or accept what has to be said. I am not trying to convince anyone to change anything. But I believe the Lord has always reserved for Himself people who will minister TO HIM, especially at this time when the Lord's need is so urgent. With a little light thrown on the subject you may at last hear the confirmation you need to be released into this fullness. So those who are meant to hear this will hear it, and you know who you are. The rest of you may take it as another "interesting study" and go along as before. But it is my prayer that as we consider the Scriptures together the Lord will use this to confirm what He has been saying to many of you already. He is indeed drawing many saints into this ministry. So let us explore it together with open hearts and open minds to see what the Lord is saying to us.

THE BASIS OF GOD'S NEED: A LOVE RELATIONSHIP

"This is a great mystery, but I speak concerning Christ and the Church (Ephesians 5:32)."

Before we go any further we need to stop and explain what is meant by "The Lord's Need". Some hear it for the first time and think we are suggesting that the Lord has some kind of a lack that makes Him incomplete, and thus, not all-powerful. That is not what we are saying at all.

We have to think about the Lord's Need, not in terms of His ability or omnipotence, but in terms of His heart's desire. I do not "need" my wife. I can dress myself, feed myself, and take care of myself just fine. I can exist apart from her. But in another sense I do need my wife, and I do not want to exist apart from her. From a relationship standpoint, from a love perspective, I need her. In the same way, God is God with us or without us. But from the point of view of a love relationship, God has a Purpose, a Desire, and yes, a Need. There is something that will satisfy His heart that only we can provide, and that something is beyond description, except to say it has to do with love. It has to do with our response to His overtures towards us. Proverbs tells us that love is too wonderful to understand or explain (Proverbs 30:18,19). In fact, the only reason why God continued beyond the creation of angels and animals, towards something closer to His own image, was to have someone with whom He could love (and be loved) on the same level as Himself, and that is only possible when He is able to fill that person completely. In other words, they must be made in His image, and they must be changed into His likeness.

It is all about relationship! Look at how Eve came forth from Adam. First, there was a need. "It is not good for Adam to be alone." Then, all the animals are brought to Adam, but a suitable help-meet was not found among them. Then, Eve is created out of Adam, and at last the need is met, for "she is bone of my bone, and flesh of my flesh" (cf. Genesis 2). Paul says this explains the mystery of Christ and the Church (Ephesians 5:30-32). How so? It is a pattern of the heavenly relationship. First, if we may boldly say, the Lord decided it was not good for Him to be alone anymore! We will have to explain that further as we go along. In any event, the angels and animals are created, but a suitable help-meet was not found among them. If they were suitable then He would have stopped there, but they did not and could not fully meet His Need or satisfy His Desire. Instead, God took something of Himself and created Man in His own image - someone who would be a little below the angels and a little above the animals. Now, we are "members of His Body, of His flesh, and of His bones (Ephesians 5:30)."

Did not Christ, the pre-existent Son, satisfy God's heart? Indeed. But if we look at the language of Genesis, we see, "Let US make man in OUR own image (Genesis 1:26a)." God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit together desired for companionship and communion with someone other than themselves. Hence, it was agreed to proceed with the creation of a being that would have the capacity for giving and receiving love in a way that is quite beyond the reach of animals or angels. And so we have the creation of Man. If we look back over the history of mankind we see the tremendous energy and exertion put forth by the Godhead to create Man, then redeem him after he sinned, in order to restore this rocky relationship. What a tremendous cost was involved! What an awesome price was to be paid! What plausible explanation is there to justify all the time, effort, trouble, and longsuffering God has had to endure in His dealings with Man? How are we to understand the willingness of Christ to die for us? The only thing which makes sense is totally illogical, yet understandable. Only someone IN LOVE would put themselves through such trouble. So in God's case it is LOVE, deeper than we can fathom, that motivates Him. Therefore, to meet the Lord's Need is to satisfy His heart's desire for communion and fellowship on a level that is beyond our own abilities. How then can we do it? Such communion can only truly occur when Christ has the preeminence in us, for He is the only One Who, AS A MAN, has ever completely met the Lord's Need and satisfied His heart. Others have come close.

"You cannot truly love until you know God, for God is love (I John 4:8)."

Imagine, if you can, what it must be like to have so much to give, so much to share, so much love to pour out, but no one around who can receive it, appreciate it, benefit from it, or even know that such love exists. God IS love. Can we imagine what it must be like to BE love, but have no one to love? An omnipotent, omniscient, omnipresent, eternal God Who is Love is in some unimaginable sense incomplete without someone who can represent the object of His love, adoration, tender mercies, and personal care. We talk about a God-shaped vacuum in every man's heart that only God can fill. Is it too much to imagine that perhaps there is a man-shaped vacuum in God's heart that only man can fill? If this is so, then union with God is as much about meeting GOD's need as it is about meeting MAN'S need.

If this seems far-fetched, consider God's initial reaction to mankind as a whole when it became clear that sin had consumed them all. Scripture says that when God saw that every imagination and thought of man was only towards evil continually, He was grieved in His heart (Genesis 6:6). The Hebrew word "grieved" here is a rich, full word which carries with it many emotions, including worry, anger, grief, and (here is what I want us to see) HURT. God was brokenhearted! From whence comes this flood of emotion? Of course, there is the obvious fact that men have fallen into sin and are killing one another. "God hates sin!" the preachers scream. Everyone knows that God hates sin - but WHY does He hate sin?

Here is a picture of what Sin really is. The Lord comes down to commune with the man in the cool of the day, as usual. But this time the man is nowhere to be found. So the Lord begins to call out, "Where are you?" The man, shaking and trembling in the bushes, is too afraid to come out and commune with God as before (cf. Genesis 3). The man has lost something priceless - but can you not see the Lord has lost just as much? Friends, THAT is what makes sin such a hateful thing to God. It makes people hide from God, so that God is left by Himself, calling out to people who are too afraid to respond. There are billions of people on the earth today, and most of them are hiding in the bushes while God calls out to them. Is this not a pitiful situation? Then what truly grieves God the most? That the ONE

BEING in all of creation with whom He may have a close relationship does not have Him in their thoughts at all; indeed, they are running in the opposite direction, quite oblivious to the Lord, quite apathetic to His desire towards them, quite complacent to seeking Him at all, quite afraid to even respond if they knew how.

If there is anything worse than having no one to love, it would have to be loving someone and seeing that love ignored altogether. This brings us to a very important characteristic of love: whenever we love someone, we essentially give them the power to hurt us. If you ask a parent what is their greatest source of pleasure and pain they will say it is their kids. If we dare to love someone, or care for them, or watch over them, or if we dare take responsibility for bringing life into the world, then we are making ourselves vulnerable to being hurt by the very thing we love. This explains why some people swear never to love again once they have been hurt by a relationship. If love is that painful, why love at all? Because love is so great that it is better to love with the chance of being hurt than to not love at all. It underscores just how risky love can be.

"We love Him, because He first loved us (I John 4:19)."

The problems of free moral agency and sin came into being precisely because of this love. In order for man to love God he must have the freedom to choose this relationship. If it is forced upon him in an involuntary way then it is not true love. In other words, I cannot "make" my wife love me. Any attempt on my part to force her to love me will result in something that is not love. When we fall in love with someone we cannot be absolutely sure that they will fall in love with us. So man must be free to love God or to not love God - again, one of the risks that love takes. With this freedom there is the possibility that man will choose to walk his own path away from God and fall into sin. As we all know this is exactly what happened.

So God took a huge risk in wanting us as the object of His affection, and from the very beginning we have failed Him. Of course, He already knew that we would fail, which is why He made provision for our sin before we ever sinned. But why pay such a high price? Why does He continue to love us? Why not just give up? Because unlike our best attempts at love, He is Perfect Love, and this Love eventually wins. This Love never fails. He cannot stop trying. If we would read the Bible, especially the prophetic Scriptures, and treat it as a love letter from a husband to an unfaithful wife, or a frustrated parent to a wayward child, we would begin to understand the Lord's heart. For six thousand years of human history the Lord has spoken, pleaded, argued, grieved, wooed, reprimanded, remonstrated, and reasoned with man in order to have what He has wanted all along - a relationship, a companionship, a camaraderie, a communion with those made in His image.

With all of this background, let us digress a bit now and observe how the gospel is presented to people today. This "gospel" only provides people with half of the story: the half that benefits them. How much effort is made to show people what the Lord has lost, and what the Lord stands to gain, by sinners coming to Christ, and by Christians growing up into the full-knowledge (epignosis) of Him? Very little attention is given to ministering to the Lord or meeting the Lord's Need (most have never heard about the Lord's Need, and those who have are still questioning it; we have a long way to go). Instead, the Gospel as it is presented today is primarily concerned with man and how to meet his needs - how to escape hell, go to heaven, be healed, be blessed, be victorious, be prosperous, be fulfilled, be happy, be anointed, etc. etc. ad infinitum. This has, of course, created a paradigm in which we see God as being there to meet our needs, minister to us, guide us through the difficulties of life, and prepare a place for us to go when we die. It is no wonder that few have ears to hear when we discuss ministering to the Lord. It represents something totally foreign to the Christian experience as they have known it and seen it up until now.

As "advanced" as our Western culture seems to be, this kind of one-way, egocentric, "what can I get out of it" relationship is not too unlike the relationship that pagans and heathens have with their animistic gods and idols. They keep their gods appeased, not because they love them, but because they have some self-serving need they want met, whether it is health, prosperity, rain, or protection from their enemies. How is this much different than the Gospel according to Churchianity? We pay tithes, apply the Blood, dispatch the angels, pray the Prayer of Jabez, and get the "Anointing" so things will go well with us, too. It falls way, way short of the mark. The model we give to people of "a personal relationship with Christ" is so dysfunctional and self-centered it would not keep a human marriage together for a week; so why do we keep relating to Him this way? "We LOVE Him," the Scriptures declare, "BECAUSE He first loved us." Real communion, real worship, real fellowship, real relationship with God is based upon meeting His Need, i.e., providing Him with heart-satisfaction by responding in kind to His overtures of love towards us. It says in effect, "How can I help but love Him, now that I see how much He loves me? How can I ignore Him any longer?" This is followed by, "You love me so much, You have done so much for me, that I am content with You, and I desire nothing else but You. You have satisfied my heart; now how can I satisfy Your Heart? How can I minister to You? What is Your Desire? Not my will, but Your Will. I love you, Lord!" Thus, we minister to Him, and after an eternity of waiting the Lord has finally broken through and gained the relationship He has for so long sought you out for. How refreshing, how delightful, how wonderful this kind of relationship is! Is there anyone who has ever lived liked this? YES! Let us look at some of them right now.

SAMUEL

"And the child Samuel ministered to the Lord before Eli. The word of the Lord was rare in those days, and there was no revelation (I Samuel 3:1)."

The third chapter of First Samuel is so rich. If we want to talk about prophetic integrity, prophetic calling, and prophetic formation then there is no better place to go. In the beginning of the chapter we see that a true word from the Lord was rare in those days. We see Samuel ministering to the Lord as a child, and the Lord calling out to Samuel. After some initial confusion Samuel received the word of the Lord. There is the reluctance to give it, and finally the obedience of telling Eli "every whit" of what the Lord had shown him. By the end of the chapter the prophetic calling of Samuel is established, his words never fall to the ground, and the Lord reveals Himself to Samuel completely.

Can you see the progression here? We begin with no revelation, and we end with the Lord revealing Himself. We begin with the Lord closed off from man, and end with the Lord opening Himself up to a man, and by extension, to the rest of the nation through this man. We begin with a child, and end with a prophet. Let us look at the last verse of chapter three and quote it together with the first verse of chapter four: "And the Lord appeared again in Shiloh: for the Lord revealed Himself to Samuel in Shiloh by the word of the Lord. And the word of Samuel came to all Israel... (I Samuel 3:21-4:1a)."

Notice the word of the Lord came to Samuel, then the word of Samuel came to Israel. I wonder if we can grasp the significance of this! The Lord has committed Himself to a man, and the man has committed himself to the Lord. Thus, the word of the Lord to Samuel becomes the word of Samuel to Israel. The Lord did not speak to Israel directly, but He spoke to Samuel, who then spoke in the name of the Lord to Israel. My point is this: what is the foundation upon which this close relationship is built? How did it get its start? "The child Samuel ministered to the Lord." Who is the friend of God? Who knows God? Who hears from God? Who speaks for God? The one who ministers to Him, who seeks His face, who is aligned with His desire, who seeks His satisfaction, who meets His need.

In every respect the times in which we live are comparable to I Samuel 3. A genuine word from God is rare, and there is no open vision. In other words, most of the people who see something do not have revelation to really know what they are seeing - hence, it remains closed, or worse, it is misinterpreted and becomes a delusion. There is an abundance of words, dreams, visions, and prophecies today, but I repeat: a GENUINE word from God is rare, and there is little REVELATION. Do you understand my meaning? And the priesthood as represented by Eli is old, fat, and blind: operating as always, still standing in the place of the priest, but already under judgment. What is the problem? No one ministers to the Lord. Everyone is for themselves. Except for one child who ministers to the Lord - and THAT is the one to whom the Lord revealed Himself. There is no revelation apart from relationship. I learned this the hard way.

DAVID

"The Lord has sought for Himself a man after His own heart (I Samuel 13:14ff)."

"And the Lord said to Samuel, 'Why do you keep mourning over Saul? I have rejected him from ruling Israel! Now get up, take your oil, and go. I am sending you to Jesse in Bethlehem, for I have found Me a king among his sons... for the Lord sees not as man sees, for man looks on the outward appearance, but I look upon the heart (I Samuel 16:1,7b)."

Samuel is significant because the Lord uses him to locate and call forth another one who, better than anyone else, represents what it means to minister to the Lord. This man, David, was so determined to minister to the Lord that he invented musical instruments to worship God with. He wrote songs to the Lord on these instruments and was a zealous worshipper, and we still have a record of his writings in the Book of Psalms, revered by the Christian and Jew alike.

What I want us to see here is that the Lord is seeking out David just as much as David is seeking out the Lord. "The Lord has sought for Himself..." The Lord's Need is expressed very succinctly in this phrase. We should not imagine a passive God who sits benignly in the heavens, waiting to see if anyone is going to worship Him or not. This is a proactive God, Who seeks Spirit-and-Truth worshippers, Who seeks people after His own heart, Who draws people to Himself, Who reveals Himself insofar as we will allow Him, Who is ready to speak insofar as we will listen. What a mighty God! What an awesome thing this is: "I have sought for Myself a man, someone who will want Me for Who I am, someone who seeks what I seek, who will obey Me fully, who will love Me unreservedly, who will follow Me wholeheartedly, so that I can give Myself completely to him in return."

And what could be better than this? "I have found Me a king." The Lord has sought for Himself a man, and has found for Himself a king. The Lord has found what He is looking for, and as we follow David's path we find that David, too, has found a King. Look at the sensitivity of David in II Samuel 7. He wants to build a house for God, and God says He will instead build a house for David. As David ponders this we learn from the Psalms that the House is the Church, and the Son Who will reign forever is not Solomon, but Christ. Peter calls David a prophet who saw the resurrection of Christ (Acts 2:29,30). In fact, David clearly saw the incarnation (Psalms 8), the crucifixion (Psalms 22), the death (Psalms 88), the ascension (Psalms 68), the resurrection (Psalms 16), and the reign of Christ (Psalms 2). How deep was his revelation! How vast was his vision! The one who seeks the heart of God will see as God sees. Write it down and underline it: no relationship, no revelation.

ANNA

"And there was one Anna, a prophetess... a widow eighty-four years old, who never left the Temple, but served God with fasting and prayers night and day (Luke 2:36,37)."

While we have a full account of King David's life, we know very little about Anna. She was the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher, and lived with her husband only seven years before she became a widow. Now she is eighty-four years old. Perhaps the experience of losing her husband after such a brief time together helped forge the character of this prophetess. We have no way of knowing.

We have no record of any prophetic words or visions or dreams. How can you have a prophet who does not prophesy? Quite simply, because the prophetic ministry is something more vast than being able to give out a few "words" from God. The only thing we know about Anna's ministry is that it is primarily devoted to ministering to the Lord with unceasing fasting and prayers. We might consider this monastic, yet the Bible considers this prophetic. We are not suggesting that to minister to the Lord means to neglect people altogether. There is no need to force such an unnecessary dichotomy. But we maintain that there can be no real Spirit-and-Truth ministry to people until and unless we have first ministered to the Lord. For one thing, we cannot be motivated by man's need, but by God's Need, because often the two are in conflict. And, we cannot speak Life except by revelation, and this we can only receive from God. Unless we have invested a great deal of time in our secret ministry to the Lord then the shallowness of our public ministry will be very evident. Today it is abundantly clear that not enough time is spent ministering to the Lord, and way too much time is spent ministering to people; hence, most of what is done in the name of ministry is performed in a fleshly, human way which never bears any lasting fruit.

There in the Temple, Anna ministered to the Lord. She never wrote a book, never had a website, never conducted a meeting that we can tell. All in all it seems to be a very passive existence, the sort of "waste" that makes us want to criticize her for not being more useful. Anna the prophetess should be "doing" something. But how many of us consider prayer and fasting to be serving God? We cannot repeat often enough that for too many people, prayer and fasting is a way to serve THEMSELVES, or to get God involved in THEIR cause. We have a need, so we pray, and if the need is critical and we become desperate, then we will fast. This may be appropriate in some situations, but it is not serving the LORD. It may be done to bring about OUR will, but it is not necessarily motivated by a desire to minister to the Lord, to see His heart satisfied, and to see His Need met.

Now it is no coincidence that, in verse 38, Anna came "in that instant" and met Simeon, Joseph, Mary, and the baby Jesus in the Temple, and recognized Him to be the Christ. In response, she "gave thanks to the Lord and spoke of Him to all that looked for redemption in Jerusalem." Jesus is only a few days old here. There are no angelic choirs singing Hosannas, no shepherds bowing down to worship, no star blazing overhead. All the outward signs have disappeared, and this Baby seems to be no different in outward appearance than the dozens of other Jewish babies being dedicated in the Temple that day. But Anna knew the difference because she devoted her life to ministering to the Lord. What seems like a waste turns out to be the very thing that put her in the right place at the right time, while the more useful busybodies missed the entire event. Again, we find that prophetic things, revelatory things, are inescapably linked to ministering to the Lord. No relationship, no revelation.

THE TWELVE

"And Jesus ordained twelve, that they should be with Him, and that He might send them forth to preach (Mark 3:14)."

I taught from this passage of Scripture at a minister's retreat once in order to demonstrate to them that whatever they thought their ministry was, be it as an apostle, prophet, evangelist, pastor or teacher, their first calling was not to be with people at all, but to be with Jesus. How simple this is. Twelve men are ordained, or set apart, or selected. For what? To preach? Eventually, but not immediately. To save sinners? Eventually, but not immediately. To work miracles? Eventually, but not immediately.

The immediate Need was for those who would just BE WITH THE LORD. They were set apart to be with Him; their being sent forth (apostello) was of secondary concern. It would follow, but it was not the most important thing. The most important thing was that they BE WITH THE LORD. Where has "the ministry" failed? In putting people before the Lord, in making the work of the Lord more important than the Lord of the work, in being so busy with preaching and visitation and building programs and church administration and a thousand and one things that there is no time to BE WITH THE LORD.

I learned many years ago that it does not matter how busy I am for God, or how many things I am doing in the Name of Jesus, or how much I am able to bless other people, if I am not "with Jesus" on a continual basis. How easy it is to be absorbed, obsessed, and consumed with our little ministry, our little work, our little church, and forget that the whole reason we are called in the first place is to minister to the Lord, to be with Him, to love Him. Are we in love with the Lord, or are we in love with the Lord's work? Are we motivated by the Lord's Need, or by man's need? If the Lord told us to come aside for a year, leave our ministry alone, and just be with Him, would it bring us great joy or would we argue that we are engaged in such an important work that we cannot stop?

Is it possible that long ago we became so entrenched in the work of the Lord that He is no longer involved in what we are doing? Could it be that we are now proceeding in our own strength, in our own name, according to flesh and blood? The fruit of our labor (or the lack thereof) tells the whole story. If spiritual fruit is defined by how many people are saved, how many churches are planted, how many sermons are preached, then we can bring forth that kind of fruit and never involve the Lord at all. But if spiritual fruit is love, joy, peace, patience, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, and self-control, then we must be with Jesus in order to bring forth this fruit, and no amount of WORKING for God can make up for a lack of simply BEING with Him.

THE CHURCH AT ANTIOCH

"There were in the church at Antioch certain prophets and teachers... and as they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the Holy Ghost said, "Separate for Me Barnabas and Saul for the work I have called them to do (Acts 13:1a,2)."

There is much to be gleaned from this passage of Scripture. The first thing that strikes us is that the prophets and teachers were gathered together to minister to the Lord. How seldom we see this today! In the first place, prophets and teachers are rarely able to get together regarding anything. The prophet thinks the teacher is too intellectual, and the teacher thinks the prophet is too ethereal. The prophet favors inspiration and revelation, while the teacher favors illumination and study. The two seem to naturally be at odds, and this is probably necessary to keep everyone balanced. The prophet needs the teacher, and the teacher needs the prophet.

But here we see that everyone has come together, not to have a prophets and teachers conference, but to minister to the Lord. They have not lost their first love! Prophetic things have their place, but there is a time when prophetic things must be put on hold. Teaching and instruction have their place, but there is a time when no one should be teaching or saying anything. There is a time when the saints should gather together for the purpose of ministering to the Lord.

The Greek word for "ministered" here is "leitourgeo", and we get our English word "liturgy" from it. It meant the performance of priestly or ministerial functions. Interestingly enough, it could only be used in connection with the Temple, since that was the only valid place a priest or minister could perform the functions. In Acts 13 we see the word used to describe the Church in Antioch. What does this mean? Simply this: we are the temple of the living God, a house of living stones, offering up ourselves as the sacrifices, ministering to the Lord as a holy nation, as a royal priesthood. Hence, we need no earthly temple or priest to represent us to God. We worship God in Spirit and in Truth.

The fact that the Holy Spirit moved and revealed the Lord's Need while they were ministering to the Lord is significant. How can we know the Lord's Need unless we have ministered to Him? Perhaps there were a dozen or so missions that might be done, and they could have fulfilled any number of needs and been considered good Christians. But the issue is not how many needs can we meet, but is the Lord's Need met? What if we meet everyone's need but the Lord's Need is not satisfied? Let us meet the Lord's Need first, and give Him His portion; then we are fit to stand before people and minister to them. This is the motivation for ministering to the Lord. People with no patience for these things will forge ahead on their own, see a need, and move at once to meet it, just like a good business person will do. But the Kingdom is not based on business principles. Our foremost concern is satisfying the Lord's heart, being with Him, meeting His Need. Ministry to men is founded upon ministry to the Lord.

NOTABLE WOMEN

"...Mary Magdalene... Joanna... Susanna, and many others, which ministered to Him of their substance (Luke 8:2,3ff)."

When the saints are gathered together, wherever such gathering may take place, there are two types of people represented. One type is there to receive, and the other type is there to give. Most people attend a meeting to receive something - a prophetic word, some encouragement, fellowship (e.g., social interaction with spiritual overtones), teaching, the laying on of hands, etc. This explains why meetings can be so dead and lifeless. Everyone is there to receive, and few are there to give. Hence, there is little Life.

But we have learned there is an additional thing to be noted when the saints are gathered together, and that is this: most of the receiving, and what little giving is done, is performed on a horizontal level. In other words, most are coming to receive, a handful are coming to give, but it is still, by and large, focused on meeting man's need. There is little vertical expression towards God, and what little vertical expression there is centers mainly around receiving. We may give Him some praise or some worship or make some prayer requests - we might even ask Him to bless our time together - but for the most part we have not penetrated any higher than the top of our heads. Praise, worship, and prayer must be part of the meeting for tradition's sake, but they are largely perfunctory, with no more spiritual import than reading the announcements. The meeting is, generally speaking, all about us. We are not saying man's needs should not be met in a meeting; we are saying that meeting man's needs ought not to be the highest aspiration we have when meeting together.

Without a doubt, Jesus wants to minister to you and to meet your needs. His earthly ministry demonstrates His desire to shepherd the sheep, to heal their diseases, and to bring them joy. We should never minimize that. But we should not overemphasize it either. When it came time to die on the cross, what happened to all those people who were healed and delivered and filled with joy by His presence? People will run to the altar when they have a need, then will disappear for six months - until they have another need, and there they are again, crying out to God as before. How quickly we fall away when we are trusting in the Lord for things.

It is clear from the Scriptures that there are two kinds of adoration. There is a mass of people waiting for Jesus to come and minister to THEM, and there is a smaller group of people who have devoted themselves to minister to HIM. We are not suggesting that it must be either one or the other, but we are definitely saying it should be both, and of the two, ministry to Him is the more important one. Perhaps it is acceptable to begin by seeking the Lord for what the Lord has, but we will never have a strong foundation if that is the only depth we know, and if we remain there for too long it demonstrates an immaturity in our relationship with God.

INTELLIGENT WORSHIP OR THOUGHTLESS HABIT?

"I beg you brothers, by God's mercy, to give up your bodies as a living sacrifice that is holy and well-pleasing to God, for that is your reasonable service (Romans 12:1)."

Since the Lord Jesus has completed His earthly ministry, we cannot minister to Him "of our substance" as Mary, Joanna, and Susanna. It is not money, food, clothing, or shelter that He wants from us. So how do we minister to the Lord today? Paul says as a nation of priests, we are to offer up our own selves as living sacrifices. God does not want our things, and in a very real sense He does not want our works. The Lord wants US. If He has US, does He not possess all our things and all our works? An alternative rendering of the verse above, instead of "reasonable service", is "intelligent worship." This is so important that I believe I must quote from Spiros Zodhiates on the word "reasonable", which is translated from "logikos" (logical):

"In Romans 12:1 the reasonable service or worship is to be understood as the service to God which implies intelligent meditation or reflection without the heathen practices intimated in I Corinthians 12:2 and without the Old Testament cultic worship which had become mere thoughtless habit."

In other words, "Spirit and Truth" worship permeates the Church that Jesus is building and characterizes the relationship that He longs to have with us. "Thoughtless habit" better describes much of what we see in Churchianity. Over 150 years ago, Soren Kierkegaard wrote: "By ceasing to take part in the public worship of God, as it now is (with the claim that it is the Christianity of the New Testament), thou hast constantly one guilt the less, and that a great one: thou dost not take part in treating God as a fool." How much more is this true today?

I seldom quote from others, so I think the point should be made that those who truly see these things have learned them in the crucible of their own experience, and not because they read about it somewhere. We do not need a Greek theologian or a Danish philosopher to tell us what we already know: they simply confirm what has already cut us to the heart. So what do we do about this? Is there anything that can be done? Thankfully, God is raising up more Samuels, Davids, Annas, Marys, and "Acts 13" believers who are determined to minister to the Lord. In addition to the living examples of those who sought to meet the Lord's Need, there is a prophetic and historical precedent for what we are sharing. As we move into part two of the series, we will examine this precedent and demonstrate its applicability to us today. May the Lord quicken this message to all who hunger and thirst for Him.
www.watchman.net

Part 2

"They shall enter into My sanctuary and they shall come near to My table, to minister unto Me, and they shall keep My charge (Ezekiel 44:16)." In the first half of this series we established that the Lord has sought to secure for Himself individuals who will enter into a love relationship with Him on an intimate level. We described how the Lord has a "need" for man just as man has a need for the Lord, a void which is only satisfied when the two become one. We also touched upon the general failure of our current system of organized worship to truly satisfy the heart of God, and how the offering up of ourselves as living sacrifices constitutes ministering to the Lord in Spirit and Truth.

We saw that anyone who has ever been close to fulfilling God's desire or satisfying His heart has specialized in ministering to Him. We looked at some individuals whose lives are characterized by the fact that they ministered to the Lord, and we saw that the Lord revealed Himself to them in a mighty way. We even made the statement that apart from an intimate relationship with God, founded upon ministering to the Lord, there can be no revelation, no prophetic sense, no depth of knowing Him.

If we could sum up everything said thus far, it would read like this: you were created to love Him, and to be loved by Him. It is all about Him, and not about you or your needs. We are not the center of the universe, He is. He was not created for us, we were created for Him. This is the heart of the matter. When the Lord began to draw me even deeper into this ministry to Him, these are the words He spoke to me: "You were created to love Me, you were created to be loved by Me." This is such a holy, personal thing that I am reluctant to share it, but I believe it is an open invitation to everyone, not a special invitation for me alone. Even so, why does God want "me" to minister to Him? Who am I? What can I give the Lord? And how does this relate to everything else I am doing for God? I know what it means to teach and write and pray for people and pastor a church; I can get my hands on that, and I used to think that was quite enough. But this thing of ministering to the Lord is a depth that few know anything about. I know so little about it myself. But I do know this much: there is an ocean of difference between ministering FOR the Lord and ministering TO the Lord.

There are a handful of people who are being stirred up to minister TO the Lord. Please understand that WE are not calling forth a remnant of people who are to be more spiritual than the rest. We are simply acknowledging the fact that although many are called by God, few respond; thus, few are chosen. There is a reason why the sons of Zadok were permitted into the Holy Place to minister to the Lord, while the other Levites were to remain in the outer court to minister to the people. This is not happenstance. Some, even now, are hearing the call of the Lord and are leaving the outer court, pressing into the Holy Place to minister to the Lord. We need to understand why. We need to look at the outer court and compare it to the sanctuary. We need to compare the ministry to the people with the ministry to the Lord. The Lord has shared some of the greatest things with me when I simply asked, "Why?" If we know "what" then we know His Will; but if we know "why" then we know His Ways. His Will is His Desire, His Ways are how He goes about to secure His desire. We need to know both if we are to cooperate with Him. So let us examine His Will and His Ways together.

ORGANIZED RELIGION PRIMARILY CONCERNED WITH THE OUTER COURT

"And the Levites that are gone away far from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray away from Me after their idols; they shall even bear their iniquity. Yet they shall be ministers in My sanctuary, having charge at the gates of the house, and ministering to the house: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to minister unto them (Ezekiel 44:10,11)."

The vision of Ezekiel's temple is symbolic of the Church. It is beyond the scope of our study to go through and develop that thought into detail, but I mention it so that we understand there is something here which is applicable to us today. If it is only applicable to the Israelites then it has little relevance to us today, but it is, in fact, highly relevant.

There is an outer court, and there is an inner court. There are those who primarily minister to the people, and there are those who primarily minister to the Lord. To begin with, we must look at the outer court so we can understand the inner court. So what is the outer court? It represents ministry to the people, the offering up of sacrifices. It is visible and public, full of action. Its ministers are in plain view and easily identified. There is much work to be done. Because it is public, everyone has access to it. This is where all the activity is. The Levites stand in the outer court to minister to the people.

But read our text again. Who is serving in this outer court? The Levites who went astray and worshipped idols. Part of "bearing their iniquity" is that they are forbidden from drawing near to the Lord in the inner court. They are forever bound to the outer court, the ministry to the people. They are not permitted to go any deeper. Is this not a tragedy? "They shall not come near unto Me, to do the office of a priest unto Me, nor to come near to any of My holy things, in the most holy place: but they shall bear their shame, and their abominations which they have committed (v.13)."

Here is the greatest single problem with Organized Religion: it cannot bring people any deeper into God than it can go itself. Its people are destined to remain in the outer court. Technically speaking, they are "in the sanctuary", but they are far from God, and cannot draw near to Him. It is better to be out of "church" and "in God" that to be "in church" and "away from God". How nice it would be to have both, but the reality is that God and "church" often contradict one another. Many have come to realize that they have to choose between the two. The ministers of the outer court are in love with their ministry to the people, with the elements and instruments of the work, and with their status and position in the outer court. They cannot lead us where they are unwilling to go. Of course, I am speaking generally. I think it is wrong to assume that anyone who pastors a church is part of this group. That would be incorrect. We are talking about an inward thing. I am not saying you must leave the outer court in order to obey God. But I will say this: if you are not willing to forsake the ministry of the outer court then you cannot minister in the inner court. You cannot stand in both courts at the same time.

MINISTRY TO PEOPLE, OR MINISTRY TO THE LORD?

"These people draw near to Me with their mouth, and they honor Me with their lips, but their hearts are far from Me (Isaiah 12a)."

Let me get right to the heart of the matter. What is it about Organized Religion that grieves me the most? I think it is this: the impression it gives that there is no inner court at all, that the outer court is all that there is. Everything centers around ministry to the people, and the ministry to the Lord is forgotten, or worse, is done in such a way that it deceives the people into thinking they are ministering to the Lord when they are not.

I wish a pastor could get up in front of the congregation and say, "It is good for us to be here, and it is right for us to fellowship, but you must understand that this is only the outer court. Everything we are doing is for ourselves. We have yet to touch God. There is an inner court in which we stop ministering to one another, and must minister to the Lord. That is where we are going. We cannot be satisfied until the Lord is satisfied." If this is the pastor's heart then praise God for it! But how many pastors have you heard say that? And how many, having said it and begun to practice it, would remain in the pastorate for long?

The ministry of the outer court is important, but we have made it important for the wrong reasons. Instead of seeing it as the means through which we enter the inner court, we have made it the entire focus. We are more interested in "curb appeal", making the outer court look good to visitors and meaningful for those seeking a "worship experience", while the Lord Himself stands in the inner court, forgotten and ignored. How we feel about the service and whether or not we got anything out of it has become more important than whether or not the Lord's Need is met. Can you not see how far we have fallen?

May I say frankly that the Lord WILL NOT come forth out of the inner court, out of the Holy Place, to meet you in the outer court, no matter how devoted, sincere, or zealous you are. The way is open in Christ, but you must go to Him, and to do so you must pass through the outer court to get to where He is in the inner court. Now just observe how we do the exact opposite. We gather together in the outer court and pray, shout, sing, worship, and expect the Lord to shower us with His presence or move upon us in a tangible way, i.e., "fall upon us" or "visit us" or "show up". From start to finish this process takes about thirty minutes to an hour, and sure enough, there is some kind of "manifestation" produced so as to make everyone believe that the Lord responded to them. Nonsense! He will not meet you in the shallowness of the outer court once a week for an hour or so at a time convenient to you and your schedule. You must enter the Holy Place of the inner court to draw near to God. The lesser approaches the Greater, not the other way around.

It may be helpful to go back to the time in my life when the Lord first began to deal with me about ministering to the Lord. Many people believe I had a falling out with the church, and have developed my particular philosophy since then. Quite the opposite, in fact. The Lord began to deal with me and show me things while I was still very much a part of Churchianity. Eventually, my decision to live according to the Truth caused me to have a falling out with the church. So the falling out was the end result of where the revelation brought me, and not the by-product of having been "hurt" or disillusioned (and I always have to emphasize that one can never have a falling out with the True Church, the Body of Christ, because that is not the same thing as Churchianity).

I was occupying my usual place in the church one Sunday morning, singing and worshipping the Lord, just as I had done for countless Sunday mornings my entire life. Nothing unusual or out of the ordinary was going on. It is difficult to describe what I perceived next, but I can only say that a sense of deep loneliness came over me, a sort of grief. Soon I stopped singing altogether and just listened to those around me. Then I opened my eyes and looked around. I had no reason to feel lonely; I perceived that this sensation was not mine, but the Lord was allowing me to share something which was coming from Him.

I realized that we were singing ABOUT the Lord, but not TO the Lord. We were talking ABOUT the Lord, but not TO the Lord. We have seen people do this with senior citizens, talking about them as if they were not present, thinking they do not know the difference, while they silently suffer the humility of being treated as if they are not even there. It was then that I understood that we treat the Lord the same way.

It was not as if this was a particularly bad service. I have been in bad services, and this one was pretty good! But that made it even worse. The better "our" service, the more the Lord seemed to be left out. It was like having a birthday party for someone and getting so excited about the food and the drinks and the music and our new clothes and the presents that we did not notice the person having the birthday is sitting over in the corner, alone. I saw that "our" service really was "ours" - for us, and not for the Lord. The singing, the praying, the preaching, the offering, everything was for us, and WHETHER THE LORD WAS SATISFIED OR NOT we would be there the next Sunday doing the exact same thing BECAUSE IT SATISFIED US.

I was so affected by what had been revealed to me that I sat down, took out a piece of paper, and wrote down these words so I would not forget that moment: "It is not what I need or what I want. I am come before you, Lord, to meet YOUR Need, to satisfy YOUR Want, to yield to YOUR Desire. I am not come to RECEIVE a single thing from You, but rather to GIVE all that I have and all that I am." I still have this piece of paper today. In some small way I felt that the Lord was satisfied with this simple surrender; indeed, satisfied and pleased in a way that could not be equaled with all the singing and praying and giving and preaching that we were doing. According to outward appearance, we were "on fire" and "alive", but I had seen things the way the Lord saw them: "You have a name that you are living, but you are dead (Revelation 3:1b)."

When we see things as God sees them it is a critical moment in our walk with Him. We can easily dismiss the experience and continued on as before. We can argue against it, rationalize it away, or forget about the whole thing. I am convinced that there are hundreds, if not thousands, of people who go through the same experience on Sunday morning but they choose to ignore it. The reality is too painful to deal with, too upsetting to question.

But as I continued to ponder this experience I realized that if what I had seen was true then much of what I had been doing in the Name of Jesus was a waste of time, was not pleasing to God, was not acceptable to God, and did nothing to meet His Need or satisfy His heart. It did, of course, meet MY needs and satisfy MY heart. How wonderful to be in front of the people as they listened to me preach and teach and lead worship! Sunday was the best day of the week, for it was then that everyone could appreciate just what an anointed man of God I really was! They were happy to let me lead them, and I was happy to be their leader, and so everyone was happy. Everyone, it seems, but the Lord, Who called to us from within the inner court while we played "church" in the outer court.

I learned that even something as spiritual-sounding as "wanting His presence" is tainted by the egocentricity of the outer-court worshipper. We want the "presence" so bad that we are willing to manufacture it and give the Lord credit for something which is fleshly and profane. What we really seek is not the "presence", but the "presents". As such, we have lost the ability to discern the difference between God and man, between Spirit and flesh, between holy and common. Every new thing which comes along sweeps us right off our feet, and later we wonder how we could have been so deceived, and why we feel so empty inside. We are chasing fantasies and illusions, meetings and manifestations, not the living God of the inner court.

THOSE WHO MINISTER TO THE LORD MAINTAIN THE SANCTITY OF THE INNER COURT

"But the priests, the Levites, the sons of Zadok, that kept the charge of My sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from Me, they shall come near to Me to minister unto Me, and they shall stand before me to offer unto me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God: they shall enter into My sanctuary, and they shall come near to My table, to minister unto Me, and they shall keep My charge (Ezekiel 44:15,16)."

Now that we have sufficiently identified the ministry of the outer court we turn our attention to the ministry of the inner court. Keep in mind that this is Ezekiel's temple, not the Tabernacle, and not the Temple of Solomon. It is different from all others. But we are not trying to identify each individual room or item, we are simply taking note of the difference between the outer and the inner. The outer court is comprised of many things, as is the inner court. But we are more interested in the ministry itself, and how the ministry to people is compared to the ministry to the Lord. These two are NOT the same.

What is significant about the sons of Zadok, and how is it applicable to us today? The sons of Zadok were selected to minister to the Lord because they "kept the charge" of the sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from the Lord and worshipped idols. In plain language it means this: when things began to decline and the temple was defiled, the sons of Zadok decided they would no longer try to keep the outer court sanctified, but they moved into the inner court and continued to minister to the Lord. When the outer court was defiled, they were determined to maintain the holiness of the inner court.

This is of extreme importance to us. It is no great thing to point out the many ways in which the outer court has fallen, although it surprises me that more people do not see it. Even so, being able to articulate all that is wrong is of very little use if we cannot with equal conviction state what our response to it should be. After we see the problems with the outer court, there seems to be only two viable options: stay where we are and try to change it, or forsake it and go deeper. It seems that all of us, at one time or another, have tried to "change the system" but sooner or later we have met with frustration and aggravation. Immediately when we receive light from the Lord we want everyone else to walk according to that light, but it does not happen. So the only real choice is to go deeper.

The sons of Zadok decided that the outer court was not worth saving, and they sought to preserve the sanctity of the inner court. They did not try to change the outer court, they simply left it in favor of the inner court. It was either that or lose the whole Testimony. Forced to make a choice, they decided to minister to the Lord. Eventually both courts were restored. The sons of Zadok are a type of overcomer, standing in the inner court, ministering to the Lord on behalf of everyone else, thus preserving both courts - even though to the people in the outer court IT SEEMS as if the ones in the inner court are doing nothing. Indeed, IT SEEMS as if the ones in the inner court have disappeared altogether, and they are, perhaps, written off as having "gone astray", when the exact opposite is true.

THEY WILL COME NEAR TO ME... AND STAND BEFORE ME... AND OFFER UNTO ME

"They shall come near to Me to minister unto Me, and they shall stand before Me to offer unto Me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God (Ezekiel 44:15b)."

Ezekiel 44 illustrates for us what it means to be an overcomer. When the Church as a whole has failed to maintain the Testimony, God will raise up overcomers from within the Church who will maintain the Testimony on behalf of the others who are unable or unwilling to maintain it. People will ask, "Do you think I am an overcomer?" But what does it matter what I think? I know you are called to be an overcomer. But look to yourself and you will know instantly if you are an overcomer or not. Everyone is called to be an overcomer, but alas, everyone does not overcome. We do not overcome because we are overcomers; we are overcomers because we overcome. Read that sentence again very carefully: because being called as an overcomer does not make you one, but living as an overcomer definitely means you are one. There is nothing mystical about it. It bears repeating that the overcomers are no better than the rest, they simply rise up and fulfill God's original intention for them, while the others do not.

If you are an overcomer then the Testimony of Jesus is present in you. Now looking at things as a whole, while the Testimony may be present in some individuals, it is clear that the corporate Testimony is broken down today. God is not the author of confusion, but confusion abounds in our churches. God is not the author of discord and strife, but discord and strife abounds in our churches. So there is not a clear Testimony - it is, for the most part, unclear at best, and contradictory at worst. The Church as a whole has not fulfilled God's intention for it. That is another way of saying that the Lord's Need is not being met. His Desire is not being fulfilled. His Will is not being done. It is not enough for us to examine the outer court and make some cosmetic changes. If we have failed in the ministry of the inner court then we have failed altogether, and THAT is where the root of our problem lies.

Many people have come forward to give us a "New Testament" style or pattern for meeting together. Different forms of church government are being tried. Meeting in cell groups or meeting in homes is being presented as an alternative. The house church has at last begun to call itself a "radical movement". Before long it may very well turn into a sort of unofficial denomination. We do not want to question or criticize the motives of those involved, and some of these things are well and good, but we want to point out that all of these things pertain to the outer court. Very little if any emphasis is placed on the inner court at all. With some exceptions, there is little ministry to the Lord, no more or less than there is in a "regular" church building. Whether you meet in a church building or in a living room or under a tree, what difference does it make if you are, spiritually and mentally, in the outer court the whole time? It is not a new method or a new system or a new movement that we need, but a new heart that draws near to God to meet His Need in the inner court.

From the ranks of the outer court the Lord is drawing people to minister to Him in the inner court. We are not saying the outer court has no use. Again, we should see the outer court as a means to an End, as the path one must take in order to access the inner court. That is ALL it is, a path. The problem is when we become stymied in the outer court and take up our residence there, when the ministry to the people becomes more important than the ministry to the Lord. Worse, when THAT becomes the End, and we never go deeper, and still worse, when we prevent OTHERS from going deeper. The fact remains that some are discovering a deeper purpose for themselves in God than what lies in the outer court, and are pressing inward. It is not so much a matter of disillusionment as it is a matter of dissatisfaction.

So in the context of this passage, what must happen in order for us to minister to the Lord? It involves two preparatory things: "draw near" and "stand before Me". We cannot offer anything or do anything until we first draw near to Him and stand before Him. I wonder: how much time have we spent just standing (or sitting or kneeling or lying) before the Lord, just to minister to Him? Is this the foundation for everything we do, or is it an occasional thing we experience, as we try to fit Him into our busy schedule? The Lord of the work is more important than the work of the Lord.

What does the fat and the blood typify? It represents the presentation of our bodies as living sacrifices (Romans 12:1). This temple is unique in that the altar is the center of everything. This temple is a square, and in the middle of the square lies the altar, upon which those who minister to the Lord offer up the fat and the blood. Clearly, the altar represents the Cross, for to minister to the Lord in this way means a complete and thorough death to Self. You see, in the outer court you might be a "somebody", but in the inner court you are a "nobody", because in the inner court Christ has the preeminence as All in All. There is no room for your ego or your title or your position. You are shielded from the prying eyes of others, hidden from the praise and the criticism of men.

Another interesting feature is the clothing worn by the priests who minister to the Lord in the inner court. We notice two things: first, they must wear linen so as not to produce any sweat (vv.17,18). Sweat represents the works of the flesh. In the inner court one must learn to stand, not to strive. "Peace, be still" is the order of the day. What a contrast to the noisy activity of the outer court. To not do what the Lord has told us to do is sin, but to go ahead and do what we have not been commanded to do is sin as well. The second thing we notice (v.19) is that they must change their garments when they go out of the inner court, and they must put them on again when they return. They are not allowed to wear their linen into the outer court. Yes, there are times when the priests of the inner court must go into the outer court, and we will discuss that shortly. But the reason for the change of clothing is interesting: "they shall not sanctify the people with their garments."

In other words, those who minister to the Lord in the inner court are not allowed to impart anything of the inner court to those around them. Again, the God of the inner court will not come forth to meet us in the outer court, we must go to Him in the inner court and offer up the fat and the blood upon the altar by taking up our Cross every day. This simply means that each of us must learn to seek God for ourselves. I cannot carry your Cross, and you cannot carry mine. We cannot rely upon others to touch God for us, no matter how spiritual or holy they seem to be. For that reason, the ones coming forth from the inner court ACCORDING TO OUTWARD APPEARANCE seem no different than anyone else. There is no room for them to glory in themselves. If we are not careful we may disregard them as no different than anyone else, but if we look closely we will sometimes see them "changing clothes" as they pass from the outer court, into the inner court, and back again. This hiddenness is not only characteristic of those who know the Lord, it is absolutely essential. It will require a sensitive heart, a discerning eye, and a listening ear to recognize and learn from them.

THEY WILL TEACH WHAT IS ACCEPTABLE AND UNACCEPTABLE

"And they shall teach My people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean (Ezekiel 44:23)."

If I may paraphrase verse 23, I take this to mean, "Those who minister to the Lord in the inner court are best qualified to teach others concerning what does and does not satisfy the Lord and meet His Need." It may be that we have done quite a number of things which are pleasing to us or to one another but they are not pleasing to the Lord in the slightest. Thus, it is profane, and it is unclean. It is a blemished sacrifice, and it is unacceptable. Again, in Romans 12, we see the terms "holy and acceptable" used in conjunction with the sacrifice of ourselves to God. The converse of that would be "unholy and unacceptable." Some people think God will just accept whatever we do in His Name. But we know that the Lord accepted Abel and his offering, but rejected Cain and his offering (Genesis 4:4,5).

Our inability to perceive, know, or discern the difference between what is and what is not pleasing to God will open the door to all manner of spiritual and religious deception. Abel knew that the Lord wanted "the fat and the blood", a life for a life, but Cain offered up something produced by his own sweat (good works) without stopping to the think if he was truly meeting the Lord's Need. In essence, Abel stood in the inner court while Cain stood in the outer court. Both offered sacrifices, but one was accepted while the other was not. I wonder: out of all the "sacrifices of praise" offered on a Sunday morning, how many are accepted, and how many are rejected? Listen to me! If only we would draw near to God and stand before Him to minister to Him we will come into possession of a remarkable sense of discernment as to the Lord's Purpose, His Kingdom, His Will, His Desire, His Need. Only then can we offer ourselves as living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to Him. His pleasure will be our pleasure, and His displeasure will be our displeasure. If we do not know what the Lord wants, how can we pray? How can we teach others? How can we obey the Master if we do not know the Master's will? And how can we know the Master's will if we do not know the Master? Only those who minister to the Lord can know the Lord.

I mentioned earlier that there are times when the priest of the inner court comes forth into the outer court. Here we see that though their primary ministry is to the Lord, they will on occasion have a ministry to the people. What do they do? They teach others the difference between the holy and the profane, between the unclean and the clean. They will demonstrate the difference between what Abel offers up and what Cain offers up. When the priests come forth from the inner court they teach people how to minister to the Lord, how to meet the Lord's Need, how to offer up sacrifices that are holy and acceptable to Him. The Hebrew word "teach" in this verse is interesting. Among other things, it means "to lay a foundation" or "to establish". The basis, the foundation of all ministry is to the Lord first. Learning how to meet the Lord's Need, and then doing it, is what it means to be a priest of the Lord; teaching others to do it is even more honorable. We are not saying there is no place for ministering to people, but we are saying that it is of secondary importance. If we make the outer court more important than the inner court then we have failed. If we have met everyone's need it means nothing if the Lord's Need has not been met.

The altar, the Cross, is central to Ezekiel's temple, because to devote oneself to minister to the Lord will require a death-attitude to everything outside of the inner court. The praise and the criticism of man, the expectations of people, the demands of family and friends, the many needs and opportunities which present themselves to us, our own aspirations and ambitions about what WE want to do or what WE are gifted to do, our own ideas as to what is holy and unholy, acceptable and unacceptable: all of it must go. Our fruitfulness is not what we are to one another, but what we are to Him.

SUMMATION

"I am their inheritance: and ye shall give them no possession in Israel; I am their possession (Ezekiel 44:28b)."

What does it mean to minister to the Lord? It means...

- Not my will, but Your Will

- Not my Kingdom, but Your Kingdom

- Not my glory, but Your Glory

- Not my needs, but Your Need

It means that in times past we may have served the Lord with the expectation of a future reward, but now we serve the Lord with the realization that He is our Inheritance now. It means that it times past we may have viewed prayer as a way to achieve our own ends, but now we pray in order to ensure that the Lord's End is achieved. It means in times past we were obsessed with our needs and getting what we wanted, but now we are obsessed with God's Need, His Desire, and making sure He gets what He wants from us.

It means that in times past our greatest joy was to been seen doing something for God, serving in the outer court, busy with many things; but now, being dissatisfied with that and having discovered Him, our greatest joy is sitting before the Lord in the inner court, quiet and stilled as a child, that we may know Him. In a word, to minister to the Lord is to be content and satisfied, free of ambition, conscious of needing nothing, since He is All in All to us. We were created to love Him; we were created to be loved by Him.

O Lord, make us ministers and priests unto You first and foremost. Teach us to come into the inner court and meet You there. Teach us to seek first Your Kingdom and Your Righteousness, Your Desire, Your Heart, Your Need, Your Satisfaction, Your Glory. You are our Possession, our Inheritance, our Reward. May we never be satisfied with anything less. Part 2 tomorrow! www.watchman.net

The Prayers Of The People

Diane Czekala

I went to a conference this past weekend where John Sandford was speaking. He is the founder of the inner healing courses, Elijah House Prayer Training, I took and now am facilitating. He is the spiritual father of John Paul Jackson.

I never saw him like he was. He said he was taken up to the counsel of the Lord here in NY just Friday morning. (Oct. 15th) God asked him, like God spoke to Abraham about Sodom and Gomorrah.

The Lord asked him if He should take his hand of protection off America because of all the immorality here and bring America to her knees. Many would be killed. He knew it was an atomic bomb and it was way bigger than 9/11. Or should He give America more time. More time meant a lot of pain & suffering.

He thought about it and remembered that 9/11 had brought people to their knees but only for a short time. He chose more time. God said the cost would be great. When this happened to him in the past God confirmed his answer that he would give more time. This time it was not confirmed. He felt it depended fully on the prayers of the people.

I never saw John Sandford so humbled and shaken. He was so solemn and said he was shaking in his boots. I knew he had been through some experience. It brought us to tears & intercession. We have been spreading the word to people to pray, pray, pray! God is contemplating taking his hand of protection off America. It does not look good. Although I feel it is best that Bush is president.

Prayer is the only thing that will protect America. Even if we get more time God said there would be much suffering. Our hearts join God in grieving over the sin in the world. John said to repent, repent, repent for the sin of the world. one by one repenting for all the sin in our country.

It was comforting that Bush won because of values. I told God, see, there are more of us who want morality. Pass this word on. Does anyone know how close we are to some large city being attacked with an atomic bomb? The only reason it has not happened yet is because of our Good Lord! And many cities being effected by this, not to mention the fear in the whole country?

Pass this on to anyone. Either way our country is in for some judgment. But lets gather and pray that people come to Him by grace and not by a bigger disaster. This just happened 10/15/04 in Syracuse, NY!! For such a time as this. I am feeling lead to pass this on to as many as possible for intercession and repentance for all the sin in our country. Pass this on to anyone you feel lead to. I feel a great urgency in my Spirit!

Blessings,
In Jesus Name,
Diane
(mdczekala@yahoo.com)

The Prophetic Power of The Seer

James Goll

Two Streams of the Prophetic - An Analogy

The Nile is truly one of the great rivers of the world. Including its tributaries, the Nile is also the longest river in the world, running over 4,100 miles from its beginning in the heart of the African continent to its mouth in Egypt, where it flows into the Mediterranean Sea. For thousands of years, the waters of the Nile have sustained the lives of those who dwell along its banks and on its flood plain. Few other rivers have been as vital to the rise or fall of human culture and civilization along their banks as has the Nile.

As mighty as the Nile is, however, it begins its life as two rivers, rather than one. The White Nile flows from Lake Victoria in Tanzania, and the Blue Nile, from Lake Tana in Ethiopia. These two watercourses come together in Khartoum, in the Sudan, to form the Egyptian Nile, which then runs over 1,600 miles northward on its way to the sea. Two separate streams, each strong and significant in its own right, join together with each adding its strength to the other to form one mighty river that nurtures and sustains life along its entire course.

In the spiritual realm, the flow of the prophetic from Heaven to earth resembles the Nile River. Just as the White Nile and the Blue Nile join to create the greater river, two streams of prophetic anointing come together to feed the greater concourse of the mighty prophetic river of God on earth. We can call these two streams the stream of the prophet and the stream of the seer.

Another way to look at this is to turn it around and think of a great prophetic river flowing from the throne of God that breaks into two streams - the prophet and the seer - which then give different degrees or dimensions or facets of prophetic impartation. Either way, it should be clear that both streams are important for the full expression of the Lord's prophetic word to His people in our day.

What is the difference between a prophet and a seer? For now, let us say that all true seers are prophets, but not all prophets are seers.

The Operation of the Seer Anointing

Within the overall realm of the prophet lies the particular and distinctive realm of the Seer. The word "seer" describes a particular type of prophet who receives a particular type of prophetic revelation or impartation.

The Old Testament uses two words primarily to refer to a seer: ra'ah and chozeh. Ra'ah literally means "to see," particularly in the sense of seeing visions. Other meanings include to "gaze," to "look upon," and to "perceive." Chozeh literally means "a beholder in vision" and can also be translated as "gazer" or "stargazer."

With these definitions now in place, the distinction between a prophet (nabiy') and a seer (ra'ah or chozeh) becomes a little clearer. When it comes to prophetic revelation, a prophet is primarily an inspired hearer and then speaker, while a seer is primarily visual. In other words, the prophet is the communicative dimension and the seer is the receptive dimension. Whereas nabiy emphasizes the active work of the prophet in speaking forth a message from God, ra'ah and chozeh focus on the experience or means by which the prophet "sees or perceives" that message.

The first lays emphasis on a prophet's relationship with the people; the other, on their revelatory relationship with God.

The Power of the Seer Anointing

Everyone needs a vision to sustain them in life.

Proverbs 29:18 states, "Where there is no vision, the people are unrestrained, but happy is he who keeps the law." This verse in the New International Version reads: "Where there is no revelation, the people cast off restraint; but blessed is he who keeps the law." Some other translations, such as the New Revised Standard Version, use the word "prophecy" instead of "vision" or "revelation." The point is clear: without prophecy, without divine revelation or vision, people will cast off all restraint. They will run wild because they have no guidance - no vision. The Word of God - His law - provides vision and guidance for living, and those who follow it are blessed.

As Christians, we are called to be a people of vision. We must learn to set a goal or target in front of our eyes to gaze upon. It is only when we aim at something that we have any chance of hitting it! The apostle Paul set his sights on knowing Christ, which he acknowledged was a lifelong process:

Philippians 3:13-15a
"13 Brethren, I do not regard myself as having laid hold of it yet; but one thing I do: forgetting what lies behind and reaching forward to what lies ahead, 14 I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus. 15 Let us therefore, as many as are perfect, have this attitude."

Like Paul, we need to be a people of vision. Let us set our sights on the Lord and aim at His goals. The seer will move your heart and stir up your hunger for intimacy with God, because "the seer's goal is to reveal the man Christ Jesus!"

A Change in Seasons - Here Come The Seers!

What is the purpose of the Seer? Like all true seers of old, we must reach high. We must look heavenward. We must think otherly. We must passionately pursue the God of visitation. For years, the Church at large has struggled just to believe and teach that God speaks today. But now, the Church is beginning to grasp the many ways God speaks, including how he speaks to the SEER.

Formerly considered "strange," the SEER anointing is becoming known as much more mainstream in the Church today. And that's good news for you. I can hear many of you saying, "Finally, they'll know I'm not crazy...in fact, I'll know I'm not crazy!"

Times are changing! The seers are being restored to their place of insight, counsel, and the word of the Lord! Here come the Seers!

If there are true seers today, and there surely are, then we must have our aim and focus clear. We must see Jesus! In all our seeing - let's be like John the beloved. Let's get in the Spirit and release the true prophetic spirit by revealing a testimony of Jesus (Revelation 19:10). He is the one I long to see. He is the one for whom my heart yearns and pants. He is the goal and prize of my life.

In all our seeing - let us see and reveal the man Christ Jesus!

by James (Jim) W. Goll
www.jamesgoll.com

The Precious

Bill Somers

[This article was originally posted in 1996. Now being reposted with some dated references removed but content unchanged.]

> "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints." Ps. 116:15

Jesus asked one of his disciples, "… Wilt thou lay down thy life for my sake?" (John 13:38)

In Mark 10:38 He asked "… can ye drink of the cup that I drink of? and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?

Romans 12:1 asks us to present our bodies, a living sacrifice.

1 John 3:16 tells us we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.

In Rev. 2:10 we are told to be faithful unto death.

In Rev. 2:13 we are reminded of the faithful martyr Antipas.

Personally, I never expected to be caught away as an escape from persecution or tribulation. The Lord has told us to expect persecution and tribulation. These verses here are a strong indication that He expects us to be ready to give our lives for the Kingdom. After all we are not our own, but are purchased with His blood and must be at his disposal. If He requires our death, at any time, He should be obeyed without hesitation. We really don't even have the right to ask why! But there is a God in Heaven that reveals secrets!

As I said, I never expected to be caught away as an escape from persecution or tribulation, I expect that somehow, somewhere I would die in the persecution! In John 7:16-17 we read "Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself." This implies that the Lord reveals his will to the willing. That He opens an understanding of His Word to those who are ready to obey.

Because of my willingness to obey Him in this, He has shown me something of Why the death of the saints precious to God? That is, that in some cases, Martyrdom Contributes To The Harvest. And of course the harvest is a major purpose of God. My first exposure to this idea came during a message I heard shortly after I got saved. Here it is.

Martyrdom in India

The following text is transcribed from a taped sermon given by T. George Koshy, an Indian national pastor. I hope you can excuse his awkward English, which I try to quote as correctly as I can. This was given at Reserve Church, Reserve Louisiana, Nov 17, 1985. Brother Koshy was preaching on Living in Holiness. The text was Daniel 9:20-23. This is how he closed his message.

"Brothers and sisters, circumstances which we are in, its not favorable for you and me to serve the Lord. But don't blame the circumstances. In the midst of the strained circumstances, you and I can take a stand for God.

I think 6 or 7 years ago, in a state in the northern border of India, that state passed a law against worship. That means if I convert a man from Hindu to Christianity, that means the government can fine me three thousand rupees and put me in the prison.

In that state an around 18 year old girl, a tribal Hindu girl, accepted Jesus as her personal savior.

Her mom, dad, brothers and sisters; all the relatives, all the tribe of people tried their best to bring her back to her old religion. She said "No, I'm not going to deny my Jesus, I'm going to serve Him!"

The entire tribe of people gathered in one open place and brought this girl. They tried to persuade her to deny Jesus. She said no. They hanged her upside down on a tree. They beat her up. Then her father, mother, brothers, sisters, everybody implored her, "Please! Deny Jesus!" She said "NO!"

They put enough wood and things underneath, and put the fire on that wood, while she was hanging, burned and give her life for Jesus.

It is easy for me to say that. If the same thing happened to me I don't know how I'm going to stand and face....

Brothers and sisters, the entire tribe is in Pentecost right now.

While she was burning, heaven will be calling her 'thou art greatly beloved.'

Brothers and sisters, take a stand. If you have to give your life, don't hesitate, don't turn back. Tradition says when they tried to hang Peter, he escaped. But then he came back and said, "Hang me upside down, let me kiss the foot of my master, and I'll die."

If that happened today, ... how many will say ... I'm going to give my life ... for the one who hanged on the cross ... and gave his life for me. And heaven will say, 'thou art greatly beloved'.

My prayer, ... there was a prophecy towards me when I received the baptism. 'God will send me around the world as a witness'... that happened ... and second, 'I'll be slain for the sake of the Gospel!' And I pray every day, God, if I'm going to go through that kind of torture, ... give me the grace not to deny ... but to give my life ...."

I have included some ... pauses ... in my transcription of the tape to indicate the emotional content of Koshy's closing remarks. All of us there were very touched by depth of feeling he showed.

One comment of his stayed with me, though he quickly passed over it. And it seemingly went unnoticed by the congregation. That was when he said, "Brothers and sisters, the entire tribe is in Pentecost right now." This is to say, they all have been saved and baptized in the Holy Ghost! How or why was never mentioned. Yet here is a case where martyrdom apparently contributed to a harvest of souls!

Ecuador

Jim Elliot and four other American missionaries were killed in the late 1950's on an outreach to the Auca tribe in Ecuador, South America. Subsequently, the entire tribe converted to Christianity. And the very first converts were the men who had killed the missionaries. These missionaries gave their lives in a futile attempt to evangelize a tribe of savages. Their mission was apparently a total failure! Yet their deaths contributed to a harvest, for that tribe totally converted to Christ! Now why or how does this happen?

Here is another case. From Last of the Giants by George Otis page 157

> Divine Visitations in Algeria
>
> In the early 1980's, a truly remarkable incident took place in a North African village located some 125 miles east of the city of Algiers. According to testimony, on one unforgettable night in 1983 - with no prior warning and for no immediately discernible reason - God sovereignty descended upon this coastal township with gracious bounty. Moving from house to house, and communicating through a combination of dreams, visions and angelic visitations. He did not rest until every member of this Muslim community was properly introduced to His only begotten Son, Jesus. As might be expected, come daybreak, nearly every villager had a story to tell.
>
> As the Holy Spirit lingered and these simple citizens managed to piece together the magnitude of what had happened to them, a sense of spiritual awe settled over the entire village. In the weeks that followed, their conclusions led to a dramatic wholesale conversion involving some 400 to 450 Muslim villagers - a nearly eighteen fold increase in the size of the Algerian national church!

> When amazed mission workers, who had had no direct involvement in this extraordinary development, began to investigate possible reasons for this sovereign visitation, they came across a stunning piece of information. It was at virtually this very site that, in June 1315, Raymond Lull, a Spanish missionary from Majorca, had been stoned to death by frenzied Muslims after preaching in the open market.
>
> The blood of martyrs, it has often been said, represents the seed of the Church. Lull, who is generally considered to be the first missionary to the Muslims, certainly believed this. In his book, "The Tree of Life", he wrote that Islamic strongholds are best conquered "by love and prayers, and the pouring out of tears and blood." In retrospect, it appears that it was precisely this formula that summoned the recent supernatural events in Algeria. Falling into the ground on that summer day in the fourteenth century, the seed of Raymond Lull's poured-out life was subsequently watered by the tears of generations of pious intercessors.
>
> Faithfully tending their cause, these saints waited patiently until, some time in the late twentieth century, the golden vials of heaven overflowed and God was released to summon forth fruit in its due season.
>
> Adding even more luster to this marvelous story is the fact that it has apparently triggered a book of Acts - style revival throughout other parts of Algeria, which continues to this day. During the summer of 1990, I had the high privilege of meeting with several dozen former Muslims who had come to faith in Christ within the previous eighteen months. Nearly all reported some type of supernatural intervention. Churches are spreading like wildfire, particularly among the Habyle Berber people living in and around the Atlas Mountains. One recent Arabic speaking visitor described as many as several thousand new believers meeting for Bible studies and marathon prayer sessions in homes and on mountaintops.
>
> (on page 247)
>
> On a recent trip to Rochester, New York, I spoke with a middle aged missionary who in the late 1960's led a team of young Americans in prayer on the very site of Raymond Lull's fourteenth century martyrdom in Algeria. Praying that God would redeem the seed of Raymond Lull's poured out life and send a move of His Spirit, the team helped to lay the groundwork for a sovereign outpouring of divine grace fewer than twenty years down the road. How and why does this happen?

George Otis's explanation is that "strongholds are best conquered "by love and prayers, and the pouring out of tears and blood."

In the late 1980's the Exodus II movement began under the leadership of Steve Lightle. One day in '88 the Lord showed him he would be involved with the harvest in Arabia!

I shared this one day with an Arab Christian minister from Kuwait. According to this prophecy, Steve Lightle was told he would one day preach the gospel in Mecca. Abdul Rahman (not his real name) told me that in the 1920's a Christian had penetrated Mecca and had actually gotten into the Kaba (a famous shrine) to pray. The Muslims found him there and killed him on the spot. (No further details were offered.)

I expressed a belief that the Lord would somehow honor that death and make use of it. He replied that the shed blood of the saints is never wasted.

Has this unknown 'Martyr of Mecca' become the seed for a future outpouring of the Spirit, following the same pattern as in the Algerian village? Do those who are interceding for the Muslims water this seed? Are both of these contributing to a future harvest, fulfilling the prophecy given to Steve Lightle? I believe so.

It looks like, whenever Satan kills one of God's people, it costs him something.

American missionary David Hogan, heading up Freedom Ministries, based in Laredo Texas, is a man moving in the anointing of a pioneer apostle. The Lord has used him, like Paul, in numerous miracles, especially raising the dead. Hogan in fact, claims to have lost count of the number of times he has raised the dead. His testimony includes an interesting incident related to our topic. While traveling on foot to a remote Mexican village his party was suddenly accosted by a pair of communist gunmen. His immediate proclamation went something like this. 'Devil, if you kill me, I'm claiming 100 more just like me to come take my place!'

The gunmen lowered their arms and disappeared into the brush! Every time the devil kills one of God's people, it costs him something. Apparently, in this case, being confronted first hand with this high cost, the devil backed off.

Jesus gave his disciples authority over all the power of the enemy. He gave us the power to bind and loose in spiritual warfare. Scripture teaches us to use the authority of His Name over the forces of Satan. Experience shows that this works, when the anointing is there.

Jesus also taught that when a strong man is bound his house can be entered and his goods taken. In the cases above, the Algerian village, the Hindu tribe and the American Indian tribe were all harvested. They were harvested in a total and dramatic fashion that indicates a spiritual breakthrough. These souls were taken away from the strong men, demonic rulers, who formerly held them captive. Somehow martyrdom contributed to these harvests.

We know that prayer can bind the strongman, but is there scripture showing that martyrdom can do so? We see that it is highly effective, even crucial in some cases. So how and why does this happen? My speculation is that the 'death of the saints', plus prayer, gives the Lord a reason to move. It provides justification for bringing judgment on the demonic powers. ("Ye shall die like men" Ps. 82:7). And clearly demonic powers have to be broken for this type of harvest to occur.

Suzette Hattingh (a teacher on intercessory prayer) gives the example of a policeman signaling for a truck to stop, as an example of authority in spiritual warfare. The prayer warrior, dressed in the armor of God, is like the policeman in his uniform. His authority is obvious because he is wearing the uniform. The Truck driver knows that he will be in a lot of trouble if he ignores the policeman and fails to stop.

Now consider what kind of trouble the trucker is in if he runs over the policeman and kills him! Every cop in town will be after him! If you translate this into the spiritual realm you can see what this means. This illustrates the power and effect of martyrdom. The Devil is in big trouble whenever he kills one of the saints. Whenever Satan kills one of God's people, it's going to cost him something sooner or later.

The scriptural key to the effect of martyrdom is as He says in Romans 12, "Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord. Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good." (Romans 12:19-21)

More simply put, Martyrdom gives place to wrath. And then eventually vengeance comes. And then harvest comes. "Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord, I will repay." This verse is so often taken as a warning to the believer not to avenge himself. But look to the second part, "I will repay" and see that as one of God's promises! HE WILL REPAY! Not he might, and not he ought to and not he'll think about it. He WILL repay! You know our battles are not with flesh and blood, our enemy is spiritual. It is the vengeance that the Lord executes in the spiritual realm that breaks enemy strongholds, and brings such glorious results.

And so this summarizes my understanding of how martyrdom contributes to the harvest. I am reminded of the words of Medhi Dibaj, the recent Iranian martyr who said: "It is a terrible waste for a Christian to die a natural death!

The Precious: Part 2
by Bill Somers

This article is a short follow up to my earlier article, The Precious. That article forms a foundation for what I am saying here. [Also see the article The How and the Therefore.]

The Lord gives us instruction, 'line upon line, precept upon precept; here a little and there a little.' Each new insight becomes the foundation for something more yet to come.

So everything I've said so far is a preliminary. All this is the foundation for a word the Lord gave me in June and July of 92. A startling, exciting word, which he clearly spoke to me on two separate occasions. (The second time, he made sure I wrote it down.)

That the martyrdom of the church would allow him to break the powers that keep Israel in blindness!
Correspondingly, the martyrdom of a remnant of saints would allow him to break the powers that keep the church in blindness!

So what is this supposed to mean? Lets look at some scriptures relating to blindness of Israel and of the Church.

What then? Israel hath not obtained that which he seeketh for; but the election hath obtained it, and the rest were blinded.* Romans. 11:7

For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits; that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in Romans. 11:25*.*

These two verses from the book of Romans speak clearly of the blindness on Israel. The following passage refers to the children of Israel but can also apply to the Church

Seeing then that we have such hope, we use great plainness of speech:
And not as Moses, [which] put a vail over his face, that the children of Israel could not stedfastly look to the end of that which is abolished:
But their minds were blinded: for until this day remaineth the same vail untaken away in the reading of the old testament; which [vail] is done away in Christ.*
But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the vail is upon their heart.
Nevertheless when it shall turn to the Lord, the vail shall be taken away. 2nd Corinthians 3: 12-16..

We find an interesting commentary on this section in Luke; it could even be inserted in the above text after verse 15. "... If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead." (Luke 16:31). And of course the one who rose from the dead is Jesus, the Jewish Messiah! We believe it is proper to speak about blindness in the church because Jesus does in the Book of Revelation. In his rebuke to the Laodicean Church, which is the church of today, He says:

Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked:
I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and [that] the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see Revelations. 3:17-18*.*

The above quoted passage from 2nd Corinthians applies to the Church for several reasons.
A. As Israel is a type of the Church, many verses that speak to or of Israel also make sense when applied to the Church.
B. The passage clearly speaks of a blindness in terms of a vail over the mind or over the heart.
C. The blindness is related to understanding of the scriptures, especially the old testament but also the new.
D. The mention of not being able 'to look to the end' speaks of not understanding end time prophecy.
E. The references to the vail say that it is 'done away in Christ' and 'when it shall turn to the Lord, the vail shall be taken away'. The vail is removed, done away in Christ, in the spiritual but in the natural it awaits the turning or returning to the Lord before it can be finally removed.

The vail of the Temple was removed at the death of Jesus. As Mathew. 27:51 says: "And, behold, the veil of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom; and the earth did quake, and the rocks rent;".

The removal of these other vails will also require a death. What the Lord is saying is that the blindness, the veil, over Israel will be removed by a death, the death of the Church. The removal of the vail in Matt. 27:51 is a type. Just as Jesus death removed the vail in the natural temple, the death of the body of Christ, the Church, will remove the vail in the spiritual temple.

But first the vail blinding the Church must be removed. And then, when the fulness of the Gentiles [the Church] is come in, Israel's blindness will be removed.

When the Church "shall turn to the Lord, the vail shall be done away." This will happen when revival comes. But it will require martyrdom, perhaps extensive martyrdom on the part of the remnant of the Church. That is the remnant that is praying for revival and discerning the times.

When the nation of Israel "shall turn to the Lord, the vail shall be done away." And they will look upon Him whom they pierced and cry "Hosanna to the Son of David: Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest." Mathew 21:9

And so this concept is a key to the two major events of end time prophecy. The coming of the Lord and the coming of revival. The one event open and manifest, the other somewhat hidden in scripture.

To phrase it another way, the coming of the Lord, the Day of the Lord is the coming of the Lord for and with his church. The coming of revival, an invisible coming, is the coming of the Lord 'to' his church.

Come, and let us return unto the LORD: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up.
After two days will he revive us: in the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight.
Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.* Hosea 6:1-3

The Passion

Richard & Holly Lang

As Holly and I went on our prayer walk this morning the Lord spoke to us about the movie, The Passion,

"When you have seen the movie, The Passion, are you ready to carry out the full ramification of my Passion in the way that I have intended it?"

"Surely I have borne your grief & pain and carried your sorrows & sickness. Was I not wounded for your transgressions? Was I not bruised for your iniquities? Hasn't my chastisement made you whole? By my stripes you are healed!" Is.53:4-5.

Remember: "As many who were astonished at me -- my appearance was so marred, beyond human semblance, and my form beyond that of the sons of men." Is. 52:14. "I had no form or comeliness that you should look at me, and no beauty that you should desire me."

"However, I have given you the keys to the Kingdom of Heaven that your light might so shine before men that they might see your good works and give glory to their Father who is in Heaven."

Consider this: "I was oppressed, and I was afflicted, yet I opened not my mouth; like a lamb that is led to the slaughter, and like a sheep that before its shearers is dumb, so I opened not my mouth." Is. 53:7.

In your grief & in your pain. In your sorrow & in your sickness. By my stripes & by my Passion you are healed! In your transgressions & in your iniquities. By my wounds & by my bruises you are healed! "By my chastisement & by my Passion you have been made whole!"

"Psalms 103, A Psalm of David"

Bless the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me, bless his holy name! [2] Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits, [3] who forgives all your iniquity, who heals all your diseases, [4] who redeems your life from the Pit, who crowns you with steadfast love and mercy, [5] who satisfies you with good as long as you live so that your youth is renewed like the eagle's.

[10] He does not deal with us according to our sins, nor requite us according to our iniquities. [11] For as the heavens are high above the earth, so great is his steadfast love toward those who fear him; [12] as far as the east is from the west, so far does he remove our transgressions from us.

Go therefore in holy agape love and in my Passion; heal the sick, cast out demons and evil spirits, raise the dead and proclaim the Kingdom of God with power and authority. Amen!

Sincerely In Jesus!

Richard & Holly Lang

Richard Lang Ministries, Inc.
richardlang@msn.com

The Invasion
Part Two Richard and Holly Lang

The Desolating Sacrilege Has Come
In The Year of our Lord, Saturday, March 06, 2004

Just ten years ago, I prophesied that the United States had been invaded and that almost no one had even noticed. It was, as it were, as in the days of Noah. An underground invasion of demons and evil spirits had swept over the land, and no one had given heed. The land had been polluted even as the Psalmist declared, “They sacrificed their sons and their daughters to demons {of drugs & narcotics}; they poured out innocent blood, the blood of their sons and their daughters, whom they sacrificed to the idols {witchcraft & fornication} of Canaan; and the land was polluted with blood.” Even as Jeremiah proclaimed, “A voice was heard in Ramah, wailing and loud lamentation, Rachel weeping for her children; she refused to be consoled, because they were no more.”

That which has been hidden has now come to the surface in an explosion, and the Lord has cried out, “Abomination of Abominations!” “Abomination of Abominations!” “The Desolating Sacrilege has been manifest!”

The abomination of abomination is now! The desolating sacrilege is now! Again: Let it not be as in the days of Noah. Remember: You are the light of the world, therefore let men see your good works: i.e. cast out demons, heal the sick, raise the dead, proclaim the Word with power and authority that men might give glory to your Father, who is in Heaven.

Finally: The only fresh, new word given to me, which has bugged me for the last several weeks, is this: The Lord has said over and over again, “Abomination of Abomination!” Tell my people that this is the day in which the Desolating Sacrilege has been manifest and it shall be manifested all the more as the future is revealed.

Sincerely In Jesus!

God love and bless you.

The Prophetic Savant
Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net/articles/savant.html

sa-vant' (n.): 1. a mentally defective person who exhibits exceptional skill or brilliance in some limited field; 2. a person who is highly knowledgeable about one subject but knows little about anything else.

"...the prophet is a fool, the spiritual man is mad..." (Hosea 9:7).

"What then is genius? Could it be that a genius is a man haunted by the speaking Voice [of God], laboring and striving like one possessed to achieve ends which he only vaguely understands?"

A. W. Tozer

(*The use of the male pronoun in this writing is for convenience only. We mean no partiality to our brothers, and no disrespect to our sisters.)

The prophetic savant is a person afflicted with a heavenly autism, making him nearly incapable of normal relations with those around him. Accused of being aloof, cold, and distant, he is apt to hide himself from people, withdrawing into a world of his own. He never seems to be all "there". Even if he forces himself to come down to Earth for a moment, those around him may have the sense that there is an unspoken dialogue going on somewhere inside of him, a secret communion carried on beneath the surface that never allows him to be fully "in the moment".

How do we explain this? As a prophetic savant he sees, hears, and relates to the world differently than the rest of the population. They have not seen what he has seen; they have not heard what he has heard. And so he finds very little camaraderie, very little sympathy or understanding, no one with whom he can open his heart and share his soul, because he no longer speaks the same language, and they no longer speak his. Of course, he may have surface-level exchanges with anyone: he is approachable, not haughty, or high-minded. He may even be personable and likeable. Yet there is something so other-worldly in his demeanor that he is more often frightening than friendly, in spite of his best efforts. He is a spiritual autistic, and no matter how hard you try to know him, he is generally unknowable, and to a certain degree, he resists all attempts to know him.

If a prophet is anything, he is extra-terrestrial - above the Earth. He walks the Earth with others, but he is not of the Earth. He is from beyond; he is from above. If we trace his history we will find that he may or may not have had a normal childhood. He may or may not have come through extraordinary experiences. But at some point in his life, either as a child, or as a young adult, or as an old man, something from another realm broke through the thin membrane between Heaven and Earth and took hold of him. It may have been a burning bush, or a Voice crying out to him from beyond the veil, or a Heavenly Vision which brought him briefly into contact with something and Someone that he could not completely fathom.

However it happened, for one moment at least, the clouds parted and the veil was rent, and he saw something that is unseeable; he heard something that is unhearable; Heaven itself was opened up to him, and he saw into another world. The thing he saw and heard now burdens him like a mantle that has been draped over his shoulders. He feels its weight, for it is with him day and night, whether he is eating or drinking, working or resting. It is the impression that everything around him is a lie, and what he has seen and heard is the Truth, and this Truth is not static, but it is living, growing, and increasing within him from the day it comes to him in the form of a seed.

For a long time he struggles to find words and vocabulary to express the inexpressible. He cannot explain why he feels the need to try and express it, but for some inexplicable reason something drives him to open his mouth, or take up his pen, and make it known. Whatever it is, it will not permit him to savor it or keep it to himself, and it seems intent on coming to the surface and interrupting the normal course of his life. This process can be frustrating and painful, so much so that he may give up several times, content to simply walk in what he has seen and heard and leave it at that.

But try as he might, he cannot run away from what he has seen and heard, and he cannot deny the compulsion to bring it forth. On the one hand he cries out for a "normal" life, while on the other hand he knows he cannot deny what has been revealed to him. When he does achieve some modest success in articulating something of Heaven he is pleased for a time, but soon grows impatient with it, and eventually is dissatisfied with it altogether, because it cannot do justice to what he has seen and heard. And so the process begins again, the continual search for words to more perfectly express what he is trying to communicate (and a subtle fear in the back of his mind that he may never be able to adequately express it), which leads him to invent words which may have never before existed, or to look for Spirit-inspired words in some unknown tongue that can be translated into something others can understand.

The prophets of old correctly called it the "burden of the Lord", for it is like a woman who must live the rest of her life being in perpetual labor, delivering the same child over and over again. What relief there is only comes in discharging the burden, but that is not to say it ever really leaves: it merely allows the prophet time to catch his breath until the next contraction doubles him over again. The burden is with him the rest of his life, and he never fully discharges it.

Even when he tries to be disobedient to the Heavenly Vision and flees from the presence of the Lord he is pursued and hunted down like some kind of a wild animal who has gotten loose, knowing it is only a matter of time before he is captured again. The Voice never leaves him, the Vision never lets him go. When he refuses to speak then the fire which is already kindled only burns hotter, until he ends up doing what he has resisted doing all along, just to relieve himself of the unbearable tension and inward pressure. He cannot extinguish or quench the fire no matter what he does, he can only be obedient and find temporary relief, until the next word comes, and then off he goes. He may beg God to send someone else, and may protest his inability to speak, or to write. But he is already ruined for anything else, and even when he denies the Lord Who called him and returns to his former occupation, it is all dull and lifeless, and he meets with nothing but frustration and failure. There is no way to escape it. He knows he is called to something Higher, even when he is clinging with everything he has to something Lower.

Like a wild horse, he resists the dealings of the Lord and must be broken before he will obey. Eventually he learns not to resist the Lord, but to cooperate with Him. He becomes pliable and bendable in order to survive. His very life now is bound up with what he has seen and heard. He cannot be disobedient to the Heavenly Vision, and if it means he dies, then he dies. If it means a renunciation of everything he once believed, then he renounces it - reluctantly at first, then cheerfully. If it means suffering the loss of all things, then he lets them go.

Over time the one who has seen and heard becomes the very essence of what he has seen and heard. The Man becomes the Message. He bears the Testimony in himself, and becomes one with it. He needs no preparation to speak; indeed, preparation does nothing to help the message he brings, and it often gets in the way. His whole life is the preparation, and since he is the Message, it is with him constantly. He can no more separate himself from the Message than he can separate his head from his body. If there is an "On/Off" switch then it was long ago turned on and then disabled so that it can never be turned off again. After many seasons of God's dealings he finally perceives that this is what the Lord has sought for all along, not just to GIVE him a Message, but to MAKE him a Message; to gain for Himself a Messenger and capture him completely, embossing the Message into his very being.

And so he goes about his daily business, constantly haunted by that Voice, torn between the menial task at hand which calls for his physical and mental exertion, and the Higher Calling which seeks his undivided attention. He knows he should do all things, great and small, as "unto the Lord". But he also knows that Heaven and Earth are locked in mortal combat over him while he stands there in the middle, torn between the two, desiring to depart the Earth altogether and be with Christ, but knowing that it is more profitable for his brethren if he remains. Heaven calls him to rise up, but Earth tells him to keep his feet firmly planted. His heart is constantly breaking and longing to go, to ascend, to rise up, to stop seeing through a dark glass, and see face to face, without the distraction of the natural, the fleshly, the temporal, because he knows the Earth is not his home. Yet he struggles with the fact that Earth is where he must live and work. This accounts for why he may sometimes seem difficult to be around.

As a savant he possesses insight and skill which others do not possess. But it is a gift, not anything of himself, nothing of which he could boast of. If you were to ask him if he considers this to be a blessing, he would probably say it is more like a curse, because it sets him apart from others even when he tries his best to be hidden and to blend in. He cannot read the Scriptures as others do, for after only a few verses the Heavens are opened up to him again and he is lost in its depths. A single passage may keep him occupied for months as Heaven unfolds it to him, and he cannot tear himself away from it.

His preaching is affected, because he cannot decide in advance what he will say, and even when he would like to bring forth something new and exciting, he usually ends up saying the same thing, like, "Repent!" He often does not say what he wants to say, and does not say it in the way he would like to say it. If he wants to be serious, he finds himself laughing. And when he wishes to be friendly, he finds himself screaming at the top of his voice to a startled congregation of people, who wonder how this fellow was ever allowed access to their inner sanctum in the first place. When he leaves a place he almost never sees the result of his labor, and only eternity can reveal the true significance of what was said. For now, it is all hidden, and he has to live with the fact that his fruitfulness will never be measured in terms that human beings, including himself, can see and appreciate.

He cannot go through the motions of religion like most mortals. It is a dead, shallow thing to him because it cannot compare to the reality of what he has already experienced. He finds it difficult to listen to another person preach when he knows they have not yet ascended to the heights nor plumbed the depths that he has already navigated. And when he tries to lead them into these heights and depths himself he is often misunderstood or rejected altogether. So either he attends the meeting and suffers in silence, or stays home and suffers in solitude; but either way, he suffers.

His seeing is affected by a sort of "spiritual dyslexia". While others view things from a one or two dimensional viewpoint, he sees them through several dimensions at once - forward, backward, reverse, upside-down, right-side up: life and death, light and dark, Spirit and flesh, Heavenly and Earthly - which often puts him at odds with his more pragmatic and doctrinally-correct brethren. He is so at one with what he has seen that he speaks of it as having already happened, because he has, in essence, already experienced it and lived it. It is the Prophetic Tense, which calls those things that be not as though they were. In his world, the world of the Spirit, they exist already. We call it "prediction" because we cannot yet see it with our natural eyes, but he simply stands outside of Time and views Past and Future as one unbroken and continuous Present.

His hearing is affected so that he is increasingly sensitive to his surroundings, even though it seems as if he is not paying attention. He is listening, but he is listening inwardly. He no longer trusts his natural ears, because the Heavenly Voice and the inner witness are more reliable. Thus, he is able to hear God speaking, while the rest of the crowd says, "It thundered!" or "It was an angel!" He is also able to hear when God is not speaking, and does not get carried away with the multitudes who claim to speak, see, and hear things from God when they have not heard or seen anything from Heaven. He cannot bear to listen to them.

His concentration is affected in such a way as to make him appear obstinate and unyielding to others. The truth is that he is actually quite flexible and pliable before the Lord, but before man he is as solid and impenetrable as a rock. No amount of persuasion or argument from man will move him - but the slightest touch from the Lord will bring him to his knees. Having discovered the One Thing that is needed, he will tenaciously and ruthlessly shun the "many things" which crowd in to seek his attention, for he sees everything else as a distraction. Indeed, he is quite willing to sacrifice the good in favor of the holy. And when the Lord has him focused on a particular thing he is as a beam of light fastened upon a singular point until everything melts before it.

Even his praying is affected, for he can no longer pray as he wills and for what he wants. He seemingly has no will of his own. Instead the Heavenly Voice bids him to pray with a Heavenly perspective, and all too often the Heavenly perspective is at odds with the Earthly perspective. So when his brothers and sisters pray for blessing and increase, he finds himself praying for destruction and decrease; and when they are resisting and praying against something, he finds himself asking God to perform the very thing the rest of the world is against.

To the rest of the world, the autistic savant is a bit of a retarded genius, an unfortunate mixture of idiocy and brilliance, caught up in a world of its own. The prophetic savant bears a similar stigma. But if you engage him at all, you soon discover that he sees all of this as absolutely normal; the way it is supposed to be. He no longer wishes for a normal life, because the life he has now IS normal: he has lost his own life in exchange for a new life. He lives in the Heavenlies while he walks on the Earth. He does not think of himself as special, as anything other than a regular person, but often wonders aloud why others cannot see what he has seen when it is all so self-evident and plain. To him, maybe; but the rest of us are blinded by the Light he exudes without knowing it.

Chip Brogden
http://www.watchman.net

The Pornographic Spirituality

Conrad Lampan

There was this famous "diva" in Argentina who conducted "almuerzos" (Lunches) on TV to which different personalities of the arts, and politics, or science were invited. The conversations although they tried to make it look or sound very scientific or high profile speech, most often edged the ridiculous. The conductor was not a knowledgeable person, and every other intervention she would say things or ask questions that were just laughable to say the least. However the audience was always high. Politicians would go lengths to be invited to one of these TV lunches because of the exposure they would get.

COROLLARIUM:

To either say the right thing or to be flatly ridiculous it was just a side dish; it did not actually matter if it was constructive or plainly surrealistic. What counted was "visibility". What people watched was the spectacular: the table settings, the silverware, the dresses, and the shining personalities; in fact what counted was the spectacular environment. For an hour and a half people would live vicariously as watching this program simply allowed them to "live" for some minutes a reality that was not theirs, so in the end everything was accepted or even permissible in the "ideal" environment of the "almuerzo" because it created a door to escape their own floppy reality.

OH, BUT WE DON'T DO THAT!

"Well", some would say, "we don't do that in our country, that was in Argentina." I have news for you: We not only do that in every country of the world, we also do it in church!

We do it when we go to conferences about intimacy with God but we never develop our own relationship with God. When we attend seminaries on Prayer and Intercession but we seldom dedicate time to prayer or to really intercede for others we are actually doing it again. When we go to a prophetic gathering just to find someone who can tell us our future instead of learning how to hear from God we are doing it again. When we go around looking for the most "powerful" meeting, or the most "anointed" preacher, or the most "accurate" prophet, then we are again living vicariously which in very plain language means simply to live "pornographically". A person caught up in real pornography actually lives his or her sexuality through what they see others doing. As rough as this may sound this is exactly what we do when instead of developing a powerful intimate relationship with God we go see others tell about it.

DIVAS OF MINISTRY

The needs are real. The desire to see a move of God is real. The desires for revival are very real; however there is something eminently wrong when we expect someone else to do it for us. When we put our focus on what this minister, or this teacher, or this revivalist, or this prophet can give me instead of focusing in the source of it all, the Holy Spirit that is available to all who seek Him, then we end up creating "divas" of ministry.

When we focus on the spectacular rather than on the reality, or when we look for the "power" not realizing that the power is to be found in the person behind the power, that is the Holy Spirit, then we are putting pressure on the ministers we go to see to have more, to show more, to give more, to be more spectacular, and we end up creating ministry entities of whom we do not see their flaws or clay feet because we are concentrated in the shiny surface and as long as it shines accountability is not a requirement.

THRIVING OUTSIDE STRIVING INSIDE

This leads us to be so dependant on others as the source for our spirituality that we risk having our spiritual lives entirely separated from our real lives, so much that our spirituality thrives when we are at a special meeting or conference, while at home where it really matters it only strives.

On the other side this putting the focus on the "diva" minister has a sad effect in that we seldom pray for them simply because in our eyes they are so perfect that we do not see the need to protect them in prayer. Also in this same line we do not consider it important that they be accountable to anybody; like the actress of my starting story we don't care much of what they actually say or do, as long as it is spectacular. Worse yet we might let things go unchecked in their lives because after all it is their private lives, ain't it? As long as we have the show, the make me feel good, the stamina emanating from them, we don't care much about their private lives.

PRESSURE FROM LUST

The pressures we put on them arise not from our real needs but from our lust. We lust for the shiny, for the show, for the best worship, or even for the "magic" of it all, for the knight in shiny armor, not realizing that this leads to an ever increasing race towards the spectacular leaving three casualties in the way: character is one, and the real supernatural power of God is another.

The third one is the "diva" minister himself whom we have helped create with our lust, with the pressure we put on them; we push them into a race into the spectacular that takes them to an even more spectacular downfall.

WHO'S TO BLAME THEN?

It is really saddening to see a servant of God fall in sin and entering into a downwards slippery road. Character and accountability are at risk when the show becomes the central point of ministry. We cannot blame the people for the sins of ministers; every one is responsible before God for his or her own sins; however we must realize that there are two sides to the equation: while each one will have to give account for their own sins, we need to make sure that we do not help create "divas" in ministry to whom we forgive everything as long as they satisfy our lust for more "almuerzos", and to whom we point with our fingers when they fall in that slippery road that we have helped them get into.

Conrad Lampan

Center for Revival Studies Wales - Argentina - United States Email: crs@revivalstudies.org Website: www.revivalstudies.org Phone: 01633 220 940

* To check our archives for past messages or other articles please feel free to visit us at our main website:

http://www.revivalstudies.org/archive/

* For information on the SCHOOL OF REVIVAL use this link:

http://www.revivalstudies.org/school/

* To join REVIVAL FORUM: Discussions and insights of revival issues you can sign in at :

http://www.revivalstudies.org/phpBB2/index.php

The Power Of God

Luz Cintron

In solitude and silence
You have established the footstool of Your presence.
Simplicity has dressed Your Truth in power to brake apart all our illusions.

It is not dressed with sounds of many words nor is it hidden in eloquence of speech.

It is silence that speaks, light dressed in darkness, solitude that accompany the lonely heart offering a place of repose, brokenness that heals,
hope that embraces defeat
because it trusts... reasons not argued or explained because they are not intellectual processes but heart issues.

The revelation of Your power is not in the sum of all Your mighty deeds, nor is it revealed in the dark speech of wisdom.

What cost You to open the sea in two and get Your people to cross on dry land?
What cost You to drown the Pharaoh's troops?
What took You to crush the walls of Jericho at the shout of trust of Your little ones?
There
You were just toying with Your power...

Tell me, what cost You to brake the bonds of death that had you in the dark and cold tomb for three days?

That was glorious indeed
but I do not find there the revelation of Your power.

I find it unveiled
when You took off Your power and Your glory El Elyon dressed in clay to be called Emmanuel.
When the sum of all fountains of life surrendered Himself to become thirsty, when You cried,
when You allowed your soul to become troubled willing to be touched by all that crushed me.
When You, Eternal Life, embraced death and death of a cross in shame, rejection and defeat.

Which power there is that can compare to Yours?

The meek and lowly lamb that in silence,
comes down to bring upon himself
the sin of the world to vanish it.

You came not only to perform redemption, if that was the case You could have done it differently, in many ways as Your creativity allows You who created from nothing all that is.

Your eyes saw beyond
Your heart understood the root of our need and knew all that it takes.

The fact remains that You have come without fanfare or glory
just to sit down by the side of humanity as one of us to share our pain and sorrows to partake of our few joys to share Your life with those dead unaware of their death

For You came to take and partake our life to change it.

It is true
You sent Your Word and created all and You renewed the face of the earth.

In this, the glory of Your power is unveiled and sits in Christ.
In this we stand.

luz

Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father. John 10:17-18

The Quest for Immortality

Bayo Omoyiola

Scroll_Of_David@Yahoo.Com

Ever since the fall of Adam, man has always sought for a way to come back to his immortal state. He has tried science, witchcraft, religion and philosophy yet his quest for immortality is yet to be satisfied. What man seem not to know is that true immortality can only be found in Christ and he alone has the key to immortality.

Scriptures reveal to us men who tasted immortality but the door seem not to be open to everybody or every Christian. We got to persevere. It will not come until we see him. When we see him then we become like him. Then we will have what he has - an immortal body. Until then we must persevere. Our body longs for it, our spirit groans for it but we must wait for it. Job knew he would become immortal one day. Abraham had a glimpse of it as he longed to see the day of Christ. Adam, Eve, Enoch, Elijah, Christ and those that rose after his resurrection actually tasted it. They walked in it and all of them are still with it hitherto in heaven. These ones included the 2 olive trees and others that were in paradise in the middle of the Earth before the way to heaven was prepared for all.

In these end - time I believe we would be seeing lots of immortality signs and displays though the Church would never see it`s fullness until the day of rapture. On that day we would be changed and we would be one of the first set of people to see immortality and live it apart from the saints already in heaven . Every other human would eventually be immortal before the great judgment but some would come go to everlasting damnation. Every soul in Heaven now has an immortal body even those whose bodies are yet to be raised up. This is because in Eternity what is yet to happen has already happened and that makes those of them that are yet to be raised up to already have the resurrected body.

The last enemy to be destroyed is death. The fear of death has been abolished and so will death be. In the mean time we are to look unto Jesus (the author and the finisher of our faith who alone has the key of death and life) and to the father who alone has immortality.

Shalom!.

Transformations And Changes

Bill Burns

Jan 5, 2004
My people, hear Me. I am about to shake you from within and without. Many of you will go through radical transformations and changes, but if you do not approach this season and go through these changes with faith, you will be discouraged and shaken in your kingdom positions and even in your worldly positions and opportunities, and you will not receive that which I have for you because you will allow the shaking to bring fear and discouragement. I say to you, gird up the loins of your strength and approach this season in absolute faith.

I Will Open Doors

Marsha Burns

I had a mini-vision of someone fashioning something out of Play Doh, and when the sculpture was finished it was not satisfactory and all was gathered again in a lump and ready to be used again. And, the Lord said, this is true reformation. You, My people, are entering a season when you can reclaim old resources and modify your plan to achieve better results. I will open the eyes of your understanding and give you insight and revelation, which will serve to alter and improve your course of action. And, I will open doors before you and make a way for you to accomplish what is in your heart to do. Do not be afraid, but go forth with courage and boldness, for certainly I am with you.

New Infilling Of My Spirit

Marsha Burns

Ephesians 5:18 "And do not be drunk with wine, in which is dissipation; but be filled with the Spirit."
Beloved, these are the days of a new infilling of My Spirit, a fresh baptism. Do not resist being filled to overflowing with the effervescent life that is now being made available to you. Allow Me to make you a new wine skin that is fresh and flexible in allowing the new wine of the Spirit to quicken you to vitality. Be willing to give up the mindset that causes you to stubbornly refuse to give up your position as a victim of life's circumstances. Let Me do a work in you that will remove restraints and bring you to spiritual freedom.

Because I Am With You

Bill Burns

Jan 12, 2004

My people, I tell you to get ready for demonstration, for it has been written and the scriptures cannot be broken that I will raise up a Church without spot or wrinkle, a Church that walks in righteousness. The righteous acts of the saints shall give birth to the manifestation of My presence on the earth if you can hear the sound of My voice and come to Me in faith, even in small faith, even as the seed of a mustard tree. It is My desire to use each one of you to bring the demonstration of the power of My word and the power of My kingdom in these days, says the Lord.

Watch, for even My people shall be astounded. Watch, for those around My people shall be astounded. As you walk in faith My light shall shine upon you and there shall come an abiding grace, an abiding glory that will rest upon you. The mantle of My authority shall be placed upon your shoulders, and you shall know that I am with you, says the Lord. Because I am with you, faith shall be ignited to speak forth My word and do as I direct you. The glory and manifestation of My kingdom shall be in evidence in this season, says the Lord.

I will give you demonstration. I have given you My word and brought the prophetic word alive in you and have brought you to a higher level, a higher place. Not only do I give gifts and bring forth prophetic teachers in the land, but I will bring the demonstration of My power as confirmation to that word. Expect the manifestation of My power.

I shall make you overcomers, for I have overcome the world, I have overcome the power of the devil, and I have overcome all things. There is coming a famine in the church for the word, but the righteous who live in Zion shall have the word of the Lord in these days, for out of Zion the word shall flow forth from that place. I have found Myself a people, a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, and I have come to sound the trumpet Myself and tell you that I am among you. Glorious and wonderful things I am doing, says the Lord. I am releasing the sound of the trumpet, the spirit of prophecy to come forth.

The Radical Forerunner
Jill Austin

Mary - The Radical Forerunner - A Tale of Hidden Testimony and Holy Fire!"

From her encounter with Gabriel to her experience at Pentecost, Mary's experiences parallel those of any woman who pursues God's promises for her life.

Mary knelt in the shadow of the cross, weeping in anguish as her firstborn Son hung above her, naked and bloody. The ominous roar of thunder was crowded out by His agonizing cry, "My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?"

She looked up through her tears. "Why?" she cried out in the deafening silence of her thoughts, "Why didn't you defend Yourself? I saw the raw power of God move through You. At Your word, demons fled, blind eyes were opened, lepers were cleansed. Why didn't You command the angels to save You? You were going to be king of the Jews. It was prophesied; I didn't make it up. The angel Gabriel visited me, and everything happened as he said. It wasn't suppose to end like this."

Most of us remember Mary as the 15-year-old girl who rode off on a donkey to facilitate the Christmas story. But her life was so much more. It was a tapestry of mysteries that unraveled, gradually, across the seasons of her years, bringing her ultimately to this scene at the foot of the cross.

On that day of the crucifixion, Mary's Son was not all that was dying, so were every belief and prophetic promise she'd clung to for 33 years. Perhaps you, too, have had your life turned upside down. You've seen your dreams die. The future looks bleak and empty.

You need to understand that your prophetic walk with God is a cyclical journey. Like Mary, you will have seasons of prophetic revelation; seasons of spiritual wandering; seasons of ordinary "ho-hum" life; seasons of effective ministry. All of them ultimately lead to the cross and to the death of all things you hold dear. But the cross is never the end.

Radical Visitation

"One night the angel, Gabriel, came to me. Me, a simple Jewish girl living in poverty in the little town of Nazareth. What did I have to offer anyone, especially almighty God?

"His voice filled the room, 'Greetings, you who are highly favored among women. The Lord is with you.' He told me not to fear and that I would give birth to the Messiah. I cried out, 'Yes, Lord, let it be done to me according to Your word.'"

Mary was a sovereign vessel chosen to be the mother of Jesus. Yet the Bible doesn't indicate that she moved in miracles. She simply possessed a heart of devotion and childlike faith. She said, "Yes, Lord, let it be unto me," and it changed her life forever. That is why we can all be like Mary!

The Holy Spirit overshadowed her and the new life that was birthed in her womb ushered in the Messianic Age. Do you cry out, "Lord, I want to be like Mary - radically overshadowed by the Holy Spirit, impregnated with Your purposes!"? Do you want to usher in revival?

Then know that there is a price behind the anointing! There is a stigma! Birthing the things of the Spirit is messy and revival is controversial. Are you willing to be a humble vessel, giving birth to God's purposes in an untidy stable, or will you say, "There's no room in the inn."

Spiritual Warfare

"In the middle of the night, Joseph shook me violently. He was terrified, crying, and ranting about Herod wanting Jesus dead. He said we had to leave town -- right away. He grabbed Jesus and was out the door before I could understand what was happening. We left everything behind that night -- no explanations, no goodbye. Life as we'd known it was over."

Satan always goes after a move of God in its infancy, when it's most vulnerable. King Herod diabolically ordered the slaughter of baby boys. But God gave Joseph and Mary divine strategies to protect their Son, telling Joseph in a dream to flee with his family to Egypt.

Are you under attack from the enemy? The greater your call and destiny, the greater the spiritual warfare you will face. The enemy wants to abort your prophetic promises. When the stirrings of revival begin to be birthed in you and around you, challenging the status quo, the demonic realm is aroused. Don't be afraid; God will be faithful to deliver you out of the enemy's hand.

The Wilderness

"Why didn't God remove Herod instead of us? It hurt so much to leave everyone behind. I kept thinking...if only my family and friends could see Jesus grow up. And why Egypt? Why did God send us to the land that represents bondage for our people? Are we going to die here or in the wilderness like our forefathers?"

Maybe you've had incredible, dramatic encounters with God. You've had multiple prophetic words recorded on tape and transcribed into notebooks. You're sure that at any moment now your prophetic promises will come to pass.

Mary also received prophetic words: Her Son would be the king of the Jews. So why were they banishing and suffering in an uncomfortable and foreign land? Mary didn't realize that the prophetic timetable for the fulfillment of Jesus' destiny would be a grueling 30 years long. You, too, will spend time in the wilderness seasons of barrenness. Are you willing to wait on the Lord's timing?

An Ordinary Life

"Finally, after several years in Egypt, God spoke to Joseph again in a dream. Herod was dead. This time it was I who grabbed Jesus and ran out the door with Joseph trailing behind. We couldn't get home fast enough!

"Things eventually settled down, but mothering Jesus was always a challenge. Once, when He was 12 years old and we were returning in a large group from the festival in Jerusalem, I realized He wasn't with the other children. We frantically returned to the city to look for Him in the temple. You know what He said? I should have known He was there! Oy vey! I wanted to ground Him 'til He was 21!"

Do you feel as if you're on a shelf, living an ordinary life? Are you changing diapers, cooking dinner, and dealing with the neighbors, while crying out in your heart, "Lord, have you forgotten me? Why don't people recognize my gifting? Don't they realize I had a radical visitation back in 1990?"

Mary had 30 years of obscurity to develop a hidden testimony -- a secret history with God. You, too, have an appointed time to build family, community, and greater intimacy with Jesus. In the midst of that time, you may feel like crying out, "What's taking so long? By the time my destiny comes, I'll be pursuing it in a wheel chair!" But seasons of preparation are important. These are the times when God works patience, radical passion, and deep devotion into your life.

Finally, Ministry Begins

"When I was 45 years old, life changed dramatically for Jesus and me. He started bringing home a ragtag bunch of fishermen to dinner. Then, at a wedding, He changed water into wine. From then on He moved in amazing signs and wonders, and a huge crowd followed Him everywhere. The excitement grew daily as Jesus walked among the people, bringing revival. But I still don't understand what He meant when He said, 'Who is my mother?'"

Mary had to relinquish control of her life and Jesus' life in the midst of an outpouring of the Spirit. In your life and ministry, you also have to let go -- of your plans, your expectations, your ways. Just as Jesus had to leave His home and follow the Father, you also have to relinquish control of your life and follow the Father, even if it takes you to the cross. And it will.

The Dark Night

"Why, God, why? Why have you forsaken Him? Why have You forsaken me? He was supposed to deliver us. He was our salvation, and now He's gone. If You really love us, why have You allowed this to happen?"

Jesus was in the prime of His life. The countryside was in the midst of a tremendous revival. But now He was dying on the cross -- and so was Mary. Overcome by feelings of abandonment and betrayal, she was in the middle of a crisis of faith.

When Jesus chose to go to the cross, Mary was compelled to go there too. The truth is, the cross is always being worked in our lives -- sometimes through the choices of others. Your daughter has an abortion; your son abuses drugs; your husband files for divorce. You never intended to go to that cross, but there you are.

You want to believe the Lord will rescue you at the last moment, but often His plan is to crucify you. Everything dies at the cross: relationships, ministries, agendas, reputations, finances...it's painful, but it's necessary. If you cry out to be part of the Bride of Christ, then you must be -- you will be -- identified with the sufferings of the Bridegroom.

Resurrection

"He's alive! I thought I'd cried all my tears on Golgotha, but when our eyes met, it was like a flood. As I ran into His open arms, He scooped me up and spun me around in joyous laughter.

"The times we shared after the resurrection were the most precious of my life. They made it easier to release Him -- again. As I watched Him ascend, I prayed again, 'Lord, let it be unto me according to Your word, for the rest of my life.'"

Out of great death comes great life. Mary's prophetic promises had been limited by her world view. In her mind's eye she had seen Jesus as king over the nation of Israel for the span of His lifetime. In reality, He was King of kings and Lord of lords for all people and for all time.

At the cross, God crucifies our limited view concerning the fulfillment of our prophetic destiny and resurrects it to His eternal view. The Lord revives our broken dreams -- and when they come to pass, they rarely look as we thought they would.

Carriers of Glory

"Explosions of glory! Now it was not just I who was overshadowed, but all 120 of us. Tongues of fire fell and we were gloriously baptized in the Holy Spirit. We couldn't keep the news to ourselves. We ran, pushing each other out the door and down the narrow staircase, to tell everyone!

"We gave ourselves to prayer night and day, sharing all we had, and loving each other. We grew from 120 to 3,000 to 5,000. Signs and wonders and miracles followed as we told everyone about Jesus!"

Mary and the other disciples were baptized in the Holy Spirit and the church was set ablaze -- just as the Lord wants your life to be ignited now. When the Holy Spirit moves through you, it's not just for your benefit; it's to bring conviction, salvation, healing, and deliverance to suffering humanity.

By the end of her prophetic journey, Mary had seen every prophecy she'd ever been given come to pass. Now she was a carrier of the glory of God. How about you? Are you willing to be a carrier -- to bring the glory of God to your family, your neighborhood, your workplace? Are you willing to embark on your prophetic journey and birth revival?
by Jill Austin Master Potter Ministries
http://www.masterpotter.com

info@masterpotter.com

Is There a Cry in You for a Deeper Friendship with God
Jill Austin

Fresh Revelation Face-to-Face

Exodus 33:12-16 - "Then Moses said to him, 'If Your Presence does not go with us, do not send us up from here. How will anyone know that You are pleased with me and with Your people unless You go with us? What else will distinguish me and Your people from all the other people on the face of the earth?'"

After an incredible "mountain top" experience on Mount Sinai with a 40-day visitation, receiving The Ten Commandments, and having God inscribe the Law on his heart, Moses descended the mountain and was hit with heavy spiritual warfare. His people were entangled in blatant sexual perversion as they worshipped a golden calf. The Lord's jealousy burned and He released judgment, costing three thousand men their lives.

In total desperation, Moses cried out for a greater encounter with the Lord - a deeper visitation was needed! It was not enough to see a burning bush ablaze, or watch the Red Sea part, or even to see supernatural provision each day with the raining down of manna. He cried out for more! He wanted to see God's face. He would not take "No" for an answer. Total desperation, unquenchable hunger, and unswerving commitment to his people caused Moses to contend with God for His presence.

While Moses faced death and warfare, it caused him to press into God with a greater desperation! Do your trials cause you to run to God or from God? No matter what your circumstances, God is inviting you to come up higher. Don't live in the valley of death and destroyed dreams. He will give you the strength and the wings of an eagle to soar up the mountain to greater heights in Him.

God answered Moses' cry by letting His goodness pass before him. After Moses descended, the very glory of God rested on him, causing his face to shine. Moses even had to wear a veil to hide the blinding brightness of God's glory.

Have You Cried Out to See the Face of God?

Have you, like Moses, cried out to see the face of God? It is not enough to have a "mountain top" experience or receive fresh revelation as Moses did! Moses wanted more.

He wanted friendship. He wanted intimacy. He wanted God Himself. There is something greater than receiving life-changing prophetic words, attending the latest of conferences, or seeing God's power explode in signs and wonders.

Nothing is greater in this life than being His friend. Is there a cry in you for a deeper friendship with God? God is calling for us to meet with Him face-to-face.

Prayer: Lord, the warfare has been so intense. In the storms of life, I want to run to you and not from you. What I have had before is just not enough. I need to see You face-to-face. I want to be Your friend and hear Your heart. Please encounter me, Lord!

Running to Him...Not from Him: Godly Fear

Exodus 14:31 - "And when the Israelites saw the great power the LORD displayed against the Egyptians, the people feared the LORD and put their trust in Him and in Moses, his servant."

Fear, or reverential awe of the Lord, should help us run to God rather than from God. Moses' encounter with God on Mount Sinai is an awesome example of how encountering God causes reverence and elation, rather than fear of rejection and spiritual boredom.

Moses ascended the great mountain of the Lord, shielded from the glare of life's non-essentials. This was the place where God is all that exists and all that matters. After the lightning and the rumblings on Mount Sinai, Moses returned and told the people something interesting. He said, "God has come to place His fear in you so that you might not sin."

Encountering Him

Godly fear is a reverential awe. It is realized with an encounter with an another-world, extra-dimensional, supernatural reality. And in that place of realization, it empowers our hearts to not settle on the lesser loves of this world.

We find casual, routine religion to be convenient. We find it to be pleasant. But this kind of religion fails to provide the average American parishioner, week in and week out, with the kind of spine-tingling, seat-of-the-pants, edge-of-the-seat environment that delivers us from lesser distractions. I don't want to go to church when I can predict every moment of the service. God is radical and unpredictable. He wants to bring in the suddenly of His personality. He wants to be able to model church after Moses' encounter on Mount Sinai.

When Moses went up onto Mount Sinai, he didn't think that he was going to have forty minutes of worship, then some announcements, and then the timed message. When God is in the house, nothing is predictable! If His presence is there, you are on the edge of your seat and you forget your watch. You don't know how much time has passed. God is there and that is all that matters. Do not let your hearts faint if there is a holy dissatisfaction burning in you. For the most radical encounters that you will have will be in the privacy of your own home in the secret place. You must contend for that something more and let that hunger drive you into a deeper intimacy with Him. Let's all cry out for our own Mount Sinai encounters with the Lord.

We must have more of You!

Prayer: Lord, I want to have a holy fear of Your awesomeness! Help me to climb the mountain, to encounter You, and not to settle for anything less than YOU alone. We welcome you back to our churches to ruin us for the ordinary. We must have Your presence or we will become dull and barren!

Transitions

Priscilla Van Sutphin

May 7th, 2004
tearsofthefather@comcast.net
www.upstreamca.org

I heard the word “transitions.”
1 a : passage from one state, stage, subject, or place to another : CHANGE b : a movement, development, or evolution from one form, stage, or style to another
2 – not relevant
3 : an abrupt change in energy state or level (as of an atomic nucleus or a molecule) usually accompanied by loss or gain of a single quantum of energy.

“ I have catapulted many of you into a state of transition to ready you for what I am about to do in changing your lives, that the promises I’ve made, and the plans I have for you may be accomplished. Transitions are hard.
Change is hard. But if you will yield fully to the purging I am doing, and to My leading, you will be so elated at the final stage ! You have no idea yet the beautiful thing I am doing, or how much I love you. I am so pleased with My progress you see. I am causing changes that will lead to UNITY and LOVE being made paramount in the body of Christ.

John 17:10-12 NKJV
10 And all Mine are Yours, and Yours are Mine, and I am glorified in them. 11 Now I am no longer in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to You. Holy Father, keep through Your name those whom You have given Me, that they may be one as We are.

John 17:15-26 Amplified
15 I do not ask that You will take them out of the world, but that You will keep and protect them from the evil one. 16 They are not of the world (worldly, belonging to the world), [just] as I am not of the world.
17 Sanctify them [purify, consecrate, separate them for Yourself, make them holy] by the Truth; Your Word is Truth.
18 Just as You sent Me into the world, I also have sent them into the world. 19 And so for their sake and on their behalf I sanctify (dedicate, consecrate) Myself, that they also may be sanctified (dedicated, consecrated, made holy) in the Truth.
20 Neither for these alone do I pray [it is not for their sake only that I make this request], but also for all those who will ever come to believe in (trust in, cling to, rely on) Me through their word and teaching,
21 That they all may be one, [just] as You, Father, are in Me and I in You, that they also may be one in Us, so that the world may believe and be convinced that You have sent Me.
22 I have given to them the glory and honor which You have given Me, that they may be one [even] as We are one:
23 I in them and You in Me, in order that they may become one and perfectly united, that the world may know and [definitely] recognize that You sent Me and that You have loved them [even] as You have loved Me.
24 Father, I desire that they also whom You have entrusted to Me [as Your gift to Me] may be with Me where I am, so that they may see My glory, which You have given Me [Your love gift to Me]; for You loved Me before the foundation of the world.
25 O just and righteous Father, although the world has not known You and has failed to recognize You and has never acknowledged You, I have known You [continually]; and these men understand and know that You have sent Me. 26 I have made Your Name known to them and revealed Your character and Your very Self, and I will continue to make [You] known, that the love which You have bestowed upon Me may be in them [felt in their hearts] and that I [Myself] may be in them.

I have told you in My Word, that if you come to know and understand the depth of My love for you, then you can be filled with the fullness of God !
(Eph 3:18) It is MY LOVE that leads to repentance. So as you pour out this love I've given you to those who don't know it. LOVE GROWS and is nurtured, and then they are able to receive it and give it. The Kingdom grows, because of shifts in belief. No longer will they believe the lies, because they will SEE and HEAR, and see DEMONSTRATED the LOVE of God that I have put in you. For love to be believed, it must be demonstrated.

If your mother or father constantly TOLD you they loved you, but didn't act like it. Would you believe them ? Wouldn't you doubt? And in fact many youth in this age feel a lack of love shown. Many others also are love starved. They need to have more than TALK. Talk does not convince anyone of love. It is self sacrifice and DEMONSTRATING IT, that influences change in people. People have had enough TALK. Empty talk has been quite prevalent in the church. I love you, God loves you, but no DEMONSTRATION. I still go home to my house and sleep quite comfortably while little children starve, while people are being killed. I sing and I dance, and celebrate, but where is the weeping ? Where is the rejoicing with those who rejoice, and weeping with those who weep ????
The world, and especially this generation which is the most knowledgeable yet, KNOWS WHEN PEOPLE ARE NOT BEING REAL ! THEY KNOW !

I want My church to reflect MY LOVE. NOT your own conditional love, but MY UNCONDITIONAL LOVE. I don't judge by the outside. I don't judge by actions even of others, but I LOOK AT THE HEART. I am WAITING for the church to RISE UP and call ME LORD of their lives ! I am waiting for the church to be perfected in love, so that unlike the priest and pharisee in the parable of the GOOD SAMARITAN, they will not pass by those who are in great need of healing and deliverance ! For some, I will just want you to be their friend, to show them love and care.

When you have MY LOVE, then you will FEEL the pain in others. You will see the pain and roots of pain, and be willing to lay down your life in the sense of praying with them, and helping them in whatever way I LEAD YOU TO DO !
You will follow ME and what I want, and not disdain those who are in need, because they cramp your style of living !

I am calling many of you to raise up houses and places of REFUGE for those who in the days ahead will need safety and security, and who will be used for harvesting. Do NOT listen to man, or to your own heart, but listen to ME !
Listen to how and where, and what I want to do. I will provide all that is needed for those whose heart is willing to serve, and not just be served.

The enemy is sowing seeds of doubt right now. He is trying to discredit many, to make them feel left out or confused about what I've told them.
DO NOT LISTEN TO THE NAYSAYERS, who say you can't do that ! THINK BIG My children. Do not think to LIMIT ME ! I AM NOT LIMITED. I CAN DO ANYTHING ! If I have told you something. WAR with that word ! Shout it from the rooftops and BELIEVE that I am ABLE to do what I tell you ! Just WAIT on ME for all the answers. I will not disappoint you. But you must not go ahead of Me, just wait on ME."

I've said that I love you with an EVERLASTING LOVE, and that My mercy endures FOREVER. Yet many think My mercy runs out. It never runs out for My own ! NEVER ! YOU are My favorites because you said YES to ME !
I will uphold all who are truly MINE. I LOVE YOU and I will not forsake My own children. I never CHANGE. My character remains consistent. MY LOVE NEVER RUNS OUT !

Intensive Care
Priscilla Van Sutphin

May 6th, 2004 12:30 am
www.upstreamca.org
tearsofthefather@comcast.net

The Lord said to me: “ Intensive Care” and many years ago I worked in Neonatal Intensive Care as a clinical nurse specialist. I can paint a picture for you of such a recipient of care there.

Perhaps a tiny premature on oxygen through a respirator breathing for him, delivering not only oxygen, but forcing his lungs to breathe properly.
IV’s in a major vein so as to be able to administer lipids and regular fluids, and maybe antibiotics. All kinds of padding to keep him in proper position because he can’t hold his head in place to breathe properly. Maybe he has a collection device under his buttocks to be able to measure output of urine. Sometimes, for me, the infants I worked with were those with cardiac surgery. So there was special monitoring devices besides heart monitoring. Blood pressure monitoring, and oxygen saturation monitoring. It was a scary site for parents to see their infants that way. As I remembered picturing such a scene. I felt the Lord had something to say that applies to us as the body of Christ.

“ Some of the people who are going to come to you in this awakening will be those who require ‘intensive care’. Their hearts have been broken and their minds have been tormented. Many will need resuscitation of their souls. Many will have been annihilated almost by the enemy through various pain and trials. Some are self-mutilating and some are so tormented, they will not be able to do everything on their own. They will need respiratory assistance. They will need ME, the breath of LIFE. And they might need artificial respiration for a while. They may need you to pump them full of oxygen and you may have to pray for them continuously to get them through the critical period. You will need teams of people to do this. You will have to work together. You will have to learn patience.

Right now, I am cleansing and purifying so I can pour into you My breath of LIFE in a most wonderful way ! I want you FULL of MY LOVE and LIFE, that you can impart life and love to others. You can only get this by coming to ME, and sitting at My feet. I want you full of the WORD that you can teach it rightly. I want you FULL of My love, that you will speak KINDLY, and with patience to those coming. They may not be familiar with how you speak around other Christians, so they will need instruction. You have to be KIND and patient with them in order to get them to the place of knowing how kind and gentle I AM.

Phil 4:5 NKJV Let your gentleness be known to all men. The Lord is at hand.
Phil 4:5 AMP Let all men know and perceive and recognize your unselfishness (your considerateness, your forbearing spirit). The Lord is near [He is coming soon].

Eph 3:17-19 NKJV ….that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; that you, being rooted and grounded in love, 18 may be able to comprehend with all the saints what is the width and length and depth and height — 19 to know the love of Christ which passes knowledge; that you may be filled with all the fullness of God.

Let Me breathe on you now, let My fire come, that I may burn off all the dross, all the mixture, all deception, all the hidden things that are left. Let me touch you and cleanse your hearts of all mistaken ideas about My righteousness and My faithfulness. Let me impart more love, that you would have a greater level of TRUST and FAITH in ME. I am here. I am waiting for you to still yourself. And to just rest with ME, and ask ME to come and bring My fire. For My fire will consume all that cannot withstand the test.

Jer 23:29-32 AMP Is not My word like fire [that consumes all that cannot endure the test] ? says the Lord, and like a hammer that breaks in pieces the rock [of most stubborn resistance] ?

Ps 46:10 NKJV Be still, and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the nations, I will be exalted in the earth!

Ps 4:4 NKJV
4 Be angry, and do not sin. Meditate within your heart on your bed, and be still. Selah

Speak the WORD over your circumstances, over your life and the life of your family and friends, and loved ones. SPEAK the WORD in prayer. SPEAK the WORD OF LIFE and it will bring LIFE to those you pray for.
PROPHESY the WORD and it will come to life ! Listen for what I want you to speak ! I am in you and will guide you as you listen for the still small voice of Your Adonai ! My WORD is LIFE to your soul and the souls of others.
STOP reacting to the arrows of the enemy and start STANDING FIRMLY on the WORD and the words of promise and hope I've spoken to you individually. Fight with prophecy. Speak the TRUTH and BELIEVE the TRUTH.

The fire of My love will cleanse, and heal and empower you to be all I want you to be. Don't be quick to remove yourself from My presence. TARRY a while and let ME touch you and hold you and renew your spirit, that you might gain strength for the day of battle. Let ME burn off all the flesh, so that what is left is a vessel purified as gold wrought in the furnace. Lay down all your concerns. Lay down all your fears. If I am for you, who can be against you ? Do not defend yourself against the arrows of the enemy through others by reacting in your flesh. ASK ME, and I will give you what to say. And I AM your Vindicator. I know when you need vindication, and I know when you need to just humble yourself and be quiet. For I know who is a fool, and who would trample you down. And I know who is worth speaking truth to.

Take the sword in your hands and use it to quench every attack of the evil one. And do not use it to beat up your fellow Christians. Use it to prophesy LIFE to the dry dead bones of the church. USE IT SKILLFULLY to help them to overcome. Remember that you war NOT against flesh and blood, but powers and principalities and spiritual wickedness. Your brother is not the enemy. It is what controls him that is the enemy. Encourage one another in FAITH. Stir up the gifts I have put in you ! USE THEM. Ask for those you still are longing for, and I will pour out My Spirit in you. "

Eph 6:13-20 AMPLIFIED
13 Therefore put on God's complete armor, that you may be able to resist and stand your ground on the evil day [of danger], and, having done all [the crisis demands], to stand [firmly in your place].
14 Stand therefore [hold your ground], having tightened the belt of truth around your loins and having put on the breastplate of integrity and of moral rectitude and right standing with God,
15 And having shod your feet in preparation [to face the enemy with the firm-footed stability, the promptness, and the readiness produced by the good news] of the Gospel of peace. [Isa 52:7.]
16 Lift up over all the [covering] shield of saving faith, upon which you can quench all the flaming missiles of the wicked [one].
17 And take the helmet of salvation and the sword that the Spirit wields, which is the Word of God.
18 Pray at all times (on every occasion, in every season) in the Spirit, with all [manner of] prayer and entreaty. To that end keep alert and watch with strong purpose and perseverance, interceding in behalf of all the saints (God's consecrated people).
19 And [pray] also for me, that [freedom of] utterance may be given me, that I may open my mouth to proclaim boldly the mystery of the good news (the Gospel), 20 For which I am an ambassador in a coupling chain [in prison. Pray] that I may declare it boldly and courageously, as I ought to do.

Endorsement
Priscilla Van Sutphin

May 9th, 2004 12:44 am
www.upstreamca.org
tearsofthefather@comcast.net

Main Entry: en·dorse·ment Function: noun 1 : the act or process of endorsing ENDORSE:
Etymology: alteration of obsolete endoss, from Middle English endosen, from Middle French endosser, from Old French, to put on the back, from en- + dos back, from Latin dorsum 1 a : to write on the back of; especially : to sign one's name as payee on the back of (a check) in order to obtain the cash or credit represented on the face b : to inscribe (one's signature) on a check, bill, or note c : to inscribe (as an official document) with a title or memorandum d : to make over to another (the value represented in a check, bill, or note) by inscribing one's name on the document e : to acknowledge receipt of (a sum specified) by one's signature on a document 2 : to approve openly ; especially : to express support or approval of publicly and definitely synonym see APPROVE

" I the Lord Your God do NOT endorse wickedness ! I do NOT endorse cheating, ridicule, prejudice, domination, control, humiliation of other human beings, abuse of others, murder, theft, or rape, whether physical rape, or spiritual rape, or emotional rape of other people ! This nation has proudly flaunted it's degradation in the face of all nations of the earth. You have sold pornography to the nations prostituting yourselves. And causing others to prostitute themselves ! What you need to do most is to REPENT and to HUMBLE yourselves in the eyes of the Living GOD.

When this nation went to war, one part against another many years ago, the president then humbled himself and called and established a day of prayer and fasting and THANKSGIVING ! THAT is true HUMILITY !

If you want to see the nations changed, then YOU MUST CHANGE ! YOU NEED REVIVAL IN YOUR OWN HEART if you want to see it in the heart of other nations ! I do not placate sin. I understand weakness. I understand the things that happen in people's lives that cause them to sin. BUT I DO NOT CONDONE SIN ! Even as you read this you will be offended at the word SIN because this nation has rationalized so much of it's SIN, in order to appease MEN with wicked hearts and minds ! Even many in my church have wanted to be politically correct !

This COMPROMISE has reached a place of fullness in My church, and it will be expulsed in the coming days. I WILL HAVE A SPOTLESS BRIDE AND NOT A PROSTITUTE ! Spiritually many are prostitutes because they are unwilling to confront the sin in their own church. Many will not confront pastors when they think themselves unworthy to even approach them, when they are just men like you, but have made themselves as more than men. In fact many have become idols to the people. And MY PEOPLE LOVE TO HAVE IT SO ! They continue to play the harlot with fear of MAN and IDOLATRY to man, such that it permeates many structures in the church of America. Your PRIDE has blinded you to the conditions in your hearts.

America the Beautiful used to be a revered song. But why do you suppose it is no longer revered My people ? Could it be because of SHAME that has filled the land for the harlotry that abounds in this nation ? Could it be that it seems inappropriate to sing about it being beautiful when it is full of shame and bigotry, greed, perversion, and murder ? You continue to murder unborn babies demonstrating you have no value for LIFE that I HAVE CREATED, then wonder why youth have no value for their own lives and murder each other and other people without thought. You teach them that they have no value eternally by teaching them evolution, then wonder when they are teenagers why they are depressed ! Many of them have been neglected by parents who are more concerned with their own careers and pleasures, and you wonder why they are ANGRY and rebellious ! People who call themselves by MY NAME do the same as those in the world. People who have no shame to parade themselves lustfully and licentiously on TV and videos, pretend to have relationship with Me, and get up in front of everyone giving thanks to ME, as if I wanted them to become self-idolatrous , as if I honored their lewdness and proclivity to wickedness and lust !

Men in pulpits, for years have denigrated themselves by belonging to freemasonry, while professing to serve ME ! Men in pulpits have purported to teach others righteousness, when they have committed adultery, and had homosexual affairs, and sexually molested children. And you wonder that other nations have no respect for you ! You wonder when other nations have no respect for you when your values have made a market in Thailand, for example, for prostitution with children, by visiting "tourists" and businessmen. You wonder why other nations hate you, when you have devalued things they value more, like family.

THIS DAY I am coming to you in a new way. Judgment begins in the house of the Lord. And I am coming to make all things NEW. I AM DOING A NEW THING in the earth. The bowls of wickedness are overflowing, and My judgments will come MORE swiftly to the wicked.

I am saying all this to impress you with the fact that you must have REVIVAL in your own hearts in order to see it in others. CRY OUT, SHOUT ALOUD ! REND YOUR HEARTS, and not your garments ! HUMBLE YOURSELVES that I can be PRE-EMINENT ! ASK and you will receive. KNOCK and the door will be opened. But if you resist My wooings and yearnings for intimacy, you will suffer consequences I would rather you didn't ! STOP and evaluate your own hearts. CRY out in prayer and I will meet you there !

CRY OUT FOR THE LOST and not just those in the church ! WHEN YOU LOVE others the way you love yourselves, then you will value what I value !

I LOVE MY PEOPLE ! BUT I CREATED ALL OF MANKIND. I WANT THEM ALL TO LEARN OF MY LOVE. How can they learn it when you yourselves don't even believe it ? How can they know it if you yourselves, don't even know how to stop and take time for the people you see every day ? REACH OUT TO OTHERS and I will reach out to you ! REVIVAL will come in the one-another’s ! PRAY for your leaders who have found that they are but men. PRAY FOR THIS NATION that people will humble themselves before they are humbled !

Transition Requires Boldness

Clay Sikes

September 19th, 2004
In late 2002, early 2003 we began to hear prophetically that we had entered a time in which Ishmael and Isaac could no longer live in the same house. We are watching a great separation take place in the Body of Christ worldwide. This separation produces a spiritual phenomenon: works of the flesh attacking works of the Spirit with a new level of intensity. As God's remnant Body moves into its call to "Sonship" (Romans 8:14), the attacks against this remnant will intensify, often coming from the most unlikely of sources - those with whom we have a close relationship. The initial thrust of the attack is to keep us from moving into the higher dimension. Its intent is containment. Containment will attempt to exploit any weakness in our spiritual makeup, often playing upon our fears, traditions, soulish relationships, and legalistic religious interpretation of scripture. When Satan cannot contain us with sins of the flesh, he moves into the subtle world of the spirit, keeping us out of God's divine destiny by playing upon our DOUBT! Doubt produces disobedience and disobedience is sin.

Those being prepared to breakout of the "old wineskin" in search of "new wine," will face much resistance, but "we are not ignorant of Satan's devices used to gain advantage over humans." Those who will make this break will be those who REFUSE to get their direction from the arena of logic and reason, who have learned to hear God and obey, and WHO HAVE COMPLETELY OVERCOME THEIR FEAR OF MAN. This writing is to encourage those on the precipice of a genuine breakthrough. A breakthrough will beget a breakout, and a breakout will produce destiny (Revelation 18:4). All breakthroughs require courage and trust (Read Joshua Chapter One). As my friend Robert McKnight often says, "You will always have what you have always had, if you always do what you have always done!" A God ordered breakout requires that you take a bold step. God will give you the courage and the ability if you will ask Him.

Have you felt in your heart that you were powerfully being led to something out of the ordinary for you - something so different that it produces spiritual excitement, and yet a form of fear in the natural? BREAKOUT! Your time to move has come. Your time to oppose those forces aligned against you is here. Take the step now without fear. "With wisdom get understanding." Wisdom is the direction of God, while understanding is the 'how to.' God will show you what to do and how to do it, but you must take that first step.

God is calling His Church to a dimension beyond the simple joy of being Spirit-filled Christians: He is calling us into the dimension of being Spirit-led Christians. As the prophet Joel so accurately saw, "His Spirit is being poured out on all flesh." For years I limited this prophetic scripture to a one-dimensional evangelistic view of many souls being added to the Kingdom, and I do think that to be so; but I now see an additional prophetic dimension that includes God's Spirit being poured out more upon my own flesh individually. We, as individuals, have more of God's Spirit available to us than ever, as our flesh succumbs to the power of the Holy Spirit.

As we grow in the things of the Spirit, so too will the things of the flesh come to oppose – this is as natural as a fish swimming in the sea, and this will be so until the end of time. Don't be caught unaware as to where this resistance can come from: expect this from your friends, expect it from your family, expect it from your pastor, or others from whom you least expect it. Expect it! Resist it! Overcome it! BECOME MORE THAN A CONQUORER! Move on up and into the higher dimension with God. Be Bold!

Everything Hidden Is Being Revealed
Clay Sikes

www.lighthouseprophecy.com
Sep 23, 2004
For spiritual and physical reasons, Tracy and I, led of the Lord, decided our childbearing years to be behind us. As such, I recently had a vasectomy, a surgical procedure that prevents pregnancy. As I sat in the medical clinic awaiting the Doctor, a young nurse arrived and told me to disrobe from the waist down and climb up on a nearby table and wrap myself with a paper like covering. When she left the room I quickly undressed and got under the makeshift covering. When she returned she busily prepared the Doctor's tray with all the instruments necessary for the procedure.

When she had finished and left the room again, I remember thinking how glad I was in having some privacy. To my surprise she returned again shortly and directed me to put my feet in the stirrups at the end of the table. As I began to lift my feet toward the stirrups I stopped in mid air in fear that she (the nurse) might see my private parts. Again, she ordered me to put my feet in the stirrups, and again I was reluctant for fear of exposing myself. I had never imagined that anyone but the Doctor would be in the room, and even that was a bit disarming, but never did I anticipate that anyone else would be present. Retrospectively, I do not know why I thought this when nurses have been present in every hospital procedure I have ever been involved with. As with the inner private parts of myself (my heart), I simply never imagined having to be exposed.

Now, for the third time she directed my feet to the stirrups and since I figured she could not see me from where she was standing, I now felt safe to raise my feet as directed. As soon as I did, to my shock she approached the table and lifted the makeshift sheet and began to apply disinfectant to the surgical area, my most private of parts. Now I was totally exposed! Soon the Doctor entered the room, as did another nurse. Now I am out there for the world to see! I thought, "how humiliating can this get?" As I prayed, I felt God's peace descend and the nervousness leave. What an odd time to sense something prophetic, yet I heard His gentle voice say, "Everything that has been hidden is now being revealed. Just as your physical parts are being exposed, so too are the inner most parts of your being; those places that you deem the most private, those that you deem to never expose. If you will willingly expose these private parts (within you), they too will become infertile and unable to birth what is not of me."

Soon the procedure was over and I was home for a restful weekend. As I shared this experience in Church today, almost spontaneously, others began to reveal their inner most parts; elements of their makeup that their peers could not see. A purging took place in all who were there, and individually and corporately, we came away refreshed and cleansed. We denied the power that had worked against us to work against us any longer, because we exposed what previously had been hidden - what a powerful experience! What a revelation!

For the last several weeks God has repeatedly said to me "Everything hidden is being revealed." He has shown me things about myself that needed to be exposed and confessed to others, as well as things that I didn't even realize were there - they too needed to be confessed. As He revealed a deeper understanding of the "rest" of God, He showed me that which remains "hidden" in us robs us of the rest, which robs us of any form of restoration (Isaiah 30:15).

We have entered a season in which everything hidden is being revealed; a season in which God the Father is saying (to us) to open up the private parts of our hearts and expose them so that we may be cleansed and purged of all unrighteousness. Our willingness to expose these private parts (of ourselves) will purge us of the very things that hinder and hold us from our true calling and destiny. As Arthur Burt has said on many occasions, "We must own the truth about ourselves to disown it." God is telling us to reveal what is in us - the unclean, the unsightly, so He will not have to. It is far better that we do this on our terms rather than His, and if we are willing, He will see to it that a proper venue avails itself for just an occasion.

God has brought us to a place of purging and cleansing our hearts. For years we have hidden behind the moniker of Christian; and for years we have played the part; doing and saying all the right things (on the outside), while we struggled with major heart issues (on the inside). For those who will embrace this truth, deliverance is at hand. For those who continue to hide these heart issues, a major wakeup call is forthcoming! God is getting His people ready, and a major part of our readiness is getting the inside right. This word is especially true for pastors and church leaders who have remained in hiding for years.

We are called in this hour to openly expose the inside, in all of its rottenness, in order to be set free. Most of us have spent our entire Christian lives covering up the inside, the real us; yet now we are hearkened by the Spirit of God to openly reveal what is in us - selfishness, lust, greed, fear, vanity, jealousy, pride, etc.,

If you are a 'called' man or woman of God, I ask you to judge the prophetic timing and truth that "What has been hidden is about to be revealed." The necessity in revealing the truth of these hidden things is to render them POWERLESS and INEFFECTIVE in your life. As long as they are hidden, they are able to impregnate you with (their) poison and cause you to miss God's best and your destiny. Only pride and stubbornness will stop this revelation from producing the greatest liberty ever known to man. Layers of pride protect the most private parts of our being, yet these are the very parts that the Holy Spirit desires to expose by His Spirit. It will take courage and humility to take this next step, but FOR THOSE THAT WILL; you will be guided from the natural into the supernatural, and from the mundane to a life of destiny. For those who will not, "Pride comes before a fall."

As I am now infertile due to my exposure (vasectomy), so too will the hidden issues in your heart (be rendered powerless) when you humbly and courageously expose them.

Tremendous Change

Priscilla Van Sutphin

Dec 30th, 2003 2:00 am
www.upstreamca.org

These are days of catapulting and launching into the times that will culminate the end of all time. You are about to be shaken and stirred, changed and rearranged.
Yes, I am changing the furniture around in My church. I am changing assignments with those I love. I am changing and rearranging so that all that I've told will be fulfilled.
I'm a Master organizer…I designed the heavens and the earth, so nothing, nothing, nothing is impossible with ME! NOTHING can stand in the way My beloveds of these days I have prepared for you.

You are coming out of the caves, and it is time to see the LIGHT of the SON! You are about to get a spectacular view of the things to come.
It will come in surprising ways, and you will wonder when you look back, that you could have doubted or considered My words to you as your own flesh.
What you will experience, is nothing that you can compare to anything.
So don't even try to speculate. It will come, and it will come swiftly and just on time. You will see the wisdom in all I have done, and your eyes will be more opened to the wisdom of what I am calling you to do, once I have helped slay the giants in your land; in your minds and hearts. Everything that is not of ME, will be laid waste in those who have been willing to count the cost.

Know that I am WITH you and will be with you MORE in the most wonderful way. Rejoice, and again I say REJOICE for what I am about to do, though you can't see it yet…Be filled with thankfulness and praise and spend yourselves on ME, that I may fill you up in the midst of the worship! I love you like no other loves you! And I am bringing to fulfillment many of your dreams and desires and the alignments that are important to fulfilling MY goals. Don't be afraid of the changes I call you to! Let ME take the helm, for I know what is best don't I. I know what lies ahead! Let go of all the control and TRUST ME with your lives. I AM ARISING IN YOU! I WILL BE SEEN UPON YOU BY THE MASSES! They may doubt now, but when I'm done with the finishing touches, My how you will shine and lay waste all the doubt of the mockers. Many will change and come to the LIGHT OF MY GLORY, but there will also be the stubborn, that though mountains fall in their presence, would not give in. I will separate the wheat from the chaff in your perception and vision, that you will know who to spend time on and who not.

You WILL increase in discernment again, because the old strongholds, and old fodder will be done away with, and you'll be able to see and hear more clearly. KNOW that I am in the still small voice! Not the voice of harshness, not to My beloveds. Remember those who stood with Moses wanting to hear for themselves? Remember how they BEGGED him to be their mediary, after they heard for themselves? For it was powerful and terrible to their ears. They only prepared 3 days…and then many ran away, unable to handle the presence and sound of My voice.

Remember Gideon, how when they shouted, the enemy's camp was thrown into confusion? Do not think I have not had a plan for all those who oppose me. YOU WILL DO GREAT EXPLOITS because I will be with you even MORE in measure and you will not look back except to laugh that you could have doubted My goodness towards you!

Flexibility is a tool of the great warrior, because a warrior must be prepared for changes in the strategies of the enemy. Flexibility will enable you to say YES, when I call for a dramatic change, without doubting! If I say go to the train station and take a trip from New York to Mexico, or a plane from France to South Africa, you will do it without hesitating. I will be giving you more specific directions. And nothing will be withheld from your hands as the GLORY of My presence touches you. Whatever your need, so long as you are willing to obey, will be met. Do not question, do not doubt!

Remember Zachariah, the father of John the Baptist, how he doubted, and then lost his voice? Keep your hearts from the things of this world. For they are all perishable. But YOU are My jewels and I will make you to walk on the high hills of the earth.

Authority is coming, a new authority, and a new HOLINESS, that will not be moved, that will not go backwards…that will not give in to the ploys of the enemy. I have golden scepters to hand out to many that will obey my command to GO, and you will see the things your hearts have longed to see, in greater measure than you've imagined.

Honestly come before ME and let ME take all the issues of your life and heal them and make you WHOLE! Come and behold My beauty, for I am Your King and Your delight and YOU ARE MINE! I will shower you with blessings and abundance, once I have purged My threshing floor, and you will go forth like prophets and apostles of old with courage and filled with My power to heal and deliver. Even if people forsake helping you, I will see to it that your needs are met.

Even the ravens fed Elijah, so keep your eyes on ME and your ears on My chest. Like My SON, you will not lack what you NEED, and power and authority will be given to those wanting HIS character, not just His hand.

Like My apostles, you will not go alone. Those who have been alone, will no longer be lonely. I will be with you, and I will yoke you with others that you may be MORE effective in all you do together. Wherever two or more are together, I am in your midst. Do not yield to competition and petty jealousies, for it will destroy those who yield to it now. Understand that My goodness is towards EVERYONE. I am not willing that ANY should perish.
All judging will be turned to LOVE! All suspicion and doubt will be turned to FAITH. All depression and sadness will be turned to JOY. I have given you BEAUTY for ashes, and the JOY of the LORD will be your strength. Come and rejoice at the adventure that lies ahead of you.

Glimpses Of Eternity
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Upstream Ministries
Tustin, CA
http://www.upstreamca.org
tearsofthefather@comcast.net

When My Kingdom invades the present, there is revival. I am giving you glimpses of eternity in the things I am pouring out this next year. There will be a reoccurrence of the supernatural in powerful bursts of flames of living fire in My beloveds.

You will experience SURGES of My Spirit in waves like electricity, that will annihilate the strongholds of the enemy in your midst. Do not be remiss about keeping the disciplines of daily living. Wash your feet daily. Put on your armor DAILY. Do not forget the little things. The enemy seeks to take full advantage of the hour. Keep HIDDEN in ME.

Glory of enormous magnitude cleanses and delivers, but it comes as a sword, if you are not willing to be healed. For the one who opposes MY Spirit's work, will suffer terribly and be given over to a reprobate mind. My sword comes to deliver. My sword comes to heal and transform and to save. But to those who oppose me in their hearts, and pretend and lie, it will divide. I am separating the precious from the worthless. Keep your minds STAYED on ME. Keep your eyes and ears from perversion and destruction.

Isa 33:14-17 NKJV
14 The sinners in Zion are afraid; Fearfulness has seized the hypocrites: "Who among us shall dwell with the devouring fire? Who among us shall dwell with everlasting burnings?" 15 He who walks righteously and speaks uprightly, He who despises the gain of oppressions, Who gestures with his hands, refusing bribes, Who stops his ears from hearing of bloodshed, and shuts his eyes from seeing evil: 16 He will dwell on high; His place of defense will be the fortress of rocks; Bread will be given him, His water will be sure. 17 The Land of the Majestic King Your eyes will see the King in His beauty; They will see the land that is very far off.

You have cried out to have more of Me, and I am doing that, but it is painful to die. The flesh resists the death to self and fights. But I will help you if you remain in ME. I will do it in you and you will be freed to be all you desire to be.

Many of you will experience the beauty realm as never before and be taken into the halls of My Kingdom to see the treasures I have stored up for those who are faithful. Many who disdain the prophetic will be turned around sovereignly by MY hand to realize that they have believed a lie, and will repent and be filled with My Spirit and whole churches and movements will be affected.

Those who are in opposition again, will be judged expediently to keep My people from being discouraged from going into the harvest fields and bringing for in the sheaves. I am enabling the BODY of Christ to move and have their being in ME, that the LOST will be harvested. Many in the cults will be saved and transformed and draw others with them.

Remember to be patient with the new believers I will bring in and prepare your churches and homes to receive them as you would receive ME. They are precious in My site. They will need sound teachers, so I am now raising up those with teaching anointing to prepare them with the milk and MEAT of My word. I will give you wisdom and provision to clean the FISH that I bring in. Many will be harvested sovereignly by MY SPIRIT, and will have great need to understand and learn. So what I’ve told you to WRITE…Write and walk in faith! For I will bring the provision to publish and to secure all that is needed to advance MY KINGDOM.

Witches, Warlocks and Vampires
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Jan 3rd, 2004 0042 hrs

Have you a heart for the forsaken and wicked that I want to bring into My kingdom? I am bringing you the outcasts of society and asking that rather than rejecting them by what they have done, and how they have dressed, to LOVE them with MY LOVE. I died for all sins, did I not? I drew to Myself, those who others did not care for. I did not mistreat them, nor did I reject them. Are you free yourself from all hatred, unforgiveness, fear, pride, control and unbelief, that you will be able to deliver those who are in bondage to these spirits? If you want authority over the darkness, that darkness must not be in YOU. Many who are schizophrenic and filled with perversion will come. But will you be able to overlook the sin, and love what I SEE IN THEM? Will you change your religious garments for garments of mercy and tenderness like Mine? If you will ask for MY EYES, MY ears, and My heart, then you will be able to see them and treat them as I would. Not by might, not by power, but by MY Spirit says the Lord! If you go by what’s been done before, you will fail. For the church has already failed to love the unloveable and outcasts. But if you will ask ME for new eyes to see with…I will anoint them with salve and I will purify your heart from the legalism and self-righteousness and give you new hearts to feel what I feel, and new eyes to see what I see….and new ears to hear what I hear.

If you can do this, then you will have the discernment to know when someone is unchangeable and reprobate vs transformable! But unless you give up your judging and accusations you will not have the discernment I give….because your opinions will be in the way.

The broken reed, I will not break. You don't heal a broken reed by breaking it further. You love on it…you nurture it, like a mother to a newborn child. You are patient with it, just like a growing toddler. You speak with love, and not suspicion and accusation. You trust ME with them. I AM ABLE to do so much MORE than you have given me credit for. I will be transforming people in a TOUCH! I am accelerating and I am anticipating that you will be willing to adhere to dependency on ME for all things…all knowledge, understanding and wisdom. In this way, you won't let your opinions get in the way. MERCY triumphs over judgment! With the merciful, I will show Myself merciful!

James 2:13 NKJV For judgment is without mercy to the one who has shown no mercy. Mercy triumphs over judgment.

James 3:17-18 NKJV But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, willing to yield, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy. 18 Now the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace by those who make peace.

Worship is the premier weapon against witchcraft that is arising in the earth. So yield yourself to worship in Spirit and in truth. Come and worship and bow down. I will keep you in the shadow of My wings. Be NOT afraid of those I send you. For if I am FOR you, who can be against you? Am I not much greater than all that opposes you? Lay down all your fears and put all your trust in ME.

I am a Warrior KING and I will take in hand all who have lifted their voices against ME. You are NOT alone in this battle. Greater are those who are with you, than those who are in the world. Whenever two or more are gathered in My name, I am in their midst.

A new government is arising, a new form, a new thing I will do! Radical changes are about to erupt. So fasten your seatbelt. I am taking you to new places in ME. The unity that comes with this move, will not be in the format, but in the hearts of men. You will know each other by the FRUITS of My Spirit. You will no longer judge as the world judges; by the external appearance of others. If you will look to ME, I will give you the love you need for those different from yourselves.

Priscilla Van Sutphin Upstream Ministries www.upstreamca.org

The Red Horse
Stephen Hanson

Nov. 20, 2004

"When the Lamb opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature say, "Come!" Then another horse came out, a fiery red one. Its rider was given power to take peace from the earth and to make men slay each other. To him was given a large sword. " Rev. 6:3-4

"How awful that day will be! None will be like it. It will be a time of trouble for Jacob, but he will be saved out of it." Jer. 30:7

"This area in which you live is "on safe ground." The time will come when America will be attacked. Those things that many are planning to prevent these things from happening will fail. For plans are being made by those who wish that America would be abolished. I tell you that difficult days are ahead. These days will begin during the next year.   For surely , you will be attacked and others will enter into another war with you.   Those whose hearts are true to Me will be saved. Jacob's Trouble will begin soon after these things. "

"I will save my people and I will be there in times of trouble. Those who run to Me will be on 'safe ground' but those who continue to shut their ears to Me will be in for trouble. I tell you that the red horse has come and will continue to ride upon the land."

"Focus On The Holy Land"
Stephen Hanson

Nov. 13, 2004

“Then you will be handed over to be persecuted and put to death and you will be hated by all nations because of me.” Matt. 24: 9

“Now learn this lesson from the fig tree. As soon as its twigs get tender and its leaves come out, you know that summer is near. Even so, when you see all these things, you know that it is near, right at the door. “ Matt. 24: 32-33

“I am the God of the past, present, and future. I am involved in the affairs of man. I am there in all of the dealings that you have in this life. Over the last few years there has been a movement afoot. It is a movement that would take all of your rights and privileges away. It is an attempt to take my place out of your life. It is an attempt to put government at the place of God. I tell you that there is a secret society at work attempting to do these things. What can be done, and how can these things be abolished? They will not be entirel y abolished for the time reaches forward to the prophetic table that underlines the events that will take place. For you will be hated by others and handed over to the courts. I have spoken of the fig tree and how when its branches get tender that it is soon time. I tell you that that time is approaching. The death of Yassar Arafat is a sign of some new developments in that land. For unrest will take precedence over national security. When you see a new leader come to the forefront then the prophetic timetable will begin there. There is much that is centered on the Holy Land. For over the centuries Israel has been my promised land, but when it is invaded then you will know that these things are taking place. "

"Soon And Coming Signs"
Stephen Hanson

Nov. 7, 2004

"For it is time for judgment to begin with the family of God; and if it begins with us, what will the outcome be for those who do not obey the gospel of God?" 1 Pe. 4:17

"I tell you the truth, this generation will certainly not pass away until all these things have happened. " Matt. 24: 34

"But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days. People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, proud, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy, without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God...." 2 Tim. 1-4

"I tell you that the time is coming when men's hearts will fail them because of the things that are coming upon the earth, but those who are strong will shine like the stars in the heavens. You have heard that wars are coming, I am telling you that a great war is coming. I tell you that many in churches now do not believe that I am coming soon. They follow a prescribed belief that it is way off in the future. I have said that this is that last generation. Many have spoken of the birth pangs that have come upon the earth. I tell you that many have already come, but there is more yet to come. Some know that I come back to judge my church first. Know this: That I have been judging my church first over the last few years. I tell you that now it is time to begin judgment upon the earth. So what is the judgment that will come upon the earth? What are the impending signs that judgment has begun? You will see them because it will be so plain to your eyes. The whole earth will see these signs because of the media coverage of these events. The signs of wickedness will continue. Mothers will give-up their babies to trash collectors. ; Politics will take precedence over ethics. Riots will form-out in many of the streets of your major cities. The love of many will wax cold. There will be signs in the heavens and on the earth below. You will witness these signs as they flash across your TV screens. These signs will come and they will usher in the return of my Son Jesus Christ. "

Stephen Hanson

Time Restraints

Carolyn Spears

(cpryr@hotmail.com)

My children, stand and listen for I would tell you a thing that you have yet to consider. Quiet yourselves and listen, for I desire that you still your thoughts and still your hearts. It is not My desire that you run to and fro in anxious thoughts for I have told you that I have come to give you life and life more abundantly. I have told you that My peace have I given you, yet you do not walk in this peace.

Do you not understand that you cannot judge things according to your sight? Nor can you judge according to your understanding. My children, you say things like, "Why is God taking so long?" and "It will be too late if something doesn't happen soon!" But I would tell you that it is not so, for you have said in these statements that I am limited. Yet I say, nothing is impossible to Me, and through Me all things are possible.

Look and understand at what your words are saying My children, for in them you say that I am restrained and dictated by time, and again I say not so! Do you not really know and understand that time is not something that dictates to Me but is something that I dictate?

I am the Eternal God, the One Who was and is and is to come, and time itself cannot hold all of Who I Am. You know time as a restraint. Even in this I say you err, for each of you have been born into the generation that I have set for you to be born, and this is but one step in an eternal life that you have in Me. This life is not a restraint, but an opportunity to fulfill all that I have purposed and destined.

My children look at your lives and see where you have been. See where you have come to and know that I am not restrained in where you can and will go if you will allow it. These restraints are not the boundaries that I choose for you, they are of your own choosing and words. Look to Me, look to Who I Am and know that I stand outside of any and all restraints that circumstances and others may be trying to bind you to.

My children, I have said that I know the thoughts and plans that I have for you, thoughts of good and not of evil, to give you a future and a hope. Look at these restraints; do they testify of this? Or do they speak contrary to this? If so, then they are not of Me and you must not accept or embrace them. I am your creator and I alone know who you were made to be and all the potential and glorious destiny that I have for you. Still your thoughts, still your hearts, look not at the circumstances nor at time as a restraint to what I am doing.

Look to Me, My children. Look to the fact that even time must bow to My purpose and is only a vessel in My hand to do all that I purpose. My children, check your hearts and come to Me and ask for direction. Ask for wisdom and understanding, for I desire for you to be free from this limitation and restraint.

Oh My children, I desire so much more for you; you are created and you are destined for so much more. Lift up your eyes to Me, the One who is your help, and see with new eyes and new understanding. Do you see Me as the One who was and is and is to come? Do you see Me as the Eternal God, the One who stands outside of time? For in this view you will see and you will know that nothing is impossible with Me!

The Revealing of Christ

Milt Rodriguez

> " . . . that their hearts may be encouraged, having been knit together in love, and attaining to all the wealth that comes from the full assurance of understanding, resulting in a true knowledge of God's mystery, that is, Christ Himself, in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge." Colossians 2:2, 3

The Need for Revelation

Our perceptions of Christ are way too narrow. We think in terms that are way too small. He is so much greater than any of our mental pictures of Him. He is so much more glorious than any of our doctrinal concepts or religious boxes that we have tried to put Him in. We are talking here about God whose riches are unsearchable, whose depths are unfathomable, and whose heights are unscalable. He will always break every kind of mold that we try to fit Him into. We definitely need to have our vision enlarged.

The Mystery of God

Paul tells us in the letter to the Colossians that God has a secret. Inside of the "secret" are hidden all of the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. Wow! Think of that. There is a secret (or mystery) and inside of that secret are hidden treasures! A secret within a secret. It almost sounds like that treasure that was hidden in a field that the Lord talked about. God's secret is Christ Himself! And in Him are hidden all of these treasures. Spiritual knowledge and wisdom are to be found inside of a Person. We keep looking for them inside of our own minds. We keep using the tool of human reasoning and logic to come up with the knowledge we are seeking. We search the scriptures, paste together verses, think about them a whole lot, and then come up with our doctrines. Yet all spiritual knowledge is hidden and locked up away inside of a Person. And that Person is God's mystery! It seems to me that God wanted to make sure that these "treasures" didn't get out to just anyone.

Does God Wear Son-glasses?

Jesus said in Matthew 11:27, that no one knows the Son except the Father and no one knows the Father except the Son and the ones to whom He wills to reveal Him. You cannot know the Son unless the Father reveals Him to you. When Peter made the proclamation that Jesus was the Christ, the Son of the living God, Jesus told him that it was not flesh and blood, but rather His Father that revealed this to Peter. This is an initial revelation that all believers must have to be born from above. We must spiritually see that Christ is the Son of God. However, this is not the only revelation we need from the Father.

We also need the revelation that Paul shared in Galatians 1:15, 16. He told the Galatians that it pleased God to reveal His Son in me. This is a revelation that is desperately needed among believers today. Let's take a closer look at this statement made by Paul.

First of all, we see that it pleased the Father to reveal His Son in Paul. God is very happy and passionate about revealing His Son. In fact, He is waiting on the edge of His seat, so to speak, to reveal His Son in each and every one of us. Not only that, but His favorite thing to do is reveal, display, express, and glorify His Son. Everything He does is with this goal in mind. This is what He "dreams" about. This is what He longs for. This is what motivates Him to get "out of bed" every morning! He only has eyes for His Son. You could say that He wears Son-glasses! He wants to reveal His Son in you right now.

The second thing to notice is that He wants to reveal His Son. This is all about a relationship between a Father and a Son. The "cement" or glue that holds their relationship together is the Holy Spirit. God never does anything in a vacuum. Everything He does and everything He says stems from His relationship with His Son. It's a Son that He wants to reveal in you.

The Son in You!

The third thing that we need to see here is that this revelation is an unveiling of a Person who lives within you. This is more than awesome. This is so much more than incredible! This glorious, most magnificent Son in whom God has invested all His hopes and dreams; in whom God has hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge; in whom God has placed all of who His is and all of what He has done; in whom God has deposited all of His attributes, expression, and increase; it is this all inclusive One that He has placed inside of you! And now He so earnestly desires to reveal this same Son who is in you, to you!

This is a never ending revelation. This is a revelation that will be unveiling for the rest of eternity. You can never finish exploring the depths of the Christ who lives within you. God wants to not only reveal His Son to you; He also wants to reveal His Son through you! He wants to display and express all the glories of His Son to those around you by them looking at you. You are His unique expression. Open up yourself to Him and allow His life to flow out. The Father is so pleased to reveal His Son in you.

The Righteousness of Godly Reverence
Arlette Pollard

Revelation 15:4

Heard throughout the nations
Is the sound of a holy proclamation
As God’s voice from on high
Declares men are unified
Through the Spirit
Who stilled the waters of His creation.

Men of every tribe and nation
Magnify the Lord of your salvation
Let His perfect love
Fill your life with wisdom from above
So that you live each day
Free from death’s condemnation
As a holy testimony to this generation.

Revealed throughout the heavens
Is evidence of God’s perfect declaration
Which proclaims a new day has dawned
Risen with the truth of God’s Son
So men are awakened
To the hour of their salvation.

Men standing within the grace of heaven
Rejoice in the hour of your liberation
From out of the bondage of night
Through His glorious Light
Where judgment is aligned
With the One who inspires
Those who stand within God’s gates of salvation.

> “Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? For thou only art holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy judgments are made manifest.” Revelation 15:4
>
> “And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell. Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? And one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows. Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven.” Matthew 10:28-33

Blessed is the man who determines within his heart, to seek no other foundation to stand upon than the knowledge and truth that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, purposed of the Lord to redeem mankind from the penalty of sin, which is death. The man who stands upon the sure foundational truth of righteousness found in Jesus Christ, who has experienced the reward of the faithful, which is the Holy Spirit, will magnify the Lord within his heart. Receiving the infilling of God’s Holy Spirit, will cause the man to walk under the wisdom and counsel of God, with the understanding that to stand upon any other foundational truth than the righteousness found in Christ, is to stand upon a foundation that is sure to crumble and fall back into the darkness of chaos and destruction from where it originated.

A man who walks in the counsel of God, led of the Spirit, filled with the heavenly “riches of his grace,” will understand the foolishness of those who gather up stumbling stones of pride and self-exaltation, in trying to build further upon the foundational truth of what Jesus Christ has accomplished through His life, death, and resurrection. He will understand that pride and self-exaltation are as wood, hay and stubble, which God desires to consume by His sanctifying Spirit of holiness.

As God’s sanctifying Spirit continues to move in power and authority upon a man’s life, so that the deeds of the flesh aligned with the carnal, Adamic nature, are put to death, humbleness, mercy and longsuffering will rise up from where there was once anger, jealously and unforgiveness. The fear of the Lord will be an understanding brought about by experiencing the power of God’s Spirit, crucifying thoughts aligned with unbelief. His fear of the Lord will cause him to sincerely reverence God, so that his feet stay upon the sure path of righteousness.

Having encountered the power of the living God through the Holy Spirit, a man will obtain wisdom to understand who God created him to be in Christ, from before the foundation of the world. Having been awakened by God’s hand of grace, the man will be given understanding that to trust in things, people or opinions of the world held under shadow of darkness, is death; but to place all hope in Jesus Christ, is to experience eternal life, abundant life.

A man who stands upon the firm foundational truth of Jesus Christ, though he finds himself standing in the counsel of men blinded to the goodness of God, condemned and ridiculed for his faith, will be encouraged of the Spirit, so that he does not return to the waste places from where he once found solace. Because the Judge who has commanded the heavens and earth to be obedient to His call has judged him righteous according to faith in Jesus Christ, he will be encouraged of the Holy Spirit to stand faithfully obedient unto the heavenly call, so that victory is obtained over death that resides within the region of darkness.

> “Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him.” Acts 10:34-35

Through the sacrificial act of the holy, unblemished Lamb, who is Jesus Christ, God’s gift of grace, which is able to save men’s souls from the judgment of condemnation unto death, has been made available to all tribes and nations that dwell upon the earth. God’s grace has been made available to all of mankind, regardless of whether of the nation of the Jews or of the nation of the Gentiles. Today, if any man should hear God’s Word calling to him, if he should turn toward Jesus Christ in faith, then at his appointed time God will release into his life, His life transforming, sanctifying Holy Spirit.

The man who is redeemed from out amongst the nations, whether the nation of the Jews, or the nation of the Gentiles, will, through God’s Spirit, be anchored steadfast upon the rock of his salvation, who is Christ. The man, whether of the nations of Jews or Gentiles, who has received the blessed reward of the Holy Spirit, will give thanks onto God, for having been awakened unto the righteousness that is his in Christ. And as he lives his days unto the Lord, the Spirit will continue to lead him from glory to glory, from one realm of understanding God’s goodness toward him, to another.

Great is the mercy and longsuffering of God toward mankind, that He would call men from out of the darkness, whether they be of the nations of Jews or Gentiles, into His glorious Light, who is Jesus Christ. Men of no understanding, regarding God’s mercy and love toward them, are awakened unto righteousness, through faith in Jesus Christ.

Each man awakened unto righteousness, through faith in Jesus Christ, will come to appreciate that God has proclaimed that there is one Spirit who fills each man’s life according to grace, so that each man, though he stand independent from others upon the earth, is, through the one Spirit, joined unto others through their relationship with God. Those joined one to another through the one Spirit, will give thanks that they stand as a holy nation under God, “who is above all, and through all, and in you all.” (Ephesians 4:6)

The man, who has partaken of God’s one Spirit, will come to reverence the truth of living in submission to the will of God. He will come to understand that, to take all thoughts captive to the Word of God, will insure that he matures in his relationship with God, able to perceive life according to the longsuffering and love of Jesus Christ.

> “And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to testify that it is he which was ordained of God to be the Judge of quick and dead. To him give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever believeth in him shall receive remission of sins. While Peter yet spake these words, the Holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word. And they of the circumcision which believed were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was poured out the gift of the Holy Ghost.” Acts 10:42-45

The prophets bore witness of God’s promise to send the Redeemer to rescue God’s chosen people from the punishment of sin, which is death. And when in His divine wisdom, He sent His beloved Son, Jesus Christ to the earth, not only the nation who stood under the covenant law of Moses, were and are redeemed from the penalty of death, but those amongst the nations who were in time past not a people received God’s mercy.

In God’s divine longsuffering and love, He sent Jesus Christ to the earth, not only to redeem the Jews but also the Gentiles, so that upon the earth from out of all nations would come forth, “a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light.” (1 Peter 2:9) Through Jesus Christ, God’s plan of redemption from the curse of sin, which is death, has been extended not only to the chosen tribes of Israel, but to the Gentiles who were once considered a nation set for destruction.

> “What if God, willing to show his wrath, and to make his power known, endured with much longsuffering the vessels of wrath fitted to destruction: and that he might make known the riches of his glory on the vessels of mercy, which he had afore prepared unto glory, even us, whom he hath called, not of the Jews only, but also of the Gentiles? As he saith in Hosea, I will call them my people, which were not my people; and her beloved, which was not beloved. And it shall come to pass, that in the place where it was said unto them, Ye are not my people; there shall they be called the children of the living God.” Romans 9:22-26

To show forth the immeasurable riches of his glory, God, in his infinite wisdom, made available the gift of salvation from the punishment of sin, by extending His righteous right hand, Jesus Christ, toward all men of all nations. To make His power known, God has endured with much longsuffering with the vessels of wrath, men once under judgment of death, by extending to all nations His gift of eternal life. Today, according to God’s grace, if any man, of any tribe or nation, “shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven.” (Matthew 10:32-33)

The Father “judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son: that all men should honor the Son, even as they honor the Father.” (John 5:22-23) According to God’s plan of redemption toward mankind, He has placed upon Jesus Christ the authority to judge whether a man shall bear God’s judgment of condemnation because they deny He is the Son of God, or whether they shall be judged unto righteousness, according to their faith in Jesus Christ. If a man is judged unto condemnation, through denying Jesus is the Christ, he will bear the judgment of sin, which is death. But if a man should be judged unto righteousness through his faith in Jesus Christ, he will bear the judgment of eternal life, and receive the reward of the righteous, which is God’s Spirit of eternal life.

Jesus Christ has been given the authority of God to look past a man’s outward performance, unto a man’s heart and mind, in which to determine judgment. If any man hears the Word of God, and cries out that Jesus Christ is the beloved Son of God, then the Son will profess his name to the Father, and together, through the Holy Spirit, the Father and the Son will come and establish their home upon the man’s heart. And as the Father and Son, through the infilling of the Holy Spirit, establish righteousness within the man’s life, he will begin to understand the sanctifying, holy nature of God, so that he calls out, “Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name?” (Revelation 15:4)

It is the man who has encountered the power of the sanctifying Spirit of God, moving upon his heart and mind, putting to death, crucifying thoughts aligned with darkness, who will understand the holy nature of God. It is the man, who has been judged of Jesus Christ unto righteousness, who will come before the Lord and praise Him for His mercy and longsuffering toward him.

Jesus Christ is the righteous Judge who determines whether a man is judged unto condemnation or unto righteousness. And though a man may stand today, and proclaim Jesus is not the Christ, so that he is judged unto condemnation, God, who knows the beginning from the end, will ask others to refrain from judging this man as one who will forever remain outside of His grace. God asks of His children to bear long with others, through living out the truth they have received. God requires His children to have mercy toward others who deny Jesus is the Christ, because though they may deny the Lord today, God knows that tomorrow these same people will turn and call upon the name of Jesus Christ. God, who knows the beginning from the end, knows who will come to accept His hand of grace and who will not.

Those who have received judgment unto righteousness because of their faith in Jesus Christ will understand that they too were once deserving of death. And as God’s sanctifying presence, His Holy Spirit, continues to do its perfect work within their lives, chipping away at the Adamic nature, so that they walk the earth bearing witness to the goodness of God, they will come to greatly value God’s bearing long with them, because they too once walked with their minds alienated toward God.

> “And not as it was by one that sinned, so is the gift: for the judgment was by one to condemnation, but the free gift is of many offenses unto justification. For if by one man’s offense death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance of grace and the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ. Therefore as by the offense of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all men unto justification of life.” Romans 5:16-18

God’s gift of salvation continues to be extended toward those who walk under condemnation, denying that Jesus is the Christ. God, who is long suffering, continues to extend His hand of grace toward men of all nations who remain under shadow of death, where darkness reigns, and unbelief speaks accusation against the goodness of God. And though a man dwells many days within the region of darkness, denying Jesus is the Christ, and therefore is a vessel fit for destruction, if this same man should hear God’s voice, and turn toward Jesus Christ today, he will be judged righteous according to his faith. Jesus will judge him according to his faith today, and not according to his unbelief yesterday, as worthy to enter into God’s kingdom of righteousness.

It is God’s judgment unto righteousness that will lead a man to the revelation that all thoughts aligned with unbelief, sin and rebellion, are put to death by the Spirit. It is accorded to God’s righteousness that all attitudes of pride and self-exaltation be destroyed with the brightness of God’s glory.

God’s judgment upon sin is made manifest within a man’s life, as the Spirit does it perfect work. God’s Word has determined He will have a holy people. Those called according to His name are to be a holy nation, devoted to God’s Word, reverent in fear, and led of the Spirit. The man, who has encountered the sanctifying power of the Holy Spirit, will understand the beauty of holiness and will bow down in reverential praise of the Lord of all creation.

> “It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these. For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us.” Hebrews 9:23-24

Just as Jesus Christ ascended on high, and purified the heavenly things themselves with His precious blood, are the people of many nations called of His holy name, purified by the blood of Christ. And just as the precious blood purified the heavens, making the heavenly things new according to God's grace, so are the children of faith made new, clean through the Word, as they partake of God's Holy Spirit.

Through the obedience of Jesus Christ, the heavens were aligned with grace. All things were made new within the heavens and the earth, as they were purified by the righteous blood of Jesus Christ. A new mandate was proclaimed, whereby all men from out of all tribes and nations can be declared righteous according to faith in Jesus Christ. Today, if a man turns toward Jesus Christ in sincere faith, he will be judged according to the righteousness of Christ. And if a man determines in his heart to refuse God's grace made available through Jesus Christ, he will pass away, as the old heavens and earth established according to the law have passed away.

God's righteousness is as near to a man, as his heart and mind accept, in sincerity, the message of salvation according to Jesus Christ. A holy proclamation has been trumpeted throughout the heavens, declaring that the day of judgment according to the righteousness of Jesus Christ has arisen. May many people, from out of all tribes and nations, turn away from leaning upon the arm of flesh, and grab hold onto God's righteous right hand, who is Jesus Christ. May many people discover the fear of the Lord, through the sanctifying power of God's Holy Spirit. May men from out of every tribe and nation, who stand upon the promises of God, lift up holy hands, and give praise unto the Lord of their salvation.

> "For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son: that all men should honor the Son, even as they honor the Father. He that honoreth not the Son honoreth not the Father which hath sent him. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life. Verily, verily, I say unto you, the hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live. For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself. And hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man." John 5:22-27

The Return Of The King

Paul Davies

The following Revelation was received by Paul Davies in on 4th Jan, 2004. As with all prophetic words, these must be weighed and tested with a spirit of humility and repentance. Where Bible passages are referred to, the interpretations given are not intended to be seen as the interpretation of the passage, but as God speaking to his people's current situation by giving an interpretation.

One of the more amazing things I am learning is the variety of ways that God speaks to us. Job 33:14 says: "For God does speak, now one way, now another, though man may not perceive it...". I believe this can also be translated "God is ALWAYS speaking..". I think we would be truly amazed at how much we miss, minute by minute, because we do not yet have eyes to see.
One of the ways that God displays His glory is by taking using the enemy's plans for His own purposes. In recent years, I have been surprised by how the Lord has used Hollywood movies to speak of various things, "though man may not perceive it." This doesn't endorse everything in the movie - God also spoke through a donkey!
I believe the Lord wants to declare that 2004 is the year in which we will see “the Return of the King". This refers to the manifest Lordship of Christ beginning to become obvious in the church.
Jesus stated in Mt 24:14: "And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come." In the last 30 years we have seen many gospels preached - the Cross, Grace, Love, Healing... , but the message that is preached throughout the world before the end is the Gospel of the Kingdom, which integrates all the others, and has as its focus the rule and reign of the King.
When the Lord appeared to Joshua outside Jericho, Joshua asked: "Are you for us or for our enemies?" "Neither," he replied, "but as commander of the army of the LORD I have now come." When the King comes, He doesn't come to take sides, but to take over.
In the final episode of The Lord of the Rings - The Return of the King, the promised King is returning to take up His throne. Various people, including current kings (leaders of God's people) have expectations of how he should act and conduct the war, but he leaves to seek out the Army of the Dead. He demands their service in the war, and they respond to his authority. As I watched, the Lord reminded me of Ezekiel 37: the Valley of Dry Bones. As Ezekiel prophesied of the bones, they came alive and stood up - "a vast army".
The Bible speaks in several places about being dead to self:
Luke 9:23 Then he said to them all: "If anyone would come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me.
Romans 6:11 In the same way, count yourselves dead to sin but alive to God in Christ Jesus.
The Lord spoke of this to Moses when He stated: (Ex 33:20) "you cannot see my face, for no-one may see me and live." This is often misunderstood. God is not saying that we cannot see his face, but that if we see his face our sinful nature will be "killed". We will become dead to self - and then God can use us!
In the movie, when the Army of the Dead entered the fray, the demonic host could do nothing to stop them - they could not kill those who were already dead. The dead decimated the enemy ranks, following behind their King. They were unstoppable, like Joel's Army (Joel 2), and they won the day, so the King could be crowned.
As I was jotting these notes down in church, a young man shared a vision he had received, of the Lion of Judah standing over the Adelaide hills, "roaring His head off". Several times in recent months the Lord has whispered to me: "Aslan is on the move!"

Blessings,
Paul D

The Root of True Confidence

Chimezie Onyebilanma

Chim'sWRITE
Sunday, 28th of March, 2004

> "One thing I ask of the LORD…to gaze upon the beauty of the LORD" Psalms 27:4

In the 27th psalm David shows us the secret – the root of true confidence. The kind he expressed when he declared that "though war break out against me, even then will I be confident" (v.3b). I live in West Africa, where you are surrounded by war-torn countries with refugees pouring in from every side, and I can tell you that the outbreak of war erodes confidence because it brings wide-spread fear, insecurity and a lot of uncertainties. Yet David says he can look war in the face and say "even then will I be confident!".

This is the type of confidence that can face anything and everything that life brings without losing joy, faith, and focus. A man such as this even while passing through the worst troubles of life will say "I am still confident"(v.13a).

What is the root of this confidence? From whence does this type of strength spring? David shows us;

> "One thing I ask of the LORD, this is what I seek: that I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to gaze upon the beauty of the LORD" (v.4)

It comes as a result of seeking the Lord. Not just in times of trouble but seeking God as a disposition of the heart . He said "One thing…I seek". True confidence is an out-flow of a life whose chief goal is to lay hold on God. A life whose heart-cry is "Your face, LORD, I will seek". A looking for God not because of what we can get from him but because we want him.

It comes from gazing continually on the beauty of the LORD. It is by waiting on God – by learning to have continuous and disciplined fellowship with God (quality quiet times of personal devotion) that we will become strong in the Lord. We must beware of substituting activities (no matter how noble they may seem) for communion.

I know I would only be stating the obvious if I told you that these are the perilous times the Bible spoke about. The days ahead are days that will try even strong men's hearts. Human confidence will fail us. These are the times of which Jesus prophesied that " Men will faint from terror, apprehensive of what is coming on the world" (Luke. 21:26). Those without deep roots in God will not stand. Many will become offended with Jesus and fall away. Only those who know their God will be strong and do exploits. Don't be too busy to dig deep roots into God. Spend time with God daily. You need it.

Comments? Questions? etc. If these messages have been helpful or unclear it would encourage us to hear from you, please write to caprotogo@laposte.tg

PLEASE are you born again? It is not enough to believe in the existence of God, to go to church, or be interested in spiritual things. Jesus said "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me" (John 14:6). Jesus died to deliver you from sin so that you can come to God. (John 3:16) If you ask him to forgive you and give you a new heart he will. (Acts 2:38; Romans 10:9-11).Try it. I'd love to hear from you @ caprotogo@laposte.tg Chim'sWRITE are regular articles on Christian living and cross-cultural missions from Chimezie Onyebilanma a cross-cultural missionary with Calvary Ministries (CAPRO) in Togo. CAPRO is an indigenous African non-denominational cross-cultural mission agency involved in reaching the remaining unreached peoples in 15 countries of Africa as of present. CAPRO is involved in missions mobilization, training, and research as well as church-planting and mercy ministries (literacy, rural development, primary health-care, relief and rehabilitation). CAPRO is a faith mission, both the ministry and its missionaries depend on God's provision through the giving of his people. None of its missionaries are salaried. All gifts are used as designated.

Surface Address: Calvary Ministries (CAPRO),Togo. B.P. 14223, Lome. Tel: (228) 221 33 78 or (228) 946 33 87

To learn more about the cross-cultural missionary work of CAPRO send email to caprotogo@laposte.tg with "information on CAPRO" in the subject column or visit www.capromissions.org .

Do you know that your monthly gifts to support a missionary can make a big difference? To learn more about supporting missionaries please visit www.adopt-a-missionary.org or enquire at caprotogo@laposte.tg To subscribe to Chim'sWRITE please send a blank email to ChimWRITE-subscribe@yahoogroups.com

COPYRIGHT -- It is required that permission be obtained from caprotogo@laposte.tg before these materials can be re-published on a website or in hard copy. However permission is granted to freely redistribute these materials via email, provided that such redistribution acknowledges the source and includes this phrase: "For a free subscription to Chimezie Onyebilanma's weekly Chim'sWRITE, send a blank email to <ChimWRITE-subscribe@yahoogroups.com >".

May all the nations praise HIM!

The Root of True Confidence

Chimezie Onyebilanma

Chim'sWRITE
Sunday, 28th of March, 2004

> “One thing I ask of the LORD…to gaze upon the beauty of the LORD” Psalms 27:4

In the 27th psalm David shows us the secret – the root of true confidence. The kind he expressed when he declared that “though war break out against me, even then will I be confident” (v.3b). I live in West Africa, where you are surrounded by war-torn countries with refugees pouring in from every side, and I can tell you that the outbreak of war erodes confidence because it brings wide-spread fear, insecurity and a lot of uncertainties. Yet David says he can look war in the face and say “even then will I be confident!”.

This is the type of confidence that can face anything and everything that life brings without losing joy, faith, and focus. A man such as this even while passing through the worst troubles of life will say “I am still confident”(v.13a).

What is the root of this confidence? From whence does this type of strength spring? David shows us;

> “One thing I ask of the LORD, this is what I seek: that I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to gaze upon the beauty of the LORD” (v.4)

It comes as a result of seeking the Lord. Not just in times of trouble but seeking God as a disposition of the heart . He said “One thing…I seek”. True confidence is an out-flow of a life whose chief goal is to lay hold on God. A life whose heart-cry is “Your face, LORD, I will seek”. A looking for God not because of what we can get from him but because we want him.

It comes from gazing continually on the beauty of the LORD. It is by waiting on God – by learning to have continuous and disciplined fellowship with God (quality quiet times of personal devotion) that we will become strong in the Lord. We must beware of substituting activities (no matter how noble they may seem) for communion.

I know I would only be stating the obvious if I told you that these are the perilous times the Bible spoke about. The days ahead are days that will try even strong men’s hearts. Human confidence will fail us. These are the times of which Jesus prophesied that “ Men will faint from terror, apprehensive of what is coming on the world” (Luke. 21:26). Those without deep roots in God will not stand. Many will become offended with Jesus and fall away. Only those who know their God will be strong and do exploits. Don’t be too busy to dig deep roots into God. Spend time with God daily. You need it.

Comments? Questions? etc. If these messages have been helpful or unclear it would encourage us to hear from you, please write to caprotogo@laposte.tg

PLEASE are you born again? It is not enough to believe in the existence of God, to go to church, or be interested in spiritual things. Jesus said "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me" (John 14:6). Jesus died to deliver you from sin so that you can come to God. (John 3:16) If you ask him to forgive you and give you a new heart he will. (Acts 2:38; Romans 10:9-11).Try it. I'd love to hear from you @ caprotogo@laposte.tg Chim'sWRITE are regular articles on Christian living and cross-cultural missions from Chimezie Onyebilanma a cross-cultural missionary with Calvary Ministries (CAPRO) in Togo. CAPRO is an indigenous African non-denominational cross-cultural mission agency involved in reaching the remaining unreached peoples in 15 countries of Africa as of present. CAPRO is involved in missions mobilization, training, and research as well as church-planting and mercy ministries (literacy, rural development, primary health-care, relief and rehabilitation). CAPRO is a faith mission, both the ministry and its missionaries depend on God's provision through the giving of his people. None of its missionaries are salaried. All gifts are used as designated.

Surface Address: Calvary Ministries (CAPRO),Togo. B.P. 14223, Lome. Tel: (228) 221 33 78 or (228) 946 33 87

To learn more about the cross-cultural missionary work of CAPRO send email to caprotogo@laposte.tg with "information on CAPRO" in the subject column or visit www.capromissions.org .

Do you know that your monthly gifts to support a missionary can make a big difference? To learn more about supporting missionaries please visit www.adopt-a-missionary.org or enquire at caprotogo@laposte.tg To subscribe to Chim'sWRITE please send a blank email to ChimWRITE-subscribe@yahoogroups.com

COPYRIGHT -- It is required that permission be obtained from caprotogo@laposte.tg before these materials can be re-published on a website or in hard copy. However permission is granted to freely redistribute these materials via email, provided that such redistribution acknowledges the source and includes this phrase: "For a free subscription to Chimezie Onyebilanma's weekly Chim'sWRITE, send a blank email to <ChimWRITE-subscribe@yahoogroups.com >".

May all the nations praise HIM!

The Revelation Of The Sons Of God

Cheryl Mcgrath

[Part One]

Jun 12, 2004

Note: The words "son", "sons" and "sonship" in this article are used in the spirit of Gal. 3:28. In other words all references to "sonship" here are references to the Father-child relationship between God and His children, regardless of gender, race or age, and do not refer specifically to the male gender.

For the earnest expectation of the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God. Romans 8:19

He that overcomes shall inherit all things, and I will be his God and he shall by My son. Rev. 21:7

For lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone, the flowers appear on the earth, the time of singing has come, and the voice of the turtledove is heard in our land. Song of Songs 2:11-12

The Call to Sonship

There are many in the church who aspire to mature sonship, but there are many less who have learnt the secrets of walking in it. All who enter the Kingdom are called as sons of God, but few are willing to meet the cost of becoming MANIFESTED sons. For those who object: "but sonship belongs to ALL believers at the new birth", I would agree and disagree. It is one thing to enjoy the TITLE of son and heir and the privileges that come with that position. It is quite another thing to submit oneself to the school of obedience and unjust suffering that produces within us the character of the Firstborn Son, to whose image all other sons are to be conformed. (Rom. 8:29) A wise father recognises all his sons as his sons, but also marks and celebrates the day of maturity when a son can be trusted with the responsibilities of a functioning heir. It is at that time that the Father's endowment of authority in that son becomes apparent to the world.

So we are talking here not simply about the inheritance of sonship through faith, but more specifically about the unmistakable MANIFESTATION of that sonship, here on this earth and in this mortal life, that must be witnessed by creation. Those who, in the coming days, will be revealed to all creation as "manifested sons" of God will be those who have yielded to the Spirit's training in ALL aspects of sonship, which includes the Father's discipline (Heb. 12:6-8), and the embracing of the Cross.

There is no mysterious exclusion zone surrounding this event the scriptures refer to as "the manifestation of the sons of God" (KJV). We should not be deceived into believing this company of sons who will be revealed are an elite group of super-saints, endowed with a level of holiness not available to the average believer. On the contrary, the invitation to walk as one of these manifested sons, whom the scriptures say the whole of creation is longing to see, is an open one, available to all born-again children of God. The scriptures also make abundantly clear, however, that attaining this measure of mature sonship will involve significant cost to the flesh for those who sincerely seek to respond to it.

For it was fitting for Him, for whom are all things and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons to glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings. For both He who sanctifies and those who are being sanctified are all of one, for which reason He is not ashamed to call them brethren... Hebrews 2:10-11

What form will this manifested sonship take when it appears? What nature of people are this company of believers we are told creation waits for with"anxious longing"? There is one thing of which we can be certain - as the revealed sons of God they will bear an uncanny resemblance to their elder Brother, the Firstborn Son!

In the World but Not of the World

That you may become blameless and harmless, children of God without fault in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, among whom you shine as lights in the world.... Philippians 2:15

As has already been stated, we are dealing here not just with the concept of sonship, but with MANIFESTED, or REVEALED, sonship. A contemporary dictionary definition of the word "manifest" is this: "clearly apparent to the sight or understanding; obvious."

Jesus manifested His Sonship whatever He did and wherever He went. He didn't have to work at being different - it was clearly evident to all who crossed His path that He just WAS. His connectedness to Something or Someone outside the common understanding of this world was glaringly obvious and unquestionably uncomfortable for many. People were either drawn to Him or repelled by Him. His manifested Sonship flowed directly from the depth of His unbroken communion with His Father.

So shall it be with all those whose sonship will be revealed as they walk the earth. Who they are may not be understood or acceptable, but that they are not of this earth shall certainly be MANIFESTED in ways that are clearly and unmistakably obvious. Certainly signs and wonder, miracles, powerful delivery of the Word, great grace, joy, holy lifestyles and diversities of gifts and functions will accompany them. However, even more significant than these, manifested sons will EXPOSE peoples' hearts, motives and intentions. As the glory of the Father, the grace of the Son and the holiness of the Spirit are increasingly revealed in and through them, their very presence will expose all that is of a different spirit, and for this reason they will be severely persecuted. People will either be drawn to the glory residing in them, or, by the working of the antichrist spirit, they will intensely oppose them.

Prophetically Proclaimed, Yet Obscure

Just as the coming of the Firstborn Son was prophetically proclaimed, yet of humble and un-notable circumstances, so can we expect it to be with those who walk in mature sonship. Prophets had foretold the coming of Jesus and His birth was marked by heavenly signs which were observed by star-watchers far to the east. Yet, apart from the oriental Magi, some Hebrew shepherds close to Bethlehem, and probably some animals sheltered in a stable, few alive in Israel at the time of Jesus' birth were aware of the momentous significance of the time in which they lived.

John the Baptist was sent in the spirit of Elijah as a forerunner to herald this long-awaited manifestation of God's Son on the earth. For his efforts his life was cut short and his message silenced. Similarly, for some years now prophetic voices have been prophesying the imminent appearance of what has been called a "faceless, nameless" generation of holy people, who will move in the Spirit's power yet seek no glory for themselves. As with the Firstborn Son, the rising generation of manifest sons will arise from seeming obscurity and unexceptional beginnings. There will seldom be anything about their physical appearance, personality, or reputation that would cause them to draw the world's attention. In fact, we should expect the most notable aspect about them, according to worldly standards, to be their ordinariness! (1 Cor. 1:27-29). They will truly be examples of God choosing the weak and foolish to bring to nothing the wisdom of the world.

I believe that another reason these walking in manifested sonship will be "nameless and faceless" is because there will simply be too many of them for the world to create a celebrity class from them. Though the world may attempt to impose it's fame on some, they will shun worldly recognition and all that comes with it, just as Jesus did (see John 6:14-15). Their only motivation will be to be about their Father's business while walking as living witnesses of His love.

This is not to imply that men and women walking in manifested sonship have not been raised up by the Spirit at other times. Many names could be listed of those who have embraced this costly calling throughout Christian history, including more recent examples like John Wesley, Mary Slessor , Smith Wigglesworth, Maria Woodworth-Etter, Sadhu Sundhar Singe, Dietrich Bonhoeffer, and countless others. However, these have been individual forerunners, making way for a greater company of manifested sons to be revealed by the Spirit when the appointed time arrived and creation's yearning should be fulfilled.

Driven into the Wilderness

We can expect that those walking in manifested sonship will have known times of deep loneliness, testing and hiddenness, or what is commonly called the wilderness experience. Jesus the Firstborn Son was not spared this experience, nor will His brethren be (Luke 4:1). They will most certainly have wrestled with the temptation to follow a more comfortable and rewarding life-path by the world's standards than the narrow, unrecognised path they've chosen. They will have experienced firsthand the pain of being misunderstood, misrepresented and written off by church associates, friends and even family. But they will also have learnt the secret of overcoming in such trials through the power of the Spirit and the grace of Christ. Therefore they will not display a victim mentality, whatever persecution or hardship they may endure. Though they may be dressed in rags, they will walk in the holiness of priests and the authority of kings which shall not depart from them.

Belonging to the Fellowship of Suffering

The Spirit Himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God, and if children, then heirs--heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ, if indeed we suffer with Him, that we may also be glorified together. Romans 8:16

The reality of the Cross and the fellowship of the suffering of Jesus will be more than theoretical concepts in the lives of these manifested sons of God. The scriptures leave us in no confusion or doubt over the fact that the path to glory and resurrection life leads through the Cross, not around it. Therefore they will know Jesus intimately in the place of suffering as well as the place of power. It is precisely because they have yielded to the application of the Cross in their lives that they shall be granted the authority of resurrected sons.

These manifested sons will engender great fear in Satan's kingdom because the fear of death will not have any hold on them. At the same time each one of them will be a living revelation of the reality of God's grace keeping and sustaining His own. All those who suffer for and with Jesus have a special kind of fellowship, not only with their Lord, but also with each other, that is unknown to those believers who choose to circumvent the Cross. This too will be a mark of these mature sons - they will know each after the Spirit, and not after the flesh, and consequently their fellowship with one another shall be deep and rewarding in a way the world cannot comprehend (2 Cor. 5:16). For this reason they shall be granted the sacrificial grace of the Firstborn, enabling them to lay down their lives for one another.

Naturally Supernatural

So it is written: "The first man Adam became a living being"; the last Adam, a lifegiving spirit. The spiritual did not come first, but the natural, and after that the spiritual. The first man was of the dust of the earth, the second man from heaven. As was the earthly man, so are those who are of the earth; and as is the man from heaven, so also are those who are of heaven. And just as we have borne the likeness of the earthly man, so shall we bear the likeness of the man from heaven. 1 Cor. 15:45-49

Manifested sons will have shed the Adamic earthbound nature of the man of dust and will therefore bear the image of the last Adam, the heavenly man Jesus, without any sense of shame. They will have truly become sons of heaven and will demonstrate through word, deed and lifestyle, the supernatural power demonstrated by the Firstborn. Many will display, when required, authority over nature and the created elements. They will fulfil the command given to Adam and Eve, to "subdue the earth" (Gen.

1:28). Having died to the earthly nature of the man of dust (or earth), with its natural limitations, and "put on" by faith the Heavenly Man, they will no longer be bound to the laws of nature that govern the earth. Rather, having indeed become raised up together to sit in heavenly places in Christ, creation will recognise and submit to them, even while they walk in mortal bodies.

The Revelation Of The Sons Of God, Part Two.

Discerned by Apostles and Prophets

As a firstborn son, Jesus was presented by Mary and Joseph in the temple at Jerusalem, according to the law (Luke 2:22) The gospel of Luke records that on that occasion a man named Simeon came "by the Spirit" into the temple. Taking the newly born Jesus up into his arms, he proclaimed Him to be the salvation of God, bringing light to the Gentiles and glory to Israel. He then blessed Mary and Joseph, and shared a more personal prophetic word with Mary.

Simeon, who the scripture calls just and devout, had been waiting for the consolation, or comfort, of Israel. The Greek word translated as "waiting" would be more accurately understood as "looking for with earnest expectation". The "consolation of Israel" was a term used for the coming of the Messiah. So we understand from this passage that Simeon had been waiting with great anticipation for the Messiah's appearance, or coming forth, in His people, Israel.

Luke then records that right at that moment a prophetess named Anna came forth proclaiming the praise of God. "And she coming in that instant gave thanks likewise unto the Lord, and spake of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem" (Luke 2:38). Anna's husband had died while she was still a young woman and she had devoted the remainder of her life to serving God in a ministry of intercession at the temple. Both Simeon and Anna were people whose lives had been set apart for the Lord's service. They were watchers of the seasons, able by the Spirit of the Lord to discern the times they lived in.

How many others were in the temple that day we cannot know, but we do know the temple in Jerusalem in Jesus' time was a magnificently impressive structure and the centre of worship for Jews throughout Israel and the ancient world. In fact, just the internal area alone covered approximately 35 acres. So it is safe to surmise that on most days there would have been a great multitude in and around the temple, worshiping, meeting, sacrificing, teaching, trading, and undertaking a diversity of other tasks. Yet, only two of them, sensitive to the Spirit and alert to the spiritual atmosphere, recognised the entrance of Israel's Messiah, God's own Son, into the temple that day.

Prophetically, I believe Simeon and Anna, represent apostles and prophets of this present age, who are given to watch and discern the seasons of God and who are sensing the imminent revealing of the sons of God to creation. Anna is representative of the true prophets of the Lord, who carry an intercessory burden for the revelation of this great company of sons on the earth. Simeon represents the true apostles, whose greatest passion is always to see the coming forth of Christ in His people (Gal. 4:19). Just as Simeon lifted up the newly born Son of God in the temple, true apostles will always lift up Christ that He might draw all men. This coming company of manifested sons will be discerned first by apostles and prophets who, by the Spirit, are expectantly watching for them.

Sons and Servants

Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus, who, being in the form of God, did not consider it robbery to be equal with God, but made Himself of no reputation, taking the form of a bondservant, and coming in the likeness of men. Phil. 2:5-7

There is a currently popular teaching which implies that since New Covenant believers are sons and heirs of God, cultivating a servant's heart signifies a failure to appropriate full sonship. This false teaching is a distortion of the following passage written by Paul to the Galatians:

And because you are sons, God has sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying out, "Abba, Father!" Therefore you are no longer a slave but a son, and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ. Gal. 4:6-7

The purpose of Paul's letter was to solemnly warn the Galatian church, whom he had established, about the danger of submitting themselves to the Old Covenant ritual of circumcision, which false teachers were attempting to impose on them. Paul is saying that submission to the Old Covenant law for a New Covenant believer is equal to a slave who has been given freedom willingly returning to enforced slavery. He is comparing life under the law with life in the Spirit. This passage has nothing to do with the servanthood born of humility modelled by Christ.

The Firstborn Son did not consider servanthood something to be despised, and nor will any true son of God (John 13:13-16).On the contrary, the manifested sons of God will demonstrate to the world the true meaning of humility. They will hold the fruits of the Spirit in high value because they are the character of Christ. Jesus was able to discern the appropriate times to demonstrate both His servant's heart and His kingly authority, and He walked comfortably in both. Likewise will all the manifested sons of God who follow after Him truly be sons who serve, and servants who rule as sons..

The Son's Lordship

The Lordship of Jesus over every aspect of life for manifested sons will not be an issue they continue to struggle with, having been finally settled. Where once a fierce battle may have raged in this particular arena, there will now be evidence of a certain stillness and profound rest having come to the soul of the manifested son. Any question over Jesus' right to be Lord will have been replaced by a deep experiential intimacy with Christ that is the rich reward of all who have surrendered to His sovereign rule over their lives and their fate. With childlike sincerity they will truly be able to say "for me to live is Christ", and their lives will bear witness. This does not mean to imply they will be super-spiritual, sombre, religious types. On the contrary, the joy of daily fellowship with Christ shall flow freely from them and the sweetness of the communion they enjoy with Him shall be their greatest treasure. These will be people who both know and carry the manifest Presence of the Lord. Once it was said of David the Psalmist, "the Lord is with him" (1 Sam. 16:18). Thus shall it be said of the manifested sons of God.

The Spirit's Fellowship

One of the great tragedies prevalent in the contemporary church is the dishonouring of the Spirit of God. The Bible reveals the Holy Spirit as one of the three Divine Personalities of the triune Godhead. He is not merely a force or a warm-fuzzy feeling. He carries His own unique function and authority within the Godhead and displays all the attributes with which "personality" is defined , i.e. will, emotions and intellect. He is to be valued for Who He is, over and above the gifts and anointings He can impart to us.

The Lord recently spoke to me of the displeasure He takes in the casual manner with which many in His church behave towards the Holy Spirit. A great many of those who call themselves by the name of Christ still regard the baptism of the Holy Spirit as an optional extra, to be sought or passed over as they themselves choose. Furthermore, many who have been baptised in the Spirit do not seek to be constantly filled and walking in the Spirit. These attitudes are offensive to the Lord, who poured out His Blood to ensure His Bride would obtain the Holy Spirit (John 16:7). The cost for Pentecost was Calvary. There is a great need for repentance in much of the church, not only for grieving the Spirit which is bad enough in itself, but also for treating with contempt our Bridegroom's most precious wedding gift to us.

Those who walk in manifested sonship will demonstrate an authentic relationship with the Spirit of the Lord, and not simply give Him lip-service. They will be committed to seeking His counsel and trusting and moving with His directions because they have grown sensitive to all His ways. When the Spirit is grieved, they will be grieved. It is rather sobering to realise that when Peter rebuked Ananias for lying to the Spirit, Ananias "hearing these words, fell down and breathed his last." It was not because Ananias had upset Peter that he lost his earthly life, but because of the contempt with which He had treated the Holy Spirit. Many believe Peter commanded Ananias' death. A careful reading of the passage in Acts 5:1-6 will reveal this is not so. It was on hearing Peter's words that Ananias' life expired. The apostle Peter was literally so grieved on the Spirit's behalf that Ananias was unable to continue even breathing in his presence! (We need to remember that Peter walked in great spiritual authority.) The result was that "great fear came upon all who heard these things". The manifested sons of God will usher in a return to a true fear of the Lord and respect for the Spirit that has not been known in the church since the days of the early apostles.

The fellowship of the Spirit is a deep joy and comfort for those who grow to value His companionship over and above His gifts. Furthermore, it will only be those who seek to grow in sensitivity to the Holy Spirit who will be able to stand for Christ in the days ahead without falling into confusion, fear and deception. Without getting to know the Holy Spirit as friend, counsellor and teacher, we will not hear Him when He speaks to us, and that could mean the difference between life and death for some. Jesus told His disciples: "You shall know the truth, and the truth shall set you free" (John 8:32). Seek to know the Spirit of Truth, for only He can reveal truth to you.

The Father's Friendship

For you did not receive the spirit of bondage again to fear, but you received the Spirit of adoption by whom we cry out, "Abba, Father." (Rom. 8:15)

"Abba" is the Aramaic word for "father. It is the same affectionate word Jesus used to address His Father in the Garden of Gethsemane (Mark 14:36), and expresses a particularly intimate and close father-child relationship.

At the Cross Jesus restored the broken relationship between mankind and His Father. Under the Old Covenant, Israel had known God as Creator, God of the Covenant, Almighty Judge and Provider of the Law. The Jewish religious leaders regarded Abraham as their father, but not God, for they could not imagine Him in such an intimate role (John 8:39). The Fathership of God was only revealed to man through the Blood of Christ. It is profoundly a New Covenant revelation, and part of our rich inheritance in Christ.

I believe one of the deepest revelations the manifested sons of God will walk in will be freedom from condemnation and the consciousness of the sin nature. This will be because they will have yielded to the Spirit's sanctifying work to such a depth they can freely call out "Abba, Father!" with no sense of shame or alienation. The Holy Spirit, who has many names, is also the Spirit of Adoption. While it was Jesus who reconciled us to His Father through His own shed Blood, it is the Spirit of Adoption in us who brings the revelation of sonship and enables us to stand before our Father without shame, because of the Blood.

The manifest sons of God will live, walk and function in the full freedom available to sons of God because they have understood the totality of their justification, and that it is their own Father who has justified them, because of the Blood. There are very few believers in this current spiritual climate who have truly taken hold of this vital truth. However, without a revelation of full justification through the redeeming power of the Blood of the Lamb, it is certain no child of God can mature to manifest sonship.

ARE WE READY?

For we know that the whole creation groans and labors with birth pangs together until now. Not only that, but we also who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, eagerly waiting for the adoption, the redemption of our body. (Romans 8:22-23)

What does it mean that creation awaits the revelation of this generation of mature and holy sons of God? To whom or what must they be revealed?

Firstly, they must be revealed to themselves. They must know who their Father is and consequently know who they are. Struggles over worthiness, callings and the pre-eminence of Christ must have been finally buried. Transition must have been made from carnal mindedness to spiritual mindedness. The awareness of the King and His Kingdom must have gained precedence over self-awareness. This does not mean that the war between flesh and spirit is over, or that doubts, fears and human frailty no longer have any place in these manifested sons. It does mean, however, that they have surrendered the ownership over their lives to Christ, and no longer contend against the Spirit's dealings with the soul. They are decreasing while He is increasing.

Secondly, they must be revealed to the groaning creation. Creation awaits the birth of the great company of manifested sons of God from the earth, and as their coming forth grows closer, the whole creation's birth pangs are growing stronger and more frequent. Creation is not merely the earth, but includes the heavens and all created beings. As these ones are revealed, Heaven's angels will rejoice and fallen angels will fear, but ALL creation will bear witness that a new day has dawned upon the earth and the final battle over it's ownership is about to be played out.

Finally, they must be revealed to the world. The wisdom of the Cross and the power of the Blood must be attested to through a holy company of true sons who will reverse the mockery and contempt with which the world has come to view those who bear the Name of Christ. The reality of the resurrection must be witnessed to by those who cannot help but speak what they have seen and heard. The world must be given the opportunity to taste and see that the Lord is good, that is taste of His grace, for one final season before judgment becomes absolute and final.

The manifestation of the sons of God will cause great division amongst mankind, as light and truth which are only found in Jesus Christ expose darkness and deception for what they really are. As I mentioned at the beginning of this article, wherever manifested sons enter, their presence will expose hearts and uncover sin. Tue holiness always manifests itself this way. Individuals and nations will be confronted with the choice between repentance or continued rebellion against the Lord. There will therefore be great glory, but there will also be great suffering and intense persecution for those who are to be revealed.

Many in the church are not ready for the revealing of the manifest sons of God. Many are distracted and disinterested. The spirit of antichrist will rise up against the manifested sons not only in the world, but in churches and in families. Many in the church will turn upon them, denouncing them, calling them before authorities, and even killing them, believing they are serving God in doing so (John 16:2). Remember, if this happens to you, that is not you they hate, but the image of the Firstborn you bear.

This invitation to mature sonship is indeed a costly invitation, but having considered the cost, let us determine to seek its fullness not doubting "that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us " (Rom. 8:18)

For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, these are the sons of God.

Consider the incredible love that the Father has shown us in allowing us to be called "children of God"

- and that is not just what we are called, but what we are. Our heredity on the Godward side is no mere figure of speech - which explains why the world will no more recognise us than it recognised Christ. Oh, dear children of mine (forgive the affection of an old man!), have you realised it? Here and now we are God's children. We don't know what we shall become in the future. We only know that, if reality were to break through, we should reflect his likeness, for we should see him as he really is! (1 John 3:1,2 J.B. Phillips)

Cheryl McGrath
www.greatsouthland.org

Copyright 2004 Cheryl McGrath, Great South Land Ministries, Australia. This article may be copied or reproduced freely providing copyright notice and contact details remain intact

Website: www.greatsouthland.org

Email: southland@greatsouthland.org

The Reward of the Wicked
Arlette Pollard

Revelation 15:1

Men can turn away from injustice
Change direction when things go wrong
They can walk away from the weight of prejudice
Live to see a new season dawn
But if a man turns away from Jesus
Each direction will lead him down a dangerous path
Where the Son's light does not arise and shine
And men become prey caught up in the deceivers trap.

Light has come into the world
Let all men proclaim
That Jesus is the risen Lord
He is the truth, He is the way.

Jesus made a way for man's salvation
When He gave His life as ransom for the lost
He provided a way from out of condemnation
When He bore man's sins upon the cross
Now when a man turns his heart toward Jesus
God will set his feet upon a high mountain path
Where the Son's light will arise and shine
As he watches God's promises come to pass.

A man who rises up from out of darkness
Led by the hand of God to the secret place on high
When he is released from death's entangled net
Will rejoice in his salvation found in the Light
And when he understands the reward of the wicked
His heart transformed by love will cry
God, open their eyes to see that their Deliverer
Stands before them prepared to lead them on high.

Light has come into the world
Let all men proclaim
That Jesus is the risen Lord
He is the truth, He is the way.

> And I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous, seven angels having the seven last plagues; for in them is filled up the wrath of God." Revelation 15:1*

*Plagues – Greek dictionary definition - 4127 – plague; punishment: beating, flogging, wounding.

> "For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness; because that which may be known of God is manifest in them; for God hath showed it unto them. For the invisible things of him from the > creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead, so that they are without excuse: because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened." Romans 1:18-21

Great and marvelous is the Lord who has purposed through Jesus Christ, a way for men to be released from out of the snare of the fowler. The deceiver, Satan, the fowler of cruelest intent, has throughout history spoken many venomous lies against the goodness of God. His cunning words of accusation against God have caused many men to remain captive to an understanding, which believes that in the realm of darkness is found truth, purpose and worth. A man whose heart and mind is held captive to the voice of the deceiver will continue to live in agreement with the words of the fowler, so that sin is accepted and gains power and control over his life.

Sin's introduction into the world came through the first man, Adam, who talked with God in the Garden of Eden. God had created a serpent more subtle than any beast of the field and allowed him to dwell within the Garden. The serpent was allowed to speak words of subtle accusation against the goodness of God. Man, Adam and Eve first sinned against God after listening to the serpent's cunningly devised words of accusation against God, and then acted upon the words that were spoken. When Adam and Eve ate the fruit from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, which God had forbidden them to eat, they acted contrary to the will of God, which was to sin against God.

Adam and Eve's sin against God would bring disastrous consequences upon the entire human race. God had declared to Adam that he was not to eat of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. To eat of the tree would be to go against the will of God. To eat of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil was to sin against God. Yet, Adam and Eve ate of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. God, who is righteous and just, looked upon their disobedience, and pronounced judgment. God pronounced that the penalty for their act of disobedience, which is sin, was to be death. Adam and Eve had fallen from their position before the Lord, and they were to be cast outside of the Garden. From this fallen position they could not live eternally with the Lord.

> "Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned." Romans 5:12

> "For if through the offense of one many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many. And not as it was by one that sinned, so is the gift: for the judgment was by one to condemnation, but the free gift is of many offenses unto justification." Romans 5:15-16

> "Therefore as by the offense of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all men unto justification of life. For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous." Romans 5:18-19

Because of Adam's transgression against God, while in the Garden, death was "passed upon all men, for that all have sinned." It would be through the seed of Adam that the nations would be birthed. And because God had pronounced the judgment of death upon Adam, this same judgment would be passed down through the lineage of men born of his corruptible seed. God's righteous judgment against Adam proclaimed that the penalty for man's participation in a willful act of disobedience, which was to sin against God, was to be death. All mankind would bear God's judgment against sin that was passed down from Adam, which is death. Sin's deadly sting had released a poison that would bring death within the lives of all mankind.

God's righteous right hand continued to lead men toward a day when they would be delivered from the punishment that sin had placed upon mankind. God continued to guide men toward the land of freedom, where they would no longer be sold under sin, in bondage to death. Upon the Israelites, God would bestow the covenants, the law, the many services, and the promises concerning the Messiah. Though they were born of the corruptible seed of Adam, a promise was given them, which concerned their eternal adoption into God's kingdom of righteousness. The law given to the Israelites "made nothing perfect," yet the law offered hope to those whose faith was toward the Lord. The law would provide another step in man's journey toward the day when the better promises of eternal life could be obtained.

Adam's involvement with sin, while in the Garden, brought "judgment unto condemnation" upon mankind. But God, who is rich in mercy and longsuffering toward mankind, had purposed a day when man would be released from the punishment that was imposed upon all mankind because of Adam's transgression. God had purposed a day when He would send the Messiah, His righteous Son, the second Adam who became a life giving Spirit, to visit His people, so that mankind could be delivered from the punishment of sin, which is death. It was ordained of God, that His Son, Jesus Christ would give His life as a ransom so that, "he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father." (Galatians 1:4)

Those who stand within the realm of darkness, denying that Jesus Christ is the Messiah, continue to bear the punishment of sin, which is death. To deny the righteous right hand of God is to deny God's gift of eternal salvation, obtained through faith in Jesus Christ. It is to remain in bondage to "this present evil world," where sin bears the sting of death. When death overshadows a man's heart and mind, his thoughts will lie within the boundaries of the grave, where suffering and tribulation distort his vision and purpose toward life. To look away from the Redeemer is to walk overshadowed by death, bearing the punishment of sin.

> "And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins; wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience: among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others." Ephesians 2:1-3

God's anger against sin is made evident in the punishment of death. Sin is what separated Adam from being able to hear God walking with him in the Garden. Sin caused darkness to fill the earth, so that man lived his days under shadow of death, where sorrow and suffering continued to plague him. And as righteous as God's punishment is toward sin, is His righteousness in sending His beloved Son to the earth, who would redeem man from the punishment for sin, which is death.

Righteous, merciful and longsuffering is the Lord, who determined that it was good that His beloved Son, Jesus Christ, would be "wounded for our transgressions." That His Son would be, "bruised for our iniquities", and that "with his stripes we are healed." (Isaiah 53) All of mankind are like sheep that have gone astray, having wandered far from the purposes that are found only in God, and deserving of the punishment for sin. All have been birthed into the world under shadow of darkness, where the punishment of death abounds, because of man's trespasses and sins.

But through the righteousness of Jesus Christ, God made a way for man from out of the world held under shadow of death and sorrow. God ordained a way where man would be born again of incorruptible seed, so that man was able to leave the world of darkness behind, as he moved into God's eternal kingdom of righteousness. Man born again of the Spirit, the incorruptible seed, would be awakened to the reality of God's power, authority and might upon his life, and upon the world of His creation. A man born again of incorruptible seed is made alive, "quickened" unto eternal life, through faith in God's beloved Son. Through faith in Jesus Christ, God breathes His breath of eternal life, which is the Holy Spirit, within a man's life, so that he is awakened unto righteousness, able to give all praise and glory unto God.

Man, who is by nature a child of wrath, deserving of the punishment of death because of the sins that dwell within his mortal flesh, is loosed from the grave through faith in Jesus Christ. Through faith in Jesus Christ, and in receiving the Holy Spirit, the old man, the Adamic nature that seeks to find purpose in life by fulfilling the lusts of the flesh, is crucified. The Adamic nature is crucified, as the Spirit establishes God's kingdom truths upon the throne of a man's heart and mind, from which all thoughts, opinions, and desires originate.

As the Spirit "puts off the old man," casts from off the throne of a man's heart and mind the lusts and desires that fashioned the mindset of the old Adamic nature, the man, now renewed by the Spirit, will find that joy and purpose is found walking humbly, seeking after the Lord in all situations. The world of darkness will pass away, as the Light arises upon a man's heart and mind, as the Holy Spirit does His perfect work within the man's life.

> "Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry: for which things' sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience: in the which ye also walked some time, when ye lived in them. But now ye also put off all these; anger wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth. Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him: where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free: but Christ is all, and in all." Colossians 3:5-11

A man filled with God's Spirit of holiness, is to walk from glory to glory, so that he is conformed into the image of the risen Lord. It is God's desire that the man led of the Spirit moves into the fullness of God's purpose and intent toward him. Through the power of the Holy Spirit, a man is awakened to understand God's desire that he be holy, as God is holy. A man awakened unto the righteousness of Christ, will understand that the punishment for sin is death. And that only through God's great mercy was he led out of the realm and region of death, and into the land of the living, where the Son's light guides his footsteps, and inspires his heart toward the goodness of God.

A man covered in the righteousness of Christ, has received the infilling of the Holy Spirit, so that he is released from the punishment of sin, which is death. A man covered in the righteousness of Christ, will find that his mind is being renewed by the Spirit, so that he understands God's desire that he no longer be entangled with any acts or thoughts that are aligned with sin. A man awakened unto righteousness, will understand God's desire that all sin be put under the feet of Christ, put under submission to Christ, so that death has no inroad into his life.

The wrath of God, God's punishment against sin, which is death, is upon those who refuse the Lord's hand of salvation, which is found in Jesus Christ. Those filled with the righteousness of Christ, who have escaped the pollution of the world, which continues to fill the lives of those who walk in agreement with darkness, know that great suffering fills the lives of those who refuse the hand of God. Having been awakened unto righteousness, their eyes will be anointed to see "the wrath of God is revealed from heaven" as men who walk judged unto condemnation, bear the consequences of sin.

A man awakened unto righteousness, through the Holy Spirit, who has matured in the ways of Christ, as God placed his desires and lusts that dwelt in his flesh under the feet of Christ, will have eyes to see that the plagues, which are filled up with God's wrath, (punishment: beating, flogging, wounding), bear God’s righteous punishment for sin. And they will also know that they once walked as the ungodly, equally deserving of the same punishment. That it was God’s hand of salvation that led them out of the darkness, where Satan once greatly influenced their opinions and actions, so that they were joined to the Lord, through the Holy Spirit.

A man matured in the ways of God, will give thanks unto Jesus Christ for bearing his sins upon the cross. He will give thanks unto Jesus Christ who was wounded for his transgressions, and who willingly bore his stripes upon His back, so that he could be set free from the punishment of sin, which is death.

A man whose heart and mind, has been transformed by the righteousness found within the Holy Spirit, will look upon mankind with the same desire that Jesus Christ had toward him. His thoughts and desires, transformed by God’s love and mercy toward him, will seek to help those still caught up in the deceiver’s trap. A man born again of the Spirit will desire that others be saved from the wrath that is to come, which is God’s righteous judgment upon sin. There is a way, which many men follow, that leads to death and destruction. But praise the Lord that He has prepared a way where men may find life, abundant, eternal life. Praise the Lord that God, in His mercy, has sent the Deliverer to lead men unto all truth and righteousness, found in the Holy Spirit.

> “For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world: but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.” John 3:16-19

The Release of the White Doves!

Robin Paisley

3-4-04

I saw White Doves being released all over the world from the theatres playing The Passion of the Christ. Thousands upon Thousands of White Doves making their way across the earth and following the people home. Some would fly right past the person and into their home, while other Doves would fly through the walls and disappear. Their were some who were making their way through the chimneys while others found cracked windows or doors to get through, either way they found a way to get in! However, if they could not find a way into the home they would perch themselves outside on the rooftop or trees and wait for their moment of siege!

Have you seen a White Dove close to home lately? Praise God for Mel Gibson and all the other people involved in getting this movie out, the Doves are moving in! Oh such Love and Adoration the Father has towards His children, beckoning and calling them into their rightful positions and destiny's!

Isaiah 60:8

Who are these that fly as a cloud, and as the doves to their windows?

Jordan’s Descent

Robin Paisley

3-1-04

Oh the sweet, sweet fragrance found at the feet of our King, the aroma is of an ancient dwelling, time and place that no earthly scent could ever replace.

All of a sudden I began to hear the sound of a mighty river rushing through the nail holes of our Master’s feet, a deep, deep river about to explode! I then saw a vision of many men and woman who have found rest at the feet of our Lord and their tears have been stored in the nail holes creating a deep reservoir of water, a well of tears. I then heard the voice of the King echo with much force, a holy violence to release the tears for the healing of many peoples and many nations! All at once there was a shaking in the heavens as two very large angels appeared carrying the cross of Jesus and their banners read Abundance. There was such a holy reverence, a sudden hush in the heavens as they placed it gently beside our Lord. There stood the cross, the old rugged cross where our dear Savior suffered and died and here He stood again, this time kneeling.

I began to hear a cry unlike any cry I have ever heard before, that resounded through out the heavens and the earth, causing many mountains to shake and rivers to flow, it was the cry from the very heart of Jesus. His tears began to pour out for His children everywhere, such love emanated from His being, thick like honey creating a tear, a Holy dividing and the cross opened up like an old ancient door. The warmth that illuminated from the cross drew me in, drew me much closer into the Father's heart than I have ever been before. I could hear His heartbeat like the sound of a beating drum, with precise rhythm and denotation. Inside the cross I could see many scrolls neatly shelved in the order of deliverance and empty spots marked 'delivered' 'executed' and 'bestowed.' Each of the scrolls was tied with different colored cords and each marked with a title of inheritance. I then saw Jesus take a scroll marked 'Judgment' and cross out its name, He then placed it on a shelf where it was instantly consumed. I saw the Father's hand tremble as He again touched the scrolls marked with doom, I could feel His heart aching for all of us and I was immediately beckoned to pray more, to cry out in repentance. Jesus then took out a scroll marked 'Jordan' and gave it to the angels who opened it long, opened it wide. And as the stretching of the scroll began I could a hear a shout, a trumpets blast of thunder resonating through out the heavens, 'The Jordan, The Jordan, the descent of Jordan has begun!" Just then a mighty rushing river of tears began to pour forth from the nail-scarred feet of our Master that opened up the heavens. This river of tears began to pour out over all the peoples, over all the nations; through out the byways and the highways, the healing river of tears began to cover the earth.

And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him: (Matthew 3:16)

The name Jordan in Heb.Yarden, "the descender;" Arab. Nahr-esh-Sheriah, "the watering-place"

True Worship

Yolanda Ballard

True Worship, Not Just The Form

It is not by chance that you find yourself where you are today for the enemy has plagued many with the spirit of obsession, and many have lost their way that leads to peace and prosperity. Yes, many have been more concerned with appearance than with truth, and have gotten themselves wrapped up in a form of worship than being in the true spirit of it all.

I have called you to worship Me in spirit and in truth only because you love Me not that you would meet the credentials to be accepted by man. This is the time and the hour where I will pour out My power upon those who truly worship Me because they love Me and delight themselves in My presence. I will pour out My glory upon them in mighty waves that will sweep through the land causing a mighty revival of truth and holiness.

Yes, My people who are called by My name will humble themselves and will turn from all forms of wickedness because I will pour out mighty gifts of repentance to enable them. Many who will cry out to Me will be satisfied with their heart's desire for true holiness not just the form. They will move by My enabling alone because they desired My grace and not their own strength to overcome which is legalism.

Do not strive to do right in your own strength. Let go and let Me live My life through you. Rest in Me and delight in Me, and I will do the rest for when you rest you give Me the authority to do mighty works through you and in you.

So, do not be obsessed with trying to please Me or man. Be yourself and accept yourself as you are. Be the person I called you to be. Do not fall under false pretense trying to put on a mask of competition. Do not fall into jealousy of your brother, but rejoice in all that I do through him. For you are all one. When one rejoices, you all should. When one gives a testimony of My faithfulness, you should rejoice as if it is your own testimony.

Do not allow the enemy to divide you. Be aware of his tactics this day for he is a liar, and his aim is to steal from you your joy and peace, and mainly your love. So, don't allow him any access to your thoughts. Cast down the vain imaginations immediately, and keep your heart covered with the power of My love.

This is the end of time, and if you don't have love, you will not make it. If you don't have true love, you will not overcome the onslaughts of the enemy to steal, kill and destroy the brethren. Join together as one and worship Me. Seek My face because you love Me. And walk in true holiness not just the appearance or form of it, and I will bless you with My presence and My power. I will pull down the strongholds as you praise Me alone.

Yes, this is the hour of great power, and it all comes as you humble yourself and be real. I can only work with your real self not the counterfeit. Quit striving in your own strength and rest in Me, and watch Me move for I AM your God and I AM faithful.

Trust Me

Olivia Long

August 29, 2004
My Beloved, My Faithful Ones ... you have heard and you have seen many prophecies of upcoming storms and you wonder why you still have not seen the promises fulfilled for My callings on your lives. Yes, the storms are coming, but I will not forsake you, TRUST ME!

Most of you have recently gone through a transition and you thought this was it, it is time, only to find yourself in another trial, even harder then the previous trials. When you thought it couldn't possibly get any worse, it has... Why does this surprise you? Did you not answer yes to My call on your life? Did you not choose the path less followed and have to pick up your cross and walk with Christ? Your preparation has been intense, it has not been easy but haven't I called you to set your face as flint for the high calling I have placed on your life? TRUST ME! Beloved the enemy has sought to sift you as wheat in your new positioning, setting up ambushes to attempt to sidetrack My plan for your life.
He WILL lose!!! TRUST ME!

KNOW that I will manifest Myself in your circumstances in a very big way to bring about the necessary changes that will bring about your fullness of times to fulfill your calling. A time of fullness for My Beloved... I have made great and mighty promises to you and they have come from My heart, therefore do not fear that I will not fulfill My word. I WILL fulfill each word and each promise that I have spoken to you. You WILL come forth and walk in the calling I have for you with every need and more supplied by the I AM. You have presented yourself as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to ME, therefore do not listen to the lies of the enemy that it will not happen. TRUST ME!

I see your overwhelming desire to move out...but it is not quite time and My timing is always perfect. Know that in the midst of your current trial that I have dispatched additional angels on your behalf to give you added support and in remember that I have given each of you a few who are there to lift up and encourage you when you are down, as you do the same for them.

My Beloved, who have been waiting on the Lord WILL rejoice in My promises and give Me thanks for you shall see Me move on your behalf and do the impossible. The day, the time and the hour is in My hands. The way and the means are in My hands. Know that even though you don't see it nor feel it, the hand of Almighty God is going before you, My Faithful Ones. TRUST ME, I say TRUST ME! Even though at times I appear to be far away, I AM always very near... I will NOT forsake My Faithful Ones .... TRUST ME!!!

faithbuildersministries@yahoo.com

True Worshipper

Joe Cicchino

Sunday I was walking into the church and I heard the Lord say to me that I was a true worshiper. I said, but I'm not a good singer or a great prayer warrior. He then said to me, a true worshiper is the keeper of my temple. At the time I didn't understand what He meant by what He said. So I looked up worshiper in Smith's Bible Dictionary. This what it said.

WORSHIPPER: a translation of the Greek word neocoros, used once only. Acts 19:35: in the margin, "temple-keeper." The neocoros was originally an attendant in a temple, probably entrusted with its charge. The term neocoros thus applied to cities or communities which undertook the worship of particular emperors even during their lives.

Since we are the temple of the living God, it is a major responsibility for us to keep the temple clean. A true worshiper is someone who knows the occupant of the temple very well and understands what He wants from them. If someone spilled something or dirtied the temple that was in Jerusalem it was cleaned up immediately by the keeper of the temple, who were the Levites. So when we do something that is of the natural and we have sin on our life then we must repent so that we can clean up the temple.

The keepers of the man made temple in Jerusalem were the Levites, and just like they had to stay holy, so do we as the keepers of the temple of the living God. He wants us without spot or wrinkle. A true worshiper has Jesus on there heart 24/7. Their whole living life is dedicated to Him. When people see us we are the light that will change the dark, as it shines forth from the Temple of the living God. Jesus is our light and He lives in us.

Romans 2 verse 28-29: For he is not a Jew, which is one outwardly: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh. 29: But he is a Jew, which is one inwardly: and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God. Those who are true worshipers are believers who put God first and only and don't care what man thinks. It is all about Him not about us.

When we move in the Word and the Spirit we move in the Glory of God and when we move with His Glory giving Him all our worship and praise we are truly one in Him. Jesus is the living God the God of heaven and earth. Man's temple has been destroyed, His living temple lives forever. We are of the tribe of Levi, because we are the keeper's of the living temple.

God Bless Joe Cicchino vision of love pastorjoevol@earthlink.net www.visionoflove.net

The Secret to Walking in Great Power

Don Franklin

March 04, 2004

And you would say, "Oh, God, what is the secret to walking in your great power?" It is simple obedience to the known will of God. If my son was ordered down to meet the woman at the well and instead went to Capernum, do you think that the power of God would fall? There must be obedience from your heart to the known will of God for the power of God to manifest.

I will not indorse a program that's not mine. I will not anoint a vessel that thinks they can go in any direction they choose and then expect the power of God to show up. It doesn't' work like that. But if you'll be obedient to me and you'll go where I send you when I send you and say what I tell you to say, the power of God will show up.

Keep your life clean. Avoid sins and when you do sin, simply kneel and confess. Don't go into huge contrition but kneel and confess your sins. Acknowledge that you're learning and growing in God and simply head back to where I tell you to go. Do the things I show you to do and when you pray, believe that your Heavenly Father hears you because he does.

Be obedient, even if those around you are not obedient. Jesus was in a kingdom where most of the leadership over him was disobedient. They were not following the will of God. They were oppressing people. They were taking from people. They were not giving. They were cruel. They were wicked. He was so grieved by the hardness of their hearts but he openly rebuked them before the people and warned them of the hellfire that was waiting for them.

So, it doesn't matter who around you is obeying God as you perceive it. What matters is will you obey God? Will you go down to the well when I tell you to? Will you lift the burden of your brother when someone else says leave them alone; they're being punished by God. Yet I tell you, "Go help them."

Many a Pharisee has pointed down their nose at someone and said, "They are being punished of God. Their wickedness has come upon them," and they would flee from them and would not lift their hand. Yet Jesus himself would go and help the leper and help the prostitute and help those who were sick and needed a doctor. They needed a doctor. They needed someone to come into their situation with the power of God, with the help of God, with the healing of God, with the forgiveness of sins.

Jesus unilaterally remitted people's sins. He said, "Go and sin no more" and the person did not even ask for forgiveness. But in the power of God, he would walk in and break the power of the enemy and lift the sick and the crippled and heal them and restore them and then turn and rebuke those who would have a word to say about what he did. He said, "Don't the sick need a doctor? You who are healthy, you don't need me."

I will send you to places and to people that other people will condemn for going to, but you must go if you would be in my good will. You must go and help the oppressed. You must go and help those who are rejected and outcast, and the power of God will show up for you, but it is simple obedience to the known will of God in your heart that will bring the great power that you're looking for.

INDIVIDUAL REWARDS

Walk in obedience with the Lord. Put your blinders on and walk your walk because it does not matter really what everyone else does. What matters is what you do within the structure of the Church and of the Body.

So yes, even though you're tied to the corporate body of Christ, you are an individual and you will be individually rewarded for your efforts as Joshua and Caleb were and as down through the Scriptures from Gideon on, men are rewarded for what they do.

Even if the whole nation is worshipping idols and going astray, if you will plant your feet in the right direction and say, "I will not be moved," and walk on, God will look down and say, "There's one; there's one who won't turn aside," and the blessings of God will fall. Even while correction is falling all around you, blessing will fall on you.

So, say not in your heart ever, "This is foolishness to be obedient; this is foolishness to be so good. Others are getting away with this and this and this…" Well, for a season they might, but believe me, the judgment of God comes. The correction of God comes. Even though it tarries for a season, it comes.

Don't be fooled into thinking that an act of disobedience will not be brought into correction. It will be sooner or later. So, don't allow your feet to go into disobedience. Don't allow your mouth, your mind, your brain, your heart, your life to go into disobedience to the known will of your Father.

But keep walking. Keep talking even as Christ did. Even alone at times, even against his disciples he had to press on and persevere to his Cross. So, walk in what I've set before you, knowing that your reward is coming and that you will reap with you sow.

The Search For Significance

Ron McGatlin

> For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away, (James 4:14.)

On the day my grandfather was born there were many millions of people in the world. People of many nationalities were going about their daily lives dealing with life's experiences of every sort. The cities, towns, villages, and countryside where they lived still exist today. Yet all of the millions of people died. Not a single one is alive on the earth today. They all perished from the earth. Some of their lives endured for a very short time and some for a few years others lived longer and a few lived for over a hundred years but none are alive today. All passed from the earth.

After basic physical needs are met there exist a desire for significance - for some purpose or value that makes one's life of some importance among the many billions of people who have passed briefly through this life. Philosophers, religionist, and seekers of every sort have sought for significance among the passions of life. Yet there is none among mortality. Only in the realms of immortality can the searcher be rewarded with true significance.

Searchers join together to corporately build their particular version of the tower of Babel to obtain significance. Builders seek to gather from among the pride of life the materials for establishing the biggest - the best - the most significant. This quest drives the institutions of the world.

The institutional church long ago left its roots of intimate personal relationship with God to search for significance in mortality. Relational was replaced by organizational as denominations and various other networks have sought significance in striving to become the biggest and the best, Leaders have sought to build the church organizationally from materials of mortality.

As the walls of organizational church are crumbling brick by brick, the true relational church is coming forth. The church is reforming in a relational structure looking to Jesus as head. The Head of the church is being joined to the Body. Wade E. Taylor said, "The Head will be joined to the Body not to the pulpit."

Only the King of kings, the Lord of lords has immortality, (1 Timothy 6:15-16).
The only potential for significance in this brief life is Christ in you the hope of glory (Col. 1:27).

For articles on Kingdom/Revival by Ron McGatlin and others Go Here:
http://www.openheaven.com and click on "Articles" - also check out the "News Archives"

God Loves His Church

Ron McGatlin

I believe the greatest truth of the Bible regarding mankind is simply stated in the first three words of a children's song that is yet sung by Christian children today. "Jesus Loves Me" is the most important reality of life. And the next three words carry the most important concept to the well being of humans. "This I Know" is the key to inner peace. Without the Love of God through Jesus there would be only vanity in life - all would be empty and valueless. And without mankind knowing the love of Jesus there would be no inner peace and no potential for real joy in life.

Life exist in the unconditional love of God for mankind - the apple of His eye .(ZEK.2:8).Potential everlasting life exist for mankind in responding to the love of God. Potential everlasting death exist in rejecting the unconditional passionate love of God. Passionate love betrayed, ignored, despised shunned and rejected becomes jealousy and wrath.

The decision is already eternally settled on God's part to love and will never change. The undecided part of the situation is man's part. Will he choose to respond in like kind to the unconditional love of God or will he choose another god or gods and betray, ignore, despise, shun and reject the passionate love of God. The choice is life or death.

Deu 30:19-20: "I call heaven and earth as witnesses today against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life, that both you and your descendants may live; "that you may love the LORD your God, that you may obey His voice, and that you may cling to Him, for He is your life and the length of your days.......

The church (the called out ones) are today returning to the church's first love - many are recognizing and experiencing the passion of God's love in intimate relationship with the Father as His children and with Christ Jesus as His Bride.

Religion and false teaching cannot continue its hold on those who experience the intimacy and communion of responding to God's love. That which is impure in the church is being washed away by that which is holy - the pure love of God. Man's pure response to God's love in obedience and clinging to Him who is our life is changing the church.

Great and Terrible Times
Ron McGatlin

As I view the hundreds of email and reports coming from around the world, I am overwhelmed with the significance of what God is doing. There is a sense of "shock and awe". It is both glorious and wonderful yet at the same time so severe in nature that it can be terrifying.

For many, the rudimental things of church and life are being dismantled and some of our once "sacred" doctrines or burning to ash in the flames of the reality of the manifest presence of God. Strongmen's castles are being vacated and their strength being reduced to ashes.

This truly is at one time a joyful and tragic reformation. The foundations are shaking for many who have done their best to serve faithfully. Some pastors and leaders will face intense soul searching and the enemy will cause them to feel they have failed in the purpose of serving God in their lives. This is not truth and we must pray for one another and realize that many have done the best they could with the light they had. That is not failure! Where would we be without the ministries of the church through the past?

We are involved in a major shift of God much larger and much more significant than we yet have realized. The coming of the Lord - Christ on earth in His people is upon us - nothing is impossible to us as Christ is manifest in the world. There is such intense desire in the hearts of God's chosen people that nothing will stand before these pure hearted, holy, loving, sons of God with unlimited anointing of Christ. Truly the heavens are opening.

Lots of Love, Ron

Putting Life Back Together
Ron McGatlin

A house divided against itself will not stand (Mat 12:25). A life pulled apart by pressures of one segment and its demands against another segment will not prosper. Fragmented and scattered lives of disunity and disconnection are not the design of God for His people.

How can we align our lives with God's design of oneness?

"that they all may be one, as You, Father, are in Me, and I in You; that they also may be one in Us

"And the glory which You gave Me I have given them, that they may be one just as We are one: "I in them, and You in Me; that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that You have sent Me, and have loved them as You have loved Me. (John 17:20 23):

Many people are not one within themselves. Did you ever get to know someone only at church and later work with them or spend time with them in other arenas of their life? You may have found them to be "a different person". People establish compartments of life and develop different mind sets for each compartment.

The individual's approach to navigating life's needs in one arena of life may differ from the approach in another arena. Different methods issue from different basic values and beliefs within the individual's compartmentalized mind sets. Different rudimental principles are learned and used in the different compartments.

As an example, a man or woman may act and react to situations on their job or in their "business life" differently from how they would in their "family life" or "church life", and differently in their "church life" from their "family life", not to mention their "dating life" and so on.

People may "wear many hats" so to speak. They also may actually dress distinctly different when entering the "work compartment" or the "church compartment" or the "recreation compartment" of their lives. Like changing cloths they may put on different mind sets for each of the different compartments of life.

In a sometimes unsuccessful attempt to balance these separated systems of life, frustration and guilt can lead to inner disorders and outer conflicts which will affect the individual, the family, community, and eventually the nation.

The answer to oneness within and with others is oneness with God. First, we, the "called out ones" of God - the "ekklesia" - the church - must recognize and admit that what has been to this point has not always brought life together as one in Him.

Much of the institutional church has in the past divorced itself from practical life outside the safety of its walls. In failing to participate in parts of life it has become as just another compartment of life and not the source of help for all life's issues.. Beyond that the church has even divided and disjoined itself into different compartments with different doctrines, beliefs and values.

The Paradigm Shift

The emerging church without walls will function and connect in homes, businesses and wherever bringing forth the kingdom concept of oneness into all the facets of life.

The great worldwide millennium shift from "church focus" to "kingdom focus," often referred to as a paradigm shift, is moving the world toward eventual unity of focus on Christ Jesus as "King of the world" and away from focus on a myriad of vital but secondary values and systems.

Jesus is our savior but He's more Jesus is savior of the world but more Jesus is head of the church but more not just every knee in the church shall bow but every knee shall bow in homes, communities, businesses, governments, and every facet of life - Jesus Is King of the world King of kings and Lord of lords (1 Tim 6:15).

Life will be put back together as one focus becomes one set of values and principles to rule all areas of life. The kingdom of God principles of Christ the King must rule in all facets of the individual's life.

The passionate intense love of the Father is coming forth by the Holy Spirit forming Christ in His people through intimate relationship in His manifest presence. The glory of God has come upon us to transform and change us to the image of His Son.

Will there be diversity?

In the passing church emphasis age many thought that uniformity was a key to unity. In the emerging kingdom age it is being seen that diversity in love is true oneness. God, Himself is our model for diversity and oneness. God presents Himself to us in three persons, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Each having distinctions of function but being in complete oneness. We are to be one just as God is one, not in uniformity or function but in oneness, doing only what we see and hear the Father doing and saying.

"And the glory which You gave Me I have given them, that they may be one just as We are one"

Everything rests in the Father. The glory of the Father through Christ is the avenue of oneness. The love of the Father is the source of life and is that which orders and unifies all life. The kingdom of God from heaven on earth is neither in rules nor in "doing" but in "being" righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit (Rom 14:17).

Individually the goal of worldwide kingdom may seem far too big and idealistic for many individuals to even consider and may not readily appear as a solution for their fragmented lives. However, the world view of kingdom does indicate the goal of Christ and the significance of individually coming into the reality and greater fullness of the kingdom of God.

As we each are transformed by the manifest presence of God and begin to be the church wherever we are, each individual's mind becomes one mind and the beliefs and values governing one's actions and reactions in all areas of one's diverse life become unified. We truly each become one within ourselves and then can become one with the true Body of Christ.

What about separation?

Christ Jesus was not and is not one with everyone and everything. He was one with the Father and we are to be one with Him. We are to be separate from evil and from proud, arrogant, men of the evil way that God hates (Prov 8:18).

2 Cor 6:17-18: Therefore "Come out from among them And be separate, says the Lord. Do not touch what is unclean, And I will receive you. I will be a Father to you, And you shall be My sons and daughters, Says the LORD Almighty."

Coming into oneness with God and oneness within ourselves joins us to the true Body of Christ - the people of God's love, and separates us from the arrogant, proud and evil way that God hates.

"Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven."

Spiritual Relational Networking
Ron McGatlin

Where do I sign? How do I join? How much are the dues and what are the benefits? How and when do we meet and what is expected of me? What are the rules and how is it governed? Who are the leaders and how are they selected? These are all questions one might ask when considering becoming a part of a natural network. These and many other organizational considerations are used to establish a natural network of associates.

The church for the most part in the past has sought to adapt these same organizational ideas with an addition of seeking to bring some level of spiritual guidance into the mix. Denominations and other networking organizations have functioned in this type organizational structure with some form of hierarchical leadership.

It may be hard to for us to consider a worldwide network with no earthly headquarters and no membership list. The manifest presence of God is moving the church into the realm of the Spirit. The love of God flowing through individuals is establishing relational connections supernaturally.

The coming spiritual relational network of the worldwide true Body of Christ does not depend on natural organizational methods. Christ is its only head and Holy Spirit its connector. There is no human hierarchy of control and nothing to sign. Every joint connects to the ones next to it and each supplies the needs of one another.

(Selah - pause and think about these verses)

Ephesians 4:13 says, "till WE all come" (We is plural) "to a perfect man" man is singular and refers to the corporate man Christ - the mature full grown Christ.

Eph 4:13 till we all come to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, to a perfect man, to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ

Eph 4:15 -16: ...speaking the truth in love, may grow up in all things into Him who is the head; Christ; from whom the whole body, joined and knit together by what every joint supplies, according to the effective working by which every part does its share, causes growth of the body for the edifying of itself in love.

Human organizational based networks cannot become the Body of Christ. Only a spiritual relational network of connections can bring forth the true Body of Christ into the world.

Christ Jesus was not born in a palace or a capital building nor a temple. Neither is the corporate Christ being birthed in high places of government or religion. The kingdom of God is coming forth like grass in a field. There are multitudes of sprouting blades of grass all at the same level. No one blade of grass would create a lush green field. But multitudes of individuals connecting in homes, businesses, small groups, streets, parks and wherever supplying the spiritual needs of one another becomes the lush green field networked together in loving one another.

For articles on Kingdom/Revival by Ron McGatlin and others Go Here:
http://www.openheaven.com and click on "Articles" - also check out the "News Archives"

The Silver Basin

Mary Clark

In a vision, I saw a silver basin filled with water. There were many feet around the basin. Why did You show this to me, Lord?

This silver basin represents many things to My dear children. It represents My redeeming work on your behalf, and it represents My servanthood to mankind. I want you to realize the extremes that your God went through to call you His own. I want you to stand fast to this truth.

In this day, I will be calling you to wash many feet in My name. I am calling you to show forth the servanthood of the living God. So gird yourself with your towels, kneeling down before those I send to you, and know with each act of servanthood that you perform on My behalf, you will be shining forth My glory, and you will be revealing My heart to bless and to love mankind.

I am calling for you to take your place around My basin – My silver basin of redemption. It is a place where you will dwell in the knowledge of My great love for you and for all of mankind. I want you to reveal My heart, and show forth My will for each person that I put in your path. I want each of you to know that the hour of powerful demonstration is upon you. Stand fast in this truth. For just as surely as I have called you to be My servants, performing on My behalf to the masses, I have called you to demonstrate My wondrous will as it shines through with promise. So don your towels of purity and hope, and know as you kneel before another to wash his feet, that you are also washing My feet, and bringing forth a new hope to all who will receive.

This is the hour to shine forth the glory of the living God. It is the hour to step into the splendor that I have provided for your enjoyment. So get ready to kneel before your fellow man, and give to him the gift of hope that lies in becoming one who serves another unceasingly. Isn't that what it is all about? Serving others as I served while I was on earth? Serving others with a heart that is tender and caring? Yes! That is what this walk in all about, beloved, so get ready to shine forth My caring heart, and know with each example that you show of your God, you are pleasing My heart – pleasing My heart most satisfactory!!!

Mary Clark
"Listening Ears" barnabessy@digitalexp.com

The Stumbling Block

Sandy Warner

Mar 24, 2004

The message of Jesus and His cross was a stumbling block to the religious mind-sets of that day. The concept of laying down one’s life was the opposite of ruling through force. It was considered weak. Everything in the Kingdom is perplexing to those who only know power through their own skill, strength and control. Learn to lay it all down and rule through transparent submission and you too will be a stumbling block. These are hard places but there will come a day when you will look back on the times where your submission caused offense and you will see how it ultimately protected you from taking a wrong turn.

"Therefore, to you who believe, He is precious; but to those who are disobedient, "The stone which the builders rejected has become the chief cornerstone," and "A stone of stumbling and a rock of offense." They stumble, being disobedient to the word, to which they also were appointed." (1 Peter 2:7-8 NKJV)

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

Mining For Gold

Sandy Warner

Mar 22, 2004

I have given you some very unique and rare Words. I AM training you to recognize they are from Me, although this is not without considerable effort on both our parts! These Words are not only vital for your future, but the training in recognizing their Source is also important. I will leave nothing to chance when it comes to your training. I realize that between your passion to hear Me and your impatience in waiting, that the answers I give are not always satisfying to your flesh. Do understand that sometimes the Words I send you are exactly like mining for gold. You have to dig for them and expend effort to utilize and apply them. Keep digging and I will illuminate My hidden treasures.

"But God has revealed them to us through His Spirit. For the Spirit searches all things, yes, the deep things of God. For what man knows the things of a man except the spirit of the man which is in him? Even so no one knows the things of God except the Spirit of God. Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might know the things that have been freely given to us by God." (1 Corinthians 2:10-12 NKJV)

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

The Cally Story

Sandy Warner

[Gilgal: Close the Door to Carnality]

The Cally Story

Mar 23, 2004

The following hilarious and true story happened to me in 1994. The spiritual parable is very relevant right now as we prepare to crossover Jordan and move into our new land of promise.

THE CALLY STORY
Our cat Cally had kittens who are now 5 months old and I just found out that cute little boy kitties can impregnate little girl at this age. Uh oh… I also heard of a good family willing to adopt them if we have them 'fixed.'

Time has run out and these little furballs are now scheduled for surgery. They are supposed to fast 12 hours before surgery so two bowls have mysteriously disappeared. Oops, scratch that idea. Normally, mother cats wean their babies at about 6 weeks but someone forgot to tell Cally. I am looking out the window, and those precious little bundles are nursing! Try again...

Cally is now in exile away from her babies, food and water. The babies are crying at her shed door, and she is crying at them. It's going to be a long night.

Well it was. I didn't sleep hardly at all last night as every dog in the neighborhood was barking and I kept thinking about the kittens. This morning I quietly squeeze through the shed door so Cally won't dash out. I manage to get her in the carrier and when I open the door the kittens scurry to her cage and they all cry at once. Cally is now crying and the kittens are alerted.

We pick up the kittens and put them in the box. But before we can get the lid down, we have lost one. No, make that two. Try again. And again. This is crazy, we are chasing kittens in every direction! After 5 scampering attempts, we simply can not entice them to come to us. These are now very educated cats. Suddenly two bowls mysteriously appear. They run to the food. We got em'.

Now we are all packed in the jeep and it sounds like a traveling cat zoo. Cally is howling. She is banging her head and body at the door, she scratches to no avail. A frightened baby pops her head through the little hole in the box. Her eyes are literally bugging and she squeaks. By the time I stop on the freeway shoulder, she has managed to stretch the hole and get her stomach stuck. She is dangling half way in and half way out but at least her eyes are back in her sockets and she has a hardy meow. I carefully tug and pull her out the hole without lifting the lid, lest I have kittens making a wild escape. Now Cally's window is snug against the box's enlarged hole and maybe they can comfort one another by being close. I drive into the clinic, harried and feeling like I had lived a full day and it is only 7:00 AM.

Who is that lady with the clipboard and why is she waiting for me in the parking lot? "Excuse me, are you Mrs. Warner?" I have this bad feeling in the pit of my stomach. "Yes, I have cats scheduled for surgery." "I am very sorry Mrs. Warner but we are going to have to cancel and reschedule. I tried calling you, but you had already left." "Oh no — I have to go through the whole thing again....this time with educated cats!"

On the way home I am thinking about the scriptural principal of something being repeated twice. (Gen 41:32) I know this is a God story. "Lord what are You trying to tell me?"

This next appointment is vital because their new owners are coming into town next week. I am sure they will love living on a farm, with all the freedom and fun any cat would want. No matter what, I have to keep this appointment!

Well, it is now once again the night before surgery. Not a creature is stirring, and especially not even a mouse. We have no mice. I have locked Cally and her kittens in together. It's better to nurse and have surgery, then not at all. I think I have slept, but that clock says 4:45 AM. I am wide awake wondering how the little family is doing. Maybe I should separate them into the cat carrier since 4 hours of no food is better than none at all. It's dark and cold outside, but I am determined to follow through on this appointment. I rush out in bare feet and pajamas and jump into the shed, slamming the door behind me. The kitties are contentedly sleeping next to Cally! I separate the sleepy little furballs from her and place THEM in the cat carrier. It was so easy! All is perfect! Now I can go back to bed and get warm.

I reach for the latch on the shed door and it is gone. The door won't open! The little wire thing that is attached to the latch on the outside of the door is missing. It had fallen off when I slammed the door. I am trapped inside the dark shed with Cally and her kittens, and I have this strange knowing that God is definitely speaking to me. This story isn't just some parable that the Lord is wanting to tell me, He is talking to me about ME. It's me in this shed.

I am now in exile, in a cage with all the tools for pruning anyone could ever want. I sit down on an ice chest and take note of what I have. 2 handsaws, electric pruners with electrical cord and outlets intact, an ax, and other misc. items. I push a wire through the little hole where the missing wire used to be. I put a metal tent stake through it, I put a stick through it. Nope, I'm definitely trapped.

OK, my son's alarm is set for 7:00 and I am supposed to leave at 7:00. I don't know if he will even know I have not left the house when he wakes. Will he realize the car is still in the driveway? He probably won't make the connection since it's there every morning. My beloved husband gets up much later depending on what time he finally falls asleep. I could ax my way through the door, but he would really be upset having to build a new door. It's 4:45 AM so what else is there to do? I can lay the camping tarp on the floor, unroll the sleeping mattress, use 2 life jackets for my pillow and unfold a plastic tablecloth for my blanket. Sounds good to me. I am now camping out on the floor of our shed in the dark, surrounded by purring kittens. I start to laugh. "OK Lord, You got me. Do you have anything You would like to say to me?"

I must have snoozed some because I just heard the thunk of the newspaper in our driveway. I wildly shake and kick the door. "Help me, can you HELP me? I'm stuck in here!" I am yelling like my life depends upon it — I still want to make that appointment. Silence. Nothing. He must have thrown it from the street and not heard a thing. Back to camping. Let's see, the newspaper usually comes about 6:30 AM. I wonder how much longer I get to stay in here!

It's about 7 AM and I hear footsteps coming up the sidewalk, stopping in front of the shed. Silence. "Is someone out there?" "Yes" "Could you PLEASE open this door, I am stuck inside." "Uh, yes." Door opens. A pale and scared paper boy is staring at me. "Are you all right?" "Yes, I accidentally locked my self inside, because the little wire thing fell out of the hole." He is looking at me like I am a little crazy standing there in my pajamas. I don't blame him a bit. I am so happy to be out and besides that, I don't have the time to worry about it — I have an appointment to make. He is rambling on as he walks away, "I wasn't sure what I'd find behind this door, and I went to get help. I wasn't sure about calling the police. And someone drove me back here." "Well Thank you VERY much for coming and helping me. I really appreciated it!"

Cally is now outside happily eating at the food dishes. At this point I don't care how much she has eaten, but back in the shed she goes. I need a clean shower and to get warm after camping. "Ding dong, ding dong, ding dong!" The door bell is ringing incessantly at 7 AM and I am dripping wet. "Sonshine, please wake up and answer the door. Don't be upset, it may be the police. I was locked in the shed and the paper boy rescued me. Tell them I'll be out in a minute." My son answers the door in a stupor. Two sheriffs question him. "We heard there was a disturbance. Was there a fight? Is everything all right?" "Yeah, my Mom just locked herself in the shed." They grin. In my robe and wet hair I come to the door. "I accidentally locked my self inside the shed, because the little wire thingy that is attached to the latch fell out of the hole." I don't know if they knew whether I was talking straight or not. I don't know that I was. My face is turning bright red.

Totally mortified that the sheriffs had come to our door, I realize I don't have time to think about that now. I have just enough time to eat a bowl of cereal, catch Cally and stuff everyone in the car. I go outside, jump into the shed and my son is right behind me. SLAM! He has just slammed the door shut... I AM LAUGHING HYSTERICALLY. I roar. I laugh so hard I am crying. I am holding my stomach, with hilarious tears rolling down my cheeks. All I can think of is this thing is repeated twice, it is of the Lord. Two times for the cats, two times for me.

"Mom you are scaring me, you are hysterical!" "Well if you had gone through what I have gone through with these cats, you would be hysterical too!" I am laughing even harder while watching my son frantically take inventory of everything in the shed and do exactly the same things I had tried. He didn't think it was funny at all.

Finally, I decide to forget my husband having to build a new door, I AM NOT GOING TO MISS THIS APPOINTMENT. The only way those cats will have their new home next week, is if they are fixed. We have run out of time. Warning, crazy women with ax in hand. Slam, thud, pow, a chip at a time. 20 minutes of repeated blows with the bull's eye changing upon each swing. Sweat, panting... My son takes a few swings and hands it back. I take a few then give it back to him. I am determined to get out of there.

Footsteps. We hear footsteps! The door opens and a very undressed puffy eyed husband looks incredulously at me. My normally very kind and gracious husband appears to be quite perturbed. He grumpily says he just got to sleep at 4 o'clock and what are we doing axing the door? "Well excuuuusssssseee me!" I wasn't mad until then. Now I am mad. I march out, rescue Cally, who is now enjoying a banquet and stuff her and the kitties in the car. Normally-kind-and-gracious husband is standing at the door in his altogether, muttering, "May I go back to sleep now?" That made me madder. Here I had just been through world war 3 and all he can think about was that we disturbed him? I am so mad I don't even say goodbye to my son. I smolder all the way to the appointment.

I am now home and my back-to-being very kind and gracious husband reminds me that last night he had recommended that I bang on the shed door loudly to scare the cats, so they would hide and not try to run out as soon as I opened the door. I am feeling very humble for my anger. He thought all we were doing was scaring the cats with all that noise and wondered why we were inside with the ax! I guess our neighbors came by also, since they heard the ax. What a day.

Surgery went fine, in spite of their eating. When I picked up the cats, they told me to put them in a dark and quiet place. I left them in the shed with the door slightly open knowing they would come out when they were ready. But instead of sleeping, the journey had stimulated them and they wobbled out the door totally drunk! You never saw such precious sights as Cally and these little creatures trying to find their legs. Looking cross-eyed and with rubber legs they were wandering around bumping into each other. Their brother, cold sober with no surgery, hisses and runs away. When they found their mother, Cally immediately weaned her babies, having no desire whatsoever to be touched and they were all planted in their new home one week later.

END NOTE
Four years ago I posted this story with additional detail. In this post, the story was not shortened, but two pages of interpretation were cut off and replaced with the following Word to Ponder. If you are drawn to chew some additional meat, please search the website for The Cally Story and read the Interpretation and End Note.

CONCLUSION
{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}

WORD TO PONDER: PREPARATION FOR CIRCUMCISION
My precious one, time has run out. I AM bringing you into the green land of fulfilled promises. You were hand fed the milk of My Word well passed your time. Milk alone will not sustain you in the new land I have prepared. You must learn to hunt, to seek Me for your daily portion.

Exile, separation and famine of hearing has driven you to Me. I know how hard this has been for you. It has felt like tough love. I have used all that has come into your life for good and someday you will know them all as good gifts. I have used these as tools to awaken a desperation deep enough to move you forward into maturity.

Precious, I know how deeply your flesh cries out for comfort, and how desperately you try to give solace to unfulfilled love. Please understand that carnal appetites bring temporal pleasure, but ultimately they bring death. The worldly appetites will never satisfy or replace your deep need for fellowship with Me. To feed them will only leave you more and more empty and driven. You can not take these with you into this new land of bountiful promise.

Unpruned flesh would greatly multiply if planted in this new land. Captivity to worldly appetite will place you on trial before the face of your enemies who are the giants of accusation. Your flesh must be cut back, for I AM a jealous Maker. Unholy appetites for the world must go. Gilgal is of utmost importance for your safety and welfare as I move you forward into your promised land. If you cry out to Me, I will give you the will and the grace to cut back your flesh. I will grant you the joy of My intoxicating Presence and make the operation as painless as possible.

Josh 5:8-9 NKJV
So it was, when they had finished circumcising all the people, that they stayed in their places in the camp till they were healed. Then the LORD said to Joshua, "This day I have rolled away the reproach of Egypt from you." Therefore the name of the place is called Gilgal to this day.

"Ears 2 Hear" are excerpts from the rhema journals of Sandy Warner. To better understand how God speaks, read Sandy's book, "101+ Ways God Speaks, And How to Hear Him." ~ Website: www.thequickenedword.com ~ Email: swauthor@usa.net ~ Permission to forward and/or post at websites is given with this footer included.

Obedience For Your Safety
Sandy Warner

Mar 26, 2004

You have come a long way in your journey of maturing in Me. How proud of you I AM, beloved. Your heart has become tender and willing. It is vital that you follow your conscience and stay in obedience. Do not harden your heart towards My voice. This will safe guard you from falling out of the nest.

It is much easier to be self disciplined than to be God disciplined and also the enemy is wanting any access you will unwittingly give him. I will discipline and do what is necessary to get your attention for your protection. Stay light on your feet by being flexible and willing to follow My voice. When in doubt, always obey.

Heb 12:7-9 TLB
As you endure this divine discipline, remember that God is treating you as his own children. Whoever heard of a child who was never disciplined? If God doesn't discipline you as he does all of his children, it means that you are illegitimate and are not really his children after all. Since we respect our earthly fathers who disciplined us, should we not all the more cheerfully submit to the discipline of our heavenly Father and live forever?

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

The Way Out Of The Maze
Sandy Warner

Mar 25, 2004
[Open the Door to Repentance]

VISION [4/12/01]: I saw someone going through a maze made out of pieces of land which were in the shapes of animals. It was his goal to travel through these lands to get to a piece of land on the other side. The pieces looked like land masses or continents that had definite borders. As he traveled, most of the owners of the pieces of land opposed him. He was just trying to travel through and they were trying to impede his way. It was interesting that some land owners opposed him, and some did not. It was a definite maze of working through territory to get to the other side.

Deut 2:4-6, 8-9 NLT
You will be passing through the country belonging to your relatives the Edomites, the descendants of Esau, who live in Seir. The Edomites will feel threatened, so be careful. Don't bother them, for I have given them all the hill country around Mount Seir as their property, and I will not give you any of their land. ….. Then as we traveled northward along the desert route through Moab, the LORD warned us, `Do not bother the Moabites, the descendants of Lot, or start a war with them. I have given them Ar as their property, and I will not give you any of their land.' (And Deut 2:16-19)

Deut 2:24-25 NLT
Moses continued, "Then the LORD said, `Now cross the Arnon Gorge! Look, I will help you defeat Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and I will give you his land. Attack him and begin to occupy the land. Beginning today I will make all people throughout the earth terrified of you. When they hear reports about you, they will tremble with dread and fear.'

HEARD: But God has established us right in this place. In the presence of our enemies. He makes a way. And there shall be a sign. And the sign shall be for the rest of your days. And they shall have an earthly domain. Thy kingdom come on earth. As it already is in heaven.

EXCERPTS HEARD: Safe passage. Journey. With My assistance. All along the way. How you respond reveals. What we do about it. When My people really humble themselves. And pray. I turn the tide. Humble yourself. You've come to a conclusion. A very real answer. What's in the Bible? We HAD to graduate. And get this, we HAD to make peace with our enemies.

Prov 16:7 KJV
When a man's ways please the LORD, he maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him.

HEARD: Fresh approach. How can we handle this? There's always a way out. If you repent.

QUOTE BOB JONES AND PAUL KEITH DAVIS
[From When The Day Of Pentecost Has Fully Come] www.bobjones.org & www.whitedoveministries.org

"His tangible Presence and grace will usher in the Fear of the Lord thus allowing and granting a heart of genuine repentance leading to the knowledge of the Truth. The Word of Truth will provide a sanctifying light preparing us for even greater measures of His Spirit. (John 17.17)"

John 17:17 NKJV
Sanctify them by Your truth. Your word is truth.

QUOTE FROM MAHESH
Mahesh Chavda Ministries
http://www.watchofthelord.com/

"I was at Christian Broadcasting Network, doing a conference for them. There were these heavy television lights, about 12 of them, big ones. There was a big section in front and a section in the back. And I said, "Holy Spirit, You are welcome!" When I said, "You are welcome" the lights all exploded. Everyone within about 25 feet all fell down instantly. And the glory of the Lord came down. I want you to know it scared the daylights out of me. It scared me so bad because the Lord was present…" [Mahesh went onto to say he repented of sins he hadn't even thought of doing, because the fear of the Lord was upon him.]

"… I felt like there was another wave of the Holy Ghost coming again and I said, "Holy Ghost You are welcome again" and the lights in the back exploded. In the next 700 club program, Pat Robinson began the program with 30 million watching. He said Brother Mahesh was here and when he prayed our lights burst and we are in revival."

CONCLUSION
{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}

WORD TO PONDER: REPENTENCE IS THE DOOR OUT
My Love, you have been in cold, dark circumstances and have been walking in circles for many years. Deeply discouraged at times, you have felt like you were in an underground maze with no way out. I have heard your cries and I send My angels to open the trap door above you, that you may escape. For you have wandered long enough.

I always provide a way out. The door I have provided is the door of repentance. Many blessings that have been blocked will spring forth upon true repentance. Repentance really is a gift. It is impossible to repent when involved in a dark and blind world where each man's standard is right for himself. It is only through the standard of My Word that blind eyes open to Me, the Truth. Yes, when My truth is manifest, it produces godly sorrow, but this sorrow leads to salvation and deliverance from evil. Open now the door of repentance and close the door of straying away from My Word. Align your speech, your conduct and life style with My Word and witness the power of your Holy God to set you free from the maze of endless cycles.

2 Tim 2:24-26 NKJV
"…in humility correcting those who are in opposition, if God perhaps will grant them repentance, so that they may know the truth, and that they may come to their senses and escape the snare of the devil, having been taken captive by him to do his will."

"Ears 2 Hear" are excerpts from the rhema journals of Sandy Warner. To better understand how God speaks, read Sandy's book, "101+ Ways God Speaks, And How to Hear Him." ~ Website: www.thequickenedword.com ~ Email: swauthor@usa.net ~ Permission to forward and/or post at websites is given with this footer included.

The Sabbath Breaker

Milt Rodriguez

"While I am in the world, I am the light of the world." "When He had said this, He spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and applied the clay to his eyes, and said to him, 'Go, wash in the pool of Siloam' (which is translated, Sent). And so he went away and washed, and came back seeing." John 9:5-7

There are a few things that are very meaningful about this miracle that Jesus performed. One is that (as in many other cases) he deliberately performed this miracle on a Sabbath day. The other is the way in which He worked this miracle. Both of these aspects of this event exposes our propensity toward religion. In fact, everything the Lord did was designed to break that religious nature which is within all of us.

The Origins of Religion

You may think that you are not religious. But I tell you, my friend, that we are all religious to one degree or another. We are all religious about something. Even the most godless atheist on the planet is religious about something. How do I know this? It's very simple. The very foundation of our fallen nature is based upon religion.

The tree of the knowledge of good and evil contained the essence and foundation for all religious thought patterns. Please notice with me that the knowledge of good and evil come from the same tree! Wouldn't you think that good would come from a separate tree other than the same one that contains evil? Yet, the knowledge of both good and evil come from the same tree. This will be important as we move along.

First, this tree is about knowledge. Religion is always about knowledge. How much do you know about God and the bible? How much do you know about what God demands from you? You must be trained. You must have knowledge. Knowledge is power!

Second, the knowledge you need is about what is good and evil. What is right and what is wrong? What is black and what is white? What is positive and what is negative? Religion is based upon you doing the right things; you doing good things. If you are going to be a righteous person, you must do the right things. In religion, we are constantly focusing on seeking the good and knowing and doing the right thing. Of course, this means that we must judge the difference between right and wrong, good and evil. When we see someone doing evil, they must be judged. The solution for doing evil is to do good. "Good" now becomes our salvation and the solution to all of the evil in the world.

Of course, we know that many things that appear to be good actually have an "evil" intent behind them. Many times we give with the intention of getting some recognition or honor in return. This is but one example of doing something "good" with an "evil" intention. This can become very messy and confusing because of the fact that the knowledge of good and evil come from the same tree. Good can sometimes seem evil and evil can sometimes seem good! As these things become blurred, it becomes very difficult for us to see the difference.

The Tree of Life

Jesus said that He came to give us life and life more abundantly. This is our only hope of being set free from the dilemma of right and wrong, good and evil. When we choose life, then we will be set free from religion.

Now, let's take a closer look at this story in John 9 of Jesus healing the blind man. The way that He did this completely breaks all the rules of religion contained in every "book."

He SPAT!

Your Lord spat on the ground! How uncouth . . . How undignified . . . How sacrilegious! Just think about it for a moment. He spat . . .

Spitting is probably one of the most unspiritual things a person can do.

Besides, isn't it really kind of disgusting? I mean, after all, we are talking about spitting here! This is an act that we would expect from a tobacco chewing hillbilly, not from the Son of God. He broke all the protocols of religion. How could He do such a thing? Doesn't He know the proper way to heal someone? Doesn't He know how to do it right?

Everyone knows that the right way to heal someone is with oil, not with mud made out of spit! You are supposed to take the oil that has been anointed by the priests (elders) and apply it to the person's forehead. Then you lay your hands on their head and pray "in the name of Jesus." This means that you end your prayer for healing with the phrase "in the name of Jesus." This is the right way to heal someone, yet Jesus didn't do any of these things. He didn't even pray for the guy! He just made the mud, put it on his eyes, and then told him to go wash it off. There is nothing religious about your Lord. He always does things that deliberately blow apart all of our religious ideas.

Life Being Placed Into Clay

What Jesus did was full of meaning. Yet, we have missed it because we were busy being offended by His "unorthodox" ways of doing things. He healed this man in this way for two reasons. He wanted to break the religious mindset, and He wanted to reveal another aspect of Himself. He took something out of His mouth and mixed it with the clay. In other words, He placed part of Himself into a vessel of clay. Paul said it this way, "We have this treasure in earthen vessels." He placed His life into us! Religion could never give us sight. Only His life within us could ever give us the ability to truly see. We are all blind. We are blind because we are in Adam, and Adam chose religion instead of life. He chose right and wrong, good and evil over the total freedom of God's own life. Christ came to bring us that life. He gave us sight by giving us His life. "In Him was life; and the life was the light of men."

Jesus healed this man of his blindness on the Sabbath. This, of course, offended all of the religious people. They were not interested in life. They were only interested in making sure that everyone kept all of the rules and regulations. This only brings condemnation and death.

Your Lord is a Sabbath breaker! Could it be that He is trying to break the "Sabbaths" in all of us? Is there some "sacred ground" that you don't want Him to touch? One thing is for sure: He wants you to be able to touch the life that is within you so that you will be able to see more of Him.

Here is another Sabbath breaking event.....

"The sick man answered Him, "Sir, I have no man to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up, but while I am coming, another steps down before me."

Jesus said to him, "Arise, take up your pallet, and walk."

And immediately the man became well, and took up his pallet and began to walk.

Now it was the Sabbath on that day." John 5:7-9

It amazes me how Jesus kept intentionally breaking the Sabbath. He could have healed this man on another day, yet He chose to do it on the Sabbath. Over and over again He did things on the Sabbath which he knew were against the Law of Moses. Obviously, He was taking dead aim at something within the Jewish religious system. But I believe it goes beyond that. He was (and is) taking aim at something within all of us. There is something within you and I that needs to be broken, something that we hold dear. Something that we hold onto from the past that is very "sacred" to us.

Comfortable in Our Sabbaths

This man, who was waiting at the pool, had been there everyday for thirty-eight years! Can you imagine? Thirty-eight years! He had been held in religious bondage for all that time. He was waiting for someone to help him go down into the water.

In religion, you don't ever really receive any help. It's every man for himself. It is void of grace and compassion. Everyone is too busy working really hard to measure up and be good little Christians. No one has time for you because they are working so hard at pleasing God. They have never seen that only One can please God, and He lives within your spirit.

We see two dynamics going on in this story. One is the religious individual represented by the sick man by the pool. The other is the religious organization represented by the Pharisees who were offended by Jesus healing this man. The individual was healed, the organization was not. This shows us that individual believers can be set free from the religious system, but the system itself will never be "healed." I have known some brothers and sisters who remain within the religious system for the express purpose of trying to change it. It never happens. God may be calling you out of the religious institution, but He has not called you to try to change it.

Past Glories

Both the man who was healed and the Pharisees had made the mistake of holding onto past glories. What I mean by this is that they were holding onto things that God had done in the past. The man by the pool had held onto the fact that, in the past, someone had been healed by going down into that pool. Or perhaps, that was just a rumor that was spread around, who knows? At any rate, the man (and many others) had a religious and even superstitious idea about God and the way He heals.

This is the way that his concept went. If I can just get to a certain place and do a certain thing, then God will heal me. Certain conditions must be met before I can be touched by the Lord. I must meet those conditions in order for Him to be satisfied and as a result heal me.

Does this sound familiar? It should. It's the way that most of us think! If we can only meet the conditions that we think God has set forth, then He will finally move in our lives. Yet, we have a God who moves in freedom and grace. He is not bound by our finite, religious, confining concepts of Him and the way He works. Praise the Lord! He is much bigger than that!

Jesus walked up to this man and just asked him if he wanted to be well. The man responded to Jesus by explaining to Him that he had no one to help him into the water. The Lord totally ignored this man's religious nonsense. He told him to get up and walk! The Lord healed him because He wanted to. The Lord healed him because He loved him. There were no conditions or requirements.

Sabbath Breaking

The Lord healed him for one other reason; to break the Sabbath! This was to show this man, the Pharisees, and everyone else that Someone greater than the Sabbath was among them. They were still holding onto a tradition, a law, a regulation, a condition to please God. But Someone was in their midst who was much greater than the law. In fact, all of the law, traditions, etc. were pictures of Him. They all pointed to Him, the reality and fulfillment of it all!

Many times we hold onto things that have come into our lives in the past and make them a "Sabbath." Many times those events were things that God did. We hang on to them and try to live in them today. We make them our "Sabbaths." But I tell you, brothers and sisters, that He will come and break those Sabbaths!

He wants you and I to live in the freshness of who He is today, right now. He is the great "I AM." Our God will not allow us to live with Him in past glories. He wants to fellowship with you and I right here and right now.

The Scepter Extended

Kevin Paul Stephen

February 2, 2004

“I have extended My scepter and have called you into My Throne Room. Do not hesitate, but put on your royal garments of holiness and worship and come quickly. It is from here that you will find strength, confidence, and the strategies needed in the battles that are now just beginning. I will teach you to war from the heavens, safely positioned before My throne. Here you have authority over all the power of the enemy and will find all that you need in abundance, hidden within My glory. Do not count the favor and grace I have granted as a little thing.”

“Do not fear, but be made perfect by My love. Your inheritance awaits you. Come and I will show you things you know not. Assume nothing, but only trust and obey.”

“Many come and go. They come in their time of need and leave once they have found their answer or find relief from their present trouble. But I have called you to abide in Me always. Would I command and not make the way? Would I promise and not fulfill? Do not faint, but keep the faith that leads to life. Those who have set their hearts to know Me and have longed to live within the thick cloud of My glory will soon be satisfied. And the world will know that I AM. Your victory is assured, if you are not drawn away from My glorious presence.”
Blessings,
Kevin Paul Stephen
www.brokenbreadministries.org

The Sacred Cows of Bible Study

Bill Somers

> Lu 11:52 Woe unto you, lawyers! for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in ye hindered.

Our Goal In This Essay.
In this essay we are going to look at several so-called principles of Bible study which are commonly taught and widely accepted. We find that there is usually no scripture given whatsoever to support the adoption of these principles. In researching the sources of these teachings on the internet, we only found one case where the writer used scripture to help make his point, and in that case the scripture reference was incorrect.

Let me repeat that for you because it’s very important. We are going to identify several widely taught and commonly accepted principles of Bible study for which there is simply no scriptural support offered. They are man made principles, the product of man’s wisdom.

Secondly, to make things worse, The Bible consistently teaches the opposite of what these principles teach. For this reason we have used the phrase ‘sacred cow’ to describe these ideas. To clarify this term, here is a definition.

> Sacred Cow: Anything which has been protected regardless of circumstance. The term ‘sacred cow’ has come to mean any stubborn loyalty to a long standing institution which impedes natural progress. The term originates in India where the cow is said to be literally worshipped while thousands of humans suffer from undernourishment. Adapted from "Cultural Literacy" by E. D. Hirsch, Jr.

What are these principles? First and foremost [or worst and foremost] is Literalism. The Law of Literal Interpretation. Next is the Law of Context. Following that and to a lesser degree of severity are The Historical Approach, and the attempt to achieve Interpretive Unity or Systematic Theology. The root error behind all of these is the attempt to find and use a method to interpret God’s word rather than rely on the Holy Spirit.

These all qualify as sacred cows. They are quite stubbornly adhered to. [Just read some of the literature and you will see what I mean.] They lead to wrong conclusions and prevent the student from reaching correct ones. We quoted Luke 11:52 above which mentions that the lawyers [alleged experts in the law] have taken away the ‘key of knowledge’. In Jesus’ day, these were the experts in the Law of Moses, the Torah, and the other scriptures. Today they are well known bible teachers, scholars, seminary professors and best selling writers.
They do not arrive at or demonstrate any real knowledge themselves and they prevent others from doing so. The consequences of this can be dreadful. In Hosea 4 it says:

> Ho 4:6 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge: because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, ….

The quote from Luke above mentions the Key of Knowledge. Later we’ll take a look at a couple examples of keys of knowledge and see exactly how they are taken away by following these principles. Now we will look at these four principles. As they are closely related and used to support each other, please understand that we may need to repeat ourselves at some point in our critique.

Literalism
In looking at literalism we are going to be presenting some quotes by various writers found on the internet which support this view.
First of all, what is literalism and what is literal interpretation? Our dictionary tells us this:.

> lit·er·al (lĭt'er-el) adjective
> 1. Being in accordance with, conforming to, or upholding the exact or primary meaning of a word or words.
> 2. Word for word; verbatim: a literal translation.
> 3. Avoiding exaggeration, metaphor, or embellishment; factual; prosaic: a literal description; a literal mind.

My summary of this is "sticking to the exact meaning and avoiding exaggeration, metaphor or embellishment".

So the law of literal interpretation then says "Always interpret scripture sticking to the exact meaning and avoiding exaggeration, metaphor or embellishment wherever possible, and only if this fails are you to seek another way of interpretation." Note: this is not denying that there are other ways of interpreting scripture, nor does it deny that the bible uses exaggeration, metaphor and embellishment. All it does is tell us to avoid these things.

Here is another version of the Law of Literal Interpretation.

> "If the literal sense makes sense, seek no other sense." Cooper P. Abrams

This is the actual definition that literalists use. It entails avoiding exaggeration, etc. Literalists do in practice allow for metaphors and figures of speech. Where they often fail in practice is right at the root of their very own method, which is upholding the exact or primary meaning of a word. See Who's Taken and Who's Left Behind by Joe Ortiz.

However literalists consider this principle to be of major importance. Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. But literalists offer many reasons. We'll look at a few of them here, for example.

The Bible Is Meant To Be Taken Literally.
Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. Now what does the Bible say?

In Hosea 12, God outlines his methods of speaking to man.

> I have also spoken by the prophets, and I have multiplied visions, and used similitudes, by the ministry of the prophets. Hosea 12:10

Let me point out here that the ministry of the prophets includes those who like Moses, Isaiah, Luke, John, etc. were the actual writers of the bible. So their writings are not just historical records i.e. literal, but God's way of speaking by similitude i.e. non-literal. To put it another way, God is telling us that the bible is primarily non-literal.

Now even the historical parts are primarily non-literal. Look what it says here.

> Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come. 1 Corinthians 10:11

To rephrase this, God is saying that the things that happened in the bible are recorded as examples for our learning. So the primary use of them is not to record what happened [literal] but to impart a lesson [spiritual].

Here he is discussing another 'historical' event, showing the non-literal interpretation.

> But he who was of the bondwoman was born after the flesh; but he of the freewoman was by promise.
> Which things are an allegory: for these are the two covenants; the one from the mount Sinai, which gendereth to bondage, which is Agar. Galatians 4:23-24

He is letting us know that the histories recorded in the bible are meant as allegories [lessons and illustrations].

There are many cases where God presents a parable and then shows us how to interpret it.

Look at Jesus explaining the parable of the sower.

> And he taught them many things by parables, and said unto them in his doctrine, Mark 4:2
>
> And he said unto them, Know ye not this parable? and how then will ye know all parables?
> The sower soweth the word.
> And these are they by the way side, where the word is sown; but when they have heard, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts.
> And these are they likewise which are sown on stony ground; who, when they have heard the word, immediately receive it with gladness;
> And have no root in themselves, and so endure but for a time: afterward, when affliction or persecution ariseth for the word's sake, immediately they are offended.
> And these are they which are sown among thorns; such as hear the word, …. Mark 4:13-18

Here Jesus explains each element of the parable and shows their relationships. But he is also giving them a lesson in bible interpretation. Note that he says And he said unto them, Know ye not this parable? and how then will ye know all parables? This is to say, the way that you interpret this parable is the way to interpret parables in general. This applies to the whole bible.

The bible is full of religious laws and rituals, all strictly literal, right? Well looking in Colossians and Hebrews we see there that these things are shadows, that is outlines or patterns. They are images and pictures pointing to something greater.

> Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holyday, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days:
> Which are a shadow of things to come; but the body is of Christ. Col 2:16-17
>
> For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect. Heb 10:1

Another case of religious law with deeper meaning is covered in my article The Case of the Kosher Cheeseburger.

One problem with this law of literal interpretation is that it leads people to think that all they need to understand the bible is a good set of dictionaries. In other words, you can understand most all of the bible without the help of the Holy Spirit.

The bible comes right out and tells us that this will not work!

> But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. 1Co 2:14

Let's rephrase this verse.

> But the natural man [who interprets literally] receiveth not [cannot understand] the things of the Spirit of God: [the things written by the Spirit of God in the scriptures] for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. [because they are only understood spiritually.] 1 Co 2:14

The Bible Is Written In Plain Simple Language That Is Easy To Understand.

Here is another point literalists make. Here are a couple quotes that develop this idea.

> Clearly God did not give us His written word that it should be a source of confusion as to what He wanted to communicate to us. God gave us His word in written form whereby it would be available to all so that everyone could know His truth. Further He wrote it in such a way as to be > clear and not be complicated and misleading. Cooper P Abrams III

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No.

> If God is the originator of language and if the chief purpose of originating it was to convey His message to humanity, then it must follow that He, being all wise and all loving, originated sufficient language to convey all that was in His heart to tell mankind . If language is the creation of God for the purpose of conveying His message, then a theist must view that language as sufficient in scope and normative in use to accomplish that purpose for which God originated it" (Ryrie, Dispensationalism), 81.

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. What does the Bible say? We could easily find many examples of very difficult passages in the Bible, but here is second Peter it comes right out and says that it contains things that are hard to understand.

> 2Pe 3:16 As also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction.

These literalists insist that the Bible is written in plain simple language that is easy to understand. What does the Bible say?

Few acknowledge this, however the Bible itself indicates that it is a Sealed Book. There are three references to sealed book(s) in the Old Testament. The most well known is that in Daniel. Here is part of it:

> Daniel 12:4 But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words and seal the book, even to the time of the end. Many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased."

We find two references in Isaiah on the same topic.

> Isaiah 8:16 Bind up the testimony, seal the law among my disciples.
>
> Isaiah 29: 10 For the LORD hath poured out upon you the spirit of deep sleep, and hath closed your eyes; the prophets and your rulers, the seers hath He covered.
> 11 And the vision of all has become unto you as the words of a book that is sealed, which men deliver to one that is learned, saying, "Read this, I pray thee"; and he saith, "I cannot, for it is sealed."
> 12 And the book is delivered to him that is not learned, saying, "Read this, I pray thee"; and he saith, "I am not learned."

Later in the same chapter of Isaiah, the Lord speaks of a future day when things will be different.

> Isaiah 29:18 And in that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity and out of darkness.

Some writers claim that the book sealed is just the book of Daniel and do not see the connection between that reference and the others mentioned here. But the reference in Isaiah uses the words 'testimony' and 'law'. These words commonly refer to the Word of God. [See Psalm 119 for example.] The quote from Isaiah 29 says the people have no vision. And it's not just a case of not being able to read, the unlearned one can't read. It's a case of not being able to understand what is being read. The learned one cannot read it because it is sealed. That is he can tell you exactly what it says, but he has no idea what it really means!

This speaks of the condition of the Church where we all have a good idea of what the bible says, but cannot come to any agreement about what it means!

> seal the law among my disciples

The book that is sealed is the Bible! The entire Bible, not just Daniel.

There is one sense in which the Word is a Sealed book to the unbeliever. In that the natural man cannot understand the Word since things of the Spirit must be understood by the Spirit. That is with the Spirit of God to enable you to understand His Word.

Yet these references are talking about God's people not being able to understand the Word. Here is an example form 2nd Corinthians:

> 2 Corinthians 3:
> 14 But their minds were blinded; and up until this day the same veil remaineth untaken away in the reading of the old testament, which veil is done away with in Christ.
> 15 But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the veil is upon their hearts.
> 16 Nevertheless when they shall turn to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away.

Notice this passage speaks of a veil blinding their minds. Yet there is a promise that the veil will be removed when they turn to the Lord. Let's not presume to think that this applies only to the old testament Hebrew people. It speaks just as surely to the church of today.

Most Of The Law Refers Only To Israel
This is the idea that the Mosaic Covenant represents God’s dealing with the nation of Israel. As such it is not directly applicable to us.
Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. What does the Bible say?

> For it is written in the law of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn. Doth God take care for oxen?
> Or saith he it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written: ….. 1 Corinthians 9:9-10

Here God is making a direct application of elements of the Mosaic law. So when they say it only refers to Israel and we can ignore what does not apply to us, it’s clearly unscriptural. This type of thinking leads many to believe that they can safely ignore many portions of God’s word. But the Bible says all scripture is important.

> 2Ti 3:16 All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness:

Allegory Avoids The Literal Meaning Of Scripture.

> Resorting to allegory to interpret the bible is a way of avoiding its literal meaning.
> [paraphrased] Robert Bradshaw

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. What does the Bible say?

> But he who was of the bondwoman was born after the flesh; but he of the freewoman was by promise.
> Which things are an allegory: for these are the two covenants; the one from the mount Sinai, which gendereth to bondage, which is Agar. Galatians 4:23-24

Here the bible tells us that certain historical events are to be understood as allegories. But there is no attempt to deny the reality of the original events. Secondly one does not ‘resort’ to allegory. God reveals the allegory to the reader who seeks after Him, as He sees fit.

Another Objection to Allegory

> The allegorizers believe that the Holy Spirit reveals to the serious student the things of the > Spirit, so that he may understand the mysterious secrets that are hidden beneath the surface of the words. If that be so, why does He reveal one thing to one man and something altogether contradictory to another? William A. Simpson

Here the writer is denying the role of the Spirit in understanding the Bible. But is any proof offered? No. Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. And what does the Bible say?

> 1Co 2:13 Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual.
> 14 But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

Literalism brings out the author's original intent.

> One writer, for example, interpreted the food laws of Deuteronomy 14:7 in the following way. The clean animal symbolizes a true Christian who is able to both chew the cud (=meditate on the Word) of God, the Bible) and be cloven-footed (=walk in the world while not being corrupted by it and in the Spirit at the same time). Such interpretations are no doubt ingenious, but have nothing to do with the author's original intent, which should always be our guide when interpreting the Bible. Robert Bradshaw

Here the literalist critic presumes to know the author's original intent.

> The great need today then in determining what the Bible really teaches is a correct and biblical method of interpretation. If the Bible is the Word of God and God's revelation to man, then surely God would not give us His revelation without a way to accurately discern what He meant. For God not to give us a way to interpret the Bible is to leave the interpretation of Scripture to human wisdom that is at best faulty. To have the interpretation of Scripture rest on man's wisdom is to have "flesh" interpreting that which is spiritual. Cooper P. Abrams

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. What does the Bible say?

> Ge 40:8 And they said unto him, We have dreamed a dream, and there is no interpreter of it. And Joseph said unto them, Do not interpretations belong to God? tell me them, I pray you.
>
> 1Co 2:14 But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

God did give us a way to understand the bible. Only it's not found in methods or systems, nor any human wisdom.

Literalism states that the text of the bible can have only one meaning.

> When the words of Scripture were penned they had only one meaning. We should search for that one meaning. To accept multiple interpretations for one scripture passage causes confusion. Scripture itself does not allow for multiple interpretations of a verse. Cooper P. Abrams.

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. What does the Bible say? Once again, look at 1 Corinthians 9.

> > For it is written in the law of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn. Doth God take care for oxen?
> > Or saith he it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written: ….. 1 Corinthians 9:9-10

Could this be a case where the author's original intent was to allow for a double meaning?

Literalism brings out the good news of the gospel.

> The word gospel means good news. Under a literal method of interpretation, the news is always sublime for the believer, with no trace of dread. Under every other method, the hearer is always left with a web of fear stretched across the pit of the stomach. William A. Simpson

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. What does the Bible say?

> Php 2:12 ¶ Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling.
>
> Pr 1:7 ¶ The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge: but fools despise wisdom and instruction.

Literalism brings out the Hope of the Christian.

> Invariably, under every other system of theology besides a literal interpretation there is a diminishing of the hope of the Christian. William A. Simpson

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. Neither is any other proof suggested.

Literalism avoids subjective interpretation.

> Instead of superimposing a meaning on the biblical text, the objective interpreter seeks to discover the author's intended meaning (the only true meaning). One must recognize that what a passage means is fixed by the author and is not subject to alteration by readers. "Meaning" is determined by the author; it is discovered by readers. Our goal must be exegesis (drawing the meaning out of the text) and not eisogesis (superimposing a meaning onto the text).

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. We are expected to accept this reasoning without any proof.

Literalism And Figurative Language.

Literalism does recognize the extensive use of figurative language. It is quite comfortable when it comes to symbolism and figures of speech.

> So you see, a literal interpretation of Scripture recognizes symbols and figures of speech when presented by the author. But we understand them to have literal meanings based on their context, that is, the author's intention. Gary Nystrom

Where literalism falls critically short is when it comes to dealing with typology.

Typology

> "A type may be defined as an Old Testament person, event, or thing having historical reality and designed by God to prefigure (foreshadow) in a preparatory way a real person, event, or thing so designated in the New Testament and that corresponds to and fulfills (heightens) the type A type has a predictive or foreshadowing element to it. It looks ahead and anticipates and points to the antitype - the antitype is greater than and superior to the type" (Zuck, Basic Bible Interpretation) 176, 173).
>
> "In summary, a type must have at least these five elements: a notable resemblance or correspondence between the type and the antitype, historical reality in both the type and the antitype, a prefiguring or predictive foreshadowing of the antitype by the type, a heightening in which the antitype is greater than the type, and divine design" (Ibid), 175.
>
> Examples:
>
> Type: Floodwaters in Noah's day
> Antitype: Water Baptism (1 Peter 3:21)
> Type: Sabbath
> Antitype: The Christian's spiritual rest (Col. 2:17; Heb. 4:3,9, 11)
> Type: Sin Offerings

Antitype: Christ's death as an atonement for the sin (Lev. 5:14-6:7; Heb. 10:12) Todd Swift

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. These ‘rules of typology’ are strictly man’s invention. What does the Bible say? Well the bible speaks of similitudes, types, shadows, figures and allegories. But nowhere does it define these things or restrict their use.

The Key Failure of Literalism

Figures of speech are easy to recognize, symbols are harder. Types and allegories are not obvious in the least. So if we are following the rule of literalism, we are never going to find out types or allegories. This is simply because when types and allegories are used, the literal sense makes sense. And we are told in this case to seek no farther! Figures of speech can be spotted easily. Types and allegories must be revealed to us by the Holy Spirit. Once this is done, they can be analyzed and lessons drawn from them. But if you never seek them, you just won’t get it. And thereby you will miss out on much of what the bible has to say, because, as we read in Hosea 12 above, He speaks to us in similitudes or typology. So we may consider typology to be a key of knowledge since it leads to greater understanding of what God is saying. By eliminating or de-emphasizing typology, literalism takes away one of the Keys of Knowledge.

Now that’s enough examples of reasons offered for literalism. The main problem is literalism itself. Let’s look back at the basic rule of literalism and see how well it holds up.

Literalism Is The Problem

A great number of bible scholars and teachers continually tell us that the proper way to understand the bible is through consistent literal interpretation. To restate it, this Law of Literal Interpretation says:

> Always interpret scripture literally wherever possible.
> "If the literal sense makes sense, seek no other sense."

Once again we find that there is never any scriptural justification offered for adopting this principle. We have found many reasons offered which sound logical and proper, but nothing in the Bible that tells us this is the way to proceed. This is a case of what can happen when we rely on man’s wisdom.

It’s not so much what they are telling us to do, but what this law is telling us not to do? It’s telling us not to seek; seek no other sense. That is not to seek any further than the literal meaning of scripture. But what does the bible say? It says just the opposite. It tells us to seek, long, hard and diligently. We must seek after wisdom with a passion. And what’s more it tells us this in many places all through scripture.

Scriptures on Seeking

> Pr 2:1 My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee;
> 2 So that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding;
> 3 Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding;
> 4 If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures;
> 5 Then shalt thou understand the fear of the LORD, and find the knowledge of God.
> 6 For the LORD giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding.
>
> Mt 7:7 Ask*, and it shall be given you;* seek*, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you:*
>
> Lu 11:9 And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek*, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.*
>
> Ps 27:4 One thing have I desired of the LORD, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the LORD, and to enquire in his temple.
>
> Isa 45:11 Thus saith the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me.

> Jer 33:3 Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.
>
> Pr 3:5 Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding.

Proverbs 3:5 is especially telling. Here God is warning us about depending on man's wisdom, which he depicts as thine own understanding.

The Key of Knowledge

It's a simple matter to under stand what all these scriptures are getting at. The Key of Knowledge is to seek for it. But we are being told by supposed experts not to seek after wisdom and knowledge, especially in typology. This is exactly how the Law of literal interpretation takes away the Key of Knowledge, by teaching us not to seek for it. As we read in Luke earlier:

> Lu 11:52 Woe unto you, lawyers! for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in ye hindered.

So the 'lawyers' who teach literalism today are just like the ones in Jesus' day. They don't acquire any knowledge themselves, and they hinder those who would.
Now consider this quote from Colossians.

> *That their hearts might be comforted, being knit together in love, and unto all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to the acknowledgement of the mystery of God, and of the Father, and of Christ;
> In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.* Colossians 2:2-3

It's telling us that hidden in Christ [who is the Word of God] are all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. This means deep revelation, rich understanding and mature insight await those who seek into the Word after it.
The Bible says to seek after it.
Literalism says 'don't bother looking'.
The literal meaning is all there is. This failure of literalism is starting to become very obvious.

Now look here at what it says in 1 Corinthians 8:

> 1Co 8:2 And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know.

We could easily rephrase this, without loosing any meaning, as follows.

If any man thinks he knows anything about the bible, by understanding the literal meaning, he knows nothing yet as he should. And nothing compared to what he could still learn from the Holy Spirit.

So it's up to us to keep on seeking.

The Law Of Context

Another sacred cow is the law of context. People are quick to jump on you when you quote something out of context, usually if they disagree with the point you are making. Sure scripture can be misinterpreted by taking it out of context. But we see this taken to extremes with the implication that any verse taken out of context is an attempt to twist the scripture.

> The rule of CONTEXT: The meaning must be gathered from the context. Every word you read must be understood in the light of the words that come before and after it. … Seeking the biblical author's intended meaning necessitates interpreting Bible verses in context. Every word in the Bible is part of a verse, and every verse is part of a paragraph, and every paragraph is part of a book, and every book is part of the whole of Scripture. No verse of > Scripture can be divorced from the verses around it. Interpreting a verse apart from its context is like trying to analyze a Rembrandt painting by looking at only a single square inch of the painting. The context is absolutely critical to properly interpreting Bible verses. Ron Rhodes

This writer tells us “No verse of Scripture can be divorced from the verses around it.” Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. How does the Bible deal with verses out of context?

Taking verses of scripture out of context is exactly what the New Testament writers do when quoting the Old Testament scriptures. We have seen it mentioned that the New testament quotes the Old testament over a thousand times. How many of those quotes consider the context? Few if any do. Furthermore in the cases where they do indicate the context it is only to indicate which writer they are quoting.

In the gospels, when Jesus was confronted by scripture quoting opponents, including the Devil, did he ever rebuke them for taking verses out of context? No that was never an issue. [In John 8:5 there was a problem with Pharisees misquoting scripture however. See my article Mighty In Battle.]

So we see context was not an important issue for Jesus or for the New Testament writers. Why is this? Do we have cases where Mathew or Paul is quoting Moses or Isaiah out of context? Or do we have cases where God is quoting himself, and the context does not matter because it’s still the word of God? We even have cases where God quotes himself out of context and does so in a way that deliberately changes the meaning, thereby breaking the law of context! Compare these verses.

> Ho 11:1 When Israel was a child, then I loved him, and called my son out of Egypt.
>
> Mt 2:15 And [Jesus] was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son.

Context is important in studying scripture, but not always necessary. Taking things out of context is not automatically wrong.

Historical School Of Interpretation

This approach majors on the social, linguistic, religious and political setting of the various books, treating them as history and or literature.

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. What does the Bible say?

> Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come. 1 Corinthians 10:11

To rephrase this, God is saying that the things that happened in the bible are recorded as examples for our learning. They are not intended primarily as history or sociology or literature. They are to teach us spiritual lessons.

To repeat what we said earlier, even the historical parts are primarily non-literal.

Another exponent of the historical school has this to say:

> Only by objective methodology can we bridge the gap between our minds and the minds of the biblical writers. Indeed, our method of interpreting Scripture is valid or invalid to the extent that it really unfolds the meaning a statement had for the author and the first hearers or readers. Ron Rhodes

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. The Bible says:

> Mt 11:25 At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes.

This historical approach involves a basic failure to understand the nature of inspiration. On one hand these writers acknowledge that scripture is God inspired, then on the other hand, they try and figure out what the writer meant as if the scripture were the work of the writer.

We have here a failure to understand what God inspired means. They seem to think that God inspires a writer by giving him an idea and then letting him express it in his own words. Actually God gives all the words himself. All the writer does is write what God tells him. His character, opinions, and personality have no bearing. He's just the messenger. God gives the message, and God is the message!

Here is an example from Jeremiah, where God shows us exactly how it works. The text is concerning where Jeremiah has been dictating to Baruch the words of the Lord. Jeremiah is a type of the Holy Spirit who inspires the writer, Baruch, to record his words. The issue is how did the words come to be written.

> Jer 36:17 And they asked Baruch, saying, Tell us now, How didst thou write all these words at his mouth?
> 18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these words unto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ink in the book.

And this is how it works. Baruch is just a writer. He does nothing more than record the words. So his attitude, intention and opinion have nothing to do with what he writes. His social background, historical setting or linguistic patterns are only of minor interest.

It's the same with any writer of the biblical books. They are just recording what God tells them to write. Seeking Jeremiah's original intention makes no more sense that asking your computer the meaning of some document you downloaded. Or if you print a file off the internet, and are puzzled about some part of it, do you ask your inkjet printer what he had in mind? And if you really like what the file says, do you give the inkjet printer a pat on the back for doing a good job?

We don't refer to the Bible as the word of Moses, Joshua, Samuel, David, Isaiah, Ezra, Ezekiel, Jeremiah, Daniel, Hosea, Joel, Amos, Jonah, Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, Paul, Peter, and others. We call it the Word of God. Let's not forget that.

Systematic Theology

The quest for Systematic Theology follows right along after the Historical Approach. It is where scholars make their goal an attempt to explain the entire bible, a piece at a time and bring all of the elements into interpretative unity.

Consider this quote.

> As students our task is to ascertain the meaning of Scripture by seeing each statement within its original social, linguistic, religious and political setting. We must then consider all other statements on the same subject, thus bringing all Scripture into an interpretive unity. And it will not matter whether we study the end times from Mathew 24, Ezekiel, Daniel or Revelation. If we understand any one of them correctly, all the others will tell the same story, although perhaps from a slightly different perspective. Ted Noel

Is there any scripture offered to support this? No. The Bible says:

> Romans 11:33 … how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!

Here he is looking to ascertain the meaning of Scripture by academic methods, and bring it into interpretive unity. His final sentence here mentions correct understanding. The problem is the assumption that one can fully ascertain the meaning of scripture, and that once we understand a part correctly the others will fall into place. So eventually it's possible to have a unified interpretation of the whole bible. All we have to do is figure out what each piece means and fit them together. There are at least two problems with this. One it assumes that the meaning of scripture can be found on the basis of study, without taking into account the guidance of the Spirit. See my articles The Dispute and Why You Can Never Agree for more on this topic.

Next it assumes that the scripture is two dimensional. Like the jigsaw puzzle analogy, just find where each belongs and soon you will have it all figured out. Truth is that there are multiple levels of meaning in God's word. It's not two dimensional at all. There are multiple meanings, multiple correct interpretations, and multiple fulfillments in lots of cases. Also look back at where he quotes Isaiah.

> Isa 28:9 Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to understand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts.
> 10 For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little: KJV

Verse 9 tells us that He teaches doctrine and gives understanding. It does not come from our own efforts. And that he does this to those that are mature in the word, not babes. Verse 10 uses upon or on depending on the translation to show a method of learning. It suggest the idea of building or stacking things here and there. This goes against the image of the jigsaw puzzle, picturing things in three dimensions. When there are multiple meanings, then each revelation one receives can become the foundation for a new revelation. Each one building on the previous, yielding higher levels of understanding that could not be had directly. With the literal and historic approaches, there can be only one level of meaning. These approaches will never get you into the deeper things of the word.

Scripture Must Be Revealed To Us By God.
Let's take a look at this example.

> Mt 16:15 He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am?
> 16 And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.
> 17 And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven.

Ask yourself here about the method old Simon Peter uses in this passage. Did Jesus commend him for coming up with the right answer by saying Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona, for thou hast used the time tested literal hermeneutic? Or is it rather that Simon did not use any method at all. Simon Peter simply received a revelation.

Now here's another interesting example.

> 2Ti 3:15 And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.
> 16 All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness:

Here it says scripture is given by inspiration. But it does not say who is given to. I believe we commonly assume it is given to the writer who records God's word under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. Verse 16 is however vague on this point, and deliberately so for this reason. It allows the possibility of a second meaning, an intentional double meaning. That is this: scripture is given by inspiration to the reader or listener. Verse 15 mentions that it is able to make one wise through faith. We know that faith comes by hearing the word of God. This is where the reader receives the word by inspiration. The word will only profit us when mixed with faith. Knowing the scriptures is one thing but hearing them with the spiritual ears of faith is revelation.

Here are some examples of cases were people clearly heard the word of God, and understood the literal meaning but at the same time were absolutely clueless as to what it all meant.

> Mark 9:32 But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to ask Him.

> Luke 2:50 And they understood not the saying which He spoke unto them.
>
> Luke 9:45 But they understood not this saying, and it was hid from them, that they perceived it not; and they were afraid to ask Him about that saying.*
>
> Luke 18:34 And they understood none of these things; and this saying was hidden from them*, neither* knew they the things which were spoken*.*
>
> John 10:6 This parable Jesus spoke unto them, but they understood not the things of which He spoke unto them.
>
> John 16:
> 16 "A little while, and ye shall not see Me; and again a little while, and ye shall see Me, because I go to the Father."
> 17 Then said some of His disciples among themselves, "What is this that He saith unto us, `A little while, and ye shall not see Me; and again a little while, and ye shall see Me,' and, `because I go to the Father'?"
> 18 They said therefore, "What is this that He saith, `A little while'? We cannot tell what He saith."*

They too knew their scriptures, and heard Jesus' words for themselves, yet could not come to any agreement on the meaning. Yet for them, there came a day when Jesus opened their understanding and explained the scriptures.

> Lu 24:44 And he said unto them, These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me.
> 45 Then opened he their understanding*, that they might understand the scriptures,*

That day is coming for us, and soon.

God Reveals His Word
God Reveals His Word To Those Who Fear Him And Are Willing To Do His Will.

> Ps 25:12 What man is he that feareth the LORD? him shall he teach in the way that he shall choose.
>
> Joh 7:15 And the Jews marvelled, saying, How knoweth this man letters, having never learned?
> 16 Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.
> 17 If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself.

Summary

The Law Of Literalism says you can discover the meaning of scripture by sticking to the root literal meaning, but the scripture says the letter kills. It is the doling out of death.

> Who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life.
> But if the ministration of death, written and engraven in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not stedfastly behold the face of Moses for the glory of his countenance; which glory was to be done away: (2 Corinthians 3:6-7)

Depending strictly on the letter of the law then becomes a covenant with death. The Spirit gives the Word and it’s the Spirit that must give it life.

The Law of Context says the meaning must be gathered from the context but the scripture says Spiritual things are Spiritually discerned.

> 1Co 2:13 Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual.
> 14 But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

The Law Of Historical Research says you can discover the meaning of scripture by analyzing the historical, linguistic, social and cultural context and by considering the life and background of the individual writers but the scripture says:

> Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come. (John 16:13)

The Law of Systematic Theology says you can discover the meaning of scripture a bit at a time, and eventually fit all the pieces of the puzzle together into a unified interpretation, but the scripture says:

> Job 37:23 Touching the Almighty, we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power, and in judgment, and in plenty of justice: he will not afflict.
>
> Ro 11:33 O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!

A sacred cow is stubborn loyalty to an institution [or idea] that impedes progress. For every reason put forth to support these sacred cows, scripture teaches the opposite. It makes you wonder whether [one must conclude that] their purpose is to promote falsehood and prevent you from reaching correct conclusions. [Which is exactly correct.]

The root flaw in these and other sacred cows of bible study is in their fundamental approach which is to say "You can discover the meaning of God's Word, if you use this or these methods." The quest for an objective methodology is just another attempt to rely on self. Perhaps it’s job security for professional scholars. It still reminds me though of someplace where it says, “your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.”

You cannot discover the meaning of God's word.
I cannot discover the meaning of God's word.
Scripture says the Lord teaches it, and that only to the mature among us. Scripture must be revealed. God reveals himself to man, and that by degrees, here a little, there a little and so on.

Will you be content with man’s wisdom or will you Seek After Him?

The Sounds From The Throne

Russell Durose

Sep 2, 2004
The Lord is inviting His apostles and prophets into His Throne room...to hear...to see the GRACEFUL MOVEMENTS, not sudden, not brash, but the graceful movements, that brush along the waves of the heavenly sea, that allow the incense of the prayers of saints of all time to rise up twisting and weaving as the smoke of the calm day. The invitation to see afresh the intricate relationship between the Godhead, the dialogue, the movement of heaven itself which brings forth the essence of God in all things, bringing wholeness and perfection to all things. How much more, the rest for which God has entered, knowing that all flows from Him, and will FLOW TO HIM. How much the angels and creatures marvel, as the plan unfolds, unseen to the human eye and understanding.

Like the symphony that eternally plays, bringing momentary crescendos, shouts, declarations, which manifest moment by moment, as the brilliant glory brings forth distinct facets of wonder, of creation, never stagnant. How much more should our lives portray, the glowing, the brilliant hot coals, where every hue possible is transitioning from colour to colour.

So it is with us, the Holy Spirit transferring this gracefulness to our hearts, making our hearts doorways to heavenly places, where our souls shall conform to heaven's voice. No more abuse of our will, no unkind word, no pretension. But rather, a concentration on that which unfolds moment by moment. In the end we look around and see what we see as ministry fade away, as the discharge of our letters are the final earthly words, from a heavenly source. We contemplate on the gates and foundations and see that what we must envisage and plan for is not the fame and finance, but rather that which is prepared for by the gold of our obedience.

All our fleshy minds melts as the heat, from the throne, of the holiness of His Being, penetrating and overtaking what we know...to what He knows and to what is KNOWN. (Revelation 4)

Let us turn...let us rise...and heed the invitation that comes from the throne...to go up...to opt for something heavenly...let us dare ourselves to forsake what is behind...pressing forward...forgetting...considering what we have learned as being rubbish, that we may KNOW CHRIST! (Philippians 3)

Let us throw of the shackles of this imperfection, allowing for the perfecting work of Him who gave birth to us...(John 3:16). True apostleship is not in the ordering, or authority thereof, but it is seeing the COMPLETION OF THE BRIDE, PERFECTION THEREOF, AND THE UNION OF THE BRIDE WITH HER LOVER, AND OUR PART IN THAT FINAL PLACE...this is what matters!

Let us therefore, listen to the sounds from the Throne.

The Shame Game

Ron Wood

One of the most powerful weapons Satan uses against believers is shame. Shame afflicts people internally in their emotions and affects people externally in their relationships. Shame is an enemy of heartfelt faith and a thief that prevents peace with God. In teaching on deliverance from bondages recently, this was an issue that came up as a hindrance to many people.

My dad habitually abused alcohol. I remember the shame of seeing him drunk. He was a creative man and a talented leader, but was brought down by shame. As an adult, I found grace to forgive him and soon God saved him. The love of my heavenly Father washed me of the feelings of shame I had carried for years.

What is shame and how does it affect us? First, it is more than mere embarrassment.

Shame is an insult to the human soul that becomes lodged in the heart by a penetrating blow. It strikes deep like an arrow into an individual's emotions where self-respect originates. From there, shame releases paralyzing doubts, hobbling accusations, and disqualifying arguments. Once shame has taken root, it remains a source of hidden pollution, difficult to diagnose or dislodge, a constant aggravation that hinders full life or joy or peace.

The Bible says in Ephesians 6:17 that our defense against the devil's fiery darts is the shield of faith. Only a shield strong in faith can extinguish flaming arrows. We can't stop the arrows from being aimed at us: that's part of our job description as warriors for God. But we can intercept them before they strike our vulnerable soul.

Shame was not part of God's original intent for humanity. In the Garden of Eden, the Creator enjoyed daily fellowship with Adam. The Bible specifically points out that Adam was naked but not ashamed. Shame was unknown until after the fall due to sin. Adam and Eve clothed themselves, suddenly self-conscious as they faced their mortality and their alienation from God's glory.

The slithering assault by Satan succeeded in tempting them to sin, thus injecting shame into their relationship with God. They lost their privilege of eternal life; lost their unlimited access to God; and lost the dignity of the image of their Father. Shame still makes people hide. It still makes people cover up their true identity. It still makes people run from the light.

In a universe of free moral agents, the power to choose carries the risk of violating the Creator's will. A way of escape from sin is needed, a Savior. Confession of sin requires honesty with God and faith to receive forgiveness. Just like it is hard for us to comprehend the height from which Adam fell, it is difficult to grasp the awesomeness of the grace our holy God displays when He lifts us out of our sin.

To understand shame, we need to look at the difference between conviction and condemnation. Conviction is good and clean, not unholy. Conviction is the work of the Holy Spirit as He disturbs the conscience of an individual, warning them that they are trespassing. The definition of sin is "to miss the mark," "to fall short," or to "transgress." Jesus said the Spirit of God would convict the world of sin. The good thing about conviction is that it is filled with hope. If you repent, you can return and be healed!

On the other hand, condemnation has no such hope. The voice of condemnation says, "You've always been this way. You will never be able to overcome. You may as well give up, curse God, and die." The purpose of conviction is to restore while the intent of condemnation is to disparage, belittle, weaken, demoralize, and bring despair. Conviction pulls you toward God and toward wholeness. Condemnation makes you want to flee from God's presence and hide.

Shame may begin with insults or disrespect by those you trusted or looked to as authority figures. A true father will never shame his sons or daughters but will affirm them. This is true even when they need correction or discipline.

Verbal shame may take many forms: "You're stupid." "You've always been fat." "You couldn't organize a three-car funeral procession." "Why can't you handle money?" "You're no good." Notice, the most common agent of shame is a human being. The method by which shaming occurs are words: malicious, stinging words.

Shame is actually spiritual slander. It is not based on truth, but is a clever accusation, a distortion of Scripture, half-truths designed to distract and destroy. Shame is like a poisoned blade slid like a sharp knife between the ribs of an unsuspecting believer; a wound infected with a lying spirit. It needs to be cleansed and closed.

Leaders, anyone called of God to stand in an office or under an anointing, are the special targets of shame. Satan forms weapons carefully crafted to unseat these leaders, to impugn their integrity, to undermine their authority, so that he can sow chaos and disorder in the ranks and dishearten them. Gossip is one form of hate mail Satan uses. Another weapon the devil uses is the media.

The media in free nations exercises a powerful position of being a channel of ideas and images. Images can be manipulated and viewpoints can be interjected until the net effect is a fog of wrong thinking which blurs the real truth. The media, in a sense, can cast a spell over the minds of those who absorb its images without critical analysis. This type of manipulation is also known as witchcraft. Paul said believers could be "bewitched" to the point that the cross of Christ was obscured (Galatians 3:1). If it was true then, it is still possible today, especially with the awesome power of television to inject ideas and images that warp right thinking.

Many of you reading this may say, "I've been slimed with shame!" Like a computer infected with a virus, you've carried an indictment against yourself that the Court of Heaven did not issue. How do you get free? What do you do to escape the emotional quagmire of shame?

Generally, people are bound by shame in certain areas. In women, the area of self-image is often tainted with shame. The mental tape player repeats, "I'm not attractive. I'm not pretty. I'm overweight." With men, the shame may have to do with youthful exposure to sexual images that left a defiled imagination or unrealistic expectations of their spouse. These areas produce inhibitions or bondages in the sexual area and contaminate the joy of acceptance and fulfillment in marriage. Or maybe you were left shamed and shackled by bankruptcy or business failure, or you suffered by comparison with your peers, or you endured poverty as a child or abuse as a spouse or were painfully divorced.

Other people have been targeted by Satan to diminish their faith or reduce their anointing. In fact, the more grace God has given you, the more you may be assaulted to thwart your effectiveness. The calling of God on your life may lead you down paths of great peril as a pioneer. Realistically, not all pioneers survive the journey through uncharted territory. Many arrived wounded, suffering loss of property or lives. The suffering they encountered along the way was not because they were wicked but because they were willing to obey God and take a risk of faith. Having survived, can they now shake off the shame of their long ordeal?

The ability to endure suffering without being shamed is a mark of maturity for God's servants. It is the perseverance that accompanies real faith. Paul said in 2 Timothy 1:8, "Do not be ashamed of the testimony of our Lord or of me His prisoner…" In verse 12, he writes, "I suffer these things, but I am not ashamed." His self-esteem was not connected to his circumstances. His identity and affirmation came from God not from men.

When I make a mistake, or when I realize I have sinned and need to confess it, I know to accept the blame, but not the shame. What do I mean by that? I mean that I accept responsibility for what I have done. I own up to my failure, my error, or my sin. But I quickly take it to God and put it in the light with Him. God is quick to forgive me and to erase the record. (See 1 John 1:9-10) Shame cannot remain present when the healing light of God shines on it!

For those of you who have endured the crippling effects of prolonged shame, the Lord has a promise for you: "You will forget the shame of your youth." (Is. 54:4-6) The rejection and the grief can be healed permanently by walking in the light of truth about Jesus Christ and the truth of who we have become by faith in the Son of God.

"The Shame Game!"© 2004 by Touched by Grace Inc, P.O. Box 12749, Wilmington, NC 28405. For more resources, visit www.touchedbygrace.org.

Lord Of The Breakthrough!
Ron Wood

www.touchedbygrace.org

Our nation stands in need of a moral rebirth. Leadership seems assaulted on every side, as though anarchy were desirable above any government. Our personal lives or our ministries may seem filled with frustration. The Church seems caught midway between revival and restoration, or a return to religious irrelevancy. Indeed, this is a day to seek the Lord.

The Lord spoke to some of us in worship just a short while ago that a breakthrough was imminent, that the day of the release of the Lord from our constraints was near at hand.

To illustrate this, picture a powerful, fearless horse that has been hobbled. Capable of great strides, possessing amazing speed, yet virtually immobilized by simple loops of weak rope tied around its ankles.

A hobbled horse is impotent. But God promises to loose their power: "For the Lord of hosts (armies) has visited His flock…And will make them like His majestic horse in battle…" (Zech. 10:3 NAS)

In order to use his God-given strength, a war horse has to be un-hobbled. He needs a breakthrough so he can break out and break forth and run the race.

When I heard this word, "breakthrough," intercessors had already heard it. Prophetic worshippers zeroed in on it next. I simply caught the persistent highlights of the Holy Spirit's word to the church. "He who has an ear, let him hear what the Sprit says to the churches." (Rev. 2:17 NAS)

Later, the Lord presented this same word to us again, only now in the sense of finishing what had already been started. Prophetic intercessors were told: Pray through for your Breakthrough!

You may never have heard the expression, "I've prayed through about it." Older saints know what this is. I used to hear my mother use this expression a lot. When you've done it, you know it. It means to press your case in prayer, to not let up, to not give up, until you have the inward assurance from the Lord that you have been heard on high. John said "And if we know that He hears us, we know we have the requests which we have asked from Him." (1 John 5:15 NAS)

You've prayed through when you know you have the answer, when you know your cry has been heard in heaven.

Why do we need to pray for something that God has already promised? In the natural, it doesn't make sense, does it? But in the kingdom of God, we are co-laborers with the Lord. This is the great mystery and also the great privilege of prayer. God's will is only potential until it is activated on earth by our obedience and by our faith. Therefore, to be able to hear the Spirit's prompting and pray God's agenda into reality is vital to our success.

For me, one of the questions is how to know what is my part versus knowing what is God's part. What will God do? What do I have to do? As we mature in the Lord, this balance can change and may require more discernment.

In Ezekiel 36:37 God says, "This also I will let the House of Israel ask Me to do for them…" Yet God had already promised to do it ten times, saying in the preceding verses, "I will…" Why is this? We play an important role in advancing God's kingdom. God's will and our will must line up, first in prayer, and then in our obedience of faith.

There is genuine power associated with following up on prophetic promises. There is a big difference between praying to discover God's will and praying fervently for God's will to be done on earth once His will is revealed to us. Once we know God's will, it is rebellious for us to pray a weak or uncertain "if it be Thy will" kind of a prayer.

When the Spirit of God speaks forth the heart and mind of the Lord (and that will always line up with the Bible), we know what the will of God is. Then we have to act on what we've heard. We can realize we've been authorized to petition the Lord for this very thing. We can pray with confidence!

Knowing God's will, we are energized by the Praying Spirit to resist Satan's discouragements and his robberies. By faith, we can be confident and persistent in pressing our claim by both private and corporate prayer. (Never forget the power of small groups!) We can prevail in our battle by using the spiritual weapon of praise. We can exercise powerful agreement by harmonizing with the Scriptures and by agreeing with prophetic declarations as they are spoken to the church.

When I heard this word from the Lord, I immediately thought of the occasion when King David had been installed and yet vicious new enemies rose up to destroy him. This insightful story is found in 2 Samuel 5. This is an amazing analogy and illustration of coming to power to lead God's people in a kingdom dynamic amidst great conflict.

David was a shepherd who served his father. After being chosen by God and anointed by a prophet, he was harassed and chased by Saul for years, yet he kept his integrity and upheld his honor toward authority even when it mistreated him. Finally, he ruled over Judah for 7 years and was then anointed by Israel as king for another 33 years. He was a type of Christ in these matters. He also is a type (O. T. symbol or shadow of a N. T. reality) of New Testament apostolic team development, warring with the help of mighty men and prophets and using prayer and praise and worship to win battles.

After David consolidated his victory and took the stronghold of Zion at Jerusalem, a last great assault came against him from the Philistines (modern term: Palestinians) in an effort by Satan to resist God's kingdom being established over His people and thus blessing them in their inheritance in the land.

Look at David's tactics in order to engage the enemy: he inquired of the Lord (vs. 19), he acted on what he heard (vs. 20), and then God gave him a mighty break-through! In fact, David named that place of battle Baal-Perazim, "Master of the Breakthrough."

Do you need a breakthrough? Then do something extraordinary! Add fasting to your prayer. Get up earlier to pray more. Schedule private prayer three times a day: morning, noon, and night. Meet up with a prayer partner and agree together concerning key issues. Let your heart become broken over the matter so that your tears are mingled with your prayers. Pray according to Matthew 7:7- A*sk,* S*eek,* K*nock.*

What area have you felt hobbled in? In what areas have you felt defeat, humiliation, confusion, delays, and frustration? Where the land is being contested by the devil, our inheritance is likely buried. Here lies the victory, if we hold on to our title-deed.

Hold on to your faith by choosing to believe what God has said. Let the fire test your faith. If we keep our heart right and guard it from wicked attitudes and feed our faith even when we are mistreated, if we press the battle against the enemy and don't become passive or pinned down to the mat, then we can surely expect to see God break through in our behalf.

The Lord doesn't just give us a breakthrough-- He is our Breakthrough! And with God, all things are possible.

© "Lord of the Breakthroughs" 2004 by Ron Wood, President of Touched By Grace Inc., P.O. Box 12749, Wilmington, NC 28405. For resources, visit our website at www.touchedbygrace.org. Permission is given to copy or share this article as long as the content and byline remains intact. We are touched by grace to touch the world!

The Sifting Has Begun In Earnest

Susan Cummings

The sifting has only just begun in earnest, child. You say to me, “Father, I have already been sifted.” But, I say to you, that the enemy is desiring to sift out all of Mine in this hour. For He has little time, and will come and press My Own to see if they will break. But I say to you, that nothing that is rooted and firmly planted IN Me will break, nor will it fall.

The Sifting is for My Purposes as well. For I allow the enemy to sift, press, and accuse to show forth My Glory in My submitted Vessels. For I am glorified through your trials, and tribulations. I am seen through the dark night of your soul, and the travails of the birthing. I am the one who brings you through. I am the one who sustains you, and has been with you from the beginning, and I will still be, until the end.

This sifting, is only the beginnings of the shakings that will greatly increase upon the earth. Men’s hearts will fail them and great anguish will be their portion, if they do not firmly anchor themselves into Me. The sufferings that you walk through, are nothing compared to what many do, without My Grace. I took the punishment for your sins, and thereby My Grace shields you from the sting and the curse of them, so you do not have to bear the full weight of the attacks.

Job walked through many siftings, and did not lose His Faith in Me. He did not understand why He was tested, as He was obedient to Me, but He trusted Me enough, to stand till the end. There are few who truly will stand till the end, as they do not truly trust in Me, and not in their own strength or wisdom. For many truly will not lay down their lives, and pick up Mine.

I am sifting the wheat from the chaff. The husk from the seed. The hard outer layer from the hearts of My Own. It is the treasure within that is now coming forth, as the sifting unwraps My Workmanship, and also brings you out into My Place for you. The winds of accusation are only the first of the opposing winds that will blow across My House. Accusation is only the outer breaking of the ego, and the will that then is exposed, then the true heart can be unveiled and dealt with. This is what I am doing, breaking the hearts, so I can release My Glory.

Out of the treasure of the heart, the mouth will speak. I will have a pure House, with clean hands and pure hearts, who will speak My Truth and My Love, and who will not compromise to save themselves or their reputations, or their images. I will be the only Image that people will see, when they look at My Children. So, the sifting has begun, and will increase till the shaking becomes a violent quaking throughout My House.

The winds of adversity precede the winds of opposition. Opposition determines who will serve Me fully and who will not. For many will save their lives, rather than lose them for My Gospels sake. Many will not count a soul more precious than their own life. Many will deny them from entering into My House, so they can look good. Self-Image is the idol that I am bringing down, for it is erected in the Holy Place instead of Me.

No unclean thing will be erected in your heart, if it is given to Me. For I will not be second place to you, or to anyone. The siftings reveal who is seated upon the throne of your heart. It will be too costly for most, for most love themselves, and will not crucify their lives, and to be utterly forsaken, and enter into identity with Me. Unless you are willing to suffer, and to be as nothing, and to die to all that you are, then you will not know Me, nor be One with Me, nor will you remain in My House.

So, embrace My Siftings. Rejoice over your trials and temptations, as My Son did. Liken yourself to Me, and count it all as joy, and receive My Grace. For My Grace is given to all, who fully come to Me, and deny themselves. Those who will not do this, will fall under the weight of their own choice, as they did not dig deep enough into their own hearts to be firmly rooted and grounded into Me. Such are those who will be swept away in the flood of opposition that now comes.

All that you are, and all that you will be, and all that you shall do IN Me, has already been seen by Me, so trust Me, as I walk with you through the siftings and the shakings, for I am ever with you. I know the hours of heaviness that you walk through each day. I know the voices that accuse you falsely, and thereby slander Me also. I know the hurts that you wear because of the unjust system that you have lived in, but know that I Am the Lord of Hosts, and I will repay all to it's fullness. Nothing will be left unturned, or unchanged.

Everything will change.
Everyone will choose.

For The Hour of Trial has already begun, and so few have embraced it. So few, have recognized Me in it. So few, understand that I AM in control of all things in the earth. I allow or disallow according to My Will and Purposes for all men. Everything that happens is in MY Control and in My Foreknowledge. All things work together for good, to those who love Me, and who walk in Obedience to Me. Through such I will be glorified.

My Glory will be seen through each who receives Me in this hour, and who knows that I AM with them, and have their life In My Hands. This hour will show who loves themselves, more than Me. The sifting has brought a settlement and a comfortableness has settled in, now the shaking will bring the total breaking.

No man will sleep through the breaking. No man will stand through the breaking. For all who do not fall willing upon the rock, will be crushed under it. I will be the Lord of all, or of nothing, in your lives. I will be the Rock upon which you will stand in this short night.

The sifting has served it's purpose, and you have come forth, with your garments of white.
But woe to those who embrace the night.
Woe to those who are not found standing in MY Light.

-Susan Cummings
11-10-04
7:05 pm

http://groups.msn.com/CummingsFamilyAdventures
http://topica.com/lists/JustHisWords
http://www.xsorbit6.com/users/remnantaflame/index.cgi

The Battle Has Already Begun

Susan Cummings

The battle has already begun,
and the storm has announced it's marching song, and the shaking of the camps has begun quickening the pace of the falling sun.

The drums are beating out a new sound.
The scrolls are unrolling, and the readers are making it plain.
All will now be brought forth, for the final advancement has begun.

All have their armor, and their final orders.
The Lord is riding through the camp, amongst his warriors who will now arise in readiness for the final unveiling.

The decree has been given,
and the sounding forth has begun.
Trumpets blaring and drums beating
The point-men are now ready to run.

The establishment of Goshen now commences, for the storm now begins its trek from end to end and across the lands as the scouts now prepare to walk their given paths.

Ears attuned to the beating of the drums, hearts in unison with the Son's following the Lord's battle tune to the awaiting battle front.

Ever watching and ever climbing, past the seas of worldly dining Marching forth with the Flaming Torch
Ascending the Hill of the Lord

The signal fires have been lit and the cry of the lineman has gone forth scanning the darkening horizon moving on to the sides of the North

Gates of Brass and Gates of Iron will fall before the wailing sirens
The Truth will now reveal
Those who bear the Lord's seal

The Battle has already begun and the Kingdom men now run
Moving forth with the Sword of Truth
Preparing the way for the flaming Hoofs

The Word uttered from the beginning now culminating the days of men and bringing forth the final chapters heaven and earth beat in agreement

Hearts uniting with the Son releasing the four winds for their final run as the Remnant climbs the Mountain of the Lord leading the sheep into the hidden rooms

Hearken to the sound of the shaking ground
Seek the Lord while He may be found
For the Battle has now finally begun reaping the souls of earthen men.

-Susan Cummings
11-07-04
10:29 pm

http://groups.msn.com/cummingsfamilyadventures
http://topica.com/lists/JustHisWords
http://www.xsorbit6.com/users/remnantaflame/index.cgi

The Storm Is Coming!

Julie Joyner

placesofrefuge@cox.net
http://propheticjournal.injesus.com

Sunday, May 30, 2004

I have lived in Oklahoma my whole life. One thing I really like about Oklahoma are the thunderstorms. They get really wild. I have heard people who move away from here say they really miss the storms.

So tonight we had a storm. The thunder was getting pretty bad so we turned on the tv (we have good insurance) to check out the weather warnings. The tv stations here spend megabucks and compete for who has the best storm warning equipment. This stuff is so sensitive they can see rotations in these storms. They have this kind of radar and that kind of radar and I have no clue what all it is.

So this storm tonight was a tornadic storm. There were two tornados on the ground not too far from where we live. That was an hour an a half ago and they are still tracking this thing and it is starting to wind down but they still have tornado warnings out for some counties. This thing was producing tornados for about several hours - it tracked almost all the way across the state - from west of Oklahoma City and went east of Tulsa.

This is scary and exciting. I often thought if not for what I was doing for the Lord I would like to be a storm chaser. There have been no reports of injuries or deaths - Praise the Lord. So I mention this because there is a storm coming to the United States.

This thing is going to plow across the country and like this storm there will be certain spots that will be hot spots in this storm. This storm tonight was a prophetic picture of what is to come. The weather guy just said that this storm tonight was tornadic from the time it left the Texas panhandle ALL THE WAY ACROSS THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA.

That is an intense storm y'all--Oklahoma is not a small state. This storm coming to the United States is going to be like that all the way across the country. Last year the Lord took me to Revelation 18 and started talking to me about this coming storm.

I have to say at this point that He did not say to me that the United States was Babylon. He did tell me that what is coming would be like what is described in Revelation 18. It says that destruction came in an hour. I can relate to that because of seeing how quickly tornados can spring up and destroy anything in their path.

It also says that the people of the earth mourned because they suddenly had no market for their goods which speaks of total economic destruction. This storm coming to the United States will come suddenly and it will leave behind economic devastation.

I don't know about other people who live here but I can tell when we will probably have a storm. There can not be a cloud in the sky but it will have a funny tint to it-like a slight haze. Then after a time the clouds build up. Things get really quiet. You can look at the trees and not a leaf will be stirring.

I believe that describes the time we are in. Now is the time to seek the Lord like never before. We all need wisdom about going through this coming storm.
Grace and Peace,
Julie

The Superlative Nature of God!
Debra Westbrook

12/3/04
Superlative: surpassing all others; supreme; excessive; the utmost degree of something; an exaggerated expression of PRAISE

Reflecting on the glorious nature of our God, I am easily reminded that God's very nature and character can only be described in superlative words, for anything less would not honor Him with the glory that He truly deserves. For He alone is truly a God to be described in our days with superlative words! How easily we forget this as we often use superlative words to describe so many lesser things that we place a high value on and esteem in our lives. The world casually tosses out superlatives to describe their latest material possession such as a car or a vacation! This is just one example and there are many!

We are in the world but not of the world and our language, our very words, should reflect the superlative character of God, making a distinct contrast with the world and its focus and desire and what it describes as awesome, magnificent, and mighty! He alone is a God that is unsurpassed in beauty and excellence and glory! I am immediately reminded of a few verses from the book of Isaiah.

Isaiah 46:9-10
9 Remember the former things of old,
For I am God, and there is no other;
I am God, and there is none like Me,
10 Declaring the end from the beginning,
And from ancient times things that are not yet done,
Saying,'My counsel shall stand,
And I will do all My pleasure,' NKJV

Isaiah 40:25-26
25 "To whom then will you liken Me,
Or to whom shall I be equal?" says the Holy One.
26 Lift up your eyes on high,
And see who has created these things,
Who brings out their host by number;
He calls them all by name,
By the greatness of His might
And the strength of His power;
Not one is missing. NKJV

These are powerful words spoken by God Himself, speaking forth that He is not a God to be compared and contrasted with anything or anybody.......He alone is God.........there is no other!

Isaiah 9:6-7
6 For unto us a Child is born,
Unto us a Son is given;
And the government will be upon His shoulder.
And His name will be called

Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty God,
Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.
7 Of the increase of His government and peace
There will be no end,
Upon the throne of David and over His kingdom,
To order it and establish it with judgment and justice
From that time forward, even forever.
The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this. NKJV

God defines Himself as the great I AM and in that superlative definition of Himself is encapsulated the very essence of His greatness. There is no one greater, not one mightier, more loving, more faithful and true. Everything flows from Him and to Him and through Him. In every situation the great I AM flows in the superlative nature of His character.

This is a very simple word being given but one that makes us stop and think about our spiritual perception of our God by the very words in which we describe Him. The superlative nature of His character should be described in the midst of an exaggerated expression of PRAISE as is stated above......................nothing less for He alone is worthy. Let our PRAISE ring forth with superlatives and let our PRAISE bring down anything that rises up against the knowledge of God, for He alone is worthy of all honor and all glory and all praise. Change your perception of this glorious God and you shall change your life! Let PRAISE ring forth in new songs which reflect the majesty and grandeur of the soon and coming King, Jesus Christ.

Is your God too small? Lift up your heads! Lift up your eyes for there is truly none like our God! Do not reduce Him to the depth of your current understanding but bring Him up to the highest place where He describes Himself............

Exodus 3:14
14 And God said to Moses, "I AM WHO I AM." NKJV

Revelation 19:11-16
Now I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse. And He who sat on him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness He judges and makes war. 12 His eyes were like a flame of fire, and on His head were many crowns. He had a name written that no one knew except Himself. 13 He was clothed with a robe dipped in blood, and His name is called The Word of God. 14 And the armies in heaven, clothed in fine linen, white and clean, followed Him on white horses. 15 Now out of His mouth goes a sharp sword, that with it He should strike the nations. And He Himself will rule them with a rod of iron. He Himself treads the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God. 16 And He has on His robe and on His thigh a name written:
KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.

Revelation 22:12-13
"And behold, I am coming quickly, and My reward is with Me, to give to every one according to his work. 13 I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End, the First and the Last."
NKJV

Revelation 22:16-17
16 "I, Jesus, have sent My angel to testify to you these things in the churches. I am the Root and the Offspring of David, the Bright and Morning Star."
17 And the Spirit and the bride say, "Come!" And let him who hears say, "Come!" And let him who thirsts come. Whoever desires, let him take the water of life freely.

NKJV
Drink deeply of the ONE who has called you and who knows you by name!

Superlative Words describing God

Awesome: to fear, to be afraid; to stand in awe of, to be awed; to fear, to show reverence, to honor, to respect; to cause astonishment and awe, to be held in awe; submissive and admiring fear inspired by authority or power; profound and humbly fearful reverence

Magnificent:
excellent; increased; magnified; splendor; might; great in deed or exalted in place; impressive to the mind or spirit

Extraordinary: going beyond what is usual, regular, or customary; exceptional to a marked extent; remarkable

Amazing: to fill with wonder; astound; to show or cause astonishment

Mighty: valiant; champion; chief; strong; warrior, deliverer; able; powerful

Glorious:
weighty; honorable; abundant; rich reputation; to be heavy; rich

There are so many more. One only needs to dive into Scripture to see the superlative nature of our God!

Rivers of Eden
PO Box 202154
Arlington, Texas 76006
http://www.riversofeden.com
d.westbrook@att.net

The Seed Of Apostasy

Chip Brogden

"...these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation become offended and fall away (Luke 8:13b)."

"What Did You Expect?" is more than the rhetorical question of an alleged cynic, but an axiom for determining just why you get so frustrated and disappointed with others. In every case, it is because you expect something from them that you did not get. If we were to love, as Christ, we would expect nothing, and be pleasantly surprised in the event we do receive "a little drop of kindness" in return. But such times are rare.

Jesus told us instead to expect persecution, excommunication, and tribulation. Since Christians today expect blessing, acceptance, and prosperity, it's easy to see why so many are setting themselves up for a big disappointment when GOD does not meet their expectation. Ultimately, you will apply the same expectations upon God as you do upon people, holding Him personally responsible for what THEY did or did not do to you. The seed for apostasy and falling away is planted in my heart, in your heart, in every Christian heart: that is, the unrealistic and unbiblical perception of how we expect God and other people to treat us.

Jesus knew what was in the heart of men. He could perceive their reasoning and murmurings against Him. This is why He could love unconditionally - He expected nothing in return. Why should He? People were and are intrinsically self-centered, self-serving and self-preserving. It is the nature of Adam, and it is our nature. True, Christians now have a new nature, but most only know of that new nature in theory, not by experience.

Jesus did not expect His disciples to remain faithful to Him simply because He washed their feet. His knowledge of people gave Him the liberty to just love them and not expect anything in return. He could wash the disciples' feet knowing they would all forsake Him. It was not as if He became angry when they left, "after all I've done for them." That's OUR way. We keep a mental ledger of debits and credits and EXPECT others to treat us fairly, or support us, etc. just because we applied the Golden Rule to them. If we were in His place, our line of reasoning would be: I can count on Peter, James and John; the rest I am not as sure of; Judas will likely betray me; but, if I show them unconditional love, wash their feet, and pray for them, surely they will stand with me during my time of suffering.

O Christian, how many times have you reasoned thusly, adding up your debits and credits with others and expecting them to treat you as you have treated them? How many times have you expected the preacher to visit you, the neighbor be kind to you, the friend to listen to you, the husband to love you, the wife to honor you, the children to obey you, the parents to understand you? What did you expect? To be applauded? To be affirmed? To be understood? To be appreciated?

O preacher, what did you expect? The praise of the masses? The universal recognition of your special gift? The outward trappings of a successful ministry, with a one hundred-fold return of luscious fruit? Did you expect to be consulted as a dauntless leader, hailed as a church-growth expert, lauded as God's man or woman of the hour?

Yes, you expected it, I expected it, we all expected just a little something from others - and therein lies the problem: no, not in what others did to you, whether it was just or unjust, or what they failed to do, whether in negligence, forgetfulness, or spite. The crux of the matter, the point of stumbling, is your unrealistic expectation that people will behave in a predictable, godly, Biblical, Christ-like, loving manner. Because more times that not, they don't.

And that upsets us. We expect people to approve of our writings, our music, our "word", our ministry, our insight, our revelation, our values, our doctrinal position. And they expect the same of us, and God help the one who fails to render credit where credit is due! The "I" is always hidden behind such a desire, so it is no wonder that we become upset when we are not afforded the appreciation and respect we think we deserve. If they are not Christians, we could shrug and say, "What do you expect? They don't even know the Lord." Ah, but then, people who claim to know the Lord (maybe some who really do) fail to meet your expectations too. We can align our expectations such that we do not expect compassion from a sinner, but what about when compassion is lacking from a saint? My, what a test this is! We can overlook the insults and offenses and misdeeds of the lost and make excuse for them because they are not saved. How then do you make excuse for those who mistreat you while claiming to be on God's side? I maintain that the "like-minded brethren" are the most difficult to get along with.

Then of course, one of those "well-meaning" preachers will tell you that you can expect to be prosperous, healed, and victorious. Hope rises, and you believe. "Expect a miracle!" they shout. And the prosperity you expected does not materialize; the healing does not "manifest"; and victory seems to be way out on the horizon, well beyond your outstretched hands.

The time it takes varies from individual to individual, but each one of us facing the cumulative effect of unmet expectations reaches the same fork in the road. Eventually the focus of our attention shifts from what people have done, to what God has NOT done. It seems to us in such a place that God seldom, if ever, intervenes on our behalf, defends our cause, or solicits what we want from other people. Just once, just ONCE, we'd like to see that gossip struck dumb. Just once we'd like to see that lustful fellow made blind, if only for a season! Perhaps those who stretch forth their hand against us would get leprosy - then they will listen! Maybe one little angel to come down from heaven in the middle of it all and tell your adversaries, "All of you are wrong, and this child of God is right." It would be so easy for God to wave His hand and make everything just so, set you on high among the people, and proclaim His unwavering support of you and His eternal disdain for them!

But such an awesome display of power never comes. And it probably never will. Much intercession is centered around this unrealistic expectation that we can control people, events, nations, and God Himself through fasting, prayer, travail, and tears. How often the "me, me, me" is hidden behind our requests, even our holiest and most spiritual intercessions. We expect that God will answer us in a particular way, according to our limited thought and human reasoning - which, again, is largely self-serving.

We worship God, and expect that He will afford us with some tangible evidence or feeling of joy, peace, strength or nearness of His presence. It is in a sense much like Pavlov's dog, who learned how to press a button in order to get a treat. Is this Spirit and Truth?

We read and study the Bible, expecting that God will grant us revelation into His Word, that we may grow in spiritual knowledge and Christian maturity. Or, preacher, you expect to get your Sunday sermon or midweek lesson out of the text before you. But there comes a time when, as Nee says, the Bible looms before you as a massive rock from which you cannot obtain nourishment. What then?

What do we do when He doesn't answer as we expect Him? What then, O Christian? What will you do? What will you believe? Perhaps you will be like Job's wife. Curse God and die, she spat. Why retain your integrity any longer? Not just die, but CURSE GOD first, then go ahead and die! Don't just roll over, Job! You've got some anger going on in there, don't you? You've got a little bitterness in your heart, huh? God blessed you once, but today you are cursed! God prospered you once, but today you are bankrupt! God healed you once, but today the flesh hangs off your bones! You are a stinking mess. You are a bum, a loser, a has-been. This is the result of your life of faith! This is how God eventually treats all His children, by sending them to a cruel cross and crucifying them on it, naked before the world, helpless before the religious mafia, powerless before the devil! You were mistaken somewhere, Job. You had God all wrong. You messed up somewhere along the line. Give up Job. Curse God and die!

Isn't it interesting? When God behaves as we expect Him to - the raise comes, the transfer goes through, the cancer is healed, the marriage is restored, the storm passes us by - we do not protest that we are unworthy, or argue with God's decision to bless us. Unless it is an unusual display of grace we may scarcely give God the credit. Ah, but let God delay Himself, or "fail" to deliver as expected, and behold how quickly our countenance is darkened against Him!

Are people your problem? No. Is God your problem? No! YOU are your problem, and specifically, your expectation is your downfall. Sure, expect great things of God - but qualify what you mean by great. Don't think great things means likeable things, pleasant things, easy things. I tell you plainly that you can expect the opposite. Since you and I were born with an Adamic nature which makes us inherently selfish, stubborn, and greedy, it behooves God to lead us along a path that of self-denial, foregoing what we "like" in favor of conformity to the image of His Son, who is anything but self-ish.

So when we look at Job we see that he was righteous, but he was ignorant. All he knew was blessing, prosperity, and living in the "hedge." Yes, it's lovely to live there in the hedge. Everything he touched was blessed; he was protected from failure. Did Job worship God as a result? You bet! And like most, thought that the blessing was a result of his own righteousness and servitude. But Satan pointed out that that the hedge of blessing and protection was the very thing that kept Job so faithful.

Therefore the testing of Job was a valid test, a crucial one, and a crucible through which each Christian will be purged, sifted, and tried. To what end? It is summed up in the words of Job himself as he neared the end of his ordeal: "I have heard Thee by the hearing of the ear: but now my eye seeth Thee." BUT NOW! BUT NOW! BUT NOW! Before he heard about Him, but now he sees Him, and falls to the ground. Before he worshipped Him having heard, now he worships having seen, and known. I submit that God set him up for such experiential knowledge by allowing him to be subjected to the assaults of the devil, the harshness of his environment, the misunderstanding of his friends, the loss of his family and material possessions, and his physical infirmity. I submit that if anyone desires to take up the cross and follow Christ such testing is the only realistic expectation His disciple can entertain.

Many quickly point out that Job was blessed more in the end than in the beginning; but if getting doubly blessed is our purpose for enduring such affliction then we have failed the very purpose of such a test, and such an attitude only proves man's capacity for being self-serving, even in the worst of circumstances.

I am writing to you, O Christian, who is so full of expectation of what the spiritual life should be like, you who are so sure that you know God, so acquainted you are with His Word! Have you seen God? Or are you worshipping what you have heard, bowing to an invisible force in the clouds, expecting some blessing or feeling or voice or gift? Where will you be, when there is no "Blessed Assurance", when all the evidence points to your failure as a Christian, when "peace like a river" is no longer "attending" your way?

I am writing to that individual who is on the slippery slope of apostasy, ready to renounce their faith (not openly of course, but inwardly) because of some unrealized dream or hope or wish or expectation that after ALL you've been through, surely God will bless you or compensate you or reward you or answer you! Beware! It is more likely that God wishes to know if you worship Him for His gifts, or for Himself; and of course you know that HE knows, it is YOU that must know. The Lord knew, and Peter thought he knew, but by cock's crow Peter knew he didn't know, and we know he didn't know either. Some of you think you know, but you don't know, not yet. Perhaps you need a lion's den to be brought face to face with God. Perhaps a flaming furnace to encounter the Fourth Man. Perhaps you need a cross of splintery wood instead of shiny gold electroplate.

How easy and grandiose it is to speak of martyrdom and dying for Christ. But anyone can DIE for Him: how many will LIVE for Him? The test is not in the dying, but in the living; not in one ultimate act of sacrifice, but in a million little obediences every day! Yes! If you cannot, if you will not, take up the cross and die in the mundane and hum-drum of Today, in the HERE and NOW, you are not fit to die the martyr's death in the unknown darkness of some future persecution.

People do not turn away from their faith and become apostate when threatened with death. They fall away when they become bitter against people, angry with God, and offended with His manner of dealing with them. It isn't a sudden decision you are confronted with, but an invisible thing which starts from the core of your being and works its way into your soul. It is certainly a clear and present danger, and it is within you now, maybe in an inert, embryonic form, maybe in a full-blown disillusionment and anger against God, but it is THERE, waiting for you to succumb to it, feeding itself on your expectation.

Let us draw near to God, and ask to be reduced to Christ. Let us accept whatever He deems beneficial to us, whether it is according to our expectation or not. Know that by the time the rooster crows you may curse and swear that you don't know the Man. Blessed is the one who finds no occasion for stumbling in Him. Love people, but expect nothing from them. Enjoy God, love Him, obey Him: be content with that.

Copyright ©1997-2004 Watchman.Net.
Permission is granted for non-commercial (free) distribution provided this notice appears.
Email: info@watchman.net
http://www.watchman.net

The Season Of Birth Is At Hand

Ching Co

6/03/04

Birthing and Intercession
(ching@gsilink.com)

My people, as you enter into My presence, My Spirit will overshadow many of you in various ways.

Some of you will began to feel My heart and My cry.
Some of you will felt the pain and sin of people and nations.
Some of you will felt the oppression of the enemy upon My people.
Some of you will have vision of the future victory in Me and faith, laughter and rejoicing will rise up within you.

Some of you will even feel weak physically and drain out emotionally.

Some of you will feel dryness in your hearts.

Some of you will not feel anything special going on at all.

There will be different manifestation but it is the work of the same Holy Spirit in your midst.

I tell you today.

I AM BIRTHING OUT SOMETHING IN THE MIDST OF THE NATIONS.

THE SEASON OF BIRTH IS AT HAND.

Do not fight against what you are going through these seasons.

Many of what you are going through are ACTS OF PROPHETIC INTERCESSION and many of you are being called to stand in the gap and to live these out.

Not all will be going through the birthing travails, some of you have been called to assists those who are birthing by your support and presence and your prayers, STAND BY THOSE WHO ARE BIRTHING.

Be careful not to view what is happening in your midst through the wrong eyes.

For the enemy will tempt you with confusion and will attack you and cause you to focus on yourself.

He will try to deceive you to hold back. He will cause you to doubt your standing before me by making you feel and think that what you are feeling and experiencing are results of something that you have done wrong. But I am moving in a greater perspective. And what you are birthing is more than just for you.

IT IS FOR THE WORK OF MY KINGDOM.

Don't hold back, let go . . . . . . For I am birthing something powerful in the Spiritual but soon all these will become manifest in the physical.

Draw continually upon My Resources for they are unlimited.

Never isolate yourself away from those that I have send to be supporting you for this season.

GREAT AND MIGHTY IS THAT WHICH IS BEING BIRTHED OUT IN YOUR MIDST. NEVER FEAR FOR I AM WITH YOU.

The Lord gave me these words from ISAIAH 66: 7 - 14 as a confirmation.

"Before she goes into labor, she gives birth; before the pains come upon her, she delivers a son.

Who has ever heard of such a thing? Who has ever seen such things?

Can a country be born in a day or a nation be brought forth in a moment?
Yet no sooner is Zion in labor than she gives birth to her children.
Do I bring to the moment of birth and not give delivery?
Do I close up the womb when I bring to delivery?
Rejoice with Jerusalem and be glad for her, all you who love her; rejoice greatly with her, all you who mourn over her.
For you will nurse and be satisfied at her comforting breasts; You will drink in her overflowing abundance."

For this is what the Lord says:
"I will extend peace to her like a river, and the wealth of the nations like a flooding stream; you will nurse and be carried on her arm and dandled on her knees.

As a mother comforts her child, so will I comfort you; and you will be comforted over Jerusalem.

When you see this, your heart will rejoice and you will flourish like grass; the hands of the Lord will be made known to his servants, but his fury will be shown to his foes."

Father, bless your words and let Your Spirit speaks to each heart that read this prophetic word.

The Smell Of Fear

Denise Lagrimas

Friends,

There is a smell of fear in the air and it is so strong my skin jumps. I am literally thanking God for it because it is the fear not of the saints but of the enemy himself. He is in fear for His days are numbered and as we draw nearer to our Lords coming he draws closer to his end for eternity.
The saints are alive and the Spirit of God is moving upon the earth and all that the enemy has tried to do has been to no avail. In fact what he had planned God turned around and made it to His glory. Gods people are moving and are active and have caught the third day vision and on the third day when resurrection power hit the earth multitudes were saved. We are in the times of the multitudes and many have seen the passion of the Lord and have caught the eye of truth. The Holy Spirit has empowered and the saints have received their call to "Go ye into all the world...."
(sometimes your call to the all the world is simply your neighborhood, community, and region)

I felt the Lord say it is time to increase in our vigilant prayers and to increase in our cries for the lost, especially the lost within our earthly families. To remember the promise in Acts 16:31 and to hold on to the Word with unshakeable faith. The natural will and can lie to you but the Spirit of God brings truth and the Holy Spirit has been given to guide us into all truth.
"You shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."
The truth is we are much closer to our eternity than we even know and since the hour is upon us so is the fear in the enemy upon him.

There are two types of fear, one that is healthy (the fear of the Lord) and one that is not (the spirit of fear) and if we are not guarded we can fall prey to the one that is not healthy. Our greatest authority is in Christ Alone and our ultimate weapon has and always will be the cross of Christ where His blood defeated all of the enemies tricks and tactics and His third day resurrection defeated death once and for all.

It is good to smell the fear in the enemy and it is good to fear the Lord. In fact the fear of the lord is the beginning of wisdom (Ps 111:10) and the fear of man brings a snare (Prov.29:25).We will be wise and not become ensnared!!! Remember that II Timothy says " For God has not given us a spirit of fear but of power, love and a sound mind" .....You have Power, Love and a Sound Mind if you have Jesus. You don't have to beg him for it You have it!!

I john 4:18 reminds us that There is no fear in love and perfect love casts out fear because fear involves torment but he who fears has not been made perfect in love"

Friends torment is of the enemy, fear is of the enemy so it makes sense that we give it back to him and let the enemy be afraid and live in his own fear. It is time for him to fear us and not us him....That is divine order, that is divine authority, that is who we are....

We shall live in love and under the covering of an almighty God remembering

We love Him because He first loved us.....Love covers a multitude of sins and every time we choose to love in the midst of crisis, chaos, attack, offense, and injustice we become perfected and truly become Christlike and empowered for a great commission.

If we must fear let us fear the lord and live in Faithfulness Excellence Authority Righteousness

May this encourage you and may the Lord bless you daily

Denise Lagrimas

The Season Of Glory

Daniel Black

takeustotheriver@juno.com

2Ch 5:11-14 KJV And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy [place]: (for all the priests [that were] present were sanctified, [and] did not [then] wait by course: (12) Also the Levites [which were] the singers, all of them of Asaph, of Heman, of Jeduthun, with their sons and their brethren, [being] arrayed in white linen, having cymbals and psalteries and harps, stood at the east end of the altar, and with them an hundred and twenty priests sounding with trumpets (13) It came even to pass, as the trumpeters and singers [were] as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the LORD; and when they lifted up [their] voice with the trumpets and cymbals and instruments of music, and praised the LORD, [saying], For [he is] good; for his mercy [endureth] for ever: that [then] the house was filled with a cloud, [even] the house of the LORD; (14) So that the priests could not stand to minister by reason of the cloud: for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of God.

2Ch 5:11-14 MSG The priests then left the Holy Place. All the priests there were consecrated, regardless of rank or assignment; (12) and all the Levites who were musicians were there--Asaph, Heman, Jeduthun, and their families, dressed in their worship robes; the choir and orchestra assembled on the east side of the Altar and were joined by 120 priests blowing trumpets. (13) The choir and trumpets made one voice of praise and thanks to GOD--orchestra and choir in perfect harmony singing and playing praise to GOD: Yes! God is good! His loyal love goes on forever! Then a billowing cloud filled The Temple of GOD. (14) The priests couldn't even carry out their duties because of the cloud--the glory of GOD!--that filled The Temple of God.

Let's get closer and get the heart of God. God is calling us to consecration. The Word consecration means: "The act or ceremony of separating form a common to a sacred use, or of devoting and dedicating a person or thing to the service and worship of God, by certain rites or solemnities. Consecration does not make a person or thing really holy, but declares it to be sacred, that is, devoted to God or to divine service; to be in communion." God is taking His people through consecration to be sacred TO Him. The Word of God clearly states that we are the Bride of Christ. Just as earthly soul mates treat each other sacred, God wants His BRIDE to be sacred and set apart unto Him. His heart burns for His love. Be drawn unto Him now. Intimacy is required to enter this season. Worship in the Secret Place is the key to your victory! In fact true revival will never come unless you live within the Secret Place. Just as this must be done personally, this must be done corporately! The Church as a whole must realize her bridal call to everlasting passion. To pull upon her shoulders the love that looks like a cross. She must regain her vision of Him. When she does this, she will enter the season of Glory.

For I say unto you, just as there is a season of the Fall, there is the season of the glory where the Glory of God will fall so greatly and mightily. You have desired to see His face and through times of intimacy and embracing the Bridal call of passionate love, His Glory will envelop Itself around and within you. You will experience it just upon that ancient day when His Glory fell and they could not even stand and carry on. It will be billowing upon you. The word billow means: "A great wave or surge of the sea, occasioned usually by violent wind. It can hardly be applied to the waves of a river, unless in poetry, or when the river is very large; to swell; to rise and roll in large waves, or surges." Psa 42:7 ASV states: "Deep calleth unto deep at the noise of thy waterfalls: All thy waves and thy billows are gone over me." The Glory of His love and the response of your love. Deep calls out to deep!

I want you to begin to soak in the love of Glory. Let His presence surge over your body now. The violent winds of God BLOW! BLOW! BLOW! Over and over and over and over us! Glory swell within us. Rise and roll, rise and roll, rise and roll! Wow Lord. Open our eyes. Open our eyes to see the fullness of You, the fullness of God. We are desperate, O God we long for you. Billow over us O God. You are leading us, leading us toward the banqueting place and showering us with love. The MSG Bible says in Son 2:4 that You take us home and Your eyes feast upon us! O God, lead us home, let us dwell in the house of the Lord and feast us upon us! Feast of love in the house of the Lord. O the Beauty of Jesus in Glory Realms!

SEASONS OF GLORY are here. Walk in the House of the Lord as His Bride and feast upon the Love of the Glory of God!

Seeing Into Heaven – Daniel Black

Sep 15, 2004

NOTE: This was originally written for the Children's Church that I teach in (we have been learning about Heaven), but it was so anointed that I wanted to share it with all of you friends! Last week several kids had VISIONS of parts of Heaven. I have added a small bit to the teaching, but in essence this is what I taught the kids. Blessings, Daniel Black

SEEING INTO HEAVEN
2 KINGS 6:8-23: 8 Now the king of Syria was making war against Israel; and he consulted with his servants, saying, "My camp will be in such and such a place." 9 And the man of God sent to the king of Israel, saying, "Beware that you do not pass this place, for the Syrians are coming down there." 10 Then the king of Israel sent someone to the place of which the man of God had told him. Thus he warned him, and he was watchful there, not just once or twice. 11 Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was greatly troubled by this thing; and he called his servants and said to them, "Will you not show me which of us is for the king of Israel?" 12 And one of his servants said, "None, my lord, O king; but Elisha, the prophet who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel the words that you speak in your bedroom." 13 So he said, "Go and see where he is, that I may send and get him." And it was told him, saying, "Surely he is in Dothan." 14 Therefore he sent horses and chariots and a great army there, and they came by night and surrounded the city. 15 And when the servant of the man of God arose early and went out, there was an army, surrounding the city with horses and chariots. And his servant said to him, "Alas, my master! What shall we do?" 16 So he answered, "Do not fear, for those who are with us are more than those who are with them." 17 And Elisha prayed, and said, "Lord, I pray, open his eyes that he may see." Then the Lord opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw. And behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire all around Elisha. 18 So when the Syrians came down to him, Elisha prayed to the Lord, and said, "Strike this people, I pray, with blindness." And He struck them with blindness according to the word of Elisha. 19 Now Elisha said to them, "This is not the way, nor is this the city. Follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom you seek." But he led them to Samaria. 20 So it was, when they had come to Samaria, that Elisha said, "Lord, open the eyes of these men, that they may see." And the Lord opened their eyes, and they saw; and there they were, inside Samaria! 21 Now when the king of Israel saw them, he said to Elisha, "My father, shall I kill them? Shall I kill them?" 22 But he answered, "You shall not kill them. Would you kill those whom you have taken captive with your sword and your bow? Set food and water before them, that they may eat and drink and go to their master." 23 Then he prepared a great feast for them; and after they ate and drank, he sent them away and they went to their master. So the bands of Syrian raiders came no more into the land of Israel.

SEEING IS BELIEVING: PROTECTION AND DEEPNESS OF GOD

What lesson do we learn here? Two things: 1. God will protect us, no matter what the situation. His angels and His love and power are ALWAYS there for us. 2. God wants us to open our spiritual eyes to be able to see Him, Heaven, and the angels! Have you ever heard the term: seeing is believing? It is true! God wants to open our eyes, just as He did for Elisha and His friends. When God opens our spiritual eyes it enables us to truly believe that God will take care of us. This is called trust. Trust is a very important form of worship. God loves nothing more than us putting our whole trust in Him, because it is only through trusting Him that He can help us.

There is another reason why God wants our spiritual eyes to be open. The Bible says that we are to worship God in spirit and in truth. True worship starts with seeing God. God wants to open our eyes so that we can truly worship Him. Our hearts must respond to the fullness His revelation which include seeing Jesus, Heaven, and His angels.

THRONE ZONE

Heaven is full of mysteries. When our eyes are spiritually opened God will begin to show us Heaven and its mysteries that NO ONE ELSE has ever seen or heard (see 1 Cor. 2). He will give to us strategies, destinies, angels, and so much more, all to show us a FULL REVELATION of Jesus Christ. Remember that worship is a "GIFTED RESPONSE" TO THE FULL OR "WHOLE" REVELATION OF JESUS. God wants to reveal His "OTHERNESS" and wants to take you up to His throne room. It is only from the "Throne Room ENCOUNTER" that you can encounter true friendship with God.

I WANT MY EYES TO BE OPENED

Simply just pray this: Jesus, I ask You to open up my spiritual eyes so that I may see You and all that You have for me. Let my heart respond to Your revelation. Show me Heaven, it's mysteries, and angels, so that I may worship You in Spirit and Truth, responding to Your full revelation. Amen! Now close your eye. Lift your face to Heaven. Lift up your hands. Take a deep breath. Now you are there!

The Spirit Of Truth And His Witness
Cindy Allen

Recently I began experiencing a new level of prophetic witness with other members of the Body of Christ. Have we not known that God has saved the best wine for last? We are all acquainted with the witness of the Holy Spirit within us that identifies the Holy Spirit to us in others. Now God is preparing the Body for His glory to be manifest amongst His people for the purpose of Christ to be revealed through His fellowship of unity. We are to prepare ourselves for visitations that are to take place through this prophetic witness. These visitations are purposed to unite members through shared experiences in the Lord and they are bringing a new level of baptism in the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is coming to baptize us in greater joy. God is making these things manifest through the simplest of fellowships and He is lending His strength in our weaknesses. He is purging us where we yield ourselves to Christ in others.

Before this experience, I had a vision of an angel and I understood him to be the messenger who would reveal the purpose of this visitation as well as future visitations. He represents the glory of God that is manifesting for the sake of God's people to be united in Truth. I saw that these angels will be hovering over us to draw up new birth and new life. As they do, we are overshadowed by and enveloped in the grace they bring. Their presence will cause a prophetic witness to rise within the members of the Body. This prophetic witness will cause members to identify other members within different seasons where these messengers and carriers of God's Spirit will manifest in the Glory.

Jesus said, "You are not listening. Let me say it again. Unless a person submits to this original creation the 'wind hovering over the water' creation, the invisible moving the visible, a baptism into a new life it's not possible to enter God's kingdom. Message

The angels are bringing more of God's Kingdom to us and the baptism they bring will cause a greater outpouring that is to be released from the overflow of our own bellies.

These angels represent the apostolic to us and establish us in the Truth of our calling. The Truths they reveal for us to walk in actually unfold through serving one another. We must walk in the Truth revealed to us because the Life flows out of this LifeSTYLE to lead us into greater Truths. The calling of each one is so unique and individual; this will only be revealed within God's Glory where the anointing cannot be touched by the hands of men. The Message Bible words this message that we must submit to this original creation. As we discern Christ in others, the image of Christ that is reflected back to us is what conforms us to bring shape and purpose to our calling.

God's presence will manifest to yielded and humbled vessels. We are conformed to His image in and by His presence through our relationship of holiness to others. God's manifest presence is restoring boundaries to us that we have long been without. Within these boundaries, discernment is given towards the things of God and the blessings of God's original Law are released to us. As the Holy Spirit's prophetic witness begins manifesting, members will be launched into their destiny in God's Kingdom from these Truths. Manifest sons and daughters are raised up within God's manifest presence.

Because these angels represent the apostolic to us, they deliver us from any falsehoods that parallel the authority we are to have in Christ. Submission is associated to "how we relate with, how we identify with as well as whom and what we associate God to".

Mark 8:27 Whom do men say that I am? KJV

All that is false is washed away in the baptism that this prophetic witness in the Holy Spirit brings. As these waters begin running clear, so does our vision and focus become clear. As our mind is enlightened, our boundaries are enlarged and we begin speaking forth the things of God's Kingdom that we see to watch them become manifest. Manifestation of God's Spirit brings habitation of God to dwell amongst us. It is the Glory of God manifesting and resting upon His church that will draw the nations to the church to bring the greatest harvest of souls for all times.

Eph 5:21 Submit to one another out of reverence for Christ.

Yield and submit to Christ in one another so that the King of Glory can become manifest in His Body and made known to the nations and peoples of the world.

Submitted to serving Christ,

Cindy Allen

http://Foundations.injesus.com

"Foundations" is purposed to give expression to the present move of God as we practically incorporate God's Word into our lifestyle in a new level of fruitfulness in Christ.

Apostolic Grace
Cindy Allen

(harpplayer2000@yahoo.com)

There are many levels of deliverance from spiritual circumstances to natural circumstances. The Holy Spirit is leading us in such a way to continually experience our salvation at many levels as we continue to rise in dominion to take our place in God's Kingdom. It is only by grace that we experience God's glory manifesting over doors to lead us, without sacrifice, to abide in God's glory realm.

Without the glory cloud extending apostolic grace to us, we would have to submit ourselves to many baptisms. Jesus paid this price and we glorify Him by walking in the grace He made available to us. Jesus is our overflow and He desires us to flood people in His resurrected Life.

When the glory manifests to take us higher, we should pray and ask the Holy Spirit for discernment towards Him to be able to SEE what he is doing and where He is moving. There is spiritual discernment within God's glory cloud and the knowledge to know how NOT to step out of it. With spiritual perception, we are continually transformed and renewed because we are walking in the standard of Christ that is being revealed to us.

This is a continual process of spiritual growth that endows us with wisdom and understanding. It is not a place where "we have arrived". Where we have no discernment, we cannot yet grasp or discern the spiritual things of God and are blind to the ways the enemy will use this to bring on his attack. Where we lack spiritual discernment towards understanding the things of God, we can always have discernment of the Holy Spirit.

The Holy Spirit will never convict of sin or lack in man's condemnation. Condemnation can be summed up and defined as carnal understanding. It can't be applied to ways of the spirit because it was not born by the spirit in grace. These are the yokes that the anointing destroys and this is why it's so important to abide in the anointing.

The Holy Spirit is leading us to receive understanding that will enable us and equip us to discern need so we know where to plant our seed. There is no point in directing our attention to fruit because the fruit is producing after the spirit that the seed was planted in. Just as a car engine can make "funny noises" when a part is not operating properly, Christians can make "funny noises" where we need new revelation of Christ.

When we abide in the anointing, the Holy Spirit is able to release a prophetic witness within others that convicts and delivers "parts" that are operating backwards. Accountability to live a prophetic lifestyle that this Life can flow out of is not on the one who needs a new "part". Accountability is on the one who is hearing the "funny noises".

The "part" that needs healing is actually going to be what rises up IN the prophetic witness because it is given the grace to stand in the presence of God and become. The experience is kept between the one receiving the word and God. The messenger is not included within this experience. Once the deposit is made, the messenger's part in that transaction is over.

Jesus taught Kingdom principals through parables in a way that parallels our everyday life. The conviction of the Spirit is present to allow us to relate to God in a way that doesn't cause us to be conscious towards why we are not measuring up. We simply see a principal and apply it. As we do, we increase in the things of God and walk by a greater Light to receive the blessing of Christ. The joy that floods our soul is the reward we receive as messengers of Christ. The Holy Spirit still leads us to demonstrate our life in parables that express the Kingdom of God.

The Sign Of The Burial Cloth

Luz Cintron

Dec 8, 2004
Dear Friends,

Once again, I am stirred and sense a call from the Lord for a "dying" to ourselves. I believe the Lord has been sending this message in vivid clarity for this season in order to identify in the miracle and purpose of His birth. dk

While I was in my prayer time as I was singing and praying a song "Anoint my heart for burial" His most Holy Spirit spoke to my heart and here are the words of that song:

Anoint My Heart For Burial The tree of myrrh is full of tears That only comes forth when bruised But the fragrant life that wounding brings Is born on the wings of good news. Like myrrh when hardened must be crushed Before the fragrance can rise My blinded heart must be made dust So, Father, open my eyes… Anoint my heart for burial… That I may walk in true life Anoint my heart for burial… Release the fragrance of Christ… Lord fill me with thy blessed myrrh Lord use me then fill me with myrrh Anoint me with oil Lord take my wounded heart and make A fragrance out of the pain I give my life a sacrifice Bring fruit from this harvest of pain So anoint my heart for burial That I may walk in true life Anoint my heart for burial release the fragrance of Christ Lord fill me with thy blessed myrrh Oh Lord used me then fill me with myrrh Anoint me with oil.

As I was praying those words to Him for myself and for the fellowship of His saints. I felt His Most Holy Spirit speak into my heart: "As the generation who confronted Jesus, the generation of the Pharisees asked for a sign, so this generation has come to ask for a sign before stepping forward to lay down their lives and embrace their cross. But as in those days, no sign was given to them but the sign of Jonah, so it is that no sign will be given to His bride, but the sign of the cloth of burial."

Oh fellow believer, we have fasted and we have prayed for revival, and longed for it , and waited to see the manifestation of His glory and power. It has become a hope for vindication before those who don't believe that they may come to see the reason of our faith and be convicted and be saved. But I understand now where is our sin before my Lord, we have expected that revival as something that will descend upon us from up high. So in this way, the religious people in Israel in Christ times, waited for their Messiah and they missed their visitation.

In hoping like that, His bride has forgotten her only purpose which is to serve. We have forsaken our duty to be salt of this earth and no sign will be given us but the sign of the burial cloth, for if we do not put it on and go down in the grave with Jesus we shall not be raised and there will be no life breathed upon us and we shall remain dead in our trespasses which is our own ignorance.

What is alive can not be revived. Only that which is dead can be brought into life and as we cling to the life in our flesh we end refusing the life offered us, which is from the Spirit of God, of which Jesus spoke referring to it, as the more abundant life. For the one who still seeks for himself has not died and is serving himself in all he does, but the one dead cannot be moved from his position of servant to the body of believers and to this world unto which his whole life is called to become a testimony of God's love and provision through Jesus Christ.

What is different in our cities, in our neighborhoods because of the faith given us? What has changed in the places were we go to work, where we go to study, because of our faith? How have we lived before unbelievers our trust in Jesus? How have we embraced the pain and the suffering that has touched our lives? Have we shown them there is a higher life, a hope, a purpose given us in Christ? Or do we live just as they do from day to day, shaking our heads and saying "its bad, its bad" and then going our way and minding "our own business"?

We can have no business of our own, if we are tending any other business but our Father's, we better stop. Or don't you know the workplace were we earn our living has been given us, to preach the gospel without words but with our lives? That as Jesus reached out to the lost, the poor, the needy , we are placed there, not to show ourselves better than them, but to reach unto them and give them, of what was freely given to us? How many times have we fed them, sharing our bread with them physically and spiritually? We need to go out of our way to reach them and I mean it in more than one way. We are to go out of our way and stretch ourselves, to bring the gospel of Christ. Unless we die to ourselves this wont happen. It doesn't matter how many missionaries we send out and/or support if we do not become His ambassadors right where we are we have not done it.

Only one who is dead to himself can raise Jesus in his life, can lift Him up as a standard. It takes our own burial to all in us that seeks to be served, it takes the embracing of those things that are painful and we judge "undeserved", so that others in pain may come to see and identify with the hope of glory in us and see His light. We should not seek relief in our agony to the things of the flesh, for if we embrace them receiving everything from the hand of Jesus, His life will spring forth through us. For have you read in Isaiah 53 how He made Himself without any beauty that we should desire Him? Instead He became despised and rejected by men, He chose to embrace grief and suffering for us. And again in Hebrews how He wanted to be a High Priest with whom we all could identify? (Hebrews 2:17-18). Then if we seek honor, acceptance or recognition it is ourselves we serve and follow and not Him. For if, in doing what is right unto the Lord, any praise may come from the lips of unbelievers or from believers, let all go unto Whom it is due, our Lord, who is the One living our lives in us and the pride of the flesh will have no part in us. So if we are despised and rejected let it be a reason to meditate on what He suffered for us and give Him thanks to remind us of the things His love endured for us.

For when the devil thinks that he has put us to nothing, and has secluded us in the grave and closed its gates behind us forever, the resurrection power who raised Christ from the grave will brake forth, setting captives free, and will bring the captivity freely captive (Ephesians 4:8; Psalm 68:18) to the heart of God as His own testimony of His grace and mercy towards mankind. In that day the prey will be taken from the mighty, that will be the day in which our God, will contend with the one who contends with us (Isaiah 49:24-26).

No one and nothing can separate us from the love of Christ not even death, but we must be dead to receive and bear His life and that is revival.

The State of the Church

Colin Wilson

For a period of over 5 years or so I have been increasingly bumping into committed Christians who are unsettled. They often find difficulty in articulating how they feel, but the general drift is dissatisfaction with the level of Christian living in their own lives and in their churches. In the past, a common response in these situations has been to move church (and I should stress that the folk I am referring to are not immature church-hoppers looking for the ideal church) but part of the perplexity that they are sensing is rooted in the fact that surveying a cosmopolitan church scene (everything from strict Calvinist to chandelier-swinging) they do not see evidence in any of the churches of whatever it is that is eluding them.

This may sound a bit complicated, and it is. The best way of summarizing is to say that folk (maybe not thousands but significant numbers) are unhappy with their own situation (personal and church), are not sure what they are looking for, and do not see any promise in the churchscape around them.

I might describe it as a God-given unsettledness, a holy dissatisfaction, a hunger and thirst for reality. The "disconnect" which they seem to feel is the disparity between what they read in the Bible (typically the book of Acts) and what they are experiencing in their own situations.

Many are puzzled and insecure - feeling "out of step" with others who seem to be quite comfortable with the general scene (apart that is from being concerned about falling numbers in churches).

Meanwhile, society in general is MUCH less inclined just to offer unthinking allegiance to organisations and institutions. Indeed there is a growing disillusionment with structures. Folk are prepared to get behind specific initiatives, projects or people with whom they can identify, but they are no longer inclined just to automatically support historic ties.

This dynamic is also in evidence in the church. One result of this is declining attendance and financial support (especially at the younger end of the age spectrum).

Although there are perhaps several different views concerning what exactly will be the shape of the church into the 21st century, there seems to be a consistent view that it will be different; and what we are currently experiencing is the transition in process. The words I hear are "liquid church, emerging church, unstructured church". We have also heard the term "cell church". My concern is that the latter is often described in the context of cells/super cells/mega cells with an "apostle" sitting atop the pile. The other concern that I have is that we will succumb to the seemingly-innate urge to "organise" everything in new "structures".

SHAKING

Structures which have stood for hundreds of years are in imminent danger of toppling. And those who derive their status, income, ministry base from organised religion are most at risk.

I do not discount the notion that God might be behind all of this; indeed I believe that He is. And in that sense the general situation could turn around tomorrow. However my sense is that there is a winnowing, shaking, refining, purifying, purging going on. I do not believe that God is going to send revival into the churches in their current situation. And to that extent, I feel that the shaking etc. will intensify.

REFINING

Over the last decade (as it seems to me) personal lives, local churches and denominations have been shaken to the core by "covered-over sin". Minor issues which would normally be easily dealt with have been causing much deeper and more serious problems to be forced into the open, as great eruptions. The latter have often been suppressed (pushed into the basement) over a period of years.

Ezek 13:9-10: "My hand will be against the prophets who see false visions and utter lying divinations. They will not belong to the council of my people or be listed in the records of the house of Israel, nor will they enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the Sovereign LORD. 'Because they lead my people astray, saying, "Peace," when there is no peace...'"

KINGDOM BUILDING versus EMPIRE BUILDING

I believe what God is looking for is a chosen people who will give over their hearts, their lives, their all to the will of the Father. Names and reputations and religious machinery that have been built on man's value system will be shown for what they are. Pride has been the driving force behind so much of what we do.

COMMITMENT

Western Christianity has succumbed to the values of our age. Our lives are governed by the same aspirations, values, lifestyles, choices as the secular world around us. In the matter of "giving" God doesn't want a tithe. He wants our all.

The Storm Of The Lord

Diane Littleton Bahler

September 13, 2004
DLBahler88@aol.com

> "Put the trumpet to your lips! An eagle is over the house of the Lord because the people have broken my covenant and rebelled against my law. Israel cries out to me, 'O our God, we acknowledge you!' But Israel has rejected what is good; an enemy will pursue him. They set up kings without my consent; they choose princes without my approval. With their silver and gold they make idols for themselves to their own destruction… They sow the wind and reap the whirlwind." (Hosea 8: 1-7)

A friend wrote to me recently asking for my thoughts about the hurricanes hitting Florida and whether they are tied to the election and even the now infamous "Curse of Tecumseh". Below is a summation of what I believe the Lord has shown me.

For the past several years the Lord has given the church in America the opportunity to "humble herself, turn from her wicked ways and pray for the healing of the land." (2 Chronicles 7:12-14) In other words, the Lord presented His people – those called by HIS name- with the opportunity to cry out for the Lord's righteous judgments to come and to bring them to true humility and repentance. From that position they would have had the spiritual authority to pray for and receive healing for our land. Instead, most have been doing everything they could think of to avoid facing judgment. I have seen a LOT of prophetic words posted on the Internet advising people how to pray against prophesied judgments but I have seen almost none exhorting the body to cry out for the Lord to judge us.

Part of the reason for this is that there is very little understanding in the church today of the difference between God's judgments and the judgments of the enemy. God's judgments are MERCIFUL and although not without pain, will bring about correction and eventual healing and restoration. God's judgments are to be sought after. They are a blessing and a grace to us to keep us from being handed over to the enemy. These judgments bring "death" but also "resurrection."

The enemy's judgments are, in a sense, an extreme judgment of the Lord in that he removes His protective grace and allows the enemy to "have his day." And although the Lord will eventually use for good even what the enemy for evil intended, the enemy's judgments bring unnecessary death and destruction that was not the Lord's desire. It is not God's choice that releases these judgments but rather are the consequences of our own choices made by our own free will out of a fear of facing God's judgment. We are given daily choices of following the Lord or separating ourselves from him. The enemy is given authority to judge us when we have continually refused to submit to God and HIS cleansing judgments. The Lord will give us grace upon grace to avoid this kind of judgment but there comes a point when to save our spiritual life He will remove His hand of protection and allow the enemy to claim the access we have given him by our own choices. In extreme cases the Lord will allow us to physically die before He will allow us to lose our souls to hell. If you don't believe me, ask Adam and Eve. Fear of judgment drove them to separate themselves from God and set the whole whirlwind in motion.

This is not to make people afraid of the devil or to exalt the enemy, but rather to exhort people to fear the Lord. There is a good fear and a false fear. We should all know and embrace the fear of the Lord. In fact, the fear of the Lord will protect us from and nullify all other false fears. One of the primary strategies the enemy uses to separate us from God is to cause false fear, which encourages us to make choices that separate us from the Lord. When people are filled with false fear they are not trusting the Lord and they begin to look for ways to protect and save THEMSELVES. If Adam and Eve had had a proper understanding of the fear of the Lord they would have run TO the Lord, not away from Him. They would have cried out for Him to come and cover them rather than trying to clothe themselves. The snake convinced them to look to man rather than to God.

Nothing much has changed since those days in the garden. The church in America has now come under the authority and judgments of the enemy because she has not feared the Lord and has looked to man for her salvation despite warning after warning and grace after grace of the Lord. The real surprise about the hurricanes striking Florida according to the experts is not that Florida is experiencing so many of them this year but that it has not experienced more of them in years past. Despite the great grace the Lord has bestowed on this country, America has let false fear drive her away from the Lord rather than to Him. There is no faith in fear. Fear is the antithesis of faith. Fear rules this country but it is not the Fear of the Lord.

For the past few years in conjunction with the “Third Day church movement” many Christians have quoted from Hosea 6: “Come, let us return to the Lord. He has torn us to pieces but he will heal us; he has injured us but he will bind up our wounds. After two days he will revive us; on the third day he will restore us.”

However, they seem to think this healing is without conditions. No one seems to think to back up and read the prerequisites for this healing: “When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Judah his sores, then Ephraim turned to Assyria, and sent to the great king for help. But he is not able to cure you, not able to heal your sores. For I will be like a great lion to Judah. I will tear them to pieces and go away; I will carry them off, with no one to rescue them. Then I will go back to my place UNTIL THEY ADMIT THEIR GUILT. AND THEY WILL SEEK MY FACE; IN THEIR MISERY THEY WILL EARNESTLY SEEK ME.” (Hosea 5: 13-15)

And then let’s look ahead: “Let us ACKNOWLEDGE THE LORD; LET US PRESS ON TO ACKNOWLEDGE HIM.” (Hosea 6:3)

For ourselves and for our cities and our nations we are told we must acknowledge our offenses, our cities’ offences, our nations’ offenses and stand on our stained ground in revelation of just exactly what we have done to him that caused him to leave us the way he had to leave us! These past years the church should have been crying out in tears as well as songs and desire for him to please return to us. In this truth and in this sincerity of turning our faces to him the church should have sought to find his face wherever He is and in whom ever He is, and set their hearts to know no one by their flesh but only by the Spirit of the Lord in them.

Instead they have turned continually to man to heal their incurable wounds. Whether it has been popes, preachers or politicians, whether civil government or church governing boards, they have sought solutions for their sicknesses from man.

There have been moments of repentance, of binding ourselves together in love and crying out for the Lord such as after 9-11, but as it continues in the sixth chapter of Hosea, our love was like the morning mist, like the early dew that disappears. And so should it surprise us if His coming now is with a sword, his judgments flashing like lightening upon us?

One of the main ways the church has brought judgment on this country is by its continual employment of spiritual witchcraft by Christians to try to “get themselves a king.” It is the same sin Israel fell into and brings judgment on a nation, not just the presidency. This is a much more powerful curse than any that Tecumseh or his brother the Prophet could have come up with and has been the real danger in this presidency. It is a cry for the spirit of antichrist to rule because any government built by man and ruled by man is a kingdom of MAN – not Christ. Anything that is in place of Christ is anti-Christ.

Bush is not “THE” antichrist – he is a politician like any other. They all operate out of the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil rather than the Tree of Life. His sin areas are just more acceptable to many Christians and so he has been exalted to a position of idolatry. What a dangerous position to put any man into!

The motto of the American Revolution was: “Only one King, King Jesus!” and yet Christians have continually looked for men to rule over them both in politics and the pulpit rather than King Jesus. Christians cried out for a king and the Lord gave them one four years ago. If they had given as much time and energy crying out for the return of Jesus and the establishment of the Kingdom of God as they did for a political leader, we might have avoided a lot of death and destruction brought by the judgment of war.

That we have lost only a thousand troops in that war is a sign of God's grace and mercy even in the midst of judgment. It is certainly not a sign of God's approval. God's desire is always that NONE should perish but He will turn man over to the sinful desires of their own hearts when they continually exchange the truth of God for a lie. (Romans 1)

There has been so much discussion among Christians and justifications made for the war in Iraq but the bottom line is that it came as a judgment from the Lord because we refused for so long to engage in HIS foreign policy. The foreign policy of the Kingdom is to feed your enemy – not only with literal food and water but also with the true Word of the Lord. The American church was definitely hearing the call to war but it should have been to SPIRITUAL war. She could have won Iraq through intercession, through the true Gospel, through acts of mercy and works of compassion without ever firing a shot. Man's government however chose embargos and various other political and military strategies that created more death and suffering and the church sided with man's government rather than God's. In fact, they issued the rallying cry.

I'm not saying we should not have gone to war. By that time I don't think there was any other option. We had already failed at doing things God's way to the point that it was a necessary judgment. Now that we are there I wholeheartedly support those men and women who are being sacrificed in battle although it was never God's desire to see them sacrificed on the altar of any man's lust for power and greed. To go back to Hosea 6: "For I desire mercy, not sacrifice, and acknowledgement of God rather than burnt offerings."

The problem NOW is that we should have learned from the last election to cry out for the Lord and HIS Kingdom rather than man's but here we are, four years later, and the cry for keeping our earthly "king" is even louder. There is an incredible amount of fear being promulgated about what will happen if we lose our chosen king but so very little fear of the Lord and what will happen if we do not cry out for HIS governorship. Well, we are beginning to see what comes from seeking any king other than Jesus. There is NO politician and NO political party and NO political theory of government that can cure our sickness. Only Jesus can heal our land and He is still waiting for HIS people who are called by HIS name to earnestly seek His face in true humility and repentance and to follow HIS ways and not man's wicked ways.

America is not under judgment because of the worldly people who engage in various forms of sin and evil. She is under judgment because the people who are called by the LORD'S name have not humbled themselves, repented and sought the Lord's judgments in their own lives so that the land can be healed. The Lord is not holding the worldly accountable for the conditions of America, He is holding the CHURCH accountable. The church is the gatekeeper and holds the keys to the Kingdom. The gospel that has been preached to the world is not the true Gospel. It has been a gospel of the same principles of the world: greed, power, might makes right etc. etc. How can the Lord hold the world accountable for a Gospel that they have never heard from a church who was responsible but didn't deliver it? No, the Lord is holding the church accountable. What comes into a nation is what the church allows in. If there is abortion in the land it is because there is spiritual abortion in the church. If there is adultery and divorce in society it is because there is spiritual adultery and spiritual divorce in the church. If judgments bringing death and destruction to this country it is because the church has been very good at looking OUTSIDE of itself to point the finger of judgment but has refused to examine itself. The lost may be caught up in the whirlwind with the church but their destruction will only bring more judgment on the church since the harvest has been ripe for a very long time and the summer is ended and still the world is not saved. (Jeremiah 8:20)

What is happening in Florida is the beginning and also a sign of the judgments coming as the Lord lifts His hand of protection and allows the reaping of the whirlwind. Every act of creation is also an act of destruction. The Lord is creating a New Jerusalem, a new heaven and earth. Old things are passing away and anything that is not now the fullness of the Kingdom of God will be swept away into the whirlwind and forever history. We have indeed entered into the New Day.

Florida is the first to reap the beginning of these judgments because it is a state of entrance to this country. A quick review of history, which I won't do here, confirms that this is a major and initial gateway to America. Florida now also has the opportunity to be first in crying out in humility for the mercy of the Lord. It is now too late to avoid judgment. It is unavoidably coming but just as Florida cast the deciding vote in the last election, she may yet cast the deciding vote in this one. The election is NOT between Bush and Kerry. The question is whether the church will continue to look to man and his solutions or to Jesus and His Kingdom. The deciding vote may yet determine whether there will be just a loss of worldly possessions and worldly mindsets or a devastating loss in actual lives and souls. The Lord WILL allow deaths to save souls.

There is some good news! In the midst of judgment there will still be victory. There can be no more victories except to come into the place of love for the Lord and for each other. All other loves will end in death but the Lord's love will survive to swallow up death in victory.

Over the past few years there has been a small remnant that has indeed cried out for the LORD'S judgments to come into their lives and for all except the Lord's love to die. For the most part their lives have been absolutely devastated. They have already lost most of their ties to the world and so the judgments coming are not feared. They have learned the fear of the Lord and that will keep them safe in whatever whirlwind swirls around them. In the midst of the darkness of these coming storms their light will begin to arise and shine as the glory of the Lord is revealed in them. These are the ones that will make up the Lord's Gideon Army that will take back the land and all that the enemy has stolen. The Lord Himself will manifest through them and bring forth salvations, deliverances and healings on a scale never seen on the earth before. These ones will bring forth the mercy and victory of the Lord in the midst of these judgments.

When I gave birth to my daughter she was three weeks late. After what seemed like interminable waiting in absolute physical misery, she finally decided to make an appearance. Although most mothers experience peaks and valleys of pain in the labor process, I had a different experience. There were no moments of rest. Once the water broke the labor pain was one long continuous pain until she was finally delivered. The good news was that the labor was relatively short and she appeared quickly.

The Lord has told me that the season we are now entering into is like that time of continuous labor pain. He WILL see this child born but from now until that moment of complete delivery, the assault by the enemy will be continuous. The ONLY place of refuge will be in the eye of the hurricane where there are those who have learned to rest in their trust in the Lord and to fear only Him. Those who have invited the Lord's judgments over the past few years are already moving quickly to that center of His will. They have left Babylon and have been prepared to help those who must now flee as in the days of Noah and the days of Sodom through the whirlwind.

The only safe place in this perfect storm is in the center of the Lord's love and in the state of being in the Lord and in His love. Under the Old Covenant love was something you did despite who you were but under the New Covenant love is who you are despite what you do. The Lord is love and if we are in the Lord we are IN LOVE. This is the eye of the storm. Love is not a set of dos and don'ts in this place; it is a state of BEING. In this state we must trust the Lord in heaven, trust the Lord in each other and trust the Lord in ourselves. They are all three inseparably the same faith and the only thing that will get us through.

We have entered into a time of continuous warfare until the return of the Lord and this is now the hour of our greatest challenge: to with spiritual violence remove the kingdoms of darkness from the cities of the children of the Lord. Love and war seem to be such opposites but in THIS war, which is the ideal of what war should be but rarely is, one side fights for love and the other side fights for lust and power and pride. The contest would seem one sided. Love is slow to anger - lust is quick. Love is gracious - lust gives no quarter. Love desires a true one on one love relationship - lust desires to lie, steal and destroy and to become number one above all others. Those who choose to live in love seem hopelessly weak in the eyes of our enemies and to all logic but we have real and invincible angelic allies that cause our spiritual foes to flee in terror. The Lord has already given us the spoils of His victory and now is the time to armor up and defend His gift.

In the past pride has entered into the church and many slipped into the enemy camp becoming their own adversaries, dividing and separating the body to their own destruction. We have been well trained in the churches of this world in making separations but not much trained in coming together as one. Yet being one with each other by the Spirit and being one in the Lord and in His love is our only place of safety in this Day of Judgment. This is the ark of safety and the door is closing quickly and soon all outside of it will be swept away. There is still time to flee from Babylon or Sodom or whatever analogy fits but from now on it will be through much harsher flames than if they had sought the Lord's judgments before it came to this.

Now is the day of destruction for those who have divided flocks to themselves and erected high steeples to honor the places of those divisions that were created in lust for lives, power and property. Now is the day of destruction for those Jezebelic church systems and leaders who have refused to become one with the Lord but who have used his authority, labors and property as a base to push their own agendas. Now is the day of destruction for this world's apostles, as Paul describes them, who more accurately fit the profile of Jezebel.

This is the day of the vengeance of the Lord but it is also the day of the favor of our God. It is the day of the glory of the Lord when He will reveal the true sons and daughters of God. When the storms have passed the Lord will have ONE body and that body will be mature and complete and born out of love. With every act of creation there is an act of destruction. Trust the Lord and there will be nothing to fear.

> "But the day of the Lord will come like a thief. The heavens will disappear with a roar; the elements will be destroyed by fire, and the earth and everything in it will be laid bare. Since everything will be destroyed in this way, what kind of people ought you to be? You ought to live holy and godly lives as you LOOK FORWARD TO THE DAY OF GOD AND SPEED ITS COMING! That day will bring about the destruction of the heavens by fire, and the elements will melt in the heat. BUT IN KEEPING WITH HIS PROMISE WE ARE LOOKING FORWARD TO A NEW HEAVEN AND A NEW EARTH, THE HOME OF RIGHTEOUSNESS." So then, dear friends, since you are LOOKING FORWARD to this, make every effort to be found spotless, blameless and at peace with him." (2 Peter 3: 10-14)
>
> "Do not be afraid of those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. Rather, be afraid of the one who can destroy both soul and body in hell. Are not two sparrows sold for a penny? Yet not one of them will fall to the ground apart from the will of your Father. And even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. So don't be afraid; you are worth more than many sparrows." (Matthew 10:28-31)
>
> "Do not suppose that I have come to bring peace to the earth. I did not come to bring peace, but a sword." (Matthew 10: 34

The Spirit of the Martyrs

James Moore

There is being released to many at this time of the viewing of the film "The Passion", a Spirit of the martyrs. That is, a Spirit of willingness to identify with the life of Jesus even unto the ultimate testimony, the giving up of ones own life. This has happened at various times and locations on the earth.

At the crucifixion of Jesus, this Spirit was released to that generation. The willingness of Jesus to sacrifice His life so that we could be free from the stain of sin was passed onto many that loved Him and viewed His death. It must have been horribly sad for them to watch the one they loved so much tortured, scourged, spit upon, whipped and finally crucified. As horrible as it was, it produced something in them. It created and awakened a desire in them that was greater than life. A desire to follow in His footsteps, even if it meant death. Most Historians have viewed this as noble but morbid. Even the admiring who stated that " the blood of the martyrs was the seed of the church", thought the desire to actually embrace and "be counted worthy" to suffer for His sake, a bit too strange.

I don't think anyone actually desires to suffer pain, but there can be imparted a determination to follow Jesus no matter what the cost. With that comes a divine ability to truly count the cost enough to be ready for it. This is what Paul meant by dying daily. He knew death through prophetic suffering in prayer. He had already seen it, prepared for it, was ready everyday for it. He died each day in the presence of the Lord. Very much like what a soldier does each day before going to battle. He must, in a way, already be ready for the imminent possibility of departure. He knows it could happen, has thought about it, and is to the best of his ability, ready for it. What if there was going to be a generation coming that, like the generation following the crucifixion of Jesus, were going to be asked to seal their testimony with their own blood? The book of The Revelation of Jesus seems to indicate that there will be many in the days ahead that are called upon to make this greatest of all sacrifices. In chapter 6: 9-11 we read:

"And when he had opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of them that were slain for the word of God, and for the testimony which they held: and they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long O Lord, Holy and True, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth? And white robes were given unto every one of them; and it was said unto them, that they should rest yet for a little season, until their fellow servants also and their brethren, that should be killed as they were, should be fulfilled."

Actually, that is already happening now. Statistics state that there are more people being martyred today around the word than there ever has been in the entire history of the world. Just not here in the United States. This is still a foreign concept to most of us. We really do not know what it is to suffer for the sake of the Kingdom. But there are many around the planet that do.

The same way that the first generation had this determination galvanized in their heart because of seeing what Jesus sacrificed for them on the cross, we are being given a glimpse of what He did, at least in part, so that we may feel the same way.

Why? What is this intended to produce? As the title of this movie indicates, it is intended to ignite a "Passion". Passion for Jesus. Passion for the lost condition of man. Passionate hatred for sin because of what it does to people. We need to remember that it was sin that brought the need of the death and torture of Jesus on the cross. He was not just a man who was taken advantage of by cruel men. He was God in the flesh, willingly surrendering His life in order that we would not have to suffer for our lawlessness against God. He suffered for us and because of us. He was wounded for my transgressions. Jesus hated sin because of what it does to us who He desperately loves. Hebrews 1:9 states;

" Because you have loved righteousness and hated sin, God even your God, has anointed you with the oil of joy above your companions"

Jesus both loves what is right and hates what is wrong. And so must we if we are to be like Him.

While writing this article, I misspelled the word crucifixion. I spelled it "cruci-fiction". When I saw it the Lord impressed me that this is how many view this monumentous event. As fiction. But it is not fiction, it is history. Or as the word history seems to indicate, it is "His-story".

So what are you passionate about? What moves you? Are you passionate about the one thing that really matters? Pray for passion. Pray for the passionate one, the one who's passion, or suffering for you, will not let you escape. His passion to have you led Him to the ultimate passion. The passion of the cross. His suffering heart of desire for you, His bride, led Him to suffer the agony of death. Song of Solomon 8:6;

"Set me as a seal upon thine heart, as a seal upon thine arm: for love is strong as death; jealousy is cruel as the grave: the coals thereof are as coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame."

He burns for you! He jealously desires after you! What makes you suffer? Does it cause you to suffer when He is not around you? When I am not near my wife, I suffer. And when I suffer, everyone around me suffers. Is anyone around you suffering? It should be the same with Jesus. Are you one of these who has in them the spirit of the Martyrs? Do you wish to be? Ask Him today. This is not so much a desire "to depart" but to "remain" in Him. As Paul stated in 2 Corinthians 8:4;

.not that we would be unclothed but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up in life.

We spend much time trying to "unclothe" ourselves of unwanted things when what we need to do is focus more on being "clothed upon" with His life and passion.

He is waiting.

The Seeds Of World War III
Rick Joyner

(www.MorningStarMinistries.org)

A prophetic friend of mine, Bob Jones, believes that World War III actually began with the assassination of Anwar Sadat. It seems that this is proving to be true. This is marked by many as the beginning of the hijacking of the Islamic faith by radical extremists that have now stirred up a nearly worldwide conflict. This war may be unfolding very differently than the world wars of the last century, but it is in fact proving to be a world war, and its potential is to be far more devastating than the last two combined.

Ironically, it is the knee jerk reaction to war that is leading Europe to this war. Nazi Germany could have been stopped by the Czechs in 1939, with just a little help from the French and British. The leaders of those two countries sought the path of appeasement by which they thought they were getting peace in their time. But by doing this, they only multiplied the price they would have to pay to defeat the evil. Europe is being set up again for a far more devastating war than it has to be. This can still be changed, but time is running out fast.

World War III is bigger than the War on Terror. This is just one of the battles, though it is a major one, and is far from over. However, we must begin to see the bigger picture. What I am offering here is but another piece of the puzzle, but it is an important one for us to understand if we are going to perceive what is coming.

In future bulletins I will offer a few more pieces, as well as establish some of the points in this one a little more. However, this is a bulletin that is addressing an issue that is worthy of a very large book, so it is necessarily very superficial. My goal is not so much to convince, or fully educate, as it is to get some others to start looking in a direction that they may not be seeing at this time. To avoid this perspective will become increasingly costly to us the longer we wait.

The Fall of Europe

I am thankful to have been able to spend a considerable amount of time in Europe over the last twenty years. I have visited most of the nations there, and many of them quite a few times. On each visit I have tried to learn from the nation I was in, as well as about it. From this I have gained a deep love, appreciation, and respect for Europe. I love its diversity of culture, heritage, languages, geography, and cities. Europe has also given the world the very best of its civilization, from art and music to science and government, as well as the great Christian foundation that many other nations and cultures are built upon.

The whole world owes much to Europe, but America especially does. Not only is it the source of our basic culture, but Europe has been the greatest defender of the Christian faith, the birthplace of democracy, as well as our system of justice. The majority of the most noble, courageous, and godly souls to walk the earth over the last two thousand years were from Europe. Europe is deserving of our honor and respect. Even so, Europe is sliding into the deepest darkness of soul that has possibly yet perverted the human race. Its departure from the faith is possibly the greatest spiritual tragedy in history.

This may be dismissed by Europeans as an American's perspective, or a Christian's perspective. But since I have traveled around the world, I know that it is an increasing perspective around the world, that Europe, in general, has lost its moral clarity, and its courage. These are the two pillars of true nobility, and true greatness.

Europe is sliding very fast into the abyss of not only moral and spiritual depravity, but even sound thinking. In general, it does not seem that they are even making sense in some basic issues. At the same time their politicians and media seem to view themselves as being the only ones with wisdom, dismissing those who disagree with them as either stupid or unenlightened. Like it or not, I am saying this as a friend of Europe who needs to tell this emperor that he really does not have any clothes on.

One of my most pressing questions is to know how those who had so much light have become so deceived. But before continuing along this line of thought, I must also make a distinction here between the European politicians, the media, and the people of Europe. They are often very different, just as there are at times a great gulf between the American politicians, its media, and its people.

There is no question that Europeans, in general, are becoming increasingly anti-American. However, when I have listened to such commentary from Asia, or other parts of the world, even when it is negative toward America, there was far more truth and accuracy to their evaluations, and often their conclusions.

As I have studied European commentary on the rest of the world, I have concluded that this is also similarly flawed. This cannot help but lead to the conclusion that there is a far more pervasive and basic distortion in European thinking than there seems to be anywhere else. This is not just in relation to the way they see Americans, but the rest of the world, and even the way they see themselves. There is a thick veil of darkness settling over Europe, and yet they seem to think their brilliance is increasing.

Even the most brilliant reasoning will come to wrong conclusions if you do not start with truth at the foundation. European thinking, in general, is departing further and further from the foundations of truth, and therefore their conclusions are increasingly flawed. One definition of insanity is doing the same thing over and over and expecting different results. The two world wars of the twentieth century, which were the two greatest human tragedies in history, were basically the result of failed European policies. It does not seem that present European leadership has learned one thing from those huge failures, and they are headed down the very same road once again.

The present European preoccupation with America as being the source of their problems, if not the world's problems, is only accelerating their own catastrophe. At the same time they are blind to an impending disaster which threatens to be even more devastating than the two great wars of the previous century. The most common characteristic of successful people, businesses, sports teams, and even nations, is that they never look for outsiders to blame for their problems, but use that energy to look inside themselves for solutions. The European media and its politicians are increasingly dominated by blame seekers instead of solution seekers to the point where they are actually causing the quicksand that they are sinking in.

Traditional Allies?

The more that I have come to understand European thinking in general, the more alarmed I am to hear some Americans saying that we should strengthen the ties to our "traditional allies" in Europe. America does have some friends in Europe, but the continent is now overwhelmingly anti-American, and is becoming more so all the time. In truth the New World does not have many "traditional allies" in the Old World. We have in the last century joined with some European nations to face the common enemies of fascism and communism together, for which the whole world should be grateful.

However, once those common enemies were removed, the differences have surfaced very fast. Europe will only appreciate America as long as we cow tow to European thinking and interests, which we must not do. Europe is fast plunging into another war that will devastate the continent. The threat of this is not as much to America as to Europe, and yet the nations most threatened by this are the very ones that seem bent on countering every move America makes, who is currently fighting their war for them. Europe is already hanging over the abyss and does not seem to even know it.

There is a saying that if you do not change your course, you will end up where you are headed. Europe is headed for another continental war - one that will be even more devastating than the last two if they do not wake up very soon. I am sure when this happens there will be many Americans who will again take the isolationist position to just let them stew in their own juice as what they deserve. I personally would never advocate such a course. As the present leader of the "free world," America has responsibilities, even to those who are increasingly not our friends, but in truth are even becoming the friends of our enemies.

Even so, there are many ways and interests that we still have in common with Europe, some countries more than others. We now have an even greater interest in helping the emerging free nations such as Russia, and her former satellite countries that are experiencing transformation, and are actually in many cases far greater friends of America already than our "traditional allies." America's future foreign policy should focus much more on the "new world" than the old. Europe is very close to falling to an even greater tyranny and oppression than that which threatened it in the last century. The gates of hell have been opened, and there are only a handful of European nations that have even begun to see this and sound the alarm.

The Gates of Hell

Many Christians around the world view the European Union (EU) as the platform upon which the antichrist will seek world dominance. There is little question that the EU is a godless, and blatantly, anti-Christian organization. It is also true many are saying that Europe has now become "the dark continent," the most heathen territory on the planet. Its political leaders seem to be increasingly void of both the nobility, courage, and vision that many of their predecessors had.

However, let us not completely mark them off yet. Europe does have a history of repeatedly coming to this same place, and some of the greatest and most noble leaders in history have arisen in her midst to lead her out of the mire. I have not given up this hope, and I make it my regular prayer. The primary purpose of this bulletin is to stir up this prayer in others.

Even so, the gates of hell are wide open in Europe at this time, and the evil is pouring through them. These are some of the same access points the devil used before to try to destroy Europe. Along with the great leaders that Europe had in its history, they also had their share of despots that would have to be numbered among the most vile in history. That which has been called the "Dark Ages" was basically European history. That period was the result of religious intolerance, which surprisingly is the source of the new darkness now sweeping over the continent. It has come in another form, but it is the same demon.

The antichrist spirit that is now prevailing over Europe is also very anti-religion of any sort, even though it is far more opposed to Christianity than others. This is the very thing that is going to catapult the continent into its next, even more devastating war. Christianity is the only power that can keep much of Europe from being taken over by Islam. Not wanting religion, they are going to end up dominated by the most harsh, intolerant religion of all. Europeans are actually not far from experiencing the kind of tyranny and oppression of the Taliban in their own nations.

This is not to infer that all of Islam is like the Taliban. There are many faces of Islam just as there are many faces to Christianity at this time. There are Islamic nations that many Christians would probably prefer to live in rather than in the type of darkness of soul and anti-God mentality that is sweeping over Europe, which is already, in reality, renouncing religious liberty by its practices. However, the kind of perversion and darkness in Europe will be countered with a most oppressive form of Islam when it takes over Europe.

Islam is now taking over Europe as surely as if armies were occupying its cities. Because of what has happened to the core values of family and marriage in much of Europe, Europeans are now experiencing a negative population growth. One recent study estimated that Europeans were now having 1.1 children per family, which alone would result in a 50 percent reduction in the population. However, fewer people are marrying to even make up a family. At the same time the Muslims in their midst are almost all marrying, and having many children per family. Because of this alone, some European nations are likely to have Muslim majorities in the next decade. But, there is another factor that is likely to speed this along.

Turkey has made application for membership in the EU. They seem to have met all of the qualifications and it will be hard to keep them out for long. When they become members, the borders to all other EU nations are immediately thrown open to free immigration from Turkey. This alone could tip the balance and quickly lead to Muslim majorities in many European nations very fast.

A Prophecy

Much of Europe will fall to Islam. At first it will seem a very benign form of Islam rising in these nations, but that will not last long. Muslims will not tolerate the level of perversion that is now so common in Europe. There will be an attempt by the Muslim leadership to cleanse these nations of the perversion and idolatry that will become more and more extreme and ruthless. This will result in a war in Europe that will be even more devastating than the last two world wars combined.

Presently, the EU political policy is feeding the continent right into this trap because they still have not learned that you cannot talk the devil out of being the devil. The price for not learning this after World War I was a war many times more devastating in World War II. This is the third time they have followed the same basic course, and it will lead to an even more devastating conclusion than Word War I and II combined - much more.

Germany and Britain - the Salvation of Europe

Germany, the nation that brought so much destruction to Europe in the last century, is the main hope for the salvation of Europe in this one. The European Union has been built on the back of the German economic strength, and the Germans have been willing to pay a very high price for inclusion into the European community. This is mostly the result of the continued guilt many Germans feel because of the Nazi regime, which other European leaders have learned how to use to manipulate Germany.

However, the price that the German people have to pay to carry this heavy burden for the rest of Europe is far more than their leaders told them, and the benefits are far less than they were promised. The German people will soon wake up to this. Germany will awake to what is being done to them by the EU, and to all of Europe by opening the door wide for Islam, and they will be one of the ultimate sources of salvation for Europe.

The German people have a "martial gift." They are going to understand "the Lord of hosts" (literally "the Lord of armies"), and they will follow Him. Germany will help to stop Islam in Europe. At least for a time, Germany, Britain, and America will form a genuine alliance, a much more natural one, and will become pillars that uphold freedom and democracy in Europe, as well as the rest of the world. This "cord of three strands" (see Ecclesiastes 4:12), will ultimately be joined by many other partners in this from the emerging democracies in the rest of the world.

What the enemy was able to use to bring so much destruction to Europe in the last century, a conflict between Germany and Britain, will turn into an alliance in the coming years that will be the salvation of Europe in this century. Britain and Germany are natural allies, and together they can save Europe.

We must pray for Europe, and especially these two countries. Both must cast off the guilt of the past, not forgetting its lessons, but moving ahead using them to help them see more clearly the moral compass they should follow. The British Empire accomplished far more good for the world than bad, and the same is true for Germany throughout history. These are two great cultures and peoples who have blessed the world with great light and leadership in the past, and will do so again.

Summary

Again, some of the points that I made in this brief bulletin are worthy of a book, and I realize that such a bulletin is quite inadequate to establish these points. Even so, I am conveying sober truth, not out of an offense toward Europe, rather, out of love and respect for the nations that have given so much to the world. Dark clouds are gathering over Europe, while the light is diminishing quickly. A few brave souls are starting to sound the alarm in Europe to what is happening, but very few are hearing them.

We must earnestly pray for Europe.

Right now the majority in Europe relish their status as a godless society. Art does often prophesy, and as one European art critic recently wrote, "the future of art is perversion." This is the future of Europe if it does not change the course that it is on. It is getting darker, and there seems to be a race to see who can be more perverted and more shocking. This is not just in art, but in philosophy, and even theology as well. How did this tragic fall happen?

This is a question that we need to understand because to close the "gates of hell" or the access points through which hell is entering, we have to at least know where they are. As my primary mission has been to Europe over the last two decades, I have spent much time studying this fall. The church has to accept much of the responsibility for it. When viewing much of Europe's "Christian" history, it is understandable why so many Europeans want nothing to do with anything Christian again.

Europe's history with Christianity is very different from that which is found in the United States, and other "new world" and even "third world" nations, but most Europeans fail to make these distinctions. Even so, I am not offering here that American Christianity is the answer. We have our own problems, and America is experiencing a similar meltdown in morality and faith, for many of the same reasons Europe is sliding into the abyss.

However, some of America's own tragic fall from its devotion to God has been its links to Europe. I do not believe that America can ever return to its isolationist past, but we must guard who and how we join with other nations. America must have the courage and wisdom to steer a separate course from Europe in politics, religion, and business.

With the exception of Great Britain and Germany, America should look to build our national ties to the British Commonwealth nations, Russia, Asia, Africa, and our own hemisphere. Very soon she will be past the point of no recovery until the next devastating war has run its course. Europe is on an increasingly tightening death spiral and will pull down those who are too closely linked with her. As any pilot knows who has recovered from a death spiral, it usually takes a miracle that leaves us wondering how it happened. Europe needs a miracle now. God will hear even just a few who cry out to Him.

The Spark
Vicki Camp

The SPARK.... ....that gets us over the top .

(sharing a short-simple vision + insight encouragement, received 8-3- 04) As I was communing with Lord, HE began speaking to me about how it is a spark , just a small spark that lights, ignites a fire. And I thought then of men and women long ago first rubbing sticks or flint rocks together to make fire... and Lord spoke along this line to me;

Some of us struggle and strive, to do our best in whatever our Lord has called us to do and be The vision and visions plural that HE has given us, in our lives to do and be. Some have hit walls of resistance , others simply have hit dull no action times, or we may face actual emergency situations that threaten,,, and there are many more struggles/strives that befall us all, at times &&& these previous are only a few I mention. In other words, folks, myself included, can find ourselves in great need at times, of a fresh SPARK to propel us over the top into a roaring fire of accomplishment ,,,,,, once again.

As Lord was speaking about this to me, I was shown a key going into and then turning the starter leading to an automobile engine... that spark to get the motor to then, VaHRrooooooom (sp. ? ;); The engine kicked into life and I then was shown this car running UP A HILL,, fast and powerfully.

Now, that was a pretty simple depiction of a spark that ignites for accomplish !,,, for me, anyway (even though I know near to zilch about automobile starters or engines).

As I was shown this, Lord continued speaking to me that Holy Spirit is like that Spark that ignites the vision[s] given into us in the * First place, then HE ignites us * along the way, HIS/our Way,,, and then HE, Holy Spirit, is The Spark to * finish and accomplish all that our Lord intends with, in and through us; Holy Spirit will finish, accomplish, ignite through a fresh SPARK to take us over to completion,,,,,, that rev ving-up, not by your or my might, nor by your / my power, but...

.....by My Spirit, says The Lord - Zec. 4:6

As you and I occupy (work/labor) till He comes (Lk. 19:13, the talents), whilst at the very same instance have done all we know to do and are standing (Eph. 6:13),,, Holy Spirit IS The first, The in-between, and The last ignition of SPARK that WILL take us over the top (of the hill) to finish the vision[s], the work , Word, promise, obedience, intercession,,, Simply put: Whatever our Lord has called us to presently, each one of us individually.

What may seem impossible in our present striving or even resting (stopped engine) or circumstance, or struggle, or even an emergency,,, will be gotten over the top by Holy Spirit: The Spark of God, Who dwells in eternity and dwells in us unto completion. For our Lord's Word will NOT return to HIM void (empty). Is. 55:11

The Spirit of God Who worked in accomplishing creation, brooding over the waters of turmoil (Gen. 1:2) ; This same Spirit that raised Christ from the dead !!! (Rom. 8:11) &.dwells in us ~ ~ ~ Too awe.

We can know that as we continue, our Lord will have the full Glory in our fini accomplishing -- Our going over the top with HIM, in taking that next hill -- from initial SPARK to becoming full FIRED Firebrands of finish, In Christ.

For I see that,,,, 1. Our LORD is the One Who sparked the vision[s] in us in the first place !;

2. Our Lord delights in our right[eous] directions and obedience as we labor with HIM towards same vision[s], towards mission accomplished;

3. Our Lord will finish it with us; Take us, you and I, over the top just like that auto I was shown running powerfully up the hill, via Holy Ghost supernatural Spirit SPARK ignite; Accomplishing HIS Word, Will and Work, unto that full revving of us,,,,,, as it were ~ ~ VahROOooommmmm....

my prayer: Thank you so dear and mighty Lord. I have this hope, by You I can run right through a troop and even leap over a wall.... , and take that next hill. Come, Holy fresh SPARK, Ignite me afresh Lord unto YOUR accomplishing of and by most wonderful Holy Spirit,,, for creative supernatural hill-taking; Unto Your / my over the top finish, I ask... You will be glorified in Your people, for we bear Your Name.

I cannot, but HE can !

May we all be SPARKed afresh; Full throttle Firebrands in HIS Hand.

Ps. 18:27-30 (II Sam. 22) ...For You will save the humble people,.... will bring down haughty looks. For You will light my lamp; The Lord my God will enlighten my darkness. For by You I can run against a troop, By my God I can leap over a wall. As for God, His way is perfect; The word of the Lord is proven; He is a shield to all who trust in Him.

- v.c., ~ Bill and Vicki C. http://write-the-vision.net/

The Slaughter Pens

Bob Neumann

On Saturday Morning May 22nd I had a powerful vision. The reasons for delaying the posting of this vision are three fold. First is the present state of the American Church and it's state of heavy slumber. One has to be both awake and sober to distinguish the meaning of the trumpet call. Second is the flow of THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT in relation to the images that have been quickened in my spirit. Maybe you can call it DIVINE TIMING. From the images from the movie THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW, to songs in my spirit, to watching old movies around the image of MEMORIAL DAY. THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT has used this time in the past with me, so in hind sight everything seems crystal clear. The Third was that after this vision I realized there were aspects that needed meditation, council, and "2 or 3 witnesses".....and one of these would be a FALSE WITNESS. Which goes back to another old song. That comes later. So let's go to the VALLEY OF VISION.

THE SLAUGHTER PENS

(Just the title I have been told to use is a quandary. Usually when given a vision of this magnitude, at least I believe it is of great magnitude, I place little or no interpretation upon it. Today that changes. Let the reader be lead by THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT in all things).

I found myself looking toward the sunrise. I was sitting on a fence post seeing a glow in the eastern sky. I immediately thought of Malachi 4 when I realized I was hearing soft bleating of sheep. I looked around me and there were sheep in every direction. But they were in pens. The post I was sitting on was one of many in precise position with one another. What I was seeing was a grid work of pens made from wooden rails. Inside each pen were crammed sheep. At the time I did not notice how quiet the sheep were. Yes I had heard bleating. But not many sheep were making "noise". I tried to count the number of several pens but I kept getting distracted. The sheep were so tightly packed they could not move. So counting should not have been a problem, but I could not concentrate. And I knew it. Something was interfering. So I kept moving from pen to pen. Sometimes I walked on the rails, and sometimes on the back of the sheep. At that point the level of perception became clearer as I kept moving. I noticed that each pen held separate breeds of sheep. One pen held tan colored sheep and another held white sheep with black faces. One had short fleece, another had long. The immediate thought I had was "segregated". No pen had diverse sheep in it. And then I came to a pen where the sheep all had a splash of paint on their hind quarters. One pen was red, another blue, another green, and so on. All were basic white sheep. the only difference was the marking someone had put on them. Later I found a pen without any markings, no paint. So I went into the pen.

Here I noticed two things. First was the sheep here were white like those with paint. But each had a "tag" clipped to their left ear. It was not very big, but all the sheep of that pen had them. Later I would find other pens with "tagged sheep". The SECOND thing I noticed was that my "size" was not right. I was walking on two legs but the sheep were HUGE. If I was my normal human size. Canine and human are the two possibilities I have learned in the VALLEY OF VISION... but this was different.

When I realized this I found another fence post and sat to think. Again I looked to the east where the color was brighter, but the SUN had not come over the horizon. And in my spirit I heard the words "FALSE DAWN". Now false dawn is that period of time where night is cut through by the LIGHT OF THE APPROACHING SON. Yes I just flipped SUN with SON. I know HE IS COMING, BUT HE IS NOT HERE YET....as in REVELATION 19.

As I said I sat and pondered what I was "seeing" and what I was "hearing". Yes, the sky was brighter but not a whole lot. So "time" had passed very slowly as I had wandered around the pens. What I thought had been a few hours of slow searching had been but a minute. So I knew my "seeing" was altered. And I thought that I had better listen as clearly as I could. So I went once again into my "watching and listening" mode. I saw sheep in pens, I heard bleating. And then I "heard" something else. It was a "murmuring" I could barely hear. But it was there. And it "seemed" to be coming from my left. Which made it coming from THE NORTH.

So I started to move in that direction. The murmuring was not getting any louder. But I could discern an occasional word. So I kept moving. After awhile I noticed there was "something" there, but was hard to "see". Eventually I could make out a building. It was fairly large, at least 2 stories tall. As I began to "see" the building more clearly, I began to "hear" more clearly. The "voice" was deep and slow. It was also repetitive. "be quiet"..."obey"..."do as you're told"...."do not question"...."do not worry"...

I knew the "voice" originated from the building. I approached the building from the east. To the right of the building I saw the end of the lines of pens. The building was the northern wall to many pens, but there is an open area along the east side of the building. But I can see posts and rails along the side of the building. The fencing narrowed as it moved along the side of the building. I realized that the fencing was there to funnel the sheep into the building. At this point I became aware that this was a slaughter house. It was too big for a shed for shearing...and many of the sheep had been recently sheared.

So I started to move around the southern wall to the building.

Eventually I saw a window above the sheep. I also became aware that the "voice" seemed to be behind that window. So I moved towards the window....moved, flew, teleported...I do not know. But I was looking through the window and there was "something" there. Now I noticed the window could not be opened. It was glass and frames...solid. So I went through it......

And found myself standing and looking down at this thing. It was sitting in lotus position on a raised dais. It wore a robe similar to Hindu or Buddhist monks. And I had an image come to my spirit. The image was from an old movie called "GUNGA DIN". As this image the thing stopped it's "mumbling" and looked up at me. That "mumbling" is what I had been hearing. A controlling mantra that had been controlling the sheep.

"You can not kill me!", the thing screeched. The deep voice was now a weak high pitched screech. And suddenly I had a second image...GOLLUM from the LORD OF THE RINGS movies. So I had interposed the images of the fully evil GOLLUM with the SWAMI from GUNGA DIN. He was the religious leader of the cult of KALI...the THUGS.

Now I can think about these images slowly and clearly. At the time I simply took a few steps towards the thing and squatted down. Even then I was looking down at it.

"You can not stop me", he screeched.

I noticed the evil and insanity in it's eyes. Like GOLLUM it was a perverse parody of human. I knew it was not human. Not even close.

"YOU DO NOT WIN", I stated the obvious.

But it's answer was strange. "The outcome is still in question."

"THE OUTCOME WAS SET FROM THE SETTING OF THE FOUNDATION OF THE WORLD".

That produced a scathing verbal attack I will not bother anyone with. But one thing stood out. In the diatribe it said "you naked monkey...". Now I had heard that before. But was not sure where. The only thing that came to me was...."IS THAT ALL THERE IS?".... And I recalled ISAIAH 14.....

and I remember chuckling to myself....and the THING became silent....

and I stood up and walked to and through the broken window....

and I was awake.

Now I can sit back and ponder.....

So this was the "ASCENDED MASTER" the NEW AGERS channel.... So this was the "DISTRACTION" that messed up my "seeing" and "hearing" early in the vision. So this is what rebelled against THE MOST HIGH GOD. So this is what the church tries to bind and cast down/out over and over and over....

It said I could not "kill" it....but I was not sent to kill anything. It said "the outcome was in question"...but IT IS WRITTEN. It said I was a "naked monkey"....had to look it up....Google was no help...

So I asked THE LORD where this thread came from. Eventually I got an image of a ranting Christopher Walken...and I had it...or part of it...a movie called THE PROPHECY. In it Walken is the angel GABRIEL. Lucifer is actor Viggo Mortensen....from THE LORD OF THE RINGS. Funny, I really do not remember the movie, so it is probably not important.

Just a bunch of images. WEIRD IMAGES...TRUE......and coincidences... Walken and Mortenson.... Then there was Victor McLaughlin in GUNGA DIN...and all 3 John Ford westerns with the bugle calls. In all 4 movies old Victor was a soldier...each time was a sergeant...and twice SERGEANT-MAJOR.

So you put it all together...THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW...REVELATION 19. The "thing" of evil insanity that thinks it can stop REVELATION 19 from coming.... And ISAIAH 14...."FALSE DAWN"....Lucifer........ [16] They that see thee shall narrowly look upon thee, and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, that did shake kingdoms;
[17] That made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof; that opened not the house of his prisoners?

That last part....about not opening the "HOUSE OF HIS PRISONERS".... the SLAUGHTER PENS....
Isaiah 61
[1] The Spirit of the Lord GOD is upon me; because the LORD hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound;
[2] To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn;
[3] To appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the LORD, that he might be glorified. Isaiah 61:1-3 is all one sentence. Yet we have split it into many parts.

Now I have "sat" on this for days. I sent out two posts about THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW. But I got my confirmations...all 3. The two intercessors who gave me council supplied the "sources" for two witnesses. The third came when I went to verify the FALSE CONFIRMATION. The SECOND TRUE WITNESS came from STEPHEN AND NOHELIA BENNING. THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT is telling us to take notice.

WHO WILL? Selah Bob Neumann

The Secret Place

Robert Holmes

I had a geography teacher in high school, a devout man. He would stay on certain Scriptures for months at a time. I used to think he was a little slow; after all I would race through the Bible in a year! But in recent times I have not been able to escape Jeremiah 23. I've been there for months!

There is a wide range of issues dealt with in this chapter, many of them affecting prophets. Review the time of Jeremiah. His father, Hilkiah was a reforming High Priest. He had discovered the ancient scriptures with the king Josiah - known among all the kings of Israel as a man who brought revival. The elders were godly, and sought the council of Huldah, the prophetess who lived in the old quarter of Jerusalem. It is not like the nation was under the cloud of Jezebel and Ahab! It was a prosperous time, yet God saw fit to appoint a prophet.

Jeremiah's first four commands are devastating, "root out, pull down, destroy and throw down". Evidently God was not as impressed as we might be. The prophet laments the state of his compatriots in Samaria, and notes the terrible things being done by the prophets of Israel. Among the most remarkable adjurations is the insistence that prophets seek God's counsel.

Read that sentence again. It's like saying a supplier needs to seek his manufacturer, or a businessman needs to go to the bank. Prophets need to seek Gods counsel. It should go without saying - a prophet's job is defined by taking messages from the King to His subjects. Yet here we find God asking His servants, "who has stood in my counsel?" and saying "if they had stood in my counsel" (Jer. 23:18,22).

We might get smug, except that this could well be us! The root word for counsel used here is "sod" (pronounced chawd). It means "secret counsel" or "secret place". Amos said that God does nothing without revealing things to his servants the prophets from the secret place (Amos 3:7). David said that the secret counsel of God belongs to those who fear Him (Psalm 25:14).

Evidently the prophets of Israel and Samaria had forgotten God's address, or they had lost the key to the secret place, where they might receive His counsel. Oh it's not like they had nothing to say, no not at all. The revelations were flowing thick and fast. Dreams, visions, revelations, interpretations, words and prophecy. But it was not born of the secret place. Their internet list was pumping out the stuff, but it was all worthless!

The Bible has much to say about the secret place. It is a place of hiding, a secret pavilion (Psalm 31:20). It is a dwelling place where God hides us in His shadow (Psalm 91:1). It can be found in the tabernacle of praise, or in the place of refuge (Psalm 27:5). It was most certainly uncovered by David during his darkest hours. Whilst he ran from Saul, and hid in a cave, he penned the following words, "He made darkness His secret place, His canopy dark waters" (Psalm 18:11). Asaph called it the secret place. of thunder! (Psalm 81:7).

It can't be that hard to find. Job, with all his woes found it. He lost his wife, his children, his business, his cattle but not the key to the secret place. He could say, "The counsel of the Lord was over my tent" (Job 29:4).

Isaiah said that those who wait on the Lord renew their strength - that is, those who entwine their lives in His will find his life infusing theirs (Isa. 40:31). Maybe it just takes time.

In this fast paced, twenty first century life - the microchip set, micro fibre suit wearing, micro time management age - we struggle to find the counsel of God. Amazing, we know how to find the twenty third enzyme on the DNA strand, but we can't walk in the twenty third psalm!

Isaiah entreated us, "you who have no money, come buy and eat. without money and without price" (Isa. 55:1). How on earth do you buy without money, and obtain without price? John Alley put it this way, "Spend time, and pay attention". Well said.

It takes time to pray, but even in prayer we might miss Him. It takes time to dwell in the secret place. We must find Him in the difficult times, in the dark hours, in the worst of circumstances. Perhaps that's why the Psalmist said, "Clouds and darkness surround Him" (Psalm 97:2). Afterall, the Lord did say He would dwell in a dark cloud (1 Kings 8:11) and come to us in a firestorm consuming the mountainous high places of our lives (Exod. 19:9).

One only needs to walk the aisles of a Christian bookstore to see why the door to this secret place eludes us. What between the twelve steps to a power prayer time, and the purpose driven wife we find the seven secrets to success and the twenty one immutable laws of laconic speech. The top ten titles overflow with positive posturing and power paradigms. Not a mention of pain, suffering, darkness or trouble. Perhaps God needs to discover His love language again?

David found God in the back of the cave, running away from his spiritual mentor and General, Saul. Frightened, alone and a castaway, David found the key to the secret place. Not just spending time alone with God, no not even the hour that changed the world. He found God in the hardest place of his life, the most difficult circumstances hide Him. If David found God under those circumstances, perhaps we too can find. the secret place.

Elders Of The City
Robert I Holmes

It is hard to see and understand, given our modern environment, given our historical church. Jesus said that by the traditions of men, we made the word of God to no effect. So it is today. The "church" as we see it (in all her splendid 22,000 denominations) is nothing like the church Jesus left his apostles.

Even a cursory reading of the New Testament reveals certain truths to be lost. Every letter Paul wrote was to a city or a region. Not to the "First Pauline church of Maine", or the "Apollostolic church of New Haven". He wrote to the church of God in Corinth (1 Cor. 1:2) and to all the saints throughout Achaia (2 Cor. 1:1). One might assume that there was only one building, or one church location there, but this was not so. There were many house churches, many locations in the one city - yet only one church.

Trapped on a desert island

Imagine John on his prison island and the Spirit catches him up. He sees Jesus, standing amongst lamp stands with stars in his hand. Jesus explains to him that the lamp stands are churches and the stars are the angels of the churches of Asia (Rev. 1:20). Then He begins to dictate a letter to each angel - one angel, one church, one city. Interestingly enough four of the seven churches were not even "his". Paul had founded them and Paul's disciples oversaw them. Yet Jesus asked John to correct them.

You can imagine the courier, waiting at the boat. John says, "Here is a letter. Take it to the angel of the church of Ephesus, thanks" (Rev. 2:1). Scroll in hand the merry messenger makes his way to Ephesus. Now what's the address of that angel again? Never mind, the content is for the church anyway right, so now what address is the church at? Oh right, there isn't one. Oh right, take it to the elders. But who are they? The church there was founded by Paul and cared for by Pricilla and Aquilla. They should be easy enough to find.

The "apostles and elders"

If you had a revelation, or problem for the church, who would you go and see? You'd probably book a session with the "pastor" right? And if you were the pastor, you'd probably appoint a couple of the elders to go up to head office with it, right?

In Acts 15 Paul and Barnabus had a problem. They kept getting Gentiles saved in Antioch. These two men, already described as among the "prophets and teachers" (Acts 13:1) take a trip to Jerusalem. Instead of looking for senior pastor Peter Cephas of the Rock Church, they meet with the "apostles and elders" (vs 2,6). Evidently they were the leaders of the regional church. These men discussed the matter of Gentile conversions and circumcision. They "and the church with them" wrote down an answer to the problem. Judas and Silas "leading men among the brethren" (vs 22) were at the meeting. That makes them either apostles, or elders. They carry a letter with Paul back to the church in Antioch. Judas and Silas "themselves being prophets" (vs 32), encouraged the church there whilst Paul and Barnabus "taught" (vs 35).

So apparently the elders are prophets and teachers. Either that or they are apostles. Peter lends some credence to this, saying "I Peter, a fellow elder" (1 Peter 5:1). So the leaders, the elders of the church are apostles, prophets and teachers (1 Cor. 12:28). John's courier is looking for the elders of Ephesus, evidently prophets and teachers, appointed and joined by apostles.

Meanwhile, on another island.

Paul wintered one year on a beautiful island in the Mediterranean. Crete, the fair star of the Aegean was now home to a bunch of new churches. There were over fifteen towns and cities on the island and evidently, in God's eyes only one church. Paul left his apostolic protégé Titus there with these instructions, "appoint elders in every city (of Crete)" (Titus 1:5). So not only was there one angel, one church, one city but now we find only one set of elders in the city.

Paul had a habit of only appointing one set of elders to any given city. After his escapades in Lystra, Iconium and Antioch he "appointed elders in the church" (Acts 14:21). How far this is from us today. The city has dozens of "churches" with dozens of "pastors" and each little congregation has "elders". But Biblically - only the city wide church has elders. It was to them that John's courier delivered his letters.

Back to John

So John, you've handed your letters to the courier and dispatched them into Asia with a prayer. There are some interesting things said to those "angels" in those "churches". Evidently the church managed to "test the so called apostles" (Rev. 2:2). They had itinerant apostles back then too, and some of the self inflated, self appointed men were not the real McCoy. Somehow the church managed to "test" them and not let them in. Sounds to me like the elders sat at the gates of the city - guarding the church from heretics!

In the back ground you can hear the straining refrain from a Lennon song, "Imagine". Imagine a church, of the city, with elders over the city, able to keep out strange apostles. Able to test the teachers in their city. Having authority with the people, and with the city living in the fear of God (Acts 2 & 4). Imagine!

WEBSITE Storm-Harvest Ministries http://www.storm-harvest.asn.au

MODERATORS Robert I Holmes and Mario Liu email prophetic@storm-harvest.asn.au

Times Square Anointing
Dan Fineman

Times Square Anointing: One Year Later.

In the year 2003, the Lord sent me to go to Times Square and anoint it with oil. I sent out a report to a small list of people regarding the events of that day. God also permitted me to share what happened to anyone who contacted me to ask. Recently, I received the command to write up a report on the Times Square anointing and sent it out to a list of 14 people on the 1 year anniversary of the event (which is today). What you are about to read is based on an outline that was given to me by God in prophecy. I write it in faith and obedience to Christ.

A Vision

I had a vision on April 1st, 2004. I had just returned home from work. It was about 11:00 PM. I was walking towards the kitchen from the living room when I had a quick vision of a man standing next to the bookshelf in front of me. He had brown hair and a beard. It lasted for a split-second. Not understanding what I saw, I prayed, "Lord, what is it that I saw?" The Lord answered, "It is my presence!"

What an interesting choice of words, I thought. Was he saying that the image that I saw was a visual manifestation of his presence? I rejoiced. It was a very encouraging experience. I recall that I shared it with my wife and my brother. It was only later that I realized that the day I had the vision is known as April Fools Day. It's a day when people deliberately tell lies and play practical jokes on each other. I knew the difficulties that others would have believing me. We laughed about it, but it was more than just a practical joke played on me by my best friend.

When God gave me the outline for this report, he told me to start it with the April Fools Day vision. The Lord has taught me a lot through that experience. I see it as a metaphor of the things that he has asked me to do and the words that I was asked to share. Only those who really don't judge by the flesh, the sheep who hear the Shepherd's voice, who fellowship with the Holy Spirit and live by faith will be able to understand that I am telling the truth.

Jan Vermeer

Earlier this year a coworker of mine lent me a copy of a book on the 17th Century Dutch artist Jan Vermeer. Jan Vermeer is topic 2 on the outline given to me by God for this report. The book contained photos of all of his known paintings. I read through it, and I wondered afterwards why I was led to do this. I don't know a lot about art history, but I learned a few things about 17th Century Dutch art.

Vermeer's paintings are highly allegorical. Simple images are given elaborate interpretations. In 17th century Dutch art, certain symbols had defined meanings, and by using these symbols in paintings, the artist could convey it's meaning to his contemporaries. Everything was very well defined. There was even a hierarchy of importance in the types of painting an artist could create. Religious art, both Biblical, and mythological, was considered the highest form of painting, followed by portraits, and ending, I believe, in landscapes, which was considered the lowest of all.

As I read this book on Vermeer's paintings, I learned the elaborate rules that art historians use to interpret his works. A wine jug on the table with a man and a woman implied a seduction scene. A woman reading a letter meant that the woman was having an affair, and so on and so forth.

Here is a link to a web page with Vermeer paintings. http://www.ibiblio.org/wm/paint/auth/vermeer/

In many of the Vermeer paintings, women are depicted wearing pearls. Often this is interpreted as a symbol of vanity, but there is one particular painting, where the pearl is given another interpretation altogether. Entitled "Girl with A Pearl Earring," (http://www.ibiblio.org/wm/paint/auth/vermeer/i/earring.jpg) it is a portrait of a girl wearing a blue turban and a large pearl earring. Unlike the other instances where pearl jewelry implied the wearer's preoccupation with beauty and appearance, the interpreter confidently asserts that this pearl earring is meant to symbolize the woman's purity, more specifically, that she has inclined her ear to the word of God, and the Gospel message. The oriental head covering is seen as further proof of the woman's chastity.

Why is this relevant to the report that I am writing? Vermeer died years ago, so we can't really know the meaning of his paintings. The various interpretations of Vermeer's paintings are never more than educated guesses. Right or wrong, it's all speculation. And what we are seeing with Vermeer's painting of a girl wearing a pearl earring as compared to his other works is a conflict of metaphors. The same image has a different meaning depending on its context. People have created elaborate rules in order to interpret the meaning of his works which are themselves based on elaborate rules of symbolism.

God speaks through images, and symbols. God has given me a message that must be interpreted by understanding His numerical symbolism, but we must never think that by simply learning some rules we can interpret anything the Lord brings. Rules are flesh, and they give birth only to flesh. With everything that we receive from God, we must go before Him to receive His interpretation of it's meaning, for anything else is false.

God gave me a message to share last year based on the revelation and interpretation of a pattern of prophetic dates in my life, but He never meant it to lead to some kind of religious science of prediction or special-date-finding. Unlike scholars, who value their ability to speculate, we who have fellowship with Jesus, can go confidently to Him and await his revelation as to the meaning of everything.

Lions

When we have a vision of a lion, are we seeing the Lion of the tribe of Judah, or a roaring lion looking to devour? When I receive a vision, God has never once allowed me to jump to conclusions, but must always wait for his interpretation, which only comes when He pleases. Sometimes the interpretation is immediate, or sometimes it takes years. Sometimes I am asked what I think it means. I usually say, "don't know" or listen to the voice of the Holy Spirit for the answer. So which is it? Is the lion Jesus, or Satan? It's a trick question. God once said to me "Sometimes a lion is just a lion." Yes it's supposed to remind us of a quote attributed to Sigmund Freud, "Sometimes a cigar is just a cigar." So the next time you have a vision of a loin, perhaps you're being reminded that you have no clue what it means unless He reveals it to you. And maybe, perhaps, that's just what it means.

Even just recognizing that a revelation is from God is not enough. In the Bible we read an account of the High Priest prophesying that Jesus had to die to save the people saying that it was better that one man die than the nation perish. It was true prophecy, and the listeners believed it, but none of them interpreted it correctly. They instead all plotted together to kill Jesus, and used the prophecy as some sort of mandate from heaven to do so. The word says that the letter kills, and in this instance the letter killed in the most literal way.

No prophecy, whether in Scripture or otherwise, is subject to mans own private interpretation. Interpretation belongs to the Lord.

Wolves

Vision of wolves, but this time the wolves are the good guys? What's going on here? I shared my visions in obedience to the Lord. I would have preferred sheep dog or watch dog, or ex-wolf tamed by the Master (now just a dog), but I used the word wolf at the Lord's command. A year and a half ago I had a dream/vision. It started as a dream, but I woke up before it finished. There was wolf, his mouth bloody from attacking sheep. There were sheep all around me. The wolf turns to attack me, and I strike back viciously. The wolf mistook me for a sheep, but I was a wolf there to protect the sheep. I could see my snout and my nose in front of me. I had blood on me as well, and I knew in the dream that this wasn't the first predator that I had confronted that day.

There I was, in service to the Good Shepherd, my Master, fighting battle after battle out of love to protect the very sheep that look at me, and seeing my wolfish nature, feel mistrust and suspicion.

More Signs

Since I was sent forth last year to send out a few prophecies, and anoint Times Square, the Lord has shown me different wonderful sings that glorify his name! Before I share the events of that day you, permit me to share these signs.

First off, I am providing links so that those of you who are unfamiliar with the work that I did last year can read up on it.

Link to the preview of the e-book I wrote last year with some of the signs of 9:
http://www.geocities.com/whatliesbehindthecurtain/2003-04-01-8.html

Link to the invitation to join me in Times Square page:
http://www.geocities.com/whatliesbehindthecurtain/2003-05-03.html

More signs and interpretation are in chapter 2 and 4 of the book I wrote which can be downloaded from this page: http://www.geocities.com/whatliesbehindthecurtain/book.html

Here is a list of new things that I was shown and new signs that were revealed to me.

1. There are 9 months, or 40 weeks in a typical pregnancy. 9 therefore, is associated with pregnancy and birth, or in the case of my daughters birth, and all the signs in my life, the birth of the Man-Child.

2. There are 9 fruits of the Holy Spirit in Galatians. These are 9 characteristics with which the fruit or lack thereof on the branches will be examined. 9 therefore, is associated with judgment.

3. I was web surfing one day and I decided to look and see what God had to say through Bill Burns on 8-27-1999 (my daughter's DOB). This is what I found:
http://www.ft111.com/trumpet2.htm#August%2027,%201999.

4. I did not realize until this year that Times Square was 99 years old on the day of the anointing. Here is a link to a web page confirming that Times Square turned 100 years old this year:
http://www.npr.org/features/feature.php?wfId=1812211. It also contains info on an appropriately titled book called "The Devils Playground" about the history of Times Square.

5. There was a Broadway musical (near the anointing spot) called Nine which opened and closed in the year 2003. Despite its short run, it was awarded a Tony award for best musical "revival."
http://www.newyorktheatreguide.com/news/dec03/3dec03nine.htm

God only sent me forth for a short time in the year 2003. He asked me to withdraw, and study and prepare. I read something earlier this year that I wanted to respond to (a false prophecy) and The Lord said, "If you want to help, then read the book of Esther!" Esther was my current reading assignment at the time. That's where I am now, in training and preparing for the work ahead.

God told me once that the day of my birth was a sign. I was born in 1974. This means I was conceived in 1973 and that I anointed Times Square in the 30th year since my conception. I read the testimony of a prophet who was told by God that he was conceived in 1973 because this was the year of Roe Vs. Wade, the supreme court decision in favor of abortion. God told me that this applies to me as well. In fact, the large number that I was given in March of 2003 (link here: http://www.geocities.com/whatliesbehindthecurtain/2003-03-19-1.html) was later revealed to me to be the exact number of babies that would be murdered in the USA in 2003. I tried to confirm that number, but I could only find an estimate for 1.3 million, and I don't know if that includes infanticide, or how accurately such figures can be measured with the latest abortion pill technology for that matter. But I trust that God is never wrong. I also learned an amazing fact. 1 in 4 pregnancies in the USA ends in abortion.

Please take the time to read the Third Thunder by Bob Neumann. It will help you to understand the emphasis on abortion and the reason for its connection to the signs in my life and the anointing of Times Square: http://www.etpv.org/1998/3thundr.html.

7. The day I finished writing the book called 9 was one week before the Times Square anointing. At the Lords command, I quickly perused it and then sent a copy of it to my brother for him to post on the website. God didn't want it to be perfect in spelling and things of that nature, so I didn't get to edit it carefully. He wanted to make a point with its informal nature. It is not copyrighted either. He said that I am never allowed to edit it. I started re-reading it until 3 AM the next day, and then I went to bed. The next day, my wife finds out that her brother and his live-in girlfriend had seen a bright light for a few seconds shining on them just outside the window. My wife's brother knew that God was calling him through this supernatural sign ("I stand at the door and knock"), but he didn't want to leave his life of vices. He instead ignored the call, became agitated, forced himself not to think about what he saw, and reportedly started looking for drugs to use.

8. On May 24th, 2003, we boarded a plane and headed towards New York. We realized later that it was exactly 9 years prior that my wife boarded a plane from Syracuse, New York to live in Puerto Rico.

The reason why I mention some things that don't seem to directly relate to the message of the anointing of Times Square is because they are meant to confirm the message that I received at Times Square that will be mentioned later on. Here are some more things that occurred in 2003 that are shared for you edification.

9. On 8-27-2003, Mars made it closest approach to earth in all of human history. It was also the day that the 10 commandments monument was removed from the Alabama courthouse. Not that it matters how many monuments to the 10 commandments are erected, but its removal on that date combined with the sign in the sky is prophetically significant. It was also my daughters 4th birthday. I also had a vision of a "man in Mars" that day. It was a man in armor with a shield in his right hand and a sword in his left. No interpretation received.

10. On 9-18-2003, Hurricane Isabel hit the United States. It was my 5th wedding anniversary, and the 14th anniversary of the day that Hurricane Hugo hit Puerto Rico (where I live) in 1989, at 9AM causing 9 deaths.

11. At the end of October, 2003 my grandmothers apartment was finally sold (40 E 9th St, 7th floor), and my parents did a wire transfer of a large sum of money to me so that I could pay off the mortgage on my apartment. My apartment, which I moved into during my 7th year in Puerto Rico, and my daughter's 3rd year of life, cost $153,000, and on 11-7-2003, it was finally paid off. 11-7-2003 is the 5 year anniversary of my wedding reception which occurred 50 days after my court wedding due to Hurricane George.

My apartment, which is on the 3rd floor of the 3rd building in the walk up complex where I live, was finally redeemed on the 5th anniversary of my reception. The full price of $153,000 now paid. I sensed in the Spirit to look up redemption in the dictionary and found this:

Redemption: 1. an act of redeeming or the state of being redeemed. 2. deliverance; rescue. 3. deliverance from sin. 4. atonement for guilt. 5. repurchase, as of something sold. 6. paying off, as of a mortgage, bond, or note. 7. recovery of payment, as of something pledged.

Now the box number for my apartment is 306, which is 153 times 2. I have found the book The Third Day Church by Bill Burns to be very helpful in understanding the meaning of these signs (http://www.ft111.com/thirdday.htm). Chapter 9, in particular, sheds some light on the number 153 and it's meaning that can applied to these signs.

One last thing relating to numbers: Recently, God told me that the number 17 means "The Great Feast of the Lamb," in the signs in my life. 153 is 9 times 17. God told me to mention it here.

The Anointing of Times Square

Speaking of the number 153, it was on the 153rd day since the Lord first called me to share his word with the world on 12-26-2002 that I was standing on 45th St. on a little wedge of side walk between Broadway and 7th Ave in the middle of Times Square. My wife, my brother, his wife, and our 2 daughters were in attendance. It was May 27th, 2003, one year ago today, my brothers 3rd wedding anniversary, the day my daughter turned 45 months old, and the 7th anniversary of the day my wife first called me phone in 1996.

There were 6 of us in total, not including the tall man standing next to us in his underwear called the Naked Cowboy, and a small group of tourists paying attention to him. When we first arrived in Times Square that day, I hoped that God would move the Naked Cowboy off the anointing spot before noon, but God positioned him there because of his prophetic significance. At 11:57 AM or thereabouts, the Lord spoke to me and told me to read from Revelation chapter 18.

Rev. 18:1-6 (ESV) After this I saw another angel coming down from heaven, having great authority, and the earth was made bright with his glory. [2] And he called out with a mighty voice, "Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great! She has become a dwelling place for demons, a haunt for every unclean spirit, a haunt for every unclean bird, a haunt for every unclean and detestable beast. [3] For all nations have drunk the wine of the passion of her sexual immorality, and the kings of the earth have committed immorality with her, and the merchants of the earth have grown rich from the power of her luxurious living." [4] Then I heard another voice from heaven saying, "Come out of her, my people, lest you take part in her sins, lest you share in her plagues; [5] for her sins are heaped high as heaven, and God has remembered her iniquities. [6] Pay her back as she herself has paid back others, and repay her double for her deeds; mix a double portion for her in the cup she mixed.

After I finished reading verse 6, God told me to pour out the oil. He then said that verse 6 had just been fulfilled. I finished reading the rest of chapter 18, and we all prayed for the things that God had asked us to pray for, such as a spirit of repentance. The decision has been made. America has been sentenced. After I finished, Jesus said, "Give me back my rod." I gave/he took it back.

Can America take what it dishes out? The day of the Columbine High School massacre coincided (so they say) with the largest day of Bombing in Kosovo. Rev. 18:6 shows us that America will have to take a double portion in the cup she mixed.

I find it more that a coincidence that God describes both spiritual and natural Babylon to me as "sentenced" when I read the following prophecy that was sent to me earlier this week. Just like the condemned man, America is sentenced. This is direct confirmation, and God told me to include His word through David Haase here:

From the White Throne
David Haase

... 5-23-04

America is like a dead man. condemned not knowing the hour or the day of his destruction, awaiting his final Judgment, lost, not seeing, unable to defend himself against his fate. His last hours he lashes out at things he can not comprehend, against foes he can not see. all in vain, for his hour is appointed, his death assured, no morning will he see, his life squandered among the nations. Brought out from among the least, you thought to raise yourself above all nations, your heart set like stone without remorse.

AMERICA NOW HEAR THIS!!! You are cut off from your seed. your lives belong to others, you touted freedom, yet your actions spoke rebellion. Love of yourself is all that mattered. Lies spoken to others and yourself, this is all you hear and will hear. My servants who walk among you who cry and weep to save you, are but deaf whispers in your ears. How loud these cries will sound on the Day of Judgment. The tears and shame will be yours as you see and hear it again. You have mocked Me, your games, your courts, your hidden lies, your sins of the dark, your sins flaunted for all to see. to make them more like you. NO MORE!!! YOUR DAYS ARE ENDED!!! Watch as all you hold dear is shaken, removed and destroyed by My Wraith. My heart burns with anger against you, My hand will be stayed NO longer. My Word has sealed your fate.

From foolishness will come a destroyer of many. ---

After the anointing we walked on to 14th Street Union Square and took communion and prayed for unity in the Body of Christ. Then we ate lunch and afterwards my wife, my daughter and I continued on to the sight on the fallen towers to look around at the Lord's command. We walked around the Battery Park area for a while and tried to take a subway train back to my parents forgetting that all northbound service that passed through the World Trade Center had ended because of the fall of the Towers. I had to walk north to Canal Street to catch a train back to my parent's house. On the way back North, we passed by the Wall Street Bull pictured here: http://www.nyposter.com/images/Cards/bigimages/card2404.jpg. It is anatomically intact unlike the Steer in the vision of the Killing of the Bull given to Bob Neumann (http://www.etpv.org/1998/killbull.html).

There are those who want to believe that no actual physical destruction is on the way, and that warnings of judgment against Babylon only have to apply to the spiritual Babylon. But this vision by Ray Aguilera and its interpretation help shed some light on what is coming to pass right now: (http://www.prophecy.org/279pro.htm). The fire of destruction and purification will burn in both the physical and the spiritual.

Weeks after the trip to Times Square the Lord spoke to me and told me to read number 1516 on Ray Aguilera's prophecy, visions, dreams list.

http://www.prophecy.org/1516pro.htm

I was amazed to read that it was a prophecy about the anointing of Rio de Janeiro with oil. God helped me to understand the purpose for the Times Square anointing by leading me to that prophecy. God then said to read the next one, and I did.

http://www.prophecy.org/1517pro.htm

I provided the link, but it's short, so I'll quote it:

1517. Prophecy given to Raymond Aguilera on June 28, 2000 at 10:20 PM. What I told the two of you (Carl and I) in Israel still applies. "What comes up comes down, good and faithful servants. Look at the mountain. Look at the mountain".

When I first read this, I thought first of the statue of Jesus, and the judgment against idolatry, but now I know God was speaking also the Second Coming of Christ.

Concluding Words

To Abba, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit belong the Glory for all that He has done in my life. It is with Holy Fear and trembling that I shared this with you, knowing that I would have to give an account to God for every word. I have not tried to write something that would be believed. I don't want recognition from anyone, only God's approval. I have not lied, but have told the truth about everything.

Last year, I complained to Jesus that I would be called a prophet of doom. He said, "What do you care what other people think?" I realized that he was quoting from the title of a book that I own by a scientist named Richard Feynman. Richard Feynman was chosen to be a member of the committee that was commissioned to investigate the cause of the Space Shuttle Challenger explosion in 1986. The rest of the committee was led around on tours looking important while he separated himself to do some actual investigating. What he found was a web of deception and hypocrisy, false statistics, and poor risk assessment. The lies that NASA told made the shuttle appear safe, but telling lies, and believing them couldn't change that fact that faulty design and wishful thinking caused the shuttle to explode.

In 2003, a year of symbolic judgments on America (such as the northeast area blackout, and California fires), the Space Shuttle Columbia exploded over Palestine, Texas. Few want to believe the message, but that won't stop it from coming to pass. There will be conviction and repentance, but first comes the fire that brings it.

I now return the shelter of the Most High and await the command to go forth again. If you have any questions or comments, please don't hesitate to contact me.

whatliesbehindthecurtain@yahoo.com
whatliesbehindthecurtain@hotmail.com

May the Grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with you always.

The Spiritual Siloam

Bayo Omoyiola

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

The name siloam naturally reminds us of the pool Jesus sent a blind man to. The name means sent and it is a shadow of the spiritual siloam where christians sent by God normally visit everyday.
The spiritual siloam is a place where we can all go to after we have suffered afflictions and when the Lord puts mud on our face trying us with trial and refining us in the furnace of afflictions.
We should all come to fellowship with God in his presence, the spiritual siloam. This is an invitation to come worship in his presence. His presence bears different names in the bible.

Ps 42:1 calls it - water brooks.

Ps 23:2 calls it - the still waters.

Is.55:1 calls it - the waters .

John 7: 38 calls it - rivers of living waters.

In his presence we would :

1, See clearly for the mud shall be removed from our eyes and our eyes would be open.

2, Drink of the water of life when we are thirsty.

3, Eat when we are hungry.

4, Buy things freely when we dont have any money.

5, Hear God`s voice when we lack direction.

6, Have fullness of joy.

7, Have pleasures for ever more.

Invitation;

O come to the waters and drink freely. Come when you are troubled or despaired. Come and taste of his goodness. O taste and see that the Lord is good and his mercies endures for ever. come to the stream where the rivers flow with life. Just like it begun in Eden. I am gonna have life shared with you. O come and see that the Lord is good.

Why Compromise?
Bayo Omoyiola

I heard the Spirit say - ask my people why they compromise. and I just wanna ask why did you compromise? for some people it has been trials all the way. You lost your house. You lost this. You lost that. You were tried and it hasn't been easy. Well done, you kept the faith but next time you could do better. Never compromise.
It's not time to compromise but a time to recover. Many have recovered and so many would soon recover as the Spirit says this is a month of restoration. God is going to restore every thing back in seven folds. Everything satan has ever stolen in your life shall be restored back to you.

Conquest and change
Bayo Omoyiola

He also said its a season of conquest so awake and gain new grounds. Wake up get new directions and make new discoveries about your life and purpose. Its a time of change. We must change for change is the only constant thing. If you don't change you will be left behind. So change. Invoke it. Cause it to happen. Be violent in prayer. Take it by force. Some of you are going to break new grounds. You shall gain new areas. Widen your telescope for opportunities abound. But remember to stay faithful.

Blessings
Bayo Omoyiola

God is gonna be raining down his blessings on some of us who sow seeds in prayer labouring for our rest. God is gonna do it. He must fulfill his plan. Be encouraged brother to start again. It's not over till it's over and sister don't give up. It's just started. It's not over yet. God is going to bless you beyond your limitations.
Be cheered.

The Staff Of God

Francis Frangipane

Imagine a church staff where each person's primary vision is to attain Christlikeness. Picture working with this group of people: not only do they each fulfill their responsibilities, but they are earnestly reaching for Christ's humility and His redemptive prayer life. Add to these virtues that they are committed to possessing unoffendable unity in their relationships, both with those whom they serve and those who serve them. Is there any doubt that with such a team God could change the world?

Before you say the above is impossible, I'm actually describing my staff, both at our church and in our associated ministries as well. The key has been their participation in In Christ's Image Training. While no one on staff is perfect, and we still have to match individual gifts correctly with ministry needs, the compelling vision for each person is to truly become Christlike.

It wasn't always this way. Like nearly every church, we have had our share of conflicts, strife and immaturity. We had a couple of times when we suffered from "staff infection." Over the years, however, we have learned some things that have proven invaluable in creating both vision and right attitudes. With the Lord's help, we have incorporated some of these insights into both our online school and our ministry association.

In Ancient Times

According to the dictionary, a staff is "a group of assistants to a manager, executive, or other person in authority" (The American Heritage Dictionary). Originally, however, a staff was not a team of people, but a strong, straight branch that was cut from a tree and sanded smooth, upon which a traveler would lean as he walked. The purpose of the staff was for support, balance and also as a weapon to protect the traveler. From this simple origin, we can better understand the genesis of the current word "staff" and how it came to represent those who support a leader. As the traveler found strength, balance and protection, so a godly leader should find these same qualities in those who serve as his or her staff.

Of course, when we talk about leader/staff relationships, the leader must first be passionate about personal conformity to Christ. Obviously, the leader will not be perfect, but he or she should be sincerely reaching for Christlikeness in their life. A "leader," by definition, is one who is going somewhere. The more clearly that destination is revealed as conformity to Jesus, the more they will inspire their staff to follow with them.

Amazing Power in a Godly Staff

I want to take the benefit and blessing of a godly staff and add a little revelation to it. Remember when the Almighty appeared to Moses in the burning bush? The Lord told Moses to cast his staff to the ground. Immediately, the staff turned into a dangerous snake from which Moses fled; rather than being the leader's protector it had become his enemy. My first point is this: if a staff has not been touched by God to serve a particular leader; if it still harbors jealousy and selfish ambition (see James 3:16), then it has the capacity to suddenly turn into a serpent, with tongues that spread poison.

However, in the above story the Lord told Moses to pick up the serpent and, as he did, it returned again to being a staff. When we lay our staff at the feet of God, that staff will be different when the Lord tells us to lift it, and this is my main point. When God gives you the staff He has chosen, there will be supernatural power accompanying it. In fact, listen to what the Lord said to Moses: "You shall take in your hand this staff, with which you shall perform the signs" (Ex 4:17).

The Holy Spirit placed an anointing upon Moses' staff and with the staff he worked miracles. Repeatedly we see in the Israelites' deliverance from Egypt that it wasn't Moses alone that released miracles; the signs and wonders came through his staff. Moses pointed the staff, struck the waters with the staff and waved it up at the sky; the staff was the instrument through which divine power manifest.

Not only that, but from that point on Moses' staff was called by an additional name. It was now called the "staff of God" (Ex 4:20; 17:9).

Oh, I pray this is a revelation to your heart! It is not enough for a man or woman of God to be anointed - their staff must become the staff of God. And there is no greater means to fulfilling the purpose of God than when a leader and staff all choose to pursue conformity to Christ.

Again I assure you, no one on my staff is even halfway perfect (least of all me). However, the pastors, elders, deacons and ministry leaders at our church have been through In Christ's Image Training, where the clarity of attaining Christlikeness has become our common goal. Each of us is sincere about possessing Christ's humility, securing His redemptive prayer life, and attaining unoffendable unity. Remember, we are not sitting on a mountaintop in prayer all day. We are frequently tested with deadlines - Monday mornings, Friday afternoons and times of rapid expansion and growth. There is always a battle aimed exaggerating peripheral issues. Yet even when we feel somewhat off track, the compass of our hearts points clearly toward the path of Christlikeness. We always know the way back.

Without such a focused staff, the blessings and power we are now experiencing would not have occurred. This is the reason I have written you, dear friend: I would like to see the blessing we are enjoying spread to every church, prayer group and ministry, where your staff shares these values and your church grows in Christlikeness. Remember, the potential attached to attaining Christ-centered unity is unlimited! (See Matt 18:19).

Thus, we are offering our training to pastors, leaders and ministry directors with special pricing and broader flexibility.

You can take your staff through In Christ's Image Training in one of three ways:

1. Level I Online Lessons Via Weekly Email
For a special tuition of $75 per person you can facilitate a group of four or more members of your staff, prayer or ministry group. (Regular tuition is $85 each).

Each student will receive six months of paced and powerful training via weekly emailed teachings. You as facilitator will receive a set of 39 teachings on CD or cassettes to duplicate for your students. Start with your pastoral team and their spouses, then take your intercessors and deacons through the study. If you are a prayer leader or have a para church ministry, bring your team into this focused training and unity.

Or you can train a larger group of your core leaders from each department in your church/organization. In our opinion, this paced, six-month approach is the most effective format. Upon completion, students receive certification by In Christ's Image Training and are invited to continue on to other Levels in the school. More information is available at our website. www.icitc.org

2. Level I Training Via Manuals, i.e. "Basic Training"
This is the same training as the online school only it comes in manual form. You simply order the books and CDs or Cassettes and use them to train your church at your pace, on your schedule. If students then want certification or want to continue on in the school, they must successfully complete a comprehensive final exam.

Pricing information is available in our online bookstore.

3. New! Level I Two Year License
You can purchase a two year license from ICIT and bring as many of your congregation into Level I training as you desire for one low price.
This program is especially helpful if you have a long term goal to bring as many as possible from your congregation/organization into Christlikeness.
View our Licensing Comparison Chart to see how your church or organization can save using this option.

Remember: The focus of Level I training is centered upon attaining Christ's likeness in both character and power; we appropriate His humility, His redemptive prayer life and also His unoffendable oneness with other Christians. For more information on In Christ's Image Training, go to:
www.icitc.org
Sincerely yours,
Francis Frangipane

The Love Motivated War Mode
Francis Frangipane

Aug 27, 2004
If we will succeed in these difficult days, it will be, in part, because we have renounced the seductive limitations that accompany a peace-time mentality. Indeed, we must embrace an aspect of spirituality that is unfamiliar to many Christians - one that is both militant and vigilant toward evil. We must appropriate "the war mode" aspect of the mind of Christ.

Over the last few months the Holy Spirit has been calling the church to rise in intercessory prayer and in the exercise of spiritual authority. With holy urgency in my heart, I say we do not have time to languish in self-pity about life's injustices. In a time of war, we must not be distracted by little inconveniences. We must possess a war mentality.

The good news is that hell would not be in such a frenzy if heaven was not advancing. God is working to bring revival and spiritual awakening to our nations. Thus, while I am concerned about the advance of evil, I am encouraged that evil is being met with resistance by many among the people of God. The enemies' multifaceted attack will be repulsed, and even reversed, provided we stand and fight.

My immediate appeal is for us to war in prayer with passion and confidence. Remember, as the church of Jesus Christ, we are not fighting against flesh and blood, but against principalities and powers and the world rulers of darkness (see Eph. 6). These ruling spirits hold influence over every nation and culture on earth; on a worldwide scale, we must all be involved. Yet, whatever efforts we make in the natural realm, our focus and victory originate from the spiritual realm: things visible come from things invisible (see Heb 11:3). So we must war in prayer using the word of God as our primary weapon and the blood of Christ as our primary defense.

A True Peacemaker

The argument arises, "I am a peacemaker like Jesus. The Lord hasn't called me to war." I, too, am a peacemaker. At the core of my quest for Christlikeness is the ministry of reconciliation and peacemaking. Indeed, "the seed whose fruit is righteousness is sown in peace by those who make peace" (Jam 3:18). Thus, toward people, we must never forget that our message is the Gospel of Peace. At the same time, it is the "God of peace" who has chosen to crush Satan beneath our feet (Rom. 16:20). There is a militant side of true peace, where our peace comes because we have confronted, battled and overcome our spiritual enemies.

The problem is too many Christians have confused peace with passivity. They have a hollow "peace," for their lives are prayerless and they live in perpetual compromise with heaven's enemies. This is not peace; it is bondage. Jesus was the quintessential peacemaker, yet He boldly confronted the advance of evil, and He did so with unbending righteousness and unsheathed spiritual authority. Christ terrified the demonic realm. At His approach, evil spirits howled in trembling dread: "Have You come to torment us before the time?" Jesus was operating in the war mode and they knew it.

The Lord confronted the demonic realm and commissioned His disciples to do the same (see Matt 10:1; Mk 3:14-15; 6:13; Mk 16:17;Lk 9:1; 10:17-19). The disciples were trained to function in the war mode: they learned discernment, understood authority and usually engaged in the fight of deliverance with perseverance. Not only did Jesus exercise authority over every demonic hierarchal strata up to Satan himself, but He told the disciples that the works He did, including those of spiritual warfare, they would also do (Jn 14:12). He specifically gave His disciples authority "over all the power of the enemy." He then assured them that "nothing [would] injure" them (see Luke 10:19). Of course, He trained them to walk in purity and built into their souls certain fundamental safeguards. Yet, after preparing and commissioning them with His authority, He ministered faith, not fear to His disciples.

When I read the scriptures, it is plain to me that Jesus was always operating in a mode of spiritual aggression toward the powers of hell. He was perfectly God-focused, but His radar was continually sensing the enemies advance into His world. When Peter sought to dissuade Jesus from accepting the cross, Jesus discerned in Peter's words the voice of Satan. Speaking directly to the spirit manipulating Peter, Jesus rebuked the prince of devils, driving him from the thought-life of the apostle. When Jesus sent out the seventy disciples, they went forth in a war mode. When they returned from their mission, they marveled that even demons were subject to them in Christ's name (Lk 10:17-20). Jesus commanded His disciples follow Him into heaven's battles.

I know we picture Jesus eternally kind and unfathomably gentle, and such He was with the victims of life's injustices. (His compassion was also an act of war against evil). Yet, the one who wrote that God is love and whose ear listened to Christ's very heartbeat, also said the Son of God came "that He might destroy the works of the devil" (1 Jn 3:8).

Do we see this about Christ? Jesus not only came to restore and redeem, He also came to "destroy the works of the devil." As a follower of Christ, have you destroyed anything evil lately? Have you toppled any demonic strongholds this week? Have you rescued anyone imprisoned in sin or fear or demonic captivity recently? Evil can be destroyed in a hundred different ways, not merely in a "deliverance" session. The sad truth is, historically, too many of us have neither a plan nor a prayer to truly see evil destroyed.

You see, we need an "attitude" toward evil. Imagine if, in addition to fulfilling our other spiritual disciplines and virtues, every Christian began to truly pray with the authority of Jesus Christ. Without exaggerating the role of the devil, consider the heavenly impact praying Christians would have if we all renounced passivity, unbelief and fear. Remember, Paul said the weapons of our warfare were mighty. Imagine if we actually used them!

Love Motivated Warfare

Jesus knew this world was a realm under satanic siege. Planet Earth was not a place of peace, but a realm at war. From the casting out of Lucifer and his angels from heaven, to the temptation in the Garden of Eden, to Babylon and the multiplication of nations under satanic influence, planet Earth has been an embattled world. The idea that somehow our era is less threatened by evil is the height of deception. We must fight if we will follow Christ into victory.

No matter how beautiful the world around us seems, remember there was a serpent lurking in Paradise itself. If Adam and Eve had possessed a war mode mentality, they never would have casually accepted the lies of Lucifer. Likewise today, we need to be wise and walk carefully for "the days are evil" (Eph 5:16). You see, Jesus was always aware that He lived in a war zone. No matter what He was doing - whether He was laughing with sinners or driving out demons, whether He was healing the sick or training followers - beneath the surface of His outer activities, the "war mode switch" in Jesus' mind was always "on."

Perhaps a few women among us might argue, "This warfare stuff is a macho thing. I'm just a housewife, a mom. I don't have a war mode." If your child was seriously sick, wouldn't you fight that illness with everything at your disposal? You would fast and pray, and do so from your war mode. If your marriage was under spiritual attack, wouldn't you get before God and war with fervency? The fact is, you know how to fight. Ask your husband if he thinks you have a war mode. You just need something to wake it up, because once you begin to shift into the war gear, in the Holy Spirit you are dangerous!

You see, the war mode is in us all. It may be attached to our instinct for survival, but it is more directly connected with our love for people. I love my nation so I am warring in prayer on its behalf. Because of love for my family, I war in prayer on their behalf. I love my church, my city and, yes, even my own soul, so I war to protect what I love.

If there is a natural fight instinct, there is a spiritual fight mode as well. It just needs to be awakened, submitted to Christ, and then unleashed against the enemy. If you have a love mode, you also have a war mode. God has created the war mode so we can protect the people we love.

The Set Time Has Come

June Sanders

Your darkness and confusion, My Child, has now been replaced with 'FINAL RESOLUTION' that My PLAN be not erased. You have not been defeated, in no area misled. You have always Heard My Voice which became your DAILY BREAD. You Will REAP Where You Have Planted through years of tears and toil. Seeds of DELIVERANCE have taken root deep in the soil.

I AM CHANGING ATTITUDES To Come in Line With MY PLAN. Though resisted in the past, You will witness how I can cause a turn-a-bout that will fulfill Your GOD GIVEN Goal. The SET TIME Has COME For Resolution Of Heart and Soul.

June Sanders
rejoicejs@mecsc.net
http://joyofthelord.injesus.com
Permission To Forward or Post.

The Sufferings of Christ
Victoria Boyson

"Beloved, do not be surprised at the fiery ordeal among you; which comes upon you for your testing, as though some strange thing were happening to you; but to the degree that you share the sufferings of Christ, keep on rejoicing, so that also at the revelation of His glory you may rejoice with exaltation. If you are reviled for the name of Christ, you are blessed, because the Spirit of glory and of God rests on you" 1 Pet. 4:12-14.

In order to share the heart of Christ, we must endure the sufferings of Christ. To the degree that we have shared in His suffering, we can have His spirit. The concept of rejoicing in suffering for Christ's sake is foreign to many Christians. This is because we must live it in order to experience the joy of it. We may not like what breaks us, but living in brokenness can be gratifying if we humble ourselves under the mighty hand of a loving Father.

Indeed, if we are persecuted for Christ's sake, His spirit rests on us and we live in the aroma of His presence. For he who has suffered in Christ has turned away from sin and lives only for the will of God (1 Pet. 4:1-2). With every fiery trial we endure our flesh dies; the veil that hides our heart from Him is removed and we can, to a greater degree, receive His spirit.

As Christ humbled Himself under God's hand and became obedient to Him even to the point of death (Phil. 2:8), so we also must humble ourselves under God's hand. We can place ourselves in His hands, trusting that each trial we endure will be worked for our good and for the good of His kingdom (Rom. 8:28). Knowing that God truly cares for us more than we can even imagine (1Pet. 5:6-7) causes us to relinquish everything in our hearts, especially those things that are not of Him.

Perfected in Christ
"After you have suffered for a little while, the God of all grace, who called you to His eternal glory in Christ, will Himself perfect, confirm, strengthen and establish you" 1Pet. 5:10.

To the degree that we share in the sufferings of Christ we can know His heart. To be like minded with Christ, we must share in His suffering. It is in this way that we are perfected in Him and His love has full reign in our hearts.

1 Peter 2:20 says, "But if when you do what is right and suffer for it you patiently endure it, this finds favor with God." There is no joy like the joy of being in God's favor and the knowledge that He beams with pride over your response when others treat you harshly. When we love and bless while being reviled, it brings forth the blessing of our Father.

Building God's House
Those who pursue peace in the midst of their suffering have direct access to God's heart. "For the eyes of the Lord are toward the righteous and His ears attend their prayers" 1Pet. 3:12.

There are hidden regions in the heart of Christ that can only be found by those who will patiently endure the mistreatment by others. Those who are persecuted and rejected for His sake, He will pull close to His bosom. Only then can we see the treasures of His heart; only then will we understand the mysteries of His will. Only then will our heart begin to beat with the rhythm of His, and only then can He use us to build His house.

"And coming to Him as to a living stone, rejected by men, but choice and precious in the sight of God, you also, as living stones, are being built up as a spiritual house for a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ" 1 Pet. 2:4-5.

Christ was a living stone which was rejected by men to become the Chief Cornerstone. We must also become a stone in the spiritual house of God. And it is a great honor to become a part of God's spiritual house, but first we must be made suitable building material. The testing of our faith purifies us for this purpose: to become a part of His house where His glory dwells.

Dying to self and living for God means we think not in terms of "me" or "I", but in terms of "we", "us" and "they." Alone we cannot build God's house, for we make up just one stone. A single stone does not make a house, but working in unity with others, we can become the dwelling place of God.

When we put the needs of the "house" above our own personal wants and desires, we are ready for service in the house of the Lord. But if we continue to fulfill the lusts and desires of our own flesh, we are not living for Him, but ourselves, and His house will not be built.

Sanctifying Our Hearts
"For such is the will of God that by doing right you may silence the ignorance of foolish men. Act as free men, and do not use your freedom as a covering for evil, but use it as bondslaves of God" 1Pet. 2:15-16.

If we are persecuted because of our sinful behavior, we bring no glory to God. But when we are persecuted for doing the will of God, we carry the glory of God with us. We must "sanctify Christ as Lord of our hearts" (1Pet. 3:15). And as we are reviled for His sake, we do not retaliate in the flesh, but in the spirit of Christ for His sake, standing with humility.

When we defend our beliefs in gentleness and reverence, not taking things personally, but instead, responding in love, we put our accusers to shame (1Pet. 3:16). The gentleness with which we respond will make them ashamed of their own behavior. They, by our sacrifice of love, will turn from their wrath to submit their behavior to Lordship of Christ, adopting His heart (1Pet. 3:1-2).

More of Him
In the end, every man's life will be judged by God. Wouldn't it be better to experience His judgment now, while on earth, in order that we might not be ashamed of ourselves in heaven? We will experience either the reward or the chastisement of God at the judgment seat of Christ, where we will either rejoice or regret in the way we have lived our lives on earth.

So, indeed, there is joy in suffering. To receive more of Christ's heart and character...more of His love and compassion...more of HIM!

"Therefore, those who suffer according to the will of God shall entrust their souls to a faithful creator in doing what is right" 1Pet. 4:19.

Please pray this with me:

Dear God,
Please take all of me and give me all of You in exchange. I entrust my soul to You, my Faithful Creator. Let all that is not of You in my heart be removed. Amen!

The Unclean Spirit
Victoria Boyson

"THE UNCLEAN SPIRIT WHOSE PURPOSE IS TO CONVINCE US HE IS GOD!"
"It is sent to deceive those who have a strong gift of intercession"

by Victoria Boyson
www.boyson.org

There is an unclean spirit whose sole purpose is to convince us that he is God. He comes sounding very much like God and plays on our weaknesses and on our sinful thoughts and desires. It is sent to deceive those who have a strong gift of intercession, and it seeks to gain access to our hearts and minds to use our prayers to bring harm to the Body of Christ. One of its goals is to cause our mouths to come into agreement with the realms of darkness.

This demon may present himself as a gift of discernment or even a prophetic revelation. It may begin by flattering you and try and convince you that you are one of the few who really hear God's voice and speak for Him. It seeks to elevate your opinion of yourself, to raise you above those who would be your teachers, thereby, making you unteachable. These are only a few of the ways this spirit operates.

This demon is known as the religious spirit.

He Gains Access Through an Unyielded Heart and Mind

But don't let his name fool you - he is subtle, but destructive. He wants to gain access to your mouth to release hell's destructive powers on the earth. And he seeks to gain access to your heart through any areas of your heart and mind that are not yet yielded to Christ, or any part of your heart that has been hardened by the presence of cold love.

I have seen this spirit deceive many sincere, Godly people and use them to divide and destroy the church. They feel they have been given a "message from God" that others in the Body of Christ are not right spiritually or have "secret sins."

They may have had a disagreement with a church or an individual, but instead of walking in true forgiveness, they become resentful toward them. Instead of praying for them, they begin to pray against them, asking God to bring judgment on them. They may even feel that they "know" what God's judgment against them will be, and pray according to what they feel it should be.

Believing that they are warring against principalities, they war against their brother or sister in the Lord. But in actuality, they are fighting against Christ Himself.

Stand in the Gap for Your Brothers and Sisters

I have heard people say to me that "God" has told them that He is going to destroy such and such a church, ministry, or person. But instead of them being genuinely terrified of that happening and praying against it, I have gotten the sense that they would love nothing better than to see that organization or individual destroyed.

Without realizing it, these people have come into agreement with the powers of darkness. Instead of standing in the gap for their brother or sister, they view them as being out of God's reach. They have unconsciously put them in the category of the "unredeemable." They may even feel that these people are standing in God's way of really displaying His power in the church, and in an attempt to "help" God, they pray for their removal.

Instead of believing for God's mercy to prevail in their brother's life, they feel that he is not as "spiritual" as he should be, so they determine in their heart that God must want to wipe him out. THIS IS NOT THE HEART OF GOD!

Soulish Prayers

Prayers that are prayed outside of God's will and in accordance with the selfish desires of our own hearts are called soulish prayers. And when we pray against others, we cause the powers of darkness to be released on them. This can cause horrific warfare for them. This is witchcraft, and if we dabble in it, we open up our own lives for these destructive spirits to come back on us and wreak havoc in our own lives.

"Do not judge, and you will not be judged. Do not condemn, and you will not be condemned. Forgive and you will be forgiven." (Luke 6:37)

"For with the measure you use, it will be measured to you." (Luke 6:38)

It is very dangerous to assume that we know God's will for others and then pray for that to happen. We may find ourselves fighting against the will of God for their lives. We should always confirm what we feel we have heard in the spirit with the peace of God. If we do not have peace about the word we have received, if it does not come from a heart full of genuine love for our brother, then we should disregard it.

The Religious Spirit

The religious spirit is the same spirit that drove Paul to persecute the first church. As he harassed a small group called the Nazarenes, he honestly felt that he was working for God. He killed and imprisoned hundreds of the followers of Christ and felt right in doing so. He was convinced in his heart that he was fulfilling the will of God.

Paul was positive that he knew what was right and that these Christians were evil. Furthermore, he believed they must be destroyed and felt commissioned by God to do so.

But when the Lord revealed Himself to Paul on the road to Damascus, He showed Paul that he was not fighting for truth, but for the realms of darkness.

What agony Paul must have experienced when he learned the truth of his actions. He did so much want to fight for God, and yet he found himself fighting against Him. How he must have agonized over his sin; his grief must have been immeasurable. However, Paul repented and turned from being the greatest persecutor of the early church to being its greatest defender.

Yielded to Christ

We too can turn away from praying for God's punishment to come on those we do not approve of, and start praying for God's will and mercy to be evident in their lives. We can be lead by the Spirit of Truth found in God's word that says, "The wisdom that comes from heaven is first of all pure; then peace-loving, considerate, submissive, full of mercy and good fruit, impartial and sincere. Peace makers who sow in peace raise a harvest of righteousness" (James 3:17-18).

It is essential that we all seek to guard our hearts with the love of God because "love covers over a multitude of sins" (1 Peter 4:8). The Lord has warned us in Matthew 24:12 that the love of many will grow cold because of the increase of lawlessness, "but he who stands firm to the end will be saved" (v. 13). The only way of guarding our hearts is for our hearts to be bound to the Lord. Any places in our hearts that are not yielded to the Lord are areas of vulnerability to the enemy.

We must not pray for others out of a sense of frustration or anger. The greatest and safest prayer we can pray for ourselves and others is "THY will be done!" Not their will or our will, but pray earnestly for God's will to be accomplished in their life.

God Will Bless You

If you feel you have been the victim of soulish prayers or witchcraft, you may at times feel a heaviness or an ominous sense of failure. You may have an increase of strife in your relationships, experience confusion, or an overwhelming feeling of self-loathing. But take heart, half the battle is knowing what is attacking you.

Like it or not, you will need to pray for those who have prayed against you. Pray that their words against you will be powerless and that they will stop praying out of the will of God. Ask God to bless them with His peace, love, and mercy.

Above all else, we must forgive them, because they really do not realize what they are doing. They are victims of this unclean spirit as much as we are. "We wrestle not against flesh and blood" (Eph. 6:12), meaning: we do not fight each other, but we "wrestle" Satan and his demons. The enemy is our enemy. And we do not wrestle in the natural, but in the supernatural realm.

Repent of any unforgiveness you may be harboring against them or others and ask God to give you His unconditional love for them. And, if possible, be an encouragement to them - it will be very difficult for them to continue to hate you if you respond to them in love. Note: It may take time for the spiritual atmosphere around you to be cleared of all their prayers, so continue to cover yourself in prayer often.

Finally, be sure to watch how God will bless you through this, because in every trial we face, there is a blessing in it for us if we yield to God. If the enemy has targeted you, be encouraged by it, because he must know of something very powerful in your future or he wouldn't bother harassing you.

Victoria Boyson
www.boyson.org

Copyright (c) 2003-2004
All rights reserved

The Season We Are In

Shawn Bolz

http://www.whitedoveministries.org/

Halloween - A Historic Day of Revival

Many people consider the weekend of October 31 a dark time for the Christian community because of its association with Halloween...a time where witchcraft rules supreme. The reality, though, is that God has used October 31 over and over to be a day of historic visitation of revival.

This year on October 31 we celebrated the 100 year anniversary of the awesome revival that hit the whole country of Wales. It was also the 100 year revival of the outbreak of Azusa street and the birthing of the charismatic move as we know it today. Martin Luther also posted his thesis on the church door in Whittenburg, which changed all of Christianity and the world as we know it.

We, again, are in a historic time, and because of that, Bob Jones received clear direction from an angel that we were to host a conference in Kansas City to gather people together to bring a perspective of Kingdom reality with Jesus being the central focus. When he told us back in April of 2004 that WhiteDove was supposed to host these meetings, we felt like Kansas City was one of the strangest locations for us to host a conference with Bob Jones and the others that were part of the conference crew, because we knew people would have an agenda like nowhere else for our conference team. We decided to stay completely focused with the agenda of heaven, though, and I am glad that we did.

Sometimes history is made in unlikely ways. Like with Evan Roberts and his group that consisted of just under 20 people meeting on October 31, 1904, who were praying for a visitation from heaven on behalf of a nation. The Welsh revival didn't start spreading until November 7th, but it started with a few who would gather crying out for personal and corporate change.

Exciting Moments at the Conference

I am not claiming that our conference was the answer for world revival. It was just one more place of agreeing with the agendas of heaven. We had to steer many times away from human agenda that would have caused whole meetings to turn into celebrations of the past which would have caused us to lose the focus on the current.

Some of the more exciting moments of the conference were things like Bob Jones prophesying with absolute authority over our nation, including telling the crowd that President Bush would win again because he had an unfulfilled commission still to accomplish. He even mentioned that Bush would win Ohio, and the conference crowd was so built in their faith realm. He also admonished us to pray for Bush more after the election than before.

Even before the conference there were signs in the heavens with a lunar eclipse that our local newspaper called a "once in a lifetime viewing opportunity of the heavens." We knew this was a prophetic statement for us.

Bobby Conner told our conference team that there would be such a wind moving in the room, because of the Kingdom power being released, that it would move in the atmosphere around Kansas City. His exact words were, "I wouldn't be surprised if there were tornadoes during the conference because of what God stirred up here." And you know what? There was! Two tornados, as reported by Fox news, landed south of the city on Friday, October 29th. They destroyed only a few fences in a field, but also toppled over a church steeple. This was not a coincidence. It is very rare to have tornadoes this time of year in our region, and what the tornadoes toppled over is a prophetic parable.

Bob also asked the crowd to stand if they were feeling the winds on specific fingers on their hands. I believe almost 90% of the room had an experience with the Holy Spirit at this point. God began to again reveal personal destiny to people and give them hope.

I also had a powerful revelation from heaven that has changed my focus into an even higher place on Jesus. With each true revelation given, it is birthed with a desire to be consecrated for the purpose of the vision. Many people came into such a fear of the Lord and a true zeal for His purpose because they were truly being envisioned.

Tokens are Being Released...

Lastly, the creative arts played a dynamic role in the conference. It was the first time I have been in an event that I felt the new artistic renaissance that was prophesied by Bob. The dancers, musicians, lighting technicians, and sound team all carried their roles in a spiritual way, working together in a unity that was incredible. It was an essential part of the conference. What many people do not know is that WhiteDove got their dance and worship team together shortly before this event and everything that was released was new to us as well. We have many years of building to do in these areas to bring them into the place we feel God is going to call us to carry, but we also love the journey of our youth.

I believe what was released in the conference is a small token, but a very real one. One of the prophetic songs that JoAnn McFatter wrote was "Enoch walked and heaven talked, his eyes did see the mysteries of Heaven. He was just a token, for a generation (who would walk at) a time at the end of the timeline."

Tokens are being released into many tribes and tongues and nations for the glory of the Kingdom as a preparation for the bodies hope and faith. In conclusion, there are two types of events and conferences in the body of Christ that are both valid. One, teaching events where many well known people gather and teach at various sessions to give the impartation of what they have. Then, two, there are events like this one where it literally builds something in the atmosphere of the place, and it is not about one speaker's message over another, but each session building the mandate of heaven. May God bring more conferences and events that are building events!

The Swing States

Chad Taylor

God Is Oiling The Hinges Of The Swing States And They Will Turn His Way

I received this word regarding the upcoming elections the last 24 hrs. Felt an urgency to release and get in into leaders and prophets hands around this nation to agree and pray.
October 19th, 2004

"Then Elijah stood in front of them and said, "How long are you going to waver between two opinions? If the LORD is God, follow him! But if Baal is God, then follow him!" But the people were completely silent."
(1 Kings 18:21).

I heard the Lord say today, I AM OILING THE HINGES OF THE SWING STATES AND THEY WILL TURN MY WAY. There are twelve states officially known as "swing" states that polls and opinions say could go either direction. The number 12 is the number of God's government and authority. As I noticed this number I was made aware of the strategic nature of this and that it was by no means a coincidence. In this election the government of God is going to be established not man's. The Lord revealed to me Key scriptures to pray that will release this oil that will turn these swing states, "And I will clothe him with thy robe, and strengthen him with thy girdle, and I will commit thy government into his hand and he shall be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah. And the key of the house of David will I lay upon his shoulder; so he shall open, and none shall shut; and he shall shut, and none shall open." (Isa 22:21-22).

THE KEY OF DAVID OPENS THE HOUSE OF DAVID

That is what is about to happen in this election. The government is being committed into the Lord's hand. Another dynamic in this statement is "the key of the house of David will I lay upon His shoulder." I believe this is two fold. It is a direct statement about the Lord but it is also directed toward George W. Bush and we as the Church. Notice the sentence "he shall open and none shall shut, and he shall shut and none shall open." Let's bring the New Testament into play, "And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." (Matt 16:19). These "Keys of David" which represent Divine Government and Divine Authority are in our hands as well. Our prayers and authority in Christ will "commit our government into His hand." I also see that the next 4 years will establish the "House of David" in America. Keys are used to open something and the keys of David open the House of David. David's tabernacle.

12 STATES - 12 DISCIPLES - ONE BETRAYER

The next 4 years will establish the presence and power of the Lord unlike anything we have previously experienced. We have only felt a trickle of what is to come in this previous 4 years. We are about to step under an open heaven these next 4. It is critical we pray for HIS GOVERNMENT TO BE ESTABLISHED NOT JUST OUR OWN. And that the "key of David" rests upon George W. Bush and the church of America so that we can enter the "House of David" and His unprecedented presence this next four years and beyond. As we pray this way the Oil of the Lord will anoint the hinges of these swing states and many will turn to the Lord's side. If you remember the Lord has 12 disciples and one was a betrayer. I saw many states swinging the Lord's way but there was one that appeared an easy win for righteousness that suddenly turned and went the other way. We need to pray mercy and grace on this state as they put their economy and future in jeopardy because of this blunder. It will be politically and wickedly motivated empowered by greed and false promises.

WHAT ELSE DO THESE KEYS OPEN?

The Lord also made me aware of the following scripture, "And God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondarily prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, governments, diversities of tongues." (1 Cor 12:28). As we pray these scriptures and open the door of David's House we will also be unleashing the other gifts and benefits of God's government; healing, miracles, unity and the baptism in the Holy Spirit. Great healing and miracles will accompany the establishment of God's government in the land and a fall out of God's Holy Spirit. We will see the subtle and even blatant resistance to the baptism of the Holy Spirit in the church crushed. As God's government is established so will His will and works in the Body of Christ. We will see wave after wave of the presence of God infiltrating places who historically have resisted Him and the accompanying signs and wonders. "The key of David" or God's government will also unlock the harvest. Because of the unparalleled power in our midst literally millions and even billions will be added to the church daily in the next four years and beyond.

THE INCREASE OF THIS GOVERNMENT WILL HAVE NO END

Another scripture that will oil the hinges of this election and this nation is Isa 9:7, "Of the increase of His government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon His kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the LORD of hosts will perform this." This increase of His government will be felt around the world in the next 4 years. Not only will Iraq be liberated but 6 more countries in that region will as well. Nations around the world will follow suit as His judgment and justice prevail. This Divine Government that will be established now will have NO END. It will be perpetual and contagious as nations around the world embrace the Spirit of Christ and are saved. Notice with His government come PEACE. Not a peace as we understand it but an inner peace, a peace the prevails in hardship and tribulation. In the next 4 years judgment and Justice will prevail for the Sudanese people of Africa. The government of God and the Key of David will unlock the destiny of these people and determine their future.

The next 4 years will be the beginning of a time of "plenty" preceding times of famine. A Joseph anointing will rest upon this government that will prosper nations. But it will also prepare us for the "days of famine" as Joseph predicted to Pharaoh long ago. A "great door of utterance" is opening to us and ministries will prosper and succeed like no other time in history. All of this hinges on this coming election and the Government of God, not man, being established. As we pray these prayers and release these scriptures the oil of the Lord will swing the heart of this country to His will and righteous judgment. We will see the accompanying miracles and healing that are promised with His government. We will experience unity and latter rain of spiritual baptism as the Church is prepared for the dark days that lie ahead. "The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this" and the zeal for the Father's house will consume us as well and a great harvest will ensue and billions will be saved. Our Father's House will finally be filled.

Chad Taylor
www.consumingfire.com
October 19th, 2004

The Time For God's Sons To Arise

Andy Tapins

Dec 12, 2004
Prophecy:

There have been many up until this time, and even now that have been given wonderful gifts, knowledge, understanding, wisdom, and revelation truths. Those that have asked have been given. There is a vast chasm between many of these recipients, and there is now becoming a distinct separation.

The gap between the called and the chosen and between the profane and the Holy is now becoming clearer and clearer. This has now taken on an accelerated rate and the separation is about to become indisputable. Until this time, it has appeared somewhat murky as to who are called and who are chosen, although not to Me. I have always known My own even from the beginning. There have been many who have sought to hold on to what they have established and hide who they really are: The things built by perverted doctrines, false accusations, perversion of gifts, curses, and charismatic witchcraft. They have sought to hide their intent and perversions by way of seductive delusions.

The separation point is the very thing they are trying to hide, the application of these My gifts. There are some who initially asked to be a vessel and an instrument of My Kingdom; then some came to them with flattering words and they liked and believed them so they misused and perverted My gifts. Then there are those who sought My gifts and promised to build great ministries in My Name. Today they pay Me lip service but it is evident that they are the ones receiving the glory. Who is it that touches My Glory? They are about to have their minds seared. Still in My mercy I say repent while there is yet a moment!!

There are those who have fattened themselves off their flocks. They array themselves in fine clothing and accumulate wealth. They surround themselves with those like them to bestow titles on each other and praises. I tell you they have their reward. It is written in the prophets "woe unto you shepards". There are some who if Simon the Sorcerer would come to them and ask to pay for My Gifts they would do it. In fact there are those that practice this very thing and lay hands on many to give impartation and those they lay hands receive what they have, a perversion.

Sour fruit begets sour fruit and worms beget worms. There are many more perversions of My gifts; some are not as evident as these more blatant ones. There are many who have surrounded their deeds in the truth in order to deceive even the elect if possible. Remember a little leaven spoils the whole lump. It is this very leaven that will keep My Elect from this very deception. I have trained them that this is the difference between the called and the chosen and the profane and the Holy. This is the difference between a circumcised heart and one that is not. This leaven is self. It is always self, self promotion, self justification, self righteousness, self glorification, and self serving.

Those that I have trained understand this leaven. Just as those that came before them as My chosen ones said " I must decrease as He increase" and " it is not I that live but YAHSHUA in me". Just as those before these also have been falsely accused, wounded, cursed, been in lack, and chased from one place to the next, do all for My sake. Yet they do not go about saying look, look at what I have done for the Lord, look at my suffering. Many times they come to Me early in their training and ask have I done something wrong, have I sinned against you, have I displeased you. You see they are concerned about how I look at them and where they stand with Me; Then I love them and tell them it is not that you are displeasing to Me but because you do please Me; Then they perceive that it is a blessing.

They understand they have been trusted with pain in order to partake in My Ministry. They count it all as joy. They know the ministry is Mine not theirs. They know the pain is for a moment; the joy is eternal. These realize everything I give is more precious than gold or silver. They guard My Gifts like a rare pearl. They do not display it, speak it, or bring it unless they have heard from Me.

They protect what I have given them by discerning My Voice. Every time they do this more is and will be added to them. It is added to them by their practice and discerning use. Yet they do not glory in this of themselves but know it is by My grace and good pleasure that they are more than conquerors. Are they perfect? No. Do they think they are perfect? No. That is why I can continually write My will on their hearts. They are always striving towards Me their higher calling. That is why it will be continually added to them. They Know Me and recognize My voice.

Others do not yet know them but I do know them. I have already sent them here and there as part of their testing and training. Some of you entertained them unaware I sent them. Some of you knew I had indeed sent them but did not like what I had them say. So you tried to seduce them with bribes of money or promises of position and recognition. When they would not succumb to your doctrine of men and doctrines of demons you cursed them, mocked them, bore false witness against them, and ran them off. I say this to them now. Hold fast our Father YAHVEH will not be mocked. The words I have spoken over you through RUACH HAKODOSH will not return void. These words are My prosperity spoken forth over you. They are even now coming to pass.

The hour has now come for those I have hidden and trained in the proper use of My Gifts to come forth and be known. They will not be known in their own name but by MY Name. They will be known as the Priests of EL Elyon [The Most High] and as My Blessed Seed. They will be known as the Sons of YAHVEH, My brethren.

To those of you that look to judge, I say to you be very careful and do not judge with your own understanding. Discern all through RUACH HAKODOSH. These things are not discerned with the carnal mind because the flesh can not discern that which is spiritual. Now when you discern a chosen one grab hold of his tzit-tzit and ask him the way you should go and he will point you directly to Me. Let the called out ones hear what My Ruach [Spirit] is saying to you. Amen.

Contact Information :
Andy Tapins
antwise@sbcglobal.net

To The Broken And Wounded Ones
Jeanne Kruchowski

Jul 1, 2004
I had a vision last weekend of myself looking at Jesus/Yeshua and taking Him for my Husband and walking down the aisle. Each one will make this commitment alone with Him, and yet we will become through this commitment, one complete, whole Bride. As the betrothal period ends or has ended, the wedding of the Lamb is next. I have never had this vision before, so I believe it indicates His coming for us is not far off. How long, I am not sure. I believe He has spoken to me but I hold it loosely. Each one must seek Him and hear for themselves.

I do know He wanted me to share with those who have been "taken in" by controlling/abusive shepherds, that they need to repent of leaning on "man" rather than Him. He knows the hurt that so many have suffered and He will heal it, but, He is asking us to repent of leaning on man in the first place. If we would have gone to Him, He would not have allowed what happened to us.

He will expose the sheep in wolves clothing and gave me a word concerning great discipline of these people.

He also showed me another glimpse of the World to Come. He told me that ALL emotions and memories that are painful and full of wounding will be completely erased. It shall be as if they never existed! Can you imagine the freedom and peace this will give us? Such freedom man has not known since The Garden. Those of you who have "survived" will remember it NO MORE! It will be worth it all! He told me to encourage you, that the roots and memories will soon be completely gone.

I await Him, the Beloved of my life, my soul. The One who is without beginning or end. The One who is Glory and Life itself. He is the definition of all things and without Him, nothing would exist. He will fulfill His promises to me and my inheritance, for He is not a man that He should lie. No good thing will He withhold from those who walk uprightly. In right walking, right standing is life. To be a person of honor and integrity, respecting each one as a "gift" from the Designer.

He makes no mistakes. He turns sorrow into joy, lies into truth, and darkness into light. Worthy is the One who contains all things and yet is trustworthy to obey His own laws. In this we can be secure, that He is trustworthy. He does not change His natural laws even for those who love Him. If He didn't do this, would we respect Him? No, we would not, for trust comes from steadfastness, and though we wish He would change some natural laws for us, it is better for us this way.

So let us press on to Know Him, for He is all that will remain after the fallout of coming events. He is all there ever was, we just didn't see it.

Shalom,
Jeanne

I Will Not Disappoint You
Jeanne Kruchowski

Jul 2, 2004
I, the Creator of all that is seen and unseen will not betray you, nor will I disappoint you. Nor will I rip your heart to shreds as you wait for Me.

I will not ignore the cries of your heart for I created them. They are actually from Me.

I do not tease, I am true. My promises will hold even through the worst oppression.

My timeline rules.

Trust Me that I have seen and weighed your heart, that I have not ignored the longings of your heart. I am the fulfillment of your heart, I will not destroy it.

So let go of trepidation, cry out to Me what is in your heart, for what you ask according to My Spirit you will receive. Just focus on a "righteous" life and all will come together.

Behold, I am the Hearing God. The Faithful God. Behold I will come through the storm.

You are not alone, I am with you all of the way. You cannot lose Me nor can I lose you.

Arise, arise, and come in faith to Me, believing that what you long for I will fulfill. For without faith it is impossible to please Me. I am pleased with your great love for Me.

The End Has Become The Beginning
Jeanne Kruchowski

Jul 8, 2004

To the ones who follow Me and know My voice, The End Has Become The Beginning. The beginning of the "forever" in your life. As My angels draw the silver cords closer and closer to Me, Revelation spills forth into all aspects of your life.

Do not under estimate what I am doing now, it is the greatest work that has ever been wrought in mankind. By Sept., those who have been listening to Me, bending their ear, obeying My Voice of correction and chastisement shall be totally transformed. They shall not recognize themselves, as so much has fallen away. Their eyesight shall be that of a dying person, able to see and grasp the unseen realm in a way that has never been seen before. I save the best wine for last you remember!

These ones shall have the privilege of seeing far into the future, as I reveal more and more of My Kingdom, Dwelling Place, Purpose and Plan. Vast information shall be passed on to them. But only to those who have met the criteria, those who given up the last of the idols, their children... You see I saved the most difficult for last, knowing that you would need to be fully prepared to let Me take charge of them.

And what does that mean? It means that you will do nothing with them unless you ask Me. You will not cater to their flesh any longer and compromise their calling and destiny in Me. You have hindered Me from dealing with them, for you hate to see them suffer. But you forget that so do I. But I see the end result, that they will walk purely before Me as Samuel did. Remember Eli's sons? He did not give them to Me. Compare their lives with Samuel's, Samuel obtained life eternal, the ultimate goal. Samuel's mother grieved more than anyone will ever know except Me. It was a sacrifice of obedience to Me that cost her untold pain. And yet he is preserved and will not be counted with the rebellious ones.

You never give anything to Me that I don't multiply back to you. Your children are an idol. Forsake all idolatry, listen only to Me and thereby teach them My Ways and not this world's. You shall account for their lives, what you said, what you taught, how you treated them and how you disciplined them. Lay them before Me, I love them so much more than you. Without dwelling with Me, there is no life for them. Wait on Me until I tell you yes or no to their requests. Yes, they might get angry, but don't you when I don't let you have your way?

I am pulling you closer and closer to Myself. Allow Me to "translate" you into My likeness. If you do, you shall have My Favor, and the blessings I have been holding back, I will surely release! For at the right time, you shall become what you have longed to be, Free, completely free in your spirit and no force or power will be able to stop you from soaring with Me. You shall see Me smiling at you, for you are close to completing the course, the race is almost done.

But I have some surprises up My sleeve, things you have forgotten about, things you have asked about, and then let go of. To the pure in heart, speech and will, comes all things in due time. It is almost due time.

You shall have hope, you shall not be disappointed for though you do not know the day I will carry you lovingly to Myself, you know that surely it cannot be far off.

I will not tell you the exact dates for your own well-being. It is too much for you to know. And the greater risk is what the evil one would do with it.

So come, those of you who would obey, for the heavenly host is beckoning you to forsake all and follow Me. The story has not changed, but ALL willing ones are being made new! They shall see the Glory of the Ages and nothing will be withheld from them, for they are the Bride, the soon Wife of the Lamb, and He has made her dwelling place ready.

Trumpeting The Call To Warfare In Love
Ron McGatlin

> Jer 4:5 Declare in Judah and proclaim in Jerusalem, and say: "Blow the trumpet in the land; Cry, 'Gather together,' And say, 'Assemble yourselves, And let us go into the fortified cities.'
>
> Joel 2:1 Blow the trumpet in Zion, And sound an alarm in My holy mountain! Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble; For the day of the LORD is coming, For it is at hand:

The prophets of God today are as a trumpet sounding the battle call to gather the troops under the banner of love and move out on a great offensive to destroy the works of the enemy. Perhaps the most critical time of modern history is upon the world. Evil and good have polarized but the subtle battle strategies of the enemy have infiltrated the ranks of the godly to spread terror amongst the sheep of God.

Evil has greatly underestimated the power of God flowing through love manifesting the glorious works of God into the world. In love the powerful presence of God will bring forth a great outpouring of miracles demonstrating the awesome power of God's love flowing through His sons. Each miraculous work and manifestation of God strikes terror in the core of evil forces.

God is calling His people with an urgent word to lay aside "cares of this life and the deceitfulness of riches" and enter into intimacy in His chamber to receive the empowerment of His pure love. He is sending forth a call to go into the closet alone with Him and then come out to gather with others in intimacy to enter into the warfare of love.

The attack of terror and discouragement of the enemy is real. We must rally from the shock and distress of his attacks and enter into great joy in the presence of the pure love of our Father. We must not shrink back in despair but we must rise up in prayer. We must praise Him from a thankful heart and know afresh His great love for us.

We must become flaming arrows in His hand carrying the fire of His love to the multitudes of the world. The dark cloud of enemy oppression will be pushed back as we gather in full battle array under the banner of love. We have only just begun to see the magnificent glory of our God.

It is not time to strive and debate with one another over our pet doctrines. Now is the time to link our hearts together and lift our hands toward God in abundant praise and adoration. This is the day to experience the great fullness of the Holy Spirit bringing the works of Christ in love and power washing away the depression of the enemy with the great JOY OF THE LORD.

This is the season of maturing into the fullness of the love of our God.

The world is in desperate trouble. The nations of the world are set to destroy one another in desperation seeking to sustain life and power and save themselves from the devastation of lack and starvation. The world is rapidly approaching the catastrophic events described in the book of Revelation.

The next six years will make the difference. The powerful manifestation of the love of God will come about in multitudes of people to capture the great harvest of the world. The glory of His presence must invade our world now through the universal church across the world. The emerging church must come forth as grass sown in a field sprouting across the world spontaneously in one day. Like a desert soaked in rain sprouting forth in abundant life overnight, in one day.

The wilderness of religion is passing away. There will be an exodus of teachers leading to a season of fathers preparing sons.

Intercessors reaching into the wealth of the heavens - drawing upon the bank of heaven - pouring out powerful storms of glory destroying the loftiness and pride of man in preparation for the kingdom of God.

In mercy millions of souls will be taken off the earth and into heaven - those who are unable to withstand the intensity of the transition that lies ahead. We have the next six years to make the difference.

The greatest devastation of the past six thousand years will soon occur leading to the greatest revival ever upon the earth. The tone for the seventh millennium will be set after the next six years. A remnant will be left standing after the great devastation to fully proclaim the glory of God's love upon the earth. They will be fruitful and multiply the works and ways of God into the earth. All of the kingdoms of earth shall become the kingdoms of our God and His Christ. The light of God shall replace the darkness of evil in the earth.

The most important thing is not whether we live or die but that we become what we are destined to be and finish that which we are sent to do - "to finish the course and fight a good fight."

Rise up oh daughter of Zion (Isa 52:2) - live in the glory of the moment into which you are sent - this is your day of the Lord, experience it to the fullest - this is the day of fulfillment of promise rejoice, rejoice, rejoice.

Arise in His love,

Ron McGatlin

The Two Camps in Texas
Julie Baxter

In the Spirit this morning, I saw two camps in Texas.

If you can imagine an old west circled wagon camp, that's how it looked. Two separate circles of wagons around two totally separated sets of fires.

The first camp was gorgeous.

They had shiny modern wagons, built out of the most modern materials.

Outdoor speakers enabled everyone to hear the music.

The campfire was wonderful with lovely comfortable seats all around it.

The cook-shack wagons were fully appointed and had several very talented chefs running their crews efficiently. Every imaginable fare was available and beautifully presented.

The trail bosses conferred at a huge wagon that had a flyer wing out beside it and they sat over their maps strategically planning. Each man had his own plans and they did not include or encroach on the others plans. Their borders were clear. While they discussed their plans, they had no true intention to work together except where it benefited them. They fully intended to conquer their own territories.

Their livestock was strong, healthy, and well disciplined, maintained by hostlers who were dedicated and strong. The livestock was shown from time to time, but never taken out.

The camp was quiet and efficient and the people were orderly and peaceful living and working in shifts doing what they loved to do. No one worked hard, only appearing to work.

The labor was divided according to age and rank. The children did nothing important or difficult.

There was only one major problem.

The people in this wagon train continued to look enviously at the other wagon train. From time to time one or two would slip out and go over to the other camp, to never return. Not much was done.

This other camp was not real pretty.

Their wagons were every sort of vehicle possible; some outdated, some new, some half built.

There were problems in communication for the noise of the crowds and the distances between them was always changing, but they seemed to communicate well somehow.

There were many campfires, no one sat, but all ate or talked on their feet.

There was ample food, but it was apparent it was freshly dressed or harvested on the run.

The trail bosses communicated invisibly as they went, and each looked over one another's jobs, sometimes crossing into the other's territory without competition or distrust. There was no territorial jealousy. There was a job to do, a war to win, and it filled their minds. They constantly moved and conferred with one another.

The livestock was a joke. Whatever could run, walk, trot or be pulled along to carry a burden was used. The livestock's equipment was like the wagons, some outdated, some new, some pieces were put together from other outfits. Men and women rode in an out of the camp constantly and the livestock seemed to thrive on the activity.

Everyone worked, from the youngest to the oldest. The most experienced spent time training those with the least experience and those matured much faster than normal. There were no titles, every man did what he did best.

· The camp was boisterous, moving constantly, the people disagreed and had to work things out. Occasionally the trail bosses had to separate them from one another, assign them to different tasks or to a different hostler.

The real problem for this camp was they were continually at war. No sooner would one groups move out to conquer territory, and then the others would move out. There was constant motion. There were teams coming, teams going, teams preparing.

It was not pretty or restful. They were at war. Some died from wounds, others were healed. No one quit. They rested in moments rather than days or months and seemed to be strengthened on the run.

There was constant growth. The ones coming from the other camp needed much retraining. The new ones coming in from the new territories conquered needed much one on one time with the older members. Constant growth, constant activity, but no one complained.

There at the back of the camp was one huge wagon with a smaller wagon attached to it.

In the smaller wagon was an older individual that was quiet, reclusive, introspective, and sometimes gruff. This one was always watching that which went on in the camp. The eagles' eyes saw far outside the camp as well. From time to time this individual would walk unannounced into the larger wagon, confer briefly and return again to remain mostly unseen by the rest of the camp. From time to time someone was sent from the huge wagon back into the smaller wagon to serve. Other times a camp boss was sent back into the smaller wagon to rest and watch with the owner. The smaller wagon was amazingly simple but elegantly appointed, more like a tabernacle than a wagon.

And in the huge wagon was an old man. He was grizzled, rough, and never seemed to sleep even though his eyes shut from time to time. The camp bosses came and went from his wagon. This old man had seen many battles, taken much territory, fathered many sons. His word was law. He never raised his voice, never left his tent, and tolerated no insubordination. He was greatly feared but at the same time reverenced. All the same, the camp bosses were constantly coming and going from his wagon. It appeared he received them with great affection. He looked deeply into their eyes and embracing them when they entered and holding them tight before they left. When they went in their brows were furrowed and they looked weary, when they came out, they were often laughing and looked rested. He often sent them out with gifts he made them. They were free to do whatever they wished.

As a result, the amount of territory they conquered was a hundred times that of the other camp.

This is the difference between living life in religion or in the Spirit. I know that Texas, home of the President, really represents the United States. As such, Texas must begin to lead. She must move in the Spirit in order to enlarge the borders that the Father has ordained for this apostolic/prophetic state to take. She must begin to align themselves under apostles, who themselves have prophets they trust attached to them. Her ministers must stop the petty bickering and ask for eagles eyes, father's wisdom and heart and build bigger than themselves. There must be a concentrated effort of individuals to discern each other and to not be territorial, always working toward the bigger picture.

And if one is not from Texas - no matter - Texas only represents all of us.

To the Church of Laodicea

David Scudder

29 Apr 2004

This Church is not the church across the street from you. It is not the other denomination. It isn't the Catholics or the Methodist or some non-Pentecostal church. It isn't the other guy. It is our churches. Why us? Why me?

It is not because you are a horrible person or church. It is not because you want to be that church. It is because you have been born into a time and place where the definition of "hot and cold" and "lukewarm" have been set in stone. We cannot help it that we live in a day in which our poorest people in the Western World live better than most throughout history. It is a blessing and also our curse. For it tends to alleviate us of the everyday sufferings of the First century Christian. Even the rich ones didn't have the luxuries that most Westerners do. Cars, trains, airplanes, and the computer you are reading this essay with. Just some of the many conveniences that create the "Laodicean" struggle within our lives.

Because of the stamp of "Lukewarmness" on them, there is a tendency for us to always identify with one of the other churches. Especially with that part of being spit out. But the message of the Spirit to Laodicea was not condemnation. It was a reality check. It was a call to their "First Love!" A plea for a heart check. It was the Heart of the Father for a generation in a hard place and time to allow Him to soften them with "Righteous Priorities!"

Here is some examples of the Laodicean heart that give you insight into their way of thinking. In the First Century, there was a devastating earthquake that leveled Laodicea. Because of their Roman citizenship, they were offered by the Roman government financial help to pay for their rebuilding. They refused because they believed in "Self-sufficiency!" Sounds like a good thing. Refusing Government handouts. Why that is the great "American Heritage!" "Don't give me a handout, just give me a hand!" I have always lived like that.

But that attitude can be a problem when it comes to God. And what goes on in our physical lives carries on into our spiritual lives. This church because of their self-sufficiency, depended on their own hard work more than the provision of God. How often have we first went to natural sources instead of God. God tends to be the foxhole solution. The Last Resort. With bills, we go to the credit card or the loan companies. Only after we are so in debt does it even come to mind that maybe God should get involved.

With sickness, we go immediately to the doctor. (This will show you and I just how much we are Laodicean. I will now have to put a preface that I believe in doctors to satisfy our Western mindset. And I do believe in doctors. That is a symptom of our times. We tend to need God less.)

I have preached in Third World countries where the Church of Philadelphia can truly be identified in our world today. In Cuba, the believers can only go to Jesus for just about everything. Either because they are denied certain privileges because of faith, or they just don't exist. These treasures of humanity pray over everything including their clothes. And God renews the very fibers of their cloths. Their Russian built refrigerators; (some of the pastors have some fridges though few do) are still working after 15 years of use. Very few things Russian made work longer than several months. But they pray over them, and they run like a Kenmore. Now that is a miracle on par with the feeding of the fishes. And when they are sick, it is either God or die. Cuba only gives anesthesia to the top echelon of the Communist party. So surgery is not an option most of the time. And God heals.

What these lack of options do for the Third World Countries if make God the only choice. What our many options do for us make God the last choice. It also enslaves us to money.

Remember the story of the Widow and the Mite. I saw it with my own eyes in Nuevitas, Cuba. Because of the bad conditions there, the Cuban is given ration stamps that pay for 10 pounds of food per month. 3 pounds of that food is cooking grease to cook the other 7 pounds in. Only 60 oz of meat is allowed. Their ration stamps can only be used in the city they live in. And they are not allowed to carry cash. (This law has somewhat changed recently.)

While there I was given the great privilege of speaking to a particular denominations pastors during their annual conference. About 200 pastors and wives from all over Cuba met in the middle of Cuba. Many of them, it took two days to travel there. They could only carry about 2 days worth of food. Most knew between the 4 days travel and the 3 day conference they would have to trust God for the other 5 days to eat.

The Pastor of the Host Church knew the predicament these pastors and their wives were in, and knew there was nothing he could do about it other than pray. He could not go to his parishioners and ask them for their stamps. These people had their own problems subsisting on that amount. (For an idea of how little food that is, you eat at least that much every 3 to 4 days.) So this pastor prayed. That night the Holy Spirit woke every head of every household in his church and presented the pastors petition. Every single one of those households showed up that morning with one third of their ration stamps to feed complete strangers. They took from their own children to feed complete strangers. Again, our mindset cannot imagine this. When I have related this story in the Western World, I have had angry or confused responses. Our Laodicean mindset does not allow for us to not feed our own children to feed strangers. When we give, it is from our abundance, but rarely from our need. What these Cubans did is actually wrong in the eyes of many Christians in the Western World.

Because we have the "Duty" to provide for our families. And we do. But the final provision is Gods alone. He signs our paychecks. He provides the rain for our bountiful harvest. He allows for the conditions that make our lives so comfortable. And He can take them away in an instant. With the Cubans, they knew that when God ask, they give. Even if it threatens their very lives or the ones they love. And God supernaturally comes through for them. Our 10 percent is pittance to their kind of giving. When we give at the cost of our lives, we then live within their world. But it isn't our faults that we have and they don't? If you agree with that statement, then it is the last test of your hearts condition.

"You say 'I am rich; I have acquired wealth and do not need a thing. But you do not realize that you are wretched, pitiful, poor, blind, and naked. I counsel you to buy from me gold refined in the fire, so you can become rich; and white clothes to wear, so you can cover your shameful nakedness; and salve to put on your eyes, so you can see.'" Revelations 3:17-19

By the way. The metaphor of lukewarmness struck the Laodicean's heart directly. Their only source of water was high in sulfur. To get better water, they had to go away from their "rich" city to a "poor" city to get refreshing water.

My hope in writing this essay is not to condemn people or to get them to move to a Third World country. I actually rejoice in my living in Laodicea. Because I see Gods heart for us. It is not to get them to move to Philadelphia, but to get them to a place of being dependent on Him alone. Now as to how that refers to you personally, you must as I must go to Him and find out. The adventure of living as if there really is a God is about to begin for those of us who do.

Evangelist David Scudder dlscudders@sbcglobal.net

Things That Hinder
Sam Buick

the_dwelling_place@hotmail.com www.returntosimplicity.com
14 April, 2004

NOTE: After midnight I was awakened by the Lord and in the spirit I saw the following images; an umbrella in the desert; a water fountain; a cart with fresh bread; and large bowls of fresh fruit. I asked the Lord what these meant, and this is what I sensed the Lord revealing to me.

THE LORD WILL STRIP AWAY THOSE THINGS THAT HINDER AND DENY HIS LORDSHIP IN OUR LIVES: The Lord is our shelter, source of refreshing, the One who nourishes and sustains, and the One who builds us up and strengthens us. He desires that we place our total trust in Him and Him alone.

STRIPPING AWAY TO RELEASE LIFE AND FULLNESS

BEING TOSSED INTO THE WIND OF THE SPIRIT "Beloved, there is a great deal of searching of hearts, and a great deal of revealing of motives taking place, and much refining of character transpiring in the hearts of those truly seeking My face. There is a separation coming by My Spirit, and the separation is likened to that of the effects of the threshing floor, when the graing is tossed and it separates from the chaff. The beating of the stalks of grain cause the separation of grain and the chaff. The tossing is the active will of My people to pursue Me with their whole being, and as they yield and throw themselves upon Me, My Spirit wind comes and separates what is not of Me and only retains the purity of what is Mine. This is the kind of refining that is taking place at this present time.

SOME MAY NOT HEAR MY VOICE, BUT WILL SEE THE EFFECTS OF MY SPIRIT "There are many who truly seeking Me and seeking to hear My voice, but for many reasons, they are unable to hear clearly. Many are frustrated and many have heard what they believe is silence for a season. Many have been ushered into a place where they have been told by My Spirit to rest and hold unto the previous words they have received. Some have so desired to hear as they once did and are uncomfortable at the "silence" of My voice. My Spirit has brought and is bringing yet, more comfort to those in this place presently.

"Behold I declare to you My precious ones, I declare that though you have not heard My voice in this season, you have placed your trust in Me, and you have held unto those words that I have spoken to you, and you have trusted Me that in due season, you shall hear once more My voice. Beloved ones, you have been faithful in the little you have received, and now, by My Spirit, I am going to release a greater discerning and understanding of My ways and purposes to you. You have submitted fully to My voice, and I have heard the anguish of your hearts and I have seen your tears.

"Behold! I say to you behold! Lift up your heads! Arise! Now, Beloved ones, look with the eyes of your spirit, look and begin to see the stirrings and the moving of My Spirit in your lives and in the lives of those who are being drawn to Me.

SEE THE WIND AND ITS EFFECTS UPON PEOPLE AND SITUATIONS "You shall see the effects of the Wind of My Spirit as the wind that touches the leaves and the branches of trees. You may not "hear" Him, but you shall see the effects of the Wind as the leaves and the branches rustle and move and respond to Him.

GREAT FAITH AND SIGNS AND WONDERS WILL FOLLOW The effects of My Spirit will increase in manifestations that you have not yet seen before. The manifestations will astound you and cause you to come and draw closer. The manifestations will arouse a holy fear in many people, and cause others to have hardened hearts! It is all a matter of the heart. My Spirit will move and bring about a great shaking and stirring, and those who respond in faith will be rewarded with much! Those who appropriately discern and gain My understanding upon these things, will find these things and much more will be settled in their hearts. Great faith and trust will increase and as My people respond in faith, many signs and wonders will flow and touch others for the sake of My Kingdom.

"I am stripping away all that has hindered hearing My voice and hindered the fullness of the Spirit in your lives.

COME UNDER THE SHADE AND SHELTER OF MY OUTSTRETCHED ARM "Precious ones, come under the shade of My arm. I have outstretched my righteous right hand over you and I shall be your shelter in the time of storm. Beloved, many have sought to find shelter and refuge in other things and other people, but Beloved ones, come to Me and find your shelter in Me, for I am your strong tower and your place of refuge. I desire that your affections and comfort be found in Me. Come into the place of shelter and come and find security in Me.

COME TO THE WATERS OF REFRESHING "Dear ones, come to the living waters and find the refreshing you are yearning for, and I shall surely satisfy your thirst. Many have sought other things to quench the thirst that burns and parches. I alone will satisfy that thirst. Come all of you who are thirsty and I shall be that fountain and the well spring of life! I shall renew and refresh you as you come and rest in the shade of My righteous right arm. Do not drink from poluted waters or from those things that will not satisfy! Run to the well springs, the fountains that are found in Me! You will find that which you seek!

COME TO THE BREAD OF LIFE "All who are hungry, come to Me, I am the Bread of Life! Do not be satisfied by the crumbs from the Master's table! Fresh Bread, fresh revelation and understanding and nourishment for your souls is available to those hungry for that which I only can satisfy. Come and eat and fill yourselves with what I have for You. All who are hungry, you find little satisfaction in substitutes or crumbs. Yesterday's bread is stale, and will not satisfy the hunger that My Spirit has placed within you belly! Come and eat of Me! Come and feast on the Bread of Life!

COME AND EAT OF THE FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT "Beloved, you will find before much fruit waiting to be devoured and taken by faith. As you reach out to Me, I will give you the fruit that will nourish and strengthen you and form the character of the Son within you. You cannot conceive how much you lack until you have been famished of the fruit of My Spirit.

"I desire that you feed upon Me, that you eat of Me, that you consume what I have for you. But when the Holy Spirit controls your lives, He will produce this kind of fruit in you: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control.

COME AND REST AND FEAST AT MY TABLE PREPARED FOR YOU "Beloved, ALL of this available for you at this hour! ALL of this is yours! It is your birthright! It is the bounty of My table set for you! It has been purchased by the Son! As His heirs you sit with Him at His table. You lack for nothing! Come and be made clean, be cleansed and made whole! Receive the garment of righteousness, and the ring of sonship. Come and sit at the table and eat of the Father's provision. Come and be filled, for I delight to bless My people and firmly establish them so that My Kingdom can go forth in fullness in the earth, and My children to grow into the image of the Son and know and experience the abundance that I have for you."

Sam Buick www.returntosimplicity.com Waterloo, ON Canada

To Those He Calls Friends

Sandy Warner

[A Glimpse into the Father's Heart]

Jun 26, 2004
HEARD [3/06/04]: The gifts and calling are irrevocable. VISION: I was trying on some shoes. HEARD: Comfortable. We'll walk together. Irrevocable. That's why you need a holy foundation.

Romans 11:29 KJV
For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance {278 Strongs}.

NT:278 REPENTANCE
ametameletos (am-et-am-el'-ay-tos); from NT:1 (as a negative particle) and a presumed derivative of NT:3338; irrevocable: KJV - without repentance, not to be repented of.

For several years I had a difficult time resolving the supernatural gifts given through men and overcoming my attitude towards the compromise in which they lived. This was a large stumbling block to me. Over and over again I would take these issues back to the Lord and pray. It distressed me greatly that He would give His gifts and accountability to people who would compromise His holiness.

My journey progressed downward from a spiral of questions, doubt, unbelief, mistrust and skepticism. The Lord dealt with me about my sinful attitudes and brought me to personal repentance for judging and then on to intercession over what did not line up with His Word by way of covering sins and giving honor to those whom He had called.

After graduating from that miserable time in my life, I can clearly see in hindsight that He was delivering me from idolatry. That was an eye opener…

EXALTING GIFTED PEOPLE
I was naive to the supernatural and had placed those who exercised supernatural gifts upon a pedestal. The fact that their gifting did not at times measure up to their conduct was a stumbling block to me. Also, several times I made choices against what the Lord had taught me and followed what these gifted ones recommended. I was spanked and rebuked by the Lord, and at first I could hardly believe it was Him. I thought it must be the enemy wanting to take away my freedom! Finally, after a few times of going around the barn, I repented, realizing it was the Lord. Then, just like a naughty child, I was angry that He rebuked me, when I was not experiencing these supernatural gifts, yet others were enjoying them and getting away with matters of compromise. It did not seem fair.

I had the common misconception that giftedness means God's approval of a vessel.

In spite of all of these issues, the Lord was more interested in harvesting the idolatrous weed in my heart. I had placed gifted men's opinions over my own conscience and obedience to Him. After I learned my lesson enough times to make a lasting impression, I grew to understand that these gifted ones are just people given free will. Disappointed but wiser, I moved on into intercession to cover and forgive what did not measure up to Who He is.

REVELATION
Last night I wrote the above section and took it to prayer when I went to bed. The following was the Lord's response to this dilemma of supernatural giftedness and compromise.

HEARD [3/06/04]: In answer to your prayers. Resolution. Some will betray Me. Some will compromise and some will be faithful all the way. Even so.

QUICKENED MEMORY: At the moment of hearing "even so," the Holy Spirit brought the disciples to my memory. Judas the betrayer was chosen by Jesus to be among the disciples, Peter denied Him 3 times and John the beloved served Him faithfully all the way.

HEARD: It's been that way from the beginning.

QUICKENED MEMORY: Upon the hearing the word "beginning" I received a flash of revelation that Lucifer had betrayed Him in heaven, and also the sons of God compromised and married daughters of men creating the giants.

Isa 14:12-15 NKJV
"How you are fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! How you are cut down to the ground, you who weakened the nations! For you have said in your heart: 'I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God; I will also sit on the mount of the congregation on the farthest sides of the north; I will ascend above the heights of the clouds, I will be like the Most High.' Yet you shall be brought down to Sheol, to the lowest depths of the Pit.

Gen 6:1-7 NKJV
Now it came to pass, when men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born to them, that the sons of God saw the daughters of men, that they were beautiful; and they took wives for themselves of all whom they chose. And the LORD said, "My Spirit shall not strive with man forever, for he is indeed flesh; yet his days shall be one hundred and twenty years." There were giants on the earth in those days, and also afterward, when the sons of God came in to the daughters of men and they bore children to them. Those were the mighty men who were of old, men of renown. Then the LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intent of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. And the LORD was sorry that He had made man on the earth, and He was grieved in His heart.

SOBERED, SADDENED AND TENDERIZED
He had imparted a tiny portion of His heart. I was very sad and sobered to know that the Father continues to be betrayed, and that His goodness and holy attributes continue to be compromised and misaligned. Those few that are faithful... He calls friends.

I was brought to tears to understand what it means to His own heart when we serve Him out of volunteer love. As I was hit by this truth, I heard Him whisper, My friend…

+ You have ascended on high, You have led captivity captive; You have received gifts among men, even from the rebellious, that the LORD God might dwell there. (Psalm 68:18 NKJV)

+ For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance. (Romans 11:29 KJV)

+ Many will say to Me in that day, 'Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Your name, cast out demons in Your name, and done many wonders in Your name?' And then I will declare to them, 'I never knew you; depart from Me, you who practice lawlessness!' (Matthew 7:22 NKJV)

CONCLUSION

{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}

WORD TO PONDER: MY FRIENDS
Yes My love, and now you know. I have given you a glimpse into My own heart. How I long for friends, just like you do! How I long to be one with those, just as you call them - kindred hearts. How it melts My heart when I see them suffer because they love Me and continue to choose to love Me no matter what.

I AM all powerful, all knowing and always present. I always was and always will be. And yet only you can give Me volunteer love. And now you know.

John 15:13 NKJV
Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one's life for his friends.

"Ears 2 Hear" are excerpts from the rhema journals of Sandy Warner. To better understand how God speaks, read Sandy's book, "101+ Ways God Speaks, And How to Hear Him." ~ Website: www.thequickenedword.com ~ Email: swauthor@usa.net ~ Permission to forward and/or post at websites is given with this footer included.

Revealed As You Go
Sandy Warner

Jun 21, 2004
Yes, your Lord God of Justice has gone to bat for you, dear ones! You have suffered so much at the hands of the giants. As you have yielded to your own personal crosses and died to self, this has touched all of heaven. A great expanse of territory has been bought and won with great price. Go forth, My faithful ones. You will not go alone, no not ever. I will go with you. My light shall shine before you as you move forward. I hope you will enjoy your trip, for it will be a road of discovery. Wonderful healing and restoration is awaiting you in your new land.

Heb 11:8 NLT
It was by faith that Abraham obeyed when God called him to leave home and go to another land that God would give him as his inheritance. He went without knowing where he was going.

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com]
Permission given to forward or post.

Increase A Step At A Time
Sandy Warner

Jun 23, 2004
I AM constantly delivering you from a strong enemy, when you use the gifts I give. As you grow and grow in your gifts and authority, I will bring you into larger and larger territory. You have yet to discover how truly gifted you are. I have planted a great wealth of My anointing within you, and in the days to come you shall recognize it as "instinctive intuition" which is actually My Holy Spirit within.

"They demonstrate that God's law is written within them, for their own consciences either accuse them or tell them they are doing what is right." (Rom 2:15 NLT)

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

Already Done
Sandy Warner

Jun 25, 2004
Thank you for your intercession, My friend. The Words that I speak into your life and you declare are already set in motion as you stand upon them. I view them as already done. Thank you, My dear friend, you who wait upon Me and want only My point of view. How you honor Me as you lay your life down and serve your loved ones while you wait for Me and wait for them. I know your sacrifice and commitment behind the scenes. I know you have been misunderstood by your loved ones. I will settle the differences. Your intercession bears fruit for so many, even more then your family. How you have touched My heart to be so willing to wait for what matters to Me the most. Thank you for not giving up. You really are not alone. You have all of heaven yearning with you, dear one.

Rom 8:24-25 AMP
For in [this] hope we were saved. But hope [the object of] which is seen is not hope. For how can one hope for what he already sees? But if we hope for what is still unseen by us, we wait for it with patience and composure.

Click here for specific rhema behind this Word to Ponder:
http://www.injesus.com/Groups/ViewMessage.cfm?MessageId=1A008DY4&CFID=4730556&CFTOKEN=27601059&UCD=rms

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

The Tide Has Turned

Judy Curmi

11-24-2004

My kisses are honey sweet. My kisses are sweeter than wine. My embrace is utterly indescribable in words that humans would understand.

For too long men have spurned me. For too long men have gone their own way, totally oblivious to the calling and the wooing of their God and King.

The tide has turned and the day of my visitation is upon you. To a few, this will mean walking in my Presence and great intimacy with your King. To the majority however, it will be a time of great trial and tribulation.

You, Oh man, have been as a wild horse, unwilling to even have a saddle put on your back, much less having a bit put between your teeth.* In fact you have laid back your ears, barred your teeth and constantly bucked and reared in your rebellion and indignation to the Master’s hand. So I am going to break those who will be broken. The rest will be discarded and blown away as chaff.

There is absolutely no use for a rebellious horse that refuses to be broken. Such a horse is only a taker and never a giver. There will be NO takers in my eternal kingdom, for all will be servants or they will be nothing. That is, they simply will not be there.

In my kingdom, man does not constantly esteem himself higher than others, but lives in a spirit of graciousness and hospitality.

You, Oh man, have refused to learn. You, Oh man, have refused to turn from your wicked and rebellious ways. Even now the hand on the clock is preparing to chime the midnight hour and you still party on - oblivious. So be it. The tide has turned and it has not turned in your favor. It has turned in MY favor. So now you shall see what I shall do.

Many of you will be utterly undone. I have warned before that you could not sleep with poisonous snakes and not get bitten. That hour is upon you as I begin to unravel everything that is not of me. Great and small alike will fall. No one will be exempt from the shaking, for I will not allow any unbroken and undisciplined horses into my kingdom.
I said that Jerusalem would be a cup of trembling or a cup of poison to all the earth. Watch now as I begin to bring that promise into focus.

Zech. 12:1-9 This is the word of the Lord concerning Israel. The Lord, who stretches out the heavens, who lays the foundation of the earth, and who forms the spirit of man with him declares: “I am going to make Jerusalem a cup that sends all the surrounding peoples reeling. Judah will be besieged as well as Jerusalem.
On that day, when all the nations of the earth are gathered against her, I will make Jerusalem an immovable rock for all the nations. All who try to move it will injure themselves.
On that day I will strike every horse with panic and its rider with madness,” declares the Lord. “I will keep a watchful eye over the house of Judah, but I will blind all the horses of the nations. Then the leaders of Judah will say in their hearts, “The people of Jerusalem are strong, because the Lord Almighty is their God.”
“On that day I will make the leaders of Judah like a firepot in a woodpile, like a flaming torch among sheaves. They will consume right and left all the surrounding people, but Jerusalem will remain intact in her place.

The Lord will save the dwellings of Judah first, so that the honor of the house of David and of Jerusalem's inhabitants may not be greater than Judah.
On that day the Lord shall shield those who live in Jerusalem, so that the feeblest among them will be like David, and the house of David will be like God, like the Angel of the Lord going before them.
On that day I will set out to destroy all the nations that attack Jerusalem". [NIV]

Many are still sleep walking and many are still in denial. You WILL wake up, for the whole earth will tremble before me. I AM that I AM and I will not be moved. I will not change my ways to suit man – a creature whom I created and sustain on a daily basis.

Your bravado and rebellion will get you nowhere, for I know exactly how to puncture your balloons and take the wind out of your sails.

I will blow and I will roar. I will shake and shake. I will have a stable of horses that obey me or they will be cast out. As you do not keep a mad dog or a mean Billy goat as a pet, neither will I. So watch and see what I will do, for the tide has turned and I am delaying my hand no longer.
I will use this tide to draw my bride to myself. I will use this tide to separate the sheep from the goats and the wheat from the tares, FOR THE HOUR IS MUCH LATER THAN YOU THINK..

You partied when you should have been praying and you scoffed and rebelled when you should have been worshipping. So now it all begins, slowly at first and then more and more intensely as the birth pangs for my return are set in motion.

Your Jesus

Jer. 2:24 You are like a wild ass which is untrained in the wilderness and follows her own will; you have snuffed up the wind, who can bring you back? Whoever seeks her shall weary himself, he shall find her only by means of her footprints.*

Matt. 25:31-33 When the Son of man comes in his glory, and all his holy angels with him, then he will sit upon the throne of his glory. And all nations will gather before him; and he will separate them one from another; just as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats; And he will set the sheep at his right, and the goats at his left.*

Matt. 13:40-43 Therefore, just as the tares are picked out and burned in the fire, so shall it be at the end of the world. The Son of man will send his angels, and they will pick out from his kingdom all things which cause stumbling and all workers of iniquity. And they will throw them into the furnace of fire; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. Then the righteous ones shall shine as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears to hear, let him hear.

The Treasure Hunter

Victoria Boyson

As an apostolic generation emerges, we should see in them a people who are driven to recover and release the destiny of others. They will look past obvious weaknesses to find priceless treasure hidden in their hearts.

The apostolic man or woman tirelessly searches through the refuse of the devil to discover in the people the enemy has abused and entangled in sin, the hidden treasures awaiting him. He possesses the heart and mind of Christ and views people through the eyes of redemption. He is a treasure hunter and he views the world quite differently than most. He does not look for his treasure in the storehouses of palaces, but in those who have been discarded and abandoned by the enemy.

Fields of Treasure

True treasure, in his eyes, is that which is discovered in the forgotten fields, where the unkempt grass has grown and masks the treasures hidden in it. Others, who were more concerned with getting to their destination than helping their brothers, have passed by this forgotten field without giving it a second glance. They have inevitably missed some of the greatest treasure God could have bestowed upon the body of Christ.

Seeking to become the embodiment of Christ, the treasure hunter looks for the great among the lowly and meek. It is the greatness of Christ in him that enables him to recognize the greatness in others. With patience unmatched, he listens to one heart-wrenching story of neglect and abuse after another, each more disparaging than the last. With the precision of a diamond cutter, he dissolves the wounds of the past with the compassion of the cross.

One after another these forgotten treasures are restored, given dignity and a position in the family of God. The treasure hunter's esteem for them, gives them a sense of value that they have not know before. Able now, through the esteem of the treasure hunter, to receive the love and forgiveness of a heavenly Father they had not known, they gladly become loyal servants to the Lamb.

Through his gift of appreciation, the treasure hunter has raised their value. Now others, who before did not understand them, give way to the estimation of the treasure hunter. They open their hearts and receive the hunter's newly found treasure and welcome them into their trust, as they themselves were once the object of his search.

With his God-given authority, the treasure hunter has raised the value of his brother. Now this forgotten treasure can take up his rightful position in the army of the Lamb.

The Army of the Lamb

A deeper look into the life of the treasure hunter shows us he has surrounded himself with the treasure that other's have deemed unworthy. Yet, these unworthy, broken people have banded together under the guidance of the hunter to form a powerful army.

What a frightful sight they have suddenly become to the enemy. Those he has beaten and abused - those he has thrown out and treated with contempt - have come back to haunt him. Now he sees before him an unstoppable force made up of his discarded refuse.

He thought he had destroyed them, reducing their value through bondage to sin. But now he sees them standing before him, bold and stouthearted, undergirded by the evaluation of the treasure hunter and the love of heaven.

This army is consumed by their goal: to alight upon their enemy and dismantle the kingdoms of darkness, to retrieve those caught in his webs of delusion.

Familiar Faces

This great army is outfitted with weapons made from Satan's own handiwork. Every bondage and bruise he has inflicted on them, every episode of painful rejection and humiliation, has been turned into a powerful weapon aimed at his chest.

The enemy anguishes when he realizes what he has done. He has not reduced this treasure to trash, but he himself, through his evil efforts to rob, kill and destroy, has created his own worst nightmare - redeemed souls bent on his destruction.

One by one he looks at their familiar faces and he sees the broken marriages, the deaths, the lost dreams, the defeats of sexual immorality. The weapons he used to inflict pain on them in an attempt to destroy their destiny have now been turned on him (Rom 8:28). These weapons are now even more powerful than before, because they have become a part of their destiny and have been enveloped by the mercy of the Lamb.

He knows that these "enemy seeking warriors" are not naive as they once were, but they now know how he operates. They have learned a lot from their failures and he knows they will use that knowledge to destroy him.

These great warriors will not be beguiled by selfish ambition and pride. They have walked through the fire of affliction and shine now with the radiance of heaven. Their strength lies not in themselves, but in their love for one another. They esteem their brother as better than themselves and would surrender their lives for them if necessary.

They are fearless, because they have suffered all that hell has thrown at them, yet they have endured it. They live not for themselves now, but for the kingdom of heaven and the Lamb. They are passionately devoted to their King and will give their all to build up His kingdom.

In one glance, Satan has seen that those he had tried to destroy...will destroy him.

Nothing Left to Throw

He cannot convince them to hate themselves anymore as he once did, because they have received their righteousness through the life-giving blood of the Lamb. He has nothing left to throw at them because these warriors have become familiar with his ways and will use that knowledge against him...he is terrified.

He knows that his time is close, that the seed of the woman, whom he has feared, has come to crush him. The seed of the woman will crush his head (Gen. 3:15), the seed of the woman that he thought had destroyed her. The seed of sin and rebellion towards God has been turned into the mightiest, most destructive weapon on earth. That SEED, the seed of sin that he planted into her heart with his rebellious lies (Gen. 3:4-5), has been transformed and has sprung forth. It has developed, through the cross, into wisdom and strength and has now turned against him.

By his own enticement, he has trained this army. With his own destruction and rejection he has armed them.

He knows better than anyone else, as he looks into an endless sea of faces of people he has tried to devour, that as he sought to dethrone the beloved of the Father from their place in His heart. As he sought, with hateful jealousy, the destruction of the apple of God's eye, he has sealed his own fate.

The souls he yearned to destroy have now become unstoppable warriors!

United in Christ

They are the united body of Christ. Armored in selfless love for one another, they no longer stumble over each other as they once did, they refuse to "break rank." They esteem the leadership of the treasure hunter and wait for instructions from him. They look to him in anticipation for the command to attack - to be released to fulfill their destiny.

As the treasure hunter leads an army of unwanted, unvalued, yet priceless treasure rescued from the rubble, he lowers his sword and points it directly at the enemy and unleashes what hell has feared. With one word they are dispatched to plunder the kingdoms of darkness.

As they invade the realms of darkness, they retrieve countless souls once deemed as useless and as hopeless as they themselves were once thought to be. They trample the enemy under foot, overwhelming him. He can give little defense.

The enemy of the Lamb crumbles in defeat; the work of his life is stolen in a moment. The kingdom of darkness is raided and more hidden treasure is recovered and sent to the fields of grace...heaven on earth...the church, where newly trained treasure hunters await their arrival.

Having defeated their fallen foe, they stand and look towards heaven and in unison they cry, "FOR THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN AND THE LAMB!"
by Victoria Boyson
Web: www.boyson.org

The Chapel
Victoria Boyson

victoriaboyson@pkfamily.com
January 7, 2004

Years ago, as I struggled through a depression for a period of time, I cried out to the Lord for help. He helped me by giving me an open vision. I had recently gone through several traumatic events that left me feeling emotionally numb; I felt overwhelmed with the reality of the painful events that had occurred.

I knew that this was a time for me to experience just a portion of the pain the Lord Himself had endured on the cross. The Lord did not allow me to endure more than He thought I could handle, but it felt like much more.

It was enough to open my heart and mind to experience so much more of God than I had previously known was available to me. I found during this time that God was on my side! His love for me didn't stop with redemption, but He continued to redeem me every day. He was on my side and was praying for me.

"If God is for us, who can be against us? He who did not spare his own Son, but gave him up for us all - how will he not also, along with him, graciously give us all things?"

"Who will bring any charge against those who God has chosen? It is God who justifies; who is he that condemns? Christ Jesus, who died - more than that, who was raised to life - is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us" (Ro. 8:31-34).

I had known from childhood that Jesus loved me. I was raised in the church and cannot remember not knowing the song "Jesus Loves Me." However, there is a difference between knowing love and feeling it. I knew God loved me, but during this time I could not feel His love for me. I cried out to the Lord to show me His love...He did.

My Vision

The Lord opened the spirit realm for me and suddenly I saw heaven. There were rolling green hills with big beautiful trees that dotted the landscape. As I stood on top of one of the endless hills, I saw nestled in the valley below a small ornate chapel. I knew in my spirit that I just had to be there and suddenly I was there.

The chapel looked very old, but was obviously well cared for. Through the windows of the chapel I could see a light glowing inside. I was compelled to go in. I opened the door at the back of the chapel and stood there for a while absorbing the warmth from the lights inside.

The chapel was empty except for one man who was praying at the altar. An amber glow filled the area where He knelt and I had a forceful desire to see who it was. Instantly I was at the front of the chapel looking at the man who was kneeling there.

He was crying and seemed desperate to touch the heart of the Father with His prayers. He prayed with such earnestness, that I was curious to find out what he was praying for. He did not appear to know that I was there, so I moved closer to him. As I saw his face streaming with tears in deep intercession I heard him say, "Father, please help Victoria." I gasped. "He is praying for me," I thought.

It was then that I recognized who this man was...it was Jesus.

The man praying in earnest was my Lord Jesus and I was the subject of His prayers. He was crying and interceding for me. I felt the love that He had for me and His desperate desire that I be pulled from the depression that had gripped my life.

I stepped back from the Lord to try and process all that I was seeing. I was completely stunned. Who was I that Jesus would intercede for me and with such earnestness? Was I really that special to Him? Did He really love me that much? Why would He take all this time by Himself, just to pray for me? It was difficult for me to fathom that His love for me was that great? But it was...

I sat for awhile at the back of the church, watching Him pray. Suddenly He stood up and turned and looked at me, He saw I was there and ran to me. He fell at my knees and reached to embrace me, but I was still in such shock I did not return His embrace. He looked at me with such love, that I was finally shaken from my numbness and became fully aware of the love I was experiencing.

My eyes were opened and now I could see and feel His love for me. I knew then that I was very precious to Him.

You are Very Special

Why is it that if you believe you are special to God, some accuse you of thinking too much of yourself? Are we not all precious in His sight?

If you were special enough for God to send His own Son to die for you, then you can believe that you are special enough for Jesus to intercede for. He gave Himself for you once in death, and He gives His life in intercession for you now. "He who did not spare His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how will He not also with Him freely give us all things?" (Ro. 8:32).

He is for you, NOT against you! He is the one trying to convince you that it is possible for you to do great things for His glory. And "if God be for us, who can be against us?" (Ro. 8:31). The answer is: NO ONE CAN!

"Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or danger or sword?" (Ro. 8:35). "For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels or demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Ro. 8:38-39).

"Therefore he is able to save completely those who come to God through him, because he always lives to intercede for them" (Heb. 7:25).

He died for us that we might live, yet now He lives to pray for us! He saves us completely not just at our redemption, but He desires our complete transformation. He knows this is the only chance we have of truly living, to become one with Him in every aspect of our life. Giving our all to Him and watching Him transform us into His likeness.

That moment in my life when I was permitted to see Him interceding for me changed my life. And I hope that reading about this experience will also have an impact on your life.

You are very special to God and He wants you to know it. It is not presumptuous to think that you are special. You are not just another face in the crowd to Him. You are what He died for. You are His priceless treasure. He gave His all to have you, and He lives always to pray for you!

Bless you,

Victoria ___________________________

OUR INVITATION: Free email newsletter, send an email to: VictoriaBoyson@pkfamily.com

REPRINT AGREEMENT: Duplication and re-transmission of this writing are permitted provided that the entire contents of this message along with all of the contact information are included.

FORWARDING: You are more than welcome to forward these messages on to friends, family and other mail lists. All we ask is that you include the entire contents of the message along with all contact information provided.

Thank you!

The Tabernacle I Am Building

Jeanne Kruchowski

Jun 20, 2004
The Tabernacle I am building is multi-dimensional, it includes those alive now upon the earth who belong to Me, and those who have gone on before you.

It is a beautiful Tabernacle, as pieces are being put into place, connected together by My Ruach Hakodesh/Holy Spirit, that part of Me that is simultaneously many places at once.

This Tabernacle is made of My people, Jew and Gentile, intertwined with one another and gloriously joined together. It is a wonder to behold, and you shall be Awestruck when your eyes first glimpse this Great thing which I have done, and you shall surely say, No One but our God could do such a thing! And you shall worship in completeness, and your worship shall be full and go on for Our Eternity, and the Angels will sing, Worthy is the Lamb, Worthy is Our God, for He has created and united a people from all tongues, tribes and nations, No One is like Him!

I Am Not Unjust

Jeanne Kruchowski

Jun 20, 2004
My Dear Ones,

I am a Faithful and Just God who bestows honor where honor is due. Who rewards according to one's actions. If this were not true what would be your motivation to change?

Indeed many will suffer much because they have been unwilling to allow Me to change them now during this "sealing" period. Many of you already know you have My Seal upon your forehead, many of you have felt this even as it happened. If you love Me with all of your heart to the best of your ability will I then force you to go through the treacherous evils that are coming? Of course not. But I will never give you a date, each one's destiny is in My Hand, suffice it to say that those who truly walk with Me will be spared much for I do not "punish" those who love Me.

And each one has had an opportunity to love Me above all else in this life, that is Never denied ANY individual. For how many have met Me on their own, without being told by someone else? I tell you millions! For I am able to be perceived even by a small child. And I honor all who seriously seek Truth, for that is Who I am, Truth.

So look not to the right or to the left, as each one is responsible for their own actions, and when you look at others, you are ignoring your own.

Yes, I have come to liberate and chastise My Own, how many have been willing to receive this discipline? Very few. And yet without Holiness it is impossible to see Me. You can be "saved" and not dwell very close to Me in the next life. Those closest to Me will be those who are closest to Me. Why would it be any way else? For that is their desire and they have sacrificed for Me as a demonstration of their love. For what relationship costs you nothing? There are none.

This is Truth, I am not hard but I am fair in My overall dealings with mankind. In the end, this will be seen and all will be reconciled to their place, knowing that I love all, but that each one is where they have "chosen" to be.

Stir up you heart again towards holiness, for I shall send My Son for you after not very many days. Read about the Jewish wedding traditions and much of it will come "alive" to you. I do not want you to be in the dark, but dressed and ready to flee with Me.

Shalom My Dear Ones.
Fret not, I will take care of everything and everyone you cannot.

Hear Oh Israel
Jeanne Kruchowski

Jun 13, 2004
Hear Oh Israel, My Hebrew people, has not your time now come? Has not the time of the Gentiles, those from the lineage of Ishmael and Esau been fulfilled? Have I not seen the longing and wandering of your hearts? Shall you not Now come back to Me?

I speak to you come back, come back, come back. Give Me your hearts for surely I will turn everything that has been turned against you. Is your reward not Great for bearing My Name? For being a separate, sometimes despised People?

I tell you Yes! Your reward shall be Great as you turn to Me, for you have fulfilled the destiny I chose for you, and that was to be a People who stood out for Me.

Some have run from this and some have embraced it. But I have used you to carry My Glory, My Being to all who would listen.

Has not an appropriate Lamb been slain for you? A Lamb greater than Moshe, David and Avraham?

See, did any of these die as a lamb for a sacrifice? One of your own? No, you know this deep within your heart and now I speak to what is in your heart, that it shall now come forth!

Arise from your pain and your pride, and see what I have already done for you! For surely your pride has kept you from the Lamb, from Messiah.

Yes, turn away from this pride and you shall see the Truth! If you desire truth MORE than your own life, you shall find it!!

Arise now and TRULY seek Me, for your time is now!

The TRUTH is LOVE

Susan Grace Waggoner

(susiegracew@yahoo.com)

Do we really know God? Do we really know Truth? What is the Word? What is Truth? What is Faith? What is Love? What is our Focus?

John 1:1 "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."

Revelation 12:11 "They overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony."

Luke 18:7-8 "And will not God bring about justice for His chosen ones, who cry out to Him day and night? Will He keep putting them off? I tell you, He will see that they get justice and quickly. However, when the Son of Man comes, will He find faith on the earth?"

God will answer those who cry out to Him. The prayers of the faithful are not ignored. Yet Jesus asks the pointed question : "Will I find faith on the earth?" Without faith it is IMPOSSIBLE to please God.

Without faith we have nothing but delusion or illusion. I believe these are the days when our faith needs to become the concrete in our lives... The things seen give way to the things unseen. Faith will be the substance, and the substance that has been before will be that which crumbles.

Let he who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall... stand on the Word of God, on the solid Rock. "The grass whithers and the flowers fall, but the Word of God stands forever." Isaiah 40:8 If the TRUTH is all that remains, that is what we need to be standing on! There is not substitute!

Many have spoken of a "Shaking" coming upon the earth. I would agree that the shaking has already begun, and it began in the family of God... and if we can scarcely withstand it, what about the world? (1 Peter 4: 17-19) We who believe have no excuse not to live by faith ... that Faith is our life line without it, it is impossible to please God. It pleases God when we look to HIM, the author and finisher of our faith. If we don't look to Him, we will only see the shaking, we will fall.

God's word warns that there is coming a grand deception, and a great falling away... so that even 'the elect' would be deceived. How do we fight deception? With the TRUTH!

The Truth is God's Logos Word, and the Voice is God's Rhema Word. The Word of God is living and active and sharper than any two edged sword... cutting right to the intents of your heart.

So if that physical book (Bible) that we hold in our hands is taken away... the Living Word through the Holy Spirit would still be dividing between what is flesh and what is spirit, and cutting through to the intents of the heart. Many have come to know God's salvation in miraculous ways through the (God-breathed) words in the Bible.

People can read the Bible from a scientific position and come away with nothing... it is the Spirit of God that draws all men to Him, and He gives understanding. The Bible has been readily available and many have taken it for granted.

We have the privilege and honor of holding God's own Words in our hands and reading it with our eyes. We should write those Words on our hearts and store them up as our weapons of defense.

Should there come the time when that physical word is removed... the Rhema Word (His Voice) will take its place... as the two are completely in agreement of one another.

God will never go against Himself... He honors His Word above His Name. It is Holy, It is Truth.

What is the best way to learn His Voice? Spend time with Him, ask Him to teach you to recognize it, to discern what is Him... He will! If you lack anything... understanding, wisdom, recognition of His voice... ask Him who will freely give it to you.

"Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you. For everyone who asks receives; he who seeks finds; and to him who knocks, the door will be opened. Which of you, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will give him a snake? If you, then, though you are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father in heaven give good gifts to those who ask Him!" Matthew 7:11

Now, knowing that the Lord won't give you what is evil... please pay attention to Jesus' further admonition in the same chapter.

Matthew 7:13-29 "Enter through the narrow gate. For wide is the gate and broad is the road that leads to destruction, and many enter through it. But small is the gate and narrow the road that leads to life, and only a few find it. Watch out for false prophets. They come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ferocious wolves. By their fruit you will recognize them. Do people pick grapes from thornbushes, or figs from thistles? Likewise every good tree bears goof fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit. A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, and a bad tree cannot bear good fruit. Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. Thus, by their fruit you will recognize them.

Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven, but only he who does the will of my Father who is in heave n. Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles?' Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you, Away from me, you evildoers!'

Therefore everyone who hears these words of mine and puts them into practice is like a wise man who built his house on the rock. The rain came down, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against the house; yet it did not fall, because it had its foundation on the rock.

But everyone who hears these words of mine and does not put them into practice is like a foolish man who built his house on sand. The rain came down and the streams rose and the winds blew and beat against that house, and it fell with a great crash. When Jesus had finished saying these things, the crowds were amazed at his teaching, because he taught as one who had authority, and not as their teachers of the law."

There was an obvious difference between the words of our Lord Jesus and the teachers of the law. Many times people try to pass off their opinions as Scripturally supported truth. That is why we must not accept something just because it sounds good, nor are we to judge something being of God by whether someone is capable of performing miracles in Jesus' name.

Jesus didn't say to fear the enemy but to be aware of him. He knows that the enemy will employ any means to get us to have fear rather than faith, and to focus on anything rather than focus on Jesus Christ. Its all about Faith focus.

One of the big hindrances of our Faith focus is learning to speak the Truth in love. When we voice our opinions, we are often offended and respond accordingly when someone disagrees with us. There is arguing back and forth about who is right and who is wrong... often lacking in grace and love and just downright hurtful.

The answer is this: If we speak the TRUTH it will be in LOVE because Truth doesn't originate from us, it originates from LOVE because GOD is LOVE. If you are condemning another, that's not love. If you believe something is right or wrong and your brother doesn't, let the Lord deal with it, and to love them anyway.

Don't argue or set up stumbling blocks or spend time tearing one another down when you should be building up the Body of Christ and reaching the lost. Pray for them if they're really wrong ... that is love in action!

We often care more about being right than what is right. How many of us, when we disagree, actually go to the Lord in prayer and ask Him to examine our own hearts? Jesus said that we wouldn't have our prayers answered nor be forgiven if we don't forgive others.

Don't you think He meant it? Or has he made an exception for those who really get under your skin with their inability to see your viewpoint?

If you agree that Jesus Christ is the Son of God who died and rose again for your sins and that He is the way the Truth and the life and no man comes to the Father but by HIM, then you are brothers and you agree about WHAT MATTERS. I am going to restate this point because I think it is of utmost importance.

If we speak the TRUTH it will be in LOVE because TRUTH doesn't originate from us, it originates from LOVE because GOD IS LOVE.

If we are to be overcomers, if we are to stand firm, we have to shore up in the Word, be aware of the enemy (it's not your brother!), HAVE FAITH in God, and love one another.

Forgive me if this seems like a wild ride... but its the one that the Word of God led me on today, so I wanted to share the excitement with all of you God Bless you all!

Susan

Please read: Romans 14, Mark 11:20-25, Revelation 3:10, 1 Peter 4:7-11, 1 Peter 5:6-11, Matthew 24:24, 2 Thessalonians 2:11, First John

The Tide Is Turning

Stephen Hanson

Jan. 17, 2004

> [13] until we all reach unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God and become mature, attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of Christ. Eph. 4
> PS 91:5 You will not fear the terror of night, nor the arrow that flies by day,
>
> JER 23:25 "I have heard what the prophets say who prophesy lies in my name. They say, `I had a dream! I had a dream!' [26] How long will this continue in the hearts of these lying prophets, who prophesy the delusions of their own minds? [27] They think the dreams they tell one another will make my people forget my name, just as their fathers forgot my name through Baal worship. [28] Let the prophet who has a dream tell his dream, but let the one who has my word speak it faithfully. For what has straw to do with grain?" declares the LORD. [29] "Is not my word like fire," declares the LORD, "and like a hammer that breaks a rock in pieces?

"I tell you that I am with my people this year. I am with them through the storms of this year. I tell you that terrorism has made its mark on the people of the United States, but you are not to fear the arrow that flies by day, or the terror that comes by night. I tell you that I will gather you under the pinions of my wings. I tell you that certain cities have been marked out as certain targets of the enemy. There are plans being made. I tell you that the power of the enemy is attempting to strike down many of these cities. But these plans will be of no avail, for they will backfire. "

"I tell you that there will be great things in store for my people this year. For many of the years that you have been hidden you will now come out into the open. I tell you that many of you are coming unto full stature. Because of the storms that you have managed to prevail, and the trials that you have endured, that because of these things, you are now coming unto full stature. So, when the storms come, I am asking you to prevail through them. I do not take the storms away but I provide a way for you to make it through them. "

"There has been much talk about the next President. I tell you that the tide is turning. Watch and be alert. There are different voices out there that speak of these things. Whose report are you going to believe? Surely, I will see you through all of these things. When there are differing voices even amongst the prophets, then come to Me and I will give you clarity. For many still see through a mirror dimly. "

Stephen Hanson

The Truth Is The Key

Annette Ammarell

ammarell@prodigy.net

March 3, 2004
This evening at bedtime, my daughter told me of a vision she had earlier this afternoon. We were driving home from picking up her brother. As told to me by her, this is what she saw.....

There was this room, like not in color, but in black and white. There was like all junky stuff in there. It was colorless, lifeless, blaaa... just no color.

This woman walks in. There was a man at like a counter in a store.

This woman was drawn over to this large item, covered over with a cloth. Some light was streaking out from some holes. .She was attracted to the light. It was the only light, and life coming from this room. The light drew her to come look closer.

When she started to uncover it, another man, (not the one at the counter, but another man looking at the stuff as well...), says to her, "Mam' you shouldn't look in there- it's dangerous for you."

"But why?" she replied, as she ignored his words, and pulls the cover off of what was hidden underneigth. She uncovers it to find it revealed a royal treasure chest. The outside had like gold and silver and shiny jewels all over it. But she wasn't able to open it. It was locked, and the key seemed to be missing. As she was looking it over to find the key....

A man's voice came out of no where, "The Truth is the key."

After, when she was thinking upon this...she heard that, "The truth is in the Word of God- the Bible. That we need to read it."

This is a very simple but yet profound word. Here is my interpretation as I am seeing it before me.

1) She was attracted to the light!

This woman represents the lost who are coming in... searching for something... and the dark drab world..."the things of this life grow strangely dim." She, the lost, are drawn in by the light they see. The light comes through the cracks of our human frailty, our weaknesses..("he is strong in our weaknesses...when I am weak then I am strong"?)...the earthly body covering...when his light is in us, it shines out through our weak spots... as we are made strong in him. They see a glimpse of him- his light... and are drawn. They want to peer in and see more.. to search out the matter.

2) She ignores the man who says you shouldn't.

This man is the deceiver, who is trying to keep the people (The lost and the searching), from uncovering the truth that will set them free...the hidden treasures.. that are within the word. He is telling her, the lost, not to touch that. It's dangerous to you. "YOU." the word you... it's dangerous to "You". Yea, because we must die to self, like our treasures are any good without his glory. ..to die is to gain. But the enemy says we lose value...when we really gain much.

To some he is saying don't go to that church, or any church for that matter..you will have to give up what you want to do-you will have to change.

He is speaking to many, this lie, to keep them from going further in the things of the Lord. And this lie is keeping many just outside from uncovering the greatest treasure. The enemy wants us to keep the glory hidden and covered... and to keep us from experiencing the fullness of what we have in Christ.

To some he is saying that the great signs and wonders aren't of God, don't go there.. it's dangerous to you. He is saying be careful don't touch that...any one of the gifts the Lord has given.. that it's not for today. He is trying to use fear to keep some of us from going deeper with the Lord. Saying that we might get a counterfeit and be led astray... that we can't touch the glory of God.

3) She uncovers it

Here she is searching out the hidden things... and uncovers the truth within, this hidden treasure chest. "It is wisdom to search out a matter"..."to study to show yourself approved"..."to work out your own salvation." She is looking inside the rag of this human frailty...looking within.. drawn in deeper to the glory of the Lord- the truth.

It's time to slip the cover off, to unveil the glory of the Lord. It's time to take ourselves out of the box and fully release his glory to go forth. It's not time to hide, but to come forth...to take your treasures out. Our filthy rags have been removed...we are of royal bloodline.

4) She finds a royal treasure chest

The treasure chest is symbolic of "The Word"= Jesus. "In the beginning was the word, and the word was with God, and the word was God." John 1:1. To open the word is to find the key.. the truth unlocks many treasures within. To know what is on the inside, you must open it. To open it, you need the key. The key is Jesus- the truth and the way. It's by faith in Jesus that we become sons of the King of Kings.. and gain an unending heritage...we become heirs of Christ. As we open his word, we learn of our hidden worth in Him. ..

And so, also, this treasure chest represents you.. the royal priesthood and within is his glory shining through. As this glory shines through our cracks-(our weaknesses)- he is being revealed, and it's drawing others in... to come and get a closer look. Many are under wraps, hidden, hidden gems to be revealed. They are about to be uncovered and display the glory of God for others to see.

5) A voice speaks out, "The truth is the key."

The truth is the key.. to unlock this great treasure box...and let the glory come out. As we learn his truths, more of him is revealed through us. And others will be drawn in to see what this light is about. The treasures will be revealed, the lid opened and the gifts will come forth, in an abundance. The Lord is about to uncover and reveal more of him in this days. There are hidden treasures that are about to be uncovered and released.

It is a Now thing, a Now day. It's a newday, but a nowday. This is a "now" word. That is why I wrote "this" days... this.. represents a now word... There are many around you, that are hidden. Some of you who are reading this has been hidden, but as you have grown and grow in the truth, His glory shines forth. As you grow in him...He will unlock the door and send you forth.

I am seeing a door before you. On the other side is a hand on the doorknob, about to push it open.

Keep your eyes on him- for he is our key. As long as we behold him, know his word, devour his word...be full of him...His truth will protect us-from deception, and going the wrong way. One of His teasures is wisdom. .. "for wisdom is better than rubies."... "The Lord is the beginning of wisdom". .. "better is it to get wisdom then gold..". and it says in, James 3:17, "but the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy."

Many are about to be released. Ignore the voices that tell you it's dangerous. There are great treasures within. Look for those treasures within the saints around you.. and don't forget the children...look at the great treasures. And there are some treasures that have felt shelved, consider yourself dusted off and a great treasure. You are a living ark that carry God's presence...hold your head up.. for you are of value to the King. You have a purpose, and are about to be placed into a new place, new surroundings.

I see a hand now wiping some of you off, taking off the dust and the cobwebs... and there is a new shine coming upon you. You are not finished. That has been a lie of the enemy who wants you to stay covered. Rip those grave clothes off...look within to the treasures the Lord has placed within you. There are many hidden within you, truths, that you have pushed away/ out of fear and or hurt...or just from a place of feeling useless...that your time is up, or that you have just been so beaten and put on a shelf by others....the dust had been accumulating on these things... but Now is a New day. You are victorious in Him. It's been done. Now stand in this victory.

Look at yourself and see the royal clothing upon you...you have access to go before the King of Kings anytime...he receives those who are his own. Those who are his know His voice and He knows them. It is you, He is speaking to. Pick yourself up, dust yourself off..". for behold I do a new thing. There are things that have been stolen from you...I am restoring to you- my children, these things.. these great treasures of my truth. Dig back into my word.. you can never get enough... search it out, eat it up...devour it, for it is your life. It is truth...and as you fill up, it will flow out more freely...more of my truth will shine forth from you. My glory will be seen upon your faces. Behold me, and rejoice for I AM and always will be. "

love and blessings,
Annette Ammarell
Maine, USA
ammarell@prodigy.net

The Times In Which We Live

Kathleen Umanetz

Signs of the Times in which we Live - Disneyland, Le Chateau, Sons of Zadok, Angel Food Cake, Tree of Life, Fishers & Hunters, Unity & Balance, Menorah, Racism, Moon, Rulers, Groanings, Gideon's Fleece, Communion, Horn of Plenty, Clothes on Fire, Snowflakes, and Water Levels.

I saw the characters of Disneyland come alive, the heart of children embracing His kingdom in a child-like way and from this will emerge a wonderland, i.e. a wonder and a land in us that will entice the world to return to its first love.

Grape Vines and the Wine of His Pleasure - I saw the hand of the Lord reach down and pull out a huge corkscrew from spiritual wells, unclogging reservoirs that are embedded deep within His people, allowing the wine of His pleasure to freely flow. The name of the wine was called, "Le Chateau", a wine processed with heart and passion. Surely He has been saving the best wine of our lives, for the end. Believe it, for it is so.

I saw His blue garment and His children playing and swinging on the priestly tassels, which hung down from His belt of truth. These are the sons of Zadok, those who come near to minister unto Him. (Ezekiel 40:46) There is no waste around their waists and their virginity of thought is to remove any obstacles between themselves and supreme truth. Every word spoken in truth by them shall not return unto Him void but shall accomplish that which He pleases and it shall prosper in the things where He sends it.

Psalm 78:25, "everyone ate the bread of the mighty, man ate angels' food and God sent them meat in abundance. I saw a cake being made in which to feed His people in the days ahead. It was an angel food cake, which required many eggs. We will be fed in the desert times and wells (living water) will continue to spring up in the oasis of need.

The Tree of Life - The leaves on His tree are for the medicinal healing and restoration of the nations (Rev. 222) I have been seeing a fresh crop of various leafs and fruits on the tree of life. One such leaf is the peppermint and I saw in them a medicinal value to cleanse our palettes and our speech.

Fishers & Hunters - Behold I will send for many fishers, says the Lord, and they shall fish them; and after will I send for many hunter, and they shall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks. (Jeremiah 16:16) The fishers and hunters seem to be running along side of each other, carrying and passing the torch of evangelism between them. I see the hunters tracing the tracks of the cougars into the mountain of the lions and those still fishing with a simple rod and red bobbin. I see His people tracking and being given binocular vision for judging and hunting the enemy in various camps. As the tigers fight over their tails, His people are becoming the heads.

Unity & Balance - I saw a circle being formed, which consisted of cement posts and ropes of hope that bound each other together. Each post had a firm foundation and was uniformly placed in equal distance. This spoke to me of unity and a corporate vision that was being formed worldwide.

I saw a 7-branch lampstand (Menorah) being lit and illuminated. Many are seeking His refuge, His strength and His heart and returning home. In all the attempts to destroy the projects around her soul, His light is still shining on Israel, and the glory of His light, in His people, will continue to shine until His coming, in His time. I see peace in the hour glass of time. I see a walled city and an activity of light on its eastern side.

Racism

The windows of my soul did change
As did the shape of my eyes
From red, then yellow, to black, then white
Turning through these portals of sight
I could then know and feel His heart
And have His love for all mankind.

Each soul has a history, and a story to tell
And a cross of repentance to embrace
What a challenge for each of us
To be an instrument of His mercy and love
Showing the way to Heaven's gate
Before its too late!

I saw three visions which seem to speak in end-time thought. I saw the moon as a bomb ready to explode, and of a women, walking upon it wearing a suit of protection. The moon is one of the cosmic actors in the drama of the earth's final disintegration and this women may represent Israel.

In succession, I saw a Christmas fire cracker, the kind that are held at both ends, which when pulled, create a very loud noise. Many are questioning the "big bang" of life, and how life really started, i.e. the improbability of our existence without a creator. In a way, the power of His kingdom, like gunpowder, is almost ready to explode.

In another prophetic scene, I saw the bones of a spine come together like coloured pieces of an interlocking jigsaw puzzle. I then heard the Spirit of the Lord say, "thou art man not beast" and then the person stood up in an upright position. The beast in man (emotions) have ruled his mind and this earth has become inverted with this mentality creating a planet of apes. I pray that understanding and the right use of minds and reason would return to mankind.

Rulers - I saw the rulers of this world and then a wooden ruler which showed increments of centimetres and inches. The thought that came to me was that inch by inch the Lord is ruling and will one day become the ruler of and over all. AMEN!

I continue to hear the groaning of the whole earth and seeing hot air balloons, in various color and design, being directed by the wind of His Spirit. Around the world in 80 days. and so the story goes. to the ends of our earth and back again. telling His story that never grows old. Romans 8:22,23 "all of creation groans for adoption "For we know that the whole creation groans and travails in pain together until now. And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the first fruits of the spirit even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body.

Gideon's Golden Fleece - Many legends and stories of old are told of Gideon's golden fleece. This fleece seems to represent a life of selfless duty to the King. There can be no higher service. God has placed within us a destiny, to know the times and seasons in which we live, to be able to see with spiritual eyes into the wonderful mystery of our own continuous creation, to live in the eternal now, and to know the reality of Christ in us, the hope of glory and of becoming truly one in Him. This can only be revealed by the power of identification of our own spiritual DNA with Him.

As there are endless patterns of light and shades of colour, the mosaic of the monstrance host is experiencing all the various ways that we are able to partake of communion with Him.

In the story of Heidi, the girl that went to live with her father on the mountain of spices, I saw comparative truths for the Bride of Christ. It was upon this mountain where she was fed from a horn of plenty. It was here where she was able to sound the alarm on His holy mountain into the valley below in the time of war.

Scent Bags of His Presence - I saw tiny scent bags in people, which represent a "quick-scent in the fear of the Lord" and they seem to radiate this scent of His perfume where ever they went.

Clothes on Fire - Our transformation into Jesus and the infusion of his light into us. The fire of His intense desire towards us is growing and will become so intense that it will seem like it will burn right through our clothes. What do the angels see when they see us? May our bodies cast no shadow on His beauty and may our lives reveal the radiance of His beautiful white light.

Snowflakes Like Rain - In the springtime, long after winter had passed, I saw snowflakes falling like a gentle rain from the heavens during worship. This seems to represent grace in the form of white-embroidered lace.

Water Level Gauge - I saw two water tanks, and the water in one seem to be increasing to become equal in their balance and measure. This spoke to me of the latter rain, which will fall equally upon shepherd and sheep.

Issues of concern will be in the areas of health (epidemics) and blackouts. I saw a sign and on it the word "blackout". A blackout in both the natural and spiritual would signify a loss of power. I see electrical storms and the veins in the arms of the Lord as electrical currents. All power has been given unto Him. We are only conduits of it.

In closing, I am reminded that Jesus is our concentration in any discipline.

In Him,
Kathleen Umanetz

Take The Land

Shirley Lise

riverpub@sgci.com
March 4, 2004

March! March right in and take possession! Take the land!

Take land in the lives of your children. Take ground from the enemy. Weaken the blows. I have given you authority to take ground from the enemy in the lives of your children. I have given you the tools and the weapons of war to bring down the assignments of the enemy against them, against My Elect. I am announcing this day that the work of the enemy is null and void!

This is My word, My truth. Declare it over your children. I have come to destroy the work of the enemy, to bombard the enemy at the gate. So rejoice, for I have come through for you.

Gold awaits each of your children, gold representing victory, as a gold medal in the race. Each one shall wear the gold medal. Each one shall triumph over every enemy and take the victory. Each one shall triumph over the works of darkness. Each one shall come out a winner. This is the reward!

riverpub@sgci.com

I Am Placing Those Of My Choosing Into Strategic Positions In The Work Place

Shirley Lise

March 30, 2004

I have assigned you as My forunner who will take ground and break ground for what is to come. You ask Me why I have placed you in the workplace? I tell you, My plan will be fulfilled. I am placing those of My choosing into strategic positions in the work place.

You are being strategically placed to reap a harvest. I will give you the gifting, skills, diploma, and credentials to fill the part I have for you, the placing as My ambassador in the midst of a fallen generation. So do not second-guess why I have freed you up so easily to partake of the calling into this avenue of expression. My light shall radiate from you so brightly, you will hear some proclaim My name because of you.

This is my desire, to bring in the lost. The light is shining brightly from prepared vessels who are now being moved out of hiding and into the public eye.

Rest in Me. Rest and enjoy the newfound placement. Be faithful to serve with all diligence and you will see the fruit of your labor.

I Have Stationed My Runners And They Will Run With The Gospel Message

Shirley Lise

riverpub@sgci.com

April 1, 2004

I have chosen My runners, positioned My runners. They will run with purpose. I will give them purpose. I will instill purpose within their hearts and they shall run without blindfolds. Running for My purpose will be a safeguard to those who run. All other purpose will pale.

I have stationed My runners, and they will run with the gospel message, the message of truth. They shall run and not grow weary, for I shall strengthen them, energize them, birth forth My stamina into their lives, and they shall run with ease, sometimes faster, at other times the pace will slow, but they will keep moving.

Runner Alert

I am giving the signal and the race will begin. Run with full knowledge of Me. I will wipe away the shroud that has entangled many. I will disperse the doom and gloom, breakthrough the clouds of despair. Run the race with endurance. I will strengthen your mortal bodies and give you the stamina of a youth. I will train you in the desert for your active role. Just as an army is trained in the desert, I will prepare, disciple, and equip My army of runners.

You ask what the runners are running with? They are running with the Good News of salvation. They will take it to the nations. Just as I instructed My runners in days of old to run with the gospel, I am instructing My runners in this day. And yes, I have sent out the forerunners to break ground and prepare the way, and now is the time for the runners to be released with the word of God into every area of society.

You say this cannot be done, that there will be great opposition, but I tell you, I am releasing an army in this day who will not be overcome, but who will be overcomers, and who will run undaunted by any attempts of the enemy to destroy the word of their testimony.

So you see, that I am calling those of all ages to run with the gospel of peace. Your children shall run undaunted with the word of truth upon their lips. And you shall run side by side with the younger generation in the mandate to spread the gospel into every corner of the Earth. Men and women, young people and children are being made ready to take the word of the Lord to the nations, runners of all ages. So get on your running gear and be ready, for the signal is about to sound, and the runners shall sprint forth from their boxes.

Wisdom, counsel, the word of the Lord will be released into the harvest fields. Make every effort to run the race with endurance.

I Am Leading My Own Out Of Obscurity And Into Full View

Shirley Lise

Pride and idolatry are things I am dealing with in this day. I shall destroy the works of the proud, smash down their altars, their podiums, their statues to honor men. I am a jealous God and I will have no other gods before Me.

Rest in My presence. Be assured that I am leading and moving amongst My Own, that I have not left or abandoned those who belong to Me. I will come like the sweet spring rain to wash them away and into My arms of love.

This is My heart, that I move My Own out and onto the pathway opening before you. You will see that I have moved mountains on your behalf and made a way through the desert, a pathway clear and ready for your movement out of hiding and into full view, a Bride ready and waiting for her Bridegroom.

This is the way, walk ye in it! This is the way opened to you, so do not hesitate to walk in the way. I am calling many out of hiding, out of the wilderness, and into the way before them. Trust My lead. Let My Spirit lead you out of the past, out of the comfort zone, out of that place of preparation. Let Me take you out and into those places prepared for your entry.

I am doing a great thing in the land. I am leading My Own out of obscurity and into full view. Rejoice, My Beloved! Rejoice that your days of preparation are over and the time has come to move on and into that which has been prepared for you since the beginning. This is the time of My return for a Bride without spot or blemish who is sold out to her lover. I will come and take you away with Me. I'll take you up into Heavenly realms and you will experience the wonder of your God and you will be changed, made new.

Shirley Lise
http://ns1.sgci.com/~riverpub/
riverpub@sgci.com

The True Meaning Of Christmas
Bill Somers

Revised 12/23/01

A Christmas Prophecy

This article is a look at the first coming of Jesus as described and Matthew, Luke, and also Isaiah. We need to see how it is a type or prophecy of his Second Coming. That is to say things that happened at his first coming are foreshadows of what will happen at his second coming. Let me make it clear that most of these points refer to Jesus coming spiritually to his Church in the form of a great outpouring leading to a great harvest. This takes place during and after a time of judgment on the Church.

In other words the first coming of Jesus speaks of End Time Revival [the latter rain] coming to the Church.
You may want to go over the passages in Matthew and Luke and Isaiah since we did not include them, to keep this article short, [a book could be written].

We are presenting these points, rapid fire, as it were. We could add after each one the word selah, which means pause and consider. As you do, think of the coming of Jesus as the coming of Revival.
The Christmas Story is a Prophecy!

1. His first coming was foretold by the prophets. His Second Coming is also being foretold by the prophets.
2. Wise men knew when and where to look for him then, Wise men will know when and where to look today.
3. In the fulness of time God sent forth his son. This applies to both the first and second comings. He will come at the appointed time.
4. He was born in a manger. Consider that a manger can mean a crib, or it can mean a stall. A stall can be a booth, as the children of Israel dwelt in booths during the Feast of Tabernacles. A booth is a temporary dwelling like a tent which is another word for tabernacle. But the tabernacle also speaks of God's dwelling place, also his temple or his Church. When he comes again, he will be born into His Church.
5. His coming was with tidings of great comfort and joy. Luke 2:10. This speaks of the comfort and Joy in the Holy Ghost that the church will have in the last days outpouring of the Spirit of God. These will be times of great judgments but those who abide in the Shadow of the Almighty will have a peace that passes all understanding.
6. He was born of a virgin. Matthew 1:23 The Church will be purged and purified in order to show forth his love. The Bride has played the harlot, but she will have to get back her virginity. So that she can become pregnant before the wedding.
7. Shepherds in the field were drawn to him. His Glory blazed about as angels visited them. Luke 2:7-8. This speaks of God's true shepherds, not the hirelings, being drawn into his presence. And coming manifestations of the Shekinah Glory on the Church. Plus angelic visitations and other supernatural happenings.
8. As Joseph was troubled by his wife's pregnancy, the Church world will be troubled by the revival that's coming. Yet the word of the Lord in this case is just as it was with Joseph. Fear not, this is of the Holy Ghost! Just as Mary was pregnant before her wedding, the church will have to be pregnant with Jesus before her wedding.
9. Unto us a child is born. This reference from Isaiah 9:6 takes a new meaning once you see that "US" is the end time Church. Us. And we are symbolized by the woman in Revelation 12 who brings forth a manchild. This is Christ being formed in us and shown forth by us.
10. "She shall bring forth a son [unto us a son is given] who shall save his people from their sins." Matthew 1:21. The coming of the manchild is also the coming of the great end time harvest.
11. "Thou shalt call his name Emmanuel, that is God with us." When Jesus comes to dwell in His Church, he will truly be God with us.
12. Wise men came to Jerusalem from the east. Matthew 2:1. When revival and harvest come there will be many conversions in eastern countries, especially the middle east. Muslims will come to worship him. See Isaiah 60:6-7
13. "When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him." Matthew 2:3 Herod here is a type of Satan, and this speaks of Satan's kingdom being troubled by these events.

14. " and all Jerusalem with him." Matthew 2:3, This also speaks of the established religions being troubled as well.
15. The wise men worshipped with exceeding great joy, Matthew 2:10-11. This will also take place in this revival.
16. When they were come, they opened their treasures. Matthew 2:11. This coming influx of Muslims will greatly enrich the Church, both spiritually and literally..
17. "And being warned of God …." Matthew 2:12. This speaks again of the Muslims receiving a genuine fear of the Lord in their conversion. They do not return to serving satan [Herod] but instead begin to follow a new path and to minister the gospel in their own countries.
18. Matthew 2:13-18 tells of Herod's persecution and attempt to kill the new born messiah. This is a direct parallel to the persecution to come upon the end time Church. See Revelation 12:13 And when the dragon saw that he was cast unto the earth, he persecuted the woman which brought forth the man child.
19. Matthew 2:19-20 tell of how Jesus comes back to Israel after Herod is dead and the persecution is over. When Satan and his kingdom are under his feet, Jesus will return to earth with all the saints and holy angels with him.
20. Mary, the mother of Jesus, is a type of the Church. In Luke 1:35 we read " The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee; therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God." This is a description of what is coming upon the Church.
21. "For with God nothing shall be impossible." Luke 1:37 Compare this to Revelation 12:10 " And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, …." 2 Chronicles 6:41 "Now therefore arise, O LORD God, into thy resting place, thou, and the ark of thy strength: let thy priests, O LORD God, be clothed with salvation, and let thy saints rejoice in goodness." To be Clothed with Salvation and to operate in His strength, that is Revival. Then The church will be able to do all that the Lord asks, with God nothing shall be impossible.
22. Luke 1:25 says "Thus hath the Lord dealt with me in the days wherein he looked upon me, to take away my reproach among men." This though spoken by Elizabeth and referring to her pregnancy, also applies to the Church. The reproach on the Church is the exposure of her sin and its judgment. The Lord will remove this reproach by redeeming his people and by bringing in a great harvest.
23. Luke 1:38 says "Behold the handmaid of the lord, be it unto me according to thy word …" Mary says this as a type of the Church! When the Church makes this her confession she will be submitting to the Lordship of Jesus. Some commentators have said that when Mary spoke these words is when she became pregnant. Christ was formed in her. When the Church "speaks" these words Christ will be formed in his people.
24. Luke 1:45 says "And blessed is she that believed: for there shall be a performance of those things which were told her from the Lord." The words 'there shall be a performance of those things which were told her from the Lord' when applied to the Church speak of the fulfillment of the prophetic scriptures. This is the Lord keeping his promises and confirming his covenant. See also Luke 1:72.
25. Luke 1:46-55 is Mary's prophetic prayer, [my soul doth magnify the Lord]. It speaks of God's redemption of his people the Church in the end times and the great rejoicing that will go along with that.
26. Luke 1:65-66 speaks of a Fear that came upon all those that dwelt there and how the news spread. This speaks of a Fear of the Lord that comes with revival and spreads wherever revival goes..
27. In Luke 1:67-79 Zacharias gives a long prophecy, [he hath visited and redeemed his people]. What he says here also applies to us. It is a depiction of the End Time work of the Lord in His Church.

Doubtless there are many other points that could be made and comparisons taken. We could go on at great length but would rather not. So you have a lot of pearls in a small package.

I hope these points have provided some insights into the true meaning of Christmas and how it points to the end times.

To The Nations And To The Saints

Bayo Omoyiola

Word to the continents and nations
By Bayo Omoyiola, jr.

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

Africa
A hour of change from the Lord. A season of refreshing is coming. Its her hour of Harvest.
Rejoice Africa for thy land shall be fruitful.

Asia
Breeze of revival is blowing across the continent.

Iraq and Iran
Iraq and Iran are going to rejoice for out of them will come forth victory.
They shall weep no more. For out of their fruitfulness will I bring delight unto all nations. They shall be called after my name. I will raise up ministers of the gospel who will spread the gospel through them.

Canada
Arise, Shine for thy light is come and the glory of the Lord is risen upon you - Is. 60:1

Thus saith the Lord - Canada will bear my glory.

4 Prophecies Words To Saints.
By Bayo Omoyiola, Jr.

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

Look to me

Look to me with a fervent heart.
I will be there when you call.
You will call on my name and I will answer you.
You'll pray and I will hear for I am wanting to know you.
I will be there to help you out of your difficulties.
Don’t be troubled.
Be prudent
for I will come in a time that you expect not therefore wash your robe.
Make it clean lest I come in a time you do not expect and find you wanting.

I will fill you

I will fill you up.
Hearken unto me.
I will give you life.
I have made a way for you to cross the red sea.

Its not impossible to divide the sea.
Just stretch your rod and you'll see.
Oh hallow the Lord with all your might.
Sing unto him a new song
By my anointing
I'll severe you and you shall prosper.
In holiness you shall live.

For those who want to be in courtship.

Wait for the time you'll be in courtship
Don't be in a hurry or in a haste.
Endeavour to seek me about your partner
Don't let this relationship issue confuse you.
I've buttered your bread.
Don't let anything tamper with that.
You are my sweet one, my dear.
Let the old life pass away.
You are too sweet to be cool (luke warm)
Come close
I want to show you something
Don't do what others said you should do.
Let your life be examined and stand by your faith.
Don't let your friends push you by the way side.
Stick by it (your faith) and it will give you life
Watch and pray as you don't know what may come tomorrow.
Come and seek me.
Never refuse discipline for it is life to them that find him.
As you go in my will I will make all things straight
The crooked ways shall come to perfection and I'll give you all I've promised to do unto you.

Lots of ladies after a single man

These are the days when you'll lots of ladies after a single man. There would be scarcity of good men to marry so lots of ladies would be dying to marry the same man just to take away their shame of being single but, rejoice because in this same day the branch of the Lord would be glorious and beautiful and the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and appealing for saved Christians.
The Lord will make his people holy. He will purge his people by judgment and by the spirit of burning.
There would be God's presence and covering over the people of God.

The Tabernacle of David

Don Potter

"Body, Soul, and Spirit / The Tabernacle of David"

After leading praise in some conventional and unconventional places I have generally found that the flow of it seems to rise to a high place and then comes back down. Though that sounds elementary, I can remember when any kind of rise in the Spirit was welcome. Now it is almost common for the Spirit to be present during times of praise and worship. In many cases there would be one rise in the Spirit, and if the people wanted to go farther, they would just stay engaged in the Spirit and soon another wave started and up we all go again. This can happen many times and sometimes does at conferences and special praise events.

This is not always the case on regular Sunday meetings, but there are reasons for that. I won't try to list all the natural reasons I think this happens, but there is a spiritual reason that is worth facing. Though the praise seems high and His presence is real; is there more? One might ask, "Is there a higher place than the presence of the Lord?" Should we even be trying to get somewhere during praise other than His presence?

I'm aware of the fact that God is unsearchable and no one praise time will get Him praised, but I want to ask a question and then try to answer it myself and hope I make sense while doing it. Are those who worship God, coming into His presence or just facing it? I hope this question has gotten you excited or mad enough to read further and I'll show you what I mean.

COMPARISON

Imagine for a moment that entering into praise is like entering the Tabernacle of David. There are three parts to the tabernacle and there are three parts to our praise. The third part of the tabernacle and praise is entering His presence. The presence is the great part of this, but the first two parts are where all the interesting differences are. I also want to make a comparison between the experience of entering the tabernacle of David with the body, soul and spirit of man. Since three is one of God's favorite numbers, it is little wonder that the tabernacle would have three parts; praise would have three parts as God comes in three parts and we are triune beings as well.

We all know that man is made up of body, soul and spirit. The tabernacle is 1) the outer court, 2) the holy place and 3) the holy of holies. The apostle Paul referred to man as the temple of God (1 Cor. 3:16), and with that in mind, look at the similarities. This would make the outer court the body or flesh; the holy place is like the soul; and the holy of holies like the spirit. I believe the Lord has given us a word picture through the tabernacle and temple, of what our praise experience and walk with Him can be like. Though entering the holy of holies was only for the high priest in David's time, it was always God's intention that we would all be apart of a Holy Priesthood. (Ex.19:6)

BRONZE ALTAR AND LAVER

The first place one comes to when entering the tabernacle was the bronze altar and the bronze laver. The word "bronze" means a metal but also represents filthiness, lust and harlotry. Before we enter into praise our lusts and idolatry need to be put on the altar. In simple terms, that means getting real about yourself with God.

I always felt safe about idol worship because I don't have a statue in my house. But the Lord reminded me that idol means image. I definitely have an image of myself and have always wanted others to feel good about me. My image is to look like a spiritual man. I love Jesus, and I want everyone to think that of me so I work at that image. It may seem noble to desire to be seen as spiritual, but in the end, it is just idol worship. I wish it were the only idol that was trying to control my life. The bronze altar is the place to confess your sins, and that is the best way to start praise off. (See Ps. 51:16-17)

The bronze laver is next, and that is where we wash our hands and feet. This washes away the desire to be in power over others. In other words, be free from the spirit of control. I said that because the laver has another meaning besides a pot full of water. Laver is also translated stage or pulpit. Ah - the stage; the place we all fear the most and want the most. When I hear the statement, "You'd never get me on a stage," I know it requires a platform to make the statement and presumes someone is asking you to get on the stage. Let's face it; everyone has some kind of fantasy about the stage even if it is only a platform for our opinions.

The desire for the pulpit is the same except with a religious spirit attached. Don't confuse the desire to preach the gospel with the desire to be in the pulpit. They are very different, and I don't want to cast any aspersions on a Spirit-led desire to preach the good news. I'm referring to the power that comes from being in front of others, and the control that gives you over their lives and thoughts for that hour.

THE STAGE AND PULPIT

The stage and pulpit have their qualities especially when the Spirit is the reason it is entered, but when the stage is entered, a desire to control or manipulate the reaction of others becomes overwhelming. When you have the full attention of another, and they love what you are doing, you can spend a lifetime trying to regain and hold that kind of attention.

I've been reading Henri Nouwen's book "In the Name of Jesus," and it is worth quoting: "It seems easier to be God than to love God; easier to control people than to love people; easier to own life than to love life." This desire to control others is more apparent when we are faced with obeying the Lord's commandment, "Love one another…" (John 13:34) The love He is talking about will require vulnerability, honesty, confrontational skills and Godly patience - just to mention a few. Under those conditions, it does seem much easier to control than walk this kind of thing out with others. Still the call on a believer's life is to have a relationship with God and with others. (Matt. 22:37-39) The reason we must wash our hands and feet of the stage and pulpit is because it is a poor substitute for the relationship-oriented life the Lord continually calls us to.

All these things are to do with the body or flesh of man. I know what you're thinking, "If we had to walk through all this before we could enter into the praise, He would never be praised again." Don't get discouraged - it gets much worse.

THE HOLY PLACE

The next encounter is the holy place which is represented by the soul. In this place the lamp stand, the altar of incense, and the table of show bread are present. The lamp stand represents the church (Rev. 1:20); the incense is the worship (Mal. 1:11); and the show bread means food and facing the presence or the bread of the Presence. (Ex. 25:30 NAS) This is also the place where many of us stop.

The reason many stop at the holy place (the soul) is because the experience of praise with an encounter with the Holy Spirit is all we feel we need. I must admit, when the presence of the Lord comes into a meeting and I'm leading praise, I think we have arrived. What I have slowly learned is there is more. When the Spirit is present we are only facing it, not entering into it.

While the Lord was hanging on the cross, the veil was rent, making it possible for all to enter the holy of holies. With that truth staring back at us, why don't we enter?

HOLY OF HOLIES

It has been my experience that many people, especially men, have a hard time embracing the idea of intimacy with God. This is not a new thing in their lives, but there has been something that has managed to keep them from being vulnerable...open to others about short-comings and a basic sense of fear concerning deep spiritual matters. The comforting thing about the holy of holies or entering the presence of God is, it was dark in that place. No one could see in there and no one was looking. Nothing is done as a show.

There is a sign that is on those who have entered the holy of holies. It is the power to heal the sick; the faith that God will always provide; they will have mercy as well as give mercy to others; they will know and walk in the promises of God.

I have seen people with healing ministries, evangelistic outreaches where thousands get saved, prophetic gifts, words of knowledge and the like and the one common denominator is they have entered the holy of holies. Beyond the torn veil is where the mercy seat of God awaits us. It's in this secret place that the power of God is available. (Aaron's rod) Here is where the constant provision of God is. (Golden jar of manna) And it is in this intimate place that the promises of God and the hope of glory, Christ Jesus, awaits every man who enters.

It is my belief that entering the holy of holies is much harder to do in a church setting then it is at home along with the Lord. That is because the praise in the holy place is processional and boisterous, but then in the holy of holies you see the cherubim with their heads bowed low before the Lord. A procession in this place would be inappropriate as would bowing low in the outer court would only be a show of humility for man to see. This does not mean we can not humble ourselves before God publicly; in fact, David did this all the time. I'm only referring to trying to make a show of your humility.

ALL ARE TO ENTER

"'Now then, if you will indeed obey My voice and keep My covenant, then you shall be My own possession among all the peoples, for all the earth is Mine; and you shall be to Me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation.' These are the words that you shall speak to the sons of Israel." Ex. 19:5-6 (NAS)

God intended for all to be priests, thus qualifying us all to be a holy nation. Now that we are the temple of God, the holy of holies is represented by our spirit. If we live with the Spirit of God guiding our spirits, then we will be Spirit-led. A Spirit-led life will lead you right to the intimate place we long for in the Lord.

It is the spirit that needs to be in control of a man's life, not the flesh and not the soul. The spirit cannot control the body unless the soul comes into agreement with that idea. Is this not the place where all men fall? Is it not the flesh and its lusts that cause so much internal strife in man? It is in the holy of holies that this is all settled.

What would happen if we were Spirit-led through our lives? What would church be like if it were led from the holy of holies and not just from the soul place or the holy place? If the Spirit of God was free to do whatever He wanted and not what I think He wants?

To imagine a Spirit-led life seems like a delusion to some and a dream to others. To wake up one day and say, "I'm going to be spirit-led from now on" is easier said than done. Our spirits must be guided by the Holy Spirit. If we are willing go through the first two parts of the tabernacle then living a Spirit-led life will follow.

Don Potter
Web: http://www.donpottermusic.com
Email: info@donpottermusic.com

The Tabernacle of David

Don Potter

After leading praise in some conventional and unconventional places I have generally found that the flow of it seems to rise to a high place and then comes back down. Though that sounds elementary, I can remember when any kind of rise in the Spirit was welcome. Now it is almost common for the Spirit to be present during times of praise and worship. In many cases there would be one rise in the Spirit, and if the people wanted to go farther, they would just stay engaged in the Spirit and soon another wave started and up we all go again. This can happen many times and sometimes does at conferences and special praise events.

This is not always the case on regular Sunday meetings, but there are reasons for that. I won't try to list all the natural reasons I think this happens, but there is a spiritual reason that is worth facing. Though the praise seems high and His presence is real; is there more? One might ask, "Is there a higher place than the presence of the Lord?" Should we even be trying to get somewhere during praise other than His presence?

I'm aware of the fact that God is unsearchable and no one praise time will get Him praised, but I want to ask a question and then try to answer it myself and hope I make sense while doing it. Are those who worship God, coming into His presence or just facing it? I hope this question has gotten you excited or mad enough to read further and I'll show you what I mean.

COMPARISON

Imagine for a moment that entering into praise is like entering the Tabernacle of David. There are three parts to the tabernacle and there are three parts to our praise. The third part of the tabernacle and praise is entering His presence. The presence is the great part of this, but the first two parts are where all the interesting differences are. I also want to make a comparison between the experience of entering the tabernacle of David with the body, soul and spirit of man. Since three is one of God's favorite numbers, it is little wonder that the tabernacle would have three parts; praise would have three parts as God comes in three parts and we are triune beings as well.

We all know that man is made up of body, soul and spirit. The tabernacle is 1) the outer court, 2) the holy place and 3) the holy of holies. The apostle Paul referred to man as the temple of God (1 Cor. 3:16), and with that in mind, look at the similarities. This would make the outer court the body or flesh; the holy place is like the soul; and the holy of holies like the spirit. I believe the Lord has given us a word picture through the tabernacle and temple, of what our praise experience and walk with Him can be like. Though entering the holy of holies was only for the high priest in David's time, it was always God's intention that we would all be apart of a Holy Priesthood. (Ex.19:6)

BRONZE ALTAR AND LAVER

The first place one comes to when entering the tabernacle was the bronze altar and the bronze laver. The word "bronze" means a metal but also represents filthiness, lust and harlotry. Before we enter into praise our lusts and idolatry need to be put on the altar. In simple terms, that means getting real about yourself with God.

I always felt safe about idol worship because I don't have a statue in my house. But the Lord reminded me that idol means image. I definitely have an image of myself and have always wanted others to feel good about me. My image is to look like a spiritual man. I love Jesus, and I want everyone to think that of me so I work at that image. It may seem noble to desire to be seen as spiritual, but in the end, it is just idol worship. I wish it were the only idol that was trying to control my life. The bronze altar is the place to confess your sins, and that is the best way to start praise off. (See Ps. 51:16-17)

The bronze laver is next, and that is where we wash our hands and feet. This washes away the desire to be in power over others. In other words, be free from the spirit of control. I said that because the laver has another meaning besides a pot full of water. Laver is also translated stage or pulpit. Ah - the stage; the place we all fear the most and want the most. When I hear the statement, "You'd never get me on a stage," I know it requires a platform to make the statement and presumes someone is asking you to get on the stage. Let's face it; everyone has some kind of fantasy about the stage even if it is only a platform for our opinions.

The desire for the pulpit is the same except with a religious spirit attached. Don't confuse the desire to preach the gospel with the desire to be in the pulpit. They are very different, and I don't want to cast any aspersions on a Spirit-led desire to preach the good news. I'm referring to the power that comes from being in front of others, and the control that gives you over their lives and thoughts for that hour.

THE STAGE AND PULPIT

The stage and pulpit have their qualities especially when the Spirit is the reason it is entered, but when the stage is entered, a desire to control or manipulate the reaction of others becomes overwhelming. When you have the full attention of another, and they love what you are doing, you can spend a lifetime trying to regain and hold that kind of attention.

I've been reading Henri Nouwen's book "In the Name of Jesus," and it is worth quoting: "It seems easier to be God than to love God; easier to control people than to love people; easier to own life than to love life." This desire to control others is more apparent when we are faced with obeying the Lord's commandment, "Love one another…" (John 13:34) The love He is talking about will require vulnerability, honesty, confrontational skills and Godly patience - just to mention a few. Under those conditions, it does seem much easier to control than walk this kind of thing out with others. Still the call on a believer's life is to have a relationship with God and with others. (Matt. 22:37-39) The reason we must wash our hands and feet of the stage and pulpit is because it is a poor substitute for the relationship-oriented life the Lord continually calls us to.

All these things are to do with the body or flesh of man. I know what you're thinking, "If we had to walk through all this before we could enter into the praise, He would never be praised again." Don't get discouraged - it gets much worse.

THE HOLY PLACE

The next encounter is the holy place which is represented by the soul. In this place the lamp stand, the altar of incense, and the table of show bread are present. The lamp stand represents the church (Rev. 1:20); the incense is the worship (Mal. 1:11); and the show bread means food and facing the presence or the bread of the Presence. (Ex. 25:30 NAS) This is also the place where many of us stop.

The reason many stop at the holy place (the soul) is because the experience of praise with an encounter with the Holy Spirit is all we feel we need. I must admit, when the presence of the Lord comes into a meeting and I'm leading praise, I think we have arrived. What I have slowly learned is there is more. When the Spirit is present we are only facing it, not entering into it.

While the Lord was hanging on the cross, the veil was rent, making it possible for all to enter the holy of holies. With that truth staring back at us, why don't we enter?

HOLY OF HOLIES

It has been my experience that many people, especially men, have a hard time embracing the idea of intimacy with God. This is not a new thing in their lives, but there has been something that has managed to keep them from being vulnerable...open to others about short-comings and a basic sense of fear concerning deep spiritual matters. The comforting thing about the holy of holies or entering the presence of God is, it was dark in that place. No one could see in there and no one was looking. Nothing is done as a show.

There is a sign that is on those who have entered the holy of holies. It is the power to heal the sick; the faith that God will always provide; they will have mercy as well as give mercy to others; they will know and walk in the promises of God.

I have seen people with healing ministries, evangelistic outreaches where thousands get saved, prophetic gifts, words of knowledge and the like and the one common denominator is they have entered the holy of holies. Beyond the torn veil is where the mercy seat of God awaits us. It's in this secret place that the power of God is available. (Aaron's rod) Here is where the constant provision of God is. (Golden jar of manna) And it is in this intimate place that the promises of God and the hope of glory, Christ Jesus, awaits every man who enters.

It is my belief that entering the holy of holies is much harder to do in a church setting then it is at home along with the Lord. That is because the praise in the holy place is processional and boisterous, but then in the holy of holies you see the cherubim with their heads bowed low before the Lord. A procession in this place would be inappropriate as would bowing low in the outer court would only be a show of humility for man to see. This does not mean we can not humble ourselves before God publicly; in fact, David did this all the time. I'm only referring to trying to make a show of your humility.

ALL ARE TO ENTER

"'Now then, if you will indeed obey My voice and keep My covenant, then you shall be My own possession among all the peoples, for all the earth is Mine; and you shall be to Me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation.' These are the words that you shall speak to the sons of Israel." Ex. 19:5-6 (NAS)

God intended for all to be priests, thus qualifying us all to be a holy nation. Now that we are the temple of God, the holy of holies is represented by our spirit. If we live with the Spirit of God guiding our spirits, then we will be Spirit-led. A Spirit-led life will lead you right to the intimate place we long for in the Lord.

It is the spirit that needs to be in control of a man's life, not the flesh and not the soul. The spirit cannot control the body unless the soul comes into agreement with that idea. Is this not the place where all men fall? Is it not the flesh and its lusts that cause so much internal strife in man? It is in the holy of holies that this is all settled.

What would happen if we were Spirit-led through our lives? What would church be like if it were led from the holy of holies and not just from the soul place or the holy place? If the Spirit of God was free to do whatever He wanted and not what I think He wants?

To imagine a Spirit-led life seems like a delusion to some and a dream to others. To wake up one day and say, "I'm going to be spirit-led from now on" is easier said than done. Our spirits must be guided by the Holy Spirit. If we are willing go through the first two parts of the tabernacle then living a Spirit-led life will follow.

by Don Potter
Web: http://www.donpottermusic.com
Email: info@donpottermusic.com

The Tree Of Knowledge Versus The Tree Of Life

Mark Virkler

Point 1 - The Tree of Knowledge versus the Tree of Life
Satan tempted Eve to doubt God’s words and love toward her and to become like god herself, knowing good and evil. She could live out of her own mind, rather than out of communion with God. She chooses reason over revelation, and began to eat from the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thus being cut off from the Tree of Life (i.e. the divine flow of God within her). See Genesis 3.

Point 2 – God chooses revelation rather than reason
"But just as it is written, ‘THINGS WHICH EYE HAS NOT SEEN AND EAR HAS NOT HEARD, AND WHICH HAVE NOT ENTERED THE HEART OF MAN, ALL THAT GOD HAS PREPARED FOR THOSE WHO LOVE HIM.’ For to us God revealed them through the Spirit; for the Spirit searches all things, even the depths of God." (1 Cor. 2:9-10 NASU)
"Trust in the LORD with all your heart And do not lean on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge Him, And He will make your paths straight. Do not be wise in your own eyes; Fear the LORD and turn away from evil." (Prov. 3:5-7 NASU)

The only command in the Bible to reason is found in Isaiah 1:18. You will note two things about this command. Reason is only encouraged if done together with God, and when done together with God, it involves the use of imagery, which is a right brain function, and not normally considered as part of the reasoning process in the western culture.
"`Come now, and let us reason together,’ Says the LORD, ‘Though your sins are like scarlet, They shall be as white as snow; Though they are red like crimson, They shall be as wool.’" (Isa. 1:18 NKJV)

Point 3 – God chooses meditation rather than study
The Greek in II Timothy 2:15 does not say, "Study to show yourself approved, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed…." This is a mistranslation.
In the Greek, and in the NASB it says,
"Be diligent to present yourself approved to God as a workman who does not need to be ashamed, accurately handling the word of truth." (II Tim. 2:15 NASU)
Thus there is no verse in the Bible recommending study. Instead, the Bible recommends, some 20 times, meditation. Joshua 1:8 is an example of this. Biblical meditation is very different from study, as the following pages on "Study Versus Meditation" illustrate.

Point 4 – Revelation knowledge is called "true knowledge." It is actually knowledge coming from the Spirit and thus is called the Spirit of knowledge
"Seeing that His divine power has granted to us everything pertaining to life and godliness, through the true knowledge of Him who called us by His own glory and excellence." (II Peter 1:3 NASU)
"And the Spirit of the LORD will rest on Him, The spirit of wisdom and understanding, The spirit of counsel and strength, The spirit of knowledge and the fear of the LORD." (Isa.11:2 NAS) Rational knowledge comes from the mind through reason and study. True knowledge comes from the heart, through meditation and revelation by the Holy Spirit. Webster defines religion as "reliance upon reason for the establishing of religious truth." Thus religion and Christianity are totally different, as nowhere in the Bible does it recommend the reliance upon reason to establish your Christian beliefs. Any exhaustive study of the word "reason" in the Bible will convince one of this.

Point 5 – Knowledge from above versus knowledge from below
James differentiates between two sources of knowledge: It is either from above or from below. It’s interesting that he only lists two. Many of us would want to list three - above, below and self.
"This wisdom is not that which comes down from above, but is earthly, natural, demonic.
For where jealousy and selfish ambition exist, there is disorder and every evil thing.
But the wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, reasonable, full of mercy and good fruits, unwavering, without hypocrisy." (James 3:15-17 NASU)
Knowledge (man’s reasoned knowledge) makes arrogant (1 Cor 8:1 NASU).

Paul’s reliance upon the Spirit (1 Corinthians 2)
"And when I came to you, brethren, I did not come with superiority of speech or of wisdom, proclaiming to you the testimony of God.
2 For I determined to know nothing among you except Jesus Christ, and Him crucified.
3 I was with you in weakness and in fear and in much trembling,
4 and my message and my preaching were not in persuasive words of wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power,
5 so that your faith would not rest on the wisdom of men, but on the power of God.
6 Yet we do speak wisdom among those who are mature; a wisdom, however, not of this age nor of the rulers of this age, who are passing away;
7 but we speak God’s wisdom in a mystery, the hidden wisdom which God predestined before the ages to our glory;
8 the wisdom which none of the rulers of this age has understood; for if they had understood it they would not have crucified the Lord of glory;
9 but just as it is written,
"THINGS WHICH EYE HAS NOT SEEN AND EAR HAS NOT HEARD, AND WHICH HAVE NOT ENTERED THE HEART OF MAN, ALL THAT GOD HAS PREPARED FOR THOSE WHO LOVE HIM."
10 For to us God revealed them through the Spirit; for the Spirit searches all things, even the depths of God.
11 For who among men knows the thoughts of a man except the spirit of the man which is in him? Even so the thoughts of God no one knows except the Spirit of God.
12 Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, so that we may know the things freely given to us by God,
13 which things we also speak, not in words taught by human wisdom, but in those taught by the Spirit, combining spiritual thoughts with spiritual words.
14 But a natural man does not accept the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him; and he cannot understand them, because they are spiritually appraised.
15 But he who is spiritual appraises all things, yet he himself is appraised by no one.
16 For WHO HAS KNOWN THE MIND OF THE LORD, THAT HE WILL INSTRUCT HIM? But we have the mind of Christ."
NASU

Point 6 - Greek versus Hebrew learning
See the following Greek and Hebrew learning article at:
http://cwgministries.org/The-Lamad-Method-of-Learning.htm
Point 7 – Paul was trained first by reason, and then by revelation.
Paul was trained in one of the best Bible schools of his day, using the Bible, reason and theology. Then he had to be totally retrained by God, using revelation knowledge, which came to him initially on the Damascus road, and then through three years in the Arabian wilderness (Gal. 1:16.18). Paul describes his first Bible school training as being from dogs and from evil workers. He equates it with manure.
Philippians 3:1-11 KJV
" Finally, my brethren, rejoice in the Lord. To write the same things to you, to me indeed is not grievous, but for you it is safe.
2 Beware of dogs, beware of evil workers, beware of the circumcision.
3 For we are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh.
4 Though I might also have confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, I more:
5 Circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of the Hebrews; as touching the law, a Pharisee;
6 Concerning zeal, persecuting the church; touching the righteousness which is in the law, blameless.
7 But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ.
8 Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ,
9 And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith:
10 That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death;
11 If by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead."
Mark Virkler
http://cwgministries.org/Revelation-vs-Reason.htm

The Tents Of Meeting Part 5

Susan Cummings

The Dream of the Storm

The day has been far spent, and the hour has been wearisome. I tiredly wait as I sit looking out over the lands. It has been a long journey, as the time has passed slowly, and much preparation has been done. It has now come to the end of the day, and the preparations have now ceased. All is finished and now awaits the fruit to be revealed.

I sit thinking of these things, and resting myself along the hillside. The tents are burning before me with a glow of readiness and anticipation. I can feel the tents. I can feel the anticipation growing within them. The King is coming. The King is within each tent, but He is also coming in a new way also. There is an air of expectation and trembling in the camp.

I can feel the trembling grow within me. I begin to scan the tents arrayed before me. Each one is full of God’s Fire and Glory, but awaits more, as they know the King is coming. The knowledge of this causes me to begin to shake and to be in awe. This is a glorious hour in which to be in God’s House. The earth has not seen this House yet, and it will shake under the weight of it’s unveiling. The Lord will be glorified in His House.

I sit there scanning the tents, and thinking of the revealing. I feel the beating of my own heart as I am amazed at all the Lord has done within us, in such a short time.

The Lord then said to me, ”Why should you be amazed at My handiwork? All I need is a willing people. All I need is a humble people. All I need is a people who desire Me more than themselves.”

I turned and the Lord was sitting on the hillside next to me. He had been there for awhile, and had been watching me as I watched and thought of the tents below. He smiled, and said, “Yes, it is time for the unveiling. But it won’t come as many think. For all that I have done in the preparation, has been done from within, and from behind the scenes, and much of what I have done, has not been entirely understood by them, but it will become clear, as I unveil them.”

“Look, and see what now comes upon the lands.”

I turned, and followed the Lord’s hand, and out on the horizon, was the coming storm. It had grown and increased till it was a great spanse of darkness and fierce wrath. It was dark out, but this storm could be seen, as its darkness was not like the darkness of the light, but it was a darkness of form.

As I watched, the storm came closer and neared the edges of the outer most tents. I could hear the winds and the raging of the storm as it drew closer, but I also felt something that I had not felt for awhile. I looked at the Lord in surprise. He nodded, and solemnly looked back at the storm. “You have seen correctly, daughter. Justice has decreed that it now come. For the reaper must reap what is not Mine, and separate the Holy from the profane.”

“The destroyer must also come, and be given its own also. For the choices have been made, and the Word must now be fulfilled. What is Holy is Holy, and what is unclean is now unclean. What is for destruction is now given over to it. What is for purging and the fires of tribulation, is now cast into the furnace of affliction. What is for Life, is placed in My House.”

I looked at the storm as He spoke. I shuddered as the coldness of the darkness came nearer. I drew closer to the Lord, as I wanted to be near His warmth and not near the darkness of death. He nodded and pointed to the storm.

The storm came closer and the tents burned brightly as the storm came to it’s edges of the fires upon the tents. What was amazing to watch was the wind and the thick darkness of the storm was rising and increasing as it drew near. The winds within blew louder and louder as it increased in size. The darkness became more darker, if that is a good description. It became thicker, maybe, or more intense. It also was cold, hard, wrath that was death itself. Then it dawned on me. The plague had begun.

Suddenly I jumped up, and ran down the hill towards the tents. I got up to the edge of the first rows of tents and the Lord stopped me. He said, “You cannot stop the death plague. The choice has been made. My Own are being brought into My House. You have warned and have declared the hour. Now it must come. For the reapers await the plague’s passing.”

I stood there, and watched as the Storm awaited the Lord’s command. The Lord raised his hand, and cried out with a loud voice, “Let those marked for slaughter, be given to the slaughter. Let those marked for destruction, be destroyed. Let those marked for persecution, be tormented and plagued and brought to their knees. Let those who are marked for the plague, be consumed by their own greed and hardness. Let those who are Mine, be glorified in Me.”
The Storm lifted up, and raged and a great thick, black form of destruction began to pour forth in all directions over the tents and the lands. I cried out, and hit the ground on my face. I could not bear the destruction of so many. But the Lord reached down and pulled me up, and said to me, “You must not weep. You must stand. You knew this day would come. You cried out with My Voice till all who would listen came into My House. The time to enter is now closing, for the storm is now come. The Destroyer now comes and will reap his due. The Death Angel will now pass over the land.”

“I have repeatedly warned My People of the coming storm. I have shown My Prophets. I have shown My Watchman. The Trumpets have sounded this day’s coming. There are no more warnings. My Grace has been given to My Own, and has wrought its work within them, so that they can now stand in this hour. All others will be given over to their portion.”

“The Day of Bondage is over for My People. I have brought deliverance to them. I am bringing them forth with a great release, and it will come as I did before for Israel when they were in Egypt. My people are in entering My tents. They are being brought into Goshen. They are in My place for them. They are prepared for their season, and will come forth, as the day passes and the new day is ushered in. I told you that it was the end of the beginning, and the beginning of the end.”

“The Culmination of all things has now begun. Just as I wrought a great deliverance for My People then, it was only a foreshadow and type of the great unveiling that I will break forth in this end hour. Everything that has a beginning has an end. Everything that had an end, is now reborn. I Am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. All things are wrought in Me, and through Me. For I AM in all things, and all things are created in Me.”

“The Death Angel now comes and takes what is not under My Blood. Everything will now be judged for it’s fruit, and each will receive it’s due reward. I have given time for My People to come to Me. I have made My Blood available for all men to receive. I have given all men the equal chance to come to Me, and to be redeemed and cleansed. I have waited till the wrath has been heaped up, and no man would live if I did not bring forth its hour. Unless I release My Grace, and bring this hour forth, death would consume all flesh from the greatness of the sin that has accumulated. The cries from under the Throne have cried out for this day, that they would be avenged for their blood that was shed, and the injustice that has ruled over the people of God. Righteousness travails for Justice and Truth travails for the Unveiling.”

“I told you it would be a terrible birth in this nation. Indeed, it will be. All nations will reel under the exposure and the Truth that they have rejected. It will be a terrible price. It will be a terrible cry as the Truth brings the day into being. Men will indeed mourn for they rejected Me, and My Truth. There will be no repentance for each has been given over to their portion.”

I watched the tents as the Lord spoke. The Storm raged and it’s blackness was thick and cold as the Death Angel passed over. I could see it’s form spreading out like a huge black wave. It became like a dark cold blanket that began to spread out and unfold. I could feel the hate and the rage of its fury. It made me shake as I watched it cover the lands. I could not fathom the feelings that stirred within me and wanted to be screamed out, but could not. The Lord only nodded at me. He too shared my feelings. He too desired His creation to live.

I said to the Lord, “What will happen to your tents, Lord?” The Lord said, “Watch and see.”
As I looked, the Lord raised His hand again, and suddenly I could see through the darkness and I could see the tents under the storm. The tents were burning brightly and were not even touched by the darkness, the plague, and the fury of the destroyer. They were not even affected by the winds that raged or the death that spread out. They were under the Blood.

The Lord then said,” I said in My Word, that when the Death Angel passed by, those in My House will not be touched. But the firstborn of all men will perish that are not in My House. What you see is the destroyer taking the firstborn of all men, and bringing it’s power down to it’s rightful place. The firstborn of men, has always been their pride. The first born sons are always the proud and joy of the fathers, and they always had the greater portion. The first born works of men have always been the idol that they erect and worship. The first born of animals were always reserved for the best and the choicest of all offerings, and have been given over to devils and the unclean sacrifices and have polluted the hearts of men with their adulteries and their rituals. Their sorceries have darkened the light of Truth and have defiled the land and the hearts of men. There are no pure altars among men or true worship anymore apart from My House.”

“The plague has begun. The Death Angel now comes, and the passing over has begun. The disclosing of the blood now unveils. I told you before, that what was not atoned for by My Blood would now be judged. What was not totally cleansed by Me, was now given over to uncleanness.
My Blood will no longer be scorned. It will no longer be made as nothing in the sight of men. My Life is in the Blood. My Life is the Covering of My people. The Death Angel passes over, as it sees Me covering My House. For I have placed My Life within My Own, and they now stand IN Me.”

“Make no mistake, daughter. The reaper will reap. The destroyer will destroy and carry off its spoil. The plague will utterly purge the land, and what remains will be what is Holy. The terrible birth has begun. I told you that the angel Holiness and the angel Terrible have begun. It will now be seen what is Holy, and what is done will be terrible. For both have begun their trek across this land, before the Storm, as a witness to all men. Many have discounted your warning. Many have discounted My Prophets, but it will come, for My Word always is accomplished as I have spoken it. It will not come as they thought. But it will come as I have decreed. For My Word is the seed, and it now breaks forth.”

“What you see before you has now come to birth. It is now on the fringes of your land. It is at the threshold. It is the hour of unveiling. All we be disclosed. All will be reaped. Both houses will be filled. Mine and the Destroyers. The Hour of Travail has begun, and the storm now comes.”

“Your nation has chosen it’s head. It has made it's allegiances and will reap the fruit of it’s choice. They trust in their hearts desire, and will be given over to it, but it will not protect them, nor atone for them in the hour that now comes forth. Men will see who the True God is, and will mourn for their choice. Oh, that men would choose Me as their King, and not place their hearts in men. Such has it been from the beginning, and such will it be till the end. The deceiver must rule for an hour and separate the houses. I told you that both the true tents and the false tents would be side by side till the end. The storm will purge out the true, and consume the false. For all things must be fulfilled, and be accomplished as it is written in My Word.”

“The Scroll is being unrolled as I showed you. My People are discerning and understanding the Hour, and they will walk in My Truth within My House. For they bear My Mark, and My Blood, and My Word. As the Storm passes over, My House will burn brightly with My Fire, as a witness in the earth. Nothing that is Mine will be touched. For all has been prepared. My Glory is upon My Own and within her. I told you that those who were IN Me, were Mine, and were hidden IN Me, and were One with Me. All that is Mine, is Mine. All that is given to Me, I now will glorify in the earth. For I will be glorified. I will be seen. I will be revealed as Holy.”

“That which was, and that which is, and that which is to come, now shall be. For the Father will now be glorified through thee. These words I have told you. Now you will come to understand them. Now you will see them fulfilled in the earth, for the lands will now give birth.”

As the Lord finished speaking, He sat down again. I sat by His side. The tents were burning before us, as the scene changed back to the familiar setting stretched out in the twilight. The storm was on the outer edges churning, as it waited at the threshold.

Silence thickened around us as I pondered all I had seen and heard.

Then it all lifted, and I awoke from the dream.

- Susan Cummings
- 10-31-04

http://groups.msn.com/CummingsFamilyAdventures
http://topica.com/lists.JustHisWords
http://www.xsorbit6.com/users/remnantaflame/index.cgi

To My Jewel
Susan Cummings

My Precious Jewel, do you not know that it is I that has fashioned you, and who has made you with My very own hands? I chose which jewel you would be, what size you would be, how you would be positioned, and what color would best reflect Me.

Yes, you do reflect Me. All of the refining that you have undergone has brought you forth into My Place of Rest. It is here that I mount MY Jewels into My Settings. It is here that I polish them, and turn them to see which angle they best reflect Me.

Do not fear because of all of the turns that you have been making lately, for I am just looking to see which direction best reflects Me through you. Rather, rest, knowing that I am doing the turning. I know the best position for you, that will bring forth My Glory through you. For I have chosen to shine through you.

Many do not see My Jewels. They only see rocks, stones, and pebbles. But I see Myself in them, and I pick them up, and take them as My Own. Take no thought for the opinions of others that would wear you down, but rather, look upon Me, for I am lifting you up.

You are My Jewel, and you will shine for Me.

Susan Cummings
cummings@bevcomm.net

The Treasures of Truth
Rick Joyner

As we have been studying the biblical prophecies of the end times and how we can be prepared for them, we have also concentrated on the importance of having the truth and loving the truth. This is crucial because the biblical definition of the darkness that is coming upon the world in the last days refers almost entirely to deception or that which is not true. When the Bible talks about walking in the light, it is speaking about walking in the truth. It may not sound possible at first, but you can know and love the truth and not necessarily walk in truth. How can this be?

It is a far more subtle deception than we might suppose. I know people who love the truth of God's Word so much that they spend many hours a week searching it for understanding. They esteem its truths as great treasures. This is certainly a noble endeavor and should be the devotion of every man and woman of God. However, I have met quite a few with this devotion who think nothing of cheating on their taxes, which is in conflict with the Scriptures they esteem so much, as we read in Romans 13:6-7:

For because of this you also pay taxes, for rulers are servants of God, devoting themselves to this very thing.
Render to all what is due them: tax to whom tax is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honor to whom honor.

A couple of years ago I met a group of believers who once were probably the most devoted people in searching the Scriptures that I have ever met. But they had rationalized not obeying the above verses because they did not agree with what some of their taxes were being used for by the government. Nowhere does the Word say to only pay taxes to the government who will use them righteously. If that were the case there would be no government in history to which we should have paid taxes, and that verse should therefore not have been written. In fact, Nero was Caesar when Paul wrote that verse. Nero was possibly the most wicked of all the leaders of Rome and the very one who was to take Paul's own life.

When someone is prone to rationalizing the Word of God in this way it always hurts them the most. One of the ways that a spirit of poverty can gain dominion over one's life is by cheating on taxes or not paying other obligations that are rightly owed. This is articulated in Proverbs 11:24: "...there is one who withholds what is justly due, but it results only in want." Like it or not, taxes are "justly due" no matter what they are used for. If we are going to partake of any of the benefits of modern society or our national defense, then we should gladly pay our fair share of the cost.
Likewise, if we do not pay bills that are "justly due," it will sooner or later cause our own depravity. This also implies that our obligations should be paid on time. It is a sure truth that when we hedge on such simple things, it will actually open the door to a spirit of poverty in our own lives, resulting in our own want.

Those whom love the truth will also be true in all of their ways. Our word should be our bond. I hear many Christians claiming Proverbs 13:22, "....the wealth of the sinner is stored up for the righteous." There are other biblical prophecies that speak of the wealth of the nations being given to the righteous. There is no question that this will come to pass, but it is important to determine who the righteous are. The Scriptures also make it clear that those who do not keep their vows are wicked.

I was shocked when I was shown the percentage of Christians who make vows to give to churches and ministries that actually do not keep their word. As Solomon wrote in Ecclesiastes 5:4-6, "When you make a vow to God, do not be late in paying it, for He takes no delight in fools. Pay what you vow! It is better that you should not vow than that you should vow and not pay." Was this not the foolishness that brought the judgment upon Ananias, and Sapphira?

Christians are on the earth to represent God and to be His ambassadors. If there is one fundamental characteristic that is the nature of God it is that His word is true and He always keeps His word. As the Lord Jesus stated it in Matthew 5:37, "But let your 'Yes' be 'Yes,' and your 'No,' 'No.' For whatever is more than these is from the evil one" (NKJV).

I know a good number of Christian businessmen who do not want to do business with other Christians because of the way they have been treated by them. It does seem that many Christians purposely fail to pay their bills to other Christians because they know those Christians will have to forgive them. This may seem like an extreme statement, but it is far more widespread than most would imagine. As a ministry and as a church, we are continually subject to this kind of treatment by other Christians, other ministries, and other churches. It does hurt us, but not nearly as much as it is hurting them.

In the last few years I have had quite a few dealings with bankers, and even had a long meeting with the CEO of the largest bank in the country at the time. In every case it came up how these banks no longer wanted to deal with churches or ministries because they are such a bad risk. This was not the case just a couple of decades ago when churches and ministries were considered some of the best business a bank could have.

As the Lord Jesus also said in Luke 16:11, "If therefore you have not been faithful in the use of unrighteous mammon, who will entrust the true riches to you?" The way we handle our finances will determine the kind of true riches that we can be trusted with.

There is a reason why the mark of the beast is an economic mark. The love of money is one of the ultimate idols of the human heart, and those who worship it are worshiping the beast. One of the ultimate issues of true Christian maturity is learning to handle unrighteous mammon properly. It tests some of the deepest issues of the heart, which quickly distinguishes the true from the false.

I am thankful that there are still some Christian groups, ministries, and churches that are known for their integrity. These are the ones that the wealth of the sinners is being stored up for. However, I think we are going to be surprised at who the Lord classifies as the sinners. Since we are also told that judgment will begin with the household of God (see I Peter 4:17), we can expect that the wealth that is first transferred will come from many Christians, churches, and ministries, who have been wicked in this basic way.

Let us endeavor to always be true in all that we do, beginning with paying our taxes and paying our bills. If you are given too much change at the store, return it. To keep it is to take something that is not justly yours, which can result in your own impoverishment. This is one of those "little foxes" (see Song of Songs 2:15) that is easy to overlook—it is not only stealing much of the fruit, but ruining the vine.
www.eaglestar.org

True Riches
Rick Joyner

True Riches: The Ability to Access the Resources of Heaven, Not Just the Earth"
by Rick Joyner

The Lord made it clear that the way we handle our earthly finances will determine the kind of true riches of the kingdom that we can be trusted with. Consider this question: Would you rather have the money to buy enough food to feed five thousand people or the power to multiply a single lunch into enough for them all? If you would rather have the money, then make it your primary pursuit. If you would rather have the authority that the Lord demonstrated when He walked the earth, then pursue Him.

If we are in fact coming to the end times, we should want that authority more than any amount of money. That authority is partially what the Lord referred to as "true riches" (Luke 16:11). The true riches are the ability to access the resources of heaven, not just the earth. As we read in the prophecies about the end, there will be a time when a wheelbarrow full of money will not even buy a loaf of bread. At that time those who know the authority of heaven over the earth will not be in need, and they will feed many others as well.

In my Christian walk I have lived through several cycles of both great personal prosperity and times of need. Even Paul the apostle experienced the same, as he shared in Philippians 4:11-13:

"Not that I speak from want; for I have learned to be content in whatever circumstances I am. I know how to get along with humble means, and I also know how to live in prosperity; in any and every circumstance I have learned the secret of being filled and going hungry, both of having abundance and suffering need. I can do all things through Him who strengthens me."

Increasing Our Attention on the Lord

This is a part of the maturing process that the Lord seems to take all of His people through. A key to making the most of these opportunities to mature is to learn to be content in whatever circumstances the Lord has us. We should not become overly focused on what we have or do not have. In all things we should resolve to increase our attention on the Lord. If we are in times of abundance, then our stewardship has increased, and we should be even more resolved to be faithful in managing it in the way He desires. If there are times of need, then it is a great opportunity to grow in faith in His power to take care of His family.

Even so, the way that every Christian is called to live is to "...have an abundance for every good deed..." (II Corinthians 9:8). Our main goal should not be to raise our standard of living, but our standard of giving. Whether it is by natural means or supernatural, we should have an abundance for everything that God calls us to do. However, we must go through a necessary process of maturing before we can be trusted with this. This is the reason for the cycles of abundance and need. We need to embrace each one in their timing, learn all that we can from them, and resolve to keep our peace and contentment in the Lord above all things. We do not want to set our hearts on riches if they come or overly fear financial testing when it comes. Our goal must be to grow in faith and be levelheaded regardless of our state. Set that in your heart. Neither our joy nor our peace is dependent on what we have, but on Whom we have.

The immature will want everyone else to go through their same trials. When we are being abased, we will have a tendency to be critical of those who are not. When we are abounding, we will tend to be critical of those who are not. This attitude will probably ensure that we are not yet mature enough and will continue in these cycles as well as discipline in our lives. The truly content do not envy their neighbors.

Handling the Unrighteous Mammon

As stated previously, there is a reason why the mark of the beast is an economic mark. The love of money is one of the ultimate idols of the human heart and those who worship it are worshiping the beast. One of the ultimate issues of true Christian maturity is learning to handle money or what the Lord called, "unrighteous mammon" (Luke 16:11 KJV) properly. It tests some of the ultimate issues of the heart and does seem to quickly distinguish the true from the false.

As we have also stated often, the harvest is the reaping of everything that has been sown in man, both the good and the evil. At the very time the greatest darkness is covering the earth, the glory of the Lord is being revealed in His people. As this is stated in Isaiah 60:1-5, we also see that the nations will come to the light of God's people because of the glory, bringing the wealth of the nations. We do not want people to come to us because of what we have, but because the glory of the Lord is being revealed in His temple, His people.

When the nations come bringing their wealth, it is not so God's people can then be wealthy, but so we can manage it rightly for the sake of the ones who are bringing it to them. When the first converts brought all of their possessions and laid them at the feet of the apostles, it was not so the apostles could have it, but so they could manage it for a fair distribution among the people. The wealth of the nations is still for the nations.

Why Is the Church Here?

The church exists first to minister to the Lord and then to minister to people. We do not exist so people can serve us, but so we can serve them. The most basic way we can serve them is to connect them to the Lord, helping them to develop their own relationship to Him and thereby become those who exist to serve instead of being served. The selfish way in which many teach how the wealth of the wicked will be given to the righteous can turn the righteous into the wicked. This is not about us. It is about the Lord and giving ourselves to seeing Him receive the reward of His sacrifice.

It may seem that I belabor some of these points too much, but we need a major paradigm shift in our basic thinking if we are going to become who we are called to be, entrusted with authority, and the wealth that we are called to have. Great authority and great wealth will come to those who are true servants - stewards who live to serve, not be served.

Learning how we deal with that which we are entrusted is a big part of our preparation for the times that are coming. For this reason I will not cease to include reminders of our most basic calling - to serve. As the Lord Jesus said in Luke 9:23-26:

"If anyone wishes to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow Me. For whoever wishes to save his life shall lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake, he is the one who will save it. For what is a man profited if he gains the whole world, and loses or forfeits himself? For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words, of him will the Son of Man be ashamed when He comes in His glory, and the glory of the Father and of the holy angels."

The path to being entrusted with true riches is to live lives that are based on denying ourselves, not seeking for ourselves. There is a reason why He ends this exhortation on not being ashamed of Him and His Words. This is one of the ultimate tests of whether we are living for our own glory and acceptance or for His. We can count on it becoming increasingly difficult to be His followers, but we also know that for those who remain faithful, His glory will be entrusted to them and in the end the whole world will come to them.
by Rick Joyner
www.MorningStarMinistries.org

The Tabernacle of the Testimony

Arlette Pollard

Revelation 15:5

To behold God’s temple
That fills the heavens above
Is to understand the message
Of God’s mercy and His love
To behold God’s glory
That fills the world with truth once unknown
Is to bear witness to the gospel
Which proclaims not by might but by God’s Spirit
Man is purified as gold.

The testimony of Jesus
Declares all things are made new
According to God’s purpose
To restore, redeem and renew.

To behold the testimony
Of the Savior set on high
Is to look upon God’s kingdom
Where His righteousness abides
To behold the evidence
Of God’s perfect will toward mankind
Is to stand upon a sure foundation
Where the wells of salvation spring up
Unto abundant, everlasting life.

To behold God’s tabernacle
Where the Son of righteousness abides
Is to look upon God’s mansion
Prepared for those known of God before time
To behold the tabernacle
Pitched of God and not of man
Is to understand the sacrifice
Of the holy unblemished Lamb
Whose kingdom united will forever stand.

The testimony of Jesus
Declares all things are made new
According to God’s purpose
To restore, redeem and renew.

“And after that I looked, and, behold, the temple of the tabernacle of the testimony in heaven > was opened.” Revelation 15:5

>
> “Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such a high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens; a minister of the sanctuary, and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man. For every high priest is ordained to offer gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it is of necessity that this man have somewhat also to offer. For if he were on earth, he should not be a priest, seeing that there are priests that offer gifts according to the law: who serve unto the example and shadow of heavenly things, as Moses was admonished of God when he was about to make the tabernacle: for, See, saith he, that thou make all things according to the pattern showed to thee in the mount. But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises.” Hebrews 8:1-6

According to God’s love and longsuffering toward mankind, a holy sanctuary has been raised up within the heavens, which bears the testimony of Jesus Christ. This heavenly tabernacle has been pitched of God and not of man, and bears evidence of God’s better promises toward mankind. Though the earth will shake and mountains shall fall into the sea, God’s heavenly tabernacle shall not be moved. For within the temple of the tabernacle of the testimony, there is a throne from where the King of glory reigns. And at the right hand of the Lord of all creation sits Jesus Christ, the faithful high priest, whose precious blood was shed so that through Him, mankind might be reconciled to God.

> In days long ago, before Jesus Christ ascended on high to His rightful place beside the Lord of all creation, God’s elect looked to an earthly temple, where an ark which bore the Testimony of God’s will toward man was placed, in accordance with the covenant relationship God had ordained. Before Jesus Christ appeared before God, as the spotless Lamb whose precious blood would purify the heavens, men chosen of God were required to continually sprinkle the blood of animals upon “both the tabernacle, and all the vessels of the ministry.” (Hebrews 9:19-22)

But at the appointed day and hour, the end of an age would come to pass. God’s holy nation, who lived their days looking toward an earthly temple to find evidence of God’s perfect will for man, would come to an end. The old covenant relationship between man and God, which required that the testimony of God’s will for mankind written upon tablets of stone be placed in an ark, then kept in an earthly temple, behind a veil, in the Holiest place of all, and where the blood of animals must be shed in order to make atonement for the souls of men, had waxed old, and was ready to be replaced by a new covenant that would better express God’s will and desire toward mankind.

The new covenant, which would better express God’s nature and desire toward mankind, would be founded upon the testimony of Jesus Christ. Man would no longer need to look toward an earthly temple that housed the Testimony within an ark, in hope of being in God’s will. Jesus Christ’s shed blood, which purged the heavens, would establish a new covenant between man and God, so that man could obtain insight into the wisdom, beauty and nature of God, who built up His heavenly temple upon the foundation of the testimony of Jesus Christ.

The day had arrived when God would open wide the doorways of His holy tabernacle established within the heavens, because of the new covenant founded upon the testimony of Jesus Christ. And as the doorways of God’s heavenly tabernacle were opened, the mighty, living waters of God’s Holy Spirit flowed forth. Now those who turn toward Jesus Christ in sincere faith are healed, redeemed and set free from the curse of sin, which is death, as the living waters, God’s Holy Spirit, are released within their lives. God's Spirit has been ordained of God, to move upon a man's heart and mind, so that a man is filled with the knowledge of God's great love and desire toward them. This truth and understanding will cause a man to turn away from every false thing that would try to exalt itself above God.

God's heavenly, divine, Holy Spirit, bears the nature and desire of God. To those whose faith is toward Jesus Christ, though they were born as the natural man, Adam, who walked under judgment of condemnation because of sin, when they receive the infilling of the Holy Spirit from on high, they are born again unto righteousness, because they now bear the image of the One who sits at the right hand of God. All things will be made new within their lives, as they are taught by the Holy Spirit, God's divine truths. The Holy Spirit will be faithful to continue to reveal the immeasurable riches that are theirs in Christ, as they live their lives unto God.

> "Who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life. But if the ministration of death, written and engraven in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not steadfastly behold the face of Moses for the glory of his countenance; which glory was to be done away: how shall not the ministration of the spirit be rather glorious. For if the ministration of condemnation be glory, much more doth the ministration of righteousness exceed in glory." 2 Corinthians 3:6-9

Those filled with the heavenly nature of God, His Holy Spirit, which has been released from God's tabernacle on high, are able to testify to the goodness of God. Because they have personally experienced God's hand upon their lives, through receiving God's Spirit, which testifies of God's love, they will understand that to look outward toward rules and regulations, laws, which subdue the flesh, but cannot subdue the unruly soul of a man, is to look toward the realm of death. But that to look with faith toward Jesus Christ is to receive the riches of eternal life, which is found in the Holy Spirit. Those filled with the Holy Spirit will discover the beauty that is found in holiness, as God's heavenly Spirit purges their conscience of dead works, so that peace is established within their lives.

Men who looked to an earthly temple, in regard to covenant relationship with God, knew that the testimony of God was sure and true and able to make one wise. Yet, because most men lived out their lives looking toward receiving the inheritance of the Holy Spirit, which bears the power, and glory of God's holy nature, many of these men repeatedly turned after the ways of the world. Idols were exalted, as pride and self-exaltation ruled and reigned upon their thoughts.

But because of Jesus Christ, a new covenant relationship with God has been established in heaven, and therefore within the lives of those who have received God's heavenly Spirit. The Holy Spirit, will write upon a man's heart, the intentions behind the testimony, which God had years ago written upon stone tablets, and placed within the ark. It is the man who has had the finger of God write upon his heart God's will and purposes toward the man, who will live his life unto God.

As a man is conformed into the image of the One who fills his life with the holiness of God, his desire will be to be separated from all things, attitudes and behaviors that are aligned with the darkness of unbelief. Thoughts aligned with darkness, which are as murky, unsettled waters that choke the life out of a man, will be stilled by the voice of God, as the Holy Spirit and the Word, who is Jesus Christ, continues to speak of God's love and desire toward the man. That man will then be more assured in testifying to others of the power and might that is found in Jesus Christ.

> "Look upon Zion, the city of our solemnitites: thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet > habitation, a tabernacle that shall not be taken down; not one of the stakes thereof shall ever be removed, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken." Isaiah 33:20

God's tabernacle that fills the heavens with the righteousness of Jesus Christ shall never be removed from its position of power and authority over all of creation. Though men's hearts are veiled to the majesty, power and authority that resounds within the tabernacle built upon the testimony of Jesus Christ, their unbelief does not annul the truth of what God has brought to pass. God's covenant relationship established between Himself and mankind, according to the blood that was shed by Jesus Christ, is as solid of a foundational truth, as the earth that mankind stands upon. And though the most powerful man upon the earth should deny this truth, his words of accusation against God will not cause one stake of God's heavenly tabernacle to be removed.

The "Jerusalem which is above", "which is the mother of us all" (Galatians 4:21-31) that has been raised up according to the new covenant, which bears the testimony of Jesus Christ, has been made available to those born of the Spirit. Through faith in Jesus Christ, a man will receive God's Holy Spirit, which reflects God's glory that fills the heavens, within their lives. It is in receiving the Holy Spirit that a man's eyes will be anointed to see and comprehend that the majesty that fills God's holy tabernacle within the heavens, now fills his life. And because the glory that reigns on high now fills his life, he will personally experience being led according to the truth, wisdom, and love of God.

Within God's tabernacle, established in the heavens, which bears the testimony of Jesus Christ, it is the Lord of all creation who stands as the Judge, who saves His people from the penalty of sin, which is death. The Lord is the holy King who established the law within His heavenly kingdom, and it is the Lord who declares that all who partake of His heavenly nature, the Holy Spirit, through faith in Jesus Christ, are to be judged unto righteousness. Not in and of themselves, but according to the righteousness of Jesus Christ, who inhabits their lives through the Holy Spirit.

Those who are clothed with the Spirit released from God's temple on high, walk in righteous robes that have been made white by the blood of Jesus Christ. Men who walk according to the mortal, earthly focused, Adamic nature, are as men who walk in robes defiled by the lusts of the flesh. But when mortal men, who are bear the penalty of sin, which is death, put on immortality, which is the Holy Spirit of God, death is swallowed up by life that is found in Jesus Christ. It is Jesus Christ who is the Redeemer who was sent to the earth, to give eternal, abundant life to those who stood under judgment of condemnation.

> "He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all. And what he hath seen and heard, that he testifieth; and no man receiveth his testimony. He that hath received his testimony hath set his seal that God is true. For he who God hath sent speaketh the words of God: for God giveth not the Spirit by measure unto him. The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand. He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him." John 3:31-35

The "Son hath everlasting life" and those who turn in faith toward His holy name shall receive His gift of everlasting life, which is found in the Holy Spirit. Those who turn in faith toward Jesus Christ, shall have the wrath of God lifted from off of their shoulders, so that they live at peace with God, led of His Spirit of truth, mercy and love.

But to those who refuse to believe in the holy name of Jesus Christ, shall the wrath of God continue to fall, so that within their souls they will not experience the peace of God. Pride will continue to cause them to believe that, in and of themselves, they can experience purpose of life; yet all the while without their understanding the truth, death continues to linger alongside the breath that keeps their mortal bodies alive.

Those who deny the testimony of Jesus Christ, continue to stand far outside the heavenly gates of eternal life, so that the living waters of God’s Holy Spirit are not released into their lives, and they do not experience God’s healing upon their many wounds. Having not received the evidence of God’s seal upon their lives, which is the Holy Spirit, they will continue to exalt idols above God, in hope of finding truth and purpose in life. All their earthly labors, that stand outside of faith in Jesus Christ, will not gain them entrance into God’s eternal Kingdom, established within the heavens, while alive; and so upon death, they will find that the doors of God’s eternal Kingdom shall be closed to them.

God’s “temple of the tabernacle of the testimony in heaven” will be opened to receive those who turn in faith toward Jesus Christ, so that they are filled with the heavenly blessings of God. If any man hear His voice today, let him not turn away by thinking that there is any other foundational truth that he can stand on, which will impart wisdom, purpose and hope within his life. It is only in turning toward Jesus Christ, in sincere faith, that any man will discover who God purposed him to be from before the foundation of the world. Only by trusting in Jesus Christ, will any man receive wisdom from above, so that he lives his life humbly, in thanksgiving for the life that he has received from God.

> “If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for this is the witness of God which he hath testified of his Son. He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son. And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life: and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life.” 1 John 5:9-12

The Testimony Of Yeshua
Andrea Jackson

Jun 28, 2004
To my sisters and brothers everywhere in Yeshua:
During the night or early morning hours, something has been deposited within Yeshua's Body. This is revelatory knowledge of events past, present and something that is coming. I do not have any descriptive words for this. This is a knowing. Many, many others can see and hear this knowing but cannot tell you what it is. This is from the Father. We will begin to walk full in this knowing very, very soon. It's sort of like the time Yeshua sent the disciples out two by two (I call it a test run or practice teaching period) He saw and monitored what they were doing even while He was visiting His mother. The complete cleansing had not occurred in the disciples. They still argued among themselves. They were still jealous of one another. The betrayer still walked with them. The only thing they knew was the Man walking with them was the Messiah. And so they went out. And then one day, they were instructed to wait for awhile and then go out. They had no idea what would happened to them from that moment on, nor did they care. All they knew is, Yeshua instructed them, the Holy Spirit was in them, and so they went out.

A time of severe testing is upon the world. Yes, though we walk through the valley of severe testing we shall fear absolutely no evil because Yeshua is with us and in us. He is directing our path because HE IS THE ONLY WAY.

I would like to thank every one for their prayers for me during this hard testing period. My flesh is now obeying the commands given to it. To be healed. Almost there. Thank you for surrounding me with your love as the Holy Spirit separated me from several people that I needed to move away from in the secular world.(Or He moved them away from me) Most of them were my pseudo-believing friends.

It is now time to move on. This was and is not a very easy thing to do. It has not been very easy releasing the many "burdens" that other people had laid upon me to help them carry. And carry I did, with a joyful, and open heart. Most of them had made an idol out of the prayers prayed for them. They would not pray but depended upon my prayers. They did not go to the word but depended upon me to do the studying for them. I did not realize that this had placed me in bondage. I had to release all so that the Spirit could show me who, what and why. One can easily become a god to someone in this. I never got to the point of thinking that I was their savior, but who knows what may have happened in the long run. Our Father knows that we can so easily be deceived and lured by words of praise of self. The Father will not allow any more than what is absolutely essential for you. He did not these things but He knows the type training we must have. He loves us so. His family. He will do anything for His beloved family. Wouldn't you? When the training period is over, the adversary must leave you alone.

Thank you for your prayers and love through the heartfelt sorrowing events that are happening within my congregation. Many of us are directly affected because we have no other chose but to be obedient. All are not affected. When the Lord calls, you must answer. All are called at the same moment. Just the ones that are needed at that period in time. All of the above has occurred within a two week period. Thank you so much for standing with me.

Things are moving now very swiftly. Covenant relationships are being formed quickly also. Individuals whom you never though you would be paired with or communicate with, or even like, God is bringing you together. Submit and stop questioning. Drop the past anger and bitterness.

In case you have not noticed, the world has surpassed Sodom and Gomorrah. The Father ears are not closed to these sounds. Many of the sent ones are compromising the words of the Father. Many of the prophets have become apart of the world's system. Many of the sent ones are saying words that are pleasing to the ears of the world. I do not hear words of repentance. I hear" All you have to do is bring Jesus into your life, and bless you for joining our church."

I notice that when ever people write a "nice" prophetic word, many others pick it up and send it out immediately. When one send out a word to turn away from mean an evil thoughts, these bad things that they are doing(great or small), or return to the Fathers house and be cleansed, few acknowledge this message nor do they pass it on.

A voice crying in the wilderness of world that has become perverse.

We must not let the INTERNET become our idol. Souls are at stake here. Many of these readers do not have an intimate relationship with their Father. They know what they read each day only on the INTERNET. They wait for a new word each day.

I know that many people will not pick this up and pass it on, but I have written from the depth of my heart. The dawn is upon the children of God. This our Joy. This our Hope. Yeshua is His name. HaShem Yeshua. Darkness is upon the world.

Prophecy is the testimony of Yeshua. Stop! Turn around. Return to God. Repent. We will come and live with you. Make disciple. Heal the sick cast out demons. This is a perverse generation. We are His people. We are His Ambassadors.

Definition: Ambassador- 1.A diplomatic official of the highest rank appointed an accredited as representative by one government or sovereign to another. 2 A diplomatic official heading his or her country's permanent mission to certain international organizations. 3. An authorized Messenger or representative

Go into the world and take the Message of Yeshua which is His Testimony. Return to the House of the Lord.

Acts 2:40
He(Peter) pressed his case with many other arguments and kept pleading with them, "Save yourselves from this perverse generation!"

Amen

Time To Push Forward

Chuck Pierce

"The Way of Escape is to Find Your Place of Stillness for 7 days!"
by Chuck D. Pierce
Web: http://www.glory-of-zion.org/

August 2, 2004

Dear Friends:

As I write this, we are flying into Pennsylvania for the LAST STATE of the 50-State Tour. When you receive this letter we will be in the process of completing the call to go to all 50 states. Dutch Sheets and I plan on trying to write a small book to pull together the prophetic destiny of our nation from what the Lord said to us on this tour. We are hoping to have that ready by the beginning of the year.

This has been a wonderful experience. I want to thank so many of you for your prayers and giving. I have tried to seed into every state on your behalf - both revelatory and financially. I also hope you are enjoying the 21-Day Prayer Focus. I feel the atmosphere of our nation is changing, and we are beginning to see our enemy in a new way.

We just held our first Clash of the Kingdoms: Breaking the Power of the Occult conference. I am including a prophetic word for you below.

The Way of Escape is to Find Your Place of Stillness for 7 days!

At this mid-year point, I hear two prophetic words: "There is a way of ESCAPE." And, "Find your place of STILLNESS for 7 days."
"Ask Me for your way of escape for today. Ask Me to show you the door out of that place that has been holding you. I am developing an escape plan today. As your enemy encroaches, surrounds, and attempts to besiege you, do not look at the enemy's plan but look for the escape route that I am forming.

"Be still and know that I AM God. Find your seven days of stillness, and the Jericho that seems invincible in front of you will fall, and you will move into the next level of war to unlock the best that I have for you. Yes, I say it is time for you to go into your next war and the enemy would love to hold you in the warfare that you have been in. Be still and watch Me seat you in a place to laugh at the enemies that have been in your path.

Time to PUSH FORWARD

"I am preparing a release of joy for My people. They will laugh at their last failures and blockages. This release of joy from stillness will give you a strength to overtake the enemies that you have been battling with and ready yourself for your next war ahead. I would not have My people stay in the wars of the last season but move into the war that will release the riches of My inheritance for them at this time.

"This is not a time to look at your enemies. This is a time to enter through the doors of your future. I will give you grace to overcome your enemies and release a new anointing for war upon you.
When you See the Doors Open, Leap Forward!

"Watch when I open the door, for many doors are opening this year. If you will leap forward, there will be fire that comes behind you. You are entering into a season of fire in this land. I AM opening a door for you to move forward and be safe. Even though prison doors have been closed around you, today those doors are beginning to open in front of you.

"When I shake the ground and cause them to open, leap forward, leap forward, leap forward! I am dispatching angels to loose chains from My people. Much shaking is ahead but the door is already prepared. Leap, and that which has held you will have no right to keep you.
"I AM Forming Hind's Feet for My People"

"Quit looking at the enemies that you have seen through the fence. Quit looking at the enemies that held you captive. I will give you the ability to leap over those enemies and you will run forward. Quit hesitating and calculating. This is the time I am forming hind's feet for My people."

Blessings,

Chuck D. Pierce
http://www.glory-of-zion.org/

The True Prosperity Message

Clay Sikes

May 11, 2004
Dear List Members, [Lighthouse Prophecy]

By request I am reposting Part One of "The True Prosperity Message." Part Two has been previously posted and evoked some discussion, which I will post later as well as any comments on this post...Clay.

The True Prosperity Message (Part One) Submitted by Clay Sikes

Many years ago the Holy Spirit said to me, "Forgo the World's System for your reward and gain the Kingdom's Way of receiving. If you engage the World's System, you will be dependent upon it for you're your reward." I have spent years learning the deep meaning and subsequent contrast of the two systems as a result of the above word. Essentially, I have come to conclude that these two systems are in constant competition – seeking individuals through which to apply their principles. Knowingly or unknowingly, we participate in one of the two systems daily. The World's System is led by the god of this world, Satan, and is fraught with the traditions of this world. Our Lord, Jesus, leads the Kingdom's Way.

While the effort here will be to contrast the two systems and their relationship to the prosperity message, I first believe it valuable to compare their similarities. First, spiritual forces to include angelic beings support the two systems. They both will produce a harvest if engaged, and lastly, they both are made up of many members who adhere to the "ways" of the system to which they are attached.

While these two systems are constantly in the forefront of choice in our daily life, I will attempt to focus on their contrast relating to the realm of finances and material blessing. It is important to point out however, that the World's System is alive and well in many areas of the Church in addition to the financial arena.

During the mid 80's through the early 90's I embraced many financial problems. Raising two boys as a single parent, as well as managing almost $5,000,000.00 in existing debt from previous bad business dealings, I was in dubious financial condition. For years we literally trusted God for our next meal and other very basic necessities. Constrained by the Holy Spirit from declaring bankruptcy, we learned through these difficult years and hardship that God is faithful. Our needs were always met and our trust was never denied. The deposit made in me during this hour of my life would serve me well in the future for all too soon I would face these same problems again.

In early 1991, I began to hear the prosperity message, and as a result began to apply what I heard. The revelation of giving and the subsequent blessing it evoked was both exciting and challenging. I threw myself upon this word, applied its principles, initially being led by the Holy Spirit to a concealed five dollar bill and subsequently sending it as I felt God had directed me. In relative short order, three years to be exact, I had supernaturally been able to erase the $5,000,000.00 of indebtedness and create another $5,000,000.00 in net worth – a $10,000,000.00 swing in 36 months. Coming out of years of an impoverished financial state, nobody could ever have convinced me that it didn't work.

To everyone's shock, most of all mine, by the end of 1997 I had again managed to lose the net worth and create another $5,000,000.00 in debt. While in the middle of this debacle we gave away everything but the kitchen sink in an effort to get God to move. Over the span of years we sowed almost three quarters of a million dollars, mostly to large ministries. We bypassed the poor, orphans, missions, and genuine needs in the Body of Christ to sow into these giants. I mention the amount we gave only to off set their (the big ministries) argument that we did not give enough. Before leaving the subject of this great financial swing in such a short time, I feel it imperative to mention that initially we were diligent to pray, get the mind of the Lord and give ONLY as he directed. By the way, we were not tithing at this time. Later, we made a law out of giving, many times without praying, and began tithing heavily, more a rote exercise in mathematics (10%) just like paying the power bill. On top of the tithe we paid huge offerings. Years later I realized that anything that is not done in faith is sin and my tithe check was never given in faith, it was simply obeying the new law I was being taught. For what it is worth, after almost four years of seeking God on this subject, God owns 100%, not 10 or 20 or any other number. When I receive now, I seek Him for what to do with it all.

I continued to practice what I had learned in the original prosperity message and continued to operate "MY FAITH" in "MY GIVING," yet for unexplained reasons, it did not work any longer. With a new wife and new baby I faced many challenges in the natural, but now, for the first time in years, I needed fresh revelation as to the true prosperity message. What had worked so well for me for a season, now seemed to have little to no effect upon my finances. I was taught that the laws of prosperity would work for anyone who applies them. All I had to do was give large sums of money and God would return it to me in major proportions, and indeed this worked for a season.

Finding myself in the throws of financial distress, again down to the need for basics such as food, clothing, gasoline, house payments, power and water bills, etc., I again cried out to God for answers, specifically asking "why." He would only answer with "My Mercy!" What I was soon to learn would become an important key for my life and financial future. Perhaps this word will apply to anyone who has present financial needs or feels challenged by the present day prosperity message.

The key for me was this; any changes that I desire to happen in my life, no matter what they may be, must always begin within me. My willingness to change things about myself will eventually cause the things I desire to happen in my life. The great change that God was calling in me was so contradictory to the present teaching that I had to completely retrain my thinking and destroy much of what had become tradition. This came about as a result of spending much time with the Lord and hours praying in the Spirit. The Lord once told me, "(Spiritual) ignorance often come disguised as tradition." He began to tell me to release my concerns for money, increase my trust for him by being content with what I have. I was also shown to have faith in God, not faith in MY FAITH or faith in MY GIVING.

I will admit that with no money, no food, and at times without medicine for my child, I found it hard to learn to be content, but during a particular time of extreme need, I came to learn a great revelation. In the midst of this storm, God kept telling me to be content – I tried, but worry and anxiety overtook me constantly. On a Sunday afternoon in May 1998, the circumstances in the natural looked as bad as I had ever faced – losing home, car, power, water, and virtually all material possessions at once. It was only when I humbled myself and cried out to God that I was enabled to be content in spite of my extreme circumstances.

God moved supernaturally and soon, without explanation, I felt washed in His peace and knowledge that everything would be all right – Amazingly, He had given me the contentment I had asked for. As I sat basking in this miraculous state, I heard a horn honk in my front yard. It was a former employee whom I had not seen in two years. He didn't live in Hinesville so I hadn't spoken with him since leaving my employ two years earlier. At the very moment in time that I was being supernaturally washed with the contentment of God, he was passing through Hinesville on the way home some 30 miles away. While sitting a red light, God spoke to him to come to my house.

Not knowing my dreadful circumstances, and after a short greeting, He said, "Clay, I feel awful asking you this, but do you have a financial need?" Before I could answer he said, "I feel God wants me to bless you financially." Though his gift did not take care of all of our immediate problems, we were able to take care of many vital necessities. I had a need and he was able to meet it, but of even greater importance, a great revelation was birthed in my spirit. "Godliness with contentment is great gain"(I Timothy 6:6). The contentment of God in us releases the anointing of God, which transitions the needs we have from the spiritual into the natural realm. Since this original "happening" this revelation has worked over and over again in our lives. Money has no power over me, because God is my supplier and my trust is in Him. I now enjoy a peace relative to finances that is unexplainable and has nothing to do with what is in my checkbook - in fact; I don't care what is in my checkbook.

By seeking the things of God first, I released the hand of God to supply and meet all my needs. Contentment is in stark contrast to the modern day prosperity message, which says, "If you are not content with your present financial situation, you can do something about it. Make sacrificial gifts to God (preferably to this ministry) and God will be forced to bless you." It teaches a form of discontentment which is strongly connected to the World's System. The emphasis is on "YOU" doing something about your problem saying little about totally trusting God. The World's System is all based on what we can do for ourselves. The Kingdom's Way is about trusting the goodness of God for whatever we have need of. It is not about us, it is about Him.

A mystery is a hidden truth revealed and I believe the following to be a word from God:

If you are going to enter the blessing of God, you MUST learn to be content. Be content with what you have and God will let you drink from wells you did not dig and live in houses you did not build…Quit digging and building on your own. The desire for wealth will cause a fall for a Christian as sure as gravity causes a fall for those who defy it. Avoid selfish ambition (Philippians 2:3) and the love of money (I Timothy 6:10). Recognize the old carnal nature when these symptoms arise…run from them as a man avoiding the plague. Discontent will block the flow of God's blessings. If you rest content you will be untouched by troubles. Contentment destroys worry, doubt, fear and ungodly ambition.

To chase money is to engage the world's system – "For the pagan world runs after such things" (Luke 12:30). We are to simply "Seek the Kingdom first" – pray, get the mind of the Lord and obey, and then God will see to it that "things" (all of our material and financial needs) are brought into our life. At this point, God said something to me that shocked my religious mind. In essence He said that chasing the blessing will stop the flow of God. When you chase the blessing instead of chasing God, you will have your back to, and actually be running away from the blessing that is trying to overtake you. When your focus is entirely God (not money and blessing), not only will your needs be met, but also you will experience the goodness and abundance of God. "Let your character or moral disposition be free from the love of money (including greed, avarice, lust, and craving for earthly possessions) and be satisfied with your present (circumstances and with what you have); For He (God) Himself has said, I will not in any way fail you nor give you up nor leave you helpless nor forsake nor let (you) down (relax my hold on you)! (Assuredly not!)" Hebrews 13:5 (Amplified).

He then whispered another profound revelation: A needy man can crave earthly possessions as much or more than a greedy man. Those of us who have faced serious financial dilemmas have more than likely been guilty of craving earthly possessions - I know I have. The prosperity message seems to be music to the ears of a financially hurting Saint, yet its subtlety places our entire emphasis on chasing the blessing. Many of today's ministries are more blessing conscious than God conscious, providing us with all the formulas to getting blessed. Ironically, many of the formulas involve supporting the ministries, ministers, and ministers' agendas. This to a great degree explains the critical condition of the Church today – we are focused in the wrong direction, looking for the blessing of God instead of God. May God forgive us!

Rest in God and be thankful for what you have, remaining fully persuaded that the God of abundance will bring increase and meet your needs. The rest of God is found in those who have ceased from their own works and only do as the Father says do – They are not into doing their own thing!

Word given relating to the above: "Surrender, complete and total surrender is what I am calling you to. Surrender means trust and trust means peace. My yoke (to surrender and trust) is light, not burdensome to carry. Trust me in your surrender; I am forgiving, I am just, I am merciful – surrender, surrender, surrender and find peace, peace, peace. Surrender and trust require the exact opposite responses than what your emotional soulish realm tells you to do. Your surrender frees me to bless and provide you with my abundance. When you do the opposite of what you feel like doing by staying surrendered to the situation, I WILL CAUSE THE OPPOSITE of what is happening to happen in your favor. Keep your eyes on me (on things above) and I will keep you in perfect peace (my peace). Learn this important key for your calling requires it."

In short, we should not set our minds on money, wondering how we are going to take care of this and that, because He will take care of these things for us. He has promised to never fail us or forsake us. We are to do our part, not try to do God's part – the load is too heavy to bear. God is looking for a few dead men; men who cannot be ruled by possessions or the cares of this world.

For those of us who watch television, hardly a day goes by that we do not see someone from a Pulpit exhorting us to give into his or her "good ground" ministry. This, of course, comes at the end of a particularly rousing message in which the minister is embarking upon some new building program, in need of a new jet, or some great work for God. Some of these exhortations are from God but most are not. Some are for us to give to, but most are not. God is LOUDLY saying to His people, "Be led by my Spirit (within you) in ALL of your giving. Don't be fooled by ear tickling messages, hype, entertainment, and emotional manipulation any longer. Recognize and come out of the World's Systemthat has settled in My house."

Having served on the board of one of the Nation's, and perhaps the World's, largest Prosperity Ministries, I know first hand "The Message. "While I do not want "to throw the baby out with the dirty diaper," I do think it important that the Church begin to recognize that much of "The Message" is taught in error. Please judge for yourself. I believe God desires to bless His people. I strongly believe God desires His people to give and be blessed in their giving, however, the divide for me, is GIVING WITHOUT BEING LED OF THE SPIRIT and giving with the ulterior motive of getting. Our giving, if led of the Spirit, is form of precious worship to our Heavenly Father.

The Word of Faith movement has taught us for years that the Laws of God will work for anyone who applies them: In other words, simply do what the letter of the law states and God is bound "by His written word" to make things happen for you. The Word of Faith movement spawned the prosperity message along the same lines – "If you give, God is bound to bless you." This simply is not true and, as earlier stated, is one of the major reasons the Body of Christ struggles financially – "The letter kills, the Spirit gives life…" Eve tried to teach Adam that he could have the things of God WITHOUT GOD, resulting in the great fall. Satan was cast out of heaven for much the same reason.

God indeed blesses our giving when it is done cheerfully, worshipfully, and obediently to His Spirit. If our motive is to "get something from God," which is the THRUST of the message, our motive in giving becomes tainted and self-righteous – the end result of which is religious and prideful. On January 23rd, 2001, the Lord spoke the following word to me:

"There is error in the substance of the prosperity message. It appeals to the lust of the flesh and the pride of life. It appeals to the spiritually ignorant. I do desire to bless my people financially and I do desire to cancel their debt, but first they must understand the critical element of MY TRUE PROSPERITY MESSAGE. They must recognize that ONLY because of the shed blood at Calvary is my prosperity possible. Men must never think that their giving gains them righteousness – my blood obtained their righteousness. I came, I shed my blood, and I died so they could have life and have it more abundantly."

"When they give to gain my favor I am grieved; they already have my favor, the cross provided it – Moving in obedience to My Spirit in their giving is all I require. The sacrifices of men to gain My righteousness are an affront to me. Giving through obedience to My Spirit gains My favor and blessing. Acknowledge the favor obtained through my shed blood and give only in Obedience to My Spirit and you will see unmerited favor and financial blessing come to those who operate in this revelation."

I submit to you that GIVING TO GET is the Christian lottery, the Saints Stock Market – "Invest In God, He Needs Your Money And Will Provide 30, 60, and 100 Fold Returns." Some of these messages and messengers sound more like stock traders than preachers. It reeks of the World's System. The abuses I have personally witnessed have the same results - Skinning of the sheep, while certain beneficiaries (Shepard's) grow fatter. I have seen life savings, children's college funds, and retirement savings emptied into coiffures of Church leaders and TV evangelist. Unlike my brief success, the 30, 60, and 100 fold has seldom happened for most who have bought into this lie, not because God does not want to bless, but because the order and motive is wrong. God is a God of order and He will not bless disorder. Mercifully, He will withhold His hand until His order is restored.

Learning to be content, whether you are abased or whether abounding, giving as a form of worship, under the leading of the Spirit, totally trusting God, will result in peace and a form of Godly prosperity that extends far beyond the boundaries of money. This, I believe to be the Kingdom's Way.

The True Prosperity Message (Part Two)

Clay Sikes
May 10, 2004

I recently received an emailed from a friend searching for answers to the unfortunate state of his finances. He informed me of his faithfulness to tithe, often sacrificially. He embraced the teaching that promises tithing to be the solution to financial problems, yet his finances continued to get worse. My friend wanted to avoid the supposed 'curse' of not tithing as is so often taught in churches today, so he continued to diligently obey this Old Testament law. To answer his question, I shared my testimony and what I found to be truth in this area, as I too had experienced years of financial devastation, all the while tithing money, jewelry, and anything else of value to move the hand of God on our behalf. Nothing worked! I continued to seek God and what follows is what I feel God revealed to me. Test it!

As long as I obeyed the law (of the tithe) I forfeited the grace (Galatians 5:1-4) to hear God. Without an ability to hear there was little opportunity to know where or if to plant. I found that when I obeyed the law in my giving it required no faith and produced no joy. Something had to be wrong, and as a continuing confirmation of my dilemma, my financial situation went from bad to worse. What on earth could God be saying through these tragic and foreboding circumstances? The answer was not at first clear, but as I continued to seek God with all of my heart a sudden truth emerged. "Only that sown under the direct unction (instruction) of the Spirit can bare fruit. Any sowing done outside of the direct leading of the Spirit of God WILL NOT PRODUCE, and that done in strict obedience to the law will cause God's grace (to hear) to be forfeited.

My tithing, instead of helping, seemed to be hindering. Then I found this scripture; "But if you are led of the Spirit, you are not under the law" (Galatians 5:18). Sons are led of the Spirit (Romans 8:14), while religious folks obey the law. Anything not done by faith IS SIN! My giving was not producing as the doctrine so eloquently teaches.

Let me clarify these circumstances a little further. There was a time of greasy grace in which there was some sparse evidence of God responding to my legalistic giving, but as I reached an age spiritual accountability and a higher level of spiritual maturity, this type giving bore no fruit. In fact, it seemed to drain what few resources we had. The word tells us that "The traditions of men make the word of God to no affect," and a major church tradition (tithing) was coming face-to-face with the reality of my own financial devastation. Could it be that my legalistic giving was hindering God's provision? After all, the modern day prosperity message was tethered to the tithe, yet a mild inner voice kept whispering, "the letter of the law kills, while the Spirit gives life." How could this mild inner persuasion overturn what Christian TV and Pastor Astor were telling me on a continuous basis? After all, they were spiritual giants and most pew-sitters like me lived among the pygmies.

Finally, when my situation got so bad that food became the primary focus, I began realize that God was indeed saying something that would require change. I remembered something the Holy Spirit had said several years earlier; "Anything growing will change, be open, be flexible, be willing to change." Growth and change are virtually synonymous terms, and just as stagnancy is an indication of a rut, so too is change an indication of growth. God kept pounding on the door of my heart: He didn't need my money - He needed by willingness to seek Him, hear Him, and obey Him.

When we obey God by seeking and following His will, we cannot stop His provision from flowing into our lives (Matthew 6:33) because the greater (putting God's will first), always includes the lesser (our needs being met). Putting God first, by seeking Him, spending time with Him, hearing Him, and obeying Him, will always release His provision into our lives.

Here is what I learned in these real life situations: When provision becomes our primary objective (Matthew 6:32), paganism occurs and God naturally falls into second place. By sheer force of nature we violate Spiritual law. At this point, God's provision all but disappears and the NEED for money increases our QUEST for money. The pressure from this situation causes most of us, because of our indoctrination to the world's system, to hotly pursue money instead of repenting, returning to God, seeking Him with all of our hearts, and resting in the Lord (Isaiah 30:15). The NEED/QUEST syndrome has sent many Christians headlong into a giant financial tailspin. It is interesting to note here that in the world's system people seek things; it God's Kingdom people seek God.

Ministries, Churches, and Christian businessmen alike have felt the brunt of this, and because of the pressure that this situation produces, many of these entities begin to pursue money to an even greater degree, sending themselves even deeper into the world's system, a place where God's blessing cannot be found. As I found myself in exactly this situation, I would cry out "Why God?" His answer amazed me as I continually repeated the question, and just as continually He repeated His answer - "My mercy!" Yes, you are reading this right; as I pleaded my case about my very bleak financial situation, the Father would tell me it was being allowed as a result of "His mercy."

God will allow in His wisdom what He could have prevented in His power. In every situation we face in life we will either focus on what God is saying or upon the problem. Most of us, if we are honest, must admit that our focus is often upon the problem, and as long as that is the case the problem will persist. We must change our thinking to achieve a changed result. We must focus upon what God is saying. When the Lord is truly our Shepard, we will not be in want.

In His mercy, God allowed this dreadful situation to persist as long as I resisted changing my old religious mindset about the tithe. It takes a strong word to break a stronghold, and in my case it took a desperate situation to cause me to look outside of my normal sphere of spiritual influence. Thank God, this strong word has now propelled me into a whole new testimony; one is which obedience and God's abundance are synonymous terms.

Comments: The True Prosperity Message
Various
May 13, 2004

Dear Clay,

Hallelujah, Hallelujah, Hallelujah.

I thought I was the only one on my own. God is so good and I'm writing to let you know how much your Prosperity message meant to me (Part 1 and 2). It is awesome. Let me encourage you my brother - as you have been faithful to God, He reveals HIS TRUTH AND REVELATION. Contentment is great gain. It is the doorway to God's prosperity.

I too have been on a journey now for some 30 years. I have had to have the religious yokes stripped off me and much healing in my heart. I received revelation 3 years ago about tithing which set me so free and I agree with you, that our leading must come from the Holy Spirit with an unction of life flowing, or else there will be no fruit.

My walk from under law to grace though has been with food, (and money from time to time,) but mainly I have had to learn over many years about the world system and God's system regarding eating. How dieting is the world system and how God feed's you from the inside with His food. "He is my food and drink, my highest joy, my inheritance" He has taught me so much, it would take pages and pages to share with you, but everything you shared in your messages I related to, re money and food.

II believe God is building His workmanship in us in these last days, a new breed of people who have walked this out, struggled this out and come into His glorious revelation and freedom. There are many in bondage and my heart is to see them set free.

I am a wife, mother and grandmother, and many times I have felt so alone in this. It was like nobody I knew at Church was going thru this. They didn't seem to understand the difference between law and grace. God never left my side in his mentoring of me, and when I received your messages yesterday in my mailbox, I just leapt with joy and thanked God at what He is working in our lives.

I hope I'm not waffling on, but thank you for your courage to put yourself out there. May God bless you and your family and increase and pour out His revelation and light more and more.

Thank you. Pammie

Dear Clay,

Thanks again for sharing truth!

A couple of years ago, I had a very vivid dream in which a family member was crying as she told me about her finances ... or lack of them. Soon after waking, I called this family member and shared my dream. This person began to weep uncontrollably. We both recognized the Lord's hand at work: 1) she recognized that the Lord had heard her cries for help, and 2) I recognized the Lord showing me specifically how to pray for and give to this person. Soon after the conversation with this person ended, I heard the Lord speak the word, "CORBAN." I looked up this word and found it used in Mark 7:11-13: "But you say, 'If a man says to his father or mother, "Whatever profit you might have received from me is CORBAN" -' (that is, a gift to God), then you no longer let him do anything for his father or his mother, making the word of God of no effect through your tradition which you have handed down. And many such things you do." The Lord ministered to me to give to my Mother, rather than the system which controlled the religious institution that advocated tithing (which is really paying a membership fee in order to remain in good standing with the church leaders and to receive blessings from the Lord; actually this kind of warped teaching is manipulation). The Lord also told me that our church leadership would not understand or agree with this. And, as always, He was right. When my precious husband shared at a deacon's meeting that we would be giving to a family member in need rather than the church, he was told (using scripture to validate their point, of course) how "wrong" this decision was. Needless to say, we were obedient to the Lord! Because of this, we recognized the the truth of God's Word and the error of the "tithe" tradition. We also experienced God's blessing as we were obedient to Him. Our Mother experience God's intervention in a very real way, also. I'm so thankful that Our Loving Father speaks to us and directs every decision ... if only we'll listen and obey.

May the Lord bless you both as you continue to obediently minister His truth!

Blessings,
Carole Korakas

Dear Clay,

well, praise God for this lines. 100% agreement with the Lord's way with my life though I never rode the "prosperity-horse" I'd to learn this principle of being content.

The basis of our contentment is that we're His possession. We are bought by a price. We are no longer living our own lives. Nothing is there anymore we possess - no longer my health, my joy, my house, my family, my food... We're slaves of Christ. Whenever in the New Testament we read the word "servant" the original greek word means slave. We have only one legal desire - the honor of our master. And we have that challenge of course, that lifelong task - to lay down our lives (our desires, our wishes, our hopes and dreams) learning to be satisfied and content with Him alone.

Clay, some time ago I wrote the following passage(excerpt) to a friend in the States. It's just about the same topic though through different circumstances. We have to become a zero in our eyes:

In that time I was confronted with an idea I never had before. One day I was out asking my Lord for answers.

Suddenly the thought went into my mind that there is no need for the Lord to give me a comfortable live. He is Lord - he is God. He can do as he pleases. No man can call him responsible. He is the only and absolute standard. All our human thoughts and feelings are nothing.

I was confronted with the thought if I would agree in His will when He wants to smash me.

Again I was confronted with the reality of my faith. But this time it was different than years before.

"You are Lord! Here I am do as you please. I gave my life to you. It's not mine any more! When you want to do that, it is good. I will always love you. I can't stop loving you!" was my answer.

Still living in that torture from time to time my own desires were raising but they were always quieted with that surrender.

By and by I sensed something dying inside of me. Though the situation didn't change - it wasn't bothering me any more. Since that a quietness is growing inside of me that isn't touched by reality any more.

I'm still realizing that we have 7 children now living in a 88m² flat with two little children-rooms only. The children are happy. They like to sleep all together in one room - best would be one bed! The only thing they miss is space for playing. Still I wish to give them more space.

But my feelings have changed. I said: " Yes! "

I do not know if you'll be able to follow this mail. The Lord has his ways with each of us and I'm sure though His ways may be different the result will be the same.

Dear Chris, you said Yes and in the way the Lord challenged you I see no difference in what I had to go through. Perhaps you have been at this point of total surrender already. If not He will bring you there one day. This point in each personal life is the "brand of the desertmen".

Clay, continue the good work. I know there won't be much support for your articles. It against the desires of the flesh - but it's the truth. I feel challenged to write this to support and strengthen you.

Blessings

Markus

----

keep on sending news. in South Africa the prosperity teachers/teachings are liked by many people through TBN AND GODS CHANNEL.

WE NEED THESE TEACHINGS AND TRUTH LIKE YOURS GREETINGS

Anton

Dear ClaY,
As I have now read part one and part two may I add one thing. No matter what we are struggling with in life whether it is finances, wholeness, worship if we do not first judge our hearts and come to Him as the ONLY source and Lord God it will not be blessed. Because HE IS LORD GOD ALMIGHTY. If we give to get or worship to be seen or it is in the program it will fall flat. The church must realize God wants our hearts and to look to Him as the only "program"/source.

To come to HIM humbly. God continue to Bless you. Karen K.

True Prosperity - Test It!

Clay,

You said to test your message about tithing. Well, I could make a T-Shirt that says on the front, "Tithing - Been There - Done That" and on the back says, "Didn't Work!!" My experiences with tithing and being "broke" parallel yours. Thank you for the statement. "God will allow in His wisdom what He could have prevented in His power." There is great peace and trust in that.

Isn't it interesting that the only people who really press the issue of tithing are those whose livelihoods depend on it? They say the law requires that you give God 10% of your income, and you give it to God by giving it to them. That is distorting the Word of God for personal gain.

I thank God that He has delivered me from this lie, and has forgiven me for teaching it and practicing it earlier in my Christian life.

Wayne Harmon

Clay,

I would rather "seed" than tithe. That being that "tithing" is the "letter of the law". When I am seeding... I am planting in "soil". The question isn't so much if we tithe... but where we are tithing as well. If you tithe to dead institutions -- death doesn't reap life. Life reaps fruit -- so we must tithe into "living" situations where the LIFE Of Christ is evident.

I think that to tithe or not to tithe is not the question as much as "where is your heart"?

I am a woman who just bought a 1/4 million dollar home on the grace and mercy of God. I had no money, no job, no income. I received this home I am living in by the miraculous intervention of God. I do believe that it was related to tithing... but all the money I gave was given to places where the life and miracles of God are as well today as they were in Jesus time. At this time, I am still struggling with finances -- but I do not think that it is so much the finances as my heart. For I have seen the Lord bring me to the point of "no money in the bank" to see if I would still trust that He loved me and was going to look out for me even though I didn't know what would happen next. Every time I didn't think it was going to happen -- rather than go into fear... I would give what I had -- all of it and go Worship. Every single time -- the Lord came thru in miraculous ways!!!

I have gotten to the point where I could tithe my whole bank account and know that I cannot out give God. Yet that does not mean I don't do it afraid... thinking What if God doesn't show up. Yet it is a matter of the heart (we can't buy God and we can't force His hand) -- and it is more about "us" and where we are at... and whether or not we choose to act in faith -- or in fear. I must admit there were times I tithed -- and I went into fear and thought God was not going to come thru for me -- that he'd abandoned me. Yet I would worship Him anyway... even in my fear. I would "act in faith" anyway...

I now have a home -- when only 2 months ago I was homeless. I have a job... and I have not worked in years. I am a paralegal degreen without a degree and getting paid good money for it.

I went thru a divorce recently -- and yet the Lord has spoken and said he is going to restore my marriage. Looking at the circumstances, there doesn't seem to be much hope -- yet after receiving some impossible dreams -- I am more than ready to WAIT UPON the LORD to see what He will do next. I have learned that my time for giving up is often before He is ready to show up. I have learned that most blessings come only with "waiting"... and the "waiting" comes with long-suffering and patience for the Lord's timing.

Often when I have given up -- 3 days later He shows up... and yet I have learned to worship Him anyway... and the break thru has always come thru with worship... dancing and singing and praising his name-- and giving him a tithe -- how ever much or little it is.

I am not a tv evangelist -- I only know that there is a God that wants to stretch our faith -- and to do that -- he takes us to the edge of ourselves and what we are willing to do -- to show us He is beyond that!!! And once again.. I learn to wait upon the Lord -- He never fails to show up for me when I am truly faithful to tithe, to worship, to listen... and when I am unable to hear -- to just cry out -- and even scream -- Lord where are you?! I need you Lord. And then... in His timing... often just after my breaking point --

He shows up. I have lived this way for a year now.

Though my husband decided to leave me because he lost faith and hope in Jesus -- the children and I have not lacked anything -- even when the bills were more than we were receiving. I tithed the whole way thru the divorce -- and we never lacked. I never had to get an attorney, I never had to go to court - because God is faithful to those who honor Him and put HIS HEART above their own. That is not to say that I am a "holy" and "good - religious person" for after having gone thru this fiery trial -- I would say that I am so much less than holy, righteous or good -- that even like Paul -- Is there any good thing in me? Yet it is because of the blood of Jesus -- that I can go before the throne room of God -- and I can give up all I have -- for He gave it for me first. It is in the releasing it all even when I have been afraid to -- that I have gained so much more back.

Churches are being changed by what God has been doing in me... not because of me -- because I could not have walked this path by my own choice -- but because Jesus is alive and desires to use imperfect vessels to show that He is alive and well.

It is not about the tithe -- it is about Honoring God with all that I amm -- all that I have -- even when I am afraid -- to continue to put action to faith even when I don't feel I have any faith left.

I am awed at what I have seen the Lord do -- and the people watching are awed as well. For I have never been more sinfully aware of my sin -- then now. I have never felt so wretched a person -- and yet -- Jesus has blessed me over and over again -- with the impossible according to the world's standards.

To get where I am now... I had to do everything backwards. The Lord had me buy the car, then the house, then get the job. The world would have you get the job, then the house, then the car. The issue is not the tithe -- but wear is the heart? When I found myself holding onto my money -- is when I would give it all away -- to find God fill my bank account in the most amazing way. I did not give it because of a preacher, a teacher or guilt -- but because of my own heart before God. I always gave only to that which I felt led of the Lord to give to -- and it was never so much as "guilt" as a desire to let nothing stand between me and my Jesus.

I await the miracles of God for my husband to return and for my marriage and my family now -- because I have seen God take the most difficult circumstances and turn them in a moment and time by a phone call, a letter, or a card.

I think a better way to phrase the tithe "God measures it to us -- the way we measure it to others -- including Him." Our lives are not about "us"... the Lord is just waiting for someone to actually walk with Him enough that others watching can get a glimpse of heaven. Am I saying I've made a great witness? No. Yet, in spite of my failings and my inability to be good enough, pure enough, or kind enough... in spite of my failings to hold my tongue in the midst of the hardest circumstances I have ever gone thru in my life -- the Lord has been faithful to Himself -- and a witness to Himself that is is all about Him and His blood that was shed for me to be able to have "relationship" with Him. It is all about relationship. Abraham tithed -- He was a friend of God. He did it first... and he did it before it was ever a "law".

There are so many people in the world that have less than I do. I have Jesus -- and He is more than enough and He proves Himself faithful - -even when we are unfaithful -- He proves His word true -- and He does pour out the storehouses in heaven... yet He also disciplines and reproves His children when their tithing is to "force His hand" or to "push God" for something He does not think is in their best interest.

Tithing from guilt is not the Lord -- guilt is not from God. Those who are moved by guilt are not acting by the spirit -- conviction -- that is of the Spirit. It is very specific when it comes from God -- not some "vague" notion of how we are missing it. Also, the Lord encourages us into the future while the enemy would condemn us for our past.

Are we acting in agreement with love? or by accusations that we are only good enough if we... fill in the blank. Love is patient. Love is kind. Love never fails...

(I know this is rather long... feel free to take my ideas and adapt them to teach and share on the email list... They were Jesus's ideas first. I just love to walk and talk and be with Him to the best of my ability... I don't always know how to do that... and He shows up anyway... cause its about the heart.)

~ rae

Tell your friend he can send his tithe to me Clay. Tell him to always remember to "round upward" so he doesn't rob God.

(Grinning, ducking, and running ... ;^)

Jack

To The Prophets Of England

Musa Opiyo

Received October 5, 2004 12.30am mopiyo@comcast.net

My Prophets of England it is the season for you to speak My Word over your land. It is to you that I have entrusted the spiritual keys with which to bind and to loose in the land and I am calling you to bind the power of the enemy in your land through prophetic prayer. I am filling your mouths with new prophetic declarations to speak over this nation in order to set it free from every spiritual stronghold while at the same time giving you authority to loose My blessings and to loose My will to be accomplished. I am giving you the cry of the Spirit with which to travail and to weep in prayer for the repentance of the land. There is much I want to do with you, My prophets, and much I am desiring and requiring of you. Surrender your lives afresh to Me and ask for the new wine of the Holy Spirit.

As I stretch your borders and as I enlarge your tent in order to accomodate what I am doing in and through you, believe the impossible. Believe that I have placed upon your tongues the creative power to speak a word over the nation and see it come to pass with signs and wonders following. Believe because it is only by faith that it shall be accomplished. While I will lead some to declare My Word over the land, I will lead others into deep intercessory and authoritative prayer for the nation. My Spirit shall give you utterances and travail on a level you have not known before but on a level that will break through the barriers the enemy has put up. Others of you I shall use to be a prophetic sign to your people where I shall direct you to do specific prophetic acts that shall speak to those who watch you. Your lives will be a testimony, a message and a beacon to draw England back to Me as My own people. There are yet those of you who have been hidden in "caves" where you have been hidden by Me in order to prepare and to teach you My ways in order to bring you out into full service. Some even are not aware that I have called them to be prophets who shall come to this realisation in the days ahead.

Take heed. In whatever field I have called you and however long you have been under the prophetic anointing, all eyes are to be upon Me. For it is a time of shaking even to the foundations of who you are and if you are not grounded in Me or My Word they will prove to be unstable times. But for those who let me direct their steps and order their paths, the I AM shall be your sun and shield and I shall be the rock that shall hold you steady.

To whom much is given, much will be required. You will for many of you begin to see a stripping away of the old garments, the excess baggage that holds you down so that My Spirit can move through you more effectively and with much freedom. Do not loose heart. Take courage and know that I am directing your steps and leading you in the way that you should go. At times the battle will increase and you will feel increased pressure and exhaustion yet take heart because I am your strength. You shall ride like the eagle because you have waited upon Me. For this is what I am doing in and through you that you shall impact the spiritual environment and that My name alone shall be glorified.

To The Remnant
Susan Cummings

Transcript of Prophecy given to the Remnant on 1-17-04

I (Pastor Patrick O'Marra) spoke to Prophetess Susan Cummings, Apostle Sharon Sours, and Evangelist Jean Clark on January 17, on the telephone and the Lord prophesied by His Prophetess Susan Cummings the referenced prophecy below…..

I say to you, this is the year that I have called you to walk by My feet, and My feet will bring you into unity. For I have given you the keys and I have unlocked the door and this year you will walk into very much more. My wisdom has been given unto you, this night. I have opened that door. I have poured Myself into you, you will walk in my counsel. For everything I have given you has been decreed, has been confirmed, has been shown to you, and now will unfold.

For I have told you, you would walk through that door. But yes, My children, you will do so much more. For this year is the year that you will roar. For My Word will be heard from one end of the earth to the other. For I have Arisen in the earth, and My Bride will Rise Up and she will shout and the sound will be heard throughout the earth and in the Heavens.

I have shown you in My Word. I have shown you in your body. I have shown you in the Spirit. There is no other sign, for I Am come. And now that I have Come, I Am moving! For I have called My people to awaken. I have called My people to pray, and I have called My people to heed My voice, and now it's Time to Move! For I say to you, that My cloud is Moving, and we are no longer camping at this place anymore! For you will move as I Move, and you will go as I go, and you will do as I do!

For what you have decreed will now come to pass. For as the signs have been given in the Heavens* to declare that which I would do in earth as a sign, now I will manifest that sign in the natural to declare what I gave in the Heavens. Men did not realize what I showed them, only the watchers knew.

But now I have told it plainly unto you. Take heed to My Word. Hearken to My voice. I have released My chariots and they are running in the earth. And I have told you that you will give birth and this nation will give birth and travail. For yes, I have rent the veil, and just as I rend the veil of the womb and the child comes forth, it comes forth with pain and with water, know that as I rend the veil in the natural, travail and revelation come hand in hand, children. The veil has been rent and you walk in the hour of travail.

But the outpouring of My revelation, and My Word will now come to pass. For the birthing has given birth and now will come forth as I have shown you. Hear the cry! Hear the sound! The child penetrates the veil of the womb and comes forth and cries out that it has entered the world! So hear the cry of My Spirit, as I penetrate the veil and the veil is rent and I roar after throughout the earth through My Bride! The cry that I have returned, Prepare the Way before Me, for I have Come this Year!

I say to you, blood and water will flow this year. For out of the womb comes blood and water. Did I not say in My Word that the water and the blood agree? Blood and water will flow this year. For as the child comes forth, blood and water from the womb comes forth, and I say to you, the blood and water will come forth this year in the Heart of My Bride. For the blood and the water will flow forth through the heart of My Bride this year and will come forth. Blood and water will flow in the natural and blood and water will flow in the Spirit.

I have already shown you the Black Horse with the blood that flows underneath, but I said to you, That water will flow at the same time, for My grace is always there in judgment. So as the blood flows out from under the hoofs of the Horse, know that My water also flows from under the feet of My Bride. For My Word is life, and the wells will be opened and released again and water will flow out from under the feet of My Bride! Blood and water will flow and they agree in earth as it is in Heaven! In the natural and in the Spirit, for the veil is rent, and there is no more partition between the two! You will see it in the earth and in the Heavens. Great judgment. Great Light.

Revelation and truth, blood and water, flow together as One. For as they pierced My side with the spear, I say to you, The side has been pierced once again and has been rent and the blood and water flow. And no longer will it be held back. For you gave birth, and now that the child has been birthed, will I catch it up unto Myself! For did I not say, That as the child came forth, I caught it up to My Throne, Come up here, for I have much to show you," says the Lord? For yet you have given birth, there’s much more yet that I will show you. For you will know the power of My blood. And you will know the power of My Word.

Blood and water will flow this year. My Blood and My Word, the two will agree, and you will walk in great authority in both. I told you it was a double door in 2004.

For I called Peter to get out of the boat and to walk on the water, but Peter’s heart failed him for fear and he sank. I say to you, The heart will not fear this year. The heart will walk on the water of My Word. The two will agree as one. For did I not say that Peter was the rock upon which My Church would be? This year you will walk upon the waters. Your heart will beat as one with Me. Blood and water will agree as one.

The heart and the feet will agree as one. For the Laws of gravity and man will not hinder you any more. The laws of gravity and man will not hinder you any more. I say, for you are not of this earth, and there is no more delay. The laws of gravity and man will not hinder you any more. For it is in the Heavenlies this year you will soar. Yes children, there is so much more. This year I will even the score.
* (the Quasar- January 16, 1989, the Supernova- February 20, 1987, the Comet May 7, 1983)

The Center Of The Eye of My Grace
Susan Cummings

For a few days now, every time I would close my eyes, I would see a huge mass slowly rotating before me. Like a huge flat hurricane if you were above it looking downwards.
It would rotate counterclockwise and be slowly turning, as if on a spindle.
This is what the Lord said to me about this vision……

You are looking at My Eye, which is in the center of all things, and everything revolves around My Plans and Purposes in the earth. I am in total control of all things. I initiate the timing and sequence of all events that happen, according to My Plans. There is nothing that I do not know about, or have not taken into account in regards to My People. I have a plan for you and My People.

You are now in the calm before the next storm. A time of quiet preparation. A time of Grace that I have given to all men, to seek Me and to prepare themselves for the days ahead. You are in that eye in the middle of the mass that was rotating that I showed you.

My remnant have My plan, and they will walk in wisdom and not be moved in the days to come. For I always am with My Own.

I showed you the 6 scrolls that would come to your land. I showed you My Plan and I showed you to prepare yourselves, so that you would know Me in the midst of the shakings. This is the time to do so. Make good use of your time. Do not waste it.
Know that I have made provision for each person, and I have laid out your paths. Nothing will happen by chance or accident. Nothing will happen that is not in My redemptive plan, so take note, and walk in the place of rest that I have given to you.
Strengthen yourselves. Draw nearer to Me than ever.
Out of the shakings will I be seen through you, and many will see the strength that I have placed within you. For you are to be a pillar, and a strong foundation for those who are not prepared. You will stand when all run and fear. You are My Vessels through whom I will show Myself. So, guard your time wisely.

Don’t look around at the events, and try to figure My times out for things, instead draw closer so that you will know My Plans and how to implement them in the days ahead. For you need to get the blueprints from Me, and listen for My Instructions.

Quiet yourselves, and get before Me now, while the eye of My Grace is over you, for soon I will pass on, and then it will be too late, and the winds will be fierce in the land, and much will be displaced and brought to ruin.

1-22-04
6:20 pm
http://groups.msn.com/CummingsFamilyAdventures

To The USA Church
Sadhu Sundar Selvaraj

"PROPHETIC MESSAGE to the USA CHURCH"
-by Sadhu Sundar Selvaraj (-prophet from India).
Delivered to the church in St. Louis, June 2002.

Don't you believe any of the false prophets who preached to you after 9/11 saying it was not a judgment of God.... Two days before 9/11 happened, a dear friend of mine, a very saintly prophet of God, was taken up in the spirit to Heaven. And while he stood before the presence of the Almighty God, the Lord Jesus Christ called forth for a mighty, powerful angel. He came and stood before the Lord Jesus Christ. And a fiery torch was given to this angel. As soon as the angel held the torch, he became enflamed (engulfed) with fire from the crown of his head to the sole of his feet.

And then, the command was given to the angel, GO FORTH! And cast this fire down upon the nations of the world. And the angel and this prophet came down, and they stood in the mid-heavens. And the angel told him, now see what happens. And the angel took the fiery torch in his hand and cast down fires in several parts of the earth. And when the fires were thrown, the angel told him, From now onward, there will be bombings, fires and destructions in many, many nations around the world. That (vision) was (given to this prophet) on the seventh of September (of 2001).

On the eighth of September, when he was conducting a fasting and prayer meeting in his church, the same angel came and stood by his side again, and repeated into his ear, audibly, word for word, every event that he saw the previous day. And the angel commanded him, Now, declare to your church everything that you saw and you heard. And with great fear and trembling, he shared what he saw and what he heard. And they all prayed.

Several days later came the judgment upon America. It was not an ordinary terrorist attack. If you read in the Old Testament, the five books of Moses, every time Israel would go away, go astray from the commandments and laws of God, the Bible says very clearly, God will turn her enemies against her. The hornets and the wild beasts will be let loose to come and create havoc in the land of Israel among the Israelites. If God can do that to the chosen nation, the chosen people, how much more YOU? God removed his protective cover, removed his protective hand, because you constantly turned your back against the Almighty God.

I was supposed to speak with you about the crucified life, as I mentioned last night. But today, as I was here during the worship service, an angel of the Lord came and stood before me, and he told me to do something else. That is what is happening right now. Exodus 34:5 onwards..."And the Lord passed by before Him and proclaimed, The Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, longsuffering and abundant in goodness and truth. Keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin. And that will by no means clear the guilty, visiting the iniquities of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children's children, to the third and to the fourth generation."

Please observe the last part in verse seven, "visiting the iniquities of the fathers upon the children and upon the children's children unto the third and fourth generation. I came well prepared to continue preaching on the crucified life. But as we were deeply worshiping the Lord, I saw the chief prince angel over the nation of the United States of America. He came and stood before me. I first began seeing chief prince angels of nations when I went to South Africa.

That was the first time that I ever saw a chief prince angel that is in charge of overlooking the affairs of an entire nation. And he gave me a word concerning the nation, concerning the will of God, and what God's purpose is for the nation. From then onwards, for the many, many nations that I would go to, the respective angels of those nations would come to me and give me a word for the nation: what is God's word, what does God think about the nation, what has been happening in the nation, in the churches, and what is going to come to pass.

So when the angel of the United States of America came and stood before me, I tremble and quake every time I see an angel of a nation, I always tremble and quake in my heart, because of the awesome anointing and authority they have. When he came and stood before me, he told me, An awesome judgment is going to come upon America very soon. An awesome judgment. When he spoke, I felt a fear, a Godly fear running through my bones and my spirit. This is not a judgment that would destroy the entire nation, but something quite similar to what happened with the twin towers. But, it can all be prevented, IF RIVERS OF INTERCESSION flow in the nation. This is the word that he told me to speak.

And I saw, that if you will take this seriously and pray, a huge river flowing all throughout the center of your country. If it flows - a river of tears, rivers of intercession (and as the angel was speaking, I saw this huge white river flowing from the east to the west)-- only that would prevent this judgment that could come. And then I saw this angel, where he was positioned and where he was standing, guarding over the United States of America. He was standing very near to where the Statue of Liberty is. A huge, gigantic angel!

If you read in Revelation, chapter ten, it is written, John saw an angel so huge and mighty that one of his legs was on the earth, the other leg was on the sea, and he stretched out his hand and he reached to the sun. Can you imagine what a gigantic figure he must have been? Probably as tall as the Sears tower or the former World Trade Center. Such a huge, gigantic angel standing guard over the United States of America!

My dearly beloved brothers and sisters, as he was speaking these words, he said this is the word that you should preach tonight. And then I saw the heavens open, and from the throne of God, this word came to me: Visiting the iniquities of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children's children unto the third and to the fourth generation. The judgments of God. Don't you believe any of the false prophets who preach to you after 9/11 saying, it was not a judgment of God. I tell you, as a non-American, and as a holy prophet of God, what happened was a judgment from God....

You know, when I first came to America, in 1991, on the fourth of July, your Independence Day, I was in a conference scheduled to speak. As I was worshiping the Lord, I saw the heavens open before me, and the Lord Jesus Christ stood there, and He told me, "Now I am going to give you a word for this nation." Among the three things that He showed me, they all have come to pass, but I will tell you one thing that concerns you right now: I saw the flag of America.

You know, I have never seen a people like the Americans, who love their nation so much, and who are so patriotic about their great nation. That is good. When I traveled in your country, I used to see these huge, gigantic flags that fly so majestically in some parts of the country. I feel very proud, as if I myself was an American.

The same American flag, I saw in the heavens. But instead of flying in the right direction, it was flying in the reverse direction. And the Lord Jesus Christ was standing at the flag and knocking on the flag. And as He was knocking, I saw the words, LAST CALL flashing. Last Call was flashing and flashing. Then the word of the Lord came unto me, "This nation -- the flag that you see flying in the reverse direction is the heart of this nation that has turned away from righteousness, and is walking toward unrighteousness.

She has turned her back towards Me. Yet, I am still calling her. Last call, last call, last call. And for the three months that I was in the U.S. during that period, every church and every conference that I went to, I was commanded to share this vision. And ask the American people to pray for your country. But you know, I was very aghast to notice that the Americans, especially American Christians, take very lightly such words, because you think that the non-Christian Americans deserve God's judgment.

You really don't love your country. You think you love your country, but deep down in your heart, you don't really love your country. You have such a self-righteous attitude, thinking that the non-Christians deserve the judgment of God, and you deserve Heaven. Don't you think that when the twin towers came down, many Christians also perished? When the economy of New York City came to a standstill, how many Christians also suffered economic losses, job layoffs. Thirty-thousand Indians working in New York City were sent back home. Overnight, 30,000 Indians lost their jobs. They came back home, among them, many Christians. They wrote to me for prayer.

When the judgment of God comes, remember: even the righteous may have to suffer. When God's judgments came upon Israel, and she was taken captive to Babylon, righteous Daniel was among them! He was a captive. When Israel was under the captivity of another foreign nation, righteous Jeremiah was there! Righteous Nehemiah was there.

The righteous saints also go into the captivity! Don't you forget that. Don't forget that. You have been duped by all the false teachers and false prophets in your country, deluding you and deceiving you into thinking that no matter what happens, you will always be protected.

As a result, you are suffering from spiritual lethargy, hearing only that which you want to hear and switching off when you don't want to hear. You know, of you it is written in the Bible, "those who have itching ears, only wanting to hear pleasant words." My dear brothers and sisters, the judgments of God are real. The countdown has begun.

You know, India and Pakistan came this close to an all-out nuclear war. If the war took place, the whole of Pakistan would have been wiped out. Four northern states in India would have been wiped out. And the defense analysts predicted that Pakistan would have been uninhabitable for thirty years because of the nuclear dust that would be hanging over the country. The whole of north India would have been wiped out. Nepal would be wiped out. Tibet would be affected. They came this close to an all-out nuclear war. Somehow, God spared us.

My dear brothers and sisters, if you read the Holy Bible, forget about church doctrines, forget about vain traditions and teachings of men who only want to bilk you out of your money. I am declaring to you the oracles of God right now.

From Genesis to Revelation, if you read the Holy Bible, it shows very clearly two things: redemptive judgment. God judges! Because He is a good God. From the garden of Eden all the way up to the book of Revelation, you will see these two themes: love and judgment. Not just love and love, and bless me and bless me. This is how your prophets and teachers are teaching you today.

And they have not only corrupted the American church, they are corrupting the Indian church. They are corrupting the Eastern church, they're corrupting the African church and they're corrupting the European church. It (unbalanced teaching) has been exported!...

Many people teach, If you are once saved, you are forever saved. That is a teaching from the pit of hell. Once saved is not forever saved. (Technically, I do believe that, but not practically.) Not from the viewpoint of God, because it is written in Matthew 24:13, "He that endures until the end, only HE shall be saved." Enduring until the end!

Lot's wife did not endure until the end. As she was on the road to redemption, she left behind her heart in Sodom and Gomorrah. Her heart pulled her back. And she turned and she saw, SAVED but then suddenly DESTROYED!

Don't be deceived! I tell you one more time with great love and all humility, don't be deceived that once saved is always saved. Don't be deceived that just because you are a tongue-talking Christian that you will be saved and caught up in the rapture. Don't be deceived. He that endures until the end, only he shall be saved.

Look at the story of Nineveh. Jonah went there, preaching. It took three days to walk around the whole city. For three days, he was crying out, "REPENT! If not, then in forty days you will be destroyed!" From the king to the animals, they all fasted for forty days. They repented in sackcloth. God's heart was moved with compassion. Judgment was delayed, but Nineveh was eventually destroyed because she only repented for a season, like you (America).

After 9/11, the whole nation appeared holy and repentant for a season. Now you are back to normal. You are back to your filth. You are back to your corruption, you are back to your sins. You have forgotten the repentance you did after 9/11. The vows you have made unto the living God after 9/11, you have forgotten! The altars that you had repaired after 9/11, you have forgotten! And they are back in ruins again! The Scriptures say, "My Spirit shall not strive with man forever." My spirit shall not strive with man forever.

Now come with me to the New Testament, in Luke, chapter nineteen. The Lord Jesus Christ looks at the city of Jerusalem, His beloved city, His own city, He has no other city except Jerusalem. He looked at the city, and He beat His face and He cried, and cried and cried. No one had ever seen the Lord Jesus crying like that before. This was even before He cried at Lazarus's tomb. He was beating His face, beating his breast and crying bitterly.

Why? Because the very people for whom He came, as the very personification of redemption, they were going to reject the Messiah. And what would result from that rejection? Judgment. The Lord Jesus predicted, "Oh Jerusalem, you are going to be destroyed! They are going to siege you around! You are going to be utterly destroyed! Your city will be burned, you will become ashes!"

He cried, like a mother crying for her baby. Thirty-three and a half years after the Lord Jesus Christ was crucified, Jerusalem was burned to ashes. Not one time, but three times, the city was burned to ashes. My dear brothers and sisters, did she repent?

America is good. A good nation, a giving nation, a helpful nation. And at the same time, a prideful, arrogant nation. She thinks that she has become great by the power and strength of her own might. She has forgotten that it is the Lord God that has lifted you up, blessed you, made you strong and mighty, but you have forgotten your creator.

Look at the Book of Revelation, chapter two and three, the seven messages to the seven churches that were existing at the time. None of them, except the church in Smyrna, received a (good) word from the Lord Jesus Christ. The rest of the six churches were receiving conditional judgment. If they repented, it would be well and good. If not, the Lord said (to one particular church), "I will remove your candlestick and you will be destroyed."

I was once preaching in a charismatic church in Singapore. The pastor invited me to his house for Christmas Day dinner. Together with me were his two church elders. After dinner, before I left, he said, please bless our family before you leave. I stood to pray for his family. And the Lord Jesus Christ came and stood beside me and said, "For three years, I have been coming to his church and looking for fruits, and none are bearing. Right now, I am going to cut this tree."

Then I fell on my knees, and I interceded for the church. For twenty-five minutes, I cried to the Lord. "No Lord, please don't. Please don't. Spare them Lord for one more year. The Lord Jesus heard my prayer and He said, "Because you asked, I will spare them for one more year." After the prayer, I called the pastor privately and I told him this word (from the Lord). And I totally forgot about this entire event.

But, 365 days later, exactly to the day, the Lord Jesus Christ appeared to me and He said, "The one year is up." I totally forgot about it. He came and reminded me. "The one year is up. And during that one year, she did not bear any fruit. NOW, the reapers will go and will cut the tree." From the moment the Lord Jesus spoke that word, I saw the tree of this church withering day by day, by day. Today, it does not exist. Even the pastor is no more the pastor of the church. The church totally closed up. This is just one example that I have told you. I could tell you examples of many other churches where the Lord came and removed the candlestick from the other churches.

(Another) church with whom I had a very close affiliation, it's like I was a mother giving birth to the church (I gave birth to the church). But the very mother who gave birth to the church, -the very mother-, had to use a dagger to stab her, like Abraham did. One day when I was in their church, the Lord Jesus appeared to me and He said, "I am going to remove their candlestick." When I told this to the pastor, he laughed at me. He said, "Brother, we are in the New Testament. We are under grace. How would God ever do like (what you have just said)?"

I looked at him and I said, "If I am a true prophet of God, and if that word truly came from God, it will come to pass." And I shook off the dust off my feet that day, and I never went back to that church again. But one year later, the candlestick was removed from the church. And that church is no more in existence.

My dear brothers and sisters, don't take your salvation for granted. Don't take your freedom for granted. Don't take the mercy of God for granted. Don't take the redemptive grace of God for granted.

Several years ago, I was preaching at a conference in Sydney, Australia. You know the city of Sydney is exactly like the city of San Francisco. The very sins in San Francisco are the very sins in Sydney. The very sins that you see in New York City are the very sins in Perth. Two identical cities, on the east and west coast in your nation are the same (in these spiritual respects) cities in Australia, east and west coast. They are always gateway cities.

While I was there, one evening an awesome angel came and stood before me. I am usually never fearful in the midst of angels, except when I started seeing the chief princes of nations. But that particular angel, when he stood before me, I trembled and quaked like a leaf. And he had like a bowl in his hand. And he looked at me with a fierce look in his eyes, and he said, "I am one of the two angels that was sent out to spy Sodom and Gomorrah. And I have been sent here to spy out the city and pour this vial of judgment upon the city."

Only then I understood why I was trembling. With fear, I fell on my face before God. I prayed and prayed for the city of Sydney. I said, "Lord, not now. There is still three more days for the conference, Lord. I will gather all the Christians to repent for Sydney, to pray for this nation." For a long time I was lying on my face. Finally, the countenance on the angel's face changed. He became calmer, and he said, "I am leaving now for a season." And he left.

That night I went to the conference. Seven hundred people had come, and I shared with them what I saw. All the 700 people fell down on their faces before God. For forty-five minutes -- there was no message that evening -- for forty-five minutes, they were all crying, beating their faces, beating their breasts, and beating the floors. The whole auditorium was reverberating and echoing with their tears and with their cries. Everyone from the oldest to the youngest were on their faces before God.

My dear brothers and sisters, I tell you one more truth today. As the chief prince angel of the United States of America stood before me, he said, Like the angels that went out to spy out Sodom and Gomorrah, a host of angels are walking the length and breadth of your country, spying out the land in a similar manner to how the two angels did (at Sodom)." I tell you, when the white missionaries go to the East and to Africa to preach, we hear the gospel. We turn away from our millions of gods of wood and stone, and we turn back to worship the true and living God. But the gods we give up, you are now embracing, and you are bowing down and worshiping them.

So who is the greater heathen, tell me? The nations in the East? No way! Because we are turning back to the righteous God. And the supposedly Christian nation is becoming a heathen nation where you have all kinds of abomination. You know, none of the Muslim nations in the Middle East will allow (except for Bahrain, Kuwait and United Arab Emirates, except for these three countries) -- the rest of the countries would never allow a Christian church in their nation.

The largest Muslim mosque outside the Middle East is in the United Kingdom. In fact, the headquarters for their European operation and American operation is in the United Kingdom, a supposedly Christian nation. And the churches in the U.K. open their doors to allow the Muslims to come in and use their very premises for the propagation of Islam.

Would they (Muslim countries) do that? They will not even allow you (to practice openly in their country). They consider Christians infidels. They will not even allow us into their churches. They will not allow us to build churches in their nations. Whereas, we, in the name of the First Amendment, -- you know, your very freedom has become your curse.

The very First Amendment that you use to promote 'freedom of speech' has become your very curse. That's what the gays are now using. The First Amendment. We (the gays, in this case) have the right to speak what we want, and you (the church) cannot disagree with us. Your freedom, your liberty, has become your curse. My dear brothers and sisters, unless you weep for your nation, great judgment is going to come. Unless rivers of intercession flow in your nation, unless tears of repentance flow from your eyes, flow from your churches and water this nation, judgments have been pronounced.

You know, there is a certain group of angelic beings called the Watchers. We only read about them in one book of the Bible. The book of Daniel, chapter four, verses 13 and 23. This specific group of angelic beings are in charge of executing and overseeing the plans of God and judgments of God over each nation. At their command, they can execute judgment.

I was in the nation of Indonesia in 1998, just after the fall of a dictator that ruled that nation for thirty-two years. On the first day that I was in that nation, the chief prince angel over Indonesia entered into my room, and he said, "Whatever has happened in this nation has been decreed and ordered by the watchers in Heaven. They decreed and they said, let there be a change."

And overnight, the dictator of thirty-two years was overthrown. Overnight -- it did not happen over a long period of time. Overnight, he was overthrown -- decreed by the Watchers. The same decree has been passed. However, -- you know, when a person is sentenced to death, he can have one last final appeal to the president. Do you have this in your country?

We have this (law) there. It is called the "President's pardon". If the President chooses to pardon, the person sentenced to die can (have their sentence reduced) to life in prison. You (America) are in that stage (or situation) right now, and your only appeal is to the Heavenly Father. The final pardon is in His hands. If not (if the church in America does not give enough intercession and weeping), 9/11 was just a sample. It will be repeated and repeated.

My dear brothers and sisters, God loves you. If he did not love you, an angel would not have come to give that word. Let me tell you today how God works. If He wants to execute a judgment, He will just carry it out without informing His prophets. He would do that.

Why does He tell His prophets? Amos 3:7-8- "God will not do anything before He tells His prophets." Why? So that they will pray. God wanted to destroy Sodom and Gomorrah, but why tell Abraham beforehand? So that he would intercede and pray for the salvation of Lot. He (Lot) was under the same curse. He (God) could have just destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah. Why inform Abraham first?

Even today, God follows this same principle. Why is God informing you? So that you can be saved. So that you will repent. So that you will cry out to God. So that His entire pronouncement can be overturned, and mercy can come upon your nation. You know, it is not so much God's wrath, but the hardness of your hearts, the hardness and sins in your hearts that must be changed, and the nation will turn back from unrighteousness to righteousness.

You have an awesome call upon your nation. You know, the symbol of your nation, a flying eagle, was not chosen by your forefathers by accident. An eagle is a Heavenly bird. It's supposed to be up there in the heavenlies with God, not down on the ground like a vulture, eating flesh. But you, the mighty eagle, have now become an ugly, flesh-eating vulture. The church is no better. The standards of the world have crept into the church. Are you pure?

What is the difference between you and the world? You are called to be separate. You are called to be peculiar. What is so peculiar about you if your lifestyle is exactly the same as the world? What is so peculiar? Why then should non-believing Americans get saved? Why? When the church is stinking, why should they get saved?

That is the reason why many are embracing Islam. They are embracing Buddhism. Did you know, let me tell you truth, Buddhism is the fastest growing religion in North America. Not Christianity, which is decreasing in size. The church in Europe is decreasing in size. Islam is the fastest growing religion in Europe. What's happening to you? The church is growing in the East. The church is growing in Africa. But you are shrinking. Why? Because (your lack of loyalty or fidelity to the teachings of Christ) stinks.

Tell me now in all honesty. Do you think that you deserve the grace of God? You don't. Do you honestly believe, as you see your own condition better than I do, do you honestly think that you deserve the mercy of God? No. Yet, God is good God. His mercy endures forever. (The passage in Scripture states), "The Lord, God is good, merciful, forgiving, merciful to a thousand generations."

In the many names of God that are mentioned in Scripture, three times it talks about His goodness. Only one time it says that He will judge, which means His goodness is three times greater than His judgment. My dearly beloved American brothers and sisters, the Lord Jesus Christ loves you very much. But He cannot accept a corrupted church. He loves you. If not, this meeting would not have been held.

He loves you very much. But He cannot accept a compromising church. He loves you, but He cannot accept deceiving teachers, and lying prophets. But the wheat and tares have been allowed to grow at the same time. He has allowed it, patiently waiting, hoping against all hope that you will repent. Every little judgment that He sends to you, hoping against all hope that you will repent. But you are not. You know, I fear that your fate will be as exactly what happened to Jerusalem.

The Lord Jesus said, "Prophets after prophets were sent to you, Jerusalem. Instead of embracing them, you stoned them to death. And (as) the final prophet, I am coming. You have not known the hour of your visitation, oh Jerusalem. And now, therefore, the hour is coming when you will be sieged all around, and you will be desolate." What would you like to choose? Let's all bow our head for a word of prayer.

What will you choose? Will you cause a river of intercession to flow in your nation? Will you cause a river of intercession to flow in your nation? Or are you going to just sit here and let this word run down your back like water on a duck's back? Can God count on you? Can all the hosts of Heaven count on you that you will intercede? That you will weep like Jeremiah? Can He count on you? If you are willing, get up from your seats right now, and fall down on your face before God. And lift up your heart and cry for your nation now!

Lift up your hearts and cry for your nation now! Lift up your heart and cry for your nation. Oh, America, oh beautiful America, won't you repent? Tear you heart! Tear your heart! And cry for your country! I am not asking you to cry for India! Cry for your own nation! Tear your heart. Cry out to Him for His mercy! Tell Him, "We have sinned Lord! We have sinned, Lord. We have turned our backs against you, God!" Cry out to Him. Cry out to Him now! Let the rivers of intercession flow now Oh you daughters of America, let your tears flow now, let your tears flow.

Cast away your good-for-nothing pride! Cast away your pride. Your military might is nothing before God. Cast away your arrogance. Cast away your sexual sin! Cry, cry, takes (America's) sins onto your shoulders, and cry now. Let your tears flow like rivers now. Let your tears flow like rivers. The children in the East are repenting and turning back to righteousness.

Oh My children in America, will you be destroyed? Will you perish, while they who are sitting in darkness are turning back to righteousness and light? Oh ye, that were of light and sitting in the light, why have you embraced darkness? Why have you allowed your understanding to be darkened? Why have your beauties turned into corruption? Cry out to Him. Cry out to Him now.

The Spirit of Christ is telling me now; the only way that righteousness can spring up in this nation is if the church will turn back to righteousness. And she will weep and sow righteousness into the land. Oh you daughters of America, don't just mechanically pray. Don't just pray because I asked you to pray. Tear your heart! Tear you inner heart! And turn back to God with weeping, with fasting, with repentance. Turn back to God! (Spirit of grace and spirit of supplication, come and abide in us!)

[Forty-five minutes or so of weeping and intercession is offered. Then Sadhu Sundar Selvaraj returned to offer these additional words]: The angel over the United States of America is still standing here. And he showed me that all your intercession (just offered) is just a drop in the bucket that he has in his hand. And the word of the Lord that has just come to me is this, "If My people who are called by My name will humble themselves, seek My face and pray, and turn back from their wicked ways, I will hear their prayers, I will forgive their sins and I will heal their land." Lift up your hands to God, America.

The Two Veils

Milt Rodriguez

Aug 21, 2004

"And Jesus uttered a loud cry, and breathed His last. And the veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom." Mark 15:37, 38

"Having therefore such a hope, we use great boldness in our speech, and are not as Moses, who used to put a veil over his face that the sons of Israel might not look intently at the end of what was fading away." II Corinthians 3:12, 13

These two veils represent for us the two main aspects of God's eternal purpose. The veil in the temple and the veil on the face of Moses only exist in the Old Covenant. In the New Covenant, they are removed. However, the sad fact remains that most Christians today are still living by the Old Covenant, and therefore, for them, the veils remain intact.

In order to see this, we must first understand the difference between the Old Covenant and the New Covenant. Then, we must see in what ways we are still living by the Old Covenant. And then finally, we need to see the way out of the old system and into freedom of the new and living way. (Heb. 10:20)

The Way of the Old Covenant

Even though everything we read in the Old Testament really happened and is recorded there for our benefit, we need to realize that it is all shadow, symbols, and types of what was to come. What the Old Covenant brings to us in shadow and type, the New brings to us in reality and fulfillment. The main relevance of the Old Covenant to us is that we can learn about the reality by looking at the shadow. There are many riches stored for us in those shadows.

The first thing we need to realize is that the Old Covenant was externally based. Everything happened on the outside of the believer. An external law was given to be obeyed externally. The ceremonial washing of hands is a good example of this. Jesus told the Pharisees that they washed their hands on the outside, but on the inside they were filled with all sorts of uncleanness. The Jews took the law and tried to obey it to the letter. Basically we are looking at a "book religion" here. Read the book, and then do what it says. Holiness and transformation are based upon how well you obey the rules. The problem was that no one could obey all of them. No one could be good, no not one.

The second main aspect of the Old Covenant is that there was no direct access to God. In a sense God was in a box! The Box was called the Ark of the Covenant. No one had access to the box except the high priest once per year when he would enter the holy of holies and perform sacrifices for the sins of the people. There was a veil separating the holy place from the holy of holies that contained the presence of God Himself. No one could pass through that veil except the high priest and he had to perform all kinds of rituals to prepare for that. Direct access by the people was restrictive and external.

Another aspect of the Old Covenant is that it was only temporary. Of course, this makes sense since it was the forerunner to the New Covenant fulfillment. This brings us to the second veil which is found on the face of Moses.

Moses would go up the mountain to meet with God. Being in God's presence would somehow affect the face of Moses so that it would actually shine or glow. Paul called this "glow" glory, which in the original language means: brilliance, splendor, magnificence, excellence, and beauty. The "glory" of God shone (or was expressed) on the face of Moses whenever he would meet with God. However, this glory would fade from his face after a period of time. The glory was temporary because it was external. So we can see from this that the expression of God would only come through meeting with God. But in the Old Covenant, both the meeting (or fellowship) with God and the expression of God were only temporary because or their external nature.

The New and Living Way

In the New Covenant we have the substance and fulfillment of all things that were shadowed in the Old.

Now, everything becomes internal. God comes to actually live inside of the believer. This is accomplished by something the scriptures call "spirit." God is Spirit and he puts a spirit into each one of us. Now when we receive the Lord Jesus Christ, He actually and literally comes to live in our spirits by means of His Spirit. The law is no longer an external set of rules that are written on stone tablets, they have all been fulfilled by a Person who has now come to indwell the believer. Now, it is the life of the Person inside the believer that fulfills every law, not the believer himself (Galatians 2:20).

Access to God has now become complete and intimate. The veil blocking the entrance to the holy of holies has been torn. But now, much more has taken place in our access to God than we could have ever imagined. Through Christ, our access to God is infinitely greater than under the Old Covenant. Not only can we be in His direct presence, now we can actually go inside of Him! Paul doesn't' speak of being in God's presence, he only talks about being "in Christ." The believer is now actually inside of his Lord! This is so much better than being in His presence. This is as intimate as you can get! When you are in the presence of someone you can only get to know them to a certain degree. The only way to completely know that person is to go inside of them to know their thoughts and feelings. That's intimacy! That's the New Covenant!

The expression of God' glory is now permanent because that glory resides internally. Fellowship with God happens in the spirit of the believer and the resulting outward expression is permanent. Paul said it this way: "Christ in you, the hope of glory!" We have no use for a veil because we know that glory will not fade.

Moving from One Covenant to Another

Like I said at the beginning of this article, most Christians today are still living as if in the Old Covenant. We are in the New Covenant, but we live out our lives as if we are under the Old. Please let me explain.

We practice our Christian faith, for the most part, in an external way. We feel that by using external means something will happen internally. Think about all of the things you are told to do to be a "good" Christian. Read the bible, pray, go to church, give, worship, witness, etc. Those things are essentially all external and are not to be the means or engine that drives your life. We are still a "book religion." We read the bible and then do what it ways. We hear the Pastor preach a sermon on Sunday and then we do what he says.

We get to know God by getting to know the bible better. We still view God as being outside of us up in heaven somewhere. We have no Christ-in-you consciousness. We believe that Christ lives in us but we don't live like it. In summary, we don't live the Christian life like Jesus did. He lived His life by an indwelling Father. We live our lives by "religious" activities. We go to church meetings hoping to "feel" the presence of the Lord. We are waiting for Him to arrive, but He is already inside of us! We are still living behind the veils!

Paul said that when someone turns to the Lord the veil is removed (II Cor. 3:16). Brothers and sisters, we need to learn how to turn to the Lord who lives in our spirits.

Though The Vision Tarries
Musa Opiyo

Nov 23, 2004

Habakkuk 2:3
[3]For the vision is yet for an appointed time and it hastens to the end [fulfillment]; it will not deceive or disappoint. Though it tarry, wait [earnestly] for it, because it will surely come; it will not be behindhand on its appointed day. AMP

This is a simple yet an impacting word God has for his people. God has birthed some visions and dreams within you. He is so intent on bringing them to pass that the Message Bible puts the same verse this way:

[3]This vision-message is a witness pointing to what's coming.
It aches for the coming--it can hardly wait!
And it doesn't lie.
If it seems slow in coming, wait.
It's on its way. It will come right on time.

Yet with every dream the Lord puts wishing your heart, the enemy is at work trying to destroy this dream through doubt. He will present your present circumstances before you and will tell you that they do not line up with the vision. Do not give in to discouragement. In fact if anything, when the Lord places a dream or vision within your heart, he will allow your circumstances and surroundings to be the exact opposite of what he has already spoken into your heart.

God is not looking for the right atmosphere and circumstances for this vision to come to pass, He is looking for your faith in his promise to fulfill it. This is his moment to show HIMSELF faithful so that HE will get the Glory for bringing it to pass and not ourselves.

Once the Lord has given you that vision, wait for his leading. Do not be presumptuous and go ahead of what he is doing. What would you rather have: an Ishmael or an Isaac? Gods timing is perfect. He is an on time God. He is the Alpha and the Omega, who has seen our beginning from the end and so knows the perfect timing to bring to pass what he has prophesied to you.

Gods word is sure. What he has spoken will not only come to pass, it has to come to pass. God is not a man that he should lie nor the son of man that he should repent. So many times we want the fulfillment of our dreams to happen instantly. But do we ever look to see the fruit of what he nurtures in us as we wait? God is more interested in forming his character in us than anything else. Be still and know that he is God and be open to what he wants to teach or show you during your 'gestation' period.

PROPHETIC WORD
I am faithful to fulfil every promise I have made to you says the Lord. Your timing may not be my timing, but My word is sure and what I have spoken into your life shall come to pass. I am looking for a people that will walk in My holiness. I am looking for those that are willing to 'tarry' while I fulfil My Word in their lives. Your appointed time is coming. Stay faithful and remain waiting, for that Word shall not come back until it has fulfilled all that I have sent it to do says the Lord.

Blessings,
Musa Opiyo

Those That Wait Upon The Lord

Musa Opiyo

musao@ezrs.com

April 24, 2004
My heart yearns for a people who will wait upon Me and lean on the Almighty for their strength.

Isaiah 40:31 But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not grow weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.

Yes you are that People. You are My people whom I have trained their hands for war and their fingers for battle. You are those that shall take the battle to the enemy and take the victory because I have given him into your hands. You are those who shall and have already stood strong in the midst of adversity. You are those who shall carry My name to the ends of the earth. Yet all this cannot be accomplished unless you first enter into the secret place to meet with Me in My presence. As you enter the holy of holies My Spirit strengthens you for the journey that is ahead. My Joy overtakes you and you are filled with renewed hope of your calling in Me. In My presence I expose all that is not of Me that you may know the difference between the truth and the false. It is in this place of seclusion that I imprint My DNA on your heart that you too would burn with a compassion for the lost.

Rest in Me and be strengthened. As you allow Me, I will lead you by the way that I desire you to go. Stay hidden in My covering and go forth and possess your promised land.

Web: http://www.angelfire.com/un/mannaword

Time Of Release

Musa Opiyo

April 21, 2004

There have been many of you who have been through a time of severe testing, where the Lord has stripped you of every support, comfort and refuge that you hold dear. But now the Lord says that your time of release is here. For I have desired a people after My own heart, whom I have made perfect through My sufferings. Yet many have not trusted Me with their all. Some have held back a part of their lives for fear that I would not do things according to their own wisdom and perceptions. I have been working in the hearts of My Children to separate them from all that would hinder them moving foward by My Spirit into their intended God given destinies. During this season of separation and training, I have taught them that all that they are going through and experiencing is not about them, but it is about Me working My eternal purposes and character in them. It is in the pit and the miry clay that I have humbled them and that they have found others just like them who are struggling in the same area. They have come into unity with those of like hearts through a mutual identification of their trials. In this valley you have sought for My voice, which many times came rarely. This I did in order for you to know that I AM the I AM whether you feel Me close or not. You see, My relationship with you is not based on an outward feeling, but a love incomprehendable, only visible and tangible through the sacrifice of My Son.

Yet now I speak release to your borders. You shall go out with My power and wisdom upon you because you know My voice and have heeded My call. You have not given up nor have you allowed the wind and the waves to subdue you. Only so for you are My sons and daughters of victory. Victory lies in your tongue as you speak forth My Word in faith. Victory is assured for I have gone before you and prepared the way. I overcame the struggle of all struggles. Walk boldly in My authority and with My name. Speak healing to the wounds and arid areas of the past for it is time to move in sync with what I am doing by My Spirit in these days, says the Lord.

Blessings in Christ,
Musa Opiyo

Email: Tblcann@aol.com
Web: http://www.angelfire.com/un/mannaword

The Undercurrent Move of God

Ron McGatlin

Just as there are rivers of current in the natural oceans there are undercurrents of spiritual movement in the vast ocean of churches and ministries. The surface of the ocean is the highly visible part of the churches and ministries. The surface rarely experiences times of placid waters and is most often covered with gentle waves of activities as the breeze interacts with the surface.

Occasionally the surface is greatly excited as strong winds create much dynamic activity. But even during the strongest winds there is an unbelievable calm below the surface. In the depths it is as if there was no turbulence. The turbulent scene of the visible surface is unheard in the depths.

Beneath the surface of praise and worship music in gatherings - below the dynamic ministry activities there is an awesome place of peace in God. In that place of peace the mighty works of God are effortless to us. It seems we are not in the reality of the things happening in the natural realm. We have truly come apart into a realm of peace beyond all understanding, as we observe ourselves move and speak effortlessly in the power and control of another. Miracles seem very natural to those who enter into the depth of the supernatural.

In this placid depth, movement does not readily appear to exist. But in reality there are powerful streams of current that are steadily moving without the noise and turbulence of the surface. In the natural world the climate and all areas of life that are affected by climate are changed by the movement of ocean currents.

So it is also in the spiritual. The unseen deep currents of God are flowing and bringing great change that is affecting the land and will bring significant change to all life. The world will not continue as it has been but must be reformed by the massive deep currents of God moving upon the earth.

Much of the surface may seem to some to be foolish or unnecessary frivolous activity as the Spirit wind blows upon the youth of the land. What may seem like silly manifestations are only the surface of the deep currents of God moving the world from a place of men's rule to the reality of the kingdom of God on earth.

The deep currents of God are moving us from religion based on the tree of knowledge to the tree of supernatural life by the Spirit - holy life in union with others and communion with God.

The world is being redeemed and through much tribulation we must enter the kingdom of God. The deeper currents are not always flowing through big name ministers. Often they are flowing deeper under the surface through relatively unknown men, women and young people who have given their all to carry the deeper current of the love of God to the nations of the world.

They go into the poor places of the world often to thrown away people - they pray weeping for sick children - they give and do all they can pouring out the love God has poured into them. In their passion God works miracles to feed the hungry - heal the sick and bring encouragement to the downtrodden.

Wherever these no name undercurrent people go the love of God brings healing into the hearts of people and the poor become rich with peace and joy. The hopeless become filled with the purpose of God and become powerful witnesses of the miracle working love and power of God that raises the dead.

These humble ministers don't need a title nor position. They are just ordinary folk who through much tribulation and brokenness have entered into the deep currents of God. Consumed by His love they become fountains of the liquid fire of God's love pouring out to the nations.

Look for the love - pursue love - it never fails.
Lots of love, Ron McGatlin

Relational Engagement
Ron McGatlin

The church of the new kingdom emphasis age is a spiritual living network. A living organism of cells fitted and connected together by relationship. The natural flow of supernatural sustenance flowing through connecting joints strengthens, encourages, and orders the entire church as one Body. (1 Pet 2:5)

Eph 4:16: From whom the whole body, joined and knit together by what every joint supplies, according to the effective working by which every part does its share, causes growth of the body for the edifying of itself in love.

Love is the supernatural substance of God that flows strength and living waters of encouragement through the supernatural network of relational engagements. Love is both the motivating and the restraining force of the Spirit of God. Because of love as directed by the Holy Spirit we reach out and engage others and spiritual connections are formed. The same love of God restrains us and we do no harm to others. Love causes us to despise evil and turn from it. Thus the kingdom of God is generated, sustained, structured, ordered and continues to increase by the love of God. Gal 5:14, Col 2:2, Eph 5:23, Col 1:18

The love flowing from the cross of Jesus is bringing forth the worldwide kingdom of God. The resurrected life of the King of kings and the Lord of lords flowing through the Holy Spirit is implanting the character and nature of Christ in His people. Truly we abide in Christ as we connect to the Spirit of Christ in one another through "throne room connections".

All nerves in a natural body lead to and connect in the head. In the true Body of Christ all connections come together in the throne room of Christ the Head of the Body. Remaining in His manifest presence supernaturally activates the connection of hearing from the Head and speaking to Him.

The networking of the Spirit brings unity as each part does according to the instruction from the throne room and all work together in unity as they go about carrying out the desires of the Father. Thus the King of all receives His rightful place as King of kings and Lord of lords and delivers the kingdom to Father God1 Cor 15:24.

The Nicolaitan type hierarchy of the institutional church was and is an attempt by men to flow supernatural networking of God through human organizational structure to lead the church. Organization and church authority are primary in this structure and relationships are secondary. The relationships that do exist are usually based on titles and positions designated by the hierarchy. This law based structure has value for corralling immature Christians who are more focused on natural life than spiritual living. However, it is near impossible for those under such a structure to ever grow up into mature spiritual beings and the system of clergy and laity is perpetuated. Rev 2:15

Mark 10:42 - 43: But Jesus called them to Himself and said to them, "You know that those who are considered rulers over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. Yet it shall not be so among you.

In the maturing kingdom emphasis age church, the priesthood of the believer is becoming a reality and not just a doctrine 1 Pet 2:9. The improper distinction between clergy and laity is dissolving as believers are maturing to fulfill their calling and gifting is small and large groups of the Body.

Spiritual networking is relational not organizational. The hierarchy of human rule and church authority is replaced by the true headship of Christ and true Spirit authority. A generation of kings and priests are being formed on the earth through the empowerment and leadership of the Holy Spirit. A generation networked by love and destined to rule and reign on earth with Him.

The Joel's Army type of people will demonstrate the real power of love as they walk in unity of purpose and action led by the Holy Spirit - restrained and empowered by love. All great works begin by abiding in Him, in His manifest presence and receiving the endued power of love from the highest order - the creator of all - God of whom it is said, "God is love".

Pursue love - it never fails.

Lots of love,
Ron McGatlin

Like Grass In A Field

Ron McGatlin

In January of 1986, I had left the ministry where I had been serving and had no other occupation at the time. My day's were spent in a nice quiet travel trailer beside the house praying and studying the Word. I had begun again to read the book of Matthew.

This time one word seemed to be on almost every page—and again and again came from the lips of Jesus as He seemed to preface many of His teaching with this word. I knew I'd read it hundreds of times, but it had never really "been there" before. It had always just seemed to flow "under" or "behind" what was being said without adding meaning to the passage.

Because this word had suddenly "appeared," and because I knew little or nothing about it, I became curious. So I prayed a simple prayer. The answer to that prayer changed my entire life forever. Suddenly in a moment of time, it seemed everything I had ever known was shaken and began to take on a whole new light, a new meaning. Mysteries began to clear up about things I'd wondered about for years. Pieces began to fit together that I could never get to fit before. A deep satisfaction began to come into my heart as things began to become real and make practical sense for the present instead of religious ideas and doctrinal systems from the past or for the future.

I had simply prayed, "God, what does this word "kingdom" mean? What is the kingdom of God—kingdom of Heaven—Why did Jesus talk about it so much? That simple phrase, "kingdom of God", that did not even appear to be there before, has become the focal point of my life as it was with Jesus.

In the days that followed this prayer, the heavens were opened to me. God was closer to me than ever before. Every question that I asked was instantly answered with staggering impact and clarity. I was amazed again and again and often overwhelmed, my mind reeling as God poured simple profound revelation of His kingdom into my heart. I became very careful about the questions I asked.

One of my reactions to all of this was that of thinking that people would surely come against me because many of the things God was revealing to me were different from the way my church had taught them. I had never before heard a word of the kingdom message like God was giving it to me. I was afraid I would be the only person with this radical message.

Then God told me He was giving this message to certain men around the world and that it would eventually just seem to come up from everywhere like the grass in a field. In the years that followed, He allowed me to receive tapes from men in various parts of the world who had received the same message.

Soon many churches began preaching the gospel of the kingdom that Jesus preached. And now the reality of intimate communion with God is producing multitudes of pure hearted holy men and women in love with God, who like the grass in a field are springing forth the kingdom of God.

For decades the rain of the Holy Spirit has poured out on the land and the brightness of His revelation has arisen and the kingdom is springing up everywhere that the rain has fallen and His brightness is shining forth as the sun.

The green grass of mountain meadows and fertile valleys sprouts forth from seed and root. God supplies all that is needed for the grass to sprout and grow. Just as this process is very natural, the kingdom of God is coming forth in a supernatural natural way. The love of God in His manifest presence and the awe of His glory is changing the world. Not just the church but the marketplace, the home, education and governing institutions will be impacted by the new breed of holy men and women living the kingdom of God lifestyle.

It is not possible to truly experience the pure love in His manifest presence and continue to live for anything else. To reject the passionate love of our jealous God will always lead one away from abundant life. Death (separation from God) will begin to work in one's heart and life who has disdained the love of God.

The kingdom lifestyle of love is coming up like the grass in a field.

Ron McGatlin

If you would like more revelation of the gospel of the kingdom, read "Overcoming Life On A Small Planet" To order,
Go Here: http://www.baspub.com/books/

The Ultimate Treasure

Paul Ekemezie

Nosike_ekemezie@yahoo.com

All over the world people are pursuing treasures. The treasures are in various forms: money, gold and other mineral resources, academic and other laurels. But there is a treasure that is greater than all, and which contains all the other treasures. This treasure has been mostly hidden to mankind. Even though these days a good number of people talk about this treasure, not many people can say precisely how to acquire this treasure. What is this treasure that I may call the ultimate treasure?

Matt 13:44-46—"The kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field. When a man found it, he hid it again, and then in his joy went and sold all he had and bought that field.
45"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant looking for fine pearls. 46When he found one of great value, he went away and sold everything he had and bought it."

The ultimate treasure is the Kingdom of Heaven, that is, "on earth as in heaven". What does this really mean?

2 Peter 1:3-4—His divine power has given us everything we need for life and godliness through our knowledge of him who called us by his own glory and goodness. 4Through these he has given us his very great and precious promises, so that through them you may participate in the divine nature and escape the corruption in the world caused by evil desires.

The kingdom of heaven is a situation whereby God is able to give us everything we need through His divine power. God imparts into us His divine nature that makes all this possible.

Phil 4:19—And my God will meet all your needs according to his glorious riches in Christ Jesus.

People quote and claim Scriptures like this daily. But do they really obtain what they claim?

2 Cor 1:18-20—But as surely as God is faithful, our message to you is not "Yes" and "No." 19For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by me and Silas and Timothy, was not "Yes" and "No," but in him it has always been "Yes." 20For no matter how many promises God has made, they are "Yes" in Christ. And so through him the "Amen" is spoken by us to the glory of God.

All the promises God has made is "Yes" in Christ. How many promises of God can you enjoy their fulfillment whenever the need arises? Must you have to go through a special spiritual program, like fasting, before you can get God to fulfill one of His promises to you? The answer to these questions should tell you how much of Christ that is in you. If Christ is really in you, every promise of God should be "Yes", whenever you want it, and without any lead time.

John 11:41-42—Then Jesus looked up and said, "Father, I thank you that you have heard me. 42I knew that you always hear me, but I said this for the benefit of the people standing here, that they may believe that you sent me."

John 16:23-24—In that day you will no longer ask me anything. I tell you the truth, my Father will give you whatever you ask in my name. 24Until now you have not asked for anything in my name. Ask and you will receive, and your joy will be complete.

John 14:12-14—I tell you the truth, anyone who has faith in me will do what I have been doing. He will do even greater things than these, because I am going to the Father. 13And I will do whatever you ask in my name, so that the Son may bring glory to the Father. 14You may ask me for anything in my name, and I will do it.

If Christ is in you, ask God for anything and He will do it. As God always heard Jesus, so He will hear you. That is how we know who is in the kingdom of God here on earth and who is not, that is, who has Christ and who doesn't have.

Matt 7:16—By their fruit you will recognize them.

1 Cor 4:19-20—But I will come to you very soon, if the Lord is willing, and then I will find out not only how these arrogant people are talking, but what power they have. 20For the kingdom of God is not a matter of talk but of power.

Rom 14:17—For the kingdom of God is not a matter of eating and drinking, but of righteousness, peace and joy in the Holy Spirit.

Ps 16:11(KJV)—Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore.

If you meet someone in whom Christ has been formed, you will recognize him/her by his/her fruit. The fruit is not merely a quiet disposition or style of dressing. 1 Cor 4:19 says that some people are arrogant. They always boast that they are full of the Holy Spirit. But where is the fruit? (You know that, like in the case of Virgin Mary, Christ can only be formed in a man or woman through the fullness of the Spirit.) Rom 14:17 says that there must be evidence of righteousness, peace and joy, when a person is filled with the Holy Spirit. 1 Cor 4:20 goes on to say that there must be evidence of the power of God. Where Christ is, there must be fullness of joy.

The ultimate treasure then is having Christ formed in a man or woman. Any person who has Christ this way will become like another Jesus walking our streets.

How can a man or woman get Christ to be formed in him or her? Christ can only be formed in (spiritual) virgins. That is why it is written about the 144,000:

Rev 14:4-5—These are those who did not defile themselves with women, for they kept themselves pure. They follow the Lamb wherever he goes. They were purchased from among men and offered as firstfruits to God and the Lamb. 5No lie was found in their mouths; they are blameless.

Anyone who desires to have Christ formed in him/her must travel the road of purification until he/she reaches the city of purity or perfection where God dwells. God will then put Christ in him/her.

Heb 12:14—Make every effort to live in peace with all men and to be holy; without holiness no one will see the Lord.

How does one go about this purification journey?

Eph 1:13-14—And you also were included in Christ when you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation. Having believed, you were marked in him with a seal, the promised Holy Spirit, 14who is a deposit guaranteeing our inheritance until the redemption of those who are God's possession-to the praise of his glory.

2 Cor 1:21-22—Now it is God who makes both us and you stand firm in Christ. He anointed us, 22set his seal of ownership on us, and put his Spirit in our hearts as a deposit, guaranteeing what is to come.

Rom 4:9-12—We have been saying that Abraham's faith was credited to him as righteousness. 10Under what circumstances was it credited? Was it after he was circumcised, or before? It was not after, but before! 11And he received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness that he had by faith while he was still uncircumcised. So then, he is the father of all who believe but have not been circumcised, in order that righteousness might be credited to them. 12And he is also the father of the circumcised who not only are circumcised but who also walk in the footsteps of the faith that our father Abraham had before he was circumcised.

Eph 1:13 and 2 Cor 1:22 say that when a person believes the gospel, God marks the person with the Holy Spirit as a seal of ownership. The person is now born into the family of God—born again. But the level of the Holy Spirit possessed by this Christian is just at seal level. It isn’t even up to mustard seed level (Matt 17:20). Both Eph 1:14 and 2 Cor 1:22 indicate that the seal is only a representation or a guarantee of what is yet to come. What is it that is yet to come? It is the fullness of the Spirit, that makes possible the formation of Christ.

In the case of Abraham, righteousness was credited to him when he merely believed God, but circumcision necessarily followed later. If he did not go on to circumcision, do you think he would have experienced much blessedness? In the same way, after receiving God’s seal of ownership, we must go on to the circumcision of the heart in order to obtain what God has guaranteed to come. If the circumcision happens in this material world, the Christian obtains the treasure in the now; otherwise he/she gets it in the spirit world.

Most born again Christians receive the fullness of the Spirit in the spirit world (that is, in paradise) when they have died. But God is looking for first fruits, those who will be filled with the Spirit in the now. That is what the end time revival is all about. From now onwards people will be increasingly filled with the Spirit and signs and wonders will become very rampant. Greatest among these will be the 144,000 (Rev. 7:3-4). The 144,000 must arise before the great tribulation can commence. And the time has come.

An important requirement for the purification journey is the born again experience followed by water baptism. One must belong in the family of God first. The seal of ownership of God must be in place. It is after this that you begin to talk about what is to come (2 Cor 1:22). It is only those who have received the seal of God that are given the right to become sons of God (John 1:12), because anyone who is filled with the Spirit is a son of God (Rom 8:14).

After the born again experience, what next? The person now has righteousness credited to him/her, due to faith in the word of God. The same thing happened to Abraham. But Abraham went on to perform circumcision, at the command of God. In the same manner, the born again Christian must be circumcised by the Spirit (Rom 2:29). Just like a man cannot be circumcised in the flesh if he doesn’t present himself for that, in the same way the Holy Spirit cannot circumcise the heart of a Christian who doesn’t present himself/herself for that purpose. So, how do we present ourselves?

Matt 5:3-8
3"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
4 Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted.
5 Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the earth.
6 Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they will be filled.
7 Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy.
8 Blessed are the pure in heart, for they will see God.

The beatitudes describe how a Christian may present himself/herself for circumcision of the heart by the Spirit. It is a procedure. It begins with a realization that one is poor in spirit; one doesn’t have enough measure of the Spirit to manifest as a son of God. This should lead the Christian to a state of mourning. Mourning is connected with fasting, just as feasting is connected with eating and drinking (Matt. 9:15). Fasting helps in purifying the soul so that it can interact with God.

Meekness means accepting every situation one finds himself/herself as being ordered by God. For example, for a long time I was terrorized by witchcraft poison administered to me by a close relative. I was full of bitterness towards this person. But when I began to seek the fullness of God in me, it suddenly dawned on me that God allowed the infirmity to befall me as a recompense for my deviations from the will of God. It became easy for me to forgive. If Satan had found nothing in me, how could he have afflicted me (John 14:30)? It was entirely my fault. The promise of God is that even though I drink deadly poison it would not hurt me (Mark 16:18). That promise would have saved me all the pains if only I had sought for Christ to be formed in me, instead of pursuing worldly things. It surely was my fault. I did not bother to put on Christ who is my shield.

When one fasts, what does one pray about? Family? Business? Employment? Money? Healing? None of these! The person must sell everything in order to buy the kingdom of heaven (Matt 13:44-46). The person must seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness (Matt 6:33). That is what it means to hunger and thirst for righteousness. Ask God to circumcise your heart through the Spirit. Ask God to impart purity of heart into your life. Ask Him to impart to you His love, His divine nature, His divine essence. Ask God to impart to you His faith, His goodness, His wisdom, etc.

As you continually fast and say the right prayers, you will begin to approach the level of purity of heart necessary for fullness of God. Very soon nothing will be impossible to you. The pure in heart will definitely see God as He is. Anyone who beholds the fullness of God will be transformed from glory to glory (2 Cor 3:18).

The rich young ruler missed the kingdom of God because he could not sell everything he had and seek first the kingdom and righteousness of God.

Gehazi could not receive the mantle from Elisha because worldly goods meant more to him than the anointing of God’s Spirit.

God prevented Isaac from handing the relay baton to Esau because Esau could not rather fast than sell his birthright. The fullness of the Spirit is a right to every born again Christian. How many of us are ready to sell everything in order to obtain it in the now?

Thomas Gibson’s (www.prophetic-word.org) prophetic words are true:

But look to yourselves, not by your own fleshly eye, but by the spiritual eye. To do this: spend time in My Word, and spend time in prayer, and spend time allowing Me to take My Spirit and show you what needs to be changed. As you spend this time with Me in prayer, in fasting, and in time, in spiritual time, in strong spiritual time alone with Me, says the Lord; as you do these things, you will see that I will show you what needs to be done to grow closer to Me. And as you grow closer to Me, you'll grow stronger in Me. As you grow stronger, you'll see more things that need to be changed. And as you change more things, you'll grow much closer to Me. And on it goes, till I bring you into an era of spiritual revelation you did not even know could exist on this planet. Yet I shall do it. And many shall walk in it.

For thus saith the Lord, hear the power of God in your life. Those who thirst for righteousness, who hunger for the things of God: they shall receive the power of the Lord.

Those who spend their time in the things of the world, receive the things of the world, the blessings of the world. And when the world's blessings come to an end, their blessings come to an end.

Make no mistake! I do not reward those of My people who spend no time with Me, or very little time. Those who spend time with Me in prayer, and in fasting, and in studying the Word, they are the ones that will stand up and receive great miracles and great glory in the last days. And these are the last days.

Paul Ekemezie
nosike_ekemezie@yahoo.com
New Life Bible Church, 112 Ogurugu Road, Nsukka, Enugu State, Nigeria.

The Vandenberg Dream

Ronnie McMullen

September 20th, 2001

Prelude: As a child I grew up in Orcutt, California, which is about 20 miles north of Vandenberg Air Force Base. My father was not in the military. At thirteen years old, I had a paper route in what is called, Old Town Orcutt. Old Town Orcutt has a very small population. The street I lived on in Orcutt had a housing tract on one side, and a field owned by Unocal on the other side. I left this home when I was fifteen years of age.

The night before the dream:

We had broken down in Gallup, New Mexico during a ministry tour of the western states. My demeanor was tired, frustrated, and wondering why this was happening to me. My daughter came to me and told me that God had told her that I would have a dream on that night. She was thirteen years old and had never done anything like this before in her life. This caught my attention.

The Dream:

In the dream I'm at my old house in Orcutt. In the dream I'm not a child anymore, I'm at present age. I'm walking down the hill from my house to Old Orcutt. The timing in the dream seems to be evening time, and there's a quiet in the air. As I'm walking towards Old Orcutt, to my left I see a bomb go off in catasrophic proportions. It looked like a mushroom cloud. I was in shock. My first initial thought was: why would they bomb Lompoc, Ca.??? As soon as that thought entered my mind, I realized that they were not bombing Lompoc, but they were bombing Vandenberg AFB. For some reason I still continued to Old Orcutt. The dream closes and reopens. and I'm standing in the middle of a street in Old Orcutt. I'm facing the cloud and there's debris in the air. People are running out of their houses, screaming in total chaos. NO ONE IS CALM!!! The dream closes, and reopens and I'm heading back up the hill to my house in Orcutt. Fear is trying to take me over and I'm worried about my current family (wife and kids). As I, (what seems like running), pass my house, I come to the stop sign and stop on our street. My wife and kids meet me there. I remember the next thing that came out of my mouth was telling my wife: "we have to go! , it's in the air!". She replies back to me: "What?" I reply back, "I'm telling you, it's IN THE AIR!!!, WE HAVE TO GO!!!" The dream ends.

Response to this dream:

In January of 2003, the Lord spoke to me in prayer, " Go warn my people for this will come to pass!" This dream lay dormant for almost a year and a half, (with many confirmations during that time). I packed up a ministry team and on April 17th, 2003 we spent seven days warning Lompoc, and Vandenberg of the coming destruction. The religious leaders of that city regarded this dream as toxic, demonic, and absolutely not of God. I was persecuted by the Christian town leaders as being a false prophet. On April 22nd, 2003, I went on local Christian radio and invited everybody to come and listen to the message I had been given. That night, many people showed up from different cities and the Word was given. After the Word was given the Lord told me to ask the people in the meeting if anyone had had a dream or vision of the same caliber. Ten to fifteen hands went up and one by one began sharing their dreams and visions of the same upcoming destruction.

Later I would come to find out other prophets had come into the same area and had similar warnings. None to this description. On April 23rd, 2003 Jeff Rense issued an article by: Han Ho Suk, Director Center for Korean Affairs, entitled: North Korea Military Tactics In A War With U.S. This article explains North Korea's willingness to attack the West Coast of the United States. This article was issued on the seventh day of our meetings. Coincidence. . . I think not! I sat in meetings with employees of Vandenberg AFB that confirm something is coming and this is no news to them. The whole idea of the meeting was to pray and bring people of that area to repentance. This did not take place.

This dream keeps being confirmed time and again and the Word is now resurfacing. IF WE DO NOT REPENT THIS NATION IS IN IMMINENT DANGER!! I pray God's will upon Vandenberg AFB.

Ronnie McMullen

www.thepropheticwatch.com

e-mail: prowatch@gpcom.net

The Veil in Herod's Temple

Clo DiPilato

http://www.heraldofhiskingdom.com

The veil in Herod's temple was rent from top to bottom when Jesus Christ "gave up the ghost". Herod's temple was a place where there was a "form of godliness" without the true presence and power of God.

What is the significance of the veil in Herod's temple being rent from top to bottom?

Though the splitting of the veil in that temple symbolized the fact that now the shed blood of Jesus Christ is the way to the Father rather than religious ceremony and sacrifice, we must also consider that Herod's temple was NOT a God-ordained temple! Every other temple or tabernacle has a Biblical history. Every other locale of God's presence has a recording of God's shekinah glory! There is history that records Herod as a wicked and cruel man fully aware of how he was despised by the Jews, and he sought to build a temple in place of Zerubbabel's temple in order to insure himself a place in history, and so he would not be forgotten. "For there shall be no reward to the evil man, the candle of the wicked shall be put out." Proverbs 24:20 This temple was solely built to preserve Herod's own name through the pages of history.

In the tabernacle in the wilderness, God came right down to fellowship with man. In Exodus 25:22, speaking of the ark, God said, "there will I meet with thee, and I will commune with thee..."

1 Chronicles 15, 16. The study of David's tabernacle is absolutely replete with understanding there is a cyclical event of glory to sacrifice to glory. Through this Bible story, we see the "veils of flesh" must be split before God's true glory in the true joyful praises of Zion will be manifested, but it is the revealed glory of God that gives us the power to split those veils of flesh in the first place!

Many believe we are in the time of the restoration of the tabernacle of David. Their emphasis is upon the celebratory nature of the reign of King David. But intermixed with the anointing and spirit of joy and gladness and celebration is the sacrifice of burnt offerings, which symbolizes the complete surrender of flesh. When I began to look into the subject of David's tabernacle, I realized the amount of information confirming that veils of flesh must be split in order for God's glory to come forth was so overwhelming, to include it here would make this too lengthy.

In Solomon's temple, the Bible tells us that the glory of God was so manifested, "that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud; for the glory of the Lord has filled the house of the Lord. 1 Kings 8:11

In Zerubbabel's temple, the Lord began to manifest Himself right from the very laying of the foundation. Read Ezra 3: 10-13.

> 10 And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, they set the priests in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites the sons of Asaph with cymbals, to praise the LORD, after the ordinance of David king of Israel.
> 11 And they sang together by course in praising and giving thanks unto the LORD; because he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the LORD, because the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid.
> 12 But many of the priests and Levites and chief of the fathers, who were ancient men, that > had seen the first house, when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice; and many shouted aloud for joy:

> 13 So that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy from the noise of the weeping of the people: for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the noise was heard afar off.

The splitting of the veil from "top to bottom" has a two-fold implication to it. It was the arrogant, high-mindedness of man that presumed to set himself in the place of God, as Herod did when he built a temple not ordained of God; and when Jesus went to the Cross, He took back the place that rightfully belonged to Himself. The veils of self-will and self-promotion which originate in the minds of man need to be torn down so we can distinguish where the glory of God is NOT, and so we can look to where the glory of God truly IS!! Man-made agendas, and man-made systems, and man-made programs will be ripped apart so that people will see what is behind them which is absolutely nothing but self-exalting flesh!! There was NO ark of God, or shekinah glory hidden in Herod's temple to be revealed! The total sham of Herod's temple was exposed for all to see!

One might conclude this is erroneous teaching because Zechariah, the father of John the Baptist, had a visitation in this temple by the "altar of incense". See John 1:8-13.

> 8 And it came to pass, that while he executed the priest’s office before God in the order of his course,
> 9 According to the custom of the priest’s office, his lot was to burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord.
> 10 And the whole multitude of the people were praying without at the time of incense.
> 11 And there appeared unto him an angel of the Lord standing on the right side of the altar of incense.
> 12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him.
> 13 But the angel said unto him, Fear not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard; and thy wife Elisabeth shall bear thee a son, and thou shalt call his name John.

But the altar of incense was in the "inner court", and not in the "holy of holies", where the ark had always been housed in the Old Testament tabernacles and temples. Zechariah was a praying, Godly man. This teaches us that even those in man's systems will meet the Lord if they make an "altar of incense", a place of prayer and intercession.

And though Jesus, Himself, called this temple, "A House of Prayer", we must again remember that He was not in the holiest place either. He was in the outer court. Jesus spoke of what that house should have been, but he also stated plainly exactly what it was, a "den of thieves". Jesus ministry in that temple was always in the "outer court".

When God chooses to visit a man-made system, and chooses to call it His house, it's because of His yearnings toward people in turn yearning for Him. When Zechariah was being visited by the Lord in that temple, it was the "Lord's temple" because the "earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof." When Zechariah lingered long in the temple, the people WAITED for him, and marvelled that he was so long in the temple. It was NOT a commonplace thing for the priests to linger in the presence of the Lord in that temple! The visitation Zechariah had there was truly outstanding because God broke through man's system to visit a man who was righteous in the midst of sin and corruption.

My friend, you can meet God in the godless systems of man!! Hungry hearts have been doing it for centuries!! There is no place on the face of the earth, not even some dead, dried up old monument to a false religious system that can ever keep God from meeting with a people who desire Him!! And it doesn't have to be "a people". It can be one solitary man or woman, or boy or girl with a heart for God that can cause Him to be so stirred because He is the God whose eyes are ever running to and fro throughout the earth, searching for that one whose heart is perfect toward Him. After all the Lord's dealings with the churches in the book of Revelation, He comes knocking upon the heart's door of a man, not a church. (Rev. 3:20)

> 20 Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.
> 21 To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne.
> 22 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches

And yet, if you are the one who has a pure desire for the Lord, if you are the one whose heart is panting after Him, even as a "deer panteth after the waterbrooks", (ref Psalm 42), there is no brick and mortar with stained glass or saloon with barstool that will hinder His coming INto you, to sup with you, and to meet with you! As He opens your ears to hear what His Spirit is saying, your locale for meeting Him may surely change. But it will never hinder His initial entry into your life to enter into a relationship of communion with you!

And, my spirit is catching something else that may be a bit "off topic", but I will throw it in. Notice that verse that says "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches"........isn't it so very confirming that it's often that one man or woman who is taken "outside the camp, bearing His reproach" who can actually see and discern the dealings of the Lord to and FOR a church?? They'll be branded as troublemaker, or a rebel simply for being courageous enough to have ears to hear what the Spirit is saying, and eyes anointed with eyesalve to see what the Lord is doing because they have chosen a communion with Him whereby their understanding is opened. Perhaps that is why the Lord goes onto say that this is "overcoming one" is the one who will be granted to sit and reign with him in His throne, in a place of authority.

It's not that you were able to resist an extra piece of cherry pie, and so now you're an overcomer. The thing being "overcome" is the easy route of being "dull of hearing" because it will never cost you anything to stay spiritually retarded. When you open your ear to truth, to what the Spirit is truly saying, it will cost you!

Beloved, there was a priest in Herod's temple named Zecharias who had ears to hear. And it cost him. Herod built that temple NOT for the glory of God, but to perpetuate his own name. When Zechariah was willing to hear, it meant that his own name took a death blow. Custom and tradition would be broken. The new baby arriving on the scene would not be named after his father, but he was given another name thus signifying a new day, and a new order coming upon the scene through a baptism of repentance. The works of God moved from outward form to the inward chambers of the heart because a priest had a breakthrough into the presence of God in a godless temple!!

Beloved, when there is a true visitation from God, there will always be a "residue" left within your spirit that testifies to it. You will never be the same again. It continually bears witness over and again. In that temple, the angel of the Lord announced the arrival of a son to Zecharias and Elizabeth. There is scriptural witness that they were walking in a fullness of promise soon to be revealed because they were filled with the Holy Ghost as the forerunners to not only the promise that a baby was developing within, and filling a barren womb, but it was a testimony to the promise of the Father fulfilled in Acts 2, and continuing to be fulfilled in our time, as the Lord continues to fill people with the glorious baptism in the Holy Ghost! (Jesus can never truly be your "Lord" until you allow Him to be your baptizer in the Holy Ghost. It's only the Spirit of God that truly knows the mind of God, and so you cannot know His mind that would make Him "lord of your life" til you know Him in the fullness of the baptism experience. Read 1 Corinthians Chapter 2:9-16 for confirmation to this.)

> And it came to pass, that, when Elizabeth heard the salutation of Mary, the babe leaped in > her womb; and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy G host. John 1:41

>
> And his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Ghost, and prophecied, saying....John 1:67.

If you are questioning your experience you had with the Lord in some religious system of man, be at peace!! Is there a residue of God's presence and glory and a continuing desire for Him left in your spirit, then you have a "residue" testifying to the fact that you really DID meet the Lord in that place!! The question is this: Are you going to settle on your lees within the comfort of the system where by the awesome grace of God you had your "breakthrough" , or are you going to pay the price to hear the word of the Lord, and be visited by God, and have Him come INto you so that He can develop a hearing ear within your life that would cause you to be led out of those places? The question is not where you started, but how will you finish.

> 1 ¶ <<A Psalm of David.>> The earth is the LORD'S, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.
> 2 For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods.
> 3 ¶ Who shall ascend into the hill of the LORD? or who shall stand in his holy place?
> 4 He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.
> 5 He shall receive the blessing from the LORD, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.
> 6 This is the generation of them that seek him, that seek thy face, O Jacob. Selah.
> 7 ¶ Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.
> 8 Who is this King of glory? The LORD strong and mighty, the LORD mighty in battle.
> 9 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.
> 10 Who is this King of glory? The LORD of hosts, he is the King of glory. Selah.

Always in the Love of Jesus,

Clo DiPilato http://www.heraldofhiskingdom.com

Three Veils of God

Ron McGatlin

Growing up as a heathen young man, a great inner conflict developed within my heart. Someway, by nature or call or whatever, I endured a sense of desire to be loyal, a desire for righteousness, and a strong conscience all of which I greatly violated. So strong was the inner confusion that a wish to die was often with me. Looking back I now know that it was a consuming desire for an intimate connection with the love of God that brought confusion to all my evil ways and selfish desires.

Great joy and sense of release flooded my soul when at 21 years of age, I first heard the message of the love of Father God who sent His Son, Jesus, to make a connection to the love of God for me. When Christ Jesus died to pay the penalty for sin the "temple veil" was torn into and the possibility of entering into holy intimacy was opened for all mankind.

The first of the three veils of God is the "temple Veil". Although the temple veil was torn asunder and the potential way was opened most of mankind including much of the church has not yet seen the fullness of the potential of really becoming one in intimacy with Holy God.

We each may face decisions between truth and loyalty. Both are virtues but only truth in love can set us free to see and enter the reality of oneness with God. For years I remained loyal to the teachings of partial truth that I had received. I was taught that the veil was rent and through being born again I had now received all that there was for me until I could pass from this life into heaven. Only in heaven someday would I experience the reality of intimacy with Holy God.

The truth was veiled to me that there are people of God who really do enter into intimate holy oneness with Almighty God now in this life. Moses was one of those people who had intimate oneness with God in His holy presence. The general congregation was not willing to enter into the intimate presence and bade Moses to go for them to meet with God. Moses had to go up on the mountain or later outside the camp to the "tent of meeting" to intimately meet with God. The smoke on the mountain and later the tent walls veiled the people from an intimate experience of oneness with God. When Moses returned to the people radiating the glory of God he placed a veil upon His face.

The second veil of God is the "face veil". Moses veiled himself in the presence of the people but removed the veil when he came into the presence of God. There was no veil between Moses and God and they spoke face to face. Although the temple veil has since been rent their remains a veil separating people from the intimate glorious face to face presence of God.

People can be in the same room at the same time when the presence of God has come and yet be veiled from seeing and experiencing the intimate presence of God. They can look upon and listen to those who are filled with the glory of God from being in His presence and yet not perceive because there is a veil separating them. They remain unchanged because of a veiled face. However, when the veil is removed they can become transformed in the presence of God.

*2 Cor 3:18: But we all, with unveiled face, beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, are being transformed into the same image from glory to glory, just as by the Spirit of the Lord.

The third veil is the "heart veil". Yes, the temple veil is rent and the potential way is opened. Yet there remains a veil upon the hearts of many of God's people even those who pride themselves in knowing the Word.

2 Cor 3:14-17: But their minds were blinded. For until this day the same veil remains unlifted in the reading of the Old Testament, because the veil is taken away in Christ. But even to this day, when Moses is read, a veil lies on their heart. Nevertheless when one turns to the Lord, the veil is taken away. Now the Lord is the Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

Study of the Word is not enough to enter into intimacy with God. Only in Christ the Lord, who is the Spirit, is the veil lifted as we humble ourselves in connecting with the humility of Christ and loose ALL PRIDE.

Pride is the reason the veil exist that prevents intimacy with God. James 4:6 .... "God resists the proud, But gives grace to the humble." Pride is that uplifting in man that may come from many sources even our religion, our doctrines, our understanding, our works and positions in life or in church, even our gifting, education, and abilities can all be sources of pride. Issues of seeking to control are rooted in pride. Our strengths cam become sources of pride. Fear is a sister to pride and comes from self concern and depending on self rather than falling before God, humbly submitting to Him and fully depending on Him.

Complete emptiness of self can lead to the fullness of the Spirit of Christ as we humbly present our bodies a living sacrifice.

Like Moses we can only enter into intimate face to face love connection with God with very humble hearts.

Num 12:3: (Now the man Moses was very humble, more than all men who were on the face of the earth.)

Num 12:6-8: Then He said, "Hear now My words: If there is a prophet among you, I, the LORD, make Myself known to him in a vision; I speak to him in a dream. Not so with My servant Moses; He is faithful in all My house. I speak with him face to face, Even plainly, and not in dark sayings; And he sees the form of the LORD. Why then were you not afraid To speak against My servant Moses?"

Many who seek revival and are frustrated by little progress are yet veiled from the intimate presence of God. Our lives will be revived and our world will be changed only as we completely humble ourselves before the Lord.

James 4:10 Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and He will lift you up.

Isa 57:15 For thus says the High and Lofty One Who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy: "I dwell in the high and holy place, With him who has a contrite and humble spirit, To revive the spirit of the humble, And to revive the heart of the contrite ones.

2 Chr 7:14: "if My people who are called by My name will humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked (prideful) ways, then I will hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and heal their land.

Humbling ourselves means, in part, that we have no cares of life which we seek to defend or establish apart from the power of God.

1 Pet 5:6-7: Therefore humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time, casting all your care upon Him, for He cares for you.

"God resists the proud" and receives the humble beyond the veil into intimate face to face oneness with Him.

Pursue love - it never fails.

Lots of love,
Ron McGatlin

http://www.baspub.com/news/

In Love With God - Deepest Life Experience

Ron McGatlin

Over 60 years ago as a young previously unchurched boy I was taken to an evangelistic church service. I felt something of desire in my guts for what the preacher was so excitedly and seriously talking about. I remember going forward after encouragement by someone standing near me. The preacher asked me a strange question. "Do you love Jesus?" Instinctively I knew the answer should be, "yes", which I shakily replied.

Reflecting upon that experience from many years later, after actually falling in love with Jesus and experiencing the manifest reality of the pure and holy love of the Father, it is clear to me that I did not know Jesus and did not even have the slightest understanding of what love really was.

A lifetime of extreme experiences of good and evil have led to the reality that there is one potentially continuous experience of life that has depth of meaning beyond all the highs and lows of life experience. The fullness of life consist in one continuing life relationship experience. All else derives its meaning and value from the greatest of all life experience.

Being in love with God is the deepest experience of life. This greatest of all life experience begins with meeting the personal reality that God passionately and fervently loves you - that God desires an intimate relationship with you. The experience of seeing the beauty of His holiness - the awesomeness of His power, His glory and majesty overwhelms us. To know the reality that He, the awesome glorious God of all creation, loves and desires us empties us of all self strength as we fall before Him hopelessly consumed in His love. All pride of our lives, lusts of our flesh, and lust of our eyes - all desire for anything other than Him is destroyed in the manifest presence of His all consuming fire of love.

Heb 12:29: For our God is a consuming fire.

Perhaps the most grievous situation in all creation is that multitudes of those whom God loves are not choosing to love Him with all their heart but in pride and loftiness choose created things over the Creator. Their choice causes a veil to be placed over their eyes. The veil separates them intimacy with God and keeps them from the greatest of all life experiences.(James 4:6) Unbelievers and many Christians are yet veiled to the fullness of the glory of Christ.

2 Cor 4:3-4: But even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled to those who are perishing, whose minds the god of this age has blinded, who do not believe, lest the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine on them.

Many who have the hope of heaven someday are yet missing the greatest of all life experiences of being in love with God. Beyond the veil is the ultimate experience of love in the heart of the Father as a child and in the embrace of Jesus as His purified and holy Bride.

Pursue love - it never fails.

Lots of love,
Ron McGatlin

The Return To Family
Ron McGatlin

On occasion I have shared with some younger people how life and family was in the USA 60 to 70 years ago. I was a bit astonished as I saw their response of unbelief. For the most part they simply believed that I did not really know what was going on back then and perhaps I was now so old that I really did not have a realistic view any longer. They seemed to think that it could not have been as different as I was describing to them.

I was not telling them of a perfect situation at all but of a time of a deeply ingrained sense of morality and strength of courage and respect for good values that was at the core of American culture. Crime was considered criminal and immorality was considered immoral and it was a disgrace to be involved in either. The dollar was sound and patriotism was strong. Men married women and children had parents who lived with them. Homosexuality and drugs were unthinkable despicable behavior in the minds of Americans.

Movies were fun and left you with a clean feeling. College students were considered proper and elite young men and women with great respect for their teachers and national leaders. Sexual activity outside of marriage was disgraceful and "shacking up" was despicable behavior reserved for only the lowest level of society. To birth a fatherless child out of wedlock brought shame and disgrace upon the whole extended family and the community. To be reduced to depending on welfare which was understood to be living off your neighbors was a great disgrace and only acceptable as a last resort to prevent starvation.

But the thread of ungodliness was indeed running beneath the morality of the millions of families. The turn toward pleasure, self gratification and the thoughts of throwing off the base of godly morality were already stewing beneath the main stream of culture. Though the nation yet retained some biblical moral values, the church was becoming of less significance. A form of intellectual godlessness was developing. An enemy was eroding the American value system that had made her the greatest nation on earth.

The "God is dead" movement ushered in a humanistic intellectual based shift in culture that both rejected the values of the past and exposed the powerlessness of the mostly lukewarm church of the day. The morality breakdown has destroyed the family of the past and brought forth a very different culture.

The negative aspects of the resulting new culture are now becoming distasteful to many who are developing a hunger for something better. There is a potential turn toward the reality of the pure holy values and power of God. A turn to God can produce a culture that will exceed the morality and value system of even the best of the past in America. It will be based in the holiness of intimately relating to God and not on a fading lukewarm church system. It will be based upon the love and wisdom of God instead of the intellectual cunning of man.

There is now a thread of godly holiness running beneath the corrupt culture of today. That thread can, through love, eventually erode the corruption and bring forth a people in love with God who hate evil - a generation of servants and givers who live in the world as Christ - the Bride and Body of Christ.

Corruption will surely bring forth its fruit of destruction. Beyond the destructive events the love of God in His people will be around to restore the repentant and lead the world toward the kingdom of God lifestyle. Christ in you is still the true hope of glory.

Pursue love - it never fails.
Lots of love, Ron McGatlin
For more articles by Ron McGatlin and others, Go Here: http://www.baspub.com/news/http://www.openheaven.com http://www.carolinarevivalconnection.com

Love or Terror
Ron McGatlin

The seeds of both the passion of intimate love of God and passionate fear and terror are planted and growing in the next generation of people across America and the world. In the complexities of world situations it may not seem rational that there are basic realities that will turn the balance toward either a tidal wave of terror or an outpouring of the love of God.

Blessing and cursing are in front of the people of America. There is a fresh generation now coming forth upon whom God is pouring out His Spirit - a holy generation who can enter through His courts and into intimate face to face communion with Almighty God. There is a generation that can experience the fire of His passionate love and be consumed in His glory - a generation of sons of God who are in the world as Christ is in the world. The Bride of Christ intimately in love with Jesus and reflecting His humility and glory into the word.

There is also a generation of terror bound ungodly pleasure seekers who have denied the Lord and ignored His statutes and hated His ways. They have denied the wisdom of God and established their prideful earthly foolishness and intellectual debauchery and called it wisdom. In their pride and loftiness they have denied God and lifted up many other gods to fill their lives with earthly pleasures.

Psa 1:1-6: Blessed is the man Who walks not in the counsel of the ungodly, Nor stands in the path of sinners, Nor sits in the seat of the scornful; But his delight is in the law of the LORD, And in His law he meditates day and night. He shall be like a tree Planted by the rivers of water, That brings forth its fruit in its season, Whose leaf also shall not wither; And whatever he does shall prosper.

The ungodly are not so, But are like the chaff which the wind drives away. Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, Nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous. For the LORD knows the way of the righteous, But the way of the ungodly shall perish.

In this day of outpourings of God's Spirit upon those who seek Him with their whole hearts their is space to turn (repent) and be changed by the outpouring of the passionate intimate love of God through His Spirit. Holy Spirit outpourings can melt the wicked hearts and replace the silly foolishness with the pure holy wisdom of God. Supernatural workings of intense passion of God's love can quickly purify and make new sons of God. By His Spirit God will make His words known in their hearts.

Prov 1:22 - 33: "How long, you simple (silly, foolish) ones, will you love simplicity(silliness, foolishness)? For scorners delight in their scorning, And fools hate knowledge.

Turn at my rebuke; Surely I will pour out my Spirit on you; I will make my words known to you.

Because I have called and you refused, I have stretched out my hand and no one regarded, Because you disdained all my counsel, And would have none of my rebuke, I also will laugh at your calamity; I will mock when your terror comes, When your terror comes like a storm, And your destruction comes like a whirlwind, When distress and anguish come upon you.

"Then they will call on me, but I will not answer; They will seek me diligently, but they will not find me. Because they hated knowledge And did not choose the fear of the LORD, They would have none of my counsel And despised my every rebuke. Therefore they shall eat the fruit of their own way, And be filled to the full with their own fancies. For the turning away of the simple (silly, foolish) will slay them, And the complacency of fools will destroy them;

But whoever listens to me will dwell safely, And will be secure, without fear of evil."

Joel 2:28-29: "And it shall come to pass afterward That I will pour out My Spirit on all flesh; Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, Your old men shall dream dreams, Your young men shall see visions. And also on My menservants and on My maidservants I will pour out My Spirit in those days.

Pursue love - it never fails.

Lots of love, Ron McGatlin

For more articles by Ron McGatlin and others, Go Here: http://www.baspub.com/news/

The Word to be Released in this Season

Christine Beadsworth

There has been much said by well-known prophetic voices in recent days concerning the release of fresh Word from Heaven in the form of books, songs, poems etc. It has been said that these words will emanate from a storeroom in Heaven reserved for this day and that a scribing anointing is being released. I believe the Lord has given me some understanding concerning those who will be used in this way.

When the Israelites were in the wilderness, they were instructed to gather enough manna for two days on the sixth day and store it for consumption on the seventh day. Miraculously, this stored manna did not go bad. On the seventh day, they rested from their labours and fed on the stored portion. We are now in the seventh thousand year period since Adam or the ‘seventh day” of creation. God is calling as never before for His Church to enter into intimacy with Him, to come and walk with Him in the cool of the day and have intimate communion with Him. Where is this place where we are to meet with Him? It is in the ark of His presence. God is calling his Church to dwell in this place of His presence before His face. This is the place of Sabbath Rest that we are told to strive to enter into, the place of intimacy with the Bridegroom, from which all fruitfulness flows.

Within the ark there were three things; the stone tablets, the rod that budded and the jar containing the portion of manna. This is what is available to us in the place of His presence: the eternal covenant, resurrection power and a measured portion of fresh revelation reserved for this day, the seventh day or the day of the Lord. This hidden manna or revelation is promised to those who overcome by the One Who wields the sharp two-edged sword

(Rev 2:17 KJV+) He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the hidden manna,

This revelation that is released shall have a powerful anointing upon it to divide between soul and spirit. It is found in the ark stored in a vessel of gold. This speaks of people who have been willing to undergo the fires of purification and allow themselves to be purged of all that would contaminate their message; those who have chosen the good portion of sitting at His feet. They have been prepared for such a time as this, to release a word in season that will equip and release the Body of Christ into what God has for them. This is not a special class of people – the offer of preparation for this task has been open to all:

(2Ti 2:20 KJV+) But in a great house there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth; and some to honor and some to dishonor
(2Ti 2:21 KJV+) If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honor, sanctified and meet for the master's use, and prepared unto every good work.

I believe what the Lord is looking for in the earth at this time is a Zadok priesthood. In Ezekiel 44, there was a distinction made between the priests that ministered to the people and those who ministered to the Lord. Those who had been faithful in a time when others had turned away from serving the Lord wholeheartedly were given a position of dwelling before the Lord continually. In fact these Zadok priests had houses right in the holy portion (Ezek 45:4). They did not come in and go out from His presence but dwelt there all the time in His presence. This is the Sabbath Rest that God is calling His people to return to. However, this place is not entered into lightly; there is a need for purification, things to be overcome and a pressing through that will bring God's people into the place of dwelling before His face.

This Zadok priesthood are the vessels of gold that are found within the ark of His presence and they will be the ones to dispense the manna of revelation reserved and set-apart for this time.

(Eze 44:15 KJV+) But the priests the Levites the sons of Zadok, that kept the charge of my sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come near to me to minister unto me, and they shall stand before me to offer unto me the fat and the blood saith the Lord GOD
(Eze 44:16 KJV+) They shall enter into my sanctuary and they shall come near to my table, to minister unto me, and they shall keep my charge.

The word for 'stand' actually means ' to abide or dwell' before the Lord. When it says 'they shall keep My charge' what the Hebrew words actually mean ' they shall guard and protect at their posts'. So God is searching out those who have proved faithful and who are willing and able to protect and steward that which has been placed in their care. These Zadok priests were not allowed to wear anything that caused them to sweat. This is because theirs is a ministry of rest in the secret place. They also were bestowed with an anointing to teach and to rule:

(Eze 44:23 KJV+) And they shall teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean.
(Eze 44:24 KJV+) And in controversy they shall stand in judgment; and they shall judge it according to my judgments: and they shall keep my laws and my statutes in all mine assemblies; and they shall hallow my sabbaths.

The word for 'teach' here means ' to flow as water, to throw an arrow, to point out'. These Zadok priests will release writings and teachings that impart discernment to the Body of Christ so that they may prepare themselves in holiness for the King. They will also carry an anointing for government and righteous rule (symbolized by the rod of Aaron in the ark).

When the Israelites crossed over the Jordan into the promised land, the priests had to go first, bearing the ark upon their shoulders. They then had to stand in the middle of the Jordan, holding the ark until all of Israel had crossed over. Here again we see a prepared priesthood bearing the manifest presence of God, in the place of obedience, bringing about the right conditions for God's people to cross over into their inheritance.

These priests had to go through a time of sanctifying themselves before they could take their place in God's plan. They were in effect, the vessels of gold which God had set apart for His use at this time. In the same way, the Zadok priesthood, that have been tried in the refiner's fire and found faithful, will stand firm, carrying the anointing of the manifest presence of God, releasing words in season that will cause the Body of Christ to cross over into their inheritance. They will be the houses of bread that feed the Body at this time of transition., through writings, songs, art and creative expression that are brought forth by the Spirit of wisdom and revelation and the Spirit of counsel and might.

These people are also described in Isaiah:

(Isa 32:1 KJV+) Behold, a king shall reign in righteousness, and princes shall rule in judgment.
(Isa 32:2 KJV+) And a man shall be as a hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.
(Isa 32:3 KJV+) And the eyes of them that see shall not be dim, and the ears of them that hear shall hearken.
(Isa 32:4 KJV+) The heart also of the rash shall understand knowledge and the tongue of the stammerers shall be ready to speak plainly.

These vessels of gold that have been dwelling in the presence of God will release revelatory keys obtained through their intimacy with the Bridegroom. They are the Sons of Oil who have a continuous supply of throneroom revelation that will cause the Body of Christ to rise up, press in and possess the fullness of their inheritance in Christ.

Manna tasted like fresh cakes baked with honey. God is wanting to feed His Body with the finest of wheat (the first-fruits portion) and honey from the rock, which is Christ. The hidden treasure and mysteries locked in the Word are going to be revealed.

It is time for those who have been prepared in the secret place of His presence to begin to release the manna which God has stored within them. The Bride is hungry for the True Bread which comes down from Heaven; the anointed revelation of the Living Word which will break every yoke on the neck of His Bride. For these ones, the time of preparation is over and the season to release the fullness of their womb has come.

Christine Beadsworth
South Africa
email keluwlah@iafrica.com

The Word to be Released in this Season
Christine Beadsworth

07 Apr 2004

There has been much said by well-known prophetic voices in recent days concerning the release of fresh Word from Heaven in the form of books, songs, poems etc. It has been said that these words will emanate from a storeroom in Heaven reserved for this day and that a scribing anointing is being released. I believe the Lord has given me some understanding concerning those who will be used in this way.

When the Israelites were in the wilderness, they were instructed to gather enough manna for two days on the sixth day and store it for consumption on the seventh day. Miraculously, this stored manna did not go bad. On the seventh day, they rested from their labours and fed on the stored portion. We are now in the seventh thousand year period since Adam or the 'seventh day" of creation. God is calling as never before for His Church to enter into intimacy with Him, to come and walk with Him in the cool of the day and have intimate communion with Him. Where is this place where we are to meet with Him? It is in the ark of His presence. God is calling his Church to dwell in this place of His presence before His face. This is the place of Sabbath Rest that we are told to strive to enter into, the place of intimacy with the Bridegroom, from which all fruitfulness flows.

Within the ark there were three things; the stone tablets, the rod that budded and the jar containing the portion of manna. This is what is available to us in the place of His presence: the eternal covenant, resurrection power and a measured portion of fresh revelation reserved for this day, the seventh day or the day of the Lord. This hidden manna or revelation is promised to those who overcome by the One Who wields the sharp two-edged sword (Rev 2:17 KJV+) He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the hidden manna, This revelation that is released shall have a powerful anointing upon it to divide between soul and spirit. It is found in the ark stored in a vessel of gold. This speaks of people who have been willing to undergo the fires of purification and allow themselves to be purged of all that would contaminate their message; those who have chosen the good portion of sitting at His feet. They have been prepared for such a time as this, to release a word in season that will equip and release the Body of Christ into what God has for them. This is not a special class of people the offer of preparation for this task has been open to all:

(2Ti 2:20 KJV+) But in a great house there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth; and some to honor and some to dishonor (2Ti 2:21 KJV+) If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honor, sanctified and meet for the master's use, and prepared unto every good work. I believe what the Lord is looking for in the earth at this time is a Zadok priesthood. In Ezekiel 44, there was a distinction made between the priests that ministered to the people and those who ministered to the Lord. Those who had been faithful in a time when others had turned away from serving the Lord wholeheartedly were given a position of dwelling before the Lord continually. In fact these Zadok priests had houses right in the holy portion (Ezek 45:4). They did not come in and go out from His presence but dwelt there all the time in His presence. This is the Sabbath Rest that God is calling His people to return to. However, this place is not entered into lightly; there is a need for purification, things to be overcome and a pressing through that will bring God's people into the place of dwelling before His face.

This Zadok priesthood are the vessels of gold that are found within the ark of His presence and they will be the ones to dispense the manna of revelation reserved and set-apart for this time.

(Eze 44:15 KJV+) But the priests the Levites the sons of Zadok, that kept the charge of my sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come near to me to minister unto me, and they shall stand before me to offer unto me the fat and the blood saith the Lord GOD (Eze 44:16 KJV+) They shall enter into my sanctuary and they shall come near to my table, to minister unto me, and they shall keep my charge.

The word for 'stand' actually means ' to abide or dwell' before the Lord. When it says 'they shall keep My charge' what the Hebrew words actually mean ' they shall guard and protect at their posts'. So God is searching out those who have proved faithful and who are willing and able to protect and steward that which has been placed in their care. These Zadok priests were not allowed to wear anything that caused them to sweat. This is because theirs is a ministry of rest in the secret place. They also were bestowed with an anointing to teach and to rule:

(Eze 44:23 KJV+) And they shall teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean. (Eze 44:24 KJV+) And in controversy they shall stand in judgment; and they shall judge it according to my judgments: and they shall keep my laws and my statutes in all mine assemblies; and they shall hallow my sabbaths. The word for 'teach' here means ' to flow as water, to throw an arrow, to point out'. These Zadok priests will release writings and teachings that impart discernment to the Body of Christ so that they may prepare themselves in holiness for the King. They will also carry an anointing for government and righteous rule (symbolized by the rod of Aaron in the ark).

When the Israelites crossed over the Jordan into the promised land, the priests had to go first, bearing the ark upon their shoulders. They then had to stand in the middle of the Jordan, holding the ark until all of Israel had crossed over. Here again we see a prepared priesthood bearing the manifest presence of God, in the place of obedience, bringing about the right conditions for God's people to cross over into their inheritance. These priests had to go through a time of sanctifying themselves before they could take their place in God's plan. They were in effect, the vessels of gold which God had set apart for His use at this time. In the same way, the Zadok priesthood, that have been tried in the refiner's fire and found faithful, will stand firm, carrying the anointing of the manifest presence of God, releasing words in season that will cause the Body of Christ to cross over into their inheritance. They will be the houses of bread that feed the Body at this time of transition., through writings, songs, art and creative expression that are brought forth by the Spirit of wisdom and revelation and the Spirit of counsel and might. These people are also described in Isaiah:

(Isa 32:1 KJV+) Behold, a king shall reign in righteousness, and princes shall rule in judgment.

(Isa 32:2 KJV+) And a man shall be as a hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land. (Isa 32:3 KJV+) And the eyes of them that see shall not be dim, and the ears of them that hear shall hearken. (Isa 32:4 KJV+) The heart also of the rash shall understand knowledge and the tongue of the stammerers shall be ready to speak plainly.

These vessels of gold that have been dwelling in the presence of God will release revelatory keys obtained through their intimacy with the Bridegroom. They are the Sons of Oil who have a continuous supply of throne room revelation that will cause the Body of Christ to rise up, press in and possess the fullness of their inheritance in Christ.

Manna tasted like fresh cakes baked with honey. God is wanting to feed His Body with the finest of wheat (the first-fruits portion) and honey from the rock, which is Christ. The hidden treasure and mysteries locked in the Word are going to be revealed.

It is time for those who have been prepared in the secret place of His presence to begin to release the manna which God has stored within them. The Bride is hungry for the True Bread which comes down from Heaven; the anointed revelation of the Living Word which will break every yoke on the neck of His Bride. For these ones, the time of preparation is over and the season to release the fullness of their womb has come.

The Winds Are Blowing

Carylann Hartley

There are 2 winds blowing -- the winds of adversity and the winds of advancement. This is advancement into your calling for those that are willing to listen and obey the Spirit's voice.

A storm of great magnitude is brewing. Will you move forward or will you stand where you are to battle? Or will you be pushed back? It will depend on you. So, put up the sails and sail into the wind. Do not be afraid of this storm.

Pull up all the anchors that you have put down and hold tight. Get rid of all those things of the world that have taken part of your heart captive and have robbed you of your time. I will show you when you are to put down My anchor. You will be in the safe harbor then. My anchor will keep you in the right position to accomplish the things I am asking you to do. I and I alone am your safety. Draw closer to Me than you have ever been.

Some things in your life will feel "undone." I am the One that is "undoing" them -- in order to "do" them in the manner that I have chosen, and not the way that you thought they should be done. You say that you know "My ways are higher than your ways." Yet you continue trying to do things in the old ways that you are accustomed to doing them in. Do you expect to get different results when you do them the same way? I am changing many things right now -- both in you and in the world.

Much of what you have been holding onto for security is not Me and it will not sustain you. I will sustain you and protect you as long as you hold tight to Me during these turbulent times. I am a firm, strong anchor! Do not step out on your own but wait for Me and only go where I lead.

There will be battles. But make sure that you only fight the battles that I have given you to fight. The enemy's tactics will increase and be more diversified. He will become more subtle as he tries to get you to fight battles that I have not given to you to fight. Know that I will be with you, but listen to My voice for direction. Many voices will try to speak to you. The wind of adversity will be the loudest voice. My direction for you will be in the "still small voice." At times, the enemy will shout in order to be heard. At other times he will try to come in a still small voice, as a wolf in sheep's clothing. So beware that you do not listen to him. Test the spirits before you engage in battle, no matter what it seems like. There are many things that will look like Me but will not be Me.

Do not concentrate so much on the enemy of your soul but rather concentrate on Me and My kingdom! Your enemy walks around as a roaring lion seeking to devour but I come to seek those that are lost or hurting or hungry or in need of any kind so that I may lavish My love and peace on them and they will be healed.

Can you feel the winds blowing yet? Lift your face to Me and you will begin to feel them. This is the time and season that many have longed for. It is not a time to sit and become soft -- many have sat too long and their spiritual muscles are not in shape. Begin now to exercise them by spending time with Me in prayer. And worship to a greater extent than ever before, for the war zone is getting closer and you will need to be prepared. Prepare now while there is time. Do not be afraid, for I am with you and will protect you. The winds are already starting to blow and the velocity and strength of them will increase. Hold tight to Me and you will not be blown about or tossed to and fro. Remember that I am your anchor and your protection.

Carylann Hartley
GodsGloryFire@msn.com

The Washing of Feet

Luz Cintron

I always saw the washing of feet as an enactment of the confessing one another, also as a reminder of our call to humble service of one another but this morning I have started to see more into it. I say more because it does not invalidate these others concepts but add into it.

There are many of us going through a time of spiritual struggle, that brings anguish, and some see but to some even the ability to see is taken from a season and its painful. To those I want to speak what He showed me this morning. You find that you have come way below what you expected from yourself. You have seen and found things you would not have expected to find there, and it not only breaks your heart but scares you. With or without words, you wonder what is going on. You are being tempted to believe that faith is just snake oil in a bottle. This morning He wants you to know that He has been next to you the whole time. You may even feel ashamed that you have failed. Listen, it is you who is disappointed. He is not disappointed at you at all. Do you think that He did not know what laid inside you? Or that He was impressed by your looks? He has always seen the wheat and the tares inside us, from the beginning, and now there is an area of maturity that calls to be rid of the tares. Just an area.

He has sat in patience and now He is pulling out those full grown tares by the root. They are shallow and their roots cannot harm His wheat in you, but it is messy. Don't look at yourself. Take courage you are in a place of honor like never before even though you cannot see it.

Listen.

In the night before His crucifixion He took a vessel of water and knelt before His beloved disciples and washed their feet. He wanted to convey many wonderful things, but time was pressing, so He enacted a mystery for the ages to come

There was one called Peter that loved Him passionately, he was resolute and his passion was different from the passion of another called John. He was sincere. When he saw his master knelt with a towel ready to wash his dirty and tired feet, he protested. How could he allow such a thing! But Peter who always had a heart bigger than his brain was thinking with his heart and loving with his brain. He opposed such a thing, but Yeshua answered him, If I don't do this, you will have no part of me". Then he said with all his heart, not only my feet, but all of me (my paraphrase). That is how much he wanted to partake. For him it was uncomfortable but he loved his rabbi.

What was what he partook?

Let's look at what happened after. The shepherd was struck and the sheep what? Scattered. I have meditated many times in the kind of suffering that it cost Yeshua to save us. It brings reassurance to my soul to know that a man with a physical body would believe this, so much, that would be willing to endure such pain, there the faith of the Son of Man lifts mine. Who endures torture like that? Only one who believes strongly. He did not endure alone, even though all His sheep were scattered. Yes, I know that scripture says that they all deserted Him, what is not written but is said, is that they too, walked that day the Via Dolorosa each of them together and alone.

To Peter it was announced that he would deny his rabbi and maybe, when he first heard that, it flew over his head. Something like that was unbelievable, incomprehensible. After all, he carried his sword and was ready to die for his beloved rabbi. Yes, that is a death that is physical, we all know that one. But he was not ready for the other death, the one for which he was being prepared. The one for which his feet were washed. He was clean, but he needed to have washed just his feet. The same feet that when confronted in their weakness would walk away from Him.

There is also another suffering that we must consider in our walk of faith . The suffering of His disciples, because they were called to become His body as we have also been called after them. He prayed for us, you know Its in John 17. Many in His body today, are going through the same suffering, to them I write this morning. Though you feel you have failed, wait, He has prayed and your faith will not fail you, wait. If you have seen your weakness as Peter, wait discard nothing at this point. Death brings life as you well know it. Yes you are dying and shame may even cover you, wait, He has prayed for you.

It was needful for each of those elected 12 that glorious day, to walk the path of weakness and of shame. Our Yeshua took the full blow of it. His suffering was paraded on the streets, and under the look of defeat He cleaved to that cross in all trust (that is faith). Under all the spit, the blood, the filth, he was subjected, the Pillar of Truth established His ground on earth. He did so in Himself and in His Church. When His disciples laid Him on the tomb, boy it must have looked like snake oil to them. Nothing left, not in them and not even in their rabbi. Isn't that how you feel? I say wait, His hand is moving to dispossess principalities and rulers of the air. Bear you shame in the trust of the Son of God. Wait.

Last time they took my light off, and I was left to dwell in darkness I told myself, If Yeshua was just a man and not God as I believe, if He were only a man, a love like that deserves to be loved. Love him for what He has already been to you, knowledge puffs up but when loves arrives it edifies. Guess what, you can not edify correctly where the place is crowed with stuff you need to pull that down and clear it up, so that what is edified becomes established for ever. You have felt His pulling down. When He pulled everything went crashing down. Wait, and you shall see him edifying.

The shame you endured was endured by others before you. The 12 knew it because they lived it the night He was caught, and through the processes of the next day until His death. When He died all died in them. Conceptions, even delusional hopes, ambitions mixed with faith, they were laid bare, naked with their Lord. The only thing that remained in them, was the love they had for Him. Around did they gathered to lay him on the tomb. What silence must have filled their heart! Death had worked in them as a whole. The head and the body laid dead.

It is necessary that you get disappointed with yourself in order to understand the depth, height and width of His love for you. He is pleased with you. He has not turned His back on you. Maybe now is when you are closer to Him than ever before. When all around crumbles and the sky seems dark, look up and wait, at times like this is when we commend our spirit into Abba's hand, and if commended, then left there, for better or for worse in all the blindness that may surrounds us. Because once we heard it clear, when He gave up His. Nobody took it from Him, no man could endure like that and live, He chose it, He took it upon Himself, and when it was finished, He gave the last thing He had even His Spirit for us!

If it is messy and you think you've done it, look upon Him, naked and hanging from the tree. Can it be more messy than that? More shameful? More repulsive? Then come near and embrace Him in His cross. Allow His cross to engulf yours and bear your shame. He is not snake oil. His love has proven to see into the depth of our blindness and He has pursue us as we are. Trust wait and trust. Is has been finished, and this is a kiss of love. You are held in a place of honor where others have gone before. Your nakedness unveiled and your flesh exposed because is in this, where you take part of Him as He took, not part but the whole of it, for you. Don't walk in it self absorbed, lift your head and look to Him, and even if the sight is taken from you, look upon what you have known, that the night of His suffering He took bread and blessed it and broke and gave it to us, and He took wine and blessed and gave it to us announcing the kingdom to us. What will be said of that, are we sinless? Only because of Him. Are we sinners? If anyone says he is not, he mocks the cross and deceive only himself. That is why we need the cross, and need it to live in it as they who follow Him lived the rest of their lives. They in truth were crucified with Him and what will be said of us today? Will be pure rhetoric, or will it become a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offence, and a foolishness.

There are those who will love that you walk in denial, and cover your faults under the false pretense that it troubles the flock. I tell you this, if it be not exposed, the enemy will keep a hold on you, and hope will not be released to those who wait for salvation. He who had no sin embraced it willingly, to make a way for us who are sinful, to set us free from it. That is they way, exposing it, first unto ourselves even if it shatters our little world, and then, as we learn to live in that cross, as Paul rightly put it, that others may live in His life, as it was also given to us.

Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with [him], that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin. Rom 6:6

For though he was crucified through weakness, yet he liveth by the power of God. For we also are weak in him, but we shall live with him by the power of God toward you. 2Cor 13:4

I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me. Gal 2:20

You can have no part of Him, unless you let Him wash your feet. It is like this that He has called you to walk, and walk with Him. Give thanks for the things that have come to you, your weakness revealed is the only way to release the power of the cross. If you don't die others won’t come. Your crushing is the hope of those who in fear watch you from afar. For us, to live is Christ and to die is gain. Gain, right? Gain! Come and buy without money, come and eat what is food!

But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world. Galatians 6:14

This was not written in vain:

But if I tarry long, that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth. 1 Ti 3:15

Because these things have to be established in truth, as we deal with each other only in Truth, nothing concealed, allowing then love that is true, to cover the multitude of our sins. Otherwise we deceive ourselves alone and faith is turned to snake oil.

But this is your day of glory.

In His faithful love who bore my shame, luz September 9, 2004.

The Watchman’s Warning

Clo DiPilato

Dearest Friends in Jesus,

This is another long article, but concludes with the word of the Lord. If you do not have time to read it all, I seriously suggest you to scroll down to where you see the words: Now, for the "thus saith the Lord" part of this article:

So many very serious words are coming forth at this time for us to contemplate, and if ever there was a need we are to be spiritually alert, and mindful, it is in this present hour. I do not mean to detract from any of it by speaking in a bit lighter vein, but my spirit is overwhelmed with God's goodness, and I feel the anointing of the "encourager" right now more than that of a watchman on the wall, and I hope the following will lift you up in your spirit this day. (Though this article does conclude with the "watchman" anointing, and my heart is very anxious for the people of God to hear what the Spirit is saying, as it will be your protection!!!)

I've always loved Psalm 100. On this one, I feel like I can get inside the Psalmist's skin, and feel exactly what he was feeling when he penned these words. As you consider it, you can see how it somewhat traces our spiritual experience, and walk with the Lord!

Make a joyful noise unto the LORD, all ye lands. Serve the LORD with gladness: come before his presence with singing. Know ye that the LORD he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name. For the LORD is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations. Psalm 100.

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands.

In that initial new birth experience, we've got the "joy" of that "first love experience", and everything within us (all our "lands") desires to praise Him.

If you were to do a Bible Study on all the nations that Israel had to deal with in their wilderness wanderings, and possessing of the Promised Land, you'd soon find out that the names of all those places on their journey are indicative of inner battles and attitudes we all must face, overcome, and bring into submission to divine authority.

But I thank God that while we are in the struggle of dealing with all those things, God has given us permission to "make a joyful noise"!!

We may not be mature or developed in God enough to yet have true cohesion in our "inner worlds", and things can still be rather noisy and clamorous within, but praise His Name……there's a JOYFUL noise as we're coming to the conclusion that a focus on Him is truly a worthy pursuit!!

Eventually, that "noise" will be harnessed into the beautiful sound of a well-tuned, harmonious inner symphony. And then, eventually the symphony that God has made us will find it's place in the grand production of all the Ages with thousands and tens of thousands of saints at His great coronation when He is crowned King of all Kings, and Lord of All!!

What a glorious thought, though, that the very first place this will happen is within the interior of my own life, as I submit to the processes of God whereby self is unseated, and He takes His rightful throne upon My heart!!

Serve the Lord with gladness:

We find that our new love for the Saviour makes us want to respond by acts of service. We desire to bring a "grain offering" unto Him. The grain offering is typical of "Christian service." You can read about the "grain offering" in Leviticus 2:1-16, and Leviticus 6:14-18. This offering is also called a "cereal offering", or a "meal offering". It's also called a "meat" offering, as that was the common term for a meal, regardless of whether "meat" was actually included or not.

In fact, the interesting thing to note about this particular offering: It is the only offering in which no flesh (meat of an animal) was present at all. To do a study on the grain offering would make this article much too long, but I believe that 'serving the Lord with gladness' comes when we realize that there is a blessed place in acknowledging that it's only by His anointing that we can accomplish anything for Him, and an attitude that says "without Him, I can do nothing". This was an offering mixed with "oil". That typifies the anointing of God's Spirit.

This offering was not only "mixed with oil". It had oil also poured upon it. Beloved, isn't that the life of service you desire unto Him?? Don't you want the anointing mixed into everything you do for Him?? And then don't you want what you're doing in your service to Him to be also literally "drenched" in the anointing of His Spirit, that very "power for service"??

If you study the word "pour" in Leviticus 2:1, you find that it means a pouring that is going to result in something being firmly set, and cast. Praise God, I think that's speaking of a truly "abiding anointing".

Many desire a visitation of the Lord. They look for a revival when it comes so easy to flow in the things of God. They'll plan for a "two week revival" in the summer time with a great powerful and anointed evangelist coming through with his gifts.

But I believe it's the glorious time is upon us when the Lord's people are going to willingly offer themselves in a commitment to walk in His power, anointing and authority that's coming from a place of truly abiding in Him where we don't go in and out of the sanctuary, but truly stay in His sanctuary where the anointing oil is the very crown upon our heads (our minds being infused with the mind of Christ, and then truly "set" in HIS ways!!) Serve the Lord with gladness. He had the "oil of gladness" above His fellows!! (Ref. Psalm 45:7, Heb. 1:9, Leviticus 21:12)

Come before His presence with singing.

I believe if there is a revelation to be found in this phrase, it's in knowing how to enter into His presence. First there's "noise with joy", and then there's "service with gladness", and now there's "singing" before His presence. I feel that I need to read on and connect this particular phrase with the next portion of the scripture to hear what the Spirit is saying.

. Know ye that the LORD he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.

The Spirit reminds me of a story in the gospels. Jesus had traveled for a few days in the course of His ministry, and was quite weary. He found his way to Jacob's well where he ministered to a woman who really NEEDED Jesus!! He was putting His finger on some unbecoming personal issues in her life, and she decided to change the subject. She started a religious conversation about worship, and He made this comment to her, "Ye worship, you know not what." (Ref. John 4:1-26)

I believe that coming into His presence with "singing" can only be fulfilled in our lives when we truly have a revelation of who God is!!

Know ye that the Lord, HE IS God!

Paul was struck with the blinding light of revelation and knocked off his horse when he encountered the Lord on his way to Damascus with the intent to continue his breathing out of "threatenings and slaughter" against the disciples of the Lord. That revelation happened in his life when He asked the Lord, "Whom art thou, Lord?" and the Lord responded, "I am JESUS…" (Acts (9:1-9)

Beloved, true worship can only be based on true revelation. Before the Lord would allow Peter to take into his hands the "keys of the kingdom", before He would allow him to be that anointed oracle of God, and powerful preacher of the gospel of the kingdom on the day of Pentecost, He made sure that Peter had a revelation of exactly who Jesus was! Peter's understanding of whom Jesus was, was the very "rock of revelation" upon which Jesus Christ would build His church. (Ref. Matthew 16:13-19)

Whose "presence" do you enter, and to whom are you "singing"? There is a real God of the Universe who has a real Name, and His very own personality, and to Him we relate. It's not some hazy, foggy personal concept we have of God that we worship. We worship and sing to a God who has a Name, and that Name is JESUS. The Bible says He received His Name "by inheritance".

Being made so much better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they. Hebrews 1:4

That means that the Father had the Name before the Son!
Something to put in the spiritual cooker, and meditate on to see what the Lord will reveal to you on that subject!

Sometimes I dread hearing a song first thing in the morning because I invariably will battle it's presence in my mind for most of the day. If I were to tell you some of the songs that pop into my head that I have to contend with , I'm sure you'd be most amused.

The thing about "singing" is that it absorbs the mind. When we are "singing in His presence", beloved, there's not much room for anything else! When you're "singing in His presence", see how quickly the meditations of sin and self will fall away from you!! Coming into His presence with singing is yet another level in our experience with Him. It's the level whereby we begin to discipline ourselves and our thought lives to that which will truly please Him!! It's also a way in which we "redeem the time". Read Ephesians 5:16-19

….it is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.

The Spirit is emphasizing to me the "us", "ourselves" , "people" and "sheep of His pasture" in this portion of the scripture. We know that we are each very unique, and known by the God who intimately knew all of our "members" in eternity, and then formed us in our mother's womb. But another part of our spiritual experience is to become a functioning part of the many-membered Body of Christ.

God has made us to be connected. God put within the soul of every man and woman a desire to belong, a desire to be a part of something, a desire to be connected!

If any person can easily be very content in the state of being alone, I don't know of any person who has the gift of contentment in solitude more than myself. It amazes people that I can be so friendly and outgoing, and then turn around and be by myself completely alone for months on end, and be totally content. I am sure it's something the Lord put within my nature to have times of being separated unto Him for the purpose of hearing from Him so that the hearing ear necessary for the prophetic anointing could be developed in His presence. But I know in me is that longing to find connection and involvement with the Lord's true people!!

I just shared with someone recently that if I don't find the people of God who truly "ring my bell in the spirit", I feel like I'm going to literally wither on the vine and die!! There's an inner longing and yearning to be a part of a people!! But not just "any" people, but HIS people, the sheep of HIS pasture!! (And here, let me add that I'm so very deeply thankful to the friends in the faith that God has given to me. They have greatly enriched my life!!)

Still considering our "need" to belong and function within the Body of Christ, I asked a brother in the Lord to explain what he believed to be the difference between the sonship message of the 1960's, and the present day "3rd day" message?? His answer was profound, and truly insightful. He shared that he believed the "seedling revelation" of sonship implanted within the hearts of God's people at that time had to do very much with our individual walk with Him and coming into the relationship with the Lord personally, and achieving an overcoming status in Him on a very personal level. But now is the time when those very same truths are coming forth and manifesting through a corporate Body. We are submitting not only individually, but even corporately to the processes of God, allowing ourselves to be set IN to His body as never before!! Are you recognizing the works of God in this area for yourself personally? God is bringing me face to face with this one
OFTEN, and giving me ears to hear as never before that I am part of the "many-membered body of Christ."

Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless His name.

Beloved, before we can get into the courts, we have to enter through the gates. The Lord very quickly tells us how we can do it: We simply need to be thankful unto Him!! It's Christianity 101 at it's easiest. Before praise comes thanksgiving. Even the most impoverished and destitute soul can find some reason to be thankful: You may even be that one "who complained you had no shoes, until you met that man who had no feet. " Everyone has some reason to be thankful. Being thankful, gets us inside the gate.

But how quickly will we find ourselves going back outside the gate because we don't maintain that attitude of thanksgiving?
My friends, if thankfulness got me on the "inside", perhaps it's thankfulness that will keep me there??

If I were to go to a job interview, and I wore my very best suit, got my hair and nails done professionally, made sure my shoes were well-polished, and my make up done to perfection and the boss was so impressed with how I impeccably presented myself that he decided on the spot to hire me before I even had to prove myself in other ways, I could easily conclude that a good appearance made a favorable impression on him.

However, what would happen if on the first day of the job I showed up in a pair of tie-dyed, shredded jeans, and a stained t-shirt. I rolled out of bed that morning a bit late, so didn't bother to shower as I didn't have the time. A simple little "bird bath" should do. I quickly ran a brush through the top of my hair because I just didn't have time to really brush the tangled mess out. Those clothes I chose to wear were piled in a heap on the floor, and the quickest thing to grab, so why not wear them?? After all, it wasn't like I had cleaned the whole house in them last night……..just the kitchen and the bathroom!!

I'm sure the boss would quickly show me the door OUT as quickly as he had let me "in".

Beloved, I believe the spirit of thankfulness is truly the garment that gives us an entry into His courts! Consider the parable of the man who was thrown out of the wedding feast because he didn't have on a wedding garment. The context of this story is one where the invited guests were making excuses not to come to the wedding, and their excuses made them NOT worthy! (Ref. Matthew 22:1-14)

So, then the king had his servants round up guests who were not full of excuses to come to the wedding feast. They all had on "wedding garments" except for one man. Since these "guests" were a mixture of both "good" and "bad", we can assume they came from all stations and levels in life. Some must have been well attired, and some very poorly, as far as the clothes upon their backs.

I believe a clue to the lack in this man's life had to do with his reaction to being questioned about his lack of a wedding garment. The Bible says he was "speechless". He was in the presence of the king who had gone out of his way to turn his good favor and heart to these selected guests, and he could not even find it within himself to offer so much as a word of thanks!

Beloved, that which precedes my entry into a place may be less than stellar. Perhaps you've heard some negative stories about me, and perhaps I'm not quite so polished as those who were on the original guest list. And it's very obvious I have not yet perfected praise. But I'm so thankful to God that He's allowed me to get inside the gate! I know all about me, and everything that's wrong with me, and all my failings which would cause me great embarrassment if they were to be published. I know all my weaknesses, frailties, and "down settings". When I consider "me", how can I be anything but thankful??

I believe that this garment of "thankfulness" is going to keep me covered every step of the way from the gates, through the courts, all the way into His throne where I find myself in His very Presence!!

That entry by thanksgiving will be the "backdrop" to praise in His courts! A thankful heart is a praising heart!

and bless His name.

Now, right here, I am going to bless and honor His Name!!

Dearest Friend, if you had not been to a place in your spiritual experience where the Name of Jesus has been made powerfully real to you, then I am praying for you that the Lord will lead you to such a place. For many years, I knew Jesus as My Saviour, and I knew Him as my "baptizer in the Holy Ghost", but a time came when God set me in a place where there was a greater revelation of the power in the Name of Jesus, all the glorious majesty associated with an understanding of that Name, and the fullness that His Name truly represents which radically changed my life, and imparted to my life the reality of a greater quickening spirit infused in all that I would do both toward Him, and toward His people.

When I'm in the presence of those who minister the scriptures, I can immediately and very quickly discern those who have a greater revelation of the Name of Jesus. There is a quickening spirit. Those who know His Name, and the power in the Name of Jesus, and truly have it as revelation within their being simply have an "edge" others do not have. They come forth with a sharpness and clarity in God that others who have not yet come to understanding of the exaltation of the Name of Jesus, a thing which GREATLY PLEASES the Father, simply do not possess.

If you wish to have the blessing of God on your life and ministry, learn to bless His Name!! Find the Name of Jesus in every passage of scripture you read!! Find His Name weaving it's way faithfully through every prayer you pray!! And when you get up to minister to the people of God, always make Jesus the focal point, and glorify and magnify Him OFTEN in the presence or His people!! See how quickly the quality of the anointing on your ministry increases!! It just makes God so happy to have the Name of Jesus mentioned, and He SHOWS UP!!

Since the Lord taught me to "bless His Name", I would say it's the thing in my own Christian experience which has most profoundly stuck with me, influenced my life, and has had a part in every aspect of my spiritual life! One cannot be too new in their Christian experience to begin to grasp it(it's like a baby saying "Da da" for the first time) or too old, developed, or well-matured in God not to have their spirit leap with joy and gladness when it's mentioned with praise, love, and adoration!!

Sing me a song about Jesus, for I am a BIG Jesus fan!!! Oh, how I love His Name, and if I desire in my life to be able to impart anything to others, it's the love and honor I give unto His Name, and a greater hunger for the One that Name represents!!

For the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His truth endureth to all generations.

I feel overwhelmed by His goodness. He corners the market on that one, as the Bible tells us there is NONE that doeth "good", NO NOT ONE! It's just one of those days, when I feel so much like recognizing Him for the person He is, and though I rejoice in the fact that His nature is becoming the reality of my own nature, as I submit my life to Him, there is just something about today that makes me want to see Jesus, very high, very exalted, very set apart from all of Creation in all His glory for whom He is in the reality of His own goodliness and godliness!!

He alone is that One who is "worthy to open the book, and loose the seals thereof". (Ref. Rev. 5) Praise God for His worthiness!!
There are many sons, but only ONE Lamb!!

Isn't it wonderful to know that our own weeping for our own UNworthiness can be charged to cease in the presence of this Lion of tribe of Judah?? He has not only prevailed for all the ages, but He has prevailed in His mercy and grace to each of us individually!!

When I read that phrase, "His mercy is everlasting", it was as if I received deep understanding right from the heart of God on this matter: We are created in His image. That means anything that's within us of either appearance OR attitude finds it's originality in God.

We all have a desire within us for what we want to be known as, or recognized for. Some very shallow people live their existence simply wanting to be known for externals such as outward beauty or personal poise. Others who haven't been blessed with looks may put their emphasis on developing their intelligence. As we grow in God, and in His grace, we desire to become known as being things like "very anointed," or "very fruitful" or "very refined in our spiritual character." What adjective will people most often use to describe you? There's the adjective they use, but there's no doubt the one that in your heart you WISH they would use!!

Well, I'm coming to the conclusion from something I see throughout the scripture, ever present, God has a desire on what He really wants His people to recognize in His character. God has a primary and preferred adjective He wants us to use when we think about Him. It's MERCIFUL!! The scriptures are full of it, and many of us certainly will give that as our own personal testimony of how Jesus has been to our lives!!

I feel to leave the "And His truth endureth to all generations" for another article, as I'm feeling a quickening of the Spirit, and believe this next part is a word from God that will help you to get through some perilous times ahead!! I am not giving it in the "first person" format, but still believe it is very much the word of the Lord.

Now, for the "thus saith the Lord" part of this article:

Many situations both in the world and in the Body of Christ are presenting themselves to us for our evaluation, discernment, and judgment. I could elaborate on current events, give names of preachers, pass e-mails on to you of "exposes" on ministries, present my own opinions on decisions many are making at this time because of their personal disappointments in God's servants. The word of the Lord in all of it, what I am hearing God saying very clearly into my spirit is NOT to engage in reckless opinions and judgments whereby I would defile my own soul. God is telling me,(and you can receive it, if you believe it may be for you, too) that I am to walk in mercy.

I will lose absolutely nothing of spiritual value at all if I don't go about trying to prove that I have some "special discernment" about contentions between brethren, or secret sins in the life of God's servants, or some great swelling prophecies, dreams, visions, etc. of people dropping dead in church because they've lied to the Holy Ghost. That very well may happen and it's been prophesied by the truest of God's servants, but it's not what God wants. It's not what Jesus wants. It's not His nature to want such a thing!! The Bible tells us that He is not willing that ANY should perish!!

Beloved, it's a time when shakings are coming, and they are even overtaking, and stumbling one upon the other. The word that I am hearing from God in all of this is that in order to "walk softly" one must walk IN MERCY. It's what will cover you with God's protection in an evil day and an anxious hour.

It's time to "tiptoe" through the spiritual tulips as never before because each and everyone is vulnerable to the tumultuous winds of His judgments and the consuming fires of His wrath, and the firm rooting of being planted in the understanding of His mercy is what will give you grace, and even buy you TIME to bring any personal corrections to your own life in areas where you know you're falling short.

Do not assume it's falling on your shoulders to mete out judgment and correction because if you assume wrongly, in the eyes of God, you will be the very next one up for spiritual review in His dread and awesome Presence! I have had some visitations from the Lord that I can call nothing else but the "dread fear of God". They've impacted my soul in such a way that I know that I know that I want to walk in a reverence for Him that makes me want to be EXTRA CAREFUL about how I judge, treat, and handle His servants because I've found Him to be ULTRA SENSITIVE about His people!! Being merciful to others as God has been merciful to you is what will keep you on the GOOD SIDE of God!!

He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God. Micah 6:8

Always in the Love of Jesus,

Clo DiPilato
Herald of His Kingdom

The Winds Come And Go

Sandy Warner

Oct 4, 2004
When you dwell upon My mountain tops and the higher places in life, winds do blow. Sometimes they are opposing winds, sometimes they are gentle breezes that stir your heart to rest and be refreshed. Next time you see the dust blow, and your vision is cloudy, remember that I also control the winds. I will even use the demonic dust to polish your life to a finer shine.

The higher places bring higher winds. As you call upon Me and stand still, these blasts of strong opposition will pass through you and leave you unscathed. I command them so perfectly that as they pass by, all you will experience is the knowledge that they came and went. You will be held in such peace that you will be completely cocooned in the knowledge of My great grace and favor. Once you begin to experience this, the reality of living in that special place in Me will be forever branded upon your soul.

For those who dwell in the high places, their hearts reveal the heart of servants. Because they are so teachable and willing, I will most often use My winds to bring times to pause and to lighten the load. I stir the clouds above their head and move them on. They are already dressed in white, the wind of My breath already makes them shine with brilliance. They don't have any hard unyielding places for the storm gales to have to blast away. I rejoice in these My chosen ones. They give Me exceeding joy as I watch their lives unfold to the touches of My wind. Dear one, come higher in Me.

Mark 4:39 KJV
And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea, Peace, be still. And the wind ceased, and there was a great calm.

John 3:7-8 NKJV
The wind blows where it wishes, and you hear the sound of it, but cannot tell where it comes from and where it goes. So is everyone who is born of the Spirit."

Words to Ponder are summaries of prophetic revelation, punched with the word of wisdom and written under inspiration. [Sandy Warner: swauthor@usa.net / website: www.thequickenedword.com] Permission given to forward or post.

On The Shelf To Pray

Sandy Warner

Oct 10, 2004

ON THE SHELF TO PRAY

My tender caresses are put aside.
Only for a moment as you learn to abide.
It's wishes and wants, yearnings and desires.
Feelings from the heart that are greatly inspired.

To hold it all back when I pour on your flame.
Those passions and yearnings will never be the same.
I will keep you from falling as you're held in restraint
I will strengthen your stand from becoming too faint.

The purpose to hold back is for only a season
It's to release deeper wells, that's the reason.
My passion within you shall never die
It's My anointing, My power, My glorious cry.

Pray what you feel as I pour on your soul
Release it for others to make them whole.
What you, yourself are able to give
Instead become weak to let others live.
As you release your gifts into prayer instead
These your children will learn to bake bread.

> Gal 4:19-20 NIV
> My dear children, for whom I am again in the pains of childbirth until Christ is formed in you, how I wish I could be with you now and change my tone, because I am perplexed about you!

The White House Dream

Debbi Carlson

10-05-04
I had a dream on Sept. 16th. I called an intercessor friend regarding it and we prayed at that time not fully realizing what the dream meant. I just finished a fast this last Sunday and this morning was going through my journal to see what the Lord had been saying to me throughout the fast. (We don't always "get it" at the time, so it's a good idea to review them every now and then.) I came across this dream once again and felt it was one that was to "sound the alarm".

Also, since the time of the dream, the first debate between President Bush and John Kerry has taken place. Anyone who watched that first debate is aware that even though what the President said was good and true, the President didn't appear to be quite as confident as his opponent and seemed to be on the defense most of the evening, while John Kerry seemed quite confident and on the offense. I think my dream may have a key that will unlock President Bush and empower him to be more confident and victorious at the next debate this Friday.

Here is the dream:
I dreamt that I was with a group of intercessors and President G. W. Bush marching around the White House praying and crying out for revival. There was ice all around and everything was frozen. There was a huge upside down cone shaped icicle that was about six feet tall on the balcony and icicles hanging from everywhere even though it didn't seem to be winter and none of us were wearing winter clothes. The ice seemed quite out of place. Then I remembered that I'd had two dreams that the White House was frozen. I told another intercessor who then informed me that someone else had also dreamt that the White House was frozen. So she told the others and we prayed for a Holy fire thawing and cancelled the assignments against the President and the White House. We then called forth Holy Spirit fire, making sure to specify it was to be fire in the Spirit only, not in the natural. Then I awoke.

I believe that the saints need to unify and call forth the "thaw", canceling the "freeze" put on our President as he debates Kerry on Friday.

I spoke with a different intercessor friend this morning about this dream. She mentioned that the media has praised John Kerry while criticizing President Bush and that because our words have within them the power of death or life, the media's words have strengthened John Kerry, while they have weakened President Bush. We must cancel this assignment as well.

The other area that the enemy has put a "freeze" on the White House and on the President, is on the people that the President has intended to appoint to office during his tenure. We must call off this assignment also and call forth the fulfillment of all that God has intended for President Bush to do while in office.

Prayer

Father, we thank You for a godly President and thank You for the opportunity and the commission to pray for our leaders that YOU have put in authority over us.
By the authority that You have given us, we cut off and cancel ALL assignments that the enemy has sent against our President. We apply the Blood of Jesus to him and to the White House. We send forth the FIRE of the Holy Spirit to thaw ALL freezes that the enemy's camp has sent against the White House and President G.W. Bush. We loose President Bush from all hindrances of the enemy. We declare that he is free from all mind blinding spirits, free from all spirits of fear and intimidation, free from all witchcraft prayers and incantations, and free from all "freeze" assignments. We decree that He is a mighty man of valor, power, and might in Jesus. He can do all things through Christ who strengthens him and he has the mind of Christ. We declare that President G.W. Bush has a clear mind and thought process in Jesus name.

He has been called for such a time as this and he WILL fulfill ALL that YOU have sent him to do. He will no longer be hindered. What he has been sent to do will no longer be delayed. Your kingdom come, Your will be done. Holy Spirit, come. We welcome You to revive America. We cry out to You for Holy Spirit Fire in the White House. We cry out for Holy Spirit Fire in G.W. Bush. We cry out for Holy Spirit revival in America in Jesus name! Amen!

And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God and are the called according to His purpose.
Romans 8:28

P.O. Box 977
Rogersville, AL 35652
850-685-2707
Newsletter Site: http://DebbiCarlson.InJesus.com

The Wave Has Pulled Back

Terri Derocher

September 13, 2004
We seem to be in the place where the wave has pulled back away from the shore and the shore looks empty and dry...when what is really happening is the WAVE is building and building, getting bigger and bigger as it gathers in every bit of loose water to come crashing in to shore. There is a great creative force in that wave...the kind that changes the terrain!

I have heard all summer from friend after friend that they have questioned what they are doing. Is what I am doing bringing glory to God or am I glorifying myself? Because we are being tumbled and scrubbed in this tide to bring Holiness some are confusing the pain of a bath with persecution. An eight year old with a layer of dirt around his ears feels the same as mom scrubs what seems like skin off! Some are going through real fire and are coming forth as gold such as the persecuted church in China, Indonesia, India and Uganda. We all know many, many more countries we could add to that list because of testimonies which travel like wildfire around the globe via the internet. Martyrs testimonies are being sealed and some are waiting under the altar for the rest to be accomplished such as is spoken of in Rev 6:9.

These are exciting times because we love Jesus ....He is building His church....and this is happening everywhere in this country and around the world. When we see the Holy Spirit speaking the same message over and over we understand times have accelerated again!

I have went back again to the book of Jonah, the book my twelve year old son Jimmy calls the book of second chances. You gotta do what you are supposed to do!

What we are all about -- Evangelism has so very little to do with us doesn't it? Our part is so small. We open our mouths....the Holy Spirit fills it, we speak what the Holy Spirit tells us to speak...then the HOLY Spirit gives faith to that one to believe the word of truth. We take credit for too much of the wonder and glory and on the other hand we get grieved over stuff that is not our business!

When my sons and I were talking about Jonah this last weekend we were amazed at what the Holy spirit was doing all along with everybody in the book.... the people of Ninveh, the guys on the boat, and Jonah (not to mention the livestock....as all of creation waits for the sons of God to be revealed!)

The guys on the boat were unsaved pagans and two paragraphs later were praying to Adonai and three paragraphs later were worshiping Him in Awe and wonder. Jonah has a time out in the belly of a whale about his attitude problem and gets a second chance. As he starts walking and talking across Ninveh....he gets a third of the way and ALREADY the HOLY Spirit is moving and shaking the people's hearts....Jonah had nothing to do with it and had two more days of walking to go. I love Jonah because he exposes his heart and humbles himself when he relates this story and his sin to the writer. Who else but Jonah knows what happened?

But back to you....So you gave a sermon....sent out a clarion call.....maybe even went on Television and there is nothing but silence! What business is it of yours as to how people respond? You are only responsible for your little piece ((((BUT as one who loves you I have to say your little piece is just so beautiful!)))) And don't sit around trying to figure out demographics and cause ....ALL of it is a bunch of strife and here it comes ....FEAR...isn't it amazing how that thing disguises itself? Jonah was well acquainted with fear.

WHEWWWWWWWWW rest in HIS Glory ....see it emanates from Him and He just allows you to stay right here ...because you love Him...so soak in it. We would have so much more time in the glory if we didn't worry about people's response to us. It's His message...we're the messenger!

What I love about you body of Christ is you are brave. You are brave because you know HIM and trust Him. Little old weaklings (in the world's eyes) of eighty years old and older are some of His greatest warriors. This confuses the wise.

We have a God who uses broken vessels instead of tossing them on the trash pile. He uses little boys to speak peace and slay giants. He uses the amputee and former prostitute for leading His mightiest victories. These.... all know ....the wonder of it ....and so walk in courage because they know it is only because of Him that they have been given another chance.

You know I WAS given another chance....and so are you.

So where are you? WHERE are you? That is the question we asked ourselves in my family last weekend because that is God's question to us and not because He doesn't know where you are. God knows right where we are. He wants you to stop your little scurrying around...like a little gerbil on a wheel in a cage and listen. Look around....could be the cage door is open now. What did He ask you to do that you are running from? What provision (whale) will He use to get your attention?

Do you understand what salvation is? Do you understand what Jesus did on the cross? Do you understand nothing ever has to be the same for you again?

God Bless You in Jesus' name as You Start Over Again....Terri Derocher

http://www.LoveletterfromHeaven.com

Also pray for the Peace of Jerusalem on October 3, 2004.....join millions by signing the resolution to pray at:

http://www.daytopray.com

The Warrior In His Spirit Final Lesson
Bob Neumann

For years the AMERIKAN CHURCH has been replacing GOD in the hearts and minds of the FLOCK. That is why there are really few sheep out there roaming around grazing freely. Oh yes, there are lots of sheep out there. It's just that they are all safely locked into pens controlled by businessmen who know where there profit margins lies. They know exactly when to fleece the flock, and when to slaughter the best quality lamb or mutton.

From the sheepdog point of view, neither is very supportive of individuals.

The AMERIKAN CHURCH has found the crux of the issue and taken full advantage of it. The GOSPEL of the KINGDOM is not a tool for salvation alone. It is a template of REBIRTH, MATURATION, and eventual CONQUEST. A planned progression of events that would lead a sinner doomed to ETERNAL FIERY JUDGMENT to the paths of SALVATION, SURVIVAL and VICTORY. The KEY is they all start with "FOLLOW ME". We all started with THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT bringing us...knowingly or not even aware...to the point of awareness of personal culpability. Culpability simply means that whatever we have done wrong to ourselves and others is our own fault, and we will be held responsible ...accountable for what we have done.

So we are all brought to the same point. We are all rotten, dirty, sinners deserving of GOD'S WRATH. Now many men say "we weren't that bad"...or "it was not your fault".... Those are LIES. PLAIN...SIMPLE...LIES... THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT says you are guilty...MAN says no you are not. WHO DO YOU BELIEVE?

Now if we are all guilty and doomed to eternal punishment we are in desperate need of a SAVIOR...a REDEEMER...a FRIEND who will take our BURDEN and lead us out of our PERSONAL PIT. The only problem is we have to be aware of our PIT and our coming PUNISHMENT.

So all BELIEVERS have been pulled out of their pits. No one any better or worse than any other. MAN likes self-help books and strategies which tells you how to save and help yourself. TOO BAD they tend to leave JESUS behind.

JESUS said MY SHEEP HEAR MY VOICE and THEY FOLLOW ME. Sheep that are told the LIE that all they have to do is sit there and listen to, submit to, and give undying devotion to man...will never leave that PIT to follow THEIR SAVIOR.

So all we have are a few scruffy sheep that got loose from their SLAUGHTER PENS and follow hard on HIS HEELS. It is here where the first transformation takes place. The SHEEP who heard HIS VOICE begin to recognize individual WORDS. And "suddenly" HIS SHEEP become LITTLE CHILDREN. Children that listen...learn ... and obey. In the SPIRITUAL as it is in THE NATURAL Children grow up and make decisions. The CHILDREN are given a CHOSE...do THEY SERVE THE GOD WHO GAVE THEM SALVATION, LED THEM THROUGH the WILDERNESS and HAS CLOTHED AND FED THEM IN HIS WORD...or do THEY SERVE THEMSELVES?

They can become HIS SERVANTS...or fall away. Angry, despondent, and quite often vindictive. Spoiled children either grow up and accept responsibility and accountability...or become psychopaths...sociopaths that CALL "GOOD EVIL and EVIL GOOD".

Like the Disciples, all servants can be called FRIEND at some point in their journey. It takes time and lots of healing as we go from GLORY TO GLORY. But when we do this we find others have walked before us. One of The First Was DAVID. And Psalm 18 is his story...his song...of DAVID and HIS GOD, together. 46The LORD liveth; and blessed be my rock; and let the God of my salvation be exalted. DAVID'S LORD is THE LIVING GOD...THE GOD "I AM"... WHO WAS, IS, and will ALWAYS BE. DAVID BLESSES THE ROCK...that HE STANDS ON...is able TO BUILD ON...THAT SPRINGS FORTH LIVING WATER that gives DAVID LIFE ETERNAL.

Then DAVID EXALTS THIS GOD WHO SAVED HIM.... no big deal...GOD SAVED ME...SO I LOVE HIM...ADORE HIM ...OBEY HIM...FOLLOW HIM FOREVER...SINGING FOREVER.

47It is God that avengeth me, and subdueth the people under me. David removes himself from hard feelings for his foes, his enemies, the wicked types that plotted and planned his destruction...WHY? It is not natural for man to want to get even...pay back... Of course it isn't if all you see is you against them. One of THE FIRST THINGS GOD REVEALED to David was that David was not ALONE. That HE had a GOD that was very close and personal. AND DAVID SAW EXACTLY WHAT HAPPENED TO MEN WHO HAD TO GET TO HIM THROUGH HIS GOD. SELAH PEOPLE...SELAH LONG and HARD. TO GO AFTER DAVID....you had to go THROUGH HIS GOD. NEVER HAPPENED... and THE PRICE YOU PAID WAS ENORMOUS... GOD PUT DAVID'S FOOT ON YOUR NECK...again and again.

WHO IN THEIR DOUBLE MINDED INSANITY wants THE LIVING GOD wanting HIS VENGEANCE ON YOU?

again SELAH.

48 He delivereth me from mine enemies: yea, thou liftest me up above those that rise up against me: thou hast delivered me from the violent man. David does not hide the fact that it WAS GOD who delivered him, pulled him out of bad situation after bad situation. But he also tells us that it is GOD that LIFTED HIM UP as in "out of the pit"...the trap enemies both natural and spiritual built to destroy him. David ends this by distinguishing it is from VIOLENT MEN that GOD has saved him from . Men like NIMROD...ESSAU... GOLIATH...even ABSALOM...his own son.

Who has set traps for you that GOD has saved YOU FROM?

49Therefore will I give thanks unto thee, O LORD, among the heathen, and sing praises unto thy name.

ONCE AGAIN DAVID uses all of this to stand up and sing...to sing his THANKS for THE DEEDS GOD HAS DONE FOR HIM...ever try it yourself? NO?....pity... Now DAVID says that he does his singing "among the heathen". DAVID does not worship in the CHOIR LOFT... he goes out where there are goats who have no inkling how GREAT HIS GOD IS....except that DAVID IS STILL STANDING AND SINGING...and all THE VIOLENT MEN LAY SLAUGHTERED all around. So imagine DAVID standing and singing...I SING PRAISES TO YOUR NAME, OH GOD, PRAISES TO YOUR NAME, OH LORD...FOR YOUR NAME IS GREAT...AND WORTHY OF ALL PRAISE. That is THE SECRET OF REVELATION KNOWLEDGE... GOD REVEALS HIS NAME TO YOU...AND THEN SHOWS YOU WHAT IT MEANS...IN EXTREME DETAIL...UP CLOSE... AND VERY PERSONAL.

anyone getting this?

regretfully I doubt it... because the final verse is a WOWSER...

50Great deliverance giveth he to his king; and sheweth mercy to his anointed, to David, and to his seed for evermore.

VERSE 50 is MESSIANIC PROPHECY. THE "HE" HERE is DAVID'S GOD...who gives unto HIS KING....GREAT DELIVERANCE... Isaiah 9 says THAT A CHILD WOULD BE BORN... BUT A SON GIVEN...ON WHOSE AUTHORITY is our SALVATION. OUR SAVIOR...and our KING.. THIS KING IS GOD'S ANOINTED ONE...MESSIAH...WHO HOLDS GOD'S MERCY...unto DAVID and his "seed" """"FOR EVERMORE"""... ETERNAL COVENANT.

DAVID KNEW THAT THIS WAS WORTH SINGING ABOUT. THE PROMISE OF GOD...UNTO DAVID...AND DAVID ALONE... because DAVID LOVED GOD...and GOD LOVED DAVID.

>From Jesse's pasture where THE PROPHET found him with THE SHEEP...to the THRONE over JERUSALEM...was a long hard JOURNEY. IT WAS NEVER INTENDED TO BE ANYTHING ELSE... the MAN or WOMAN that FOLLOWS THE ANOINTED ONE FROM PIT TO ETERNITY must be of THE SAME STUFF that was in DAVID.

Willing to LOVE and to WORSHIP with all HIS HEART, HIS SOUL, HIS MIND, and HIS STRENGTH...

David may have fought numerous battles and won many campaigns. BUT he know GOD WAS HIS SOURCE OF VICTORY.

SALVATION...SURVIVAL...VICTORY...DOMINION... a simple path for a simple shepherd boy...because it was never the shepherd boy...it was ADONAI ELOHIM ELYON.

ALWAYS WAS...ALWAYS WILL BE.

THAT IS HOW 'we' BATTLE. THAT IS HOW 'we' WIN. WE FEW...WE BAND OF BROTHERS... WARRIORS in HIS STRENGTH and HIS SPIRIT. DEAD MEN...one and all.

who SING PRAISES TO HIS NAME...

baruch ha ba BASHEM ADONAI...
Selah
dog

The War In Iraq Will Change Into Another War

Stephen Hanson

> 2 "Son of man, speak to your countrymen and say to them: 'When I bring the sword against a land, and the people of the land choose one of their men and make him their watchman, 3 and he sees the sword coming against the land and blows the trumpet to warn the people, 4 then if anyone hears the trumpet but does not take warning and the sword comes and takes his life, his blood will be on his own head. Ezekiel 33:2-4

“This world is headed for a big change. I tell you that the war in Iraq will be transformed into a war with someone else. Those who have watched are also those who have prepared. I tell you that North Korea is building an arsenal, and they are also in league with China. The war on terrorism is not a war that one can win as easily as one might think. It involves the entire world. “

“Do you think America that you are above these things? I tell you that you take many of your freedoms for granted. I say, beware, those who are on the coastlines. I say, beware those who are in large metropolitan cities. Can all your areas be checked, and can all your surveillances stop these things? When all your eyes are upon the election, then plans are being made. Plans are being made, and much is being done in secret. Those things that have been prophesied and spoken of will soon come to pass. This is that generation that will see all these things come to pass. I speak these things to warn you, and not to have fear enter into your heart. “

I Own The Cattle On A Thousand Hills

Stephen Hanson

Oct. 2, 2004

PS 50:10 for every animal of the forest is mine, and the cattle on a thousand hills. 11: I know every bird in the mountains, and the creatures of the field are mine. 12: If I were hungry I would not tell you, for the world is mine, and all that is in it.

JER 23. [28] Let the prophet who has a dream tell his dream, but let the one who has my word speak it faithfully. For what has straw to do with grain?" declares the LORD. [29] "Is not my word like fire," declares the LORD, "and like a hammer that breaks a rock in pieces?

1CO 2:6 We do, however, speak a message of wisdom among the mature, but not the wisdom of this age or of the rulers of this age, who are coming to nothing.

“There is nothing that I cannot do, says the Lord. From the rising of the sun to its setting, I am there to aid my servants. Many in this hour are in need of basic things. I tell you that I own the sheep and cattle on a thousand hills. Cannot I do even more for you? I say these things to you because the time is rapidly approaching when the money in the government system will become scarce. Some have hoarded-up money for that day. Some have put their stock in other things. I tell you that I will take care of my own. “

“Which voices will you listen to in this hour? There are many voices in this hour that are vying for your attention. You have Alan Greenspan who much of the nation follows in this matter, but who knows the ‘bottom line’?”

“What are your priorities, and where are your resources spent? Where is most of your time spent? I tell you that most of the world is in an ‘information age.’ You are ever increasing in information but lacking in wisdom. “

“Behold, I come quickly, and my recompense is in my hand. Who is that servant who I can trust with my word? Who is that one whose word is burning in their heart? Behold, the wisdom of this age is foolishness to Me. Seek those things that are at my right hand and all these things will be added unto you. “

This Is The Hour
Stephen Hanson

Sept 25, 2004

ISA 42:9 See, the former things have taken place, and new things I declare; before they spring into being I announce them to you."

2TI 3:1 But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days. [2] People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, proud, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy, [3] without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, [4] treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God-- [5] having a form of godliness but denying its power. Have nothing to do with them.

DA 11:31 "His armed forces will rise up to desecrate the temple fortress and will abolish the daily sacrifice. Then they will set up the abomination that causes desolation. [32] With flattery he will corrupt those who have violated the covenant, but the people who know their God will firmly resist him.

“This world in which you are living will change—behold, all things will be made new. Behold…the times are changing, says the Lord. This season that you are about to enter into will manifest those things that signify the last days. “

“What are those new things that you say? Be aware that the love of many will wax cold. Be aware that men and women will exchange evil for good. Be aware that false prophets and teachers will abound in this hour. These things will abound, and yet, the end is not quite yet here. For when you see the sacrifice being made into an unholy thing then you will know that you are in the middle of these things. “

“What will you do in this hour to combat these things? This is the hour to rise-up and stand against the evil. When darkness is declared as light then someone needs to show them the way. This is the hour to say what is true. “

Stephen Hanson
"BE AS SHINING STARS IN THE MIDST OF A WICKED GENERATION"

Sept. 18, 2004

MT 16:2 He replied, "When evening comes, you say, `It will be fair weather, for the sky is red,' [3] and in the morning, `Today it will be stormy, for the sky is red and overcast.' You know how to interpret the appearance of the sky, but you cannot interpret the signs of the times. [4] A wicked and adulterous generation looks for a miraculous sign, but none will be given it except the sign of Jonah." Jesus then left them and went away.

1CH 12:32 men of Issachar, who understood the times and knew what Israel should do--200 chiefs, with all their relatives under their command;
[3] Those who are wise will shine like the brightness of the heavens, and those who lead many to righteousness, like the stars for ever and ever. Dan. 12

"I will make my people into shining stars in these last days. I tell you that you need to be shining because the darkness will increase because the enemy of your souls is on the rampage. But I tell you that he will not prevail. I tell you that the number of my people may diminish, but those who remain true unto Me will grow unto great stature. These next few months will mark the end of days. "

"Watch the sky, for when you look at it, you know when a storm is coming. I tell you that many know how to read the signs in the sky, but few can read the times in which we are living. May you be like the sons of Issachar who knew these times. The times and the seasons are in my hands. But just as Summer changes into Fall so shall the spiritual season change as well. This coming season will mark the beginning of the prophetic time table. For it will lay out the designs that are written down in my prophetic word. For it will bring forth a war that the United States will be thrust into, and then that man who will promise many things will come upon the scene. "

"Be as shining stars in the midst of a wicked generation. "

The Man Of Perdition
Stephen Hanson

Sept. 11, 2004

”This calls for wisdom. If anyone has insight, let him calculate the number of the beast, for it is man’s number. His number is 666.” Rev. 13::18

“Out of the east an emissary is coming. Clothed in white he comes, but he is disguised. I tell you that it won’t be long before the son of perdition comes upon the scene. When the world is at unrest and looking for a leader, then he will come. I tell you that the days are hastening forward to these events. He will be looked upon as a new world leader. This is the white horse that is mentioned in Revelation that is bent on conquest. I tell you that many will fall in the day that they give allegiance to him. When the next war erupts, then soon afterwards he will make himself known. By the summer of 2006 he will have made himself known. 666 corresponds with this time as well. I tell you that you have no more than five years before everything is accomplished.”

A New Political Scene And A New Era
Stephen Hanson

Sept. 4, 2004

“This is the land that I have created, and this is the land that I want to be remembered. Out of the fullness of time I created this earth and everything in it. I have a place reserved for those who believe in Me. There is no God in all of the earth other than Me.”

”There is a hush in the land for the coming election. When all of the ballots are counted you will know who your leader will be. I tell you that the political scene will usher you into a new era. Political ideals will not be seen as realism takes its form. For there will be a brief time of peace, but this peace is just a thin veneer. For after a short period of time after the events of the New Year, then there will be many other issues to face. For when attempting to rebuild this nation, then outside forces will take their toll. It will be a new political scene and a new political agenda. When the New Year starts, these outside forces will develop into another war. Within a period of three years, this world will be ushered into the events of the Great Tribulation. These things are not far off. These things are not in the distant times.”

Seasons Change
Stephen Hanson

Aug. 28, 2004

There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under heaven: Ecc. 3:1

“This world is not your own, but I have another one waiting for you. I am He who leads and guides you into every facet of your life. I am He who knit together man and woman, each in their own way. I am He who knit together the mountains and the streams. I am the Lord of the universe and all things come from Me. The earth and everything in it, is held together by Me. I watch over the affairs of man, and nothing escapes my notice. Out of the ground I bring forth fruit in its season; and I bring forth fruit in its season out of every man and woman. There is fruit only when you abide in Me. There is no God but Me in all the earth. But I tell you that this earth will be going through some severe changes. The earth’s form will be changed according to the prophetic timetable. For future events will change the direction of this earth. For in the next few years the political agenda of the United States will usher you into these events that are spoken of in my word. For when they say, “Peace, peace, sudden destruction will come upon them”. I tell you that you are in a certain season as you approach the time of the election, but this season will change and will take on a different course of action. As you see the leaves change then you will know.”

Rise-Up Oh People Of The Rock And The Desert”
Stephen Hanson

Aug. 15, 2004

Out of the desert, and among the rocks, I am calling a people. I am saying that I am bringing you forth in this hour. For such a time as this, a people of strength and courage are needed. For the winds will blow, and they will blow hard upon this land. Places of safety will be hard to find.

(The Lord showed me a large hand and fingers that came down out of the sky. They were faded gray in appearance. They lifted some figures as if they were on a chessboard to move them. The chesspiece (s) were oriental in appearance, and were dressed for battle. All of them were set upon horses and were black in appearance. They had unusual headgear on as well. Then these figures were moving forward across a footbridge that was set between two canyons or continents. In the next scene, I saw tanks and bombs being released upon the land.) A
]
“I tell you that in the near future your land will be taken by siege. It will come and will take you by storm. Rise-up oh people of the rock and I will give you strength in these days.”

Stephen Hanson

The Wind Blew
Kriston Couchey

Dec. 17, 2004

The Wind Blew
The wind blew hard all day
Lukewarm weather changed to winter
Fullness of the season finally arrived
Everything not secure was taken by the wind
Refuse containers fell and their contents scattered
Fences and ditches became havens for wayward manuscripts
Dead branches blew off the trees
It's what happens when the wind blows
Things useless and dead seems to have more life and movement then the valuable and alive

Isaiah 40:6 The voice that said, Cry. And I said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the mercy thereof is as the open flower of the field: 7 The grass withers, the flower fades because the spirit of the LORD blows upon it; surely the people is grass. 8 The grass withers, the open flower fades; but the word of our God shall stand for ever Isaiah 40:23 He brings the powerful to nothing; he makes the judges of the earth as if they had never been, 24 As if they had never been planted, as if they had never been sown, as if their stock had never taken root in the earth; even blowing upon them, they wither, and the whirlwind takes them away as stubble.

Wisdom says:
Be still in the flurry of change
A myriad of voices would draw you out of shelter
Beckoning you to come and ride the wind
Only to chase the useless and lifeless and become the same

Kriston Couchey
kcouchey@juno.com

Twins Arise

Marie-France McDowell-Smith

The Twins Arise! Fear Not! Fear Not! Fear Not!

May 29, 2004

YHVH speaks of: Leviathan, Behemoth, Ziz and *Rahab (*the Angel of Death -- not the woman of the scarlet thread in Jericho)

The twins arise. They rear their ugly heads, they arise! (satanic governments and demonic religions)

I AM that I AM, YHVH Whispers Tenderly in Your Ear --- "Ani L'Dodi V'Dodi Li" -- I AM my beloveds and My beloved is mine! -- FEAR NOT!!!

The creatures whom only the Holy One of Isra'el can thwart with HIS sword, they arise. Who, who has stirred them? Leviathan from the sea; Behemoth from the land! And, then the third -- Ziz from the air who will darken the sun with his wings!

The twins will battle one another to the death...Ziz, along with these will be the delicacies that my righteous ones feed upon at the Messianic Banquet, the feast of all feasts, in magnificent light and peace they will feast. Meat will be provided as I did in times past as my own wandered in the wilderness following Me in pillar and cloud....worry not, do not fear...THERE WILL BE MORE THAN YOU WANT, MORE THAN YOU DESIRE, NO LACK FOR MY OWN, quite unlike the circumstances outside of the camp. Show mercy, rachamim!!!

O, call them into the camp NOW! Blow the trumpets, blow and move at My precise commanded timing and in My precise direction. Sell your belongings and give to the poor, upheaval is sure. The Word in your hand, release it as arrows swift and sure. Eternal reward from My Mighty Right Hand promised! I AM El Gibor!

Leviathan arises...the coiled one, the serpentine one rumbles and rises, once again to scour the lands...he stirs, he stirs. Mounds of eruption are appearing in pattern, all across the continents, the islands of the seas, circling, swaying and entwining my straight paths...I call to you TODAY; do you now see?

Behemoth stirs in the grasses he has been hidden, lying, resting and waiting; waiting to emerge for the finale of time. I have surprises, yes, surprises are in line, the mysteries of your God... Line upon line, precept upon precept, every jot and tittle! Have you not read:

Matthew 5:18 Heaven and earth may disappear. But I promise you that not even a period or comma will ever disappear from the Law. Everything written in it must happen.

Matthew 5:18 God's Law is more real and lasting than the stars in the sky and the ground at your feet. Long after stars burn out and earth wears out, God's Law will be alive and working.

Ziz once again to rule the air in complete darkness of day ... soaring and relishing his rulership of the skies. None can defeat him, only YHVH, the Holy One of Isra'el.

Unprecedented events will occur on land, and sea and in the air...Rahab will seek to devour the souls of men...the Angel who commands death. HE ascends, he comes, he storms from the pit.

MY OWN will be sheltered under the protection of My wings, flee to My prepared place, our Secret place, that magnificent garden in which we walk and talk together. All yours--My beauty, fragrance, protection and rest--My name is Wonderful! I AM your beloved...and you are mine! Water and wine, take oil as well, the meat hidden away for such a time as this, bread for each day.

Gather your loved ones together, gather them in confidence and command the safety of yours to protect and defend, My Ephod upon your breast. Miracles galore you shall see!

Great warring angels mighty and strong, swords upright and ready surround your caravans to safe vistas of My desire, by the brook as it flows with living water, to refresh, cleanse, purify and give you life abundant by faith in Yeshua [Jesus]. My Bread and My living water will never have tasted as good.

Feast in the places prepared for such a time as this, follow ME, stay close to Me, listen for MY voice, love one another! Pray for the lost and wandering ones, their hearts to open to MY Light and Love, receive them. I rescue those who call upon My name, Yeshua [Jesus], I am Messiah!

Let Me shine within you as GLORY BEACONS of hope, drawing all men unto ME, unto Yeshua haMasahich, for I AM, and desire all who will come.

Allow Psalm 91 to infuse and resuscitate your spirit with HOPE ... hide it in your heart, recall as Rahab commits his horrors ... retrieve these words from your spirit and keep them in the forefront of your mind.

Look at Me, and no other. Listen to Me and no other. Come to Me and no other--endure until the end.

Legions of angels once again to appear, all eyes will see the King blazing in the Father's Glory! His armies roaring as a Lion, announcing the Lord of lords and King of kings, the Lion of Judah as HE descends astride HIS white steed--in Glory! Tzit Tzit flying in the Wind, HIS name upon HIS thigh, O, Look up, He comes, our Lord comes, our King comes! Praise, sing, dance and shout!!! Halleluyah!

To My Body -- Activate your duty of Love as the two witnesses [a perfected and complete testimony], Proclaim My Kingdom come, joyfully praise and worship ME in spirit and truth; hold the witness of MY BLOOD!

To You My set-apart ones, I send My Mercy, Grace, Justice--My Everlasting Love!

Tell them I Am Coming SOON!

Love, Yeshua

The War Mode

Francis Frangipane

I was seventeen years old, a senior in high school, and was slouching into my desk when a student easily twice my size entered the room. Suddenly he saw me, and in a storm of spit and fire, burst toward where I was sitting. I was unaware of any reason he would be upset with me, so I wasn't prepared when he grabbed me by my neck, picked me up and began rearranging my facial features.

It seemed that a prankster had written a derogatory remark about him on the inside cover of his notebook and then signed my name to it. Obviously, there was more going on in the Big Guy's life than anyone was aware of. Whatever other frustrations had been accumulating in his heart, his immediate goal was to release his fury on the last offender, which he was sure was me.

I should also mention that I was 5' 9" tall and my peak weight was 135 pounds. So, I had logically grown to become a person who, by nature, would turn the other cheek if it meant avoiding an outright fight. Of course, the turning of my cheek was not born of character, but cowardice. My quest for peace with potential enemies was the result of my fear of being hurt. In fact, I had developed some clever ways to avoid confrontation with violent souls and still appear relatively cool among my friends.

However, it does not matter what one's philosophy is concerning conflict when you are actually in a fight with an angry giant. Big Guy wasn't looking to talk, he was looking for blood. I was in a fight, and the sole awareness that flooded my mind was that I would have to fight back, even if I still got beat up. Big Guy had just pushed me through several rows of desks and was coming toward me again when I finally realized he was not going to stop. If this assault was going to end, it was because I put my whole heart into fighting back. Once I accepted the situation as it was, something amazing happened inside me. Instead of my fear getting worse, it actually left me. The energy that was being dissipated through terror and concern about being hurt was recycled and was now enlisted for my defense. Unexpectedly, I discovered another dimension of my soul: the war mode.

Frankly, I didn't even know I had a war mode, but when Big Guy reached down to pick me up for "round two," my fight instincts clicked into action. It had been easy for him to throw me around when I wasn't resisting. Now, I sprang upward with a punch that landed squarely on his nose and he fell back a step. I hit him again two or three times and then jumped on him while he was off balance, knocking him to the ground. It's possible he stumbled over a chair and my punch had nothing to do with his fall, but it didn't matter. When his back hit the floor, there was a 135 pound Sicilian on top of him.

By now, students were pulling me off him. He had blood pouring from his nose and I was being called a bully by his friends. When the teacher entered the room, it plainly looked like I was the aggressor and Big Guy was the poor victim, cowering beneath my relentless assault. I nearly didn't graduate because of the incident, but I didn't care. Something inside of me had grown up and changed. I found the war mode. I still didn't look for a fight, but I wasn't afraid anymore.

Islamic Terrorism
Why am I telling you this story? Because since 9-11-01, Islamic terrorists have been bullying nations throughout the Middle East and beyond. Even the USA was intimidated and afraid to retaliate against repeated attacks against our nation. Radical Muslims had stormed into our consciousness time and time again, grabbed us by the heart and threw us and many other nations against the wall. For years we accepted their tactics and let appeasement guide our actions. Our prayer was hardly more than a whimper: "Please make them leave us alone." We defined victory, not as defeating our foe, but by not being hurt too bad.

But Islamic terrorism didn't go away. The spirit of terror hovered over us; it wormed its way into the thought-life of nations, taunting and threatening even predominantly Muslim cultures. Even when there was no evidence of approaching terrorism, the specter of terror stretched its spiritual presence into the dreams and desires of the nations. We were convinced that Islamic terrorism would forever be a part of our world. In the secret recesses of our collective memory, we acknowledged the Muslims sought world domination, but we couldn't openly come to terms with this reality. We were told that their fury was rooted in poverty or the exploitation of the Arabs by the West. The truth was that there is a primeval vision guiding the actions of radical Islam: to conquer the world for Allah.

The terrorists were worse than bullies; they represented the very worst kind of humanity. They were evil and religious. Their unholy quest was to reduce the world to the size of their shriveled, miserable souls. But I thank God for President George W. Bush. He stood up to the fear, to the intimidation and the challenge of radical Islam. Nations that were held hostage to the threats of terrorism were finally going to be freed. He looked Islam in the face and separated the common and honorable from the terrible, and went after the terrible. Additionally, the American President said plainly that any nation that used terrorism, or harbored or supported terrorists, would themselves become a target for international justice and even war led by the USA.

The President, along with Prime Minister Tony Blair of the UK, as well as the leaders of approximately sixty other nations went after the Islamists. Proud men and women in the armed forces drew upon the courage of these national leaders and took courage themselves, first in the assault of Afghanistan and then into Iraq. In spite of the relentless fear mongering of the liberal press, in less than three months the war in Afghanistan was won, the Taliban and Al Qaeda humiliated, killed or scattered.

President Bush, with the international Coalition of the Willing, then confronted Saddam Hussein. This was the dictator who rewarded Palestinian suicide bombers for their carnage and death against Israel, giving each terrorist's family $30,000. Saddam was a state sponsor of terrorism. President Bush pleaded with the U.N. to take firm action against Hussein and stop their endless appeasement with the Iraqi bully. This was the dictator who fashioned himself the next great Nebuchadnezzar; the madman attacked Iran, Kuwait and his own Kurdish people, leaving millions of people dead and maimed. Did Saddam have weapons of mass destruction? Yes. The mind of Saddam Hussein was itself a weapon of mass destruction. It was the will of God that Saddam's government be removed from power.

With another coalition of over 40 nations, President Bush and Tony Blair led the war against Iraq. The first stage of this offensive was over in less than two months. However, enforcing peace has been costly. Remember, Iraq is the area on earth where Lucifer first slithered up to Eve in the Garden of Eden. It was also from this region that ancient Babylon was first planted, and then spread its influence into the rest of the world. One might say that Iraq holds a unique place for the devil. It's his childhood home.

Where We Come In

Those who know me, know I am a man compelled by mercy. When I make a decision that involves people, I choose to err on the side of mercy. Thus, be assured that I am not an advocate of physical war. However, I am not a coward either. We must not confuse false peace, which is the result of compromise born of fear, with real peace, which comes from winning the fight against evil.

Today, many are weary with world events. Part of this weariness is because hearts are divided: we are to maintain a peacetime mentality during a time of war. Indeed, the energy to deal with today's battles comes from recognizing today's conflicts, facing them head on, and finding the resources to overcome in the strength of God. Since 9-11, our souls have secretly longed to return to 9-10. Yet, we cannot hide in the past. We are at war and our role as Christians is to stand up and pray for our leaders, support our troops and intercede for mercy to fall upon the Muslim people. We must also follow through in spiritual warfare, praying aggressively against terrorism and the demons that drive terrorists to fulfill evil.

In the grand scheme of things, the Bible tells us there is even a legitimate "time for war" (Ecc 3:9). This time is now. The sooner we switch to the war mode, the faster we will tap into the moral strength to defeat personal oppression. Self-pity and passivity will diminish; we will find God's grace to prevail. Beloved, it is conceivable that we will experience one or more major terrorist attacks in the near future. I am not resigned to this possibility; I am aggressively praying against it. However, if it happens, if I am knocked down by the suddenness of the assault, I will quickly stand back up. I will rise with the attitude of one who has entered the war mode.

"The LORD will go forth like a warrior, He will arouse His zeal like a man of war. He will utter a shout, yes, He will raise a war cry. He will prevail against His enemies" (Isaiah 42:13).

Note: Beginning September 24th through November 2nd, 2004, thousands of churches and ministries will be engaged in 40 days of prayer and fasting (see Intercessors For America's Website for more info. www.40daysusa.org).

www.frangipane.org

The Wind of Heaven The Breath of God
Patsy Shelton

Everything is changing. The world is changing, and My church is changing. The hearts of My people are changing. There is extreme change in the atmosphere. The tide has turned, and everything has changed.

Oh no My people don’t yet fathom the degree and the depth of the changes both in the natural and in the spirit, but it has all changed. I have rearranged everything to flow in My time frame, and in My Way. I am raising up a church, and it has been birthed in the earth through the hearts of those that have laid down their lives, and the brilliance and the glory of it will be astounding. It looks nothing like the previous church. There is death coming to the old, and incredible life coming to the new. The old church will be a mausoleum; even tombs for those that have chosen to remain in the old, and not come into the new. They are not willing to let go of the old ways, and be refreshed and renewed by this new move of My Spirit.

Tell My people that a wind is about to blow. A wind that they have not experienced before. This wind will carry them far above, and way beyond their wildest expectations. There is nothing in history to compare to what I am about to do in the earth. Oh yes, there have been great movements in the past, but they will not hold a light to what is about to begin to happen in the earth, in My church, and in the lives of My people.

And the anointing is increasing in increments it is building. For if I released the glory, and the power that I have in store for this hour, even the physical body would not be able to bear it. So, little by little, I am increasing the anointing. And it will culminate into wondrous miracles, wondrous signs and wonders. And as the velocity of this wind increases, and as it begins to flow through the souls of My people, there will be awe in the earth, and awe in the hearts of My people. The impossible and the miraculous will no longer be the exception, but they will become the norm. No longer a miracle here and a miracle there, but hours and days filled with the miraculous and the supernatural And this will extend to every area of the lives of My people, as this wind and this increase of the anointing takes them into the supernatural life that I have provided from them.

Many have felt it, and many have sensed it but now it will begin to manifest, and with each manifestation increase. Many have seen into the realm of the spirit, and many have even nearly touched the reality of it, but it has eluded My people until this time. No longer will they have to long and wait for this great wind to blow. For as I live, saith the Lord God, the time is now and the day is now, and the hour has come. This wind is the breath of their God, and I am going to breathe and cause a wind to blow from heaven that has never been released upon the earth, nor upon My people.

There have been seasons of preparation for those...that will allow Me to manifest My presence through them in this magnificent new way. Seasons of heartbreak, seasons of discouragement, seasons of disillusionment, seasons of crying out, “When Oh God, When will we see your presence in the earth?” Seasons of longing, and seasons of waiting. I tell you, saith the Lord your God, the season of waiting is over, and the season of longing is over. That which I have shown many glimpses of, and those that have sensed that something big was about to happen now it will no longer be a dream or a vision, but it will be a reality.

How will it be manifested? Through yielded vessels, even those that have been carriers of this vision. Even those that through intercession, weeping and crying before My Throne have made a way for things to be on earth as they are in heaven.

The velocity of the wind is increasing, and this generation will see the fullness of My power and My glory. I will with hold it no longer, for this is the appointed time, and this is the designated day, and this is the very hour of a move of My Spirit that man has not beheld afore this time.

Can you feel the breeze beginning to rush through your soul? Can you hear the sound of the wind gaining momentum? If you can, then you will be carried away, and caught up in a wind that cannot be seen with the natural eye. But, as this wind blows you will see where it has been, and you will see where it is going and you will become a part of this wind. The wind of My Spirit is being released from heaven, breathed by a living God, and everything is about to change, and all things rearranged, saith the Holy One of Israel.

Patsy Shelton pattiluepeacock@aol.com http://Word-Of-The-Lord-Today.InJesus.com

The Wisdom Of The Pharisees

Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net/articles/pharisees.html

"This man cannot be from God, because He does not keep the Sabbath day" (John 9:16ff).

"Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools" (Romans 1:22).

I have made the statement several times that most churches would not recognize the Lord Jesus even if He walked down the aisle on Sunday morning and sat on the altar. This statement is largely designed to shake people out of their complacency. It is highly unlikely that Jesus will actually go to church this Sunday. I do not believe Jesus attends many religious meetings, and this belief has a Scriptural basis: "He does not keep the Sabbath day." For that matter, He does not keep any day, for every day is His Day and He cannot be contained within a particular twenty-four hour period.

When you read the Gospels two things become quite clear. First, Jesus is undeniably, unquestionably GOD IN THE FLESH, Wholly Other. Second, the more religious you are, the less likely it is that you will see, recognize, and appreciate Him for Who He really is.

Sinners, on the other hand, had little trouble recognizing Him. The Samaritan woman may have been a despised outsider to the Jew's system of religion but it only took her a few minutes to realize that she had found the Messiah. The Roman centurion, an unworthy Gentile, nevertheless knew where to go when his servant was sick, and Jesus said this man's faith was greater than anyone in Israel. The Syrophoenician woman had enough faith to ask Jesus for only a few crumbs from the table, and even though she was not technically not a Jew, Jesus gave her everything she asked for. Yes, Jesus was indeed a friend of sinners, publicans, tax collectors, and women caught in adultery.

But look at His own people, the Jews. Listen to the religious leaders, the spiritual teachers of Israel, the professionals and the experts of prophecy and the Law. What is their verdict? How do they read Him?

* * * *

"This man cannot be from G_d." Cannot be? Are you sure? This man is opening the eyes of the blind, casting out devils, making the lame to walk, raising people from the dead, multiplying food, walking on water and teaching people to love one another - even love their enemies. This man cannot be from G_d? Why not? On what grounds are we going to reject him? We cannot deny that this man is performing powerful miracles and signs.

"This man cannot be from G_d, because he does not keep the Sabbath day." Well, I suppose that settles it. Y'shua cannot be from G_d, he cannot be a prophet, he cannot be the Messiah or the Son of G_d, or even a good Jew, because he does not keep the Sabbath day! Yes, it is all very clear now. How could we have missed that?

You know, I was almost swept away by this man. For a moment there I really was beginning to believe. He is very, very persuasive. But if he doesn't keep the Sabbath then he cannot be from G_d. And if he doesn't keep the Sabbath then he probably doesn't tithe, either. Does he pay the Temple tax? We should check on that, I bet he doesn't. You know, that reminds me, his disciples don't fast twice a week either. Even John's disciples fasted. Y'shua told his disciples there was no need to fast as long as He was with them! Oh, didn't you know? He eats and drinks with sinners - a little too much eating and drinking, if you know what I mean.

Something else I noticed, too... he doesn't wash before he eats. It's true! He said the outside of the cup doesn't matter, it's what's inside. Are you sure Y'shua is really a Rabbi? He hasn't been to any of our schools. I'm not sure where he comes up with his teachings. Get this. Y'shua was preaching in Capernaum and told them he came down from heaven! Not only that, but he said if they eat his flesh and drink his blood they will live forever! Strange, very strange. Many of his disciples got right up and walked out. I don't blame them. It's all very strange and very sick.

So where does Y'shua get his power? If He doesn't keep the Sabbath then whatever power he has can't come from G_d. If the power doesn't come from G_d then it must come from Beelzebub. How else can you explain it? That's why it's so easy for him to cast out demons!

Fellow Pharisees, this man Y'shua must be stopped. Not only that, he deserves to die. First, because he calls G_d his father. Y'shua also says he has the power to forgive sins. No one but G_d can forgive sins, so he is obviously guilty of blasphemy. Second, he does not keep the Sabbath. Now the Law of Moses says if anyone does not keep the Sabbath they must be put to death. Third...

Friends, you are witnessing the wisdom of the Pharisees in action. Jesus called them fools, blind leaders of the blind, snakes, and hypocrites who will not escape the damnation of hell. Amen, we say. How easy it is to look back on this evidence today and condemn the Jews for failing to recognize their Messiah and our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

However, I suggest that the sect of the Pharisees is alive and well today, only it is no longer a sect within Judaism, it is a sect within Churchianity that continues to differentiate people based on external religious rules and customs. The names and customs have changed, but the same old "wisdom" prevails:

"You cannot be a Christian if you don't go to church."

"God will not bless you unless you pay your tithes."

"You cannot know the truth unless you get it from the 1611 King James Version."

"If you leave the church you lose your spiritual covering."

"If you don't submit to authority you have a Jezebel spirit."

"Submission means never asking questions."

"A true prophet always encourages and never judges."

"Women be quiet."

"Jesus' real name is Y'shua."

"God's real name is G_d."

"Saturday, not Sunday."

"Sunday, not Saturday."

When you take all these things and add them up, what do you get? What is the result? Pride, spiritual elitism, narrow-mindedness, dullness, and darkness. In a word, I describe these people as DISTRACTED FROM THE SIMPLICITY OF CHRIST!

Religion is the result of becoming consumed, absorbed, vexed, and stressed out over the "many things" while completely overlooking that only One Thing is needed (cf. Luke 10:41,42). It is the scrupulous, agonizing work of straining out gnats and swallowing camels (Matthew 23:24). Taken to its absurd conclusion, it actually feeds that Spirit of Antichrist that is always fighting against the Testimony of Jesus.

In Acts 18 we find Paul preaching Jesus in Corinth. As is always the case, whenever you decide to preach JESUS AS HE IN FACT IS, it will attract the ire of the local religious establishment:

"When Gallio became governor of Achaia, some Jews rose in concerted action against Paul and brought him before the governor for judgment. They accused Paul of "persuading people to worship God in ways that are contrary to the law" (Acts 18:12,13, NLT).

You see? There it is again - the Law of Moses, Torah, the traditions and customs of the elders. Paul was always ready to debate the Jews. Being a Jew and a Pharisee for many years, Paul enjoyed the arguments and usually won them. Yet something different happened that day...

"Just as Paul started to make his defense, Gallio turned to Paul's accusers and said, 'Listen, you Jews, if this were a case involving some wrongdoing or a serious crime, I would be obliged to listen to you. But since it is merely a question of words and names and your Jewish laws, you take care of it. I refuse to judge such matters.' And he drove them out of the courtroom" (Acts 18:14-16, NLT).

Hallelujah! Thank God for Gallio! If an unbelieving Roman judge has enough discernment to confound the wisdom of the Pharisees, what about us? I pray God will give us the gift of single-mindedness in our pursuit of Christ and Christ alone. May God give us the courage to say, "If it is a question of Christ and His Kingdom I would be obliged to look at the issue more closely. But since it is merely a question of words and names, Sabbath days and holidays, religious rules about outward things, Bible versions and denominations, you take care of it yourself. I refuse to argue over such matters."

His yoke is easy! His burden is light! Come to Him and learn of Him. Repudiate the wisdom of the Pharisees and embrace this Man Who does not keep the Sabbath, because this Man is the Son of the Most High God, and there is therefore now NO condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus!

For more information:
ONE THING IS NEEDED
http://www.watchman.net/articles/onething.html
CHURCHIANITY TODAY
http://www.watchman.net/articles/churchianity.html
THE SIMPLICITY OF CHRIST
http://www.watchman.net/audio/ts102.html

I am your brother,
Chip Brogden
http://www.watchman.net

(c)2004 Watchman.Net. Permission is granted for non-commercial (free) distribution provided this notice appears.

He Must Increase
Chip Brogden

"He must increase, but I must decrease (John 3:30)."

These seven words found in John 3:30 contain the entire mystery of God's dealings with man from ages past to eternity future. "He [Christ] must increase." All of God's works are towards this end of increasing Christ. In other words, everything God has done, is doing, and will do is related towards revealing His Son and bringing us into the full-knowledge (epignosis) of Him. The goal is for Christ to have the preeminence in all things, beginning with us individually as disciples, then with the Church, and finally with all creation, "that He may be All in All."

He MUST increase. Isaiah tells us that there will be no end of the increase of His government and peace. In the beginning was the Word, and we can see how God has worked steadily from the beginning to increase Christ. From types and shadows in the Old Testament we see Christ coming into view. Then the Word is made flesh and dwells among us, and Christ is increased yet again. Next He comes to dwell within us, and this is a major increase. Finally, He begins to conform us to His own image through the indwelling Life. If we are growing up into Him then He is increasing daily. Eventually every knee will bow and every tongue will confess that Jesus Christ is Lord. Beyond this, we are told that God will continue to reveal His Son in the ages to come, bringing us into depths and dimensions of Christ that we cannot fathom.

God is not moving backward, but in the Son and through the Son, He moves steadily forward. Christ MUST increase. This is the Law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jesus. Just as we cannot have gravity without having the law of gravity, so it is impossible to have the Life of the Lord but not have the Law of that Life. And the Law of Life is that Christ must increase.

"But I must decrease." Why doesn't God reveal His Son to us, in all His glory, all at once? What prevents Christ from filling all things and having the preeminence now? Why do we not yet see all things submitted to Him? Because we must be decreased. If He is to become greater then I must become lesser. When Paul says, "Not I, but Christ," he is saying "He must increase, but I must decrease."

Just as all things are working together towards God's purpose of increasing Christ, so all things are working together towards decreasing us. It does not matter if we understand it or comprehend it. It does not matter if you believe in it or agree with it. You are being decreased just the same, and Christ is being increased. It MUST be so, therefore it IS so. Scientists call this decreasing "entropy", and it means, "inevitable and steady deterioration". We can observe this in creation. The present things are groaning and travailing in pain, deteriorating in order to make way for a new heaven and a new earth. We begin to die as soon as we are born. We can look in our own bodies for evidence of "inevitable and steady deterioration" as we move towards a redeemed body. But more importantly, WE, the "I", the "Self", is being decreased that Christ may fill us.

How are we decreased? Let us say right away that it is not your duty to decrease yourself, to become an ascetic, and crawl around in the dirt in abject poverty. It is not an outward decreasing, but an inward decreasing, a coming to the end of ourselves. The Kingdom of God belongs to the poor in spirit. Earlier, John said, "A man can have nothing except he receive it from heaven." Now we may have quite a bit, but if we obtained it from a source other than Christ, it amounts to nothing. Only those sufficiently decreased, the poor in spirit, can see this. This poverty cannot be achieved through self-effort. In fact, part of the decreasing process is the realization that I can do nothing of myself, including decreasing myself. Just as I cannot commit suicide by crucifixion, so I cannot crucify my flesh. The only way to learn this is to fail hundreds, even thousands of times. Then we will learn to say, "I have no confidence in the flesh."

In the world we will experience temptations, testings, and trials. We will experience persecution, tribulation, and afflictions of soul and body. We will experience mistreatment and misunderstanding. It is not a question of God allowing or not allowing things to happen. It is part of living. Some things we do to ourselves, other things we do to each other. Our Father knows about every bird which falls to the ground, but He does not always prevent it from falling.

What are we to learn from this? That our response to what happens is more important than what happens. Here is a mystery: one man's experience drives him to curse God, while another man's identical experience drives him to bless God. Your response to what happens is more important than what happens.

If we see that offenses are bound to come, that there is no way to live in the world apart from what happens, then we must see that the difference between overcoming and not overcoming lies in our response to what happens.

Paul did not pray to be weak so that he could be strong. Naturally speaking, we despise weakness. We prefer strength. But human strength is an illusion. It is not true strength. The Lord shows us His grace is made perfect (or, is matured) through our weakness. Now, Paul rejoices in his weakness, in his being decreased: for "when I am weak, then I am strong." To the degree that we accept the decrease of ourselves, to that degree will we experience the increasing of Christ.

We cannot walk the narrow path until we have entered the narrow gate. But we cannot assume that because we have entered the narrow gate we are now finished. Most people lay stress on the gate, and their goal is to get people just far enough through the gate that they can claim salvation. That is where most of the Church sits today, just inside the narrow gate, rejoicing in a future salvation, a future heaven, a future return of Christ, and a future reward. But the narrow gate is only the beginning. The narrow gate only opens the door to the narrow way. It is the narrow way which leads to Life, and few find it. Fewer still walk to the end of it.

Now what we are discussing is an event as well as a process. There is a once-and-for-all decision to follow Christ, but we have to keep on following. Entering the gate is a once-and-for-all event, but walking the path is a process. We gain everything when we enter the gate, but we must walk the path in order to now live out of what we have. We are new creations, but we are being changed daily into the image of Christ. We died with Christ once: yet we die daily. We were crucified with Him once: yet we take up the cross daily. We were raised with Him once: yet we experience His Life daily. We were ascended with Him and we were seated with Him in the heavenlies once: but we live out the heavenly position in our daily walk, daily ascending above the earth, above the natural, to sit with Him in His throne as overcomers.

God wills that "all men would be saved (narrow gate) and would come to the full-knowledge [epignosis] of Truth (narrow way)." Those who merely enter the narrow gate have yet to satisfy God's heart. There is rejoicing in heaven over one sinner who repents, but as Arthur Katz has said, "Many are saved, but few are converted." It is God's will, His desire, that we come to the end of ourselves so that Christ may have the preeminence in us. Jesus said, "If you have seen Me, you have seen the Father." Hebrews tells us that Christ is the brightness of God's glory, and the express image (or exact representation) of His person. Likewise, God's purpose for us as disciples (and by extension, the Church) is "if you have seen a disciple, you have seen Jesus." The Christian is to be the brightness of Christ's glory, and the exact representation of His person. I lack the vocabulary to express this adequately, but I trust the Lord will show us.

This is beyond "mere salvation", this is conversion, this is conformity to the very image of Christ. He most certainly does not have the preeminence in us now, thus, "He must increase, but I must decrease."

We have emphasized the Church for so long that we have lost sight of the individual disciples of which the Church consists. If one member lacks, the entire Body goes lacking. It is not so much a problem with the Church failing to apprehend its fullness as it is the individual disciples of the Lord failing to count the cost, suffer all as loss, and progress down the narrow way towards Christ as All in All. As the disciples go, so goes the Church. If Christ does not have the preeminence in the Church, it is because He does not have the preeminence in us as disciples.

If we have truly entered the gate and are walking the path, if we have truly yielded our lives to Him and long to know Him, then everything we experience is working to increase Christ and decrease us. On the positive side, the Holy Spirit is working to bring us into a more perfect knowledge of Christ. The Spirit is increasing Him, leading us into "all Truth", towards epignosis. On the negative side, the principle of the Cross is working to decrease us, to bring us to the end of ourselves, to reduce us to nothing. Eastern mysticism has long been aware of this positive and negative at work, it has simply misunderstood what it means and misappropriated it towards an end other than Christ. They have observed a principle but lack the Truth to explain the principle.

We must see that for every decrease of Self, Christ is increased. Even in our discussions we groan inwardly about having to die daily, having to give up our way and our will. We ought instead to be excited about Christ being increased, and how much He stands to gain in us and through us. He MUST increase, but you MUST decrease. It is better to relinquish everything now, on a voluntary basis, and lose our lives in order to gain our real Life. It is more glorious to enter the Kingdom out of a desire to give Christ the preeminence than to enter kicking and screaming and crying because we love ourselves too much. Make no mistake, if it is the Kingdom you seek, the Kingdom you will find, but you must be changed in order to enter therein. If you seek power from God you will have to accept weakness in yourself. If you want to rule with Him you must suffer with Him. If you want His Life you must give up your life. You can have either one you want, but you cannot have both. There is no increase without decrease, and there is no decrease without increase.

May the Son be increased through these words. Amen.

To Whom Am I Sent?
Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net/articles/sent.html

"Then Jesus said, 'Assuredly, I say to you, no prophet is accepted in his own country. But I tell you truly, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elijah, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, and there was a great famine throughout all the land; but to none of them was Elijah sent except to Zarephath, in the region of Sidon, to a woman who was a widow. And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Elisha the prophet, and none of them was cleansed except Naaman the Syrian'. So all those in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath, and rose up and thrust Him out of the city; and they led Him to the brow of the hill on which their city was built, that they might throw Him down over the cliff. Then passing through the midst of them, He went His way" (Luke 4:24-30, NKJV).

In Scripture we find a principle that governs all spiritual work. This principle applies to anyone and everyone who undertakes to do something on behalf of the Kingdom of God, whether it is preaching, teaching, writing, prophesying, or planting churches. This principle even applied to the Lord Jesus during His earthly ministry. So it is critically important that we identify this principle to ensure that we, too, are cooperating with God as we go about the work He has called us to do.

THE CRITICAL COMPONENT: BEING SENT

When it comes to Christian work and ministry, many workers, ministries and churches are motivated by a perceived NEED. We feel there is a need for something, whether it be a specific ministry, a missionary outreach, a new church, or a Bible study; and so we rise up to meet that need. However, this manner of undertaking spiritual work is purely a human concept. It is of the flesh; it is of the world. It is the same basis upon which a business discovers a need and then creates a product or service to meet that need. The Kingdom of God, however, does not conduct itself according to the principles of business, economics, marketing, or salesmanship.

While teaching in the synagogue of Nazareth, Jesus perceived that the people expected Him to cure the sick and perform miracles just as He had done in other places - after all, Nazareth is where He grew up. However, Jesus did not respond to their expectation. Instead, He pointed out that there were many widows and lepers in Israel during the time of the prophets Elijah and Elisha. The widows needed food, and the lepers needed healing. Naturally speaking, it made sense for Elijah and Elisha to help those who were right in front of them. But Elijah went to a widow in Zarephath, and Elisha went to a leper in Syria, ignoring all the widows and lepers in their own nation who needed help.

How did Jesus explain this? The answer He gave is quite simple: "But to none of them was Elijah sent." The critical component was not the many who were in NEED, but the one to whom he was SENT. Although not specifically stated, the same principle applied to Elisha as well. Then, Jesus applied the principle to Himself, and refused to perform any miracles in Nazareth. Of course this angered the people, and their subsequent attempt to kill the Lord Jesus only demonstrated that they were, in fact, not worthy of Him.

So the question is not, "Who has a need?" but rather, "To whom am I sent?" Although the two sound very similar, in actual experience the difference is like day and night.

RESPONDING TO NEED VERSUS RESPONDING TO GOD

"Early the next morning Jesus went out into the wilderness. The crowds searched everywhere for Him, and when they finally found Him, they begged Him not to leave them. But He replied, "I must preach the Good News of the Kingdom of God in other places, too, because that is why I was sent" (Luke 4:42,43, NLT).

If we are primarily motivated by what other people want, expect, and need then we will be tempted to stay longer than we should stay, or say more than we ought to say. When the crowd is begging for more, most Christian workers and preachers are only too eager to accommodate them. But Jesus had an acute sense of purpose because He knew to whom He had been sent. As a result, He did not bow down to the will of the people and go beyond the time and place appointed Him by His Father, even though they begged Him to stay. He was responding to what God needed, not what the people needed.

A Christian should realize that he or she is a unique member of the Body of Christ and not the entire Body all at once. We are many parts that together make up the whole. Each individual member has its own unique purpose, function, and role. The responsibility for God's work is divided among many members. We are not called to be all things to all people. We are not called to meet every need. God sets each person in the Body of Christ as it pleases Him, and He is the One Who sends us. We do not send ourselves. We do not determine what we would like to do. We do not analyze the situation with our limited understanding and come up with a solution. The Head determines what needs to be done, and the members simply perform it.

Speaking from my own experience, I have noticed three stages of development in my Christian work. In the early days of ministry I would seek invitations to speak. I let it be known that I would go anywhere and do anything. After I achieved a certain level of recognition I no longer had to seek invitations, I could simply respond to invitations as they came to me. I would go wherever and whenever I was invited. Certainly the Lord honored His Word and people were blessed. However, I recognize now that this seeking and responding is simply the striving of the flesh. For some time now we have been in quite a different season, a season in which we neither seek invitations nor go whenever we are invited. Sometimes we do indeed go when we are invited, sometimes we do not go. Once in awhile we go with no invitation at all.

How do we explain this? Simply put, the governing principle for us is no longer, "Who will have us?" Instead, the question is, "To whom are we sent?" It is one thing to accept an invitation, but it is quite another thing to be sent of the Lord. If I respond solely on the basis of someone's need or invitation then I cannot rest assured that I am being sent - I only know that I am going. Christians in general are much too casual in this regard. Without the definite sending of the Lord we are totally on our own, lacking spiritual discernment, power, and authority. On the other hand, if we are being sent, we are going in the Name of Jesus, and as His representatives, we enjoy all the blessing, power, anointing, and authority of Heaven.

There are three aspects of being sent: going only WHEN you are sent, going only WHERE you are sent, and speaking only to WHOM you are sent. We will look at each three more particularly.

GOING ONLY WHEN YOU ARE SENT

"So they, being sent forth by the Holy Ghost, departed..." (Acts 13:4a).

When Paul and the other Christians in Antioch gathered together there were many souls to be saved, many churches to be planted, and many disciples to be instructed. There was much work to be done, but instead of organizing the work according to the obvious need, they ministered to the Lord and waited until the Spirit gave them instructions. Only when the Spirit spoke and sent them forth did they actually depart.

In the New Testament we do not find a pattern for how the church should evangelize the world, nor do we discover a plan for reaching the lost, or a method for planting churches. Those who focus all their attention on patterns, plans, and methods fail to realize that patterns, plans, and methods are all subject to change and depend upon time, culture, nationality, people, economy, gifts, personalities, and a myriad of other variables. There is a maxim that says, "Methods are many, but principles are few; methods will change, but principles never do."

So the key is not trying to imitate a New Testament pattern from two millenniums past, but practicing a New Testament principle that never changes. What is the principle? Simply this: they were completely governed by the Spirit; and since we, too, have the same Spirit, we likewise may be led of Him. Undoubtedly the Spirit may lead us to do some similar things, but our commonality is not in what is being done, but rather, Who is doing it. Either we are going to come up with a plan and do it ourselves or we are going to let the Spirit do it through us as He sees fit. When the Day of Pentecost came the Spirit Himself filled them. From that day forward, it was the Spirit that anointed them, gave them words to speak, appointed elders, sent apostles, and raised up local churches.

In fact, the very word "apostle" means "one who is sent". According to popular teaching, someone who goes out to plant churches is an apostle. This sounds correct, but it is misleading. Ironically, an apostle is not simply anyone who goes, but someone who is sent. The one who merely goes travels on his own authority, but the one who is sent travels under someone else's authority. An apostle does not simply take it upon himself to go out and do something; he waits until he is sent. We have plenty of people who know how to go - what we need now is people who know how to be sent.

GOING ONLY WHERE YOU ARE SENT

"Now when they had gone through Phrygia and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden by the Holy Spirit to preach the word in Asia. After they had come to Mysia, they tried to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit did not permit them" (Acts 16:6,7, NKJV).

Our destination, and well as our departure, must be governed by the Spirit. How intriguing that the Spirit actually forbade them to preach the word in Asia and Bithynia! This ought to be proof enough that "need", in and of itself, is insufficient guidance. The only thing that matters is being sent, and it is critical that we go only where the Spirit sends us.

The apostles were indeed sent forth by the Spirit, yet that same Spirit did not permit them to just go wherever they pleased. The Spirit prevented them twice before they understood that Macedonia, not Asia or Bithynia, was the intended destination. Later we see that Paul indeed went to Asia and a tremendous work was founded. This tells us that a "no" today does not mean a "no" is forever; nevertheless, when the Spirit forbids us, we dare not take matters into our own hands and go where we have not been sent.

Those with an evangelical mindset often assume that since Jesus said, "Go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature" they do not have to pray, wait, or be led by the Spirit. Having this word from Jesus they go forth and blaze their own trail.

We must realize, however, that this general command of Jesus does not preclude the necessity to only go where the Spirit is sending us at that particular moment. Generally speaking, the Church is sent to the whole world; but we ought to ask ourselves, as individual disciples and members of the Body of Christ, "To whom, specifically, am I sent today?" It should be obvious that the Church as a whole is commanded to go into all the world, while specific members are sent to meet specific needs in specific parts of the world. God is not the author of confusion, but order.

SPEAKING ONLY TO WHOM YOU ARE SENT

"Arise therefore, go down and go with them, doubting nothing; for I have sent them" (Acts 10:20, NKJV).

It was God Who told Cornelius to send for Peter. It was God Who told Peter to go to Cornelius. When God brought these two together, Peter had hardly begun to speak when the Spirit fell on those who were listening. It should be seen that the success of the mission to Cornelius' house had less to do with Peter's ability to speak and more to do with the audience's ability to hear. When we speak only to whom we are sent then we will see dramatic results. Trying to speak to everyone in general and no one in particular is a colossal waste of time and demonstrates poor stewardship. We ought not to give ten coins to someone who can only handle five, and we ought not to give five coins to someone who cannot handle even one. It is clear that much time is wasted trying to convince, persuade, plead, argue, teach, and help people to whom God has not sent us. If we will wait for the Spirit of God we will save ourselves a lot of time, effort and energy. A worker who indiscriminately throws precious seed on rocky ground and gives pearls to pigs is not being a wise, faithful, and profitable servant.

It is very difficult for younger believers to grasp this. They are filled with power, and knowledge, and zeal, and enthusiasm. Often they are very gifted and talented. Most of the time they have a genuine call from God. What they lack is the patience to wait for the Spirit to send them, and the maturity to know to whom they are sent. So when they see a need they move at once to fill that need, incorrectly assuming that it is their Christian duty and calling to meet every need around them. At times it seems as if God is blessing the work of their hands. At other times it seems as if they are running in quicksand. They work and toil and become weighed down with the meeting of many needs. Before long, the work of the Lord becomes more important than the Lord of the work.

Confronted with a nation full of widows and lepers in need, these young Elijahs and Elishas would no doubt begin to undertake the huge task of feeding all the widows and healing all the lepers, solely on the basis of what they think needs to be done. As a result, they may have some initial successes, but before long they are completely drained of spiritual power and must rely upon fleshly methods to keep everything going. The hasty and the impatient do not enjoy that inner strength that comes to those who only labor in the field that God has sent them.

Many churches, ministries, missionary endeavors, and outreach programs have been birthed, not by the Spirit of God, but by well-meaning "Marthas" who are "cumbered about with much serving." Before long the entire organization is filled with Christians who are "troubled over many things" and there are few if any "Marys" left who know how to sit at the Lord's feet and hear His Word. This whole situation can be avoided if we will stop looking at man's need and simply ask, "To whom am I sent?"

SUMMATION

"Now as [Paul] reasoned about righteousness, self-control, and the judgment to come, Felix was afraid and answered, 'Go away for now; when I have a convenient time I will call for you'" (Acts 24:25, NLT).

When the time is short we must make the most of every opportunity and waste nothing. Ordinarily if we speak the Word to someone and they send us away the best advice is to leave. Unfortunately, Paul was in prison and could not get away. Felix sent for him often but nothing ever changed. In this manner Paul witnessed to Felix for two years without any result whatsoever. Clearly this was a ruse of the enemy designed to frustrate the gifted apostle and sap his strength. Paul the prisoner had no choice but to come when Felix called for him; we who are free ought to be careful lest we find ourselves spending all our time talking to a Felix when there is a Cornelius praying to hear us speak the very words that Felix takes for granted.

Jesus says that His yoke is easy and His burden is light. Often we take the easy yoke and the light burden of the Lord and turn it into a difficult yoke and a heavy burden. This happens when we go beyond the place God has appointed us and take it upon ourselves to do things He has not called us to do, go to places He has not called us to go to, and speak with people to whom we have not been sent.

We cannot afford to become narrow-minded and legalistic in this regard, however. Jesus clearly stated that He was sent to the lost sheep of the house of Israel (Matthew 15:24); but that did not stop Him from ministering to an occasional Samaritan woman or Roman officer. Jesus recognized that these, too, were part of the "other sheep" that needed to be gathered into the fold (John 10:16). How will we know the difference? We will wait for the Spirit to show us.

To whom are YOU sent? Once this issue is settled, you may then go forth in the power and authority of Christ and see His Kingdom increased. Until then, it is better to stay where you are. May the Lord lead us by His Spirit and preserve both our going out and our coming in. Amen.

Chip Brogden
http://www.watchman.net

Two Visitations
Judy Curmi

7-4-2004

Do you want a visitation? Then follow me! How can you expect to be visited by the Great I AM if your thoughts are busy elsewhere and the things of my kingdom are only of passing interest to you?

Too many of my children only think of me on “special occasions” or when it fits into their own schemes and plans. I am not a God who will accept second place in the hearts of those who claim to be mine. Nor will I play second fiddle to all of those other things that are of more importance to you than myself.

My kingdom is not divided against itself. In fact, it is not divided at all. My own serve me with joy and gladness. Their eyes are not always wandering off to catch a glimpse of the things of the world. Nor are they divided in their loyalties.

The loyalties of the world are very fickle and usually, in the end, are involved in serving and pleasing one’s self. SELF is a “dirty word” in my kingdom. That is because the worship, elevation and adulation of self leads to defilement and uncleanness.

Self and servanthood do not mix. If “self” is ink and “servanthood “ is a glass of water, as soon as the ink (self) is injected into the water it is no longer clean or pure. It has become thoroughly stained and dirty.

So you and I can not reside in the same place. Either you are on the top or I am on the top, but you can only worship one or the other. You can not worship both at once. You can not have it both ways.

The thoughts I have for you are good thoughts. The Plans I have for you are good Plans.* Yet very few even want to know about my Plans, because they have their own plan for their life. They have their own road they have chosen to walk on and consulting me is not a part of their plan.

Soon I am going to appear in the midst of my people in a manner unheard of in the annals of human history. No part of the earth will be exempt from my visitation, but I am coming to those who love me and call me Lord. This means they have been willing to put me in charge of their lives and have, in truth, made me their Master. This is very different than just calling me “Savior”, but then proceeding basically on a path of one’s own making.

Time is so short, yet few are even remotely prepared. To those ones who have searched for me diligently I say: You will come to know me in a way that far surpasses your greatest longings and expectations. For I am truly far greater than anything your mind could ever imagine or envision. You will know my Love and you will know my mighty power. The intimacy you have so greatly desired with me will be yours.

To the rest I say: You are on the wrong road. You are using the wrong map and the road signs are seductive but false. You were created to have a relationship with ME. The direction you are heading will not take you to this destination, but to a destination that will appall you.

I have given many warnings. I have shown great patience and mercy. The hour is at hand for my visitation. My glory will cover the earth.

Hab. 2:14 For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea.

But someone else is about to make a “great visitation” also. For I tell you my angels are about to cast Satan and his minions out of the heavens forever. I warned what a great rage he would be in when this day finally came.

Rev. 12:7-12 And there was war in heaven, Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon and his angels fought but did not prevail, neither was their place found any more in heaven. Thus the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent called the Devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world; he was cast out on the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

And I heard a loud voice in heaven saying, Now the deliverance and the power and the kingdom of our God and the power of his Christ have been accomplished; for the accuser of our brethren, who accused them before God day and night, is cast down. And they have conquered him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony; and they did not spare themselves even to death.

Therefore rejoice, O heavens and you who dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and of the sea! For the Devil has come down to you; and his wrath is great, because he knows that his time is short.

If you are not under the shadow on my wings, you will be bait for his evil schemes and plans. Would you like to be a “piece of meat” or a “bit of bait” for the anti-Christ? So again I tell you, THE HOUR IS VERY LATE. YOU MUST GET YOUR HOUSE IN ORDER NOW.

The Most High God

Jer. 29:11-13 For I know the thoughts that I think towards you, says the Lord, thoughts of peace and not evil, to give you a good hope at the end. Then you shall call upon me and pray to me. And when you seek me with all your heart, you shall find me, says the Lord.*

Author’s note: We are told that when Satan is evicted from the heavenlies he will first try to persecute and destroy the remaining Jews on earth. When this plan fails he will then come after the offspring of the Jews, the Christians.

Rev. 12:13-17 And when the dragon saw that he was cast sown to the earth, he pursued the woman who had given birth to a son. And to the woman were given two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly from the presence of the serpent to the wilderness, into her place, where she would be nourished for years and months and days.
Then the serpent sent a flood of water out of his mouth after the woman, so that he might cause her to be swept away by the flood. But the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed up the water, which the dragon had spouted out of his mouth.
And the dragon was enraged at the woman, and he went to make war with the rest of her children, who keep the commandments of God and have the testimony of Jesus.

The stream of water symbolizes words streaming from Satan’s mouth: invectives, words of slander, hatred, violence and incitement to persecution and murder. These words are for those individuals who are willing to listen to Satan and come into agreement with him. These individuals will be his hands and feet on earth to persecute and kill as many Jews and Christians as possible before the time of the end.

This profoundly evil “water” (water of death flooding from Satan’s mouth) is the counterfeit to the living water Jesus promised [John 4:10-11, John 7:38] and the waters of life that stream from the throne of God.

Rev. 22:1 And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, gushing out of the throne of God and of the Lamb.

The Weeping Room Pathway to Strategy

Jennifer Miller

One day as I was in prayer the Lord began to open up my eyes to a spiritual encounter. I saw myself being taken up to heaven. Before me I saw a huge house with many rooms. I knew instantly that this was the 'Father's House'. I could feel the love of the father drawing me in, so I began to run as fast as I could to enter the house. As I entered, the Lord walked with me through many rooms, each one packed with spiritual meaning.

He quietly invited me to follow Him into the most beautiful room in the whole house- the intimacy room. It was absolutely extravagant and beautiful. Upon entering the room, I was overwhelmed with love and wanted to stay there forever. In the Spirit I could hear other people (other believers) in all the different rooms of the house. Some were studying books in the library; others were becoming intoxicated in the spiritual wine cellar. I was somewhat surprised that everyone wasn't in the intimacy room since it was the most beautiful room in the whole house.

As I was admiring this intimacy chamber, I noticed a little wooden hatch door on the floor adjacent to the bed. It seemed really odd to me, because it wasn't fancy and hardly seemed to fit with the rest of the room. I asked the Lord why it was there, and He told me that it led down to another room in the house. I asked Him why He would put this door so close to the most beautiful thing in the whole room, the bed. He responded, "I keep it here, because down there is where I spend most of my time". Instantly my curiosity was stirred so I asked what was down there. He said it was called the "Weeping Room".

Although it hardly sounded like a room I wanted to be in, there was a cry in my heart that said that if that is where the Lord spends His time, then that is where I want to go. I asked Him if I could go down there with Him, and He responded "Very few will choose to go down there, it's not extravagant like this room, it's lonely, it's not comfortable, and you have to get very low to fit through the door." I told Him that I didn't care what the conditions would be like; I just really wanted to be wherever He was.

So we opened the little hatch door and began to slowly climb down a dark staircase until we came upon the tiny room. I had to get on my knees to fit through the door because it was so small. As we entered the room it was very simple. All it consisted of was a small wooden chair. One of the walls had a small window in it. The Lord took His seat on the chair and turned His face to look out the window. Instantly I became aware of why this room was called the weeping room.

As you looked out the window-you could see and hear every single cry coming from people on the earth. You could see every single act of injustice all at the same time. Every starving child crying out to God, every woman being raped, every moan of the rejected. You could hear every prayer, every cry all at the same time. The Lord sat in His chair and watched and heard it all.

At once I was overwhelmed with intercession and began to weep. I wept for hours. I wept for those who were hurting, but even more-I was undone by this beautiful King who would choose to spend His time in this place; This King who paid such attention to every cry and who was so full of compassion. As I sat and wept with the Lord, I began to 'feel' His heart-and all my selfish ambition began to fade away.

While we were in that place I noticed that there was another door in the weeping room. I asked the Lord what was behind that door and He told me that was where the 'Strategy Room' was. As He said those words, instantly in my spirit I knew in that room divine strategy for end-time revival was available. Although the door was still closed, I recognized that Wisdom and Revelation where in there.

Heavenly blueprints were laid out to see the fulfillment of His kingdom coming to earth from that room. It was like the hidden room that everybody searches for. Everyone longs to have divine strategy. I immediately asked if I could go in there and the Lord soberly told me that I didn't 'fit through the door'. I instantly understood that I had to spend time in the weeping room. As I began to really apprehend the heart of God for the poor and the broken, then issues of my soulish nature would be stripped away until I would become small enough to fit through the door.

At that moment everything became clear. This was the only way to access divine strategy. From the place of intimacy God invites us in to a deeper level- He beckons us into the weeping room-a place where we choose to see what He sees and feel what He feels. And as we spend time getting the heart of God, things of our flesh begin to be stripped away until we are small enough to fit through the door that leads to the strategy room.

I had this encounter over two years ago but I believe that God is now moving many in the church from the place of intimacy into weeping. This will lead them into the strategy room. In actuality, you never have to leave the intimacy room; you just discover the deeper levels. Many have already surrendered themselves to the weeping room and extravagantly pursued the heart of God for the broken- they are now being invited into the strategy room.

I had another encounter a little over a year ago in which I heard a loud voice say, "It's Time!" and in the Spirit I saw the strategy room door swing open. God is inviting us into divine strategy that will release a global harvest of souls, and establish the revelation of His kingdom on earth through overcoming saints.

I believe that as we enter the "strategy room," we will be compelled and moved by what we have seen and felt in the weeping room. I have a sense that some have gone before us into the strategy room. Unfortunately, most quickly forgot what the strategy was for and used it to build their own kingdom. (Haggai 1:3-7) God is in the process of raising up a whole company of believers who are repulsed at the idea of building their own kingdom. This company will have their hearts truly branded with passion and compassion. These are the ones that God is looking to release into the strategy room. "It's Time!"

The Way Up Is Down

Jeannette Rodgers

July 23, 2004

Just sharing this blessing of a reminder of humility that I have attached below at the end of what the Holy Spirit has revealed unto me. We must be humble in the sight of the Lord that HE would be exalted and that HE would lift us up. That our Lord could use us to draw men unto Him by His spirit in us. The way up is truly down. The higher you go the more humble you become. If you desire to be used greatly by our Lord and in the Lord you must first be willing to lift others up. In order to lift someone up you must be underneath to give the boost. There is a cost in laying our lives down so that Christ may live in us and be lifted up. To desire to be one in position of authority is truly just being willing to be the last, to be willing to let others go first, to be willing to be the first to be last. Those who are moving in greater anointing are those God has lifted up because they are allowing HIM to be exalted in them and not them being exalted in themselves. As I write I am being reminded by the Holy Spirit that in my childhood I was with a bunch of friends trying to jump a fence.(No questions here please as to why..haha) Myself and one other person were hand picked to be the ones to put our hands together to make a step for the others to step into our hands to elevate them up to grab onto the top of the fence so they could jump over. This meant staying at the bottom while others went up? How was it that I was chosen for this job. I wanted to be the first one up. Well, it didn’t work out that way. One by one this group of friends put their weight into our hands with shoes on and all as they were being propped up to get up and get over while we were at the bottom doing all the work. Then I had to use my hands alone to help my friend who was helping me get the others up. There I was now wondering after I had used my own hands to help others get up and over this fence how was I going to get help up for myself? I had to jump and climb and was pulled up by my arms by the others. I was the last to go up. It was the hardest for me because I didn’t have anyone boosting me up but I remembered yet the joy in helping to get them up and the frustration of all that I had to do to get up myself.

I see what the Lord is saying, Are you in a place where you feel you have been left for last or forgotten because you have helped others get up and get over. Are you thinking what about me? I am always putting others first, and always being left behind. Are you wondering why it is that you are always encouraging others but it seems that you cant get any yourself? Do you find yourself always giving and yet hardly receiving? It is because you have allowed God to use you the Way Jesus walked Himself. You are in a good place according to the word of God. Not easy, but wonderful that Jesus is moving through you.

I want to encourage you at this time with the reminder of David:

1 Samuel 30:6.
And David was greatly distressed; for the people spake of stoning him, because the soul of all the people was grieved, every man for his sons and for his daughters: but David encouraged himself in the LORD his God*.*

You are not forgotten. You have not been abandoned. You have chosen to let God use you to bring others up. Give Him glory!! The hand of God will pull you up. His strength will hold you up. HIS peace will keep you. His grace will sustain you. You are the bridge, you are the stepping stone. It is not easy and sometimes it will hurt but there is great reward in Him; knowing you were the hand that held someone else’s, the hand God used to heal someone, the heart God used to have compassion for someone, the feet that walked somewhere HE needed you to be, the voice He uses to speak Life into the lifeless, to give hope to the hopeless, to show Jesus Lives in you.
Your reward is life now and everlasting in Jesus Christ.

Thank Him for using you to elevate others for HIM. As we all continue to move forward in the Lord I pray blessings from our Father of wisdom, peace and strength upon us all in great abundance. His grace truly is sufficient. That we would be yielded to HIS will for our lives even at the hardest of times or the hardest of places even if it is for someone else. We may not understand all that He is doing but we can trust that it is ALL GOOD in HIM. If it leads one soul to Him or shows His love to the unlovely or brings compassion to the callous or brings the proud to humbleness, humility or repentance. Praise be to God who lives and reigns in majesty, dominion and power. Glory be to our King who has purpose in all things. Let HIS light shine in us and through us in the darkest of places that there will be no darkness where HIS Light ever so shines. We can because He is within us.

Rise up within us Lord as we humble ourselves unto YOU that your will shall be done and that we may be the bridge for you, the stepping stones for others to come closer to You and to salvation in You and to rest, peace, hope and Life abundantly.

Blessings,
Jeannette Rodgers

THE WAY UP IS DOWN

Luther and Zwingli are theologians who lived between the end of the 15th and the middle of the 16th century. These two individual's are among the many people who have contributed to our understanding of the scriptures today.

The following account in Zwingli's life provides us with a beautiful illustration of humility.

During the great Reformation in Europe, Luther and Zwingli found themselves at odds in their concern for the movements they were leading. Early one morning, Zwingli walked out on the mountains of Switzerland and a soul-stirring sight confronted him.

He saw two goats making their way over a narrow path on the mountain. One was ascending the trail, the other descending. He also noticed that they must pass at a point where the trail was so narrow that there was room for only one goat. He watched to see what would happen.

The animals rounded a turn in the path which brought them in full view of each other. They backed up, as though ready for a lunge, and then the most amazing thing happened. The goat on the trail below lay down in the path, while the goat above him walked over his back. The first animal then arose and continued his journey up the trail.

To Zwingli this meant that the way down is the way up. Christ humbled Himself so that men could walk over Him into the Kingdom of light, knowing that afterward He would be exalted.

Encyclopedia of 7700 illustrations - facts and quotations for pastors, teachers and Christian workers. Tan, P. L. (1996, 1979)

Jeannette Rodgers
PO Box 302
Killeen, Texas 76540
Jeannette Rodgers Ministries
www.NewWineToday.org

To subscribe to prophetic mailings please reply with name and email address to NewWineToday@Aol.Com

Joel 2:19- I AM sending you NEW WINE, OIL, and GRAIN...
Enough to satisfy you FULLY.

Joel 3:18-And it shall come to pass in that day, that the mountains shall drop down new wine, and the hills shall flow with milk, and all the rivers of Judah shall flow with waters, and a fountain shall come forth out of the house of the LORD, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

Breathe in ME
Jeannette Rodgers

July 11, 2004
Ezekiel 37:1-14
I implore you in this hour to call upon ME for I am inclining My ear unto you. For as you call unto Me I have already heard your cry. I have answered you before you called, yet I await your call that I may have fellowship and relationship with you. I love you. For in this time you have done all you can do and I am waiting for you to call upon Me. I have seen your exhaustion and I have heard you crying "I am tired Lord". I am running out of breath. I have seen you running the race and have slowed down because you cannot breathe. You have been trying to catch your breath. Trials, tests, circumstances and the battlefield of life have hit your windpipe causing you to lose your breath but today I say unto you...Breathe in ME....For I am sending you an exhilarating, energizing, refreshing, reviving burst of cool air that will rush through those things that have blocked your windpipe from allowing you to breathe freely.

I will be the strength that you need and the Breath that will keep you going, help you endure and lift you up. For as you inhale My life you will exhale yours. Breath in ME oh child of Mine, Breathe in all that I have for you, Breathe in My plans that you may walk them out, Breathe in My will for you that you may see all that I have for you, Breathe in My love that you may also love the unlovely and that you might love yourself the way I love you and love how I have formed you.

Breathe in ME, Breathe in ME, For when you inhale My presence, My strength, My wisdom, My Spirit, My peace, and all that I AM you shall have the breath that is needed to endure to the end. I will be all the Air you will need. I am clearing all things that would impair your breathing. You shall breathe with ease as I breath upon you.

Today I say, I AM will be the Air you breathe. Breathe My presence that I will be all the breath you will need for Life. Yes, today in this hour I am clearing the windpipe of all particles that have kept you from breathing with ease. Breathe in ME My child, Breathe in ME, and receive all that I AM sending you with the Air that I AM.

For as you inhale in Me, you shall receive peace, rest, strength and endurance. As you exhale; all things that have come against you shall be removed as you trust in Me and allow Me to be your breath. Some may have to cough up particles that caused this impairment. In the exhale let it go that it would no longer be an impairment to you.
No artificial respiration is needed if you will simply trust in Me. I have plans for you that require you to await My timing and My breath that will sustain you. I will resuscitate your Life as you inhale Life in Me.

Breathe in ME.

The Way Up Is Down

Jeannette Rodgers

July 23, 2004

Just sharing this blessing of a reminder of humility that I have attached below at the end of what the Holy Spirit has revealed unto me. We must be humble in the sight of the Lord that HE would be exalted and that HE would lift us up. That our Lord could use us to draw men unto Him by His spirit in us. The way up is truly down. The higher you go the more humble you become. If you desire to be used greatly by our Lord and in the Lord you must first be willing to lift others up. In order to lift someone up you must be underneath to give the boost. There is a cost in laying our lives down so that Christ may live in us and be lifted up. To desire to be one in position of authority is truly just being willing to be the last, to be willing to let others go first, to be willing to be the first to be last. Those who are moving in greater anointing are those God has lifted up because they are allowing HIM to be exalted in them and not them being exalted in themselves. As I write I am being reminded by the Holy Spirit that in my childhood I was with a bunch of friends trying to jump a fence.(No questions here please as to why..haha) Myself and one other person were hand picked to be the ones to put our hands together to make a step for the others to step into our hands to elevate them up to grab onto the top of the fence so they could jump over. This meant staying at the bottom while others went up? How was it that I was chosen for this job. I wanted to be the first one up. Well, it didn’t work out that way. One by one this group of friends put their weight into our hands with shoes on and all as they were being propped up to get up and get over while we were at the bottom doing all the work. Then I had to use my hands alone to help my friend who was helping me get the others up. There I was now wondering after I had used my own hands to help others get up and over this fence how was I going to get help up for myself? I had to jump and climb and was pulled up by my arms by the others. I was the last to go up. It was the hardest for me because I didn’t have anyone boosting me up but I remembered yet the joy in helping to get them up and the frustration of all that I had to do to get up myself.

I see what the Lord is saying, Are you in a place where you feel you have been left for last or forgotten because you have helped others get up and get over. Are you thinking what about me? I am always putting others first, and always being left behind. Are you wondering why it is that you are always encouraging others but it seems that you cant get any yourself? Do you find yourself always giving and yet hardly receiving? It is because you have allowed God to use you the Way Jesus walked Himself. You are in a good place according to the word of God. Not easy, but wonderful that Jesus is moving through you.

I want to encourage you at this time with the reminder of David:

1 Samuel 30:6.
And David was greatly distressed; for the people spake of stoning him, because the soul of all the people was grieved, every man for his sons and for his daughters: but David encouraged himself in the LORD his God*.*

You are not forgotten. You have not been abandoned. You have chosen to let God use you to bring others up. Give Him glory!! The hand of God will pull you up. His strength will hold you up. HIS peace will keep you. His grace will sustain you. You are the bridge, you are the stepping stone. It is not easy and sometimes it will hurt but there is great reward in Him; knowing you were the hand that held someone else’s, the hand God used to heal someone, the heart God used to have compassion for someone, the feet that walked somewhere HE needed you to be, the voice He uses to speak Life into the lifeless, to give hope to the hopeless, to show Jesus Lives in you.
Your reward is life now and everlasting in Jesus Christ.

Thank Him for using you to elevate others for HIM. As we all continue to move forward in the Lord I pray blessings from our Father of wisdom, peace and strength upon us all in great abundance. His grace truly is sufficient. That we would be yielded to HIS will for our lives even at the hardest of times or the hardest of places even if it is for someone else. We may not understand all that He is doing but we can trust that it is ALL GOOD in HIM. If it leads one soul to Him or shows His love to the unlovely or brings compassion to the callous or brings the proud to humbleness, humility or repentance. Praise be to God who lives and reigns in majesty, dominion and power. Glory be to our King who has purpose in all things. Let HIS light shine in us and through us in the darkest of places that there will be no darkness where HIS Light ever so shines. We can because He is within us.

Rise up within us Lord as we humble ourselves unto YOU that your will shall be done and that we may be the bridge for you, the stepping stones for others to come closer to You and to salvation in You and to rest, peace, hope and Life abundantly.

Blessings,
Jeannette Rodgers

THE WAY UP IS DOWN

Luther and Zwingli are theologians who lived between the end of the 15th and the middle of the 16th century. These two individual's are among the many people who have contributed to our understanding of the scriptures today.

The following account in Zwingli's life provides us with a beautiful illustration of humility.

During the great Reformation in Europe, Luther and Zwingli found themselves at odds in their concern for the movements they were leading. Early one morning, Zwingli walked out on the mountains of Switzerland and a soul-stirring sight confronted him.

He saw two goats making their way over a narrow path on the mountain. One was ascending the trail, the other descending. He also noticed that they must pass at a point where the trail was so narrow that there was room for only one goat. He watched to see what would happen.

The animals rounded a turn in the path which brought them in full view of each other. They backed up, as though ready for a lunge, and then the most amazing thing happened. The goat on the trail below lay down in the path, while the goat above him walked over his back. The first animal then arose and continued his journey up the trail.

To Zwingli this meant that the way down is the way up. Christ humbled Himself so that men could walk over Him into the Kingdom of light, knowing that afterward He would be exalted.

Encyclopedia of 7700 illustrations - facts and quotations for pastors, teachers and Christian workers. Tan, P. L. (1996, 1979)

Jeannette Rodgers
PO Box 302
Killeen, Texas 76540
Jeannette Rodgers Ministries
www.NewWineToday.org

To subscribe to prophetic mailings please reply with name and email address to NewWineToday@Aol.Com

Joel 2:19- I AM sending you NEW WINE, OIL, and GRAIN...
Enough to satisfy you FULLY.

Joel 3:18-And it shall come to pass in that day, that the mountains shall drop down new wine, and the hills shall flow with milk, and all the rivers of Judah shall flow with waters, and a fountain shall come forth out of the house of the LORD, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

Breathe in ME
Jeannette Rodgers

July 11, 2004
Ezekiel 37:1-14
I implore you in this hour to call upon ME for I am inclining My ear unto you. For as you call unto Me I have already heard your cry. I have answered you before you called, yet I await your call that I may have fellowship and relationship with you. I love you. For in this time you have done all you can do and I am waiting for you to call upon Me. I have seen your exhaustion and I have heard you crying "I am tired Lord". I am running out of breath. I have seen you running the race and have slowed down because you cannot breathe. You have been trying to catch your breath. Trials, tests, circumstances and the battlefield of life have hit your windpipe causing you to lose your breath but today I say unto you...Breathe in ME....For I am sending you an exhilarating, energizing, refreshing, reviving burst of cool air that will rush through those things that have blocked your windpipe from allowing you to breathe freely.

I will be the strength that you need and the Breath that will keep you going, help you endure and lift you up. For as you inhale My life you will exhale yours. Breath in ME oh child of Mine, Breathe in all that I have for you, Breathe in My plans that you may walk them out, Breathe in My will for you that you may see all that I have for you, Breathe in My love that you may also love the unlovely and that you might love yourself the way I love you and love how I have formed you.

Breathe in ME, Breathe in ME, For when you inhale My presence, My strength, My wisdom, My Spirit, My peace, and all that I AM you shall have the breath that is needed to endure to the end. I will be all the Air you will need. I am clearing all things that would impair your breathing. You shall breathe with ease as I breath upon you.

Today I say, I AM will be the Air you breathe. Breathe My presence that I will be all the breath you will need for Life. Yes, today in this hour I am clearing the windpipe of all particles that have kept you from breathing with ease. Breathe in ME My child, Breathe in ME, and receive all that I AM sending you with the Air that I AM.

For as you inhale in Me, you shall receive peace, rest, strength and endurance. As you exhale; all things that have come against you shall be removed as you trust in Me and allow Me to be your breath. Some may have to cough up particles that caused this impairment. In the exhale let it go that it would no longer be an impairment to you.
No artificial respiration is needed if you will simply trust in Me. I have plans for you that require you to await My timing and My breath that will sustain you. I will resuscitate your Life as you inhale Life in Me.

Breathe in ME.

The Wounds You Bear

Robert Lillington

I have rescued you for a destiny far greater than you can imagine. Your wounds are the very stones from which My house and purposes are built. The clear images you remember of hurt, disappointment, embarrassment and failure are the soil in which My strength grows. Have you not heard, My grace is sufficient for thee; for my strength is made perfect in weakness.

There is power, great power in placing your wounds under My care, for I am the Great Physician. I specialize in healing your wounds. I come that you might have life in all its fullness and this includes you in all your strengths and particularly in your weaknesses.

Do not consider that your deep wounds are ugly in My sight. They are beautiful for they bring you near to Me. Your wounds are like Mine. We can talk together of our war wounds and the comradeship in battle. Let Me be your friend in battle, let me be your healer, let Me be your refuge. Allow Me to empower you in your weakness, for when you are weak, then you are made strong.

I have chosen the weak things of this world to confound the things which are mighty. My strength is made perfect in your weakness. And so, my friend, My dearly loved one, you, My dear child. Take time to draw close to me and the wounds you bear will take on a whole new meaning. They will begin to shine in My presence. Consider yourself worthy to have suffered, for I have never abandoned you. In fact, I delight in you always.

So, my dearly loved one, lift up those tired arms and quicken the pace of your feet for the time is coming and is now at hand when I will raise up a mighty army from amongst My wounded ones.

Robert Lillington Rlillingtons@aol.com

The Yoseph Analogy
Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelite,

Over the years you have heard me say or write that the story of the Patriarchs in Genesis makes up a microcosm of what is a macrocosm in our day and age. In the latest Parashot (plural for “parasha”) we have been reading about the life of Yoseph. There are some who claim that “Yoseph” of today is represented by western nations. If this is true, then we can draw an analogy regarding these powerful people groups who are seated like Yoseph, whom YHVH placed with Pharaoh’s consent of course, in a strategic and timely position. I would not go so far as to maintain that all the people groups that live in these nations are from the stock of Israel, but those who have the faith of Abraham most certainly are descendants of the forefathers of old. If so, they, along with the rest of the Melo HaGoyim (fullness of the nations), have been given a place in history like Yoseph: "’You shall be over my house, and all my people shall be ruled according to your word; only in regard to the throne will I be greater than you.’ And Pharaoh said to Yoseph, ‘See, I have set you over all the land of Egypt.’ Then Pharaoh took his signet ring off his hand and put it on Yoseph's hand; and he clothed him in garments of fine linen and put a gold chain around his neck. And he had him ride in the second chariot which he had; and they cried out before him, ‘Bow the knee!’ So he set him over all the land of Egypt” (Gen 41:40-43).

While Yoseph was in this position, there was a period of time that the earth enjoyed a great abundance of life sustaining grain. We too are in a time in which YHVH is blessing humanity with great material substance and spiritual insight and revelation into His Word (the whole bible). His Spirit is being poured out (latter rain) like never before. However, could we be heading for a great famine in these areas of physical sustenance and of His anointing and divine presence? Could there come a time during which the heavens will be like brass, and the earth will be covered by gross darkness? Through the prophet Amos YHVH, addressing our ancient forefathers, warned: “days are coming… that I will send a famine on the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of YHVH. They shall wander from sea to sea, and from north to east; they shall run to and fro, seeking the word of YHVH, but shall not find it” (Amos 8:11-12). If we are indeed in the days of the latter rains, of necessity they must come to an end, at which time we will be greeted by the hot dry summer months. What did Yoseph do to prepare for that which he knew to be an inevitable eventuality?

We have a tendency to think like our forefathers of old who attributed their prosperity to the works of their own hands. But when the prophets came and prophesied that the time for the consequence of their sin and an unrepentant heart had come, they simply could not believe that the wonderful life style, along with its religious expression, could change for the worse. But even in the midst of judgment YHVH raised up one, Yoseph (whose name means “to add” and “to gather”), who understood the prophetic picture via a dream. Living up to his name and to his God-given position, he faithfully served in order to gather enough grain to preserve life during the time of severe draught.

We, of the Yoseph-company of today (especially in the Western countries), are being offered spiritual grain and oil in abundance; ministries are popping up all over the place, the Word of YHVH is going forth on every venue imaginable. But the question still remains, will this continue, or are we headed for a rough and tough drought?

Yeshua told us a parable about ten virgins (House of Yoseph), who were to prepare themselves for the coming of the bridegroom. They were given ample time to buy, gather and store enough oil for the darkest hours of the night. As we know from that story, five were wise and five were foolish. The foolish were thinking that the bridegroom would not tarry into the night, but would sweep them away into his arms and house before it got dark, or shortly after. This perhaps is why they did not prepare for the entire night. When darkness descended they needed to use the oil that was in their lamps, but they had no extra with them. Apparently the lamps were still lit while they slept and so all the oil burnt out. When the announcement came that the bridegroom was on his way, the lamps needed to be trimmed and filled again with oil before the maidens could go out to meet him. I sometimes wonder if some of the teachings in the body of Messiah today are deceiving believers into thinking that we will not have to prepare for the darkest hours that humanity will have to experience.

We have just celebrated the festival of lights, may we not only fill our lamps, but have the extra on hand as well. I wonder why Yeshua told that parable of the ten virgins after his dissertation describing the end times that will occur before His return (see Math. 24). Will the Yoseph company of our day know and understand why they are here on this earth at a time such as this? Will they have their lamps and flasks full when the evening comes? Will the storehouses be full of grain when the need arises?

Yoseph's wise advice was to "collect one-fifth of the produce of the land of Egypt in the seven plentiful years". He was then appointed for a position so that he could fulfill his own counsel. "So he gathered up all the food of the seven years which were in the land of Egypt, and laid up the food in the cities; he laid up in every city the food of the fields which surrounded them. Yoseph gathered very much grain, as the sand of the sea, until he stopped counting, for it was immeasurable" (Gen 41:34; 48-49).

May it be so today!

Have a thoughtful rest-filled Shabbat

The Year Of Release

Francis Frangipane

In spite of increasing tensions around the world, the Holy Spirit says, for many, this next year will be a year of release. While we must absolutely intercede for our nations, we also must refuse to become fearful or restrained by the pressures of the world around us. The constrictions experienced by this age are not death throes, but birth pangs; they are not part of what restricts us, but releases us.

Let me repeat from our last message: "Do not focus on the fearful things around you, the threats of terrorism or the portent of economic collapse; focus steadfastly upon your transformation!" God is doing a quick and deep work, and this world is the perfect setting in which to manifest Christlikeness. Darkness provides the perfect contrast to the rising glory of the Lord within us.

"So, look for My release," says the Lord. "For this year it shall come powerfully and suddenly."

Year of Release

Beloved, the Father's heart is impassioned for our release! Even now, the Holy Spirit is focused upon bringing new freedom to our lives, whether that release manifests in greater purity, more confident power or deeper intimacy with Christ, a spiritual release is coming.

Yes, Christ enters our lives as Lord and King, but He never stops being our Healer, Comforter and Deliverer. Even when He must confront and rebuke us, it is so He ultimately can release us. Remember, Jesus began His ministry with an amazing announcement, a proclamation which would define His eternal relationship with the church. He said, "The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me, because He anointed Me to preach the gospel to the poor. He has sent Me to proclaim release to the captives, and recovery of sight to the blind, to set free those who are downtrodden, to proclaim the favorable year of the Lord" (Lk 4:18-19).

Jesus was anointed (that is, He was prepared and empowered by God) to proclaim "release to the captives." He didn't come to condemn captives, but to free them. He is not angry that we are "blind"; He comes to give us vision. He's not disappointed that we are "downtrodden"; He comes to lift us up.

If you have received the anointing of Jesus Christ upon your life, then there is a constant updraft of divine energy working in your spirit to bring release from sin, recovery from wounding and freedom from the limitations of the flesh. The instant you look to God, you know His power is working; the moment you turn to prayer, resurrection power kicks into gear.

Jesus came proclaiming "the year of the Lord's favor" (Lk 4:19 NIV). The Amplified adds, ". . . the day [when salvation and the free favors of God profusely abound]." Regardless of what you feel like, look like, or have recently been acting like, right at this very moment, the Spirit of God is extending His favor toward you, assuring you a release is on its way!

What This Means

In practical terms, this means if you've been incarcerated by sin or the devil, this year you will triumph over your enemies. If you have loved ones trapped in bondage, they too, as you intercede, shall know the Lord's freedom. It also means if you have been treading water spiritually and going nowhere, a release is coming to you as well. This year shall mark a season of measurable spiritual fulfillment for all who desire to live like Christ.

Remember, though fearsome things may occur around us, something more awesome still is occurring within us. Christ's church, the woman, is with child. This year shall be the year of great release!

REPRINT AGREEMENT: Duplication and re-transmission of this writing is permitted provided that complete source and website information for the Ministries of Francis Frangipane is included.

THANK YOU FOR FORWARDING: We would like to thank those of you who have been forwarding these messages to friends and family.

A service of Frangipane Ministries, Inc.

Please visit our website for additional messages and resources. http://www.icitc.org/

God bless you!

The Year Of The Open Double Door

Susan Cummings

Transcript of New York and Pennsylvania Meetings- 2004

2004- "The Year of the Open Double Door"

The following is some notes highlighting the general themes of the whole three weeks of meetings:

At the very beginning, before any meetings, The Lord showed Susan an angel standing behind Bill and Patrick with it's sword drawn, and it was pointing upwards. The Lord then said, "I have opened the way for you."

The Lord has issued an invitation to the Remnant of the Lord to come up here, and to stand in His Council and obtain wisdom for the days and times ahead.

It is a Great Jubilee Year, for the Lord gave Zechariah 9 and 10. Abraham was 99 when he beget the promise. We also are following the double 9's, or the double birthing this year. Zechariah 9:9 denotes the Lord coming to us and bringing salvation and deliverance. The whole chapters of 9 and 10 are what the Remnant is now entering into.

The Lord spoke also out of Job 36: 26-32 and Job 38:19-38.

The Former and Latter rains will now be released upon His People, beginning this year. He will do the releasing and it will come from the heavenly store houses that have been reserved or held back for this generation and timing.

Jeremiah 33:1-11.

The Lord is bringing the Remnant to it's mature stature and relationship with Himself. He is making the bride ready for Himself. We will experience the Union with the Father this year. Intimate relationship and covenant relationship.

March 11th began an opening in the heavenlies, for us to enter in, and to come into the full knowledge of Union with the Lord, and to walk in covenant relationship. We will no longer dwell in the dark, but walk in His Light of Truth.

Isaiah 58.

The Lord wants a Holy People, who lay down their lives for each other and for the sake of the gospel. Those who will not love their lives more than the Lord. These ones will be full of the Lord and be clothed with Him, and will walk in the Power and Might of the Holy Spirit for the works of the Harvest.

John 17 is the full relationship that we will know and walk in this year. We will know the Father, as Jesus did, and be full of Him and the Glory that Jesus knew, and will be poured out for the sake of the Gospel. It is time for the Remnant to be the Body of the Lord in the earth.

Eight of us prayed before the meeting, and the Lord gave us direction for the evening meeting. He showed us 18 angels standing on either side of the bridge. 9 on one side, and nine on the other side facing each other, behind us as we stood. They had their swords drawn and were pointing with their tips over us as we all went through. The Lord said that He was covering us, and was preparing the way for us as we crossed over.

The 9 angels on both sides depicted the 99, or double birthing period that we have entered.

As an act of faith, we were led to form a bridge and pass through it, depicting crossing over from the old ways, and life, and into the new season and purposes of the Lord. The Presence of the Lord was so strong that some of us had to have help getting through. (Including me, grin!!!)

I learned a new dance, everyone lovingly named, the Kangaroo Pogo…..smile!!!

The Lord gave us Isaiah 22:22 and Job 22:22.

The four women and four men who stood to form the bridge represented the 12 tribes that formed four sides around the tent of meeting.

East Lion face Judah Numbers 2:3

West Calf/Ox face Ephraim Numbers 2:18

South Man face Reuben Numbers 2:10

North Eagle face Dan Numbers 2:25

We are now in the time of Dan. (Judgment)

12 men sent forth into the promised land to spy it out. 10 gave an evil report and did not cross over. They did not believe God’s Word of Victory nor believe that He was Big enough to enable them to take their land. They did not know their God, nor walk with Him intimately.

God is looking for the 12 who will now believe in Him and walk in the Power to take their lands and reap the harvest in this generation.

2 Chronicles 16:9

Numbers 13:16 14:6-38

Joshua 1:1-11.

We are that third day generation that will prepare and that will cross over. Church in the old system is over as we know it, for we will cross over and walk in a new way, and will walk in the new government of God.

Union: Father, Son, Jesus, Bride. Four voices that all cry out as one voice in this hour.

Zechariah 11 Period of Judgment/cleansing and leanness coming to the church.

Ezekiel 36: 17-38

John 14:9-21

John 17

Jeremiah 3:14-17

The Lord will have a Holy House and will have a Holy People.

The Lord showed Susan a vision during one of the day sessions in Rochester. She was preparing for the meeting when the Lord showed her a vision of a huge wave heading down the Niagara River. It was a huge red wave that was very tall, almost straight up like a wall. It was heading towards the falls. She heard loud alarms going off and sirens sounding warnings. The men in the vision were running, trying to turn a big wheel of sorts to let open the dam so the wave could go through it, but the Lord washed over them men and there was nothing left when it passed by.

The Lord then said, "This move would not be controlled, or dictated to by men, or channeled, or manipulated, in any way, but it would be all God. He was coming and nothing would stand when He passed by, that was not built by Him."

In another meeting, the angel named Revival Fire came in, and he had on the same bag of golden seeds in a golden pouch that hung from his waist. He walked forwards towards the front of the meeting on a clear cobblestone path. There was light shining up from underneath it as he walked upon it. The angel also had a bucket in his hand. It was full of jewels. He would take a jewel out, and inspect it, and then fling it out. Then he would reach in and take another jewel out, and inspect it, and then fling it out. Then he did this a few more times, then he took the entire bucket and flung the whole bucket out into the room.

The Lord then said, "I have now released the new forerunners who are now being flung out, here and there, into the earth to raise up the laborers for the harvest. For soon the harvest will become a flood, and then I will throw all of my people out into the harvest, for it will be great."

During the Naples, NY Meetings, the Lord showed Susan a vision of an angel there that stood in the rear of the meeting. He had a breastplate upon his breast. It had the 12 jewels representing the tribes placed in it, and was come as the Lord, showing that he had heard their prayers and had come to answer them. This angel stands by the altar where the prayers and incense are offered, and the Lord had seen their trials. The incense began to swirl around the room and the people during the meeting. The Glory Cloud of the Lord filled the room.

Also, a large eagle, who had a body that filled the width of the building was sitting and watching the people, as they came up to commit themselves to the Lord, and to walk with Him fully. The Lord is watching the hearts of the People. He knows if they are serious or not. The fear of the Lord was present and the Holiness of God filled the room.

On March 31st, Susan had a dream. In the dream, she had a vision of the Lord speaking very loudly to her. He said, "Large man walking." Then all of a sudden a huge foot stomped right beside the couch where she slept. It was so huge, that she could not see over it or around it. It was terrifying, as the whole room shook, the house shook, and the earth shook, as the angel walked by her bed. The Lord said then very loudly, "The terror of the Lord is coming."

The Lord showed us that the Fear of the Lord is returning to His House, and that the Remnant is rising up, as one man, in the earth, and will walk IN HIS NAME.

On April 1st, the Lord showed Susan a vision on the way to the Naples Meeting that night.

The Lord showed her the Angel of the Covenant rising up out of the seas. He had the sun shining out from his face. He raised his right hand towards heaven, and swore by Him who sat upon the throne. He said loudly, "That which was, and that which is, and that which is to come, now shall be, and now the Father will be glorified through thee."

The Lord gave us:

Revelations 10

Daniel 12

Malachi 3, 4

That which has been held back and reserved for this generation has now been released. The Book is no longer sealed, but the Father will now reveal to the Remnant what we need to know for the season ahead. We are that generation that will walk in the fullness of the Lord, and in the scriptures that are now being revealed and will now begin to come to pass.

The Lord also showed us that the first time Susan saw the angel who walked by her bed, that it was the same angel. He walked on the land.

Then he came up from the seas in the second vision.

In the scriptures above, he is seen with one foot upon the land and one foot upon the seas.

The Lord showed us that he is no longer standing, but the Lord is now moving in the earth among His People, and He is now bringing all things to pass, and the time is now to be found in HIM. The Lord is coming to a Holy People, who will be a Tent of Meeting to HIM, and a Holy Vessel for which He will pour Himself out of, into the earth, as a witness.

There was a lot more spoken of in the meetings, that we have not notes for, but the Lord was dealing with us the entire three weeks. He wanted many things during these times:

1. He wanted a Holy People. Ones who had fully died to themselves and to their desires, and who only wanted Him.
2. He wanted a people who were totally separated and consecrated for His Use, who cared not for their own vision, but only desired to be of service to the King, for whatever He chose for them.
3. He wanted His People to know Him. To walk in UNION with Him, as Jesus did, and who did what they saw Him do, and spoke what they heard Him say, and who were obedient to Him.
4. He wanted Holiness and Truthfulness in His House. He would no longer listen to unclean lips and see the unclean hands that came before Him.
5. He is coming to those who hunger and thirst for Him, and who love no one else.
6. He is filling those who are totally His, And preparing them for sending forth IN HIS NAME, and who are fully empowered by His Spirit to reap the harvest that is coming.
7. These were not party meetings, but were very deep, repenting meetings. The Presence of the Lord was so strong that many of the nights we were on our faces, and were repenting for our flesh and pride, etc……. God is serious. He will have a HOLY PEOPLE. It will be us, or He will pass us by.

There is no time left. The time is NOW. He is coming into His House fully now.

We will be clean, or we will be judged.

We will be His or we will be satan’s. There is no fence anymore.

The Harvest is ripe before us, and we must be about the masters’ business.

Hopefully these notes give a glimpse of the Lord’s heart from these meetings………

-Susan

Note of Clarification:

The mention of angels, visions, and the dreams in these notes are for clarification purposes. The Lord speaks prophetically to Susan and uses many types dreams and visions to convey his heart to her. The angels who were seen and experienced in these visions are real and are also the Lord’s way of expressing Himself to her. The Lord uses angels as His Messengers. He speaks through them at times, to help us, and to aid our understanding.

We in no wise worship angels nor do we depend upon them fully, as our total allegiance belongs fully to the Lord. It is the Lord who chooses how he will speak to us, when, and in what manner. We are the recipients of these messages, and then we are responsible to walk them out. Every message has scriptural basis and prayerful foundation.

Every person of the Body of Christ will have to walk closely to the Lord in the days ahead. We will need divine wisdom and His Direction for the path in front of each of us. God will show us what we will need to know through His Word, by His Holy Spirit, and give us divine angelic help when needed.

The greatest days are ahead of us. Great darkness, but also great Glory. The Harvest will be a full harvest reaped in terrible times.

Seek the Lord with all of your hearts.

Spearhead
Susan Cummings

“I AM the Spearhead Upon Which You Are Mounted”

I AM the Spearhead upon which you are mounted.

I have told you many times that I have made a way for you where there is no way.

I AM the Way, Child. I AM the Way!

Besides Me, there is no other way known to men, or given unto men. It is I, that have done this.

There is nothing that can stand in My Way.

There is no one that can prevent My Will from being accomplished.

Do not think for one moment that there is anything that refers to you in this situation. There is nothing about you in this at all! It is all about Me! I AM, what is of concern here, and what is going to be seen in it! Everything is going according to My plan and for My Purposes! Know that it is already determined, for I Am have gone before you already.

This situation is for My Glory, and not about yours. It is I, that receives all the Glory, and it will be seen that it has been about Me, all along. You see, My Child, I have been forming Myself within you. I have been shaping Myself, and fitting Myself within you. This process has gone slowly, as you have not understood the process.

Everything about you is known to Me for I formed you. I made you according to My Image. I made this situation exactly for you, knowing it would form you into My Plan and into My Desire for you. Do not struggle under this situation any longer, but rest, for I Am doing a work. My Work.

At this time, My Plan is now unfolding before you. I am opening a way before you. I AM going ahead of you and breaking open the way, and am bringing understanding to you. I Am the Spearhead upon which you are mounted. You will ride upon Me.

Look to Me! Know that it has been Me all along! Stop your depression, and come into My Light, and stand firmly In Me!

You will know that it is Me upon which you rest, and reside from now on.
You will know that I Am, is the one who carries you.
You will know that it is Me that empowers you for service. I AM the power that flows through you!
You will know that it is by My Hand that you will wield My Sword.
You will know that it is by My Hand that you will come and go.

For you will no longer plot your course and plan your path, and make your own decisions. I Am at the helm, and I will bring you along My Way. The day of self made men is over in My House. I AM the one that makes each vessel. I designed you for your specific task, and I know just how to utilize the gifts that I have placed within your vessel.

I will no longer use self made vessels. They will be broken under My feet.

This is a new day. It is My Day! I have taken up residence in My House!

I AM now the Spearhead upon which My People will ride. For this is Me, and I will be seen in the earth again!

I AM coming into the affairs of men in a mighty way. I will be known and known as God. No man will say that he is Mine, and not be Mine anymore. For I will be seen in My Own, and not within defiled vessels anymore! All that claim to be Mine and are not, will be broken before Me and will be trampled by the True, for I have warned long enough!

I have given much time for change.
I have called for transformation.
I have called for fasting and weeping.
I have called for Holiness and Truth.
I have stopped calling.

Now I Am here.

I AM the Spearhead that now breaks in upon the world and is SEEN as the Holy One!

Susan Cummings
4-15-04
5:12 am

http://groups.msn.com/CummingsFamilyAdventures
http://topica.com/lists/JustHisWords

The Year And The Day
Patsy Shelton

2004 - The Acceptable Year of the Lord and the Day of Vengeance of Our God

To fully understand this New Era, we have to look back at what He has done over the previous year. It has been a year of purging, healing, breaking, testing, waiting, and all those things that try the souls of men. The purpose of all of this has been to prepare us for that which is ahead. He has shaken every foundation that was built upon sand, and built for us a sure foundation. We have come to the place of trusting Him, and Him alone. Some have lost their jobs, their homes, their 401k's, and everything that meant security to them. Why? Because there are days coming that this generation has never seen, and we will be like Elijah who solely depended upon the supernatural provision of God.

His purpose for everything that has touched our lives can be found in Hosea 6:1-3, 6:1 Come, and let us return unto the LORD: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up. 2 After two days will he revive us: in the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight.3 Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth. It has been a year of preparing us to live in His sight. Those that have come out of this wilderness experience are now leaning on the arm of the Lord. Knowing that He, and He, alone will provide everything that we need spiritually, physically, emotionally, and financially. And those that have pressed in to Him and have continued to follow Him regardless of the fact that it looked like the midnight hour in their lives, will now experience His renewing, refreshing, and restoration. And in this New Year He is going to restore it all. We are crossing the Jordan and entering the Promised Land, and that is the place where promises are fulfilled. But, to His sorrow, there are those that have chosen not cross the Jordan because it was unfamiliar to them, fear has gripped their souls, and they have chosen the old rather than the new.

Living in His sight means that we are experiencing Him as no other generation ever has. An intimacy with God that in the past people have only dreamed of. But, we are THE chosen generation. We are the generation that has sought Him with all of our being, we have followed hard after Him, and not sought His hand. And we have captured His heart, and He has captured ours. And this intimacy with the Living God has produced in our beings anointing, and power that flows directly from His throne, and it will change not only our lives, but also the world. Signs and wonders that the world has never seen before, nor have we, and the masses will come to experience Him through His people. In this New Year people will come up and say, “Let me go with you to the house of your God.” Not because of us, but because of His manifested presence in our lives.

Isaiah 61, which it one of the key scriptures for 2004, because it very clearly states the anointing that His people will walk in. There is a progression in this scripture. First the anointing, His manifested presence in us. We will preach good tidings unto the meek. This speaks of those that are depressed, oppressed and wounded. These are those, which have been trodden down by the current religious system that rejects, manipulates, and controls the people of God. Second, we will bind up their broken hearts, and show them the reality of a true relationship with the Living God. Third, after their wounds have been bound up then we can proclaim liberty to the captives. Finally, then the anointing will open the prison doors to them that are bound, and what has bound them are the wounds that they received in the House of God.

“To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn: to appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that He might be glorified.” There is mourning, and sadness in the church today because of the oppression by the leaders. But, in this New Year, God will sit down, and He will raise up. There are those that have been hidden away and God has prepared them to come to the forefront, and establish His Kingdom in the earth, even the church of Jesus Christ. The anointing will bring restoration to all that mourn and have ashes upon their heads because of the religious system that has heaped coals upon them, and caused them to be in bondage to the enemy.. This anointing will bring joy and praise into their lives. Why? So that they might be called the “trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord that He might be glorified. Their wounded ness has caused them to mourn and be depressed. Under the old religious system they could not be called trees of righteousness the planting of the Lord because they were in bondage to man and his wisdom, which was totally carnal. Men that only wanted to use God’s people as a means of procuring money and building their own kingdom. Where the Spirit of the Lord is there is liberty and freedom, and this New Year will bring the revelation of the freedom that God has for His people. The line between the religious and the anointed has been drawn. There will be no question as to who is walking in the anointing, and who is not.

“And they shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, and they shall repair the waste cities, the desolations of many generations.” God’s people that are walking in the new anointing will restore the damage that the religious system has wrought in the earth. There will be Nehemiah’s that will build and restore. That will be their calling to build again that which the religious system has destroyed. The law will become honorable again.

“And strangers shall stand and feed your flocks, and the sons of the alien shall be your plowmen and your vinedressers.” And these will be ordinary people, not known in religious circles of today that God will be forth in this New Year. Suddenly great moves and works of God will come forth and no one will recognize the names of those that have started these movements. They are the foolish that will confound the wise, they are the hidden ones, and they will be the fore runners that He is going to reveal, as He brings down the haughty and raises up the humble.

“But ye shall be named the Priest of the Lord: men shall call you the Ministers of our God: ye shall eat the riches of the Gentiles, and in their glory shall ye boast yourselves. For your shame ye shall have double; and for confusion they shall rejoice in their portion: therefore in their land they shall possess the double: everlasting joy shall be unto them.” Glory to God forevermore! What has all the preparation been for? It has been to take us from faith to faith and glory to glory, and to cause us to rise up to be a Royal Priesthood, even Ministers of our God. And we will be the Priests that minister before His throne day and night. Serving Him with all of our beings, totally devoted to Him, cleansed, purified, and fit to stand in the presence of a Holy God, and to be His emissaries in the earth.

There has been much shame in the stripping and the breaking that God has done, but the promise here is that He will restore even a double portion of all that was lost. “…in their land they shall possess the double…” Walking in destiny and calling possessing the spiritual land that He has promised. Filled with provision for the work that He has ordained.

“ For I the Lord love judgment, I hate robbery for burnt offering: and I will direct their work in truth, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them. And their seed shall be known among the Gentiles, and their offspring among the peoples: all that see them shall acknowledge them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.” It is wisdom and revelation that brings forth truth, and He is pouring out that spirit upon His people. In this New Year, the secrets and mysteries of His Kingdom will be revealed even truth that has never been revealed but it will be to this generation. And these truths will direct the work that God has ordained in the earth.

In this next year we will see a move of the Holy Spirit through our children, both natural and spiritual.

The anointing will run from the head down unto the Body. Unlike the generation that is passing away that wanted the anointing only for themselves so that they could dominate and control. We will see God use our children in signs and wonders. The gifts will flow through them. We will see small children prophesy, lay hands on the sick and they will recover, they will have dreams and visions. There will be a prophetic anointing on them that has been on no other generation. Teenagers that will go to the mall lay hands on others, and they will fall out under the power of God. “And their seed shall be known among the Gentiles, and their offspring among the peoples: all that see them shall acknowledge them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.”

And we will say as Isaiah did, “I will greatly rejoice in the Lord; my soul shall be joyful in My God: for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, He hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels. For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth; so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring for the before all the nations.”

In this New Year the Bride will mature in her relationship with her King. As the marriage is consummated, and she becomes one with Him, she will begin the journey of ruling and reigning with Him. But, it will only be the beginning of the journey, as there is still maturing that must happen in her heart. The consummation of their union will bring forth into the earth a Holy seed, whose lives will be holy and acceptable to a Holy God. She will become to Him a helpmate suitable, completing Him in the earth. She will begin to bear children for Him. She has been prepared to feed and nurture them and raise them up in His ways.

In this New Year God will begin to reveal those that have touched His Throne. Those whose lives have been prepared to touch the seat of His authority and power. They will walk in a power and authority that our generation has never seen. They will walk in the same anointing and power that Jesus, Elijah, Elisha, the disciples and apostles of the early church knew. It is a power and authority that has been delegated to them from the Throne of God, and bestowed upon them by the Creator of heaven and earth. He will bid them come and touch His Throne, and to these He will impart this power and authority. It will not be a matter of confessing that we have all power and authority in Jesus name, but it will be an impartation from God Himself.

There is such a transition-taking place in the Spirit, and in the lives of God’s people that they are in unchartered waters. He is taking them into realms of His Spirit where man has never been before. The things that they are seeing and hearing so unfamiliar, and even contrary to that which they previously seen and heard. He is unveiling the hearts and eyes of His people to see into the expanse of heaven, it’s government, and workings. His word is going to be opened up, in the realm of the Spirit, which will bring a whole new wave of revelation of heavenly things to this natural realm.

This New Year will be a year of revelation being released that will cause a maturing in His Body, and a transition. A higher revelation of the relationship with the Father, as God. The God of the universe. The maker of heaven and earth. We call Him Mighty God, but He is going to open our spirits to a higher level of that phrase. We are going to know Him, still as Father, but much more.

Those are some of the things that will happen to the righteous in this New Year, which for the righteous will be the Acceptable Year of the Lord. Now, the other side, which is the Day of Vengeance of Our God. It will be a year when we will both see awesome things, and awful things. But before we discuss some of these things we need to look at Psalms 91.

Psalms 91: 1-16, “He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God: in him will I trust. Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence. He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shall thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler. Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night: nor for the arrow that flieth by day: Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday. A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand: but it shall not come nigh three. Only with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked."

If we have learned to live in His presence, to dwell in the secret place, then we shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty, which means that we will be totally under His protection. There will be pestilence, famine, terror, tribulation, and destruction. But, a thousand shall fall by our side, and ten thousand at our right hand, but it will not touch us. Those that have entered into this place with God could have been in Iran the day that He opened up the earth and it swallowed up more than 40,000 people, and the ground on which they stood would have been solid, and unmovable. In this place with Him there is nothing that can harm one hair of our head. This is the reason that He has wooed, called, and compelled us to this depth of intimacy with Him. Because this coming year we will see with our eyes the judgment of the wicked. We will see the destruction that wasteth at noonday, but we will not be shaken, moved, nor harmed by anything that goes on around us. We will have sure footing even as the earth reels to and fro like a drunk man.. A thousand will fall by our side, and ten thousand at our right hand, but it will not touch us.

"Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation: There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. For He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways. They shall bear thee up in their hands lest thou dash thy foot against a stone. Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder: the young lion, and the dragon shall thou trample under feet. Because He hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name. He shall call upon me, and I will answer him. I will be with him in trouble. I will deliver him, and honour him. With long life will I satisfy him, and shew him my salvation."

In this New Year the only place of safety from all that is going to befall the wicked will be under the Shadow of the Almighty. It rains on the just and the unjust, but there is a place of safety and deliverance in Him. This is also a prerequisite for Him giving His angels charge over us. And those that have set their love for Him and Him alone, He will deliver us. Those that have found this place of making Him their habitation, He will protect them, deliver them, be with them in time of trouble, but much more. He will set them on high, because they have known His name. They will call and He will answer. He will even honor these. These are those that have found favor with God and with man, and they are highly esteemed…"and He will deliver and honor him."

In this year we will see unusual weather, earthquakes in divers places, and disasters all over the world, even in our country. We will see the rich resources of the earth begin to diminish. We will see the economy rise, and fall, rise and fall, rise and fall like a roller coaster. But God will transfer the wealth that He has laid up that belonged to the wicked to the righteous, and His people will become refuges for those that will loose everything. There will nothing stable in the days ahead. We will see the demise of the apostate church, and the rise of the Church of Jesus Christ. We will see rain withheld so that there is not even water to drink in some parts of the world.. We will see rulers, kings, heads of countries and governments be overthrown by the Living God. We will see famine, pestilence and plagues all over the world. We will see nations that are crying out to their dead gods, falling on their knees and confessing that Jesus Christ is Lord. We will see sickness, and disease that can only be destroyed by the healing hand of our God.

But the righteous will see His Glory, and will be His hand extended in the earth. Whatever comes, and whatever happens, if we dwell in the secret place, and abide under the Shadow of the Almighty, and make Him our habitation. Not one hair on our head will be harmed.

2004 is the Acceptable Year of the Lord and the Day of Vengeance of Our God.

Patsy Shelton "The Word of the Lord Today" pattiluepeacock@aol.com

Visionaries
Patsy Shelton

Mesquite, Texas
pattiluepeacock@aol.com

Visionaries -- Sons And Daughters Of The Morning
Ah, I love it saith the Lord God when My people come to the end of themselves. I love it when My people have done all that they could do, and are standing. And these have stood, and stood, and stood, and have not given into the lies of the enemy but have grasped My word and My promises in their hands and have not turned loose.

And for these the season of reaping has come. My promises, which I have spoken to their hearts, and that they have held ever so close to their bosom will now even overtake them. They have foreseen their destiny and have grasped it in the realm of the spirit, and now it will manifest in the earth. Destiny cannot be fulfilled without divine intervention and divine provision. Everything that is needed for My people to fulfill the work that I have called them to do will be provided. Even I will provide all their needs according to My riches in Glory.

And I will divinely connect these sons and daughters of the morning with those that will be joined to them. They will not strive, as the past generation has to try to cause My destiny to be fulfilled in their lives. They will not gather to themselves those that they think should be joined to them, but I will divinely put like hearts together. I will build their destiny in every aspect, for only that which I build in this new day which has dawned, will stand and will last. The days of man’s building and striving to create that which only can be created by the Living God has come to an end.

I will build through visions and dreams. I will show the sons and daughters of the morning step by step what is to be done, and I will meet them at each new step. And I will provide whatever they need to enter into the next phase of their destiny. Line upon line, and percept upon percept, provision upon provision.

